A RACE FOR A HOLIDAY DINNER.

Tommy stopped short, as did the boy.

"What did you say?" asked Tommy.

"I said, 'Tommy, you're a liar! I'm only a little boy, and I can tell from my heart, and I can see from my eye, and I can hear from my ear, and I can smell from my nose, and I can talk from my mouth, and I can think from my head, and I can do anything that I want to do," replied the little boy.

"That's true," said Tommy, "but I'm not a little boy, I'm a big boy, and I can do anything that I want to do."
