AUGUST
obody, no matter how important or powerful, is immune to the consequences of their actions. Sometimes, the seemingly insignificant choices we make can have far-reaching effects that we cannot predict or control.

[...]

[...]
THE ELECTION.

There being no official returns as yet, the following results are given as we have learned them:

Secretary of State-Grant.
Governor-Grant.
Congressman-at-Large-Grant.
Congressman-4th District-Grant.
Congressman-5th District-Grant.
Congressman-6th District-Grant.
Congressman-7th District-Grant.
Congressman-8th District-Grant.

The above returns are confirmed by the most trustworthy sources, and it is expected that the final results will be the same.

THE COTTON EXCHANGE.

The cotton market continued quiet, with small transactions.

T. H. B. (Telegram)

Latest News by Telegraph.

ARRIVAL OF THE

LYCEUM

THREE DAY MASTERS FROM THE COTTON RECEIVED.

The Lyceum ladies have arrived in this city.

COMMERCIAL.

Cotton-500 bales at 9.50 cents.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

St. James, 27 July.

The Steamer Bremen has arrived at this port, and has been loaded with goods for the United States.

LITERARY.

Where to turn Seven’s Street?

All will be right if you turn left at the corner of Seventh Street, and go one block north.

A. H. B. (Telegraph)

A letter from Mr. B. to Mr. A. arrived at the Atlantic Telegraph Office yesterday, stating that he would leave for Europe on the 15th of next month.

THE TELEGRAPH.

America and Europe are now in telegraphic communication.

J. P. R. (Telegram)

The following message was received from the Atlantic Telegraph Office:

[Message content]

LOST AND FOUND.

A carpet bag containing $500 in gold was left in the hands of Mr. X. yesterday afternoon. Any one finding it is requested to return it to Mr. Y, 123 Main Street.

A. H. B. (Telegram)

A carpet bag containing $500 in gold was left in the hands of Mr. X. yesterday afternoon. Any one finding it is requested to return it to Mr. Y, 123 Main Street.

J. P. R. (Telegram)

A carpet bag containing $500 in gold was left in the hands of Mr. X. yesterday afternoon. Any one finding it is requested to return it to Mr. Y, 123 Main Street.

[Additional messages and news items]
Jacksonville Republican

JACKSONVILLE, ALL, THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1858.

POLITICS.

Dr. C. J. CLARK.

DECEASED.

Sister Girardot.

The subject of our notice was a woman of refined character and of retiring disposition. She passed away in the prime of life, but under circumstances of great suffering and many privations, and without any relief from the kind offices of her friends.

POETRY.

Henry Green.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.

ART WORKS.

A. Williams.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Sister Girardot.

A. Williams.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.

Sister Girardot.

A. Williams.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.

Sister Girardot.

A. Williams.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.

Sister Girardot.

A. Williams.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.

Sister Girardot.

A. Williams.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.

Sister Girardot.

A. Williams.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.

Sister Girardot.

A. Williams.

The following lines are from the pen of our correspondent at the Medical College of the South, and are shewn in it.

We will mention our correspondent, and wish him every success in his undertaking.