Silent Expressions to play in Wallace

By TODD FRESHWATER
News Editor

If you enjoy shows featuring music, skits and fun, mark your calendars for Saturday because all these things and more will be on campus.

Silent Expressions, a group sponsored by the Student Organization for Deaf Awareness, will be presenting a show entitled, "Silent Expressions Presents a Night at the Movies."

Silent Expressions is a group consisting of hearing-impaired students and hearing students who perform using only sign. The students are accompanied by music made popular from various movies. The students "feel" the beat of the music and then sign the words. Also, while the music is playing, various skits will be performed.

"We want people to know who we are and what we're doing," said

Kayle Lambert, one of the directors of the program. "The program will be very entertaining."

The group was started in the spring of 1988 and has done a musical performance every semester since. Not only does the group perform a musical, they also have a Christian performance that they do at various churches in the area.

The event is open to the public and the members are asking for a $2 donation at the door. All donations will go to SODA. The club is trying to raise money to send one deaf student to a leadership workshop. The club will also use the money to promote the club's goals, which include: student awareness, promoting classes on deafness and promoting the idea that deaf people are not different from anyone else.

The event will take place at 7:00 p.m. in Wallace Hall. Concessions will also be sold.

Olympian retreat proves successful

Take one gorgeous fall weekend, a well-equipped camp on Lake Martin, Special Olympics athletes and their families, mix with a group of hard-working and fun-loving JSU special education majors, and the result is a wonderful experience for everyone.

The goal of the weekend last September was to allow Special Olympians, their parents and siblings to spend time together in an outdoor setting while actively participating in Special Olympics skills training. Not only did the athletes receive additional training in familiar sports, many were introduced to equestrian events for the first time. Horseback riding, swimming, soccer, softball, challenge course, basketball, plus arts and crafts, boatriing and campfires made for a very active Friday, Saturday and Sunday. All of the skills taught were Special Olympics competitive sports.

The parents had meetings to learn more about Special Olympics and how they can work with their children. (See OLYMPIAN, Page 2)

Student deafened in blast

By ROSE SHEWBART
Staff Writer

A small explosive device in Pannell Hall may have left a student deaf last Monday morning.

Starling Ridgeway III opened a bathroom stall door at 8 a.m., triggering an explosion. The sound of the blast left him deaf, but he was otherwise uninjured. The force of the explosion knocked Ridgeway against a wall, but he was not hurt in the fall.

People on the floor were awakened by the sound and thought it was gunfire. When they came to assist and asked Ridgeway if he was all right, he realized he had no hearing.

Ridgeway was treated at the campus infirmary. He does not know if the hearing loss is permanent or temporary. His family is planning to consult a specialist if his hearing does not improve.

It is unknown whether the incident was intended to be a prank or a deliberate gesture. Since there is no way to tell who is going into what stall at any given day or time, the incident seems to be more of a malicious prank than an act aimed at one specific person.

David Nichols, director of public safety, thought the choice of stalls rather strange.

"The device was in the third or fourth stall," he said. "You'd assume a prankster would place it in one of the end stalls."

Outreach ministers visit Panama City

Among all the Florida-bound students who spent their Spring Break in Panama City, 40 students from Campus Outreach Ministry made a break for the beach.

After meeting at Montgomery Building, members left for Sportspark in P.C. After arriving in Panama City, they met to plan the weekend.

Outreach members had access to weight equipment, racquetball courts, a swimming pool, sauna, whirlpool and the beach. After meeting on Saturday morning with guest speaker Alan Love and being challenged to make Christ No. 1 in every area of their lives, members ate lunch and hit the beach for the afternoon.

A highlight of the evening was a praise and worship time on the beach. On Sunday, members had breakfast together and heard Weyman Prater, Campus Outreach director, explain to how to order their lives around the two most important things: knowing God and making Christ known.

Todd Gerald provided a motivational song on Sunday morning.

Students are invited to come to Campus Outreach, which will continue to meet the next three weeks of the semester at 8 p.m. Wednesdays in 101 Merrill Hall.

Eastside High's Joe Clark will address JSU audience

FROM STAFF REPORTS

In September 1981, the first day of class at Paterson, New Jersey's, Eastside High was marred by a stabbing. In 1982, things would be different. Educator and Principle Joe Clark would be the reason why.

The former Army drill instructor, who made the cover of Time Magazine for his controversial tactics as the Eastside principal, will speak at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Leone Cole Auditorium. The title of his speech is "From Disgrace to Amazing Grace." The address is free and open to the public.

Clark sees education as a mission. He worked while attending high school to help support his mother, brother and sisters. He then went on to be a straight-A candidate for his master's degree. Despite his achievements in education, Clark saw himself as a "No. 2" administrator, never at the helm of a school.

After two years of his leadership, the formerly raucous Eastside High was declared a model school by New Jersey's governor. Clark was named one the nation's 10 "Principals of Leadership" in 1986. Clark has also won national acclaim for his achievements in a Time Magazine cover story, a "60 Minutes" profile and appearances on "Nightline" and "Donahue." Former president Ronald Reagan named him a model educator.

The story of his accomplishments at Eastside High, as depicted in the Warner Brothers film "Lean on Me," starring Oscar nominee Morgan Freeman as Joe Clark, will be shown at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday in Montgomery Auditorium.

Clark's solution to those who would disrupt the learning process is a dose of tough discipline. Instead of offering sympathy, Clark holds high expectations for students, challenging them to develop habits for success and confronting them when they fail to reform.

In his first week at Eastside, Clark expelled 300 of the school's 3,300 students for fighting, vandalism, drug possession, profanity or abusing teachers.

"If there is no discipline, no learning can take place," he said. "Without discipline, there is anarchy. Good citizenship demands attention to responsibilities as well as rights."

Part of Clark's method was to instill pride in the school and pursuit of academic achievement. Each morning, Clark cited the school's achievers -- and vilified the offenders -- during broadcast announcements.

According to Clark, "Every day, pride in self and school must be reinforced. Every day the value of academics must be demonstrated."

Education and preparation help students avoid rape

By KELLY HELTON
Staff Writer

At 9 o'clock one day three years ago, Jane Doe was in the back room of her house when she heard a noise. Jane went to find out what her cat was into this time. A divorce and three years of counseling later, Jane recounted her story to me.

Instead of her cat, Jane found a neighborhood youth with a six-inch knife. The youth put the knife to her throat and brutally raped her. He was sentenced under the youthful offender split-sentencing act. He was given a sentence of three years, the first two and a half on probation, with the stipulation that if he violated his parole he would serve the full sentence. However, he did fail a drug test but was only made to serve two weekends in retribution.

According to the FBI Uniform Crime Report for 1987, one rape occurs every six minutes. On average, one violent crime is committed every 21 seconds. In 1987, the city of Anniston reported 26 rapes, and Gadsden reported 24.

According to David Nichols, director of public safety, there was one unofficial (unreported) rape at JSU this semester. But statistics show that for every rape reported, 10 go unreported. In addition, 95 percent of all rapists are acquainted with their victims.

Rape can happen to any woman at any time. Rape is commonly divided into two categories -- acquaintance rape, where the victim actually knows the rapist and forceful rape, when the victim does not know the attacker.

There are facts about rape that many people fail to realize. Most rapes are not spontaneous. Reports show that 70 percent of all rapes are planned. Rape is not a sexual crime, it is an act of power and control.

Most rapes do not occur in dark and remote areas. As Jane discovered, most rapes occur in a private residence. Rapists are not sexually deprived men. Most have a relationship with a significant other. Women do not fantasize about being raped. No one asks for or wants the violence or humiliation. Forced intimacy in a dating situation is also considered to be rape.

Many date rapes are caused from sex-role stereotypes which have the man in control. He has unclear or has poor communication within a relationship, and there is an element of learned violence.

Prevention is the best way to protect yourself. Always have good communication with your significant partner, friend or acquaintance to avoid mixed messages. Some of the characteristics of a potential rapist are hostility toward women, domineering personality, wrong idea about women and unrealistic views. If you encounter a person with any of these characteristics, be cautious and alert and if all possible find someone else to be with.

Although 95 percent of all campus rapes are date rapes, that does not mean a forceful rape cannot occur. Linda Shelton, a counselor at JSU, came from Western Illinois University. Western has a student body of close to 16,000 and in the space of one month last fall there were five attempted rapes. All were forceful.

If you cannot prevent an attack, try not to panic and remember your attacker. Remember any distinguishing characteristics such as age, race, physical description and any scars or tattoos. Anything will help the police identify him.

If you are raped, there are several things you should and should not do.

GET HELP--Call a friend or a resident hall staff member for support and call the University Police.

DO NOT BATHE, DOUCHE OR CHANGE CLOTHES--You could destroy evidence.

REPORT THE RAPE--even if you are not going to prosecute. The more rape goes unreported, the more it will occur.

GET COUNSELING--Understanding the rape will help in handling the fear, guilt, anger, confusion or embarrassment. The most common effects of rape are loss of trust, depression and sexual problems. Counseling can help you talk out the problems.

Remember rape is a crime of power and control. A rapist could be your boss, boyfriend, a family member, neighbor or someone you do not know. No matter what you do, wear or act, nothing gives anyone the right to sexually violate you. Being alert and informed is one of the best defenses against rape.

Willing to serve God

By ALBERT FORD

Yes, we are men and we have our limitations. People can always find excuses to do wrong. But how many will find a reason to do right?

God's word says that He is "perfect", and wants us to be perfect. Though there will be some hard knocks or tough situations, the Christian is always on the winning side.

When we overcome we win, and when we fall, we learn a valuable lesson that makes us winners for the next go round. Fact is, the gospel of Jesus Christ are our instructions on how to serve God. The scripture says that the "spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak". Therefore, when we increase our spirituality, we increase our willingness to serve God. As a Christian on this campus, we must continue to seek instructions from God through studying his word and prayer. One big hinderance of a lot of people to serve God is that they look at the Christian in a carnal way (a carnal mind is enmity, or seperation against God) That is, they look at things in a natural "thats life" way. Some students, for instance, may have terrible study habits. They may allow these bad habits to override their daily study of the word. Some may do too much talking and not enough listening. They may pray routine prayers, and not answer the "small still voice of God"(I King 19:12). Some may make it a practice to come to class late everyday. This again, may lead into your spiritual life and cause you to become slothful (slow) (Proverbs 19:15). "He is a rewarder of those who diligently seek him" (Hebrews 12:6). If you find your self in any such situation, you may want to consult the ultimate counselor and physician, "Jesus". Yes, Jesus is always the answer, regardless of the details of the problem. I believe God gave us a will that we may willfully or want to serve him. Many people say they want to live right , or "I can do better," but they leave out one important element ; Faith, "For he that cometh to God must believe that he is, " (Hebrews 11:6) Just as this scripture says, without faith it is truly impossible to please him. Hebrews 11:1 defines what faith is. You see, the instructions of God are always in depth. Once we are willing and do surrender all to God, by receiving Jesus, and obeying his word, we'll be moving on into the faith realm. Then we are "willing and obedient" to take that first toddling step as a young babe in Christ. Read Romans 10:9. God Bless JS-YOU.

Earth Day commemorated

By SHELIA BISHOP
and TERESA FORD

Twenty years ago, 10,000 schools, 2,000 colleges and universities and many communities across America participated in Earth Day. The U.S. Congress even adjourned so members could attend teach-ins in their home districts. More than 20 million people were estimated to have participated in environmental demonstrations that day.

This year marks the 20th anniversary of Earth Day, and this year's celebration is launching a global Decade of the Environment. This time around more than 100 million people on every continent are expected to participate in a world wide observance of man's impact on the environment. Locally, Jacksonville will be celebrating Earth Day 2-5 p.m. April 16 on the Quad.

The JSU chapter of the Alabama Conservancy is being organized to allow students and faculty as well as Jacksonville residents a forum to express their concerns about their concerns about their environment and provide a means for action to improve it. Some current projects include organizing a campus-wide recycling project, Adopt-A-Mile, developing research projects (surveys of public opinion and knowledge), and coordinating with letter writing campaigns to help get legislative bills passed. The Alabama Conservancy focuses on protecting and enhancing Alabama's natural resources. Some past campaigns include Alabama's Air and Water Pollution Control Acts, the establishment of two federal wilderness areas (Sipsey Wilderness and Cheaha Wilderness) and founding the state's oldest non-profit multi-material recycling center.

The present letter writing and telephone campaign is to get the Alabama Conservation and Recreation Land Acquisition Fund passed. This fund would allow the state of Alabama to purchase land, specifically Dauphin Island and Little River Canyon. Write or call your state representative to vote for House bills 6-75 and 6-76 and ask your state senators to vote for Senate bills 504 and 506. Every letter and phone call counts. Every response represents about 50 constituents in the minds of a politician. To call your legislator: Senate: 242-7800; House: 242-2600; Gov. Guy Hunt: 242-7100; or Lt. Gov. Jim Folsom, Jr.: 242-7900.

These land purchases would benefit all Alabamians instead of a few people if this land were to be developed.

It takes everyone working together to change attitudes, habits and misconceptions that are destroying the earth a little each day. The Alabama Conservancy's approach to dealing with not only the problems of pollution and conservation with legislation but also educating the public to better ways of using the resources available to it and encouraging everyone to participate in solving the problems of pollution.

Letter to the editor

Upset at policy

I am writing in regard to the changes in JSU's policy regarding the collection of tuition and fees. According to your article in the Nov. 30 issue of The Chanticleer, JSU will now be collecting 100 percent of tuition and fees at the time of registration. The reason for this policy change was to allow JSU to collect fees and deal with checks "bounced" to the University quickly. This reprisal is punishment to all JSU students when, in fact, only a small percentage are guilty of bouncing checks. It is in my opinion that the uncollected fees and tuition are due to the administration's incompetence for failing to kick-out the students who wrote bad checks, failing to turn them over to the District Attorney's Office, and failing to publish a list of the people who wrote the bad checks.

An alternative to this new policy would be to allow students who have not bounced checks to be able to continue with the 25 percent deposit and the remainder to be paid the following month, and make the ones who have written bad checks pay the full amount at the time of registration in cash.

If the reasoning for changing the policy had been to keep up with the other universities in Alabama it could have been easier to accept, however, the new policy not only punishes the bad check writers but every student that enrolls at JSU. Must all suffer because a few have wronged?

JSU says goodbye

By RODNEY PARKS
Sports Editor

Seven JSU seniors ended their career with the quarterfinal loss to North Dakota Saturday.

These seven have been the backbone for JSU, winning two straight Gulf South Conference titles, two straight South regional titles and making two consecutive trips to the Elite Eight in Springfield, Mass.

During these two seasons JSU has an impressive 51-9 record.

"These seven seniors have meant so much to our program," Coach Bill Jones said. "They have great work habits and are very coachable."

Three of these seniors have been with the JSU program for four years.

Henry Williams has been a four-year member of the Gamecocks. Williams started seven games in his freshman year and averaged 4.3 points a game.

Williams showed improvement in his second year at JSU, starting 23 of 28 games. Williams shot 56 percent from the field and upped his average to 9.4 ppg.

Williams started all 33 games during his junior season. This Centerville native shot 79 percent from the free-throw line and average 11.7.

Again this season Williams was able to start all 29 games for JSU, averaging 9.1 ppg. and 7.2 rebounds a game.

Robert Lee Sanders joined Jones' team midway through the 1986-87 season. Sanders quickly began his scoring career at JSU, starting 17 games his freshman year and averaging 11.9 ppg.

Sanders started 27 games in his second year as a Gamecock, upping his average to 16.4 ppg. and handing out 4.2 assists during the season.

In Sanders' junior year at JSU he started all 33 games during the season. Sanders made every all-tournament team he participated in with the exception of the "Elite Eight."

Sanders became JSU's all-time leading scorer, scoring 1,974 points in his career. Sanders finished his senior year averaging 22.7 ppg. while starting all 29 games.

The third four-year member of JSU is Randell Holmes. Holmes, from Birmingham, started nine games in his freshman season, averaging 4.4 ppg.

Holmes, the kind of player who was always ready to give 100 percent for Jones, played in 19 games both his second and third years at JSU, averaging 1.7 and 2.2 ppg. during those seasons.

Holmes was named a team co-captain during his senior year. Holmes played in 17 games and averaging 2.8 ppg.

"Randell is a great player because he's always there when you need him," Jones said. "He is a team player."

Charles Hale has been the most improved player this season. Last season Hale, a junior college transfer from Southern Union, started 13 games. Hale played in 33 games for JSU last season, averaging 10.2 ppg.

This season Hale has started all 29 games for JSU, raising his average to 15 points a game for the Gamecocks. Hale was a key performer for the Gamecocks this season because he could play inside but also move outside where he hit 31 3-pointers.

Another important two-year player for JSU was Cliff Dixon. Dixon has started every game he has played in since coming to JSU from Walker Junior College two seasons ago.

Foundation has ground breaking

By RUTH HUGHES
Campus Life Editor

The Wesley Foundation will hold ground-breaking ceremonies for its new location at 11:30 a.m. Friday, and campus minister Dale Clem said the new facility will be like a dream come true.

"The new site will give us a sense of permanence and place," Clem said in a telephone interview. "Often when an organization does not have a place that just belongs to it, it is not taken very seriously.

Once we have a permanent place, I think people will take us more seriously and we will be able to provide more of a ministry for our students."

The Wesley Foundation has for a number of years operated out of a small blue house behind McDonald's. Clem said it was hard to get 15 people in that house without being crowded. In the new building, the foundation will be able to have activities where more of its 150 active members can take part.

Clem is currently taking donations for the building fund. Faculty and alumni have offered to sponsor rooms and pledge money toward furniture or hymns. Clem said anyone is welcome to make a donation.

Hymns can be purchased in memory or honor of someone for $12. The foundation will accept donations of any size toward a room or a piece of furniture.

To offer a donation, contact Clem at the Wesley Foundation at 435-2208.

Alpha Omicron Pi received its charter March 24 in a ceremony attended by International AOPi President Barbara Hunt and AOPi members from across the state.

Hunt initiated members of the sorority and presented them with a charter.

Laura Culpepper, a chapter consultant from LaGrange, Ga., said she enjoyed being in Jacksonville to attend the ceremony.

"The girls were all very nice and helpful," Culpepper said. "The girls were all very excited about being initiated."

Around 50 members of the sorority were initiated.

On March 23, members participated in Inspiration Night, reflecting on the events of the last year.

The Initiation Ceremony was the next morning, and the Rose Banquet was that evening. At the banquet, members received gifts from different chapters of AOPis and AOPi alumnae groups.

AOPi members from the University of Alabama at Birmingham, Huntington College and Birmingham Southern were to participate in the event.

AOPi member Arlene Jenkins said she was excited to be a charter member of AOPi.

"I'm excited because we get to sign our own charter and start our own chapter," Jenkins said.

Jenkins said the chapter has been accepted very well by other sororities as well as the fraternities.

Glenda Rose is the chapter adviser and Terri Stewart is the president.

Sometimes you eat a lot of salt

By RUTH HUGHES
Campus Life Editor

Every now and then, something happens to remind me why I bothered to come to college in the first place.

Maybe I'll make an A on a test or get a compliment from an instructor. Maybe I'll meet a new friend or even (gasp) learn something every now and then.

Well, just a couple of weeks ago, something very nice did happen to me. I got a new job. Not just any job, but one that I had been interested in since I first came to JSU.

It is a job that is in the field I have chosen for a career. I've work in the field on two other occasions, but never have I had the influence or responsibility that I will have with this job.

Maybe it doesn't pay a whole lot, but it will pay my rent and I hope part of my tuition for next fall.

Also, the job will give me the opportunity to communicate to the students of JSU on a weekly basis. I'll be able to hear feedback on situations around campus. Sure, there will be plenty of gripes to hear, but perhaps some words of encouragement as well.

As, you can tell, I'm very pleased and honored I was chosen to the position.

It wasn't an easy job to get - there was tough competition - and it won't be an easy job to perform, but I hope to do it well.

But getting the job wasn't the only thing that reminded me of why I came to college.

You see, when I was a senior in high school, I didn't even want to go to college. Friends, family and teachers all said I was crazy. But, I had been involved in so much through the four years, all I wanted to do was get out and relax. I wanted to do something for me, like travel or just bum around for a while.

But, one night, I got into a really heated argument, okay a fight, with this friend of mine. He told me that it was probably better that I wasn't going to college because I probably couldn't handle it anyway.

So, I got a writing scholarship, and came to JSU.

Well last week, I received a little "vote of confidence" from another friend.

At first, I was hurt. Then I was upset. Now, I know it was just an omen of what the next year will probably be like.

I've been in journalism long enough to realize that the public is never really satisfied with what they get. And, a great deal of journalists are not very satisfied with their jobs. Sometimes they aren't real supportive either.

But, like anything else, you just take it with a grain of salt and try your best to prove to anybody and everybody that you are good.

It takes a long time to prove that you are good, so you eat a lot of salt a long the way. But it's always nice to get some encouragement or even some motivation.

Well, there's nothing like a good swift kick in the butt to get me motivated.

Thank you, Cyndi. I needed that.

ND ends JSU's title hopes

By RODNEY PARKS
Sports Editor

Springfield, Mass. - JSU Coach Bill Jones always uses red, white or blue towels for the different defenses he wants his Gamecocks to play. If the Gamecocks are having problems stopping their opponents Jones will simply change towels, and most of the time the problem is solved.

Saturday JSU started falling behind North Dakota in the quarterfinals of the NCAA playoffs, so Jones simply changed towels. This didn't help slow the North Dakota team, so Jones changed towel color again. This second color didn't help the Gamecocks either as North Dakota rolled to a 89-67 victory to end JSU's hopes for a national championship.

"We knew coming into the game we had to do two things," Jones said. "We had to control the tempo of the ball game, and one way that we had to do that was to rebound the basketball. The other way to do it was that we had to create turnovers from our press. We didn't do a very good job on either one of those, and I'll give North Dakota credit from keeping that from happening.

"Our inside guys had a tough time all night long with their (North Dakota) inside players," Jones said. "We did several defensive scenes to offset that, and every time that happened they had a player produce all night long."

The two teams played even for the first six minutes of the game. With the score tied at 11-11, North Dakota went on an 13-6 run to take a 24-17 lead with 9:29 left in the first half.

This run came after JSU's Cliff Dixon picked up his second foul and was taken out of the game.

"This has been a procedure we've used all year," Jones said. "I think if we have a strength it's depth on our team. We did have to bring Dixon back in during the first half because we needed his strength in the game because we just weren't getting very many rebounds."

North Dakota held the lead throughout the first half, building a 40-31 halftime lead.

JSU made a game of it at the beginning of the second half, scoring the first five points to pull within 40-36 at the 19:00 mark.

North Dakota then called a timeout, and just minutes later there was a television timeout. These two timeouts stopped JSU's run and started one for the Sioux.

Over the next five minutes North Dakota would bring JSU's season to an end with a 20-4 run to open a 60-40 lead with 13:47 left in the game.

After this point the Gamecocks could get no closer than 16 points as North Dakota moved on in the playoffs.

Seven Gamecocks ended their career at JSU with the loss. This was a tough way to end a great season for JSU.

"I told our players in this dressing room after the game that we came in as champions and we'll walk out of here the same way," Jones said. "I know it's hard to realize that right now. Hopefully over time we will."

North Dakota was led in scoring by Dave Vonesh with 23 points. North Dakota played very well in the game shooting 55 percent from the field and 83 percent from the freethrow line.

JSU ended the year with a 24-5 record.

Golf team continues improved play during spring

By RODNEY PARKS
Sports Editor

The JSU golf team is presently having a strong spring. Coach James Hobbs' team improved its spring record to 24-5, winning the North Alabama spring golf tournament in Florence with a two-day score of 588.

JSU raced to a 12-stroke lead at the end of the first day of the tournament. The Gamecocks were led by Gary Wigington's three-under-par 67. On the second day Wigington improved his score to a four-under-par 66.

"Gary played outstanding," Hobbs said. "Anytime you shot seven-under-par for two days I think it speaks of his work habits and his competitive nature."

Also playing well on the first day was Randy Reaves, who shot a par 70.

On the second day JSU held on to its lead as it finished the tournament with a total score of 588, six strokes in front of second-place

North Alabama.

Wigington won the overall tournament with a seven-under-par 133, 10 strokes ahead of his nearest opponent.

"Gary played very well the entire tournament," Hobbs said. "Randy Reaves, Jack Napier and Jeff Jordan all played well one of the days, but we're still not getting everyone playing well at the same time. So, I think you can tell by our scores if we ever get everyone playing well at the same time we have a chance to be very good."

Tennessee Tech finished third in the tournament with a two-day score of 608. Delta State also competed in the tournament and finished 11th with a score of 629.

Dixon shot 54 percent from the field in his junior season at JSU. Dixon averaged 13.7 ppg that season, second on the team.

This season Dixon has led the Gamecocks in rebounding at 7.9 and has been a big force scoring for the Gamecocks, averaging 12.0 ppg.

Wayne McGaughy is a player who has always had a backup role at JSU, but McGaughy has fit into that role well. McGaughy averaged 8.4 ppg. and 5.3 rebounds coming off the bench during his junior season.

This season McGaughy had another great year in a backup role, averaging 8.1 ppg and 4.4 rebounds.

"We feel McGaughy is a starter on our team," said Jones. "He always plays very hard on the floor."

Joey Masterson is another role player for JSU. Masterson, a crowd favorite, played in 21 games during his junior year at JSU, averaging 1.7 ppg. and 1.7 rebounds.

This season Masterson preformed in 17 games for JSU and averaged 2.3 ppg while playing good defense for the Gamecocks.

All seven of these players for JSU will be missed next season. All seven will be remembered for a long time by Gamecocks fans.

These players can be proud of all the records and titles they brought JSU during their years for the rest of their lives, but most of all these players have set a standard for the players who follow them, a standard of excellence both on the court and off.

RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS

THE MORE YOU USE YOUR HEAD, THE MORE MONEY YOU CAN GET FOR COLLEGE.

Enroll in Army ROTC as a college elective and serve part-time in the Army Reserve or National Guard, and you can get as much as $4000 a year for college. That includes your Guard or Reserve pay, the GI Bill and up to a $1000 grant each school year from ROTC.

Add it all up and you'll graduate with a college degree plus an Army Officer's commission. And all you have to do is use your head.
