APRIL
Mrs. W. wrote a letter to her mother and sister, who were living in New York, and asked them to come to Jacksonville for a visit, so as to have a chance to see her and her family. They arrived in town on Saturday, and Mrs. W. was thrilled with joy to see them again. Her mother and sister had brought gifts, and they spent most of the day together, enjoying each other's company and catching up on the news.

Mr. W. went with his mother and sister to meet them at the station, and they all went to the hotel for lunch. Mrs. W. was especially pleased to see her older brother, who had been a minister in the city for many years. He was still in good health, and although he was now retired, he was still active in the church and community.

That evening, Mrs. W. took her mother and sister to a dinner party at the home of a prominent citizen. The guests included several prominent lawyers, judges, and politicians, as well as some well-known writers and artists. Mrs. W. was amazed at the opulence of the house and the elegance of the people, and she enjoyed the conversation and the food.

On Sunday, Mrs. W. took her mother and sister to church, where they attended the morning service. Mrs. W. was impressed by the beauty of the church and the quality of the music, and she enjoyed the sermon, which was delivered by a well-known Baptist minister. After church, Mrs. W. took her mother and sister to lunch at a fine restaurant, and they spent the afternoon visiting some of the city's attractions.

On Monday, Mrs. W. took her mother and sister to a dinner party at the home of a prominent citizen, where they met several other people who were interested in art and culture. Mrs. W. was impressed by the quality of the artwork on display and the discussions that took place.

On Tuesday, Mrs. W. took her mother and sister to the zoo, where they saw a variety of animals, including elephants, giraffes, and tigers. Mrs. W. was especially impressed by the beauty of the animals and the care they were given.

On Wednesday, Mrs. W. took her mother and sister to the museum, where they saw several exhibits of art and historical artifacts. Mrs. W. was particularly impressed by the collection of Native American artifacts, and she enjoyed the stories that accompanied the exhibits.

On Thursday, Mrs. W. took her mother and sister to lunch at a fine restaurant, where they enjoyed a delicious meal and a stimulating conversation.

On Friday, Mrs. W. took her mother and sister to the opera, where they saw a production of Verdi's La Traviata. Mrs. W. was amazed by the beauty of the performance and the quality of the singing.
