POETRY.

The Beauty of the Soul.

The eye whose liquid lustre peers

The spirit's quenchless fire—

Yet, sun-like, while it dazzles,

Choores

Fond gazing men admire.

The lip that o'er the ruby glows—

The cheek whose glowing tinge

Burns lovelier than the scarlet rose

That decks the streamlet's fringe,

The queenly brow and mild—the hair

In silken auburn tress—

The rounded form—the graceful air—

The lover kneels to bless.

But lives a fairer, sweeter grace

Than e'er, from pole to pole,

In man's shape, or angel's face—

The beauty of the soul.

To Hemic.

May virtue's wreath thy heart entwine

With gems of purest lustre given,

Clustering around that precious shrine,

As brilliant on the brow of even.

Pure and calm as infant's slumbers

May thy life thus sweetly glide

As you stais in brilliant numbers,

Or the moon in quietly pride.

Day and night my thoughts will hover

Round thy steps, where'er they stray,

As pearls dew-drops round the flower

Where the moonbeams gently play.

Pure as those brilliant gems of even

Which in silvery masses lie

Will my thoughts to thee be given,

As memory clings to days gone by.

W. H. F.

My Father.

My father raised his trembling hand

And laid it on my head;

God bless thee, O my son, my son,

Most tenderly he said.

He died, and left no gems of gold,

But still I was his heir—

For that rich blessing which he gave

Became a fortune rare.

Still, in my weary hours of toil,

To earn my daily bread,

It gladdens me in thought to feel

His hand upon my head.

Though infant tongues to me have said,

"Dear father," oft since then,

Yet when I bring that scene to mind,

It's but a child again.

Love.

By Frederica Bremer.

"Wonders are no more, and magicians have now no power," is a common saying in our days. Still there is a wonder, which at least once comes to almost every human heart, with transforming, with enchanting power. Whenever it comes, it comes as a golden Aurora, with morning dews in her hair, resplendent with promises of a sunlit day. To the heart where it comes, all things become new. It is a Prophet, and takes at times all shapes, but has only one object. It is a fiery tyrant, and a neck lamb; it is unreasonable and yet full of wisdom, it is playful and wild, yet full of earnest will; it gives ven-erance, eloquence to objects else devoted thereof; it is a little child, but makes strong minds bend and bow;

it comes as a baby, but rises at once into a giant; it is the core and life of every romance, and the great romance of human life would be dull without it. It is, in fact, its innermost life and flower, as well as it is the flower of nature's life—

That wonder and magician we know by the name of Love.

When earth covers itself with leaves and flowers, and its breath is all softness and fragrance, when the ocean glistens with fire, when the wonder works in them; when the flowers are in their highest beauty when the corn and the grass put forth their silk, and their tassels smoke in the breeze, then the wonder works in them; when the birds array themselves in their gayest plumage and begin their songs, when the bear and the lion moan as doves, and the tiger roars in wild tenderness, then they feel the touch of the magician. When man and woman have drawn to one another with indescribable charm, then the charmer is working in them. When mankind did sing (as it did once), that the supreme spirit was come to the soul of humanity, as a bridegroom to the bride, to wed her, to impart unto her a new life, then it sung of the wonder of wonders, of the great romance of human life—

(in which romance all other romances are as chapters and episodes)—once accomplished in humanity, and for ever to be renewed in every human soul.

But the ancients were wise when they, in human loves, distinguished loves of several kinds, and gave another dignity to Eros than to Cupid; and again another to several little amours, often very wicked little amours-for-nothings, flying about, laughing and lying, sending out their arrows at arrows at ran-</ covered to place facts plainly before you. When your minds become convinced of these truths, there will no longer be dissensions among ourselves. If the people of the whole South once become united, the crisis will be passed. Divide and conquer has been the policy of our opponents. If to this policy you oppose a united front of firmness and patriotism the country may yet be safe. In our opinion, it will. But if, in this conflict, the constitution shall perish, we may appeal to the civilized world to bear witness to the truth, that it fell not by the hands of the South, but that it was the instincts of freedom, the South gave up the Union only when it no longer secured to us the blessings of a rational liberty.

Texas.

A very interesting letter from Western Texas appeared in a late number of the Mont. Jour. It was dated at Austin, and gives much useful information about the country. We append a few extracts: "The inducement to a man with small means, to engage in the farming interest in this portion of the country, are great indeed; for here he can get the best of land, good water, unsurpassed stock range, and timber enough for any purpose. In the latter item, however, a person coming from the thickly timbered country in the States, would not be well pleased; not that there is not a sufficiency of timber for all farming purposes, but that it is not in such quantities. It is so used to seeing a sufficiency for generations growing on land, that when he views a simple plenty he pines at the thought of leaving his children a farm without timber to keep it under fence. He should think that fences are put up with cedar timber in this country, and it does not require renewing every few years.

Good land can be purchased from fifty cents to one dollar per acre, in this portion of the country, and land too, which is well adapted to the culture of either cotton or grain. But it may be urged that a person buying lands will be in some danger of purchasing a lawsuit. This is true, in regard to a great deal of the best lands, as there will be years of litigation, before titles can be adjusted. There are thousands of knotty cases to be unraveled, which are the more complex, as they involve points in the laws of so many different governments—the Spanish law, the Mexican law, the laws of the Republic, and of the new State, and the general principles laid down in the Constitution of this glorious confederacy.

In point of intelligence, the population of Western Texas will compare very favorably with any people in the U. S. and for a frontier people their temperance is unequalled. I don't wish to be understood that there are no ardent spirits used, but that you very seldom see a man make a "John Daley" of himself. All in all, I think this part of Texas the most lovely country in the world. This impression was formed as soon as I crossed the Brazos, on my way to this part of the State, in the summer of 1850, when everything along the road was as hot as a "hen setting." Although the days are very warm during the summer, there is ever a cool breeze stirring, and a blanket is comfortable any night, and mosquito nets are an article not in use.

Steam communication with the Gulf once established, and this country will increase in population and in the products, in a degree that will be almost beyond belief. Our communications with the Gulf are now by means of Wagons from Port Lavaca and Houston—that is for the transportation of merchandise. We have two lines to Galveston, one from this place to Houston which makes each tri-weekly trips, running on the same days. They run through Washington, Independence, Lagrange and Bastrop, to this place 200 miles, connecting with a line of stages to San Antonio, eighty miles from Houston, to Austin, fifteen dollars, from Austin to San Antonio six dollars. There is also a line connecting with the San Antonio line at N. Drawings, from Port Lavaca by way of Gonzales. The distance from Port Lavaca to Austin, by the direct road, is about one hundred and thirty miles, from Houston, direct, about one hundred and fifty miles.

ADVERTISING—ITS ADVANTAGES. This is the season for advertising. There is no one who has been engaged in mercantile pursuits, but that can testify to its numerous advantages. Notice if you will the different firms in our city. By advertising, merchants are enabled to keep constant schedule of their goods before the public thus inviting the trading community to see their stocks. It is the best evidence too, that they fear not competition, are willing that their goods and prices shall bear the test of the market. Advertising judiciously managed, pays ten fold, benefiting alike the buyer and seller. We invite all who are disposed to give it a trial. —[Louisville Daily Dem.]

THE REPUBLICAN.

Tuesday Jan. 21, 1851.

HIWASSEE RAIL ROAD.—We have been informed by a friend, directly from Tennessee, that it is confidently expected to finish the Hiwassee Rail Road from Dalton, Ga. to Calhoun, Tennessee, by the middle of March next.

Our thanks are due to the Hon. Jere. Clemens for a copy of the Report of the Commissioner of Patents, as well as many other valuable public documents heretofore forwarded.

The list of appointments of the Alabama Conference will be found in another column. We expect in our next paper to be able to publish the first round of appointments for this Circuit.

The business arrangements mentioned in this paper of the 17th inst. and connected with promises then made to its patrons, will be fully made known to them in our next.

By the following letter from Mr. J. D. Stewart, dated the 14th Nov. 1850, we received the mournful intelligence of the death of SAMUEL WARREN WHITE, a son of Capt. John H. White of this place. He was a young man of great amiability of manners, and high hopes were entertained of him by his friends; but alas those hopes are all withered, and he is now numbered with the things that were.

The deceased was the last of four, Jacob Pierce Hugh Johnson, J. D. Nesbit and himself, who, attracted by the glittering news from California, started there from this place in March, 1849, in company with Dr. John Y. Nesbit, to reap golden harvests. The chosen being in New Orleans, it was thought advisable to take over land out, the two former died before reaching California—the two latter, one in October, the other in November last; and Dr. Nesbit alone remains.

Mr. Stewart was with them, but was not of the same company. The subject of this notice was informed, was born Oct. 1st, 1823, and died Nov. 12, 1850; being 27 years, 1 month and 12 days old. California, Feather River, Nov. 14th, 1850.

Sir.—Under the circumstances in which we are placed, I think it may do you good to write you a few lines. On the sixth day of this month S. W. White was taken sick, John Samuels, the gentleman he was living with was not at home, and did not return till the eighth; when he arrived he sent for a physician, and after examining & consulting with him had no hopes of him. He became weaker continually, and died on the twelfth about the close of day. He was not sensible of anything passing around him for forty-eight hours before his death. On the next day after his death, John Samuels had a decent coffin made, and other things necessary prepared, and those remaining of the boys who came through with him, consisting of McDee, Moore and myself assembled, and with the aid of a few others dug his grave and consigned his body to its last resting place. Your Brother lived with Dr. Nesbit from the time he came into the country until about fifteen days back. He followed during all the time, and never was very fatigued. His portion of the proceeds of his labor was not sufficient to pay expenses. Twelve or fifteen days ago he entered into partnership with John Samuels in a trading establishment on very favorable terms, and would certainly have done well. As to your brother's effects, they will fall short of paying doctors bill and burial expenses. Dear Nesbit has left his part of the country, and will probably locate in Stockton for the purpose of practicing Medicine. If you write him a letter he may give a satisfactory answer. I being a stranger to you, simply refer you to him. Your brother acted in a way to gain my respects and friendship in the outset of our journey, & that friendship has grown warmer as we become more intimately acquainted; but the strongest ties that bind human beings together here form no barrier against death and its victim. We feel grief at his death & mourn his loss.

Yours truly,
A. D. STEWART.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.
There has just been brought to light the application of a power which is to supersede entirely the present steam power of the world.

This announcement may stagger some, but the discovery, when it shall be divulged, will stagger them a thousand times more.

It has been made by an Eastern man, who has completed his models—one of which will be deposited at Washington as soon as patent rights shall be secured in the different European countries. The machinery is entirely perfected—the power is a motive one, and steam has no part in creating it. So simple and economical are the principle and application, that two tons of coal will be sufficient to drive the largest ship of the line around the world.

We are not at liberty, now, to divulge more of this wonderful discovery; but we predict, with the greatest confidence, that a short time only will elapse before a total revolution will take place throughout the world in our motive power system. Indeed, we assert, with the same confidence, that the year 1850 terminated the sovereignty of steam.

This is no chimera. We mean what we say—and time, brief in point of duration, will evolve this wonder, at present hid as with a gauze, only from the public eye, to the astonishment of Christendom—an astonishment far greater than that produced by the discovery of steam or the magnetic telegraph. —Germantown (Pa.) Savannah, Jan. 4—6 p. m.
Loss of the British Bark Lord Sandon.

The British Bark Lord Sandon, Capt. Welsh, arrived at New-York on the 19th December, in 52 days from Liverpool, and sailed for this port on the 25th ult. She encountered very severe weather, and on Thursday night last, it being very foggy, went ashore on Gaston Bank, and went on the South-Brook, where she bilged, and will be a total loss. She has on board a cargo of 5000 sacks of salt. Capt. Welsh and crew came up in a pilot boat. The bark has been stripped and her sails, &c., brought to the city. She had no pilot on board when she went ashore.

COTTON.—Our cotton market to-day has been languid, neither buyers or sellers feeling disposed to operate. The sales amount to 404 bales at the following prices:—56 at 12-7-8; 160 at 13-37 at 13-18; 84 at 13-14; 50 at 13-2-8; 2 at 13-2; 4 at 7-2-3; and 1 at 14 cents.

The weather is remarkably fine to-day. Our latest dates from New-York are Sunday, the 29th. Until to-day, we have had no telegraphic communication from New-York since the 31st ult.

Correspondence of the Courier.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 2.

New-Year's was here noticed with more than usual hilarity. The day was fine. All was bright above and all cheerful around. The President's mansion was thronged from 12 till 3 o'clock, by a crowd of official and private persons, of all parties and sections. Several of the Foreign Ministers, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House, Mr. Benton, and many citizens received company during the morning. Sir Henry Bulwer and his family received visits to-day.

The proposition for a General Convention of Friends of the Union, to be held here, has met with opposition. This city though so magnificent in distances, would not, it is urged, accommodate such an assemblage as would thus be brought together. Such a Convention would necessarily take a strong political stand, and would undermine and destroy the two old parties—Benev. and State of hostility to it. The carriage of a large supply of gold dollars is called for, to supply the scarcity of silver change.

There is now some doubts whether the big ship Pennsylvania will be fitted out for the transportation of articles, destined for the World's Fair. But there is no doubt that some national vessel will be sent out for the purpose. A list of all articles offered for exhibition is kept here by the Executive Committee. As a specimen from the character of the articles, I make some selections from the voluminous catalogue. New-Hampshire furnishes a machine for purging seams of vessels, cotton cloth, stone dressing machine, and other machines.

Pennsylvania sends perfume and fancy soaps, artificial teeth, anthracite coal, reaping utensils, machines, chromolithographs, daguerreotypes, cod liver oil, paper hangings, carriages, photographic boxes, &c. New-York sends bevel sawing machines, anti-friction presses, indian corn, chaise and rail road car spring, nibbles for the blind, fourteen plough, agricultural implements, bonnets, heavy sleigh, farm products, starch, spongy wool, needle work, flint glass, ladies' shoes, model for tempering saws, books and specimens of binding gold pens, medals, centrifugal pump, iron bridge, corn brooms, oil paintings of wild flowers, self-operating oil press. Ohio furnishes lightning rod points and insulations, preserved peaches corn brooms, machines for hemp dressing, American Catawba wine, surgical instruments, ploughs, steam-dried-corn, commercial and banking tables, printed calligraphs, beef, tallow and lard, improved bank lock, &c. Tennessee sends one-bale of gin cotton, sub-soil plough, &c. Rhode Island sends cotton, goods. Indiana furnishes flour extractor, self-weighting grain scales, &c. Maryland, netting machines and specimens, soap stone, tobacco, coal &c. Kentucky sends a planetarium, hemp, &c. Illinois, a patent reaper. Alabama, minerals, raw cotton, clean rice, spirits of turpentine, one phreton carriage, shirtings and drillings, palmetto, oak, cedar and poplar woods, &c. Missouri, raw iron ore, iron and work, copper, &c. New-Jersey, flour, oil cloth—Mississippi, cotton, &c.

The newspapers continue to discuss the proposition for forming a Union party, and the old politicians are becoming more and more shy of the project.

The Senate was in session yesterday, and for the first time, a petition was presented, but signed by only two individuals, for the repeal of the Fugitive Slave Act. Mr. Gwin introduced a bill providing for the survey of public lands in California, and donation of lands to settlers. A bill for the fortification of Ship Island was passed to a third reading. Another tug was had at the Bradbury resolution, calling for a statement of the number and causes of removals by the late administration. The object in view, was originally, to correct the late administration of inconsistency between professions and practice, on the subject of removals. The discussion now looks to a future presidential struggle. Mr. Bright, of Indiana, last had the floor, and remarked on the two faces of the Whig party prior to the last election, on the subject of the Wilmot proviso. His main object was to vindicate the official character of Gen. Joseph Lane, of Indiana, who was removed as Governor of Oregon, without any pretence of official misconduct, and solely on political ground. Gen. Lane was nominated, last winter, by members of the Indiana Legislature, as a candidate for the next Presidency. The postage bill will be disposed of by the House next week.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 4.

The California Land Bill now attracts much attention from the amount of the claims involved, and the character of the parties to the different projects of bills. Col. Fremont, at the late session, brought in a bill that was very much resisted, for the reason that it proposed to render the decisions of the Board of Commissioners upon all private land titles final, in favor of the claimant. Mr. Benton advocated that bill. Dr. Gwin has now brought in a different bill, and one in which his colleagues of the House concur. His bill gives to both parties, a right of appeal from the Board of Commissioners to the Supreme Court of the U. S. Mr. Benton objects to it that it arraigns all the titles in California, and holds them to be invalid until they are proved to be good. It subjects the title, first, to the decision of the U. S. Board of Commissioners; second, to U. S. District Court; and third, to the Supreme Court of the U. S. three thousand miles off. It would be better, Mr. B. contends, to pass a general act of confirmation at once. Mr. Benton introduced his substitute yesterday, and it provides for an appeal to the Supreme Court, only in cases in which John Charles Fremont is a party. This provision he introduced, he said, to avoid any pretext for impeaching Col. Fremont's disinterestedness, or his own. It appears from Dr. Gwin's remarks, that the people of California, view, with great jealousy, the claims to gold lands lately purchased by Americans, from Spanish claimants. The Board of Commissioners, however composed, would command public confidence enough, to give effect to a decision to these large claims. A decree of a Board in favor of any one of those titles, would not be carried into effect without blood shed. Nothing but a decision of the highest judicial tribunal, will satisfy the public of the validity of pretended Spanish titles, set up to gold lands recently, and bought of pretended Spanish owners, for a mere song.

It has been explained in regard to Col. Fremont's Mariposa claim, that he had no agency in its purchase. It was bought for him by Mr. Larkin a large claimant himself—but who has expressed an anxious desire that Mr. Gwin's bill should pass. Col. Fremont himself, is in favor of submitting the title to his own claim, he says, in a letter cited by Dr. Gwin—"It was a purchase fairly made, and I have always supposed that, at some future time the validity of the claim would be settled by the proper courts." The debate on this bill, will be very able and animated.

Mr. Whitney will, to-night, explain his project for a Rail Road from the Mississippi to the Pacific. The use of the Hall of Representatives has been granted to him for the purpose.

Whichever the project shall be undertaken, it must be at Government expense, and, not in money, but in public lands. Mr. Whitney's project will require about two hundred millions of dollars. But he proposes to take lands, on either side of the road, to the extent of one hundred and eighty millions of acre, and convert them into money as the work progresses.

the purpose. Whichever the project shall be undertaken, it must be at Government expense, and, not in money, but in public lands. Mr. Whitney's project will require about two hundred millions of dollars. But he proposes to take lands, on either side of the road, to the extent of one hundred and eighty millions of acre, and convert them into money as the work progresses.

THE Exercises of this Institution will commence the 20th January next, under the following regulations. The Scholastic term will consist of two Sessions of five months each. No student will be admitted for a less time than one Session, and no deduction will be made for loss time except in case of sickness or by special contract. Payment will be required, one half at the end of the 1st Session—the balance at the close of the 2d Session. With the above named associate teachers, well and favorably known as they are, the Principal flatters himself that he will be able to give entire satisfaction, and hopes to share a liberal patronage of a liberal public.

Mrs. DICKERSON has many years experience as an instructress and teaches in great perfection the branches associated with her name. The French Language is her vernacular tongue which gives her quite an advantage for correct and thorough instruction in that branch. The School is located in an intelligent, pleasant community. The Principal will only add that he will make all reasonable pains to make all pupils committed to his care comfortable and happy. Cedar Town, Panhandling County, Jan. 12, 1851.

Female Academy.

THE trustees of this Institution have the pleasure of announcing to the public that they have again secured the services of Mr. J. H. CALDWELL and Lady. The exercises will be resumed on Monday the 20th January next. Mr. CALDWELL and Lady have now been engaged in teaching in this Academy for three years, and have given ample satisfaction to the patrons and Trustees. Mr. CALDWELL is a finished Scholar, a gentleman of high moral department, devoted to his business, and unusually skillful in teaching & governing his pupils. Mrs. CALDWELL is a lady of thorough education, great amiability of character and highly accomplished manners, universally loved by her pupils, and a fit model for their imitation. The two, together, unite all the requisites for teaching and their examinations have borne the fullest testimony to this fact. Their pupils have advanced with rapidity, while the system of teaching has not been superficial, but thorough & complete, especially in the elementary branches of learning, and the higher departments of knowledge. Our village is uniformly healthy; the Academy is pleasantly situated; and good boarding can be had on reasonable terms. With these favorable circumstances, and such competent teachers, we feel that we cannot too strongly recommend this institution to parents and guardians.

GLOBE HOTEL, AUGUSTA, GEO. Co. ner of Jackson and Broad Streets. By F. M. JENNINGS, Jan. 29, 50.

OREGON.

Amidst the dazzling glories which surround the new State of California, the more modest and more substantial advantages which the settlers may find in the Territory of Oregon, have lately been comparatively overlooked.

This Territory is unquestionably the most desirable place for the agricultural emigrant to the shores of the Pacific to settle in—the place where he may most advantageously plant the civic virtues and the domestic institutions from which agricultural life borrows so many of its most attractive charms.

We are inclined to predict for this now distant Territory a magnificent destiny; the outlines of which will soon begin to present themselves to the notice of the world. We look upon Oregon as the true seat of American empire on the Pacific, the region in which the richest blessings of our free institutions are to be realized, and in which the most abundant fruits of our Western civilization are yet to be gathered and enjoyed.

A CHOLERA INCIDENT. The following is related by Dr. Fenner, of Louisiana, in his Medical Reports: "On the 10th of the same month (March) a company of California emigrants came up in the same steam boat (Corvette) that had previously, as we have seen, brought up the disease. They encamped on the Mexican side of the river, just above the barracks, and opposite the Grands City. From that place the greater part of them afterwards proceeded to Roma, a few miles higher on the river. Of those that remained behind nearly one-fourth were carried off by the disease. Of this number was Dr. Fenner, represented as a young physician of highly respectable attainments and amiable character, who accompanied the expedition, as medical adviser. He remained a few days behind at New Orleans, so complete his outfit, and subsequently got to this place, where he was attacked a few hours afterwards and fell a victim after a very short illness. This company, like many others, broke up at the appearance of the cholera among them, part returning home and the remainder, less disheartened or more ardent in their pursuit of gold, continuing on their journey to California. Connected with the sojourn of the company at this place, a case is mentioned of so remarkable a recovery from cholera in most adverse circumstances, & apparently in spite of the very means which might reasonably be supposed to have induced a fatal termination, I may be pardoned or excused for relating it here.

Shortly after their arrival the treasurer, or the person having in charge, all the funds of the company, some $4,000 in gold, besides a considerable amount belonging to individual members, entrusted the bag containing it to the bar keeper of the tavern at Rio Grande City, for safe keeping. When called upon for it he asserted that some person belonging to the company had previously demanded it, to whom he had accordingly delivered it up, but was unable to identify the individual. The whole company, fully impressed with a belief in the falsity of this statement, and indignant at the breach of confidence and barefaced rascality of the man, seized him at once and carried him to their camp, where he was chained to a log, and three or four armed men set to keep constant watch over his actions.

Their design was to extract some confession, if possible, from him, in reference to the missing funds. They indulged a hope that the fear of summary punishment or threatened death might force him to make some acknowledgment or revelation as to his agency or participation in the robbery. Fortunately what their efforts failed to accomplish, an attack of cholera brought about. After being exposed to the burning sun by day and chilling dews by night, without any shelter or covering or food, he was seized with the disease. No attempts were made to alleviate his sufferings or to administer remedies of any kind. The company seeing in the loss of their money, a final step to their progress onwards, and consequent disappointment to all their glittering hopes and golden dreams, felt justly exasperated against the man whom they considered the cause of all, and left him to die a death worthy of his crime. Some one more kind than the rest, and moved by the supplications of the criminal for water, set a bucket full before him, probably supposing that the free and unrestrained indulgence of it, might, in all probability, shorten the period of his life and sufferings. Another yielding to his request, gave him a bottle of claret which he finished nearly at one draught. After drinking quiet after quart of water, the man began to revive, and finally recovered; not, however, before acknowledging his guilt of the theft, and revealing the names of his associates, as well as the place of his portion of the stolen money. Here we see a recovery under the most untoward circumstances, and without the use or application of any remedial means whatever, unless the water and claret may be considered of this character, and it is exceedingly doubtful whether this was given with any expectation of such a result or beneficial effect.

Charleston Imports.—In our table of Foreign Imports this morning will be noticed the cargoes of three ships from Liverpool. In addition to these should be added that of the bark Virginia Ann, from Bordeaux and Madeira, consisting of Wines, Brandies, Cordons, Preserved Fruits, &c. being one of the largest and most valuable cargoes that has ever entered the port of Charleston.—Cov.

We find the following in the late Wet nake Star Guard. Mr. Butler resides within 10 miles of this city, on the Wetumpka road?

A CARD.—On yesterday evening, I met a man on the Montgomery side of the river, about half a mile from Gray's ferry, going towards the river, (he seemed to be very drunk,) and I learn he went to the river, and with no apparent consciousness of danger, rode in and was drowned. He was a respectable looking man, with a blue blanket hung around his neck, riding a good looking sorrel horse, with a large spot on his forehead, and a new Spanish saddle on. The ferryman recovered his hat, it is fur, pretty much worn, with nothing inside, marked by the maker Bandoni, Paris. There was also in the hat a sealed letter, directed to John T. Cooke, Bolton's depot, Hinds county, Mississippi; all of which are in my possession. L. P. BUTLER.

Let your inclination be to those who advise, rather than to those who praise your conduct. Depreciate no one—an atom has shadow.

THE REPUBLICAN.

In announcing the fact of the formation of a copartnership in the publication of this paper, with Mr. JOHN H. CALDWELL, its patrons and friends are assured, that their interests, rather than that of the publisher has been consulted in the arrangement.

The political features of the paper will not undergo the slightest change, unless it be, in a more devoted and earnest advocacy of the political principles and measures which it has heretofore maintained; and the united efforts of the proprietors will be used to make it useful and interesting in every department.

It is our purpose in future to publish the latest items of telegraphic intelligence, and keep standing, regularly corrected, prices current at several prominent points, north and south, and also an exchange table—in short, to leave nothing undone, which the most persevering industry can accomplish, to render our paper every way worthy of the liberal patronage it has received.

By reference to "Our Paper" published in the issue of Jan. 7th it will be seen that the Editor was as complimentary to his expected associate as he has been ever faithful to his patrons—surely he had some other than himself in his mind's eye! But be this as it may, we ask our friends to indulge us a while should the hopes begotten by the Editor's promise not be immediately realized.

We shall enter upon the discharge of our new duties fully warned of the trials and difficulties of an Editor's life. In the beginning, then, we wish to make no pledges which we will be unwilling or unable to redeem. We desire, by industry and attention, to make the Republican worthy of continued patronage. It will be devoted, as heretofore to Politics Literature, the Arts, Sciences, Agriculture &c. Passing events will be closely watched and faithfully reported through its columns. As to the Political features which it will bear, enough has already been said. Upon the great question which has agitated our people so long, we would be distinctly understood. Born and raised in the South, it is impossible, that we should entertain other than Southern feelings and sentiments. Our voice, feeble as it is, shall ever be raised in defence of Southern Rights against Northern aggression. And should the "fall in the Storm," prove a faint, a trace to beguile, a cry of "peace, peace" when there is no peace—should the North, in her mad fanaticism continue her assaults upon all that is dear & dear to us, ours shall be no time-serving position: "let justice be done though the Heavens fall" shall be our motto. And whatever may betide the South, we expect to be marshaled with those who truly love her, those who know her rights, and will dare maintain them.

In making this hasty "bow" we express the hope that our labors in connection with this press may be conducive to the interests of all concerned; if otherwise, we assure its patrons that none will mourn more than ourselves. CALDWELL. With CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.—The Mobile Advertiser, perhaps the most influential and widely circulated Whig paper in this State, contains an extract from a democratic paper, which speaks in favorable terms of the re-election of Governor Collier, and particularly of his not being very desirous to join the Whig party. The Advertiser in its comments on this extract, denies that Gov. Collier is at all acceptable to the Whig party, except the "few wailing wretches" who have joined the Southern Rights party, or as he is pleased to term them, the "secession and disunion party." It also assures the friends of Gov. Collier, that he will meet with the most stern, determined & decided opposition in the next election. We have no doubt this is true; and that it has not only been determined by the whig leaders to run a candidate for Governor, but also to run candidates in every District for Congress, and in every County for the Legislature. We sincerely thank the Advertiser for this timely information, and hope that when the time for action arrives the democratic party will not be asleep. They know enough of their unscrupulous opponents, who unite the fragment of all parties, and take advantage of every sectional division, to make party capital, to warn them of the necessity of union and vigilance. We presume this is the first faint rallying cry to the cohorts of whigery—let it be a note of warning to the democracy.

It is with pride and pleasure we remember and refer to the fact, and would record it to the permanent honor of the sterling democracy of Benton County, that in the last disastrous campaign, when the democratic majority was reduced to 600 in the State, and also in that of 1840, the usual whig vote of near 400 was increased but very little. Let them come again—we promise them the same sort of welcome—and, "a little more grape Capt. Bragg."

SOUTHERN CULTIVATOR.—We have received the January number of this able and useful agricultural work published at Augusta Georgia.—Every Farmer would find it greatly promotive of his interest to take this valuable paper, which would only cost him one dollar per annum and especially so at this time, when the south is beginning to feel and assert its independence of the North for works of this character. It is published monthly, each number containing 16 large pages, and Edited by DANIEL LEE, M. D. It is also stated in this number that the back volumes, for eight years can still be furnished, handsomely bound in cloth for $1, 25cts. per volume.

We have said above that we believe it would promote the interest of every farmer to take this paper, we do not think it too much to say, that every farmer of moderate means, might actually lose, ten or twenty, fifty or a hundred dollars per annum, for the want of this or some similar paper.

The St. Charles Hotel in New Orleans, and six or seven other beautiful and valuable buildings were recently destroyed by fire.

We frequently get letters which are intended, and ought to be free; but upon which postage is necessarily charged in consequence of an omission of the Post Master franking them. Such letters ought not only to be marked "Free" but also have the name of the Post Master written on the back.

In a portion of our last week's issue the name of the Preacher appointed to this Circuit was spelled McLeod—it should have been McLeod.

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 22, 1851. Mr. Allen.—Dear Sir: you will perceive by the subjoined resolutions, that it is my duty to transmit to you the following preamble and resolutions which I do with a great deal of pleasure and assurance, that your exertions have secured to you, from our citizens, a lasting bond of affection and friendship. Your old servant, DANIEL HOKE.

At a meeting of the Town Council held at the Council Office for the Town of Jacksonville, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted: Whereas, our worthy citizen Hudson H. Allen, Esq. one of the Directors of the Selma and Tennessee River Rail-Road, deserves the commendation of the citizens Jacksonville and vicinity.

Be it Resolved, That the Town Council, in behalf of the citizens Jacksonville, tender to him the warmest thanks and best wishes, for his industrious, untiring, indefatigable and successful efforts in obtaining said road to run by our Town, &c. &c. What this resolution be passed on the minutes of the Council, and that the Clerk be instructed to transmit a copy to Mr. Allen. JAS. B. MARTIN, Int. DANIEL HOKE, Clk.

The florists of New York could not supply a sufficient number of these fashionable flowers, and the green-house of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston were gleaned of their choice blossoms to grace his table; the cost of the banquet and the wines was in proportion; Delmonco's bill for the rare dishes he furnished was eighteen hundred dollars. The number of guests invited was but a Dozen.

The grand Constitutional Union party, I believe, is quite dead. Cobb and Co., found themselves in an awkward predicament,—as bad as Webster's when he asked the famous question—"where am I to go?" They were dead with Southern Rights men, and not trusted with the whigs. In this dilemma they called for another shuffle of the cards, hoping luck would befriend them. But here was the difficulty—who should have the honors? and who should get the spoils? Now, if either of the old parties could succeed in the next Presidential election, there was fine feed for all those who had served the North. Suppose they sustain themselves in their own States, then they are heroes and head victors, and entitled to the best praise as a matter of course. Suppose they are overwhelmed,—then they are martyrs. So it was judged best to try the old parties again. And besides, said they, while we are forming our grand Union party, that cursed impracticable State of South Carolina may blow up the whole concern. There she is, like one of her own hard headed rattle snakes, steadily and coolly coiling herself up, ready to strike—let us wait awhile, at all events.

The Chronotype an influential Free-ill paper of Boston, comes out for the abolition of slavery by Congress in all the Southern States.—It argues, from the common consolidation views of the Constitution, that congress has the power, and maintains that it is full time to exercise it. Every body knows that the constitution will be no barrier to the consummation of that policy; and everybody here knows, too, that consummation is inevitable if the Southern States do not take the destinies into their own hands, and that soon. The new Senators from Ohio, New York and Massachusetts, will add sufficiently to the Abolition force in the Senate to make it a formidable power there, and a power that is constantly assailing to itself all other parties from the North.

Thirty-First Congress 2d Session. Washington, Jan. 13, 1851. Senate. Mr. Cooper presented three memorials from the State of Pennsylvania, asking the repeal of the law for him to present all petitions sent to him, which were respectful. But I believe the petitioners asked that, which the great body of the people of his State desired that Congress would not do.

The people of Pennsylvania approved the settlement of the slavery questions, made at the last session, and desired to stand by them, and to carry them out in good faith.—They were opposed to further agitation or disturbance of that settlement. The petitions were referred to the Committee on the Judiciary. He also presented memorials against the extension of the area of slavery, and a large number in favor of a modification of the tariff of 1846.

The Chair laid before the Senate the annual report of the War Department with a statement of the number of persons employed by that Department. Mr. Underwood endeavored, but without success, to get up the joint resolution from the House authorizing the assignment of Land War contracts under the recent act of Congress.

The Senate then took up the bill to cede the public lands of the U. S. to the States respectively in which they are situated, on condition that the said States shall severally grant and convey said lands to actual settlers only in limited quantities for cost of survey and transfer merely. Mr. Felch addressed the Senate in opposition to the bill, and had not concluded when the Senate adjourned.

House of Representatives. There was an error in the published report of the proceedings of Saturday, as to the amount paid annually to the railroad companies for the transmission of the mails, which should have been $900,000 instead of $10,000.

Mr. Bayly, from Virginia, chairman of the Committee of ways and means, reminded the House that there remains only forty-two working days, and that unless certain appropriation bills be made the special order of the day for tomorrow, and the following days until disposed of, the appropriation bills generally would be crowded into the last days of the session.

It was moved by Mr. Stevens of Georgia, that the rules of the House be suspended to enable him to introduce a resolution for allowing Mr. Whitney the use of the Hall of Representatives on Saturday evening next, to allow him to explain his great railroad scheme. The resolution to instruct the Committee of commerce to report as to the propriety of so reducing the value of the silver coin of the country as to prevent its exportation was agreed to by a large majority. Mr. McLanahan moved to suspend to rules to enable him to introduce a resolution declaring that it would be inexpedient and improper to repeal the act passed last session of Congress, for the return of fugitive slaves and others to the service of their masters.

The ayes and nays were ordered, when there appeared 123 for the rules and 84 against it. There not being two-thirds of the House in favor of the suspension of the rules the motion was lost. The House then went into committee of the whole on the State of the Union, and took up the cheap postage bill.

Mr. Potter, of Ohio, having the floor, was about to close the debate when Mr. Duer, of New York, called his attention to the manner in which the circulation of five and ten cent pieces is affected, owing to their indivisibility for purposes of business; the difficulty attending which he contended would be increased by the proposed reduced rate of postage.

Mr. Potter, then addressed the House, taking a comprehensive view of the whole question, and congratulating members that, while the opposition to the measure came from States where the revenue does not meet the expenses of transporting the mails, yet the discussion had been left for the most part, to members coming from States in which there was a surplus. Mr. Potter was proceeding with his remarks, when Mr. Stanton, of Tennessee, moved that the committee rise; which was carried, and the House adjourned till tomorrow.

Washington, Jan. 14, 1851. SENATE. Mr. Hamlin presented the petition of Thomas Ritchie esq, the public printer, asking the abrogation of the contract for printing, and an advance of funds. Mr. Pearce submitted a resolution directing an inquiry into the expediency of providing by law for the payment into the Treasury of all moneys collected by military officers as duties, &c. in California, prior to December 10, 1849. Adopted.

Mr. Underwood moved, and the joint resolution authorising the assignment of military land warrants was, after debate, taken up and made the special order for Friday next. The Senate then proceeded with the consideration of the bill to cede the public lands to the States on certain conditions, &c.

Mr. Felch concluded his speech in opposition to the bill. Mr. Walker commenced a reply and in support of the bill, but had not progressed far when he yielded the floor and Senate adjourned. House of Representatives. Mr. Hammond, of Maryland presented a petition of one hundred persons residing at the "Union Works" in the state of Maryland, praying for a modification of the tariff laws; which was referred, under rule, to the Committee on Ways and Means.

The House again resolved itself into a Committee of the whole, on the bill for reducing the rate of postage. The Clerk read the first section of the bill, imposing three cents on letters not exceeding half an ounce, when pre-paid, and five cents when not pre-paid, and the amendment to the amendment, which were before the committee.

Before the question or either of these propositions was taken, it moved that the postage on letters of the description alluded to, when carried a distance of less than 500 miles, be two cents; over 500 miles and less than 1000 r e cents; over 1000 and not exceeding 2000 miles, five cents; and beyond that distance ten cents; which was lost. The question was then taken on the amendment to the amendment, which was negatived, as was the amendment of the member from Ohio.

Mr. Strong, of Pennsylvania, proposed three cents as an amendment, which he supported by able and most conclusive arguments showing that only one-fifth of the number of letters now sent are ten cent letters, and that the proposition before the committee would not add to the circulation of what are at present five cent letters, but increased a hundred per cent, to make up the deficiency. He contended that if cheap postage is to succeed, it will be by the introduction of a uniform rate of three cents. The question was taken upon Mr. Strong's amendment, and carried, 55 to 34; and the original motion as amended was subsequently agreed to. It was then moved to add a proviso, rendering all unpaid letters liable to a postage of five cents, which was lost, there being 71 in favor of the motion and 74 against it. The tellers not being satisfied with their report, the House was again counted, when there appeared to be 53 in the affirmative and 69 in the negative. The committee then rose and the House adjourned.
