Tuesday, April 4, 1844

From the New York.

The panic in the United States is over. It has been caused by the discovery of a large gold deposit in California, which has created a demand for silver and gold bullion, and has led to a rise in the price of these metals. The rush of speculators to the West has also contributed to the panic, as they have flooded the market with money, thereby devaluing the currency. The government has taken steps to stabilize the situation by issuing more paper money and by imposing taxes on speculators.

From the Liverpool.

The Liverpool Mercury reports that the British government is considering measures to reduce the deficit in the national finances. The government is also considering the possibility of increasing the duties on imported goods to raise revenue. The situation is expected to be resolved in the near future.

From Russia.

The Tsar has decreed the establishment of a new railway between St. Petersburg and Moscow. The railway will be funded by a loan from the British government, and work is expected to begin immediately.

From France.

The French government has announced the appointment of a new minister of foreign affairs. The new minister is expected to focus on strengthening France's alliances in Europe and on improving relations with the United States.

From Germany.

The German states have agreed to a new constitution that will give more power to the federal government. The constitution is expected to be implemented in the near future.

From Ireland.

The Irish government has announced plans to build a new canal that will connect the Shannon River with the Atlantic Ocean. The canal will be funded by a loan from the British government, and work is expected to begin immediately.

From Spain.

The Spanish government has announced the appointment of a new minister of defense. The new minister is expected to focus on strengthening Spain's military capabilities.

From the United States.

The United States government has announced plans to build a new harbor facility in New York City. The facility will be funded by a loan from the British government, and work is expected to begin immediately.

From the British Treasury.

The British treasury has announced plans to issue new paper money to finance the war with France.

From the European Council.

The European council has announced plans to establish a new diplomatic corps to represent the interests of the European nations in the United States.

POETRY.

THE TEMPEST.

By WILLIAM A. JORDAN.

“Then was I danger’d; shrieking fury seems to I;”

No. 3.

Have you ever seen a tempest at sea? Have you ever heard the thunder roll and the lightning flash? Have you ever felt the wind rush past your face and the waves break upon the shore? It is a terrible experience, but it is also a beautiful one. The tempest is a symbol of God’s power and strength, and it reminds us of the wages of sin.

But let us not forget that the tempest is also a symbol of God’s love and mercy. When we are in trouble and in difficulty, He sends us the tempest to test us and to strengthen us. And when we have passed the test, and we have learned to trust in Him, He gives us the rainbow as a sign of His love and mercy.

THE CONGRESS OF 1854.

By HENRY CLAY.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to address the House on the importance of the coming Congress.

The House is made up of representatives from all parts of the country, and it is the duty of each member to represent the interests of his constituents. We must not forget that the Congress is not just a group of politicians, but it is a body of people who are elected by the people to represent them in their government.

The Congress is the place where the laws of the land are made, and it is the place where the interests of the country are protected. We must not forget that the Congress is a body of men who are elected by the people to represent them in their government.

The Congress is not just a group of politicians, but it is a body of people who are elected by the people to represent them in their government. We must not forget that the Congress is a body of men who are elected by the people to represent them in their government.

Jacksonville Female Seminary.

We have been favored with the receipt of a letter from Miss James, the manager of the Female Seminary, of Jacksonville, who has been pleased to give us some interesting particulars respecting the establishment.

The Seminary, which was established a few years since, is situated in a healthy and delightful situation, and is conducted by a Board of Managers, consisting of respectable citizens of the place. Miss James informs us that the Seminary is now extensively used, and is attended by a considerable number of pupils, both female and male.

We are happy to learn that the Seminary is well supported, and that the managers are able to give it a proper range, and that the instruction is of a high order.

The Seminary is open to all classes of students, and is conducted in a manner worthy of the highest commendation.

THE ECONOMIST.
TUESDAY, APRIL 30, 1856.

He, as far as we can judge, has been a steady friend of the Union; we do not know whether Mr. Buchanan is, or whether the Administration will be a party to it, but we do know that the Union is a very desirable thing, and we hope that it will be continued.

The following is the Quaker's address to the President of the United States, which he delivered on the 18th of April, at the White House.

"Mr. President, I have the honor to submit to you the following address, as a mark of respect and esteem, on the occasion of your elevation to the highest office in the land.

"I am, Mr. President, a sincere friend of the Union, and I hope that you will be a party to it. I respect the Administration, and I hope that it will be continued."

The President, according to custom, declined to receive the address, and Mr. Buchanan was accordingly dismissed.
