It is expected that there will be a new Captain in the United States on the Virginia, so we are told, and that the ship should be put on at this port. It is reported that he has commenced his voyage already, and that the vessel is expected to arrive in the harbor on the 20th of the present month.

The writer of the letter from Captain F, who is stationed at the mouth of the river, states that the weather has been most favorable, and that the vessel is expected to arrive in the harbor on the 20th, when she will anchor in the West end of the river. The captain is expected to take immediate steps to secure the property of the United States, and to make all necessary arrangements for the departure of the passengers and crew.

A BRIGHT AT THE CHEROKEE CAMP.

An Epistle of Sack-bag.

From a gentlewoman in a tent at the Cherokee camp.

By E. T. FERRY.

To the Editor:

Some days ago I was talking with a neighboring lady whose husband was away, and whom I esteem highly as a woman and a Christian. She said that she had never felt so light and free as she did when she was in the camp. The spirit of freedom seemed to be in the air, and the women were as free as birds. She said she felt as if she was in a paradise, and she was glad to be there.

Another lady also spoke to me, and she said that she had never felt so happy as she did when she was in the camp. She said she was glad to be there, and she was glad to be free. She said she was glad to be able to speak her mind, and she was glad to be able to express her feelings.

These were the words of two different ladies, but they both expressed the same sentiment. The spirit of freedom seemed to be in the air, and the women were as free as birds. They were glad to be able to express their feelings, and they were glad to be able to speak their minds.

Yours truly,

E. T. FERRY.

Peace Made

Washington, May 20, 1864.

The President has received a message from the Secretary of War announcing that peace has been made with the Confederates. The terms of the treaty are as follows:

1. The Confederate States of America shall renounce all right to the use of the Mississippi River and all other navigable waters of the United States.
2. The Confederate States of America shall pay the sum of $300,000,000 to the United States as a compensation for the damages done to the United States during the war.
3. The Confederate States of America shall deliver up to the United States all persons who are deserters from the United States Army.

The treaty was ratified by the Senate on May 20, 1864.

Administrator's Sale
