CONQUEST OF CYRUS.

On the 21st of February, 1881, 100 years ago, Cyrus, the great grandson of Cyrus the Great, who founded the Persian empire, died. He was the son of Darion, who was the son of Cyrus the Great. Cyrus was a brave and able general, and his death was a great loss to Persia. He was buried in a splendid tomb in the city of Persia, where he had reigned for 40 years. His death was mourned throughout the empire, and his memory will be forever remembered in the annals of history.}

The Obstructed Track.

Every boy and girl was looking out at the windows and doors of the stores, and the minutes seemed to be dragging by as the train approached. The station was alive with activity as the passengers made their way into the waiting rooms. The conductor rang the bell, and the train slowly came to a stop.
