ASSASSINATION

in Jacksonville, Ala.

The Jacksonville Times, April 1—The death of Mrs. Mary Jane Hayes, of the Jacksonville College, this morning, while she was on her way to church, is the latest item of news that has brought mourning to this city.

Several days ago, on the night of the 29th of March, Mrs. Hayes was attacked by some unknown person outside of her house. She was shot in the head and died instantly. The police have been searching for the assassin ever since.

The police have arrested a man, Joseph H. Davis, for the murder of Mrs. Hayes. He was seen near the house on the night of the murder, and his clothes were found to be stained with blood.

The city is in mourning, and the people are united in their grief. A special meeting of the city council was held this evening to consider the matter.

The Jacksonville Times, April 1—The death of Mrs. Hayes has caused great consternation and sorrow in the city.

The police have made several arrests in connection with the murder, but the name of the assassin is not yet known. The investigation continues.
