MID-WINTER EDITION.

Some time ago we noted the exposure of Mr. Cuthbert, the Speaker, for his breach of an important part of the Constitution of this country. It was his intention to prevent the administration of justice in such a manner that the laws of the land could not be applied to him. The Speaker has been found guilty of the offense, and has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment. He is in prison now, and we hope he will be kept there until he has learned something about the Constitution.

The House has been in session for some time, and the debates have been very lively. We have heard many good speeches, and we hope that the new administration will be able to do justice to the people. We believe that the Speaker is a man of ability, and we hope he will be able to do his duty well.

The courts have been very busy, and we hope that justice will be done in all cases. We believe that the judges are men of honor, and we hope they will not be influenced by any outside pressure.

The President has been in session for some time, and we hope that he will be able to do justice to the country. We believe that he is a man of ability, and we hope he will be able to do his duty well.

The Senate has been in session for some time, and we hope that they will be able to do justice to the country. We believe that the senators are men of honor, and we hope they will not be influenced by any outside pressure.

The government has been very busy, and we hope that justice will be done in all cases. We believe that the officials are men of honor, and we hope they will not be influenced by any outside pressure.

The people have been very busy, and we hope that justice will be done in all cases. We believe that the people are men of honor, and we hope they will not be influenced by any outside pressure.

The economy of the country has been very good, and we hope that it will continue to be so. We believe that the economy is a sign of the times, and we hope that it will continue to be so.

The prosperity of the country has been very good, and we hope that it will continue to be so. We believe that the prosperity is a sign of the times, and we hope that it will continue to be so.

The government has been very busy, and we hope that justice will be done in all cases. We believe that the officials are men of honor, and we hope they will not be influenced by any outside pressure.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES

FROM ALL PARTS OF CALDICE:

Our correspondent from Marlboro Camps says:

We have the most beautiful weather for hunting that has ever been in the area. The weather has cleared up and we have had almost all season, and I have seen the birds flying for the first time this month. Mr. McLane, with his large flock of hawks and owls, has been a sight to behold. He has taken in the entire camp and is flying around in pairs and terns.

Marlboro, November 20th by H. M. Bell, F. P. at the field office, Mr. W. J. Simpson and Miss Isabella Fullerton of Columbia county. Also by the Honorable, Mr. J. D. of the nearby town of the city of Columbia, Mr. E. Sevier, President of the Association, and Miss Mary Jane of Columbia, Miss Fullerton.

The last Cross Flint's Pequotiaga the sale of the estate of Robert E. Brown, containing 260 acres, by R. I. Bell, executor, at auction by public sale to the highest bidder for the property.

The Oxford men are in good health.

Miss Jenny Woods of Jacksonville, Miss, is visiting in Oxford this week.

The building of the Kind Memorial of Crawford Hall is in progress and will be completed within a few weeks.

R. D. Sabin is a busy advertising campaigner as he is found in all parts of the city.

The Hgsn County Tax Collector will pay all taxes in the city and surrounding townships on or before the 20th day of December, the first day of the new year, the taxes will be sold at auction.

Mr. W. J. Smith has built a new house on the corner of Main and Market streets.

The closing paragraph of the last issue is as follows:

"The closing paragraph of the last issue is as follows:

"Happy New Year to all."

A dead dog from the direction of Wiggins, Miss., has been received here by Mr. W. F. Young, a local merchant. The body was recovered near a small pond. The dog was found in the pond, and was being killed by a live bear. It is believed that the bear was killed in the pond, and that the dog was killed by the bear. Mr. Young says that he will send the body to the State for examination.

WEATHER

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Tuesday, Nov. 20, 1877.

Our Market's Gross Bales are disposed of, as usual, and the last high-priced bales of cotton have been sold at a considerable premium over the low prices of the season. The demand is steady and the supply of cotton is sufficient to meet the needs of the trade. The prices of cotton are rising gradually and are expected to continue to do so in the near future.

The market is lively and up to date. Mr. Kilgore, the marvelous cotton broker, has opened his office and is ready to transact business with anyone who desires to buy or sell cotton. The demand is steady and the supply is sufficient to meet the needs of the trade. The prices of cotton are rising gradually and are expected to continue to do so in the near future.
