HEADLINES.
To-morrow is Memorial Day. Fall on a thought what a great debt to our country is owed the men who died for the cause.

The story of the present and former day is told of the great men in our history, of men who fought for the rights of the people and died, and men who did not fight but who served in other ways. The story of the present day is told of the men who are fighting for the rights of the people and the men who are serving in other ways.
