ROTC awards spring honors

By CYNDI OWENS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Colonel Allan R. Borstorff, professor of military science, told cadets honored April 7 in the Spring Awards Day ceremony that their "efforts as cadets have contributed much to the ROTC program here at JSU."

Borstorff made his remarks at the close of the ceremony, during which a number of cadets received awards and special honors for their service in this detachment.

In addition to honors bestowed upon cadets, the ROTC program was recently awarded the coveted Founders and Patriots Award. The JSU program was chosen from more than 80 other colleges and universities in the Third ROTC Region to receive the award. Selection is based on several criteria, including: academic performance of cadets, military performance both at Advanced Camp and Officer Basic Course, and cadet and cadre involvement in university and community activities such as blood drives, athletic activities, commitments, and recruiting.

Awards and recipients included:
National Sojourners Medal:
Cadet Neal Mulkey

Chapter 62 Women's Army Corps Veterans Association Award: Cadet Major Suzanne McCarty

American Legion ROTC Award for Excellence in Military Science: Cadet LTC Kevin Scott, MS IV and Cadet LT Richard White, MS III

Infirmary offers blood pressure checks

Vice-President Bascom Woodward and Carol Lawler

By ROD CARDEN
Chanticleer Staff Writer

What are the symptoms of high blood pressure? According to the American Heart Association there are no specific warning signs. The only way to know if you have high blood pressure is to have your blood pressure checked regularly.

For this reason, Nurse Carol Lawler is promoting High Blood Pressure Awareness Week next week (April 18-22). From 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Lawler and her staff will be available in the infirmary to check everyone's blood pressure free of charge. "We want everyone to think about high blood pressure," she said.

The test will be available to all students, faculty, and staff. Free literature concerning good health will also be given to those who have their blood pressure checked.

Chambers, Layton head spring class of 460

JACKSONVILLE -- Four hundred and sixty diplomas will be conferred by Jacksonville State University during the 1988 Spring Commencement to be held at 10 a.m. in Pete Mathews Coliseum on April 30.

The top three graduates include Betty Ann Chambers of Crossville and John Timothy Layton of Munford, who both maintained a perfect 3.0 grade point average, and Joel Allyn Conway, who follows with a near-perfect 2.98 grade point average.

Ms. Chambers will receive a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Accounting and a minor in Computer Information Systems. Mr. Layton will receive a Bachelor of Science degree with a double major in Mathematics and Computer Science. Mr. Conway will receive a Bachelor of Technology degree.

The students, listed by county and home town, are:

Career Clyde offers advice on final exams

Folks, the end of the semester has arrived. We all know what that means—it's time for final exams.

This time I didn't panic. I visited Career Development and Counseling Services in Room 107 Bibb Graves, to learn skills in preparing for and taking tests. I learned how to reduce test anxiety, to examine physical factors affecting test performance, and to take both objective and essay tests.

Here are some strategies that you can use to help get you through your 1988 Spring Semester exams.

TEST PREPARATION

1. Find out what each of your instructors is emphasizing on their test and what you are expected to know.
2. Plan an overall strategy. Get your study materials together and decide what you need to work on for each test.
3. Plan your study time for each exam. Avoid cramming!

4. Use rehearsal in your studying. Repetition increases memory retention.

5. Get an adequate amount of sleep.

6. Maintain a proper diet—allow for exercise time.

TEST TAKING

1. Read directions and test questions carefully

2. Formulate a game plan for taking the exam

3. Be aware that in objective and multiple choice tests, the questions may have a best answer (perhaps not the one you were looking for or expected).

4. Plan the use of your time for essay questions

5. Stay calm, do your best

Finally, in preparing for and taking your exams, set your sights on academic success. Visualize yourself achieving success and be positive. Come by CDCS for further information and assistance.

UCAM prepares for this weekend

WASHINGTON -- United Campus to Prevent Nuclear War is sending out a call to students and faculty to participate in the fifth annual university lobby day for arms control and in a direct action against General Electric for its role in fueling the arms race. The events will take place April 14-16 in Washington, D.C.

In preparation for the April actions in D.C., student and faculty activists have been organizing high-visibility events throughout the semester to provoke awareness of the Reagan administration's unbalanced budget policy and the need for immediate action. As the INF treaty nears ratification, UCAM members are circulating petitions calling for swift Senate approval of the treaty as the first step toward nuclear disarmament.

Around March 23, the fifth anniversary of Reagan's announcement of the Strategic Defense Initiative, colleges nationwide participated in the successful "Star Wars No More: A Campus Day of Action" to protest what many scientists consider the ill-conceived space weapons system. As part of this program, campus-based groups sponsored events ranging from informative speakers and workshops to demonstrations dramatizing the high cost of SDI and its potential for escalating the arms race. At schools where faculty members receive funds for SDI research, campus activists are investigating military involvement in the colleges.

The Spring Actions culminate in April, when hundreds of activists head for Washington for three days of action and empowerment. The fifth annual lobby day, April 14, will allow students and faculty to lobby their Senators and Representatives directly, on a testing moratorium, a reduction in Star Wars funding and federal spending priorities. UCAM aims to get as many students in-

Alabama Representative Bill Nichols offers outlook on State's future

By JOEY LUALLEN

Chanticleer Senior Editor

"We've got some doing we need to do if we want to be competitive in the future," U.S. Rep. Bill Nichols told a group of students, faculty and citizens last week in a speech at Self Hall. Nichols' statement was regarding the state government's recent attempts to help Alabama grow economically.

Nichols said with the possible exceptions of Atlanta, Nashville and Dallas, the Southeast lags behind the North economically in all areas. He told of recent reports that indicate the South is also far behind technologically.

Gov. Guy Hunt, according to Nichols, has proposed bringing new industry to the state, expanding the present industries already in the state and increasing entrepreneurship to combat the problem. Nichols, who has served in the U.S. House of Representatives since 1966, noted the government recently granted FMC in Anniston a contract to build tank treads, adding to the economic growth of the area.

The congressman discussed recent FAA research into so-called airport "hubs." He said Alabama could be in the running for a regional hub, and said Talladega County had shown interest in the project. When asked about a time period for such a project to begin, Nichols replied that it was nowhere in the near future. "Of course this is a dream," Nichols said, "but that's what this country is founded on."

Nichols also pointed out in his speech some problems the state is experiencing in education. "Only 68 percent of the state's ninth-graders graduate. The rest just drop through the cracks," he said.

"One in four adults in the state has less than an eighth grade education," Nichols said, adding that this figure is almost double what the national average is. Nichols did offer some hope for the educational problems, saying this year's national budget calls for an eight percent increase in funding for education.

When asked for comments on Ted McLaughlin's recent announcement that he would run against Nichols for the third district seat, Nichols said, "I've run both ways and it's a lot easier to run without opposition."

Nichols commented briefly on the United States' involvement in Panama, saying he does not believe it is the country's role to send troops in to solve the problem. Nichols said he hoped the solution would come from within the Panamanian government.

Nichols' speech was sponsored by the Center for Southern Studies, Sigma Delta Chi and the communications department.

Adolph Coors Co. offers memorial scholarship

GOLDEN, COLO. -- Adolph Coors Company will assist more than 100 college students for the fourth consecutive year through the Coors Veterans' Memorial Scholarship Fund program in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Coors, the nation's fifth-largest brewer, will provide $501,000 in scholarship funds to eligible dependents of honorably discharged American veterans. Scholarship application forms are now available through Coors distributors, veterans service organizations, by writing Coors Veterans' Memorial Scholarship Fund, P.O. Box 3111, Northbrook, Ill. 60065, or by calling toll-free 1-800-49COORS. Applications must be postmarked no later than July 1, 1988.

The scholarship program began in 1985 by Coors and its distributors nationwide, to acknowledge the sacrifices that American veterans from all wars made for our country. Each year monies are raised through a nationwide Memorial Day collection canister drive during May, as well as through various special events and beer sale donation campaigns. To date, Coors and its distributors have donated $3 million for 1,300 college scholarships and aid for local veterans service organizations.

"Coors is extremely pleased with the support this program has received from our distributors, veterans organizations and our valued customers," said Peter Coors, Brewing Division president. "We look forward to helping many more deserving college students achieve a solid education again this year," he added.

To be eligible for scholarship consideration, applicants must:

--be no older than 22 years of age as of the July 1, 1988, application deadline date.

--have a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or better on a 4.0 scale.

--have completed a minimum full freshman year program of credit hours, but not yet acquired senior credit hours.

--be enrolled full-time in a four-year institution of higher education in the United States or an accredited two-year program leading to a four-year undergraduate degree.

--fall into one of the following categories:

•Dependent of Honorably Discharged American service personnel.

•Dependent of Active Duty, Guard or Reserve military personnel. (See COORS, Page 4)

Panoply announces annual outdoor arts festival

HUNTSVILLE — Panoply 88, the annual outdoor arts festival in Huntsville, will be held May 13-15. Panoply has gained national recognition and was selected for the third year in a row as a "Top 20 Tourism Event" by the Southeast Tourism Society. In February, Panoply was awarded the Governor's Arts Award by the Alabama State Arts Council.

Among the 175 events to be presented at this, the seventh annual festival, will be a number of state colleges and universities bringing a variety of performances. The festival has become a showcase for the best in local, regional, and national talent.

Jazz will be featured by the JSU Jazz Ensemble, performing the "big band" classics. This group travels extensively in the Southeast and averages 30 to 35 concerts a year.

The Oakwood College Choir will perform under the direction of Eurydice Osterman, who has won several awards for her compositions.

"Code 6," a vocal ensemble of eight students from Northeast State Junior College, will perform music of the 1940s, 1950s, 1960s.

The Wallace State Singers, a show choir, has performed throughout Alabama and has won the Best of Show at the Alabama Peanut Festival last year. Another Wallace State group, the Jazz Show Band, will entertain festival goers with their own brand of jazz.

The Auburn University Theatre-On-Tour will present an original new production, "Glimpses." This drama also uses music and comedy to show the audience glimpses into the thoughts and feelings of youth today.

The University of Alabama in Birmingham will have two groups performing this year. The UAB Dance Troupe will present works choreographed by the faculty, under the direction of Melanie Grebel, Assistant Professor of Dance. The UAB Shakespeare Company will perform vignettes from their extensive repertoire.

The Alabama A&M Stage Band will perform their popular jazz sound for the first time at Panoply. The 24 student musicians will provide a dynamic show.

The University of Alabama in Huntsville will be represented by the Village Singers. Always a hit group in the Huntsville area, the Singers will be an asset to this year's festival.

Shakespearean theatre will be presented by The Black Warrior Shakespeare Company from the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa. This group, under the direction of Rick Plummer, will show festival goers that Shakespeare is fun.

Panoply offers events of the highest artistic quality in a wide range of programming. Panoply also offers competitions in acting, choreography, and music composition. The festival goer has unique opportunities to participate in direct, hands-on creative experiences, as well as being just an observer.

Panoply 88 is held in Big Spring Park, near downtown Huntsville, and it is free to the public.

involved as possible, since citizens have a direct responsibility to press for bolder arms control measures than covered in the INF Treaty.

On Friday April 15 - the day attention is focused on taxes - UCAM and INFACT (which sponsored the successful Nestle boycott) will hold a sidewalk press conference and rally at G.E.'s Washington lobby headquarters, to protest its involvement in the nuclear arms industry. Members of UCAM and INFACT will hand-deliver boycott pledges from citizens around the country throughout the day. The Spring Actions will conclude April 16 with the Leadership Development Training Program, a day of skill-building workshops that will enable students to build and maintain effective organizations on their campuses.

Fairfield University student activist Marcella Palmieri noted that "UCAM's Spring Actions are what students are saying: We must rearrange the distorted priorities produced by the military-industrial complex and come up with a national agenda based on human need and not paranoia."

Students and faculty are encouraged to contact UCAM at (202) 543-1505 or write to its national headquarters at 309 Pennsylvania Avenue SE, Washington DC 20003. UCAM is the only North American organization specifically working to build the campus-based disarmament movement. Organized in 1982, UCAM has grown to include 90 chapters and has activists on over 800 campuses.

I wanted this, my last column, to say everything and cover everything. Obviously, that isn't possible. There is so much to say and so little space.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of those people who have helped make this a most memorable year, and one that has seen many changes and new experiences for me.

To my staff: Thanks for a great year. You guys have been the best. I'd put you up against any college paper staff in the nation. You all are just too damn good for words. Good luck next year, Cyndi, as Editor-in-Chief. I know you'll do a bang up job (probably a lot better job than I could ever do). Keep up the good work, guys. I'll come by and pester you in your new office in Self Hall next fall (you lucky slimes!).

To my roommates: And you thought you were getting rid of me (I'm staying at JSU for my master's degree)! Ha! I'm your worst nightmare manifested in the form of a graduate student. Oh, and yes, the vermin, i.e., hamsters stay too. We're a matched set.

To my fraternity: Kappa Sigma is the best. You guys mean more to this kid than you'll ever know. Probably the main reason I decided to stay here at JSU was because of all of you. Now that I'm no longer Chanticleering I plan to devote my time to the betterment and furthering of the fraternity. Thanks so much for everything. And a special thanks to my big brother, Mr. Michael Poe, a true Kappa Sigma and one helluva guy. There's no better big brother anywhere. A.E.K.A.B.

ALSO:

To all my friends: It's been a blast, but it ain't over yet. Next year's gonna be great. Thanks for all the fun, you're all fantastic.

To all my readers: Thanks for the compliments on my columns. I'm no writer, but I've tried to be as entertaining as possible. It's been more or less an attempt to keep it all together in an untogether state of mind this past year. Thank you for your support.

Again, thank you all. Farewell.

Sex.
One of the first rules of journalism is to have a good lead. A good lead draws the reader into the story. I could have just as easily started off with: "A physiology lab turns into an Ayers Hall BLOODBATH," but that might have been a little too sensational.

(For those interested, this article actually has nothing to do with sex. You can quit reading and skip directly to whatever fast-food coupons might be in the back of this paper.)

Since this is my first editorial and I was supposed to write six or seven and this is the last paper, I have decided to write a compilatory (?) editorial. It contains my opinions on international, national and local subjects. Let me get right to it:

La Prensa. La Prensa is (was) the main opposition newspaper in that Eden of Central America, Nicaragua. (Background: Daniel Ortega, president of democratic Nicaragua, signed a peace treaty recently with the once-U.S.-backed Contra rebels. The treaty contained a provision that freedom of the press would be restored and La Prensa began printing again after being shut down by the government for several months). The paper recently announced it was shutting down, citing a shortage of newsprint. The assistant director of La Prensa, Cristiana Chamorro, said the government (Ortega's fine gang, who recently signed a treaty restoring, among other things, freedom of the press) has told the newspaper there is no paper to be found anywhere in the country. You formulate your own opinion of what is going on down there. I know what mine is.

On the national level, I believe we in the United States have our priorities in line (there is a smirk on my face as I write this one). I returned home one night around midnight to find the television tuned to Entertainment Tonight (the People magazine of television). The Ken and Barbie hosts were debating (See FIRST, Page 14)

Letters to the Editor

A special thanks

Dear Students of J.S.U.:

I could never tell you on a piece of paper how much serving as your S.G.A. President has meant to me the past two years. When I first took office, our first obstacle was for the S.G.A. to reach out to the students because no one hardly knew what we did, or what we were, or even cared. I think after hard work from all the senate and officers, we started to increase entertainmet, communications, and activities. I feel we have left a mark and I hope it is one you think of favorably because Lord knows, we have worked as hard as we could, and at times, it wasn't too easy.

I am so proud to have been a part of this university and to have had the privilege of working for you. It was exciting to see the goals we set, met, and to have layed a foundation in which others will follow. I hope the traditions we started will continue or improve.

I especially want to thank the S.G.A. senators who worked together all year as a team and were so supportive. I could never tell Greg Harley, Jim Finley, Dwight Burton, and Diane Marshall how much they mean to me and the lasting impression they have made on my life. As an Idaho native, I can truly say that J.S.U. is the friendliest campus in the South. Thanks for being like a family to me and for your support. I will never forget these last two years of my life. Good luck to all of you....Keep dreaming and pursuing your goals; and if you challenge yourself to be all you can be, you'll go far.

With sincerity and fond memories, I am
Vonda Barbour
President of S.G.A. 1986-88

A successful Greek year

Dear Editor:

A word of thanks:

I would like to thank all the fraternities and sororities for making their Greek Week and the Greek party a huge success. I would also like to congratulate Alpha Xi (Zee) Delta and Pi Kappi Phi for winning their respective Greek Week Championships. Fraternity Greek Week took a lot of hard work and a special effort by the following people: Barry Robertson, Alan Higgins, Mike Sargent, Rick Mayfield, Roderick Moore, Craig Hess, Harlan Mason, Vink Rocker, and Chuck Love.

We tried to make Greek Week a special week in which more emphasis was placed upon fun, not competition. Competition is a very important part of the Greek system, but in no way is it the most important. The Greek system is like a house. Football games, pep rallies, intramurals, mixers, formals and Greek Week are merely events or "concrete blocks" that act as the support or foundation of the Greek system.

But it's brotherhood, sisterhood, respect, and lasting friendships that act as the "cement" to unite all these "blocks" together towards a system that offers a person shelter, support and love. At this time, the future of our Greek system is being placed on trial by other Greek systems around the country. I can only hope that we, as Greeks, are mature enough to realize that we can never build up one's character by breaking him down, physically or mentally.

I challenge each fraternity to continue the positive changes that have occurred during my four years here at JSU. I also wish next year's IFC officers good luck and to all of those who will assume the responsibility in the years to come.

And to Barry Robertson, newly elected IFC president, I know you'll continue to fertilize the seeds I planted. Good luck, and thanks for all your words of encouragement.

Fraternally,
Mitch Gilbert
IFC President

Hill is Athletic Department's 'Jack-of-all-trades'

By ELISE TILLMAN
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Anne Hill, Secretary to Jerry Cole, Athletic Director. Sounds like a pretty mundane job. But that's only if you stop at the title!

In reality, Anne Hill is in charge of much more. She takes care of the budgets for all the sports offered by JSU, attends conferences, sets up awards banquets, does student worker payrolls, purchases and orders equipment and supplies for all sports, and still does all the work expected of the average secretary, answering phones, filing, typing...

Hill says that her job is not one that is easily defined: "You don't have a list that says these are my responsibilities because you veer away from that list. It's basically just whatever needs to be done!" She adds that "it's far away from what I was hired to do."

Hill was originally hired in August of 1971 by Charlie Pell who was head coach at the time. She was the first full-time secretary the Athletic Department had ever had. The athletic department was previously run by student workers and her only training for the job was done by a student worker. Her job was described as answering phones, filing, and typing.

Pell called Mrs. Hill into his office one day and asked her to organize the department. That turned out to be quite a task! There was no system at all for paying bills, filing, or budgeting. Pell gave Mrs. Hill complete authority in the matter, saying that she could arrange things as she pleased as long as it was a system she could handle.

She began by calling everyone associated with the department to see who was owed what and to get invoices sent to JSU. Somehow she managed to arrange a system for paying bills, bookkeeping, and filing.

Arranging a system like that would have been quite a job even for a veteran in such matters, and although Mrs. Hill had worked in offices, she had never set up anything so involved.

Through lots of hard work and determination a system was arranged, the department was organized, and things began to run more smoothly. The original system has been expanded to fit the expanding athletic program at JSU. Hill says her job and its responsibilities "snowballed" as the department grew.

You wonder how one person can handle all of this in eight hours a day? "Organization" replies Hill, adding that it has taken a long time to get everything going.

JSU holds many memories for the Hill family. Anne's husband, Ed Hill, is campus photographer and both of their daughters are attending JSU.

Sherry Hill Riggin, oldest daughter, was a marching Ballerina and is now a senior here. Kelly Hill, age 18, is a freshman. She was recently elected Gamecock Hostess and Marching Ballerina.

Mrs. Hill says that her daughters first saw the Ballerinas when they themselves were only babies. Sherry and Kelly took dance lessons as soon as they were old enough and both have now fulfilled their childhood dream of becoming Ballerinas.

Anne Hill says that her greatest accomplishment in life is having raised two young women in whom she can take such pride.

Of course, there have been difficult times as well. Mrs. Hill recalls with sadness the death of JSU Head Coach Clarkie Mayfield. A close friend of the Hills, Mayfield died in a hotel fire in Kentucky.

Good times are a significant part of Hill's past at JSU. She says she's been involved in everything from pulling pranks to taping the Head Coach's pants to his body. But those were the "good old days" before the advent of paperwork in triplicate.

Hill says that her life has been full and happy, but she has dreamed of more in her career.

"If I had my life to back up and do over, it wouldn't be like this. I would've done more than this allows. Maybe gone on to college. The thing to do when I was young was to get married and have babies. I was considered an old maid because I wasn't married when I turned 20. Now 25 years old is just a good age to be finishing college.

"When I was growing up I wanted to be a politician. Now I wish I'd followed my heart," says Hill, adding that her father, as a member of the Alabama State House of Representatives, impressed upon her at an early age the power and influence wielded by political positions.

Today Anne Hill actively follows national politics. Having raised her daughters, she finds that she has more time for herself and wonders if she might not someday follow her dreams to get into politics.

Ad agency faces $10 million loss

(CPS) - An October complaint by the director of Mankato State University's Women's Center about "sexist" advertising last week cost an award-winning Minneapolis advertising agency about $10 million worth of business.

U.S. West, the huge telecommunications company that runs telephone companies in 11 western states, on January 14 told Fallon McElligot, the agency that has created U.S. West's ads for the past four years, it no longer wanted it to handle its $10 million account.

The phone company was "extremely uncomfortable" with Fallon McElligot's response to a complaint by Mankato State's Neala Schleuning, explained U.S. West Vice President Judi Servoss.

"Our feeling," she added, "was that we're a company that strongly espouses pluralism and equal opportunity."

Schleuning, for her part, said, "My original objective was to talk about sexism in advertising, not bringing a major corporation to its knees. They didn't lose that business because of what I did."

Still, Schleuning, who said it's an uphill battle convincing "corporate America to do anything," hailed U.S. West for considering women's concerns and predicted the decision will force the advertising industry to become more sensitive in how it portrays women and minorities.

The furor was ignited in October, when Schleuning wrote a letter to Fallon McElligot complaining about the "negative stereotypes" in its ads.

One ad that particularly infuriated Schleuning touted the television show "Dynasty." Over photos of three female stars was the headline "Bitch, Bitch, Bitch." Schleuning said the ad represented a "male gonad style of doing business."

In response, Schleuning expected a polite form letter thanking her for her concern and ignoring the issues she raised.

But the Fallon McElligot response was anything but polite. "When I got a real live letter in a hand-addressed envelope, I was impressed. But when I opened it up and was abused and degraded, it just blew me away."

Fallon McElligot's Charles Anderson had sent Schleuning a photo of an African boy pressing his mouth against a cow's anus. In an accompanying letter, Anderson suggested Schleuning visit the Dinka tribe to investigate the "barbaric ritual."

Angered, Schleuning informed Minnesota women's groups of the exchange and those organizations fired off letters asking if the Fallon McElligot response represented the company's true feelings.

The agency's founders, Patrick Fallon and Thomas McElligot, then offered Schleuning a one-way ticket to Africa to investigate Dinka cow-kissing.

"Their message came through real clearly," said Schleuning.

Although Fallon McElligot's other major clients -- including Lee Jeans, Porsche USA, the Wall Street Journal and First Tennessee Corporation -- say they will continue to work with the ad agency, Schleuning hailed U.S. West's action.

"Other companies would have written an apology and left it at that, but they thought it was a big joke," Schleuning said of the ad agency. "The image they gave themselves astounds me. They shocked a lot of people. People are often outraged by advertising but don't do anything about it. Maybe this will give them the idea that people want advertising based on a ground of mutual respect."

Davis' professor loses in moral conflict

(CPS) - University of California at Davis officials have dismissed veterinary Professor Nedim Buyukmihci as a "course leader" of a surgery class in which students operated on live, healthy animals as part of their coursework.

Buyukmihci, who had taught the course since 1987, was removed from it in January for giving his students the option of refusing to perform any surgeries they considered "unethical or immoral."

The teacher, a Department of Ophthalmology spokesman said, hadn't gotten official permission to give his students such a choice.

At the same time, two University of North Florida students asked their university's Department of Natural Science to stop using live animals in an upper-level physiology class they are taking, and asserted they should not get bad grades solely because they refused to participate in the experiments.

"I don't like it when someone says you must kill to get a good grade," Terry Powers told The Spinnaker, University of Florida's campus newspaper. "Because of my beliefs, I'm being penalized."

Davis University's Buyukmihci was reprimanded for trying to avoid penalizing students for such feelings.

Buyukmihci repeatedly had asked Department of Ophthalmology officials to let him use cadavers of animals that had died of natural causes, terminally ill animals or, "as a last resort," abandoned pound animals instead of live, healthy ones.

The department refused his requests.

George Cardinet, a member of the department's curriculum committee, said Buyukmihci's proposals were "contradictory" to what other faculty members wanted students to accomplish in the courses, and that once Buyukmihci decided to press his case anyway he'd begun, in the department's view, to use the class for his own political purposes.

International House remembers Conner

By JOEY LUALLEN
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Anne Effinger Mangina and Lynette Dussault had not seen some of their former Jacksonville State University classmates in 14 years. But when the two appealed to their old friends for contributions to the International House in memory of another classmate, the response was enormous.

Last week, at a dinner at the House, Mangina and Dussault presented two paintings and an engraving and signature of the Italian opera composer Giacomo Puccini, to the House in memory of Byron Conner. The women also gave a donation to Grindley Curren, director of the International House, to be put in the House's Endowment Fund. The fund is set up for scholarships that are awarded to International House students.

Conner, who died in February of 1987, was an American member of the International House from 1971 to 1974. After graduating from Jacksonville in 1974 with a B.S. degree in music education, he graduated from Ithaca College at the age of 20 with a master's degree in performance.

"We wanted to do something for the House in memory of Byron," said Mangina. She said Conner was always willing to help a friend, yet he remained a very humble person. Conner's mother, Elaine Couch, said he once wrote background music to accompany one of his oboe presentation's, but failed to take credit for writing the accompaniment. "The director really got on to him. He (the director) told him to always take credit for what he did," she said. "It touches me deeply that over this long period of time, these people still remember Byron like this."

Conner's main love in life was acting. He appeared in several off-Broadway plays, including "Where's Charlie?", "The Taming of the Shrew," and "Music Man." He also performed on General Hospital, Young and the Restless, As the World Turns and The Guiding Light as well as numerous commercials. Conner co-starred in a CBS made-for-television movie, "Confidential Love," in 1986.

Conner was a multi-talented musician and could play the piano, oboe, flute, saxophone, and accordion. He also studied for two seasons with the Aspen Opera. The two paintings that were given to the House date back to 1775 and show many different musical instruments of the time. Mangina said the works show Conners love for music.

Conner touched many lives during his life. The responses Mangina and Dussault received from former International House members came from numerous foreign countries.

Mrs. Couch said during her son's stay in the hospital before his death "there were no less than 100 people every day that came to visit him."

She said many of Conner's friends who acted in plays allowed understudies to perform during matinees so they were given a few more hours to stay with him.

Mrs. Couch says she has received letters from England, Denmark, Iceland, Kuwait and other countries telling her what a great impact Conner had on their lives.

"We wanted to show that the group was a close one," said Dussault. "We wanted to return something to the International House."

Last Wednesday night, they returned something.

Jazz Ensemble looks for 'special kind of person'

By CYNDI OWENS

Chanticleer Senior Editor

Dr. Ron Surace says that it takes a special kind of person to be a member of JSU's Jazz Ensemble.

"We are looking for a fanatic — somebody who is really wrapped up in playing American jazz," said Surace, director of the ensemble.

"Camaraderie has to be part of their nature...and they have got to put out a high level product or they won't stay in....This is the kind of a group that requires a specific kind of player; someone who excels at performance, someone who loves to play," he added.

The Jazz Ensemble is a group of 18 to 21 students who study and perform jazz together. Members are chosen by auditions held in the spring and about two weeks before school starts. Surace tries to get the "very best" students during these auditions.

"Like a football team, it's the spirit of the group that matters."

Students who are selected for the ensemble are eligible for three to six hours credit, but they put in many hours of performance and many more in practice. The class meets three times weekly, and the group usually performs two or three times a year on campus.

The bulk of their performing is done in the summer months when class loads are usually lighter, and they play for civic and charitable organizations as well as high schools.

One of the ensemble's upcoming performances will be a trip to Panoply of the Arts, an annual festival held in Huntsville.

"It's a phenomenal festival. They really go after it. There are handicrafts, paintings, bands, and it's all going on simultaneously. It takes place in the heart of Huntsville, and the location is garden-like, idyllic, like something out of a 1945 film. It all looks make-believe. It's produced to the max," he said.

This is the ensemble's second trip to Panoply. "They heard us play last year and booked us on the spot for this year."

Surace said that Panoply is "one of the best festivals in the Southeast. I highly recommend it to anyone for a summer activity who is interested in art."

While the ensemble is in Huntsville, they hope to make a trip to perform for the Alabama Public Radio Station, time permitting.

The group usually plays a 40-minute set, which includes selections from Rod McConnell, Gershwin's "I Got Rhythm," and "Hide Away." Surace says they play "rock-flavored jazz," and occasionally they perform small group originals.

He says the ensemble is a good promotional tool for the University, especially when they play high schools. Each member has his own responsibilities in setting up, and this gives them a chance to interact with students.

"They impact on the student body with their professionalism, expertise, composure, and talent. They must be reachable, not arrogant or haughty. The students sell the group by expertise," he said.

The ensemble has been invited to perform all over the world, in such places as the Soviet Union, China, London, and Japan. Unfortunately, it takes a lot of money to take such a large group on an international tour.

"It's just a matter of money....That's been our stumbling block as far as mobility."

"Like a football team, it's the spirit of the group that matters." — Surace

Graduates show off art work during Senior Exhibit

By DEBORA WHITE

Chanticleer Staff Writer

Graduating seniors must endure many trials in pursuit of that long-awaited degree. For art majors, preparations for graduation includes the Senior Show on display in Hammond Hall Gallery through April 26.

Seniors Robyn Glass-Chambers and Kristin Griggs, who will graduate with Bachelor of Fine Arts degrees, and Scott Anderson, Sheila Bishop, Connie Dean, Gary Evans, Louann McCallie, Tim McNeal, and Derrick Smith, who will receive Bachelor of Arts degrees with art majors, participated in the preparation for and final presentation of the exhibit.

The Senior Show is the climax of the Senior Seminar required of art majors the semester they graduate. The seminar includes the important aspects of planning and hanging an exhibit, resulting in the Senior Show. The students also learn how to prepare their own portfolios and resumes.

The seniors did all the work for the show, from advertising to hanging the pieces in the gallery to preparing the refreshments for the April 5 opening reception.

"The show is the culmination of art experience and the art degree," said Dr. Emilie Burn, head of the art department. "An important part of being an artist is to show."

The show includes over 50 works in a variety of art media, including painting, drawing, photography, sculpture and ceramics produced by the students during their art studies at JSU.

The students selected the works from their own repertoire and agreed upon prospective pieces as a group. The art faculty made the final choices for the exhibit based on available space.

In addition to providing their works for display, the seniors will each donate one work of art to the University's permanent collection. This semester's donations include several prints and photographs, an oil painting, a wire sculpture, and an alligator made of tire tread by Connie Dean entitled "Tire Baby." Dr. Burn presented each senior with a Certificate of Appreciation for their participation and donation.

The seniors participating in the current show will graduate in the Spring or Summer semesters. Another show will be held in the fall for art majors graduating in that semester.

Club News Club News Club News Club News

(Editor's Note: Last week's Club News contained an error which we would like to correct. Two paragraphs about the band Typhoon, which were supposed to be included in the Jazz Club news, were accidentally placed under Zeta Tau Alpha's headline. We regret the error and any inconvenience that it might have caused.)

Zeta Tau Alpha

Congratulations to our new 1988-89 Ballerinas. They are: Angela Burgess, Christi Baker, Laura Womack, and Amy Proctor. Y'all are going to be great next year!

The Zetas would like to thank the third floor of Dixon Hall for an absolutely fantastic party. Everybody had a great time! There was dancing on one end of the hall and "live" guitar playing on the other. In the middle, Troy (our favorite pledge), tried to see who all would sign his poster - not a very successful attempt. Let's do it again next fall!

If you didn't attend our White Violet Formal, you really missed out. We'd like to thank Libba and the rest of social for all the hard work - it was great! The annual "Zeta Awards" were given. Ask a Zeta who won them! The rest of the weekend we had a picnic on the quad and Sunday was member and pledge retreat. We got a lot accomplished and had a great time! Next Monday is "Senior Night," so all you graduating seniors beware.

Member of the Week is Amy Hyde; Pledge of the Week is Janice Brown; Social Bunny is Kim Matsko; and Zeta Lady is April Sauceman.

Student Accounting

We would like to remind all of the members of the upcoming spring picnic at Dr. Granger's. Also, we want to wish everyone a safe, happy, and (most importantly) prosperous summer.

Kappa Sigma

The brothers of the Lambda Gamma Chapter of Kappa Sigma would like to thank the sisters of Alpha Xi Delta for a great beach party mixer. Everyone had a real blast.

Speaking of beaches, the Kappa Sigs spent this past weekend on the beach at Ft. Walton Beach, Florida. The Aloha Village Resort will probably never be the same.

The Spring Formal Entertainment award goes out to Miss Mary Poe for her award-winning performance on Friday night.

The Best Legs Award goes to Mike Haynes for those fine appendages of his, the Let Me Be Painted Award goes to Trey Bowman, the Beershoes trophy goes to the team of Mike Poe and Keith Timberlake, and the Let's Pester Clarence Award goes to the dynamic duo of Todd Bourland and Brad Barfield.

Back On The Farm Party is this Saturday and alumni from across the South are expected to attend. It should, once again, prove to be quite an event.

Delta Zeta

We would like to thank Delta Chi for a fantastic "Boxer and Shades Bash" mixer on April 6. It was a great way to blow out the end of the semester.

Tonight, we're having a bridal shower for Tammy Hamilton in our chapter room. She is getting married to Chad Hess on June 11. Congratulations!

We're proud of the DZ's who were recently selected as JSU Hostesses for 1988-89: Jan Fowler, Amy Henderson, and Anderia Smith.

The active and pledge chosen for showing the DZ spirit for the week of March 28-April 1 were Becky McCay and Dawn Landers. Pledge of the Week is Lori Busby, pledge class president.

We would like to say congratulations to all our graduating seniors and wish them the best of luck for the future.

We also want to wish everyone good luck on exams. Have a great summer and see ya in the fall!

Kappa Alpha

We would like to congratulate everyone that competed in Greek Week last week. The week was used to better relations between the various Greek organizations and give them a chance to show off their athletic abilities. The Rebels would like to say, "Just wait until next year."

The Rebels softball team is off and running again this year with high hopes of defending the title we won last year.

We would like to thank the sisters of Delta Zeta for a great "Rock'n'Roll" mixer on March 30. We all had a great time rocking and rolling into the night. Next year's mixer will be even better.

Dean Edwards Day is April 16 and we look forward to seeing the alumni again.

The Triad Party with ATO and Sigma Nu was April 9.

Good luck the rest of the semester.

Pi Sigma Chi

We would like to thank the brothers of Delta Chi for a great party on March 26. It was a blast. We started the party at the Delta house at 2:30. It consisted of volleyball, horse shoes, music, and grilled hot dogs. That evening we moved the party to our house to finish it off. It was a great time for everyone.

During the month of March, we were very active in public relations activities. We had many brothers who visited the Big Oak Boys Ranch on several occasions. We also raised a substantial amount of money for our national philanthropy, the Wallace Village for Children. We also held a roadblock to raise money for the Jacksonville City Police in their quest for bullet proof vests. Our upcoming project consists of fixing broken toys for children.

We would like to say congratulations to two of our Little Sigs who made the Ballerina squad, Ginger Ramsey and Lisa Bailey. We would also like to congratulate Rick Engman for being chosen Pi Sigma Chi's "Safe Sex Awareness Chairperson." Good job, Rick!

Last week we had a great time partying with a group of Sigma Chi's from Delaware University who stopped by on their way to Florida. Come back soon, guys!

And last but not least, we would like to say thanks to our Little Sigs for their continued support of the fraternity.

Alpha Xi Delta

It's hard to believe that the semester is almost over! This has been a very busy semester for us. We wish everybody good luck on their finals.

Our pledge sisters had a car wash last week. Thanks to everyone who came by for a clean up job. Our pledge sisters have really done an outstanding job this semester. Congratulations to Sharon Hosch for being named Pledge Sister of the Week.

We had a great time with the Kappa Sigs at our Beach Party mixer. It was a great way to end the semester.

We are so excited about our Founder's Day. Saturday, April 16, all alumnae are invited back for a very special day. We will have a brunch at the Victoria, followed that evening by our formal dance at the Beach Ball Club. A special thanks to Gina Willis for all of her help planning Founder's Day.

Phi Mu

We would like to thank the brothers of Alpha Tau Omega for the fantastic mixer last week. The theme was "Black Out" and it proved to be an excellent theme as the mixer was a great success. Thanks again, ATO.

A pledge retreat has been planned for April 15. The pledges will stay at the home of Brit Mitchell. They will eat, watch movies, and have a great time socializing with their pledge sisters.

Sisterhood Retreat was last weekend, and the girls spent the day at Mrs. Reeves' (an alumnae) swimming, sunning, and cooking out. Everyone had a blast. Then on Sunday several sisters went to church together. After church the girls met on the hall to begin preparations for Fall Rush.

We will be holding our annual Rock-a-Thon in the lobby of Sparkman Hall on April 12-13. It will begin at noon on Tuesday and end at 11 a.m. on Wednesday. Please contribute to this effort to raise money for our philanthropy, Project Hope.

Congratulations to Chem Proctor, Leslie Wiram, and Michelle Watson, who were chosen S.G.A. senators. Also congratulations to Krista Mushett, who was chosen Pledge of the Week, and to "T" Rimmer, Sister of the Month, and Suzanne Chumbler, who was chosen Sister of the Month by the brothers of Pi Kappa Phi. We're proud of all of you!

Alpha Tau Omega

We would like to thank all of the members of Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu for another wonderful Triad Party. The brothers and pledges would also like to thank the members of Phi Mu for an excellent mixer last Thursday. Everyone had a great time and we're all looking forward to future mixers with the ladies of Phi Mu.

Special congratulations are in order for the following members of ATO: Mike Sargent, Brother of the Month, Teddy Carter, Pledge of the Week, and Nancy Maloney, Lil' Sister of the Month.

We would like to remind the softball team that we are all behind you during the softball season. You are all doing a great job - keep it up.

ATO Question of the Week: Will David "Bean" Shumway see our sweetheart by candlelight?

BEWARE OF THE VIKING! April 16 - the day the Vikings will rule Jacksonville.

Beta Beta Beta

Induction ceremonies for the Mu Phi chapter of Beta Beta Beta, the National Biological Honor Society, were held Friday, April 1, 1988. The new inductees for active membership are: Randolph L. Astin, Benjie Blair, Frankie Elizabeth Davis, Bill Duncan, Keith Easterling, Paulo Alexandre Ferreira, Joel Stephen Henry, Cherie Holland, Becky Hollingsworth, April R. Ingram, Keysa D. Minnifield, Christina Marie Nall, and Kent E. Snowden.

Shirley Bobbit Marbut was promoted from associate to active membership.

New associate members are: Rechima Dawn Anderson, Robbie Lynn Davis, Markus Fredrick Dowdey, Patricia Dreyfus, Stephanie Matthews, Tony B. Nunn, Patricia F. Owens, Michelle Penny, and Connie Diane Pointer.

We would like to congratulate and welcome all our new members.

Phi Beta Lamda

Our end-of-the-year party was a blast! We had a luau at the Courtyard on April 7. We all had a great time and we are eagerly looking forward to this fall when we will be starting a new and exciting school year.

Congratulations to our Spring 1988 graduates. We wish you the best in the future!

Since our president and vice president are graduating, we recently elected new officers. The new president is Linc Marcum and the new vice president is Tom Dyer.

If you are returning this fall, watch billboards for our first meeting in September. Everyone is invited to our meetings, so come and see what you are missing.

Finally, we would like to wish everyone a safe and happy summer. Also, we hope you have many, "Endless Summer Nights."

FMA

The next meeting of FMA will be held Thursday, April 14, in room 250 Merrill Hall, at 2:30 p.m.

FMA is the only national honor society in the field of finance. It is a unique opportunity for juniors, seniors, and graduate students to be recognized for their academic achievement and also become a charter member. Each member receives a scroll of merit from the national society, and obtains a subscription to "The Journal of Financial Management," "Financial Management Collection," and "Careers in Finance."

Interested students can pick up membership application forms from the Department of Finance, Economics, and Business Statistics in room 119 Merrill.

The group has already designated Dr. Bill Scroggins and Mr. Gene Padgam as faculty advisors and Mr. Haseeb Ahmed as coordinator. Also the following officers have been elected: Carter Goode, president; Bobby Stewart, vice president, and Donald Young, treasurer. A constitution still has yet to be adopted.

Anyone who needs further information should contact Dr. Scroggins (4792), Mr. Padgam (4775), or Mr. Ahmed (5776).

Taste of the Town brings variety to second season

By DENISE KEEFER
Special to the Chanticleer

For those students lucky enough to be staying in Jacksonville this July and August, the drama department has an exciting idea for an evening's entertainment and a delicious meal, all rolled into one neat, affordable package. The event of last summer, Taste of the Town dinner theatre, is back, and promises to be twice as much fun.

The dinner theatre celebrates its second year by expanding to two shows and two dinner buffet menus.

And just for students, Taste of the Town is offering special discount tickets. With a valid spring or summer JSU ID card, students can save almost 20 percent off the regular $16 admission. The student ticket, at just $13, features the same great all-you-can-eat dinner buffets and semi-professional productions.

Menus will be announced at a later date. Last year's dinner buffet included roast beef, teriyaki chicken breasts, lasagna, wild rice pilaf, green beans almondine, honey glazed baby carrots, salads, and a choice of four scrumptious desserts.

The entertainment will be top notch, with two shows, the romantic comedy, "Under the Yum Yum Tree," and the mystery-thriller, "Veronica's Room," rotating on a four-days-on, four-days-off production schedule.

Taste of the Town will open July 28 and run for three weeks, through August 17. There will be no Monday performances.

Located in the Montgomery Building Auditorium, the dinner theatre opens at 6:30 each night. Dinner is served at 6:45, and the show begins at 8 p.m.

Three Sunday brunch matinees will begin at 12:30, with the buffet at 12:45 and the matinee at 2 p.m. All tickets for Sunday performances will be $12.

Dr. Wayne Claeren, artistic director, says he plans to use the same actors for both shows. The actors will be paid, and will consist of JSU students, recent graduates, and possibly faculty and staff members.

Several technical and backstage positions are also available, and Carlton Ward, managing director, encourages those who are qualified to express interest in these positions as early as possible.

Additional discounts are available for groups of 25 or more. Group reservations will be accepted from April 26 through June 28.

Individual reservations are accepted on a continuous basis through show dates. All tickets must be purchased in advance, and are available by calling the box office at (205) 231-5648 weekdays. Visa and Mastercard orders may be made by phone. Those who reserve early are assured of getting the best tables.

Consult the accompanying table for show schedules.

Shebang: members grew up playing and studying music

By C. A. ABERNATHY
Chanticleer Music Writer
(Editor's note: Portions of this article were compiled with the help of L. Doshia W. Mundy.)
Based in Atlanta, members of the band Shebang have been playing music most of their lives.

Scott Sinclair has been playing keyboards since he was 11 years old. Sinclair's background includes experience in classical music and he has been with the band four months.

Tim Gardener has a degree in Business from Middle Georgia College, and has known Brent and Neel Daniel for 12 years.

Brent Daniel says he got started in music, "when Neel moved into my room," (Neel and Brent are brothers). Neel's nickname is the "Algerian Elf," and he has studied computer programming.

"Coffee At The Airport."

"It was recorded in many studios, and is released on Ivory Tower Records, look for it in record stores, or by writing to Shebang."

When Brent and Neel first began in music, they say their parents, "loved it."

When not playing they say they listen to, "The Producers, Guns And Roses, Aerosmith, Led Zeppelin," and yes, even classical music. They list among their hobbies, "sports (soccer), sex, and family planning (and reading about it)." Brent Daniel and his wife, Marie, have a daughter who was born on New Year's Eve of this year.

Plans for the future include, "records, tours, kids...and keeping our big mouths shut." The band's motto is, "We should, but let's don't."

Life in a band is, "Pure hell...hard work...no fun" according to one member. Brent's advice to students thinking about getting in a band is, "Stay in school." Neel agrees, "Don't do it!" It is up to you to decide if they were serious.

For them, the best part of being in the band can be travelling. Of course, "It depends on where you are." If it is a long drive to the show it can be "boring...tiring." Mike Vega, sound technician, and Dana Daniel, light technician, would probably agree. Everyone with this band must feel it is worth it all, since they do play music full-time and are on the road much of the year.

Shebang emphasizes that Jacksonville has "good people, and good food," and Neel says that it is "better than Cleveland!" Many fans eagerly wait for them to return.

They have played "all over," from "New York to L.A." for the last four years. Shebang is the only name this line-up has ever had, and it sums up their many diverse influences. These are represented by cover songs like "Ten Inch Record" and "Same Old Song And Dance" by Aerosmith, "Her Standing There" and "Helter Skelter" by the Beatles, "Fortunate Son" and "Have You Ever Seen The Rain" by Creedence Clearwater Revival, "Honky Tonk Women" by the Rolling Stones, and, most noticeably, Elton John's "Funeral For A Friend Love Lies Bleeding," "Your Song," and "Rocket Man."

Brent Daniel details Shebang's original musical endeavors this way: "Since the addition of Scott, who plays keyboards, we are now able to create the perfect blend of commercial songs that are valid in today's market, while maintaining our original feel for the old songs of yesteryear. Our new songs reflect to the days of the Beatles, circa '68, or Elton John's "Yellow Brick Road" era, only updated to the '80s. We can only write material similar to works that we would listen to ourselves."

He added, "Many bands do not take into account that there is an audience out there that is a little more sophisticated than those who want three chord bubblegum (music)."

Their first, self-titled, album backs this ideal perfectly. Tracks include, "Sara Jane," "Head Of The Houz," "In A Perfect World," and

Homecoming Committee starts work on plans for next fall

By CYNDI OWENS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The sights and sounds of spring have just begun to forcefully make themselves known, yet at least one group on campus has already started looking to next fall.

The Homecoming '88 Committee has begun work on plans for Homecoming week, which will culminate October 15 as JSU takes on the University of North Alabama. Kick-off is set for 2 p.m.

"We're basically requesting all clubs, organizations, fraternities, and sororities to start planning for Homecoming. We'll help them any way we can. We want to get everybody we can involved in Homecoming," said Buford "Pete" Brooks, committee chairman.

The committee plans to stay with the traditional format for Homecoming week, with the parade taking place late in the morning on Saturday, and the Student Government Association planning its usual activities: a concert, pageant, pep rally, and so forth.

A complete schedule will be announced as soon as it is finalized.

The key to a successful Homecoming has always been the amount of student input and participation.

The committee is asking, therefore, that as many groups as possible make plans to join in the parade, to build yard displays, and to attend the game.

"We want to encourage all of the groups to plan their own activities for Saturday night after the game. We are planning to have a dinner dance again, but we encourage everyone to plan their own events, too. We will be happy to help with the facilities, organization, and so forth," said Brooks.

For more information on Homecoming 1988, contact Brooks at 231-5781, ext. 4405.

Gamecocks wallop W. Georgia

By SCOTT SWISHER
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Coach Rudy Abbott's crew continues to roll down the path to a Gulf South Conference crown. After an easy win at home over Shorter College, the Gamecocks took a quick drive east on Interstate 20 to Carrollton, Georgia, to take on conference foe West Georgia.

The fourth ranked Gamecocks, sporting their 27-2 record, swept a double-header from the 19th ranked Braves by 5-0 and 6-5 scores. Jacksonville's Jim Smith provided a near flawless performance in the first game, throwing eleven strikeouts while allowing only one Brave to reach base. Smith was not alone in good performances, however. He was backed by errorless defensive play. Tom Dorton and Jim Hazlett made some outstanding defensive efforts to help preserve the shutout.

"Again, the key was pitching and defense," said Coach Abbott.

West Georgia fought until the last pitch, but as it turned out, the first pitch of the game could have been the last. Jacksonville State's lead-off batter, Taurus Rice, smashed an Allen Duff fastball over the center-field fence in the top of the first. That gave the Gamecocks the only run they would need on the game's first pitch.

Jacksonville picked up two more runs in the third. A two-run single by Larry Doyle boosted the score to 3-0 in favor of JSU.

No runs crossed the plate again until the sixth inning when second baseman Ed Quasky drove in a run off a single. Stewart Lee followed up with a double to score the fifth and final run of the game.

Jim Smith got the win for JSU, and Allen Duff took the loss for West Georgia.

In the second of the two games, the Gamecocks found the going a little tougher. Jax State came out of the match by a one run margin, winning by a score of 6-5.

Taurus Rice got things started in the first inning with a lead-off base hit. Rice later scored when Lee doubled to give Jacksonville a 1-0 lead. That lead was short-lived, however. The Braves were able to score a single run in the bottom half of the same inning to tie the game.

Jacksonville put two more runs on the board in the second when both Seibert gets into swing of things.

Rick Giannuzzi and Taurus Rice had run-scoring singles. The Gamecocks ran the score to 5-1 in the top of the third when second baseman Harold Ragsdale hit a two-run double.

West Georgia would not lay down. They pulled themselves right back into the game when they scored two in their half of the third. After three, the score stood at 5-3.

The Gamecocks looked to be wrapping things up in the seventh when Stewart Lee reached on an error and later scored when Mac Seibert doubled. But the game was far from over. In the bottom of the seventh, Jacksonville's Todd Jones pitched himself into a jam, and things did not look good. The Braves were able to score a run on Micheal Davis' double. Then with the bases loaded and two out, Jones walked in a run to make the score 6-5.

Jones reached down for something extra over the last two innings and ended the game when he struck out Harold Jarrod. Jones had twelve strikeouts on the way to his fifth victory. Russell Beardon was the losing pitcher for West Georgia.

"Obviously, I'm proud of our baseball players," said Coach Abbott.

"They were two tough ballgames, but our pitching and defense held up. We got the hits at the right time."

The two victories make the Gamecocks 6-0 in GSC play. They have six more conference games remaining with two games against Troy State being the only remaining conference road games. The other four are double headers against Valdosta State and West Georgia at home.

Harley and Hilderbrand teamed up to win first doubles, while Wilson and Galvarro-Soria took second doubles, and Cheek and Barnett were winners at number three.

In the week prior to the UAH match, the Gamecocks posted one 8-1 win over West Georgia College and dropped a 5-4 heartbreaker to Jefferson State Junior College.

Micheal-John Garnett filled the first singles position. Jonathon Howes played two, and Tracey Perry played three. Greg Harley held down fourth singles, followed by Les Abbott and Ric Flair at the fifth and sixth positions. Howes and Garnett secured first doubles, Harley and Perry played two, and Flair and Abbott played three.

Going undefeated for JSU in both singles and doubles action were Harley, Abbott, and Flair. The Gamecocks are currently the sixth-ranked Division II team in the South with a record of 15-5.

The Jacksonville State women's tennis team also had an exceptional week, soundly defeating four good teams.

The ladies began their week with comfortable 9-0 wins over West Georgia College and Mississippi College for Women. Next, they travelled to Jefferson State Junior col-

Jax State locks up GSC playoff spot

... Lee sets record

By JEFFREY ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Jax State Gamecocks wrapped up a spot in the Gulf South Conference playoffs last Saturday as they handled Valdosta State 5-0 and 9-1 in doubleheader action. The Gamecocks are now 30-3 overall and a perfect 8-0 in the GSC East. A West Georgia win over Troy State on Saturday gave Jax State a three-game lead with only four GSC games remaining in the season.

But this was not the only big news to come out of the doubleheader. Stewart Lee tied the old record and set a new one for career home runs among Division I, Division II, and the NAIA players. Lee now has 66 career homers during his playing days at JSU, breaking the old record of 65.

"I was proud of Stewart Lee for his record-breaking day," said Coach Rudy Abbott. "His hard work has really paid off for him."

On top of this, pitcher Jim Smith and Todd Jones again turned in excellent efforts against a GSC opponent in a doubleheader. In the opening game, Smith pitched yet another complete game performance while limiting Valdosta State to two singles. Smith's record is now 7-0 on the year, and he currently has a scoreless inning streak of 15 innings. Jones allowed only three hits in the nightcap as he ran his record to 6-1.

The Gamecocks dominated these two from start to finish. A Lee double scored Taurus Rice to open the scoring. Lee later came home when Mac Seibert singled to give JSU a 2-0 lead after one inning. Jax State increased that lead to 3-0 in the second when Rich Giannuzzi doubled to score Jim Hazlett.

Lee tied the homerun record with a shot in the fifth inning. This was followed by an RBI single by Jim Karanassos which made the score 5-0. Smith's excellent pitching performance locked up the game for JSU. He stuck out eight and walked two while facing only 24 hitters.

In the second game, six errors by the Blazers complemented eight JSU hits as the Gamecocks took a 9-1 win. Jax State started early again in the second game. Merritt Bowden led off the game with a homerun to give Coach Abbott's bunch a 1-0 lead. But that wasn't the only run they would produce in the first. Singles by Lee and Siebert dived in two more runs, and Siebert later scored on a sacrifice fly by Heath Garmon.

The Gamecock lead increased in the third when Giannuzzi hit his third homerun of the year with Harold Ragsdale on base to make the score 6-0.

Valdosta's Larry Gryskevick broke up the shutout in the fourth with a homer that would give the Blazer's their only run of the day. But it was Lee who would steal the show in the fourth when he blasted his record setting shot.

JSU's final three runs came in the fifth when a Giannuzzi double, his third of the day, scored to more runs. This gave Jax State a 9-1 lead and provided Jones with a comfortable lead to work with.

Jones closed the game strong, despite being hit in the chest by a line drive in the fifth inning. He gave up only one hit the rest of the game, however. He gave up three hits overall while walking only three and striking out two.

"I think Smith and Jones pitched two good games. We got another fine performance by our defense, and any time you can get excellent pitching and good defense you don't have to score a lot of runs," said Coach Abbott.

Depth contributes to tennis team's success

By BRIAN WILSON
Chanticleer Staff Writer

On Wednesday, April 6, the Jacksonville State men's tennis team unleashed its top-secret weapon when it brought several new players of exceptional talent out of hiding. By demolishing a strong University of Alabama at Huntsville team 9-0, these players clearly demonstrated the depth and power of the Jax State squad.

Winning at number one singles against UAH was senior Greg Harley, followed by Alex Galvarro-Soria and Brian Wilson at the second and third positions. Nathan Hilderbrand was victorious at number four, as was David Barnett at the fifth spot. At number six, star

The Press Box

Last but not least . . .

It's back. For the final time this year, that is.

The Press Box has not appeared in the last two papers. This is mostly due to the fact that I did not have enough space to run it. As a matter of fact, I don't think I have run this column since we returned from New York. Let me tell you, the Big Apple is a great place. And yes, I did learn some new things at the College Press Convention we attended. I am sure the people who read this section will be glad to hear that.

Jeffrey Robinson

This is the last column for Spring Semester. It is hard to believe the year has gone by so fast. I hope that The Press Box has been informative, entertaining, or at least something to line your bird cage with this year. Seriously, it has been fun doing the column, and thanks to all you readers out there. (That is, if there are any of you.)

1987-88 has been a good year for Gamecock athletics. Teams that have traditionally been strong, such as baseball, football, and men's basketball, have continued their winning ways, while squads like the women's basketball have begun to establish their own traditions. 1988 looks as if it will be one of the most successful years ever for our teams. All look strong as they prepare for next year.

Watch our baseball team over the next few weeks as they take the playoffs by storm. The Gamecock hitting machine will leave its mark on Division II this year.

Football is just over five months away. The Gamecocks open their season on September 5 against Samford here in Jacksonville. There are several good games at home this year, including traditional rivals Troy State, North Alabama, and West Georgia.

Congratulations to all those athletes who have contributed so much to Jax State athletics this year, and good luck in the coming season.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

Now I come to the point in this column where I really get serious. This past year has been a very challenging one for me. The memories have been good and bad, but fortunately most have been the former. I am already looking toward 1988-89 as one of the most successful ever in Gamecock sports. I look forward to covering Jax State athletics again.

I can't let the year slip by without giving out a few words of appreciation to some very deserving people. I'm sure I will fail to mention someone I probably should, but I'm going to give it my best shot.

The first persons I want to thank are my staff writers; Scott Swisher, Earl Wise, and Brian Wilson. They have been a TREMENDOUS help this year, and I appreciate very much the job they have done. I'm sure that if they can live with me for an editor, they can live with just about anything. Thanks a million guys. It could never have been done without you, and you have done an excellent job. By the way, Scott, we'll miss you next year.

I also have to put in a word of thanks to my fellow senior editors. I think you all have done an excellent job this year, especially under some conditions that were, at times, adverse. It's been great working with all of you. I also have to put in an extra word of appreciation to Cyndi Owens, who has been my constant source of help. Thanks, Cyndi.

I think this job would be miserable if it weren't for the fact that our athletic officials and coaches are such great people to work with. You have all made this job much easier. My thanks go out to Mr. Jerry Cole, and both Anne Hill and Debbie Bishop for being a tremendous help. I also appreciate Coaches Bill Burgess, Bill Jones, Richard Mathis, Janice Slay, Rudy Abbott, Steve Bailey, and all those who have been so willing to help me by gladly giving interviews and co-operating so well throughout the year. You couldn't ask for a better group of people to work with.

I also want to thank all those athletes who have been so good about giving interviews and have performed so well for JSU. It's been great covering you.

It would be easy to fill up several pages of thank you's to people who have helped so much this year, but I know I am running short on space. There is one more person that I have to put in a big word of thanks to, and that is our Sports Information Director, Mike Galloway. Without Mike, this job would have indeed been impossible. He does a superb job as SID, and he always has the facts whenever you need them. "Scoop" does a great deal of work keeping up with all of the statistics and press releases, and the job he does is very important to the Athletic Department. Thanks again, Mike, for all the hard work you do, and for the way that you represent Jacksonville State.

This is it to next year folks. I guess I could pull a Paul Kennedy imitation and say, "Until then, so long and Go Gamecocks."

Homers fly as Jax State rolls

After losing a tough game to Auburn, Jax State got back on the winning track last Thursday. The Gamecocks pounded LaGrange College 24-10 by combining another excellent hitting performance with a performance by one of their relief pitchers.

The Gamecock hitting machine had 22 hits, including seven homeruns. JSU also got an excellent pitching performance by Leon Moody, a native of LaGrange, who came on in relief and pitched six and two-thirds innings of good baseball. Moody struck out ten players on the day.

Jim Karanassos, Roger White, Heath Garmon, Mac Seibert, Craig Caldwell, Randy Cobb, and Harold Ragsdale all had homeruns. Ragsdale had five RBI's.

A sacrifice fly by Stewart Lee tied the game at one apiece in the first inning. The Gamecocks then put six runs on the board to increase their lead to 7-1. Karanassos had a three-run homer, and Seibert added a shot that scored two.

Jax State added six runs in the fifth inning, and six more runs in the sixth to increase its lead. The homeruns were flying as Ragsdale and White both hit three-run shots. Craig Caldwell and Randy Cobb also got in on the homer parade as they each hit homeruns in the sixth.

The Gamecock's record now stands at 27-3 on the year.

What A Man's Gotta Do

All young men have one responsibility in common. They have to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday.

It's no big deal. It just takes five minutes to fill out a simple form at the post office, but it is important. Registration is a requirement for federal student loans, job training benefits and most federal employment.

It's important for our country, too. Having a complete registration list could save six vital weeks in responding to a national emergency.

So if you know a young man about to turn 18, remind him to register. It's one of those things he's got to do.

Register with Selective Service.
It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Karanassos gives new meaning to the word 'unselfish'

By JEFFREY ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

If Webster's Dictionary needs another synonym for "determination" or "unselfishness," it might consider listing Jim Karanassos' name in the definition.

A team player in every sense of the word, Karanassos sacrifices personal gains to keep one goal in mind—winning. Not just winning, but winning for the good of the entire team. The JSU outfielder is quick to let anyone know that he is prepared to do whatever he is called upon to do for the good of the Gamecock baseball team. Karanassos is not a "blow-your-own-horn" type. It is easy to tell that he plays baseball for the pure enjoyment of it. Perhaps his greatest feeling of achievement is when he does something that benefits the entire squad.

"I know that I have to come out every day and do what it takes. It doesn't matter if I have to lay down a bunt or make a dive to grab a catch. Anything, if it's just to be a cheerleader out there," says Karanassos. "I want to win. I'll do what ever it takes, and I'll help my teammates do whatever it takes to come up with a victory."

Karanassos is clearly not a selfish person when it comes to his style of play. The 5-11, 165-pound senior from West Belmar, New Jersey, has a firm grip on his priorities and knows what his capabilities are.

"I think the key to my whole game is to be mentally ready and to always be willing to do whatever it takes because I don't have the talent a lot of other people have. I've always played that way—since I was a little kid. Sometimes being aggressive has hurt me, but most of the time it's been a successful thing for me to do."

Although he may say he lacks some of the talent others have, Karanassos makes up for it any way he can. He says that he takes every day as a new day with new opportunities in baseball. Karanassos also says that he does not feel he has to go out and perform something miraculous to get satisfaction out of playing baseball.

"I enjoy the challenge," he says. "The biggest thrill for me comes from just doing something little that helps the team win."

"No one individual is as important as the whole team. When you win as a team, individual honors come your way if you deliver. And that's the way I look at it. If I do well and we win, then maybe something will happen. If it doesn't, and we've won, that's the only thing I really care about."

Karanassos' lack of selfishness is contagious. He does not have to tell you he enjoys hard work. You can tell he does just by talking to him. He has certainly done his share of hard work for Coach Rudy Abbott's team. He is the kind of player who is always there when you need him. The durable type, who does not let many things stand in his way of being successful.

Coming to Jax State may sound as if it was the only selfish decision Jim Karanassos has ever made. But if you listen closely to his explanation for coming to the "Friendliest Campus in the South," you will see that he had other things on his mind other than what was best for him. Karanassos pointed out that after he finished his playing career at Ocean County College in New Jersey, he wanted to go some place where he knew he could play. But it's evident that he also had contributing to the overall program on his mind.

"I knew I wanted to go some place where I could play because I only had two years of eligibility left. Coach Abbott got in touch with me and said he needed a centerfielder, which I was last year, and someone to bat leadoff. This was the perfect situation for me. It was a chance to come South to warm weather where you get to play all year 'round and never have to worry about weather. I knew I had a good opportunity to play as long as I did what I was capable of doing."

Karanassos says that he is happy with his decision to come to JSU. That "Southern hospitality" has made his transition to life at a new university easier. He says that life in the South is somewhat different from life in New Jersey.

"The people here are initially a lot more friendly than they are up North. It takes a longer time to get to know somebody up there than it does down here. Right off the bat down here, people come up to you and say, 'Hi.' That was the big thing I noticed right off. The biggest thing was how people reacted when they meet you. They were really nice, and that's important."

The winning attitude that abounds at Jacksonville State was one of the things that impressed Karanassos. Seeing the success that the baseball team, as well as the other athletic programs on campus, had had over the years was one of the attractive things about JSU.

While in high school, Karanassos' team won the state championship. He says that he hopes to get the same feeling at Jax State that came from winning the title in high school.

"You can't match being the best," he says. "We were the best at the time, and I think right now we've got a chance to be the best here."

Karanassos says that the most important thing to him right now is the few weeks remaining in the baseball season. His goal of making it to the World Series is a pre-occupation with him. He says that this year's team has the capabilities to do it because someone is always coming through for them in a crunch.

As for the future, Karanassos says that he is not looking toward a career in the major leagues. A marketing major, he is concentrating on earning his degree and putting it to use after college.

"Every kid has a dream of playing Major League baseball, but you have to be realistic. I know where my future lies, and my future is not in baseball."

"Ten years from now, I'd like to have my own business. Hopefully, I'll have a house on a big plain with a couple of dogs and a couple of little boys that I can teach this game I love so much."

Karanassos gets glad hand from teammates.

Karanassos also doesn't rule out coaching baseball in the future. He says that he would like to work with youngsters playing baseball, or maybe return to Jacksonville State to help coach here.

"I can't envision myself just walking away from something after 16 or 17 years of it. I'm an avid fan, but I also like helping other people." But no matter what Jim Karanassos ends up doing, you can be sure of one thing. He will still be giving unselfishly of himself and will still be trying to help others as much as he always has. You can tell just by talking to him that he would not have it any other way.

"I could go 0 for 50, and if I'm still part of a winning team, that's fine for me."

lege where they took every match except for first singles and first doubles to win 7-2.

The Lady Gamecocks then visited UAH where they survived a tough match with the Lady Chargers by a 6-3 score. Although they won the match, it was not without cost to the team. Freshman Amy Mosher sprained her ankle during her singles match, forcing her to retire for the day. It is still unknown whether or not she will be back in the line-up in time for the GSC tournament.

Geraldine Wibo won all but one match at the first singles spot, followed by Lea Clayton, and Amy Conneen went 3-1 at the fourth singles position, and Nancy Conneen and Kim Hammels won 4-0 at the fifth and sixth positions. In the match against UAH, Tara Downs played number six, losing in a close three-set match, and Julie Kight was a winner at number five.

Jacksonville State is currently the front-runner in GSC competition with an overall record of 14-3.

of Valdosta State

Smith increased his consecutive scoreless innings streak to 15.

Jones, a sophomore from Marietta, Ga., allowed only three hits in going the distance. His record is now 6-1.

A Syracuse, N.Y., native, Giannuzzi rapped three doubles, hit his third home run of the season, and drove in five runs.

The sweep, which improved JSU's record to 30-3 overall and 8-0 in the GSC's Eastern Division, assured Jacksonville State of a spot in next month's Gulf South Conference Tournament.

Saturday, the Gamecocks hope to wrap up the Eastern title when they visit defending national champion Troy State in 4 p.m. doubleheader.

"I'll do whatever it takes, and I'll help my teammates do

We do get to call (for fifty cents, mind you) and voice our opinion about some fictional television show. It's great, I tell you!

There are two groups among many, that I would like to thank for bringing intellect to this campus the Center for Southern Studies and the Student Government Association. Sheila Gilbert helped bring numerous speakers to campus to "enlighten the masses" so to speak. I also appreciate the SGA for bringing controversial figures James Watt and Peter James to speak. In my opinion, this helps bring about the mythical intellectual atmosphere associated with a university

Lee sets NCAA home run record in sweep

(JSU)--Jacksonville State University third baseman Stewart Lee slammed two home runs last Saturday in the the Gamecocks' 5-0, 9-1 sweep of Valdosta State and, in the process, became the all-time NCAA Division II home run leader.

Lee, a two-time All-America from Bessemer, cracked a two-run homer in the opener to tie the record and hit a solo shot in the fourth inning of the nitecap to break the mark. Phillip Dickens of David Lipscomb College previously held the record, slamming 66 home runs from 1981-84.

"It's a tribute to Stewart to have his name in the NCAA record book," said JSU head coach Rudy Abbott. "Stewart hasn't had a bad practice since the first day he stepped foot on our field. He has excellent work habits."

Lee's heroics overshadowed fine pitching performances of righthanders Jim Smith and Todd Jones, and the hitting of catcher Rick Giannuzzi. Smith, a junior from Erie, Pa., ran his record to 7-0 on th season by firing a two-hit shutout. While striking out nine,

New cheerleading squad seeks to boost spirit

By JEFFREY ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Last month, a group of fourteen young men and women were selected to the cheerleading squad for 1988-89. Members of the squad were chosen after participating in a clinic before tryouts in which they learned stunts and yells and practiced working with partners.

This year's group includes eight members from last year's squad, which finished third in the nation in Division II at national competition. The remaining six members will be serving their first year on the squad.

"I think this is probably the best squad we've ever had," said Nan Green, who will serve as Co-Captain next year. "The potential is great, and there have been no attitude problems. If we don't go and win Nationals this year, I'll be surprised."

Green is one of the eight veterans on the squad. She is from Jacksonville and is a junior majoring in marketing.

"I like being on the field and being able to say that I am associated with the team and the University," says Green, who will be in her third year on the squad. "It's a big honor."

Also serving as Co-Captain this year is Paul Chassay, who is also a three-year member of the squad. A senior computer science/math major from Huntsville, Chassay says that "assisting the teams and helping them perform better on the field" is something he enjoys about being a cheerleader. "It gives you a great feeling of involvement," says Chassay.

There are two four-year members on the squad this year. Kami Duckett is a senior marketing major from Atlanta. She served as Co-Captain of the squad during her junior year. Duckett says she feels the most important duty of a cheerleader is to be supportive of both the players and fans.

"We have to get the crowd motivated so that they can get as fired up as we are," says Duckett.

Randy Snyder is also in his fourth year as a JSU cheerleader. Snyder, a junior majoring in business, says he enjoys being down on the field where the action is during a game, and he also likes stunting. He is a native of Sylacauga.

Also returning from last year's squad are Dean Chassey, Lee Ellen Sheelor, Terre Hicks, and Alana Haynes.

Dean Chassay is a native of Huntsville is the brother of Co-Captain Paul Chassay. He is a senior majoring in marketing, and is in his second year on the squad. He says that he feels his most important role on the squad is "to represent the school in a positive way."

"Working on new stunts with my partner," is what Alana Haynes enjoys most about cheerleading. Haynes is from nearby Alexandria and is a marketing major here at Jax State. She is a sophomore, and this will be her second year on the squad.

Piedmont native Terre Hicks is another member of the squad who hails from nearby. Hicks, a sophomore majoring in secondary education, is in her second year on the squad. The things she enjoys is getting to go to different places and meeting new people.

Lee Ellen Sheelor says that she enjoys the competition involved in being a Jax State cheerleader.

"Going to Nationals was one of the most exciting things that's ever happened to me," says Hicks, who is from Birmingham. She is a sophomore marketing major and is in her second year on the squad.

There are six new members on the 1988-89 squad. Amanda Lamon is one of those.

"I still can't believe I made the squad," said Lamon, who is a native of Ashville and will be a freshman majoring in early childhood education next year. "It hasn't hit me yet. I don't think I could be any happier because I was really not expecting to get it my first year out. I'm very excited about it."

Sabrina Crowder is another new member of the squad who expressed excitement over being chosen.

"Amanda and I still haven't woken up yet," said Crowder, who is from Attalla. A sophomore majoring in communications, Crowder feels that her most important responsibility is "Keeping up the spirit at the school because that's our responsibility. That's what cheerleading is all about."

Another member of the squad who feels that doing a good job of representing JSU is important is David Miller, a sophomore accounting major. Miller, who is a native of Birmingham, says "I think that cheerleading is growing all over the country, and I'm glad to say that I can represent JSU."

Two new members of the squad hail from Fort Payne. Will Prestwood is a freshman business management major. He says that the pride of being a Gamecock and showing your spirit are the things he likes most about cheerleading.

"I just like everything about cheerleading—the whole aspect," says Prestwood.

"Excitement" is what Craig Davis enjoys about being a member of the squad. Davis is a junior majoring in commercial art and physical education. He also says working toward a common goal, specifically Nationals, is also one of the enjoyable things about cheerleading.

One new member of the squad who knows firsthand how important it is to back our athletic teams is Tony Barefoot, who is a former JSU football player. Barefoot, a senior corrections major from Boaz, says that cheerleading is "a chance to be competitive."

"It helps me stay close to my friends who are still football players," says Barefoot.

This year's squad is one that definitely shows a great deal of enthusiasm for what they are doing. This spirit is something that the entire squad wants to boost and hopes will be contagious next year.

"I wish there was more spirit," says Paul Chassey. "I wish more people would stay on campus on the weekends and go to games rather than going home. If everyone could take the example of the Kappa Alphas last year, spirit would improve. The KA's were great last year. The Marching Southerners have also been very supportive. They really show a lot of spirit every year."

The cheerleaders are sponsored by Kay Caldwell, who has been in charge of the group for the past three years. Chassey commented that her assistance has been one of the keys to the squad's recent success.

"She's been a very dedicated for the past three years, and she has helped tremendously with the work she has done," says Chassay. "She has been a big help to all of us."

The squad will appear at all football games and the home basketball games during the next year.
