

The Chanticleer

Vol. 36 No. 5

Jacksonville State University Jacksonville, AL 36265

October 6, 1988

Briefs

International

The 1,500-member Supreme Soviet unanimously elected Mikhail S. Gorbachev president of the Soviet Union. Gorbachev replaces Andrei Gromyko, who retired Sept. 30.

The move was one of several to replace many of the Kremlin's Old Guard.

The ruling body also selected a new KGB chief, Vladimir Kryuchkov, and a new vice president, Anatoly Lukyanov. The policy-making Central Committee removed a full member of the Politburo and two non-voting members.

National

The United States came away from the Seoul Olympics with 92 medals, 35 of them gold.

Florence Griffith Joyner won three gold medals and a silver in track events.

Diver Greg Louganis won two golds, making him the first man to pull off a double gold sweep in consecutive Games. He was awarded the Olympic Spirit Award as the top American athlete in the Olympics.

State

According to a Birmingham News commissioned poll of Alabama voters, George Bush is increasing his lead over Michael Dukakis in the state.

The telephone survey of 501 registered voters by Southern Opinion Research showed 54 percent intending to vote for Bush, while 33 percent said they would vote for Dukakis. Thirteen percent of those surveyed said they did not know who they would vote for, would not vote or had no answer.

A similar poll conducted in August showed Bush with 50.7 percent to Dukakis' 34 percent.

Eleven campaign for Miss Homecoming

From News Bureau Reports

Eleven students have been named as finalists in the Miss Homecoming contest and have begun campaigning for the title, which will be awarded based on an election Tuesday.

The Homecoming Queen and Court will be announced at a bonfire and pep rally at 7 p.m. Oct. 14 at the Intramural Fields at Pete Mathews Coliseum. Miss Homecoming will be crowned during halftime ceremonies at the JSU vs. North Alabama game on Oct. 15.

Runoff elections will be held on Oct. 13 if necessary.

From a field of more than 30 contestants, judges picked the following students as finalists during the pageant held Sept. 29.

--Tracey Morris, daughter of Wayne and Sharon Morris of Huntsville, a graduate student working toward a master's in education.

--Joecelyn Patryce Crittendon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cleveland of Sylacauga, a senior majoring in nursing.

--Becky Cardwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Cardwell of Sylacauga, a senior majoring

Miss Homecoming finalists

Eleven JSU students have been named as finalists in the Miss Homecoming contest and have begun campaigning for the title which will be awarded based on an election Oct. 11. They are, front row, from left, Cheryl Bevelle of Bessemer, Lynn Ferebee of Acworth, Ga., Tracey Morris of Huntsville, Becky Cardwell of in early childhood education.

--Lynn Ferebee, daughter of Tom and Carole Ferebee of Acworth, Ga., a sophomore majoring in nursing.

--Jennifer Leigh Peak, daughter of Sammy and Mary Jane Peak of Saks, a senior majoring in nursing.

--Judy A. Ogburn, daughter of Jimmy and Sharon Ogburn of Weaver, a junior majoring in education.

Sylacauga, Judy Ogburn of Weaver; back row, Elizabeth Goode of Decatur, Michelle Watson of Birmingham, Jennifer Peak of Saks, Sheri Mooney of Pelham, Nancy Nixon of Lanett and Joecelyn Crittenden of Sylacauga.

--Cheryl Louise Bevelle, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Edward Bevelle, Sr. of Bessemer, a sophomore majoring in nursing. (See HOMECOMING, Page 3)

Services held Tuesday for Col. Daugette

From News Bureau Reports

Funeral services were held in Gadsden Tuesday for long-time JSU Trustee Col. Clarence William Daugette, Jr., 85, who died Sunday morning at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Gadsden after a lengthy illness. Services were held at Church of the Holy Comforter and interment was in Forrest Cemetery.

Col. Daugette served as a trustee for more than 20 years and was appointed to the university's first board of trustees by Gov. Lurleen B. Wallace in 1967. His father, Dr. C.W. Daugette, was president of the State Normal School and Jacksonville State Teachers College, forerunners of Jacksonville State University. International House is named in honor of him.

(See DAUGETTE, Page 3)

Daugette

Campus date rape frequent

By JOEY LUALLEN
News Editor

"During the one hour of this class there will be 6 rapes reported in the United States. One every nine minutes."

This statement is found in a handout Maj. Mark Housand distributes in his unarmed self-defense class in the department of military science. He said the self-defense courses the department offers are usually filled and contain close to a 50-50 ratio of women to men.

Housand said he devotes at least one hour of the course to the subject of rape and rape prevention.

Housand said in a national survey, 20 to 25 percent of university coeds responded they had been raped. Ninety percent of the women said they knew the rapist.

"The vast majority of rapes are not reported...The worst thing (a rape victim) can do is not report it," Housand says. "That can cause others to suffer if the rapist attacks someone else."

"Nothing can ever guarantee a woman won't be raped," he said, adding the best thing a woman can do to prevent a rape is avoid situations that put her in danger of rape.

Housand offered several safeguards women can take to avoid those situations: "Going out to their car with someone if they see someone lurking around the parking lot...Looking in the back seat before they get into their car." (See RAPE, Page 3)

Announcements

•Alpha Psi Omega, the drama honorary, will sponsor a car wash at Pizza Hut Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The cost is $2

•Cheerleader tryouts to fill three male positions will be Oct. 27. There will be a clinic held to help teach the material necessary for tryouts prior to this date. For more information, contact David Cunningham at 231-4474, Paul Chassay at 231-7734 or Nan Green at 435-8110.

•Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society, will have a meeting at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the reception room of the office of business affairs, 226 Bibb Graves. All undergraduate and graduate members are encouraged to attend. Important business will be discussed.

•Assertiveness Training Workshop will be at 8 p.m. Monday in Pannell Hall. Effective communication techniques will be covered in the one hour seminar. All students are invited to attend.

•Delta Zetas are selling Homecoming mum corsages to raise money for their national philanthropy, the Gallaudet College for the hearing impaired. They are selling the flowers for $4.50. The fraternities all have sign up sheets in their houses. Delta Zetas will have a table set up Thursday. They will also be selling boutonnieres for $2.

•Applications are now being accepted for the seventh annual Spinners Arts and Crafts Show. The show will be Oct. 22 and 23 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at Spinners Park, West Sixth Street in Prattville. Admission to the show is free. There will be $1,000 in prize money awarded to exhibitors, as well as raffle drawings for spectators. Interested exhibitors should contact Georgia Smith, 709 Spencer Street, Prattville, AL 36067, or phone (205) 365-3553.

•The State of Alabama Ballet announces auditions will be held for "The Nutcracker" on Sunday in the dance studios of the Alabama School of Fine Arts - 820 18th Street North, Birmingham.

For children 5 to 7 years of age, audition time is 2 p.m. Eight years old and up will audition at 3 p.m. Wear proper attire and shoes.

For more information call 252-2475

•Prospective law students will have an opportunity to talk one-on-one with representatives of more than 100 law schools at the first Law School Forum in Atlanta. The forum is designed to provide up-to-date information about law school admission policies and financial aid to a broad spectrum of prospective applicants.

This free, two-day event, Friday and Saturday in the Hyatt Regency Atlanta in Peachtree Center, is sponsored by participating law schools. Any student interested in attending the forum should contact Hope Davis in the political science department at ext. 5651.

More SGA Senator positions filled

Our meeting of Sept. 26 saw the addition of new senators Ted Bridges, Wendy Adams, Chris Cothran and Sharnell Mitchell. It also saw the appointment of Beth Stewart as liaison to the administration. Barry Robertson, Michael Taylor, Jeff Ford, Sherryl Byrd and I traveled to North Carolina for the N.A.C.A. Entertainment and Cooperative Buying Regional Conference last weekend.

I would like to thank Rachel Jones for her outstanding effort in the Homecoming Pageant. Rachel has consistently gone beyond the call of duty to make each pageant better than the one before.

Also, thanks to Grover Kitchens, Diane Marshall and the entire pageant committee for their tremendous contribution to this year's pageant. Last (but not least) thanks to each organization who entered a candidate and to each candidate individually. We are pleased this year's pageant included 39 contestants, up from last year's total. Without your participation all of the effort would be for naught. Thanks.

Dwight
Burton
SGA President

Homecoming '88 is next week. Let's each make plans to be here for the day's festivities. If you haven't seen the '88 edition of Gamecock football or heard the Southerners you've missed a treat. To obtain this level of entertainment for a fleeting glimpse of your validated student I.D. is the best bargain in town.

Remember: Homecoming

elections will be Tuesday and, if necessary, Thursday.

The SGA will meet at 6 p.m. every Monday in Montgomery Auditorium. The movie of the week will be Beetlejuice, with shows at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. in Montgomery Auditorium.

This week's senator of the week is Mike Altman from Jacksonville. Mike is in his third year of student government participation. He graduated from Pleasant Valley High School, where he was president of the student government in addition to his position on varsity athletic teams. He has served as a senator and constitution committee chair. In addition to the SGA, Mike also participates in College Republicans. He is presently a junior majoring in education.

Until next time, Go Gamecocks and WHUP TROY.

Placement office lists interviews

The following is the interview list from the placement office. The list will be updated monthly. For more information contact the placement office.

•Oct. 6 -- John Hancock Financial Services -- marketing majors and minors

•Oct. 6 -- McDonald's, Birmingham -- any major (group meeting)

•Oct. 7 -- A.L. Williams Investment Co. -- any major

•Oct. 11 -- AC-3 Computer Products, Birmingham -- marketing, management, computer science with interest in sales

•Oct. 11 -- Modern Woodmen Of America, Anniston -- sales -- business majors preferred, will interview any major

•Oct. 11 -- JCPenny Company, Atlanta Computer Science Division -- computer science majors

•Oct. 12 -- JCPenny Company, Birmingham -- Retail Sales Division -- prefer marketing majors with other combinations

•Oct. 12 -- State Of Alabama Personnel Office (various positions in state civil service)

On Oct. 13, a test for state of Alabama will be given to those people interested in taking it.

•Oct. 12 -- K-Mart Apparels Corp., Atlanta, Ga. (clothing division of K-Mart) -- any business major, clothing textiles, fashion merchandising, liberal arts major

•Oct. 13 -- Roses Stores, Inc., Henderson, S.C. (home office) -- all majors management trainee

•Oct. 13 -- Milliken Company, Lagrange, Ga. (yarn and fabric corp.) -- management, chemistry, liberal arts

On Oct. 18 there will be a pre-interview session for Wal-Mart. A video tape will be shown and a recruiter will be here to answer any question. People on schedule for October 19 should attend this session.

•Oct. 18 -- Federal Bureau Of Prisons, Talladega (various positions)

•Oct. 18 -- Georgia Merit System, Atlanta, Ga. (various positions with state or Georgia Civil Service)

•Oct. 18 -- IRS, Birmingham Office -- accounting majors -- IRS agent

•Oct. 18 -- U.S. Air Force -- any major -- recruiting for officers in Air Force

•Oct. 19 -- Wal-Mart -- individual interviews -- management trainee

•Oct. 19 -- Mutual Of Omaha Ins. Company, Anniston -- any major, sales

RAs choose Dawson

Angela Dawson was chosen Miss Fitzpatrick Hall by a panel of resident assistants who judged the beauty and talent contest Sept. 25.

Ms. Dawson was selected from seven contestants who were judged on formal wear, casual wear, response to a question and talent. She is a little sister of Alpha Psi Alpha and a member of the Order of Eastern Stars. A native of Birmingham, she is majoring in nursing.

Life in the Fast Lane.

Some people call it the rat race. A race no one ever wins. And everybody knows that. But we all keep on trying, anyway. As United Methodists, we may not have a formula for winning the rat race, but we do know how to make it more liveable. We run together—with each other and with God. Won't you join us?

Wesley Foundation
[right behind McDonald's]

The Off-Lantern Family

Welcomes
Students & Faculty

To Halloween Open House
October 6-8

SHOP TONIGHT
Until 8 p.m.

Rabbit Hutch Too

#3 College Center • 435-2230

Area students attend drug awareness conference

By MATT BROOKS
News Writer

On Sept. 27, middle school and high school students from throughout the area converged on Jacksonville for the Governor's Conference on Drug Awareness. The event was held at Pete Mathews Coliseum and lasted all day.

After registration and a welcoming address by President Harold McGee, the participants listened to "Free by Choice," an anti-drug program developed and sponsored by the Alabama Department of Corrections. The program featured carefully selected and trained inmates who were previously committed to drug use.

Later, both students and sponsors participated in at least four of the six workshops offered. One workshop for students, "A Date With Mary Jane and Bud Lite," featured a mock trial of two teenagers arrested on alcohol and drug-related offenses.

For the adults, there were workshops such as "Positive Parenting," which addressed the ten basic steps for helping parents effectively meet the various needs of their children, and "It Could Never Happen to Me," which explored the personal side of substance abuse from experimentation to dependence.

Larry Lott, who is with the Governor's Office of Drug Abuse Policy, addressed the crowd.

"This is a program that the governor is very high on. We're glad that you people are doing what you're doing at your schools and community."

Lt. Clebe McClarey of the U.S. Marine Corps, also addressed the crowd. McClarey, a Vietnam veteran who has received numerous honors and awards including three Purple Hearts and the Bronze and Silver Stars, told the participants, "Be able to say no. You've gotta be disciplined enough to take a stand."

More than 900 participants, including 600 junior high school and high school students, were expected to attend the conference, one of 12 regional drug conferences sponsored by the governor.

Rape

(Continued From Page 1)

car and locking the car when they leave it...In the dorms, they need to keep their dormitory rooms locked."

Housand said if a woman is raped the most important thing is for her to survive. She needs to remember as many details about her attacker as possible, he said.

"Just don't let it happen without reporting it."

Director of Public Safety David Nichols echoed Housand's remarks. "An overwhelming number of rapes are not reported."

Nichols said a noted Auburn professor has said as few as 1 in 50 rapes are reported.

Nichols said incidences of rape on campus are no more frequent than on any other college campus. He said date rape is probably more frequent in a college setting than in the general population because of three elements: young, single adults in a social setting.

According to Nichols, the majority of rapes reported on campus have been acquaintance rapes; rapes in which the victim knows her attacker.

Nichols said JSU has taken several steps toward the prevention of rape on campus. "We conducted seminars in the residence halls, both male and female, on rape in cooperation with the counseling center. Our officers give presentations for various organizations. The university provides the health center with literature on rape. We offer an escort service for female students. We have dorm guards in the women's residence halls. Lighting on campus has been tripled in the past six years. We also provide a routine patrol using regular officers and the student security patrol."

Nichols said he feels the university is ahead in its prevention of crime, but he said it is impossible to prevent all crime, especially date rape.

"Know the person you're with, i.e. a date. Trust your feelings. Don't go anywhere that might place you in an unsafe position such as an apartment. Know how to say 'no' assertively."

Daugette

(Continued From Page 1)

He was also a trustee and former chairman of the International Endowment Foundation board and the International House.

Daugette held degrees from JSU and Auburn University. He was awarded the honorary Doctor of Laws degree from JSU.

"He was unusually genteel -- a fine Southern gentleman," said former President Theron Montgomery. "He would have been a pillar in any community."

Dan Gray, former chairman of the Calhoun County Commission and a former director at the First National Bank of Jacksonville, where Daugette served as president for many years, said, "He was a real kind individual; he trusted everyone. He thought they could do no wrong...He was very liberal with his money. He helped anyone he felt needed it."

Former President Ernest Stone, who was Daugette's friend for 60 years, said, "He knew how to make money, and he was very generous with it. He was an excellent friend of everyone. He was bright and dignified."

Daugette's military service began at age 15 with the Alabama National Guard. He was with the Guard when it was mobilized at the beginning of World War II and served more than six years on active duty in the European theater of operations and received numerous military decorations. Upon his return to civilian life, he was active in the Army Reserve and helped organize a Reserve unit in Gadsden. He was named Patriot of the Year by the Gadsden Chamber of Commerce in 1986.

Daugette held membership in St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Jacksonville and Church of the Holy Comforter in Gadsden. He worked for the development of the Episcopal Day School in Gadsden from its organization in 1951. He actively supported the Boys Club of Etowah County, and, through his generosity, the Florence T. Daugette Boys Club of East Gadsden was established in honor of his wife.

His survivors include his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Alburta Martin Daugette Lowe and Mrs. Anne Daugette Renfrow, both of Gadsden; one son Clarence William Daugette III of Gadsden; one sister, Mrs. Palmer Daugette Calvert of Jacksonville; and three grandchildren.

Among the honorary pallbearers from this area were McGee, Montgomery, Stone, Dr. Houston Cole, Seymour West, Jimmy Moore, Gray, Jesse N. Wood, Belton Stanford, Morris Longshore and Col. Charles Rigler.

Series begins

English professor Robe Felgar will open the English lecture series at 7:30 p.m. Monday with "Are There Rocks All the Way Down? or, a Theory of Literary Theories."

The head of the English department, Clyde Cox will lecture Nov. 21. Cox will lecture on "Jazz and Brotherhood in Baldwin's 'Bonny's Blues.'"

The lectures take place at 7:30 on the 11th floor, Houston Cole Library.

The Pen & Paper
Quality Office Supplies

110 S. Pelham Rd
in Jacksonville
435-6041

Supplies, Equipment, Printing,
Copy, Typing & Fax Services

All merchandise marked
10% off retail

Homecoming

(Continued From Page 1)

ing in computer information sys-

--Sheri Mooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Mooney of Pelham, a sophomore majoring in communication and English.

--Michelle Watson, daughter of Tom and Sharon Watson of Birmingham, a junior majoring in communication.

--Elizabeth Anne Goode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Goode of Decatur, a senior majoring in clothing.

--Nancy Carol Nixon, daughter of Roger and Phyllis Nixon of Lanett, a senior majoring in social work.

FREE LUNCH

Campus Ministry Sunday

Oct. 9th
Following 11 a.m. Service

First Presbyterian Church

Corner Clinton & Church Streets
Across from City Hall

RSVP by Calling 435-6340

Editorial

The Chanticleer

"A nation that is afraid to let its people judge truth and falsehood in an open market is a nation that is afraid of its people."

—John F. Kennedy

Cyndi Owens
Editor-In-Chief

Joey Luallen
News Editor

Greg Spoon
Advertising/Business Manager

Jeffrey Robinson
Sports Editor

Elise Tillman
Campus Life/Entertainment
Editor

Rod Carden
Features Editor

Tawanda Player
Secretary/Typist

Jacksonville State University
Jacksonville, AL 36265

Student wants to establish Residence Hall Association

Remember the first day on campus?

Stepping out of the car, a bundle of luggage and other items waited to be unpacked as moving in began. The joy of a new "home" brought hopes and new memories; however, there's always the other side.

Wherever one goes, there are always mix-ups, and JSU is no exception. Problems such as incorrect hall assignments and roommate wars will inevitably crop up. The Residence Life Office does a good job of making the effort to get everything straightened out.

There is, however, some concern among campus residents about voicing themselves to Residence Life.

The residence hall director and resident assistants can only serve within the respective dorms; therefore, residents are in a way cut off from the Residence Life Office completely. Some residents feel they are not equally represented in the Student Government Association and also feel overlooked in many ways.

Many of them believe a large link is missing between campus residents and the Residence Life Office.

The solution?

We need a Residence Hall Association (RHA). Schools such as The University of Alabama have RHAs, and they become major forces in many campus activities as well as maintain themselves as a major part of the SGA.

"Many weekends I have been on campus and wished for some type of activity, other than attending the out-of-town football game. I'm more than willing to pay a reasonable fee to get away for a couple of hours or even a short weekend trip near campus," said one resident familiar with RHAs.

These excursions would prove an excellent opportunity to meet "neighbors" and other campus residents. Whether it be a canoeing adventure or weekend retreat at Mt. Cheaha, many students would just appreciate the break and value its time as a moment to meet new friends and cut away from weekends of having to go home instead.

Let's break the image of the "suitcase college." Unification of campus residents through such activities would yield a small, but withstanding, change in breaking that image.

So, what do we do? Hopefully, this will spark the needed interest within campus residents or the Residence Life Office to hold a general meeting and discuss the possibilities for an RHA: knock on doors, post flyers in campus halls, discuss it with Residence Life Director Craig Schmitt, or have it announced on the campus radio station.

Remember: They are our dorms, our RHA and our involvement -- if we want them. Take the challenge, and make our RHA work for all of us.

For what it's worth

Happy Birthday to paper, radio

Happy Birthday to you, Happy Birthday to you, Happy Birthday... day...

These birthday wishes go out to WLJS and to the Chanticleer.

On Sept. 29, WLJS, 92-J celebrated its 13th year on the air. The station celebrated 13 years of changes and lots of progress.

During a special show last Thursday, some of the announcers, such as Roger Allen, Terry Swisher and station manager Scott Morgan, played number one hits from the past. Between songs they played old promo spots and dished out interesting bits of LJS-Radio trivia. (For instance, who remembers the old request line number?)

In 13 years, the station has gone through a lot of changes. Alums from the station like Leo Davis, Rick Burgess, Renee Lupa, Johnny V. and more have gone on to become local radio personalities. Format changes have taken place regularly.

Of course, the big change is the location of the station. Last year it moved from the hallowed halls of Bibb Graves to the high-tech mecca, Self Hall. New of-

Cyndi Owens
Editor In Chief

space, new equipment and a new environment have breathed new life into the station, and Morgan has really worked hard to bring it to new levels of professionalism.

No look at the history of WLJS would be complete without a mention of Maj. John Turner, former head of the department of communications. Turner, highly respected by students and staff alike, retired just prior to the department's move to Self.

We want to wish the station a happy birthday and continued success.

The Chanticleer is also celebrating this week, although we are considerably older than that young whipper-snapper radio station.

The paper celebrated its 55th year Tuesday in typical fashion - on deadline. The phrase "no rest for the weary" comes to mind.

But we are not complaining. This year has been busy, but we are gearing up for a major overhaul of the paper. Plans are underway now for the office to be moved to Self Hall, and we hope to change the means of production of the paper to desktop publishing. We hope to see more journalism classes added to the curriculum, and we have actively been recruiting staff members (we still need volunteers, by the way).

Another plus for the paper has been the hiring of a full-time advisor, TJ Hemlinger. He brought his knowledge of journalism and his desire for excellence (not to mention his family) from Indiana, and has already been a great asset to the staff.

We hope that in the years to come, the staffs of the paper and the radio station can continue to serve the university well. The faces may change, but the goal stays the same.

By the way, the answer to the trivia question is 435-5571.

Letters to the editor

Column disputed

In your column of 22 September, you make some interesting arguments against mandatory drug testing, primarily on privacy grounds. Your reasoning is convincing at first, but a second look shows it to be faulty. Allow me to demonstrate.

You say that there is "the margin for error." I assume you refer to the possibility for a false positive. My counter is that there is a possibility for mistake in any part of the criminal justice system. People have been falsely convicted of murder, for example. While this is tragic, the alternatives justify this cost. Surely, you would not argue that no one be jailed for murder to avoid mistakes.

You ask "What about the person who has cleaned up his act, yet fails the test due to residual amounts of drugs in the blood?" I agree: what about him? It is my understanding that taking illicit drugs has been illegal for decades. Therefore, they are only being caught for breaking the law in the first place. Using your reasoning, a criminal could get off by saying, "I haven't raped or murdered anybody lately."

The use of the privacy argument is also questionable. If testing for drug use violates one's privacy, then does not a law making drugs illegal likewise violate privacy? Does not testing for driving while intoxicated do the same?

You hit the proverbial nail on the head when you note the public safety and national security problems of drug use. How can a rather dubious "right" to privacy compare to these dangers? What is your counter-proposal to solve this problem?

James H. Joyner, Jr.
Graduate Student

Parking still trouble

The parking problem here at JSU is not unlike the parking problem that I encountered when I was attending the University of North Alabama. The problem was essentially the same; the number of parking spaces was limited and the number of students was increasing each year at a dramatic rate. A person could find a spot, but it might mean that the person would have to park two blocks away from class. The university police were antagonistic to the general student body as far as parking was concerned.

(See LETTERS, Page 5)

The CHANTICLEER, the student newspaper of Jacksonville State University, is produced entirely by students. Funding is provided through university appropriations and advertising revenue. Offices are located in Theron Montgomery Student Commons Building.

Letters to the editor are welcomed. All submissions must be typed or neatly printed, double spaced, signed and must not exceed 300 words.

Guest commentaries are welcomed. For details, contact the Editor in Chief.

All submissions must carry a student number or faculty identification, or, if from a source outside the university, must carry an address and phone number.

Ideas expressed on the editorial page are the opinions of the editorial staff unless otherwise noted.

The editor reserves the right to edit for content and space. Send all submissions to Cyndi Owens c/o The CHANTICLEER, P. O. Box 3060 JSU, Jacksonville, AL 36265. Deadline for editorial submissions is 2 p.m. Thursday.

U. S. should offer aid for Iran jet tragedy

During the summer a commercial Iranian jetliner was shot down by a U.S. warship as the plane flew in its normal flight path over the Persian Gulf.

The State Department was quick to acknowledge its unfortunate mistake and apologize to the Iranian people.

Many congressman suggested compensation for the families of the victims.

The proposal of compensation brought cries of resentment from some Americans. They thought because a radical entity of the Iranian government had killed American Marines in Beirut, well, it was okay our government was responsible for killing innocent men, women and children.

The Old Testament mentality these people have of an eye for an eye should be left behind.

When a person starts valuing one human life above another, it is simply wrong.

As everyone knows: The Nazis were better than the Jews. White people are better than black people (as the peaceful concern of the Ku Klux Klan has shown). And the Israelis are far and above the Palestinians.

This is not to say Iran is the poor innocent defender. The Iranian government did its part in cheapening the lives of those killed by using them as propaganda pawns.

The United States government should take action which could only be seen as humanitarian.

Iran will be slowly recovering from its conflict with Iraq. Surely those who were displaced or injured by the war could use help. Why not set up a high-tech burn unit to help victims of the chemical weapons used by Iraq?

We need to give something to help compensate for this loss of lives.

Don Bennett

Letters

The solution that was applied to the parking problem was that residents had to park in designated areas, usually close to their dorms or apartments. The residents had spaces colored red. The commuter students had to park in white spaces and faculty in blue. The administrative buildings had spaces designated for 15-minute parking for all students that needed to have administrative actions taken; this was not for parking for class. This eliminated the residents from driving to class, thereby solving the parking problem.

This allowed the commuters to have places to park and the residents to have a place to park near their dorm. Let's face it, commuters have a much more hectic time with this parking problem than the residents. The residents can always leave their car in their dorm parking lot if they can find a space not occupied by a commuter who can't find a space because a resident from Daughette has to drive to Bibb Graves.

I believe that the solution to JSU's parking problem should take the form that UNA took. Residents should not be allowed to drive on campus. They should have their dorm parking lots color-coded so that commuters and faculty don't take up their space. This would solve the problem expressed by female students in relation to night parking. This would also alleviate the problem of illegal parking in order to get to class on time.

In response to the student who said the university would not adopt his recommendation on parking because it makes sense; his recommendation does not make sense, because he wanted to discriminate on the basis of class standing.

The solution that the University of North Alabama implemented does not discriminate on the basis of class standing or on the basis of available slots. This solution cuts across class standings, for we are all students of JSU and class standing has nothing to do with who is superior and who should receive preferential treatment.

Jimmy R. Merrell

I would like to address the parking situation at Daugette Hall. It is ridiculous. I am assuming that the school doesn't realize what is going on at the dorms. The increase in students also meant an increase in the number of cars. There are barely enough parking spaces for the smaller cars, and dealing with people parked on your bumper because they are so afraid to get a ticket is unreal.

(Continued From Page 4)

At night the situation is even worse for those of us who work. Bibb Graves Hall parking is our last and only resort unless by some miracle someone decides they need a night snack at Mickey D's. They have painted more of the red spaces in front of the mail center blue, as if we don't have few parking spaces as it is. I wonder if this move has been thought out properly. It helps a few, but hurts a whole lot of other people.

Who or what student has the money to pay out $20 - $30 in parking tickets simply because he had no where else to park. We (or some) barely have enough money to buy books, eat or even survive on our own. The school is steadily taking away parking spaces for students, and the police are steadily and on the rise, I might add, giving out parking tickets.

I, like D. Durr, wonder where will it end? What will we have to resort to? parking on the grass? on top of each other? I really and truly would like to see these problems addressed.

I need another teacher's parking space like I need to be run over by a truck! Sincerely, Norma Z. Gooden

Tom Marquardt

Campus Life/Entertainment

'Kansas' proves disappointing

Cornball might have been a more appropriate title for Kansas.

Trans World Entertainment press releases call Kansas a "contemporary, romantic suspense drama." Romantic and suspenseful it is; contemporary, maybe not. The cornball '50s style love story with overused romantic scenes ruins the wonderfully original plot.

Director David Stevens said, "It is not a genre film nor is it a pure crime or love story, though it has elements of both. It also has a timeless quality about it. The film could be set in any time. Audiences watching it should not be sure if it is in the present or the Great Depression." It almost succeeds, but it is given away by modern sport cars and mention of salaries that set it in the very recent past.

Matt Dillon portrays a very believable role as Doyle Kennedy, who proves to be quite a con man. He convinces naive Wade Corey (portrayed by Andrew McCarthy) to enter a small town bank ostensibly to "see an old girlfriend" and satisfy Doyle's overactive sex drive.

Instead, Doyle forces Wade to participate in robbing the bank.

Dazed by the sudden change in his new found friend, Wade cleans out the bank vault. They become separated during the escape and Wade ends up with the money.

The small town cops provide an amusing car chase reminiscent of "Dukes of Hazzard." Things quickly return to the serious when an out-of-control police car rear-ends another car, thus endangering the life of a young girl inside.

Wade risks his life to save the child, then staggers away, an unknown hero. McCarthy said of his character, "Wade is anybody you want him to be. He just slides into a situation and adjusts. That's how he gets by and survives. In his own way he's as amoral as Doyle." He adds that Wade becomes a hero because he is in the right place at the right time, not because he is a super moral person.

Of course, Wade is eventually discovered—not only by the press, but also by an angry, jealous Doyle. Forced to hide out while Wade is hailed as a national hero, Doyle becomes dangerous. His greed leads to a well-choreographed fight which he loses, but still he ends up with the all the money.

Doyle Kennedy (played by Matt Dillon, left) and a drifter (Kyra Sedgwick, right) he has picked up stop in search of a way to evade the police

Doyle is killed before he confesses or implicates Wade, and the robbery is assumed solved.

Thus ends the main plot. Now we begin the "contemporary romantic" part of the film, which is where the story runs into major problems.

Twenty years ago when film was new, the cornball tactics used here would have passed.

Today's film-goer is more experienced and expects a more realistic (or at least more believable) romance.

Trite themes rule the romantic subplot. Love at first sight, a white clad virgin (?) with a fiery (See KANSAS, Page 7)

Art Gallery season announced

By KIMBERLY PAYNE
Entertainment Writer

December 6 until December 16.

through 31, Rick Mills' April 4 through 21, and the Senior

This year's Gallery Season started September 6 with an exhibition by Wayne Dyer. This exhibition ran through October 1. This was followed by an exhibition of American prints from October 4 through October 28.

The new year will begin with an exhibit by Ken Elkins January 9 through 13. This exhibit, called Glimpses of Southern Life in the Rural South, will be sponsored by the Center for Southern Studies.

Show April 25 through 30. The season will end in style with the Eleventh Annual Miniworks on Paper Exhibit.

The American prints exhibit is one of the new things added to the schedule this year. It looked at several different American prints, not only from an artistic standpoint, but from a historic standpoint as well. In November the Faculty Exhibit begins and the Senior Show will run from January 17 through February features an exhibit by Bob Marchiony, followed by the Juried Student Exhibit which will show from February 7 through 24.

This summer will feature the works of two of the Art Department faculty. Marvin Shaw's works will be on display June 6 through 30, and Carter Osterbind's from July 4 through 28. These exhibits will display both older and new works by the artists.

Richard Zoellner's works will be on display March 7

HAMMOND HALL GALLERY SCHEDULE

October 4 - October 28.....	American Prints
November 1 - December 2.....	JSU Faculty Exhibit
December 6 - December 16.....	Senior Show
January 9 - January 13.....	Ken Elkins
January 17 - February 3.....	Bob Marchiony
February 7 - February 24.....	JSU Student Juried Exhibit
March 7 - March 31.....	Richard Zoellner
April 2 - April 21.....	Senior Show
May 7 - May 26.....	Miniworks on Paper Exhibit
June 6 - June 30.....	Marvin Shaw
July 4 - July 28.....	Carter Osterbind

Band "Witness" receives praise for high energy performance

By C. A. ABERNATHY
Music Writer

Witness rolled into town Sept. 22 and rocked Brother's with its high-energy show.

The Claimstakers kicked the night off with a mostly original progressive rock set to the delight of many in the audience. Along with a cover of the Rolling Stones' "Tumblin' Dice," they featured several of their own familiar songs—"Treat Me Like A Dog," "Shotgun Kisses," "Aztec Maze," "One Way Road" and "Pandemonium."

Based in Atlanta (and Birmingham), Witness has been on the road quite a lot recently. Since the self-titled album was released, it has opened concerts for Jimmy Paige, Lynyrd Skynyrd, and The Georgia Satellites. From the opening notes of "Show Me What You Got" to the closing cover of The Faces' "Stay With Me," the show was accented by Debbie Davis' powerful vocals, an undeniable, electric stage presence from each of the musicians, intense drums and soaring, hot guitar solos provided by Damon Johnson and Joey Huffman (who also plays keyboard).

Witness, as it is now, has been together since February of this year. Davis, Huffman, and Eddie Boyd (on drums) have been together four years and were known as Native, until being signed to Arista records. Several guest and studio musicians (including Brad Gillis of Night Ranger, Neal Schon and Steve Smith of Journey) were brought in to complete the record, after the original bass player and guitarist were given their walking papers.

Johnson and Eddie Usher (on bass) joined after Witness recorded their album, yet they plan to be actively involved with future recordings and song-writing projects.

Along with cuts from the re- (See WITNESS, Page 8)

(Continued From Page 6)

tongue, and generally steamy love scenes make the subplot sound like a bad Harlequin novelle.

By chance, Wade falls in love with Lori at first sight. By chance, he stumbles onto her father's wheat farm. By chance, her father needs an extra hand to work for a few days. By chance, Wade sees Lori attempting to calm her frightened stallion during a thunderstorm.

She does calm the horse, but her croonings and her clinging wet white dress thoroughly excite Wade. He enters the stable, they exchange insults, and then fall to the stable floor for a literal tumble in the hay. Afterwards, she seems embarrassed by her attraction to a mere ranch hand, but she is all too ready to dump her old boyfriend when she finds out Wade is a national hero.

When Wade admits that he is also a bank robber -- though not by choice -- she is all too willing to accept and forgive.

Here the subplot takes over. The last five minutes could have been edited and perhaps still saved the film from death by cornball.

Wade's conscience can not take the guilt. Lori drives him to the nearest railroad crossing (a real hero could never take money from a female so he could ride the train legally). After tearful good-byes, he hops a passing freight train to return to his hobo life as a sort of Boxcar Willie.

She stands watching the train (and her hero) fade into the sunset. He slumps to the floor of the boxcar, debating: should I jump off and live happily ever after or should I go off to soothe my conscience?

The audience waits expectantly, hoping he will, satisfied that he won't, and disappointed when he does.

Lori jumps into her fiery convertible and speeds to pick him up. They gaze meaningfully into each other's eyes and embrace passionately. Does it not sound like this should end "...and they lived happily ever after?"

The last few minutes of the film seem an afterthought that could have been avoided. The cornball, fairy-tale subplot might even have been saved had the hero been allowed to complete his ride into the sunset. In our world of film sequels to everything, perhaps this is inevitable.

Music Department plans new year

By DENISE KEEFER
Entertainment Writer

The "Sounds of Music" emanating from Self Hall in the near future may include the sounds of computers, an organ, and many new student participants--that is if Department Head Jim Fairleigh achieves all the goals he has set for the Music Department over the next year.

The Southerners marching band has always been an integral part of the music program, but Dr. Fairleigh hopes that he can draw more students who are interested in other forms of performance.

His department is using several tactics to achieve its aims, including attempts to include at least one fine arts course in the Core Curriculum, and a campus-wide letter inviting non-music majors to join the Chorus.

"We're trying to increase participation in all of the ensembles by non-majors and minors," Fairleigh explained, "and we hope to step up our recruitment, using these ensembles to show off our programs in high schools within about a 100-mile radius of Jacksonville."

"We're trying to increase participation in all of the ensembles by non-majors and minors."

— Fairleigh

Fairleigh points again to the Southerners as an example of this type of "ambassadors" for the department. Not only do they perform at halftime for the football games," he notes, "but they perform exhibitions at a lot of high school competitions in Alabama and Georgia."

A new group of "ambassadors" is the Show Choir, under the direction of Music faculty member Darnelle Scarbrough. This group will combine music and dance, performing mostly popular, upbeat music in a variety of settings.

Recruitment has also been aided by an increase in scholarship funds available for music students. "We've done much better with this Fall's freshman class," notes Fairleigh.

Among the other goals the department has set for itself are the purchase of a computer system for the education majors, the lack of which currently hurts both the department and its education students, according to Fairleigh.

Computers are an integral part of many functions of the music teacher, including some who use computer-assisted scheduling, orchestrating, and marching design.

A final "materials" goal for the department is the purchase of an organ for the performance students and the ensembles.

Miller
HIGH LIFE

ALABAMA
MUSIC
HALL OF FAME

Organizations Organizations Organizations Organizations Organizations

(Editor's note: We have received complaints in the last week about the way Organizations is edited. We appreciate the fact that each group's reporter works hard to get the news in; however, it is the responsibility of the staff to edit the material so it will all follow the same style. This makes the copy more uniform to the readers. If anyone has questions about the editing process, contact the editor.)

Alpha Kappa Alpha

We truly enjoyed our Cluster III-A, which was held at Stillman College on Sept. 24. The Cluster is a gathering of all undergrad and graduate chapters in Gadsden, Birmingham, Tuscaloosa and surrounding areas. It was exciting to see our sorors at Theta Sigma (VAT) and Delta Sigma (Stillman) who were our hostesses for the event.

Congratulations to our new sorority leaders: Basileus (President)--Cathy Watts; Anti-Basileus (Vice President)--Cheryl Bevelle; Grammateus (Secretary)--Bridgette Rice; Tamiouchos (Treasurer)--Marshall Jackson; Dean of Pledges--for us to know and you to find out.

Our First Annual AKA Round-up was held at the Ramada Inn Convention Center in Birmingham. Following the JSU vs. A&M game, we met and toasted all our sorors that are present and past members of Lambda Pi.

Good luck to sorors Gale Story, Lenese Eberhart and Cheryl Bevelle, who will be in the spotlight. We look forward to supporting our sorors in the upcoming pageants on campus.

A happy belated birthday to LaTonia McEntyre (Sept. 13).

Also, AKA asks the big question: Will Gale Story be the first woman president of the U.S.?

Zeta Tau Alpha

Congratulations to all our members and pledges who received bids for Little Sister Rush. We are proud of you.

We really "threw down" this weekend at our Hoedown. As usual it was a great success. Thanks, Libba.

Congratulations to Holly Savas--Member of the Week, Traci Brizendine--Pledge of the Week and Kim Richey--Zeta Lady.

We really appreciate our pledges hard work preparing for the pep rally skits.

A special "Thank You" to Amy Hyde and Vickie Bailey, two great "Zeta Ladies."

Delta Zeta

We had a great time relaxing by the lake, and coking out at our annual Pledge Retreat at the 4-H Camp in Columbiana.

We also participated in the Drug Awareness program given on Tuesday. We all attended and helped serve and set up.

Thank you, Sigma Nu, for a great MTV mixer and especially to those who serenaded us.

On Parent's Day we had an "open house" on our hall. We shared our newly decorated chapter room along with some special memories.

We are selling Homecoming mum corsages to raise money for our national philanthropy, Gallaudet College for the hearing impaired. Corsages are $4.50 and boutonnieres are $2.00. Fraternities all have order sheets at their houses and we will also sell them in Montgomery Building today.

Congratulations to the sisters who accepted Little Sister bids: Jennifer Higgins and Angie Sandford--Kappa Alpha; Carolee Heberlein, Suzy Campbell, Kathy Wallace and Angie Prieto--Alpha Tau Omega; Angie Hillsenbeck, Sandie Norwood and Allison Crawford--Sigma Nu; Labeth Long--Delta Chi; and Jeanne Carden, Sonya McFerin, Anderia Smith, Angie Millwood, Ginger Fletcher and Joy Pickett--Pi Sigma Chi.

Alpha Tau Omega

Thanks to all the girls who went through hostess rush. We had a great turnout and lots of fun.

Guys' rush went perfect this fall. We have 36 great pledges who all look like potential leaders.

Thanks to Alpha Xi Delta for the dance-a-thon and mixer last week.

We are looking to our Beach Party with Phi Mu tonight. We are decorating beach style and will be soaking in some UVA rays while eating shrimp.

ATO question of the week: Will "Cupcake" make the Solid Gold Dance team this year?

Alpha Xi Delta

Thanks to everyone who bought raffle tickets and supported last week's dance-a-thon for the United Way. We had a great time with ATO at the dance-a-thon and the mixer, too.

We are looking forward to tonight's Caveman mixer with KA, and also to tomorrow night's annual Secret Set-up Party.

We will hold our annual balloon release fund raiser at Homecoming to raise money for the American Lung Association. We will be taking donations for the balloon release next week.

Congratulations to Sister of the Month--Polly Dunn, and Pledge of the Week--Tracy Logan.

Sigma Nu

We congratulate the newly initiated pledges in our chapter: Jim Pitts, Bo Moore, Jim Lasser, Chris Barber, Rick Springer, Brian Sessoms, Rick Andrew, Tom Gibbs, Patrick Woodall, Carter Alvis, David Mathews, Phillip Whitley, Mike Migliara, Justin Brown, Rob Spivey, Pat Turner, Bill Hinton, Glen Kunter, Jeremy Cooper, Kevin Wallace and Jeff Spindlove.

Thanks to Delta Zeta for the wonderful time at the M-TV mixer last week.

We will be sponsoring a scholarship in the near future. The scholarship was made possible by the outstanding participation of our brotherhood at the first Sigma Nu Horse Show held in September.

We are now accepting orders for the "Don't Be A Dick" T-shirts.

Alpha Phi Alpha

The "Alpha Train" is on the move. We are out to be better than ever. Thanks for all your support thus far, but please do not stop now.

We would like to give special thanks to Deana Whitlow for outstanding service contributed to the Ms. Black and Gold Pageant. Thanks to everyone who contributed their time and effort to make the pageant a success.

Our annual state conference will be Friday and Saturday at the Carriage House Inn in Anniston. The host chapters are Epsilon Delta Lambda (Anniston), Xi Xi (JSU), and Alpha Beta (Talladega). The theme for the conference is Alpha Phi Alpha's Role in the Nineteen Nineties. The host chapters will sponsor parties on Friday and Saturday nights and the Ms. Black and Gold Pageant will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Carriage House Inn.

Thanks to the new Sweethearts who are anxious to work with us.

The Cerebral Palsy Fund Drive at Wal-Mart was very successful.

We want everyone to remember to study hard and progress daily. Good luck in all your classes.

Our new Sweethearts went to Regional Medical Center to take toys and balloons to the children there.

The Sweethearts are: Evett Palmer, Monique Snow, Sharnell Mitchell, Kim Johnson, Wendy Galloway, Shannon Kidd, Kimberly Oden, Tina Barker, Kimberly Williams, Doreni L.

Booley, Jennifer Stewart, Cara McClure, Tara Foster, Karen Dawson, Denise Mundy, Melody Haynes, Teresa Collins, Yolanda Buchannon, Sharon Forte and Kim Varner.

Kappa Alpha Psi

Thanks to everyone who participated and supported us in our functions so far this semester. We are planning many activities to involve the entire campus. Soon we will be crowning the new Miss Kappa Alpha Psi. Applications are now being accepted. The deadline for this event is November 4. For further information, contact Anthony Edwards or any brother.

Delta Chi

We welcome all the young ladies who chose to become Chi Delphias.

We had a very successful Brother Rush and welcome 34 new pledges.

We are proud to sponsor Paula Hill for Homecoming Court. Best wishes to Paula from all the brothers.

Special thanks to Lyne Patterson and all the Little Sisters for their hard work recently.

(See ORGANIZATIONS, Page 9)

The Cinematic Arts Council would like to thank Hardee's in Jacksonville for their support of the movies on Tuesday night. We appreciate your help.

"HILARIOUS - A MUCH BIGGER GUT-BUSTER THAN 'GHOSTBUSTERS'!"

Keaton's 'BEETLEJUICE' is one of the biggest, baddest wolves a ghost movie has ever unleashed, a 'polter-gas'!

- David Edelstein, THE VILLAGE VOICE

"Sheer off the wall audacity, wildly playful visual effects."

- David Ansen, NEWSWEEK

Michael Keaton is BEETLEJUICE
The Name In Laughter From The Hereafter

The Gelfin Company presents a Tim Burton film 'Beetlejuice'...
Directed by Tim Burton

Witness

cord (one of which was co-written with Neal Schon of Journey), other songs, such as "See Sally Run," "Money" by the Dave Clark Five and "Baby Love" also drew a unanimous round of whistles and cheers from an already ecstatic crowd.

Aerosmith, Led Zeppelin, Van

(Continued From Page 6)

Halen and even AC DC provide influence for the band. While writing new material Johnson said there was "no set way" the songs are written.

"Sometimes Debbie comes up with the words or melody, then each of us adds pieces until it is finished.

"The largest crowd we played for was 25,000 in Atlanta when we opened for Lynyrd Skynyrd," said Damon Johnson. He went on to say the band's goals are to "continue recording, writing better songs, headline a tour and reach as many people with our music as we can."

Oct. 11th
7 & 9:30 p.m. showings
1.00 Admission

Organizations Organizations Organizations Organizations Organizations

(Continued From Page 8)

Phi Beta Lambda

Our new officers for the current year are as follows: President--Linc Marcum; Vice President--Tom Dyer; Secretary--Evadine Barea; Treasurer--Pat Brown; Parliamentarian--Billy Harvel; and Public Relations Officer--Hope Davidson.

Our next meeting will be at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, 101 Merrill Building. Our club is open to all business majors and new members are welcome.

BCM

Thanks to Calvin Miller and everyone who helped make the Back-to-School revival a huge success. Everyone who attended really received a blessing.

Choir practice is 7 p.m. Thursdays. Everyone is welcome.

We will leave from the BCM at 1 p.m. Monday to visit the children at the Anniston Cerebral Palsy Day Care Center.

We have a very special celebration at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Paul and Nicole Johnson of Birmingham will be performing some wonderful drama routines. Come over and see the dynamic duo drama team.

Mark October 22 on your calendar for the second annual Laugh-Olympics. We will have fun, food, fellowship and more fun.

Keep in touch with the BCM for all the fun you can imagine.

Lambda Alpha Epsilon

Our annual membership drive kick-off and picnic was held at the FOP Lodge in Weaver Sept. 22. The Charles Sullenger award was presented to '88s distinguished criminal justice graduate, Kimberly D. Culberson-White. The award was presented by Tom Barker.

The picnic was a great success. Everyone had a good time and plenty to eat. Special thanks to Bob Benson, Lisa Shavers and Linda Payne for organizing the picnic, and to Arlene Jenkins, Tony Adams and Randy Ricketts for volunteering to slave over hot barbecue grills. Several people renewed their memberships to help us realize our goal of 125 members.

Starting Sept. 26 and daily for the next two weeks a table will be set up so that students may join by paying their annual dues.

Nominations for new officers are now being accepted by faculty and staff at the College of Criminal Justice.

Phi Mu

Congratulations to the new initiated sisters: Britt Mitchell, Dawn Osborne, Sabrina Harris, Stephanie Conners, Nancie Barr, Krista Muskett, Michelle Lane, Nancy Maloney, Amy Todd, Kim Boatright and Buffie Robinson.

Congratulations also to sisters who made the "Fast Breakers" dance line: Melanie Little, Jamie Slatton, Cheryl Vedel, Dawn Osborne and Lori Richardson.

Tonight is our mixer with ATO. Beach Bash is the theme and we begin this afternoon with a shrimp cookout at the house. We are going to have a great time.

Congratulations to Michelle Watson who is now engaged to Patrick Kelley.

Saturday night, "Radio Berlin" will be performing at Solid Gold for our annual Farm Party.

Kappa Alpha

We had a bountiful rush. We would like to congratulate all the new pledges and wish all of them the best of luck with their academics and many pledge duties.

The new pledges are: David Bice, Tim Cochran, Nate Hilderbrand, Kevin Dover, Mike Owens, Billy Harvel, Mark Cardwell, Chris Way, David Wall, Chris Tranthan, Butch Otwell, Pat Brown, Keith Drake, Stanton Davis, Kevin Cobe, Bret Williams, Dennis Funchess, John Shields, Gary Adams, Glen Camper, Jody Groggans, Robbie Stanford, Bryan Bright and Brent Mosley. Excelsior.

Thursday night looks to be a festive event with a party with the little sisters. The brothers and pledges are looking forward to this awaited blowout.

Our intramural football team is playing with plenty of enthusiasm and is having a very productive season. With the competitiveness of the teams this year, this should prove to be a very exciting league. We would like to thank everyone who comes out and supports the team.

Good luck to brothers Alan Thompson and Mark Farmer with their student teaching. We will all miss the both of you.

Student Dietetics and Food Service Association

We are looking forward to a great, productive year. The club is planning to have a dinner for the new majors sometime in November. Also, we are planning to have many guest speakers throughout the semester. We will be working with the Home Economics club in preparing nutritious brown bag lunches for the upcoming fall seminar.

Congratulations to our new officers: Connie McMichael, president; Tawanda Wynn, vice president; Dianne Pong, secretary; Yolanda Thomas, treasurer; and Sonya James and Lisa Cardwell, ICC representatives.

Pi Kappa Phi

We are currently busy working on our activities for Homecoming. We would like to thank DeWayne Bowen for his work in assuring this year's ceremonies will be the best ever. Also,

Silent Reign wins talent search

By C. A. ABERNATHY
Music Writer

Silent Reign won the local round for Snickers New Music Search, presented by Campus Voice magazine and 92-J.

Several area bands entered their original songs in the competition. A panel of six radio thanks to Shane Moore, George Bailey and John Cartwright for their contributions.

We would like to welcome Joe Raines back to Jacksonville. Joe has been studying in Bangladesh for the past several months and we are happy to see him return.

We would like to congratulate the university on the success of Parents Day. We hosted several parents and alumni and everyone had a great time.

The officers for the fall semester are: Joey Weathington, Archon; Sean Thompson, Vice Archon; Todd Smith, Secretary; Stan Sartan, Treasurer; Jeff Rowell, Warden; Jeff Jennings, Chaplain; John Jones, Historian; Timothy Street, Athletic Director; and Steven "Chilly" Stoker, Chancellor of Academic Affairs.

staff members, along with phone-in voters, ranked which were the best of the entrants. Votes were then tabulated, and Silent Reign's "Not Looking Back" won with a grand total of 55 points, The Toys' "This Time Tomorrow" came in a close second with 51 points.

Silent Reign's song will be sent to the national competition. A compilation album of winning regional songs will be sent to participating radio stations for the final round of voting.

From these, a winner will be selected and sent to the contest sponsor.

"C" Clue #1

"The game will be fun if you can run. To find the "C", you have to really look for me. Like a pie in the sky, I too am up high."

Back To School From SPECIAL! cosmopolitan Spa
international®

Enroll For 6 Months & Receive 6 Months
FREE!!!

WE OFFER:

Nautilus & Free Weight Room Universal Exercise Equipment
Aerobic Dance Classes Daily!

Sauna & Steam Rooms
Whirlpool & Polar Plunge
TAEKWONDO

Heated Swimming Pool Fitness Analysis

Cardiovascular Stress Test
Body Fat Percentage
Bally Life Cycles

Guaranteed Weight Reduction
FREE SUPERVISED NURSERY!

COSMOPOLITAN SPA

326 E. Blue Mountain Road
Anniston, Alabama 36201
(205)237-4206

Call or Come By Today!!!

#28 Public Square
Jacksonville, Alabama 36265
(205)435-1144

Campus Creations Campus Creations Campus Creations Campus Creations

Billy Idol

WHITE FEATHER

Take the white feather you gave me, for I am a coward no more.
 Love has made me much braver.
 That's why I came here to see you.
 That's why I knock on your door.
 The white feather you gave me,
 only helped me to see I am not frightened of what is yet to be.
 A white feather I bring you,
 so you will believe my sincerity,
 as I fall down on my knees and say I love you.
 You gave me a white feather,
 now I return it to you.
 If you accept it,
 I would lay down my life for your honor.
 Believe me when I say I love you.
 Cathy Ann Abernathy

GRANDMA'S

The old chair was mis a spindle in the back a coat of paint on the a crocheted doily han any eloquence in antic
 it was merely old.
 There was no more r
 Surely Grandma woul
 She was old too:
 PI

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

I exit the usual way, the back way.
 The door is shut and I'm in the car, gone.
 Three lamps click on, cause they're so fuelish.
 Hell, they don't pay the bill.
 The melon on the middle rack is practically screaming for a red wine bath, so of course he obliges in his reckless way. Far be it from him to be stingy with the goods. Soak them all!
 Two glasses on the table decide their lives are over and end it all on the floor.
 The rabbit ears have found the morning aerobics show and are busy with that funky beat.
 The flies, sensing political asylum, bring family and friends over through the broken window.
 The A.C. decides "Why be an over-achiever?"
 and feels justified in taking a long nap.
 The shoes are sick of each offer and split, journeying as far apart as they can.
 The keys and money are playing their favorite game, "Hide and hide some more."
 The beer cans take this opportunity to lay down on the floor and empty their souls to the ever-hungry carpet.
 The records, thinking no one is watching, slip into someone else's cover for a quickie.
 The slime mold on the tub continues to work his merry way. He swears he'll make to the soap dish by Christmas. He has family there.
 The dirty clothes are just tickled to be here, and resume their tumultuous orgy on the bedroom floor, unashamed. Everyone else is just jealous, anyway.
 The clocks and stereo are tired of overtime with no rest, and try to sleep now. They know the back door will wake them up.
 I come in from class, lay on the couch and think how alone I am. They are laughing like crazy, but I don't hear. I'm asleep.
 E.N.S.

Showered

...and finally, be extremely cautious, for the lady killer is still on the prowl. Lock all doors and windows securely. This is WJZC, Channel 13. I wish you all a very pleasant and safe evening.

The television is quickly turned off. Mrs. Fairchild couldn't stand it anymore. There had been so many murders near her house and she was alone for most of the night because Bob, her husband, often had to work late.
 The murders scared her. Each victim was very similar. All of the ladies were blond, tall, fair skinned and very attractive.
 All were found hanging from their shower heads. They were stripped of clothing and their hair cut raggedly. Each lady had been stabbed brutally, from 25 to 43 times.
 Mrs. Fairchild was especially concerned. She fit the killer's pattern perfectly. She just wished Bob would hurry home. The dogs had her frightened even more, barking and growling constantly. Even little Spastic, the poodle, walked on edge. He paced back and forth, back and forth, then lay near the door and whined with his big brown eyes rolled up looking at the beautiful Ellen Fairchild.
 She went to the front picture window and peeped to see what the dogs were fretting at.
 Her imagination had gotten the best of her, she thought. She saw a shadow slide across the front lawn. It was as sneaky as

CONSERVATION LAKE RAILROAD TUNNEL

We hiked up to the railroad tunnel when I was a kid...
 Scrubby brown lips spilled rotted-teeth boulders under the dark maw slashed in the mountainside.
 And a train snapped out like a snake's tongue but it kept on till it was spit all the way out.
 Elise Tillman

When it rains in Alabama,
the water has nowhere to go.
When it rains in North Carolina
what we can't soak in runs in tiny rivulets and streams and creeks and rivers to the swamps along the coast.
But that's so far away.

You can drown in the driveways
after a long Alabama rain when the water's so damned deep you can't see you own toes.
But they're so far away.

Blood is so hard to distinguish in the mud
'cause it blends with the silt and slip and ends up looking like just another shade of mud.
But it's so far away.

When it rains in Alabama
the dirty water just has no damned place to go.
Mike Fox

TONGUE

Tongue.
The word rolls around-front to back to front and then it escapes.

Tongue.
Inside my mouth it waits, like a child on restriction waiting to come out.

tongue
It does neat tricks.
rolling r's off the roof of my mouth curling like a pig-in-the-blanket...can you do this?
sticking out far and blowing thbbbt sounds at the ugly boy at the back of the bus the one who smells icky and doesn't smile.

tongue
Like velcro on my fudgecicle ...rip...
mmm-coldness on my lips and teeth and
tongue.

I burnt it last night eating pasketti-o's.
Look mom
no tastebuds.

tongue
It helps me stay in the lines.
I have to put it at the side like this and then I can color pretty. See?

And I clean the jelly off my cheek faster than mom can say use your napkin--

tongue
when it's freezy-cold out and I blow smoke signals in the air at the bus stop
I have to use it
(to warm my lips up) so they don't freeze off my face.

I can touch my nose.
Can you?

Anne Cooper

arms ging over the back que style-- oom in the attic.
d understand.
Phyllus Slaton Moore

with love

a black cat, scampering from tree to tree to tree and finally right up to her car. Her heart seemed to pound aloud, racing blood to her face. Could it be the killer? Would she be victim number eight?

Questions boggled her mind. What was she to do? She picked up the phone; it was dead. The room was getting hot and she could hardly swallow. She hurried to turn off the light. The house was silent. The dogs' barking had halted. Silence ruled.

She bedded down in the corner behind a table and chair. She could feel the knife sharply slice through her neck. She could feel her hair being jerked cruelly and, as her blond locks fell to the floor, tears covered them. She could see the blood dripping from her body. She could see it running down her bare legs onto the floor.

Seconds ticked into minutes. The minutes formed hours.
Nothing happened for what seemed an eternity. Suddenly, the door knob twitched. It was moving. It turned to the right, then the left. It opened. The moment had arrived.

Relief poured into her veins! It was Bob. He finally came home. She burst into tears and ran to his side. Her arms wrapped around him and his arms wrapped around her. She told him the story and how glad she was he had come home.

He replied with laughter and showered her with love as he stabbed her through the back with his knife. The dreaded lady killer had finally come home.
Chris St. Clair

NOMAD

A tilted terrain that ends somewhere along that blue mountain side and rows of half burned corn tip-toe lime bleached earth only blackbirds and giant grasshoppers live here--
It has been this way for a long time.

However a remote and strange colored relic rests between the roots of a corn stalk
A remnant proudly marking one itinerant soul in a flint speckled field.

Tony Laten

Features

College Republicans

Students prepare for election

By ANTHONY WHITLEY
Staff Writer

With the presidential election just around the corner, time has been taken to learn about one group on campus interested in who wins the election in November, the College Republicans.

The main purpose of College Republicans is to serve as a student organization of the National Republican Party. Even though this club is on the national level, the Republicans do work on the state level as well. Their main objective is to help state and local Republican organizations and those seeking public office get publicity and votes from the people.

College Republicans cannot function without the participation of students who are interested. In the past few years, attendance has been low, but every four years seems to bring an increase in the number of members. This year is no exception.

This marks the time when the American people go to the polls in November to elect a president to manage our nation. This has brought renewed interest in students to learn more about politics. Joining College Republicans would be a way to learn more about one of this country's institutions, voting.

Grover Kitchens, a member of the organization, said, "If you are not going to join our organization, join other organizations to learn about the political process."

Kitchens also stressed that it was important for every student to know how politics in America work.

Not only do the members of College Republicans find it necessary to know something about politics, but students concerned about America's future do also. Jay Siceloff, a sophomore from New Jersey, attended his first College Republicans meeting recently. When asked about the meeting, Siceloff replied, "It was very informative."

When Siceloff was asked why he joined the organization he said, "So I could help support candidates that would share the beliefs that I and many other Americans think are important; it is very evident that Americans need a president who will steer them in the right direction."

Another very important facet of College Republicans is the recruitment of new members. Tracy Wright, a freshman from Ringgold, Ga., has become very interested in the organization as of late. When asked how he found out about the College Republicans Wright replied, "Dwight Burton informed me about them."

Wright was rather pleased to learn that JSU had an organization such as this one since he is a devout supporter of Vice President George Bush. Even though he is not a member yet, Wright said he wanted to join, "because

I believe in keeping our nation strong and keeping the values that our nation was founded on."

The major goal now for the members is to get George Bush into the presidency. Harlan Mason, president of College Republicans, said, "Everybody knows it is more fun to campaign for Bush."

This is what Mason hopes to get across to his prospective members.

Democratic club formed

By ROD CARDEN
Features Editor

College Democrats is an organization in its beginning stages here. Barry Robertson, the founder of the new organization, is preparing for the presidential election in November.

"Last year I talked with Doug Turner, vice president of the national College Democrats, and decided to organize the club," said Robertson.

Jerry Gilbert is sponsoring the new organization, whose constitution is nearly complete according to Robertson.

"When Gephardt was running in the primaries, there was much interest shown in the club, but lately involvement in the club has been slow because of involvement in other activities on campus," Robertson continued.

Robertson, along with fellow student Chem Proctor, served as delegates for Gephardt earlier this year.

Presently, the main priority of the club is to distribute Dukakis literature to the campus. Student Barry Manson has been the key person in charge of ordering the Dukakis paraphenalia which is expected to arrive during the next several days.

The next meeting is scheduled for early November, although a specific day has not been established yet. At the meeting, the presidential election will be discussed.

The Alabama governor's race is another important election that will be discussed at the meeting.

Students suggest ways to keep off extra pounds

By Connie McMichael and Dianne Pong
Features Writers

As students get settled in for the fall semester, many may begin to notice extra pounds creeping on. Many students who have attended college previously have dealt with this problem. Some students only gain ten or twenty pounds during a semester, while others gain more. This semester can be different.

The Dietetics and Foodservice Association has some suggestions to keep those pounds off the healthy "weigh."

- Take the stairs instead of the elevator (especially at Brewer Hall, Sparkman and Stone Center).

- Beat the traffic and parking (See DIET, Page 13)

What political party are you affiliated with?

Rodney Grady
JR Mathematics
"None of the above"

Kelly Bryant
FR
Undecided Republican

Amy Bell
FR
Education
Republican

Jose' Jenkins
SR Management
Democrat

Renetta Richardson
SR
Nursing
Democrat

Walders Freeman
SR Management
Democrat

Friendship bracelets return

By ROD CARDEN
Features Editor

A popular item that faded away in the late 1960s and recently became popular again is friendship bracelets.

Cathy Abernathy, a student here, not only wears the bracelets -- she makes them. "I can make the bracelets with any color and any pattern. The most popular patterns are the V shape, alternating stripes and the rainbow effect. Usually, a bracelet will not look good unless it has at least three colors in it," Abernathy said as she weaved a bracelet.

"I was fascinated by the bracelets after I attended several concerts and saw people putting them on the band members," Abernathy said.

She said she likes to put bright colors and school colors in the bracelets she makes. When asked about the most colors she has ever put in one bracelet she said, "Twelve."

When beginning a bracelet, she starts with nearly two yards of thread. She said she can either weave the thread, which is the easy way to make the bracelets, or finger weave it, which is the difficult way to make them.

"When you put it on your ankle . . . you should wear it until it falls off."

It takes her fifteen minutes to make the smaller bracelets and nearly an hour to make the larger bracelets.

Photo by PAUL T. DIAL

Abernathy shows some of her creations

The arm is not the only place these items may be worn. They may also be worn on the ankle, neck and head, according to Abernathy. "When you put the bracelet on your ankle, you are not supposed to take it off -- you should wear it until it falls off," Abernathy said.

Abernathy also said the bracelets make good bookmarks.

Anyone interested in learning to weave their own friendship bracelets may find books on the subject at stores like Walmart and K-Mart.

Librarians offer aid

By Harry D. Nuttall

Guest Writer

Many students will soon be visiting the library to work on term papers or other major research projects. The library is staffed with floor subject specialists available to assist students with their papers. These specialists work one night a week so if anyone needs assistance with a paper at night, use the following guide:

FLOOR 2 and 10 - generalia, philosophy, religion, library science; law, applied science and technology

- Floor 4 and 6 - social sciences, business; music, art, language, and literature

- Floor 3 and 7 - history, genealogy, anthropology, geography; literature

- Floor 5 and 9 - physical education, education; science and medicine

Using this roster will give a greater level of service in the library because the subject specialists have experience with and expertise in the subject disciplines on their respective floors.

Since the semester is shifting into high gear, now is probably a good time to explain reserve books. When a book cannot be found on the shelves, students usually assume the book has been checked out and pursue no follow-up effort to locate the book. Many times the book has been placed on reserve. To obtain this book, go to the reference desk on the floor.

The philosophy behind having books on reserve is to increase access by decreasing loan periods. On a normal check-out, a book would be used by one person for up to two weeks, whereas if a book is on a three-day reserve, as many as five people could have access to it in the same time period.

Faculty often put books on reserve for a particular assignment or to supplement the texts. Sometimes a librarian will put books on reserve as a sort of "safety net." An example is a book highly vulnerable to theft or one continuously in demand.

Another example would be keeping books on reserve for situations in which a large number of students will be working in the same subject area. Rather than have the early birds get all the books so that students who worm their way over to the dilemma by walking to class.

(See LIBRARY, Page 14)

Diet

(Continued From Page 12)

- Drink water instead of soft drinks (girls, keep a small cup in your purse for water between class).

- Try a piece of fruit in place of high calorie food and snacks from vending machines.

- Take advantage of the facilities at Pete Matthews Coliseum (the track, swimming pool, weight room and more).

- To reduce an appetite when it is up, do a physical activity (a brisk 20-minute walk, a good run, or some other form of other exercise).

- Do not let emotions trigger the appetite. When not hungry, do not eat. Try the HALT test: Am I Hungry; Am I Angry; Am I Lonely; Am I Tired?

- Do not eat when bored. Next time boredom strikes, relax and imagine you are on a beautiful beach instead of eating.

- Unless television causes a snack attack, turn on a favorite show to turn off an appetite.

Homecoming Flowers!

Co
& B

Have you made your order yet?
If not, see the...

Rabbit Hutch Too

#3 College Center • 435-2230

OPEN DAILY
6 A.M.

GOLDEN CATFISH
Country Breakfast
Open 6 A.M.

OPEN DAILY
6 A.M.

Dine In or Take Out
Phone 435-3846

TRY OUR FAMOUS COUNTRY BREAKFAST

FEATURING COUNTRY HAM & EGGS COOKED TO ORDER

All You Can Eat Breakfast Bar 7 A.M. - 11 A.M. Saturday & Sunday

Breakfast Special

1 Egg, Bacon or Sausage,
Grits or Gravy, Toast or Biscuit
& Hashbrowns

$2.45

Also

Sunday Breakfast Bar
7 a.m. - 11 a.m.

All-You-Can Eat

Vegetable Buffet

Daily

Lunch - 11 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Dinner - 4 p.m. - 9 p.m.
Sun. - Thurs.

Seafood Buffet -

4 p.m. - 9 p.m. Fri. & Sat.

10%
Student Discount

Dine In or Take Out

601 South Pelham Rd.

Phone 435-3846 • Jacksonville

10%
Student
Discount

Southern Studies expands image of the South

By HEATHER GARGUS
Features Writer

When thinking of the South, do visions of magnolia trees in bloom, hoop skirts, and sipping mint juliep on the front porch come to mind? or perhaps picture golden fields of crops and leaning shacks on deserted roads?

Neither of these ideas is real, although many people picture the South this way. In this day and age there are many projects going on to improve and upgrade the image of the South. Much of this work is taking place here on campus.

The Center for Southern Studies plays a major role in shaping a positive image for Alabama and the entire South. The Center is dedicated to promoting understanding of the South among academicians, public leaders and the people of the region and the nation, to supporting research by scholars of the South and to offering outreach programs to the people of Northeast Alabama.

According to Shelia Gilbert, coordinator for the Center, there are many activities occurring locally. The Center sponsors clubs, the art, history, drama and English departments, and holds conferences and seminars with guest speakers. They also work internally with the faculty promoting projects. Incidentally, some of the ideas for events come from faculty members interested in the history of the South. Any idea for a project pertaining to the South is welcomed by the Center for Southern Studies.

A recent project, started last year, is "Brown Bag Lunches." Once a month the center has a meeting, usually at the Alumni House, in which guests bring a bag lunch and spend the afternoon enjoying guest speakers brought in to enlighten those attending about the history of the South. This program is used as an outreach to get as many people as possible involved. Many retired residents from the Jacksonville area participate on a regular basis.

Another individual who dedicates a great deal of support for the Center is President Harold McGee. According to Gilbert, "President McGee has a real sense of what is going on in the South and has been a wealth of information to us."

Although the Center has been on campus for five years, only recently has it become active. Today the Center for Southern Studies is thriving. One major obstacle to overcome is low funding.

There are many projects in the works for the future of Alabama. This year begins the Alabama Reunion, a two-year celebration designed to promote pride within the state, increase economic development and tourism, as well as improve our state's image to the rest of the nation. Everyone can participate in the Alabama Reunion. The idea is to get famous people from our state to come "back home" to visit.

Celebrations, homecomings and special events will be taking place to draw people to tour the state. Recently, various governors of the South met and composed several objectives, which the South as a whole will be striving for toward the year 1992. The book is entitled, Half Way Home and a Long Way to Go. Some regional objectives are to improve education, eliminate illiteracy, provide a competitive work force and generate technology, just to name a few.

A Texas native, Gilbert taught school for 18 years and spent her summers working on political campaigns. Eventually, she became interested in the history of the South, especially concerning political systems, and decided to pursue another career. "I have high hopes for the Center for Southern Studies here at JSU," said Gilbert.

RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, THIS GUY IS IN CLASS.

Excitement and adventure is the course description, and Army ROTC is the name. It's the one college elective that builds your self-confidence, develops your leadership potential and helps you take on the challenges of command.

There's no obligation until your junior year, and that means there's no reason not to try it out right now.

ARMY ROTC

THE SMARTEST COLLEGE COURSE YOU CAN TAKE.

Jacksonville State University
Department Of Military Science

CALL 231-5601 FOR INFORMATION

Library

(Continued From Page 13)

library late have no materials to work with, the librarian will keep a reserve back.

Seventh floor, for example, has so many books on reserve for this reason that the reference alcove almost qualifies as a separate branch library. Each floor should have a list on, or near, the reference counter, identifying the reserve books on that floor. Given the author, title, and call number, people working at the circulation desk can usually tell if a book is on reserve.

Do not assume a book is checked out because it is not on the shelves. It could still be in the building, so ask somebody before giving up.

Many times students let overdue fines build up because they are not aware a book is overdue. The library sends overdue notices to students' campus mailing addresses and to their homes. To prevent library fines from adding up, check the campus mailbox frequently in the event an overdue notice has been sent. If one has been sent, clear the fine as soon as possible.

5-0 Gamecocks end six years of frustration against Choctaws

By JEFFREY ROBINSON

Sports Editor

It has been six trying, disappointing years since JSU defeated Mississippi College. A very long six years.

But that winless drought against the Choctaws came to a screeching halt last Saturday as the Gamecocks posted their second shutout of the year and downed Mississippi College 10-0 at Paul Snow Stadium. The win gives the Gamecocks their first 5-0 start since the 1982 season.

Before Saturday's game, JSU had not beaten Mississippi College since 1982. The losses that have come since then have indeed been tough ones for the Gamecocks.

The 1983 Mississippi College win was the first homecoming defeat JSU had suffered in the school's history. In 1985, the Choctaws trounced JSU 50-3 in Clinton, Miss., and showed no mercy in running up that score. Last year, JSU played a close game but saw Mississippi College pull out a 15-13 win.

Needless to say, the 10-0 shutout ended a great deal of frustration for the Gamecocks.

Senior defensive end Judge Stringer knows the frustration the Gamecocks have experienced over the past few years. It was obvious after the game Stringer knew just how much this win meant.

"It's so sweet to go out there and get the shutout," said Stringer. "I care for this team, and I love this team, and the shutout means so much. I can't describe how happy that makes me feel.

"Ever since I've been here, I

Photo by ED HILL

Adams (93) puts sack attack on MC's Henry have wanted to beat them. Since they beat us 50-3 my freshman year, I've wanted Mississippi College," said Stringer.

It was another strong defensive effort that paced the Gamecocks in this game. Mississippi College was supposed to have a good rushing attack, but apparently they left it in Clinton. The Choctaws were allowed only 38 yards rushing on the day. Most of their 122 total yards of offense came from MC's 84 yards passing.

In addition to allowing the Choctaws only seven first (See MC, Page 18)

Burgess feels Delta St. could make game close

By RUSS MEANS

Sports Writer

It would be hard to ask for a better start to a season than the one the Gamecocks have gotten off to this year.

A perfect 5-0 mark half way through the season gives the Gamecocks one of their best starts in over five years. But as the year moves on, the challenges become greater, and this week's contest against the Delta State Statesmen will be no exception.

This Saturday in Cleveland, Miss., the Fighting Gamecocks will face what Coach Bill Burgess considers to be their toughest challenge so far this season. To Burgess, the 2-3 record of the Statesmen does not reflect on their true ability.

All three times the Gamecocks have faced the Statesmen under Burgess' tenure, the outcome has been decided toward the end of the game. With a 1-1-1 record against Delta State, the Gamecocks expect another down-to-the-wire game.

The defense will have to control the tough passing game of the Statesmen in order to get the edge. Also, the running of Delta State is a force to be reckoned with. If the Gamecock defense cannot control both of them, they may be in for trouble.

When the Gamecocks are on offensive side of the ball, they will need to play along with the hard-nosed defense of Delta State. The Statesmen will be ready for the running game. With David Gullede leading the rushing attack, Delta State will give 100 percent to stop the quarterback keepers. The offense will need to come through with a good passing game to give the Statesmen more to deal with.

According to Burgess, the Statesmen always give four tough quarters of football. In addition, the Statesmen will not be blown away. "Whenever they're down, the Statesmen will always come back in a heartbeat," said Burgess.

Burgess also said that JSU will have to earn everything they get because Delta State has never given up easy points to the Gamecocks.

Terry Thomas, Byron Stewart and Darrell Malone, captains for Saturday's game, will hopefully get JSU started off on the right foot by winning the toss of the coin. After that, it will be up to the whole team. By playing four quarters of tough, all-out football, JSU can leave Cleveland with a 6-0 mark.

Burgess said everyone should be ready for the game, and this week's practices will build a better mental edge for the game. This game could be decided by whomever does the best job of executing fundamentals.

Kickoff for Saturday's game is 2 p.m.

Gamecocks sit alone atop the GSC

By RODNEY PARKS

Sports Writer

Week four of Gulf South Conference play is now on the books, and the ninth-ranked Gamecocks stand alone in first place. The Gamecocks are the only GSC team with undefeated conference and overall records.

JSU, for the third week in a row, leads the GSC in both scoring offense and scoring defense.

In conference games last weekend, Troy State (3-2 overall, 2-1 in the GSC) saw its 20-game Gulf South Conference win streak come to an end. With a 21-16 victory, Valdosta State (2-2, 1-2) became the first GSC team to beat Troy State since 1985.

JSU (5-0, 3-0) had an impressive 10-0 victory over Mississippi College (3-2, 2-1). UT-Martin won over Delta State (2-3, 0-2) 15-3. West Georgia (1-3, 1-2) had its first victory of the year over Livingston (0-5, 0-2) by a score of 13-0.

The only game outside the conference had North Alabama (1-3, 1-1) losing to No. 2 ranked Central Florida 35-33.

The standings for the GSC after four weeks of play find JSU with a 3-0 record. UT-Martin, Troy State and Mississippi College all have 2-1 records. North Alabama stands at 1-1, and Valdosta State and West Georgia both have 1-2 records. Delta State and Livingston are at the bottom of the conference standings with 0-2 records.

Games in the GSC this weekend include JSU traveling to Delta State, Mississippi College will host Troy State, Livingston will play at Valdosta State, North Alabama will host UT-Martin, and West Georgia will host Samford in the only non-conference game.

NCAA DIVISION II TOP TWENTY

1.	North Dakota State	4-0-0
2.	Central Florida	5-0-0
3.	Indiana-Pennsylvania	4-0-0
4.	Winston Salem State	5-0-0
5.	Texas A&I	3-1-0
6.	Jacksonville State	5-0-0
7.	Millersville (Pa.)	4-0-0
8.	Butler (Ind.)	4-1-0
9.	Augustana (S.D.)	4-1-0
10.	East Texas State	4-1-0
11.	West Chester	3-1-0
12.	Northridge State	4-1-0
13.	Albany State	4-0-0
14.	North Dakota	4-1-0
15.	Bowie State	5-0-0
16.	Tennessee-Martin	4-1-0
17.	St. Cloud State	4-1-0
18.	Bloomsburg	4-1-0
19.	Nebraska-Omaha	4-1-0
20.	Northern Michigan	3-2-0

Sports - Second Front

Volleyball team has tough time with Troy in conference opener

By RODNEY PARKS
Sports Writer

Ten games into the season, the JSU women's volleyball team has compiled a 5-5 overall record.

The Lady Gamecocks traveled to Orlando, Fla., on Sept. 22 and 23 to play in the Rollins Invitational. JSU began the tournament with a win over West Georgia, beating the Lady Braves 12-15, 15-13 and 15-11.

The Lady Gamecocks lost to the host team, Rollins College, by scores of 6-15 and 8-15. JSU finished the tournament by defeating Nova College 15-11, 15-5 and Eckerd College 16-14 and 15-11. Their 3-1 overall record enabled the Lady Gamecocks to finish third in the tournament.

"The trip was a good one for us. Terry Jo Horrocks and AJ Sanders were our best all-around players in the tournament," said Coach Janice Slay.

JSU returned home for its conference opener against Troy State last Thursday. The Lady Gamecocks did not fare well in this match, however, and lost to the Lady Trojans 7-15, 6-15 and 9-15.

Slay was not pleased with her team's effort. She said the team is having trouble finding cohesiveness, and the members of the squad must be able to work together as a unit.

"I need to find the right six girls that can play together," said Slay. "When I do that, we will be fine.."

The Lady Gamecocks are 0-1 in GSC play.

This weekend, JSU will be playing in the Troy Invitational Tournament. Two home games are on the schedule for next week. The Lady Gamecocks will be in conference play on Monday night when they host Livingston University. Tuesday evening, JSU will host North Alabama.

All home matches start at 7 p.m. and are at Pete Mathews Coliseum.

Photo by CHRIS MILLER

Players go head-to-head in battle for the ball

"Manatee pipeline" is a source of talent for JSU

From Sports Information Office

Women's volleyball coach Janice Slay did not know when she signed Amy Rappleyea before last season that she would be developing a pipeline from Manatee Community College in Brandenton, Fla. Rappleyea, who attended Manatee before coming to Jacksonville, was an asset in the recruiting and signing of Terry Jo Horrocks and Lisa Jakiel from Manatee.

"It was a big plus having Amy," Slay said. "She talked to Lisa and Terry Jo and told them about Jacksonville, the surroundings and told them that it was a good place to come."

Jakiel, a six-foot middle-hitter from Kissimmee, Fla., started playing volleyball in high school, but Horrocks, a 5'11" outside-hitter from Palmetto, got her start in a different way.

"I was going to run cross country, but the team had been practicing for a while, so I decided to play volleyball," Horrocks said.

The Lady Gamecocks started their season by losing three of four matches in a recent weekend tournament, but rebounded last Wednesday with an impressive victory over previously undefeated Alabama A&M. Both Jakiel and Horrocks feel the team will improve as the season progresses.

"We started off slow, but we're getting better as the season goes on," Jakiel remarked. "We've seen (University of North Alabama), and they've won the conference the last two years. We think think we can compete with them."

Horrocks also thinks the team is getting better and added, "We're starting to get to know each other and communicate better."

Jakiel feels her strength is blocking and her weakness is defense.

Slay agrees, but added, "Lisa has a real enthusiastic attitude, and she's very aggressive. Her attitude on the court is a big boost to the team."

Horrocks thinks hitting is her strength and defense is her weak spot, although Slay thinks differently about her defense.

"T.J.'s defense is better than she gives herself credit."

Slay also thinks Horrocks is the best all-around player right now.

"She's tremendously powerful, but she's also an aggressive player," said Slay.

After college, Jakiel, a psychology major, would like to attend law school and go into corporate law. But if a career in law is not there, "I would like to get my master's in industrial psychology," she said.

Horrocks is a secondary education major and would like to teach either psychology or history. "I do not want to teach P.E.," said Horrocks.

She also plans to pursue a career as a volleyball coach.

Shooting team starts season off with a bang

By JILL JACOBY
Sports Writer

Now that October has arrived, most of the fall sports have already begun their individual seasons. The shooting team is among those who have.

The shooting team began its season on Sept. 24 with a home match against the University of Southern Mississippi. JSU annihilated Southern Mississippi by scoring a total of 2214 points. Maria Buljung lead the team with a score of 564.

The team is fortunate to have five returning shooters on this year's squad. The returning athletes include Kelley Wolery, Maria Buljung, Jason Pyle, Steve Chew, and Edward Hess. Wolery serves as team captain this year, and Hess is the team treasurer.

Five first-year students are making their debut on the team. The newcomers include Steven Goodman, Jill Jacoby, Debra Meyers, Heather Gullickson, and Jay Criger.

This year's team is made up of persons from many different areas of the United States. Hess and Meyers both came to Alabama from Pennsylvania. Also from the northeast is Jacoby, who is from New York, and Chew, who hails from New Jersey. From the northwest are Wolery, who is from Washington, and Gullickson, who is from Oregon. Buljung and Criger are both from Georgia, and Pyle is the lone native Alabamian on the team.

The team's coach, Captain Steven Motika, has enthusiastically stated that the team has great potential this year. He added that even with all the new shooters, this year's team should be a powerful one.

One of the team's veteran shooters, Maria Buljung, has been watching the Summer Olympics in Seoul, Korea. Buljung's father, MSG. Erich Buljung, competed in the Men's Air Pistol competition. As the shooting team expected, Buljung performed exceptionally well and won a silver medal. He was the only United States shooter to win an Olympic medal. MSG. Buljung was narrowly edged out in a close shoot-off for the gold medal.

Hobbs is not happy with fifth-place finish

By EARL WISE
Sports Writer

Chris Gray shot 73 and 72 to lead the Gamecocks to a fifth-place finish at the University of North Alabama Classic on Sept. 22 and 23. Gray finished seventh overall in a field of 55 players and finished first among the Division II competition.

The Gamecocks were 16 strokes off the pace of a strong Montevallo team, which finished with an overall score of 583. Mobile College finished second with a 589 score, Middle Tennessee State finished third with a 591 score, Louisiana Tech finished fourth with a 594 score, and the Gamecocks finished fifth with a overall score of 598.

Coach James Hobbs was not pleased with the performance during the tournament.

"Our first tournament day score did not put us in contention to win. We shot better the second day, but it was not good enough for us to win. Overall, I was not happy with our performance. We can play much better," said Hobbs.

Chris Gray was consistent both days and shot a 145, which was one over a par. The other four Gamecock players were up one day and down the next as they never had a balanced day. Randy Reaves shot a 73 on Thursday, but shot a 77 on Friday, finishing tied for 13th. Jim Stagmeier shot a 75 on Thursday and on Friday shot 76, finishing tied for 19th. Also, Heath Davis finished with an overall score of 152, and Robert McEachern finished with an overall score of 159.

The Gamecocks' last tournament was on Monday and Tuesday, in Pickwick, Tenn.

"The Tri-State Classic consists of all of the GSC teams, except Valdosta State. This tournament will be a good indication of where we stand in the GSC. We usually fare pretty well in this," said Hobbs.

The Press Box

Gamecock fans tend to give quiet a new meaning

Quiet.

I sat in Paul Snow Memorial Stadium during JSU's game with Mississippi College last Saturday and noticed that there seemed to be a lot of quiet abounding.

Now, you can expect to find quiet in a lot of places on this earth, but a college football game is not one of those places. Especially not a game that saw JSU, ranked ninth in the nation in Division II, go against 19th ranked Mississippi College in a close game.

I am not saying you could hear a pin drop during the game. After all, the Southerners were playing, great as always, and you could occasionally hear some noise. But for the most part, the atmosphere was ridiculously quiet for a college game.

I found it rather sad that a friend of mine attending a JSU game for the first time looked at me in the second quarter and said, "You know, except for the Southerners, you could hang a funeral wreath on this place."

It is a shame a statement like that could be made, but what is worse is the fact it is true. It should grab the attention of students and fans.

Here were the undefeated Gamecocks playing in a game very important in their quest for the Gulf South Conference Championship, playing in front of a good crowd, with the atmosphere at the stadium anything but festive.

JSU is now 5-0 on the season and is now the only GSC school with perfect conference and overall records.

Apparently, however, some people do not seem to notice this. Furthermore, they do not even seem to care.

It is kind of ironic this occurred two days after an editorial on student, and faculty, apathy ran in this paper. Apparently some things are hard to change. You can bet if some school like the University of Alabama or Auburn or even some other schools that are not in Division I were playing in such an important game, there would be lots of noise at the game.

What most of the fans at Saturday's game did not seem to realize is this really was a dangerously close game. Both JSU and Mississippi College have strong teams with good defenses. The Gamecocks were able to put a touchdown on the board in the first quarter, but they did not score again until the fourth quarter. A seven-point lead is not a safe one against a team like the Choctaws, but JSU's defense played an outstanding game. The Gamecocks certainly could have used more support from their fans in keeping MC off the scoreboard.

A lot of people may not have found this game too exciting.

Jeffrey Robinson

Sports Editor

But need I remind anyone that the score of last year's Alabama-Auburn game was 10-0? You could hear a lot of noise there.

But in a situation where the lead really could have been erased, there sat our fans. And I mean sat.

To make matters worse, Saturday was Parents Day and High School Day. This drew in a good crowd, but most of those parents who showed up probably think nothing exciting ever happens in Jacksonville. Calling this the "Quietest Campus in South" is certainly no understatement.

I guess the thing that makes me wonder is the fact that although most people know we have a good football team, an exceptional band, and great athletic facilities, they really take them for granted. Our cheerleading squad, which is probably the best squad in Division II this year, also does a good job. The only problem is, most fans seemed to ignore them. Usually it is only when they move in front of the Southerners and cheer that people show some interest.

This needs to change. Granted, there are loyal Gamecock supporters who come to the games and cheer and get behind the team. There were people getting behind the team Saturday, and that was greatly appreciated. But our Gamecocks deserve little better. Coach Bill Burgess' team seems destined to go far this season. We have our best chance of making the Division II playoffs since 1982, and it would certainly help them to know they have the support of all the students.

JSU also has its best chance to defeat its arch rival, Troy State for the first time since 1982. This is going to be a big game, as will be our next game, which is Homecoming against North Alabama. I would like to put forth a challenge to our students to get out at these two games and make some more noise. It would be nice if we could just once manage to intimidate an opposing team to the point that the crowd is a big factor in the game.

If you truly care about JSU and its sports teams, see if you can take this challenge and make some changes. It is past time someone did. If the challenge is not enough, then here is another remark I heard at a recent game that should wake some people up.

At the home opener against Samford, the comment was made in the pressbox that the Gamecock players were standing on the side of the field opposite the press box this year, and the visiting team was on the press box side. The Gamecocks had stood in front of the pressbox the last three years, and this move was made to prevent antagonism between JSU students and the visiting players.

When someone asked why the change was made, someone said, "We decided to put the visitors back in front of our (JSU's) fans this year. They never cheer for anybody, not even us."

Think about it folks. And get noisy.

Player of the Week

Congratulations

To

Joe Billingsley

Joe Billingsley, JSU's All-American offensive lineman, was named "Player of the Week" for his outstanding effort against Valdosta State. The Gamecocks defeated the Blazers 31 - 21 in Valdosta.

Lite

SPECIAL OFFER
on our most asked for rings

14K gold rings

Our most popular diamond solitaire is this Tiffany setting, priced at $750⁰⁰ with 1/4 ct. diamond. Man's 5MM matching band is only $160⁰⁰ and ladies' matching band is only $49⁰⁰. Now, until October 29th, the trio is only $767⁰⁰ for JSU students. Bring this ad. Visit us. This is an excellent buy.

C·O·U·C·H'S

JEWELERS

Anniston

Oxford

Three teams remain undefeated

Entering week six of college football action, Auburn, Alabama, and Jacksonville State all are still posting undefeated records. Auburn is carrying its into Baton Rouge against a fire-breathing LSU team. The Crimson Tide and the Gamecocks have easier contests. Alabama faces an 0-4 Ole Miss team, and JSU goes up against 2-3 Delta State team.

After four weeks of predictions, my totals come to 52-18. That is improving but could be better.

Jacksonville State at Delta State

Defense has been the word for the Gamecocks. The defense has given up 41 points in five games, which is a little over eight points a game. Delta State enters this contest with a 2-3 record, losing two straight games to North Alabama and UT-Martin. Delta State can put points on the board as was shown in a 31-10 defeat of Southern Arkansas on Sept. 10. The Gamecocks defeated the Statesmen 36-34 last year and hold a lifetime record of 16-8-1 against the Statesmen. Beware

Earl
Wise

Sports Writer

Gamecocks. Delta State plays great football at home, but the Gamecocks' strong defense and offense should give them their sixth victory. JACKSONVILLE STATE 28, DELTA STATE 10

Ole Miss at Alabama

The Crimson Tide squeezed out a nail-biting 31-27 victory over the Kentucky Wildcats last week. It was evident that the Crimson Tide is feeling the effects of the loss of Bobby Humphrey and Gene Jelks. However, Murray Hill looked impressive gaining 143 yards in his first start of the season. Ole Miss comes into the contest 0-4, but the Rebels played tough against a strong Georgia team. Ole Miss had Georgia down 12-10 at half-time and had a major upset on the minds of all Ole Miss fans. If Alabama can play with the intensity it had in the fourth quarter against Kentucky, then the Tide will walk away with another SEC victory. ALABAMA 33, OLE MISS 17

Auburn at LSU

Pat Dye's Auburn Tigers have not faced a tough opponent all season. Kentucky almost handed Auburn a season-beginning loss. Auburn's first four games have been at home, and they have not had the task of playing in front of a hostile crowd. But the Tigers will find one of the most hostile crowds anywhere in Baton Rouge. LSU has lost two straight games to Ohio State 36-33 and Florida 19-6, both games on the road. LSU is eagerly awaiting Auburn for its first home game since Sept. 2. Auburn does not appear to be up for the task of playing LSU in Baton Rouge. LSU 27, AUBURN 23

Vanderbilt at Georgia

Bulldog fans thought this was the year the Bulldogs would win the SEC title. After the Tennessee victory, Georgia fans were saying, "We told you so." Tennessee is now 0-5. The Bulldogs are now 4-1 and are still in the SEC race. But the Georgia victories have not all been sweet. Vanderbilt enters the contest 2-2 after losing a close 17-15 battle (See TEAMS, Page 19) downs, JSU only allowed Mississippi College to cross into Gamecock territory three times. The closest MC ever got to scoring was in the fourth quarter when they drove down to the JSU 34. Darrell Malone stopped that drive, however, by intercepting a Wally Henry pass at the 12 yard line.

(Continued From Page 15)

It was a day for the "Red Bandits" to show their stuff.

"To say we're proud of our team is an understatement," said Coach Bill Burgess. "Defensively, we played our best game since we've been here."

There had been concern that Mississippi College's offensive line, which averages 6 feet 3 inches and around 275 pounds, might wear down the JSU defensive front. But such was not the case as the Gamecocks dominated.

"The coaching staff instills in us that we have to go out and stay low," said Stringer. "If you can get under them, no matter how big they are, you can bring them down."

JSU got its only touchdown of the game late in the first quarter on an 11-play drive that covered 91 yards. Quarterback David Gulledge, who had 88 yards rushing on the day, rushed for 41 yards on the drive and completed a 20-yard pass to Kevin Blue.

Terry Thomas, who lead all rushers with 91 yards, gave the Gamecocks a first down at the MC 11 with a 12-yard run. Gulledge then scored on an 11-yard run. Ashley Kay added the PAT, and the Gamecocks broke on top with a 7-0 lead with 3:08 left in the first quarter.

After that touchdown, JSU would not score again till the fourth quarter. But with the way the defense was playing, they would not have to.

"We didn't have the kind of day offensively that you would ideally like to have," said Burgess. "They changed defenses and pretty much shut us down after (the touchdown), but the offense still did the things it had to do. It didn't turn the ball over, it rattled the chains (to pick up first downs), and it had a 91-yard drive for a score and Kay's kick."

Kay's kick was a 47-yard field goal, adding some insurance points early in the fourth quarter. The three-pointer gave the Gamecocks a 10-0 lead with 12:59 left in the game.

"When we got that field goal, it was some big, big points," said Burgess. "It made them have to score twice to beat us."

According to center Keith Henderson, JSU's offensive game plan was to establish its running game and use it to take time off the clock. Keeping the Choctaw offense off the field was effective defense in itself.

"We knew we had the inside game going with our fullbacks," said Henderson. "We knew if we could stay with that and eat the clock up, we could keep them off the field. We were able to keep our defense fresh."

Burgess gave a great deal of credit to his coaching staff, not only for Saturday's play, but for the entire season. Three years ago, Mississippi College head coach John Williams called the Gamecock coaching staff a "high school coaching staff" following the Choctaws 50-3 win over the Gamecocks. But it was the game plans of that same staff that beat him Saturday.

"We've got a great coaching staff," said Burgess. "They're (See MC, Page 19)

FLAG FOOTBALL STANDINGS AND RESULTS AS OF September 29, 1988

INDEPENDENT CONFERENCE

1. Untouchables	6-0
2. Gametakers	5-1
3. Playboys	4-1
4. Pannell	4-2
5. Logan Knights	3-2
Strictly Business	3-2
6. Terminators	2-3½
7. To Sooners	2-4
Weatherly	2-4
8. BCM	1-5
Code Red	1-5
No Names	1-5

FRATERNITY CONFERENCE

1. Kappa Alpha	5-1
2. Kappa Sigma	4-1
3. Pi Kappa Phi	3-2
4. ATO	3-2
5. Delta Chi	2-2
6. Sigma Nu	0-4-1*
7. Pi Sigma Chi	0-5-1*

*Ties will be rescheduled

INTRAMURAL FLAG FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

October 10 thru October 13

October 10, Monday	3:00 Weatherly v Code Red 4:00 Strictly Business v Pannell
	3:00 ATO v Pi Sigma Chi 4:00 Kappa Alpha v Pi Kappa Phi
October 11, Tuesday	3:00 BCM v No Names 4:00 Playboys v Gametakers
	3:00 Delta Chi v Sigma Nu 4:00 Terminators v Code Red
October 12, Wednesday	3:00 Untouchables v Strictly Business 4:00 To Sooners v Logan Knights
	3:00 ATO v Kappa Alpha 4:00 Sigma Nu v Kappa Sigma
October 13, Thursday	3:00 No Names v Code Red 4:00 Playboys v Logan Knights
	3:00 Delta Chi v Kappa Alpha 4:00 Kappa Sigma v Pi Kappa Phi

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF STATE
UNITED STATES INFORMATION AGENCY
UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE OFFER

A FOREIGN SERVICE CAREER

Representing the United States abroad as a Foreign Service Officer

The Initial Step:

The Annual Foreign Service Written Examination

December 3, 1988

Deadline for receipt of application:

October 14, 1988

You may obtain an application by calling (703) 875-7108 (24 hour line) or by writing:

U.S. Department of State
Recruitment Division (CN)
P.O. Box 9317 Rosslyn Station
Arlington, VA 22209

or at you Career Planning and Placement Office

Eligibility Requirements:

To be eligible to take the Foreign Service Written Examination, applicants must be:

- At least 20 years old on the date of the examination
- Citizens of the United States
- Available for WORLDWIDE ASSIGNMENT, including Washington, D.C.

An Equal Opportunity Employer

Pigskin Picks

 Jeff Robinson 25-11 .694	 Earl Wise 26-10 .722	 Joey Luallen 25-11 .694	 Carla Byram 30-6 .833	 Rod Carden 28-8 .778	 Rodney Parks 28-8 .778	 Bird Brain 28-8 .778	ART BY JOE S. JSUEB Final Tally
JSU at Delta State	JSU	JSU	JSU	JSU	JSU	JSU	JSU	JSU
Mississippi at Alabama	ALABAMA	ALABAMA	ALABAMA	ALABAMA	ALABAMA	ALABAMA	ALABAMA	ALABAMA
Auburn at LSU	LSU	LSU	LSU	AUBURN	LSU	AUBURN	AUBURN	LSU
Vanderbilt at Georgia	GEORGIA	GEORGIA	GEORGIA	GEORGIA	GEORGIA	GEORGIA	GEORGIA	GEORGIA
Michigan St. at Michigan	MICHIGAN	MICHIGAN	MICHIGAN	MICHIGAN	MICHIGAN	MICHIGAN	MICHIGAN	MICHIGAN
Notre Dame at Pittsburgh	NOTRE DAME	NOTRE DAME	PITTSBURGH	NOTRE DAME	NOTRE DAME	NOTRE DAME	NOTRE DAME	NOTRE DAME
Ohio State at Indiana	INDIANA	INDIANA	INDIANA	OHIO STATE	OHIO STATE	INDIANA	OHIO STATE	OHIO STATE
Oklahoma at Texas	OKLAHOMA	OKLAHOMA	OKLAHOMA	OKLAHOMA	OKLAHOMA	OKLAHOMA	OKLAHOMA	OKLAHOMA
Troy St. at Mississippi College	MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE	MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE	MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE	MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE	MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE	MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE	MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE	MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE

Saturday's Schedule

Jacksonville State at Delta State (2 P.M.)
Livingston at Valdosta State (Noon)
Troy State at Mississippi College (7 P.M.)
Tennessee-Martin at North Alabama (2 P.M.)
Samford at West Georgia (1 P.M.)

Teams

(Continued From Page 18)

to Duke last Saturday. Tim Worley rushed for 121 yards in his return from his injury. However, Vanderbilt is improving game by game and should give the Bulldogs a tough contest in Athens on Saturday. GEORGIA 33, VANDERBILT 17

North Alabama 27; Samford 21, West Georgia 7; Air Force 40, Navy 17; Washington 21, Arizona St. 10; Clemson 31, Virginia 10; Colorado 20, Oklahoma St. 17; Florida 42, Memphis St. 3; Maryland 28, Georgia Tech 13; Indiana 33, Ohio State 21; Michigan 28, Michigan St. 17; Notre Dame 33, Pittsburgh 20; Oklahoma 28, Texas 17; UCLA 40, Oregon St. 14.

OTHER GAMES: Valdosta St. 34, Livingston 0; Miss. College 23, Troy St. 13; UT-Martin 35, doing a heck of a job, everyone of them, of preparing the players. We've also got a group of young men who go out and put everything on the line every Saturday. And I think that has been the key to our season so far."

MC

(Continued From Page 18)

The Gamecocks will take their undefeated record on the road next week when they travel to Cleveland, Miss., to take on Delta State. Burgess said as the GSC road gets tougher and tougher, the team will continue with its philosophy of playing with only one goal in mind--winning.

"They tell us we lead the GSC in seven categories, but that really doesn't matter" said Burgess. "It's the win that counts. Our defense loves those zeros because they're so hard to

Kickoff for Saturday's game

at Delta State is 2 p.m.

National marketing firm seeks ambitious junior, senior or graduate student to manage on-campus promotions for top national companies this semester. Flexible hours with earnings potential to $2,500. Call Judy C. or Myra at 1-800-592-2121

2 SAUSAGE BISCUITS
$1.29

Purchase up to 6 with this coupon.

Please present coupon when ordering
Not valid with any other coupons or special offers. Expires 11-6-88

You 'vant my blood?

Thee Country Shoppe has it...at the Halloween Boo Bazaar. Everything you need to be the ultimate vampire is here - a cape, makeup, lots of bats, rats and other companions, and yes, even fake blood.

Thee Country Shoppe

"Up-Town On The Square"

INCREDIBLE KITCHIN'S

