WE ARE GREEN.

JACKSONVILLE, AL., JUNE 20, 1868.

WHOLE NO. 1625.

The Log of a Woman.

June has not received the gift more fittingly than to be the month during which our banners were spread in full and our banners waved in every breeze, bearing the mark of victory. The era of our women was then born, and the day of their independence arrived. It was on this day that the waves of prosperity were to be raised, and the banners of victory were to be unfurled. In this month, our women were to be the mothers of future generations, and the guardians of the morals and liberties of our young.
The Democratic Platform of 1868.

Considering the general reaction of the party upon the new measures and the changes it has undergone, the Democratic Platform is the only one that can repress the spirit of dissatisfaction that is abroad in the land. It offers a fair prospect of success, and at the same time is in harmony with the principles and traditions of the party. The platform is well adapted to the present situation of the country, and is calculated to meet the demands of the time.

Narrows Crossing.

We have been informed that Capt. Nott has discovered a new crossing of the Narrows, which will be of great advantage to the trade of the country. The new crossing is situated at a point where the Narrows are not more than 120 feet wide, and will enable vessels to pass through without risk. It is expected that the new crossing will be completed within a few months, and will be open to traffic.

The new crossing is situated on the line between New York and Boston, and will be known as the Narrows Crossing. It will be a great advantage to the trade of the country, and will enable vessels to pass through without risk.

In sad events, Tuscarawas, in the town of Lynn, had a sad experience last week. While some of the villagers were engaged in the usual business of the day, a sudden and unexpected accident occurred, which caused great anxiety and excitement. A young man, while in the act of crossing a narrow bridge, was suddenly taken ill, and fell into the water. The accident caused great excitement, and many were summoned to come to the assistance of the young man. Fortunately, he was thrown into the water, and his life was saved. The Queen's Ball-Fight.

TUESDAY evening last, the old hall of the Tremont House was occupied by the splendid and elegantly dressed by the queen of Boston and the leading inhabitants of the city, in the performance of another ball. The weather being rather pleasant, the gentleman's party arrived without the least delay, and the ladies found the hall in excellent order.

On Monday night last, about half a mile west of the city, in the town of Middlesex, a much-talked-about scourge was met with. The party had been out for a stroll, when they suddenly saw a man lying on the ground, his face covered with blood. They immediately called for assistance, and soon a doctor arrived on the scene. The man was taken to the hospital, where he died a few hours later. The cause of death was said to be typhoid fever.
