FLORIDA NEWS.
The St. Augustine Herald, 5th inst.

On Sunday, 10th inst., the inhabitants of New Orleans,湖北 W. L. N. himself, were met by a deputation of citizens, who had been detained by a mob of Mr. L. and another midshipman, both of whom were captured by the British. The mob had been brought into town on the 8th inst., a man supposed to be an Indian, was found sleeping in the house of Mr. L., and was removed to the town of New Orleans. The British are said to have received the deputation with great courtesy.

THE CAPTIVE'S SONG.

The music filled with which we have been throughout the war, has gradually passed away, and now the period of rest and peace is drawing near. The troops are returning, and the homes are being restored. The days of conflict and struggle are over, and the time of peace and prosperity has arrived.

In the midst of this happy change, the captive's song rings out, full of hope and joy. It is a song of victory, of triumph, and of reconciliation. The captive's song is a reminder of the sacrifices made, and a testament to the strength and resilience of the human spirit.

The captive's song is a symbol of our freedom, and a reminder of the代价 we have paid for it. It is a song of praise, and a call to gratitude. The captive's song is a message of peace, and a promise of better days to come.

The captive's song is a melody of hope, and a testament to the power of the human soul. It is a song of joy, and a celebration of the triumph of the human spirit over adversity.

The captive's song is a symbol of our courage, and a reminder of the strength we have within. It is a song of victory, and a call to remember the sacrifices made.

The captive's song is a call to action, and a reminder of the responsibilities we have to each other. It is a song of hope, and a promise of a brighter future.

The captive's song is a melody of peace, and a testament to the power of reconciliation. It is a song of joy, and a celebration of the triumph of the human spirit over adversity.

vital importance in your life, as it is the source of all your happiness. But, though by others it is thought, like the sun, to have a kind of self-responsibility, and to live as it were by its own light, still it is the duty of all men to feel that they are the stewards of nature, and to live in such a manner that they may be true to the trust committed to them.

From the President's Address.

The Church and the Nation.

There is no richer field of life which we could better cultivate than the happiness of the lives of all our fellow citizens. The Church is the mother of our society, and its influence is felt in every walk of life. It is the duty of all men to feel that they are the stewards of nature, and to live in such a manner that they may be true to the trust committed to them.
