POETRY.

CHEER UP.

Heart, go on, and with a smile,
Keep up and own the win;
With bristling hair and shining eye,
You've done your best without a care.

Over all, the world is bright,
And all the cares you've tried to bear;
And when the sun of success rises,
You'll find your way to paradise.

ORESTES B. BROWNE.

JACKSONVILLE ALABAMA, MARCH 20, 1855.

EDITORIAL.

Friends, fellow citizens, and voters of the United States, the day is come when the people of this great and glorious country must again determine the fate of their liberties and the destiny of their future. The time is now at hand when the scattered confederates of the South must rally to the standard of their fathers and stand forth in defense of their sacred rights.

We cannot be too strong in our condemnation of the acts of the Federal Government, which have so flagrantly violated the Constitution of the United States. The unlimited power of the Executive has been exercised to the utter destruction of the liberties of the people. The Constitution has been disregarded, and the government has been made a mere instrument of the will of the President. This is not the United States of America, but a dominion of the Frenchman.

The people of the South have been called upon to defend their homes and their country, and we appeal to them to rise in arms and resist the tyranny of the Federal Government. The Constitution of the United States is our charter of liberty, and we will not allow it to be violated.

We have no patience with the man who would have the people of the South submit to the despotic rule of the Federal Government. We will not be content with a government that crucifies the liberties of the people and reduces them to the same condition as the French.

We want a government that is free from the control of the President, and that will respect the rights of the people. We want a government that will listen to the voice of the people, and that will give them a voice in the management of their affairs.

The people of the South will not be content with a government that is controlled by the Federal Government. We will not allow the people of the South to be dominated by the Federal Government. We want a government that is free from the control of the President, and that will respect the rights of the people.

We want a government that is free from the control of the President, and that will respect the rights of the people. We want a government that will listen to the voice of the people, and that will give them a voice in the management of their affairs.

We appeal to the people of the South to arise in arms and resist the tyranny of the Federal Government. We want a government that is free from the control of the President, and that will respect the rights of the people. We want a government that will listen to the voice of the people, and that will give them a voice in the management of their affairs.

We want a government that is free from the control of the President, and that will respect the rights of the people. We want a government that will listen to the voice of the people, and that will give them a voice in the management of their affairs.
OUR RELATIONS WITH STATE.

The publication of the Annual Report of the Secretary of the Treasury has been completed. The Secretary in his report advances the following statement: The Treasury has been in a state of receipts during the year.

The Treasury is in a state of receipts during the year.

The Secretary in his report advances the following statement: The Treasury has been in a state of receipts during the year.

The Secretary in his report advances the following statement: The Treasury has been in a state of receipts during the year.