CANDIDATES.

Election.

[Article discussing election, likely including political figures and their qualifications and positions.]

STATE OF THE BANK.

[Article discussing the state of the Bank of the State of Alabama, possibly including financial health, operations, and regulations.]
TO THE VOTERS OF BENSON COUNTY.

I do not wish to speak very much about the merits of the present candidates, nor to make any extravagant promises to gain my election. I will, however, draw your attention to a few questions which I believe will come up in the course of the election, and which I think it would be well that you should bear in mind.

First, the question of the suffrage. It is a question of great importance, and one which should be discussed with the greatest care. I believe that the franchise should be extended to all who are of proper age and character.

Secondly, the question of the education of the people. It is a question which should be given a fair hearing. I believe that every child should have an equal opportunity to receive an education.

Thirdly, the question of the public safety. It is a question which should be given a careful study. I believe that the government should be provided with such a system of police as will secure the peace and order of the community.

I am grateful to my friends for their support, and I am confident that I shall be able to carry out the work which I have undertaken.

J. R. CLARK.

TO THE VOTERS OF BENSON COUNTY.

Fellow Countrymen:

Some of the measures proposed by the candidates for the position of Representative in Congress are the following:

1. The establishment of a national university.
2. The creation of a national bank.
3. The abolition of the slave trade.
4. The extension of the territory of the United States.

I believe that these measures are necessary for the welfare of the country, and I shall endeavor to carry them into effect.

J. R. CLARK.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Correspondence of the Committee.

The committee on the subject of the inquiry, on the 21st of July, sent to the House of Representatives, the following report:

That the committee are of opinion that the inquiries of the committee on the subject of the inquiry are unnecessary, and that the report is not warranted by the evidence adduced.

J. R. CLARK.

The following letter was read in the House of Representatives:

Mr. Speaker:

I have the honor to submit to the House the following report of the Committee on the subject of the inquiry:

IMPRESSIVE FROM BUENOS AIRES.

Several hundred letters from Buenos Aires, received by the Department, contain information of the great excitement that prevails in the capital of the Argentine Republic, and of the preparations for the meeting of the Central American Congress to be held at this city.

The government has decreed a public holiday for the Congress, and a number of public buildings are to be decorated with the national flag. The streets are being decorated with garlands and other decorations, and the air is filled with the sound of music and the ringing of bells.

The Congress is to be held in the evening of the 10th of April, and the rooms are being prepared accordingly. The government has also ordered the suspension of all public and private schools during the Congress.

The government is expected to make a considerable number of appointments at the Congress, and it is believed that the Congress will be a great success.

The government has also decreed that all the hotels in Buenos Aires shall be opened to the public on the evening of the 10th of April, and that they shall remain open until the close of the Congress.

The government is expected to make a considerable number of appointments at the Congress, and it is believed that the Congress will be a great success.
