VOL. 26. NO. 46.

Improving Merchant Mills.

COMMITTED.

The demands of the community for more and better dressed cotton has increased so rapidly during the last few months that it is now necessary to take steps to extend the facilities of the Jacksonville mills.

It is intended to establish a new mill in the city, which will be located on the west side of the river. The mill will be constructed of the most modern materials and will be equipped with the latest machinery.

The mill will have a capacity to produce 500,000 bales of cotton per year. The management of the mill will be in the hands of experienced men, who will see to it that the highest quality of goods is produced.

The mill will be ready for operation in the spring of next year. The company is seeking to attract capital from investors who are interested in the cotton industry.
