JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME XL.

THE REPUBLICAN.

The Jacksonville Republican advocates the platform and principles of the National Democratic party. It is edited and published by A. Woods, J. R. D. Miller.

THE TRUE SENTINEL.

We are happy to announce that we have seen the latest number of "The True Sentinel," and we feel free to say that it is a work which will be read with interest by all those who love the Cause. It is a journal of the first rank, and we are confident that its influence will be of the greatest value to the party.

In the opening article of the new number, the editor predicts that the results of the November election will be such as to surprise the world. He says that the Democratic party will make strides towards victory, and that the people will be awed and astonished at the result.

We believe that the editor is right in his predictions, and we are confident that the party will make a great stride towards victory.

The Sentinel is a true and faithful friend of the Cause, and we are glad to see that it is being so well supported.

In a word, the Sentinel is a work which will be read with interest by all those who love the Cause, and we are confident that its influence will be of the greatest value to the party.

In conclusion, we wish to say that we are happy to see the Sentinel in such a flourishing condition, and we are confident that it will continue to be a valuable work for a long time to come.

Mrs. Harmann's Party.

BY FRANK F. KNUDSON.

MRS. HARMANN'S PARTY.

There was an elaborate dressing up at Mrs. Harmann's party last Saturday night. The occasion was the opening of his comedy, and the guests were invited to come to the play. The play was a great success, and the guests enjoyed themselves. The following are some of the party:

- Mrs. Harmann and Mr. Harmann
- Mrs. Harmann's mother and father
- Mr. Harmann's sister and brother
- Mrs. Harmann's aunt and uncle
- Mrs. Harmann's cousin
- Mrs. Harmann's friend

The party was held at Mrs. Harmann's house, and the guests were served with a sumptuous repast. The guests mingled in groups, and the conversation was animated. The music was furnished by a pianist, and the guests were entertained with a number of songs.

The evening was a great success, and the guests were all highly pleased. The play was a great hit, and the guests were all enthusiastic in their praise. The party was a great success, and the guests were all highly pleased.

The Republican

The Republican is a weekly newspaper published in Jacksonville, Alabama. It was one of the few papers in the area that covered the Ku Klux Klan's activities and the effects of Reconstruction in the South. The paper's editor, Frank F. Knudson, was a member of the Republican Party and a vocal critic of the Ku Klux Klan.

The Republican was known for its strong anti-Klan stance and its support of Reconstruction. The paper's editorials often called for the protection of African American rights and the enforcement of Reconstruction measures. The Republican also covered local news and events, including the movements of the Ku Klux Klan and other groups in the area.

The paper was discontinued in the early 20th century, but its legacy continued to influence the political landscape of Jacksonville and neighboring areas. The Republican's editors and writers are remembered as early champions of civil rights and democracy in the South.
