The Sister of Mercy.

In the chamber on the first floor of the Sisters' Home, a child was lying on a cot. She was wrapped in a blanket, and though her face was pale, she was resting peacefully. The nurse standing beside her studied the child's expression and then turned to the mother, who had been sitting quietly by the bedside.

"She's doing well," the nurse said, "but she needs more rest. She's been ill for several days now."

The mother sighed and nodded. "I know, dear. I just wish I could do something to help her."

"Don't worry," the nurse安慰ed her. "The doctor said she's improving."

The mother smiled slightly. "I'm just so grateful to the Sisters for taking care of her."

The nurse smiled back. "They're wonderful people."

"Yes," the mother agreed. "They do so much for the community."

The nurse nodded and continued to watch over the child. The mother remained by her side, her hand gently resting on the child's forehead, her heart filled with love and gratitude for the selfless work of the Sisters of Mercy.
THE ELECTION.

The contest has assumed tremendous proportions in the South, and nowhere is it more fully developed in its various aspects than in Randolph County. The contest has been the most lively and active in the county's history. The Democrats have been the most active in their efforts to win the county.

The Republicans have been less active, but they have been just as determined. The contest has been a close one, and the election is expected to be decided in the last few days.

The election has been marked by a high degree of politeness and good feeling among the candidates. There has been no personal attacks, and the campaign has been conducted in a business-like manner.

The Republicans have been the most successful in their efforts to secure the vote of the people. They have been able to secure the support of the majority of the county, and the election is expected to be decided in their favor.

The Democrats have been less successful, but they have been just as determined. They have been able to secure the support of a minority of the county, and the election is expected to be decided in their favor.

A Pretty Game.

The subject of Mr. Drennon’s marriage was long discussed in a family circle, and it was decided that the wedding should be as elegant and well arranged as possible. The bride, Miss Mary Drennon, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Drennon, and the groom, Mr. Robert Drennon, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Drennon. The ceremony was to take place at the Mr. and Mrs. Drennon’s home, and the guests were invited to attend.

Aunt Sally, the housekeeper, prepared the decorations and arrangements for the wedding. She made a beautiful cake and decorated it with flowers and ribbons. She also prepared a sumptuous dinner for the guests. The wedding was a joyous occasion, and everyone enjoyed themselves.

The couple left the house and walked down the aisle in the woods, hand in hand. The guests followed them, cheering and wishing them well. The wedding was a beautiful and memorable event.

The couple was married in the presence of many guests, and the ceremony was performed by the Reverend Mr. Smith. The couple交换了誓言,并交换了戒指。

The reception followed the ceremony, and everyone enjoyed the food and company. The couple cut the cake and fed it to each other, symbolizing their union. They also toasted each other and expressed their love and admiration for each other.

The couple lived happily ever after, and the wedding was remembered fondly by all who attended.
