Kappa Sigma dedicates new house for Homecoming

Phil Axtinager
Editor in Chief

There’s a new house on the block and just in time for Homecoming. Kappa Sigma fraternity and Zeta Tau Alpha sorority are gearing up for the housewarming this Saturday, when alumni and undergraduates will dedicate the new Kappa Sigma fraternity house at Carpenter Village. At present, five JSU Greek fraternities have houses on the new “fraternity row.” Kappa Alpha, Delta Chi and Sigma Phi Epsilon were the first to arrive back in the early 1990’s, and Alpha Tau Omega recently erected a house near the south end of Carpenter Village. The new Kappa Sigma house lies on the northeast corner of the village, closest to campus of any of the houses, and like every other house on the row, it faces it’s neighbors.

Why do the houses face one another? Perhaps the answer lies in a general attitude among the fraternal and sorority houses. With this year’s rush completed, and midterms over and done, the brothers of Kappa Sigma are ready to celebrate this milestone. The senators were charged to take the issue back to their faculty and student representatives for discussion and it will be reevaluated next month. A new alternative to change

Jacksonville State University is jumping into the new millennium with new technology. You may have seen the new vending machines with debit card slots around campus, or maybe you have seen the Cash-to-Card machines. Together they create an alternative way to pay for your in-between class snacks and drinks.

Here’s how it works. On the back of your I.D. cards there are two black stripes. The wide black stripe at the top is used for meal plans, at the library, and at ATM machines. Whenever you go to Stephenson, check out a library book, eat at the cafeteria, or go to a football game, this is the stripe that is used. The narrow stripe on the bottom of your I.D. card is the one used for the vending machines. It is called the Value Added Stripe. The vendors machines read it to see how much money, or value, is on it. When you buy a snack or a drink, the vending machine will subtract the amount from the Value Added Stripe.

However, to be able to use the system, you must have monetary value on your Value Added Stripe. To add value, you can see Cards page 3.

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sigma fraternity is joining in the Homecoming festivities this year by dedicating the new house at Carpenter Village as part of our Homecoming celebration.

We’re excited about the new house and would like to thank Jack Guyton and the other members of our house corporation and our alumni for helping fund the new house.

We’re really looking forward to celebrating homecoming in our new house with Zeta Tau Alpha. We’ll see you all this Saturday and don’t forget the party.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Congratulations to Lisa Braden and Amanda Laughlin for making the Homecoming Top Five. Good job girls! Congratulations, also, to Lisa Hunter for being appointed Panhellenic Public Relations Director.

We’re excited about celebrating homecoming with Kappa Sigma fraternity. We love you, guys.

If you would like to participate in a local Race-for-the-Cure to benefit the Susan B. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, please call Elizabeth Webb at 782-6197.

Today, on Oct. 15, Zeta Tau Alpha celebrates our Founders’ Day. One hundred years ago today, our nine founders formed our fraternity for women at Longwood College in Farmville, Va. Congratulations to all of our alumni, members and new members for keeping up such a strong tradition, a century of sisterhood and still going strong.

Awards for the week are: Strawberry Award, Lisa Hunter; Crown Award, Amy Broadway; Social Bunny, Valerie Beck; Zeta Lady: Amanda Whitherspoon; Cuddle Bunny, Shannon Borders.

“Happy Birthday” to Holli Blass, Kelly Finn, Amy Ginn, Sarah Ginn, Erin Henley and Kristie Wilkinson.

Good luck to the football team at Homecoming on Saturday.
Sex-offenders on-line

David Lee Mathews
Features Editor

You may have, in the past, received a flyer in your mailbox letting you know that a sex offender was either living in or had recently moved into a town near the one that you live. The reason behind this information was drawn up in the Alabama Community Notification Act.

This act provides for comprehensive community notification and periodic address verification of criminal sex offenders following their release into local communities. Now this Act, sponsored by Sen. William Armistead, has been amended allowing sex offender information to be published through “electronic means,” and to expand requirements for producing and distributing flyers giving the biographies of these offenders.

It is an Internet site located at http://www.gsaweb.net, and may be searched by county, name, city or zip code, and includes photographs, addresses, and descriptive physical and sex crime information. The information on this new site is composed directly from the Department of Public Safety’s Criminal Information Center database, which is released by the state prisons, county or city jails, courts etc., that release sex offenders into local communities.

“Ready access to information regarding the whereabouts of criminal sex offenders benefits police agencies and the public and helps preserve the safety of our communities,” said Col. L.N. Hagan, Department of Public Safety director. “The new Internet site helps accomplish this goal.”

The act also makes it a Class C felony offense (7 1/2 to 15 years punishable) for any criminal sex offender to violate any provision of the act.

No sex offender shall be allowed to reside or operate within 1,000 feet of the property on which any public school, private or parochial school, licensed daycare center, or any other child care facility is located. He or she shall not be allowed to establish a residence or any other living accommodation within 1,000 feet of the property on which any of his or her former victims, or the victims’ immediate family members reside. Nor shall he or she be allowed to reside where a minor resides, except as the act may permit.

A copy of the complete Community Notification Act is available on the new Internet site, http://www.gsaweb.net.

SGA yearns for student involvement

Emily Posty
Staff Writer

In the Leone Cole Auditorium, about fifty people—several familiar, others not—were preparing for the weekly senate meeting of the SGA. People milled around, discussing last night’s events and the like. Ryan Kruzinski, SGA president, spoke mostly of student apathy, saying that only a handful of students make an effort to attend the SGA meetings.

“I don’t know why they don’t,” he said. He also said that the upcoming food court is a product of the SGA. Kruzinski says all it takes is one student to come to the senate meetings and bring up a concern or idea.

One anonymous graduate student (you know who you are) said, “It’s been worse. (But) It’s on its way up.”

Gina Orlando, SGA first vice-president, called the meeting to order. Roll call followed, with only three members absent. Gina asked for the minutes of the previous meeting, and they were approved. Elizabeth Webb, SGA chaplain, read an inspiring quote and reminded everyone to encourage as well as thank students for attending SGA events.

Janay Johnson thanked the people who helped her hang up flyers and requested assistance for stuffing mailboxes.

Next, Don Killingsworth announced that Homecoming Tess-shirts are now on sale at the office of Student Activities on the 4th floor of the TMB. The white long-sleeve shirts will sell for $7 for a limited time.

Kellilyn Johnson thanked everyone who came out to Mom Nonnie last week, and she thanked the poll workers for the Homecoming elections.

She also mentioned the upcoming SGA-sponsored events: Today, J-Day on the quad from 2 to 6 p.m. promises to be lots of fun. The Homecoming Pep Rally and Bonfire is scheduled for tonight at 8:30 p.m. (it was originally planned to begin at 8 p.m.). Today is also the final day to vote for the Homecoming Queen. You may do so on the fourth floor of the TMB from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

On Monday, Oct. 19, at 3:30 p.m. in the Leone Cole Auditorium there will be a seminar called “Relationship Violence,” focusing on prevention and counseling.

The Rocky Horror Picture Show and costume contest will take place Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m. on the quad. Kellilyn also mentioned the Semisonic concert Oct. 24, and encouraged everyone to attend.

Kruzinski talked about the football game, how the Gamecocks were pit- ted against the number one team and how well they did. He also said that the SGA float in the Homecoming Parade would be Donnell’s truck.

“Come one, come all, ride in my truck,” echoed throughout the auditorium.

Ryan also thanked the senators that had “done a good job.” Lesley Bottoms, Camilia Douthard, Mike Harbison, Donnell Humes, DeLandia Hunter, Julie VanGelder, Elizabeth Webb, Dale Wilson, Irene Wong and Jimmy Whited. Yvonne Benavides introduced herself as the SGA Advisor.

Orlando announced that she needs volunteers for the Red Cross Blood Drive on Oct. 28 and 29, and congratulated the top five Homecoming finalists.

She then turned to the audience and asked if there was anything the student body would like to address. No one answered.

Turning to old business, the SGA passed several student bills, creating five Justices, a new recycling committee chairperson, and seven new elections committee members. A resolution passed, suggesting that handicapped parking be more accessible to the handicapped.

Student bills and resolutions differ in that a student bill goes into effect directly, also known as a “retroactive document,” but a resolution is a recommendation to administration. The SGA feels that it warrants attention of the administration, but they can not make it law themselves.

Gina announced the end of regular session and the beginning of committee groups, and reminded the senators of the Special Session afterwards. Everyone broke off into small groups to discuss and plan.

Rikesha Foster, sophomore, and SGA veteran mentioned how everyone seems to always have something else to do on Monday nights: “Lots of people talk about problems and complaints on campus, but aren’t willing to attend meetings.” Everyone is encouraged to attend the SGA senate meetings every Monday night at 6 p.m. in Leone Cole Auditorium.

Replacements are on the way for the only casualties of the storm, which were Owens' computers.

Owens did say that if “Superman” Keith Riley and his crack team of telephone technicians had not responded in the manner they had, the system would have been down even longer. Operations of the University could have come to a screeching halt. Fortunately, no phone lines had to be added or replaced, according to Owens.

According to Don Walter, of Academic Computing Services, it costs the university roughly $72 a month per trunk line (phone line) that runs off campus. Multiply that by the number of lines needed to handle Internet requests and phone calls, and that’s a lot of money each month.

Colors jumping off the walls

Amber Moody

Heather Allen’s textiles jump off the wall at you when you walk in the room. The displays were rugs for your walls or floors and quilts. They were made with bright colors such as pinks, purples, blues, greens and yellows. She chose the textile medium because she loves color and this was the best medium for her to express that.

Heather is currently living in Asheville, North Carolina and originally from New Hampshire. She has been doing this particular medium of art for eight years. Her undergraduate degree is from the University of New Hampshire in painting and sculpture. She received her master’s at the University of Massachusetts.

The rugs are woven on a loom with light color fabrics. Then the painted dye image is painted on the light color foreground. “My images are not out of construction, they come out of the surface design technique” she said. It takes one to two months to produce the art because of the many different steps. Heather works on more than one of these objects at a time.

“I asked Heather which piece was her favorite. “They all have different ideas behind them, so they fit certain interest,” she said. “I wouldn’t say there’s a favorite generally the last one you finish is your favorite.”

Heather has a book she wrote on how to do these textiles. She has been lecturing on the book and her next stop will be in Boston. The next big project will be to replicate existing textiles in the Biltmore House in Asheville, North Carolina. “The new room will be opened in the house. All of her works are titled with street addresses. Her creativity comes out with bright colors in large pieces, that tell a story through the images.”

Last October, the band released their debut album with eight songs. The compact disc was on a medium rotation throughout college radio stations. This helped to generate CD sales when the band performed live.

In a recent interview, the band said they plan on returning to the studio next week for a follow-up CD.

The band will undergo a few changes for the following year. However along with the new album the band also plans to change their name. There is only one founding member of the band still playing, Clay Connor. This is the reason for a name change.

Since only Connor is left they don’t feel it’s right to continue under the name “Coolbeans.” They have not released the new name they will carry. These guys have worked hard to bring themselves to a second studio recording, and are concentrating on that.

The new album will be recorded in Atlanta over the following month. Some of the new songs are “Falling Saints”, “Pallas, “21st Century” and “Leave it Alone” all written by Kurt Lanham. They plan on having guest artists playing keyboards and singing back-up for the album.

The band is very positive about their studio time. They seem to have more of a positive outlook on the whole take. They have progressed and this will help the CD more than anything. This band has never been more pumped about anything.

When asked about the upcoming CD Kurt said, “I’m looking forward to getting the songs out. I feel the CD is a much better representation of what the band style is.”

Clay Connor said, “This album expresses what our music is about and these new songs are truly us.”

Their music is in no particular bracket of classifications. If you like to groove a little and shake it down, then you’ll be pleased with this new album.

So support your hometown band when the CD comes out and look for them live here in town.

Among the chatter-filled costume shop with sandwich leftovers from whenever, great ideas are forming.

The story of “Salome” energizes the drama department. This play will be the first of what will hopefully become known as the “Black Box Season,” said director Freddy Clements. “Salome” will not be presented in the theater, but in room 338 which is a small studio theater. The audience will have a feeling of “almost” virtual reality, being seated on three sides of the performance area.

Clements said “Salome” will enable students to create a play without all of the pressures involved which sometimes “limits creativity.” The audience will be experimental; some will enjoy the production and others may not enjoy the realistic details, such as John the Baptist’s head (Fabio Pires) being presented on a platter for Salome (Devon Walker) after she performs the “dance of the seven veils.” Clements said some of the graphics are appropriate for the Halloween Season. John the Baptist’s head is being created now from a plaster cast of the entire head of Pires, said experienced “head-maker” John Dodson. Layers of latex will create an armor. When wet, the skin texture, then the head will be painted, and a wig added.

Q. I am working 2 jobs and taking a full load. How can I avoid the bug plague? Loaded schedule, sophomore

A. Try to manage your schedule so that you have enough time to study between your jobs.

Q. I believe someone is stalking me. I've received threatening phone calls and I feel like someone is following me. Somebody is watching me, junior

A. Report the incidents to the police department for emergency reasons.

Q. What happened to the night life in Jacksonville? Bleed out of my mind, junior

A. Jacksonville is small and there isn't much action around here. The police have to do something with their spare time besides patrolling. They are also hoping that the speed limit is only 35 mph in front of the campus, they will catch someone going over and give them a big, fat ticket.

Need More to Do

Homecoming week ‘98 is definitely turning out to be the most anticipated event of the year, thus far, for the students of JSU. The football team looks to be on their way to a winning season, the weather is looking very beautiful, and more students are participating in school activities.

I am going to cut to the chase. There has not been too much of anything for the student body to participate in.

Year after year, the extra curricular activities for the students seem to lessen with the semester. The SGA seems to be doing all that they can to keep the student body involved and interested in the happenings of the university. The fraternities and sororities are also being held responsible for entertaining the student body. There is only so much that the Greeks can produce for the students to do and in the same breath, there is only so much that the university will allow Greeks to do.

I am a member of a fraternity myself, so I am very much aware of the pressure put upon Greeks and other organizations to make JSU more exciting to attend.

The expression “the friendliest campus in the south” once made me smile, now it does everything but bring a smile to my face. After a student has been at JSU long enough, they begin to understand where the expression came from: there is simply nothing to do but make friends!

I am so tired of listening to people complaining about how students go home over the weekend, but how could you blame students for going home? The university does not give the students many options to choose from, especially when it comes to weekend activities.

Do you remember going to watch a movie on a Tuesday night at the TMB or playing a pickup game of baseball at Stephenson Hall on a Sunday afternoon?

Some of you may recall real parties being held at the TMB. Now, the students will be lucky to get a meal at the Roost.

What has happened to those kind of activities? Why does it seem like the more money in tuition we pay, the less activities are offered for students?

Come on now, the university doesn’t even keep Jack Hopper cafeteria open for regularly scheduled hours over the weekend. Does that mean that we as students don’t eat over the weekend?

The university also seems to be getting a little harsh on the student body. If it isn’t bad enough that we are very limited on what we can do on campus, especially when the UPD are given tickets for breathing too hard in cold weather (exaggeration) and some dorm directors are not allowing guests to visit with residents outside on the dormitory steps.

I find that to be simply outrageous! All of the blame should not be given to the student organizations or SGA for the obvious lack of activities for the students of JSU. Take a look at the city as a whole.

Don’t get me wrong, I feel like Jacksonville is a nice, little, peaceful town in which people should not realistically fear for their lives or safety. The community is simply too dry for college life. There are not enough places to eat-out here in Jacksonville.

Let me rephrase that statement: “There is no where to eat-out here in Jacksonville.”

The only time in which I can honestly say that I am happy to be in Jacksonville is on Thursday night. Of course, Thursday night is known to many as party night, but realistically Thursday hits people on campus like a Friday. The student body tends to be a little more excited to be at school when they have something enjoyable to look forward to.

Something definitely has to change with the university and the student involvement to keep students enrolling in school and to also keep the students that are presently enrolled at Jacksonville State University.
Dear Editor,

I am writing in response to the article published in last week’s Chanticleer about the woman that was raped and sodomized. As a woman and student on this University I feel complete compassion for this woman. As far as UPD’s remarks are concerned, it is a total cop-out. There are lots of things that UPD can do to ensure the safety of everyone on this campus.

Whether this happened to one woman, twenty, or none is not the issue. Why is UPD not making any effort to make sure that this does not happen at all? What does “gang-relation” have to do with any rape? This woman has been very brave in even reporting this and then to have UPD say that “they aren’t going to have an increased police response on campus because of this incident.” This incident did not happen at “anytime” and not at “anyplace.” It occurred on the “Friendliest Campus in the South.”

With this kind of attitude how can anyone feel safe on this campus?

Thank you for your time,
Kari Widup, Criminal Justice Major

Dear Editor,

The Higher Education Partnership and the supporters of Alabama’s 15 public universities are concerned by the information that is being advertised about the scholarship proposals. While neither candidate for governor is actually generating new money to help increase the capacity of the universities to serve the students who receive of the scholarships, the plan proposed by Lieutenant governor Don Siegelman does have a means for generating the money to pay for the scholarships.

On the other hand, the plan proposed by Governor Fob James uses money that will definitely be needed in other areas of Alabama education (K-12, post-secondary and university levels). The Governor’s plan has no means for generating new money. It is another version of an old plan.

Furthermore, between Monday, Oct. 5, the the plan was first announced, and Wednesday, Oct. 7, when the revised plan surfaced, the eligibility requirements changed and the cost factors increased significantly.

We are very concerned with a scholarship plan proposing to reduce the pool of dollars available for meeting the essential educational needs of the state. Alabamians need to explore the issues that are being offered and make sure that the campaign proposals are potentially beneficial and not just proposals to get votes.

Gordon Stone,
Executive Director of the Higher Education Partnership
Today's Birthday

Oct. 15. You're learning to take care of others this year. It's difficult at first, but good for you—and them. You'll get an assignment in October that you can carry out by December. A lucky break makes January easy. A loved one provides security in a strange sort of way in February, and your good deeds affect more than you realize in March. Stick to a budget in May, so you can make an even greater impact. By next September, your efforts should be in view.

To get the advantage, check the day's rating:
10 is the easiest day, 1 the most challenging.

Aries (March 21-April 19) — Today is a 6 — The moon's in Virgo, helping you focus on the little stuff by making it even more important than usual. Aries may be the sign of the warrior, but remember that part has basic training where they make you fold your underwear into a precise four-inch square. That's the kind of stuff you'll do today. Might as well do it on purpose.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Today is a 6 — You and your sweetheart have kids to talk about, and many plans for the future to be made. Some of those ideas look impossible right now, but don't let that stop you. When you two get motivated and work together, anything is possible. It might take a little longer, but that's OK. You've got the whole rest of your lives.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) — Today is a 5 — It's possible that your house could stand a little tidying up. You want to go play with your friends, and you'll find time to do a little of that, but don't waste the whole day on social activities. It's kind of important that you take care of your domestic chores, too. You'll see why this weekend.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) — Today is a 7 — A little more education is required before you reach what you're after. The process is like a ladder, with each rung another skill you've acquired. Today you get to go on a scavenger hunt for more of the above. Be aggressive about it. Don't wait for it to come to you.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Today is a 6 — Money is coming in today, possibly as a reward for your previous brilliance. Some of it has been generated by work you've done, and some could be a gift. You don't have to just sit there and wait for it to happen. You could remind people of money they owe you, too. That's not cheating.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Today is a 6 — You're so strong and decisive today you might surprise people who thought you were a pushover. You try to take care of others, even if it means going without something you wanted. That's being a nice guy, but some see it as weakness. Well, they're critical today, because today you're going after what you want.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Today is a 6 — You promised you'd do lunch, remember? The person you said that to is still waiting. He or she has left the brown bag with the sandwich in it at home for several weeks now, waiting for your call, and is now wondering if you really care. Since you do, call.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Today is a 6 — You may be feeling under pressure, but friends can help. Don't try to do everything by yourself. Sometimes you think you should, because you can do it best. In this case, it's ridiculous, however. You'd just get all stressed out, and the job might not get done anyway. Best to get a team on board.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Today is a 5 — You may feel compelled to tell your boss exactly what you think. Well, maybe you should. If you have a good idea about how to make the business prosper, definitely get it out. If you present solutions instead of complaining about problems, your behavior could earn you a promotion, instead of getting you fired. Go for it.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Today is a 6 — If you're looking for love, try looking at your local college campus. It's also an excellent day to sign up for a class. Love and higher education are linked, and it looks like it could be fun. Structure is required, of course, but that's not a problem. Structure is your middle name.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Today is a 5 — You should be planning for your future. No one else is going to do it for you—no matter what they say. If you trust them with your life, what happens if they can't follow through? They might have the best intentions, but you're left stranded. It doesn't hurt to have your own stash of cash. Continue working on that.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) — Today is a 5 — You generally like to handle tough jobs by yourself, but today, let somebody else do the part you find most tedious. If you pick the right person, they'll see it as a blessing. Just because a job is hard for you doesn't mean it's hard for everyone. For some people, it's like a vacation. That's the one you want to find, obviously.

Upset bid falls short

If football were only played for a half, then the Gamecocks would be celebrating their biggest win of the season against the McNeese State Cowboys. However, football games are played for four quarters and the Cowboys proved why they are the number one team in Division I-AA. They defeated JSU by the final of 30-14.

"We lost to a great football team. We played hard the whole ballgame, but we missed on some opportunities," said Coach Mike Williams. "You can't do that against the number one team in the nation."

The Gamecocks' upset bid began late in the first quarter. Starting at the McNeese State 42 yard line, quarterback Montressa Kirby led the team on a seven play drive that resulted in a touchdown. Kirby accounted for 32 of those yards, including a one-yard touchdown scamper. The point-after attempt was blocked, but the Gamecocks held a 6-0 lead at the end of the quarter.

Early in the second quarter, JSU used a bit of trickery to get themselves on the scoreboard again.

Running back Tywone Dyson played the halfback option to perfection by completing a 37-yard pass to Joey Hamilton for the score. Kirby then hit Ronald Bonner for the two-point conversion to extend the lead to 14-0.

That would be the last time the Gamecocks would score. McNeese State woke up and scored a touchdown later in the quarter. Cowboy quarterback Blake Prejean hit receiver Keffian Smith on a 40-yard bullet that gave McNeese the ball at the one yard line. On the next play, running back Jessie Burton bulldozed his way in for six. The extra point cut the lead in half 14-7.

After a missed field goal by the Gamecocks early in the third quarter, the Cowboys tied the game on an 80-yard drive. Prejean passed for 68 yards on the drive, including a six-yard strike to Pat Matthews for the touchdown. The point-after knotted the score at 14.

On their next offensive possession, disaster struck the Gamecocks again. This time Kirby was intercepted by Ronnie McZeal. McZeal rumbled 39 yards for the touchdown to give the Cowboys the lead and the momentum, 20-14. The extra point was wide, keeping the lead at six after three quarters of play.

The Cowboys really took charge in the fourth quarter. On their first possession in the fourth, Shonz LaFrenz hit a field goal from 23 yards out to give McNeese a 23-14 advantage. After a Gamecock drive stalled, the Cowboys lit up the scoreboard again. This time Prejean hit Smith again for a 73-yard bomb for the touchdown. The extra point was good, giving the Cowboys the win 30-14.

This was the first loss in Southland play for the Gamecocks. They return home to the friendly confines of Paul Snow Stadium on Homecoming this Saturday at 2 p.m. "We're glad to be back home. We're excited about Homecoming. But, we've got to get ourselves refocused and put this one behind us," Williams says.

1998 Southland Football League Standings

Jacksonville State's loss to McNeese State dropped them down in the SFL standings this week. Despite having the 13th toughest schedule in Division I-AA, the Gamecocks are still 4-2 overall and have four of their final five games at home. If JSU can win the rest of these games, they have a legitimate shot at the Division I-AA playoffs!

Lady Gamecocks on torrid pace

Shannon Fagan
Acting Sports Editor

The Lady Gamecock volleyball team has been on a torrid pace. They have won six straight and have improved their record to 11-10 on the season. Here is a look at the action.

Jacksonville State 15 15 15
Troy State 10 13 3

Last Tuesday, the Lady Gamecocks traveled to face the Lady Trojans of Troy State. Lisa May and Amy Reaves led JSU in kills with 13 each. Leading the way in digs for the Lady Gamecocks were Kelby Rumph and Jenni Williamson. Rumph came away with 12 in the match while Beers wasn't far behind with 10.

Jacksonville State 13 15 15 15
Samford 15 13 9 6

The Lady Gamecocks returned home on Thursday to host the Samford Bulldogs. Despite having four players in double-figures in digs, the Lady Bulldogs were taken to an extra game in which the Lady Gamecocks won.

Samford's Emily Sharp led both teams in digs with 17. Mary Willett had 13. Stacey Owens managed 12 and Whitney Miller came away with 11.

For the Lady Gamecocks, Heather Beers had a whopping 15 digs. She was followed by teammates Lisa May with 11 digs and Jenni Williamson with nine. May was also the team leader in kills with 13. Latearice Thomas wasn't far behind, coming away with 11 kills.

Appalachian State had a duo of players in double-figures in kills and digs. Devon Greene led both teams in kills with 14. Paula Levay wasn't far behind with 13. Stephanie Young had 14 digs in the match to lead both squads.

Jacksonville State swings backs into action tonight against Centenary.

JSU comes from behind to defeat Belmont, 4-3

Erik Green
Sports Writer

The Lady Gamecock soccer team defeated Belmont University in front of a home crowd last Thursday by the score of 4-3. Canadian bombers Andrea Poole and Celidh Beck each had a goal on the day while a pair of our fellow Americans, Amy Buchanan and Meghan Barker combined for two goals.

JSU goalkeeper Adrianna Finelli had four saves, allowing Belmont to score only three times.

The Lady Gamecocks begin a short road tour beginning on October 16th at Samford followed by a visit to Troy State to play the Lady Trojans on October 18th. After the brief road stint the Lady Gamecocks will return home to host the JSU tournament. The tournament will take place on Saturday the 24th and Sunday the 25th. Some teams participating in the tournament include Tennessee Martin, Northwestern State University, and Troy State.

Endangered Beauty

Adam Smith
News Editor

They're graceful, beautiful, and some of them weigh 3500 pounds. No, they're not obese ballerinas, they're Manatees.

The Anniston Museum of Natural History is offering an exhibit called "Mysterious Manatees," which will be available to the public until Nov. 8. In this exhibit, onlookers can view the powerful and captivating photos by Karen Glaser, who is with the department of photography at Columbia University in Chicago. According to an artist statement by Glaser, "My initial attraction to manatees was visual. I love the magnification and the exaggeration of form created by looking through water. Seeing a rotund manatee swim past me is like watching a zeppelin float by or a balloon from Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade."

Glaser's photos concentrate on the protected manatees of the Crystal River. The 15 photos show the manatees various activities including floating to the surface for air, nuzzling relatives, and sunbathing. The grainy black and white photos are simple, yet majestic—peaceful, yet powerful. The exhibit gives the people who visit the museum a chance to see how beautiful these creatures live in the wild. Unfortunately, people also get a chance to see one of the manatee's biggest threats—man.

"Mysterious Manatees is an exhibit that is traveled by sight which is an organization of the Smithsonian. They're goal is to organize the exhibit and travel them throughout the country," says Susan Robertson, who is marketing manager at the museum. The exhibit is now currently on display in what is known as the changing exhibit gallery.

"The changing gallery at this museum is designed to receive those types of exhibits," says Robertson. What we try to do at the Anniston Museum of Natural History with our gallery, is to bring shows to this area for our community and our surrounding communities that they would have to travel great distances to see otherwise."

The show consists of 15 black and white photographs by Karen Glaser, who is also a freelance photographer in Chicago. The exhibit also offers a video screening that allows visitors to see the beauty of the manatees in movement.

Overall, the exhibit is very informative and offers an in-depth look at the manatee, their habitats, and the way they live. Unfortunately, the exhibit also tells a painful truth about the fatality of manatees. One of the parts of the manatee exhibit is a cubic in which lies a fishing net, propeller, fish hooks and other debris that aid in the fatality of the manatees. According to a chart issued by the Florida Marine Research, approximately 203 manatees died in 1995. This however is a drop from the 1990 figure of 214 deaths.

According to the exhibit, scientists have broken down the causes of manatee deaths into six different categories. Some causes of death include water craft collisions, floodgate or canal lock, in which manatees are crushed or drowned in closing floodgates.

Other causes of death include monofilament line and poaching or vandalism. However, according to a report on the cause of death of manatees, 27 percent of all manatee deaths are from undetermined causes. The life span of most manatees can reach sixty years. Unfortunately, 26 percent of all manatee deaths are caused by water craft collisions.

People interested in attending the manatee exhibit have an opportunity to do so until Nov. 8. The price of admission includes the manatee exhibit. The museum hours are from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

For more information on the manatee exhibit or the museum, contact the museum at 237-6766.
