MARCH
JACKSONVILLE, ALA, TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1852.

Whole No. 797.

Marrion and his Men.—Mrs. Marrion reports the death of her husband. The body was found on the road to Clark's on Saturday last. It is said, however, that the relation of the cause of death is that the deceased had come into a sudden state of melancholy and debility, and had been in a condition of suffering for a considerable time previous to his decease. The deceased had been a resident of this county for many years, and was regarded by his neighbors as a peaceable and quiet man. He leaves a large family of children, who are left to mourn his loss. The friends of the family are requested to attend the funeral on Wednesday next, at 11 o'clock A.M.

The party which formed the escort to the funeral consisted of the following gentlemen:—Mr. Marrion, his son, and a large number of other gentlemen from the neighborhood. The funeral was attended by a large number of the citizens of the county, and was conducted with great solemnity.

A successful Corn Painting.—Mr. A. S. Van Wyck, of this city, has been successful in his efforts to paint corn. He has succeeded in painting a cornfield with the following results:—The corn has grown to a height of six feet, and the field is covered with a fine yellow crop. The corn has been carefully examined by various experts, and it is said that the result is highly satisfactory. The corn has been sold at a price of $20 per bushel, and the expenses of the painting amounted to $500. The corn has been forwarded to New York, and is expected to reach the city in time for the harvest.

Jacksonville, Dec. 12.

We are happy to be able to announce the completion of the canal from St. Mary's to Mobile. As we have said before, the canal is a great improvement for the commerce of the country. The city of Jacksonville is now connected directly with Mobile, and the canal will enable goods to be transported more quickly and easily. The canal is also a great boon to the farmers in the vicinity, as it provides a means of transport for their produce.

Arrival of the Americans at New Orleans.

The American steamers have arrived at New Orleans, and the passengers are now in the city. The voyage has been uneventful, and the passengers are all in good health. The steamer has brought news from the rest of the nation, and the passengers are looking forward to their return to their homes.

The mobile market.

The mobile market is now in full swing. The shoppers are out in force, and the vendors are doing a thriving business. The mobile market is a great improvement for the city, as it provides a means of transport for goods and supplies.

Washington speculation.

The speculation on the speculation continues to increase. The price of gold has been rising steadily, and many investors are looking to gold as a safe investment. The speculation is expected to continue, and the price of gold is likely to continue to rise.

Ferns.

The ferns are now in full bloom. The gardens and parks are covered with the green and brown leaves of the ferns. The ferns are a great boon to the city, as they provide a means of decoration and a source of oxygen.
