A little about Anthony
Hi, I am the creator of Filbert Cartoons, I like to draw cartoons! My other interests include architecture, traveling, storytelling and stand up comedy! I was going to try to make this "about me" funny, but all my ideas seemed stupid. But if you want to see more comics visit my page at filbertcartoons.com

Chicken Scratch
We live in a world where someone can see you at a football game, not talk to you and then like your post about being at the game.
Folks are going to blow through their whole refund check, and then be left munching on carpet for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

When your GPA needs Life Alert a few weeks in to the semester because it’s already fallen and can’t get up.

I haven’t checked my bank account in a couple weeks, but my bank hasn’t called and my card hasn’t been declined, so I’ll pretend that everything is OK.

When you’ve gone for three days and your cats thinks you’ve abandoned them for good.
Let’s get a big bucket of bouncy balls and drop them from the top of the library.

I enjoy being single. I don’t understand why girls freak out about not being married with a child by 25.

I turned 21 a few months ago, and I would be lying if I said I don’t like to go out and have fun with friends while I drink. The other night, I went to a party with my best friend and we both got drunk. We were planning on staying the night at the house we were at, but my friend got into a huge fight with the person that owns the house. My friend got her keys and convinced me she was okay to drive us home, but I knew she probably wasn’t. I didn’t want to upset her more than she already was, so I asked someone to distract her and I hid her keys. She looked and looked and when she couldn’t find them, she called another friend to pick us up. How could I handle that situation better if it were to happen again? I don’t want to be manipulative, but I also REFUSE to get in a car with someone that has been drinking.

Sincerely,
Drinking Chaos

Dear Drinking Chaos,
You made the right choice in not letting your friend drive. There is a reason that driving under the influence is illegal. You are not only a danger to yourself and those in the car, but also to those in other cars, as well as people walking beside the road.
For next time, I suggest you make ground rules before you even leave to go to these parties. Who will be the DD? If you both drink, are you sure you will be staying at the place in which you are drinking? There should be no exceptions to these rules. It also wouldn’t be a bad idea to host a few parties at your place to cut down on the chances of running into drunk drivers.

Yours truly,
Chanty

MyDirectives, a new iPhone app helps with college students’ safety

By Christina MacDonald

As college students head back to school, technology now allows students the ability to protect their voices in their own healthcare, all through an iPhone app and website that allows users to capture their thoughts regarding the care they would want to receive in the event of an accident where they are unable to speak for themselves.

The app also allows users to identify the people who they want to speak for them in such a situation.

For students, MyDirectives MOBILE means they can engage in advanced care planning—transforming the way people talk about and plan for an emergency at a time of crisis.

Chris Brown denied international visa due to past criminal record

Chris Brown, the famous hip-hop artist, has also known for something else...domestic violence.

It’s been a while since the fiancé between Rihanna and Chris Brown took part, but consequences don’t always come in the place, but consequences don’t always come in the form of a lump sum.

Brown’s refusal, commenting in a tweet that he is unlike everyone. Showing the mistakes should be a mistake for entry.

The United Kingdom also denied entry in 2010 due to his past criminal record. Brown said, “My life is trying something new and exciting, yet it holds a pleasant familiarity and comfort that way.”

Beyond the psychological draws to the beverage. Long explains that the physical sensations the drink induces also play a role.

She says that “as you grow older, you lose a lot of your sense of smell, but spices like cinnamon, which is a key ingredient in pumpkin spice, [is] so poise that it [continue]s to cut through,” no matter how old you are.

While this beverage has only grown in popularity over the 12 years it’s been around, there are still some haters, including Hillary Clinton, who has received some negative attention for her unsupportive outlook on the nation’s hottest novelty drink.

But outlooks like hers are no match for the number of people who are able to recognize beauty when they see it.

And whatever the case for its popularity, this fall it’s time to leave your personal shame behind and hop on board the American coffee bandwagon to order your own cup of soul-touching, caffeinated glory.

JSU Jazz Ensemble Concert: A student’s concert review

Whatever music you listen to, JSU’s Jazz Ensemble is an experience in and of itself.

Tuesday night at the Mason Hall Performance Center, the JSU jazz ensemble treated guests to an evening of smooth jazz music. The event was open and free to the public. The performance was directed by Dr. Andy Nevala, Director of Jazz Studies. The ensemble started slow and smooth with the piano and trumpets. They quickly picked up tempo and started jamming with the saxophone.

Google announces its newest Nexus phones

It is that time again. The time to wake up early for class, and the time to stay up late studying to be prepared for more class. Projects are being made, papers are being written, and we’re all constantly checking Blackboard to see if grades have been posted. As if it wasn’t enough already, there are now two more devices that need to be a part of our lives. How are we going to make it through? In my time at Jacksonville State University, I have found that there are two things that are completely necessary in order to survive each semester. Those things are time management and balance. Time management skills are crucial if we want to be successful, not only in academia, but also in other aspects of our lives. Being able to block out time for everything that needs to be done can make life a little simpler. It has certainly worked for me. I work two jobs, have a boyfriend, and also a Marching Southerner. Needless to say, I try to keep busy. At the start of every week, I come up with the plan that I want to do for the week. I know my work schedule and what I have to do that week. I know that two to three hours of every day will be spent on school. I know how much time I am going to spend in class, and based on the assignments I given the tests I have, I decide how much time I need to get my studies taken care of. Whenever I get the chance, I try to get ahead because even though it seems like more work at the time, it really helps to relieve stress later. That is why I always go according to plan, it is nice to try and have an idea of when you can get everything that you need to done. If things go according to plan, then the organization of time management will really make things seem a bit easier. Once academics, athletics and other university obligations are taken care of, it is also important to try and participate in social events. Support all areas of the athletic department. Go to a football game, or volleyball, or soccer game. Go to as many games as possible, and support our fellow Gamecocks. Support the music department. Go to Mass Hall and listen to talented musicians play great music in a club or two. Go to the university wide activities. Academics are important, but it is just as important to be involved. Being involved is what helps us succeed in all parts of college. Keep this in mind in midterms approach and as we all grow more and more tired, the weekends seem to grow shorter.

Remember to find the balance between hard work and the enjoyment of social activities. Time management helps lead to personal success with academics, work and athletics. The balance between those things and having the university is what helps you enjoy all of it. It makes the early mornings not seem so early and the approaching weekends not so far away. Having good time management really helps keep the stress of college life far more bearable and actually enjoyable.

Hubbard has made political history, faces new charges

Kevin Spahn
Political Columnist

In 2010, State Rep- resentative Mike Hub- bard helped to make Alabama history. While the state had reliably voted Republican for genera- tions when it came to the presidency, the transition was a slow one elsewhere. Both of the state’s Senate seats fell to Republicans in the 1990s as did most of the state’s Con- gressional Districts. With the defeat of Democratic Governor- nor Don Siegelman in 2002, Alabama’s wide officials began to fall into line as well. State Democrats stubbornly made their last stand at Alabama State House where they had not been the majority since Reconstruction. Representa- tive Hubbard had made his goal to change this. In anticipation of the 2010 elections, Hubbard raised mil- lions for his party, and with those cycles Tea Party wave Hubbard had his brand in the Woods, liberated Alaba- ma from 136 years of Democratic rule. As a reward for his efforts, Hubbard gained the honor of being the new Speaker of the House. In his status as a state’s representative, Hubbard had a personal goal and was an indistinguishable of 23 felony charges. The charges ranged from using his previ- ous office as Chair- man of the Alabama Republican Party for personal use, his status as a state’s representative for personal gain and us- ing state equipment for personal use. If the charges stick, Hubbard may not be on the job for more than 20 years in prison. Hubbard announced his resignation at the time of his indictment, and is now a Marching Southerner.

Just four years into his tenure, Hub- bard gained the more dubious honor of be- ing the first modern Speaker of the House. Hubbard hit the ground running to get everything done. No. 8 JSU Rifle comes out shooting

JACKSONVILLE – The nationally-ranked Jackson State rifle team opened the 2015-16 schedule over the weekend, competing at the Memphis Invitational and the Ole Miss Invitational. The Gamecocks, ranked eighth in the first poll of the season, collected an aggregate score of 4630 on Friday at Memphis and bolstered the opening weekend of the season with a 4642 mark in Oxford, Mississippi. JSU placed third in the Memphis event behind Texas Christian University and Murray State. JSU's mark at Ole Miss placed them fourth in the team standings.

Senior Samantha Bullard led the Gamecocks in both smallbore and air rifle at Memphis. Bullard accumulated a mark of 582 in smallbore and 594 in air rifle. Junior Brandon Muske had the second-best aggregate score at Memphis with an 1155 after marks of 569 in smallbore and 586 in air rifle. On Sunday at Ole Miss, Bullard paced the Gamecocks with the club's top mark with a 586 in the smallbore portion of the match and turned in a 599 in air rifle. Freshman Trace Haynes contributed to the overall team score after tallying an 1154. Haynes, from Hazlehurst, Georgia, carded a 579 in air rifle and 574 in smallbore. Cock added scores of 579 in air rifle and 571 in smallbore to add to the team total. Muske registered JSU's best mark in air rifle with a 590. The Gamecocks will host OVC foe UT Martin Peay on Saturday, Oct. 24 and then travel to play Austin Peay on Oct. 24. They will return home on Halloween for homecoming to face Eastern Kentucky.

The JSU volleyball team finally made it home where they swept Jackson State. After a few losses, the Gamecocks return to the newly renovated Pete Matthews Coliseum proved to be just what they needed. The Gamecocks win 25-15.

Jennifer Hart helped the Gamecocks lead for the entire set. Mikaela Rolle broke the streak and gave Jackson State their 100th point. Afterwards, both teams would score five more times and close the middle set with JSU collecting the victory 25-15. Set number three saw a change of pace as the Tigers scored first. They maintained a steady pace of scoring and were even ahead of the Gamecocks throughout the set. The teams tied at 18 then JSU went on a three-point run to go ahead 21-19. Despite the Tigers’ best efforts, the Gamecocks scored four more times to Jackson State’s one and walked away with the win. The Gamecocks held the Tigers to a 144 attack percentage on the night. JSU hit .423 in the first set alone and kept Jackson State low in all three sets with their lowest at .029 in the second. It was quite a night for Rutherford who had doubles in both kills and digs with ten of each. However, it was Zuhlke who led both teams in kills with 15, while Ludtke came behind her with 13. Jennifer Hart was true to form with a game high 38 assists, she was helped by Hannah Kirk who had three of her own. Hart also had ten digs on defense.

The Gamecocks played Tennessee Martin at home on Sunday where they collected their first home conference victory with another sweep. The Skyhawks only made it to 20 points once during the three sets. The Gamecocks held their opponent to a .165 total attack percentage while hitting .351.

Mcackenzie Romash is seen getting ready to serve for the Gamecocks. It was another good night for Ludtke, who led the teams in kills with 14. Rutherford again had doubles in kills and digs with 10 and 11, respectively. Hart had 30 assists and Kirk had eight. The finals for the sweep were 25-20, 25-13 and 25-18. The Gamecocks move to 11-11 overall and 2-2 in OVC play. They swept Alabama A&M for their third-straight sweep on Oct. 6. They will return to OVC play on Oct. 9 against Tennessee State.
