ORAL HISTORY PROPOSAL

Due to the illness of my uncle, Gene Smith, I had to delay my interview and then finally choose another subject. I selected my father, Bobby Noah, since he is important to me and I feel that his opinions express and mirror those of many southern males. Rather than a specific period of history, I questioned him concerning his teenage and young adult years and asked his opinions on subjects such as the Vietnam war, racial issues and prejudice, politics, crime and his idea of a perfect world. The date of the interview was March 19, 1996.
