AUTUMNALIA.

A DINGE AND ITS ANSWER.

The tints of the summer are fading fast, And the sere leaves are falling with every blast;
And I think at the close of each shortening day,
That another bright summer has past away.

It has past, like the rest, with its hopes and its fears, Now brightened by smiles, now bedimmed by tears,
It has past, like the rest, with its pleasure and pain—
And, like them, it must never return again.

The fast falling leaves and these withering flowers Are an emblem of man and his fleeting hours;
For he basked for a while in the sun's bright ray,
And the summer of life has passed away.

And the autumn of life is chill and drear, When like leaves of the forest our hopes appear,
As they drop one by one from the withering spray—
And the autumn of life has past away.

And the winter of life is sad and cold, When the feelings are dull and the heart grown old,
And we long for the rest that the weary shall have In the silence and gloom of the passionless grave.

But the grass of the grave can new flowrets send forth;
And the soul of the just hath a refuge of worth,
And the spring of eternity lessons for aye,
And its leaves never fade nor its bliss-some decay.

Though the sun never shines in those regions so bright, Yet the Lamb that was slain is their shadowless light;
And the pavement of sapphires can never be dim,
For his bright with the radiance reflected from Him.

Unfading glories, unsated the heart:
The one never flags, nor the other depart;
And the eye never tires, though unbounded the view;
And the joys, though unchanging, forever are new!

The muse on the emblems of earthly decay, Yet trace, amid the darkness, a promise of day;
And hear, amid the rustling of sere leaves and flowers,
The harps of the angels in amainth lowers!

THE NEWS BOY'S DOLLAR.

He was scarcely six years old—perhaps not five—but he had that premature old look that is born of the too early struggle in the battle of life. His little pale, red-faced face possessed no beauty with which to attract the passer by and interest the sentimental almsgiver. He had no "large blue eyes," nor "soft brown curls," to recommend him to those searchers for romantic subjects of charity on which to lavish their fine sympathies. No! His eyes were of a pale, leaden gray, and slightly awry in their sockets, and his hair was crisped and jagged with ex-posure to sun and weather. Still that wan face, was an interesting one to me. He was but a small specimen of humanity, though his moshill voice piped up the cry of the afternoon papers as briskly as the stoutest boys among them.

I bought a second copy of the "Extry" arrival of the Afrik, latest news from Sebastopol, &c., on purpose to have some conversation with the ambitious news-vendor.
His mother and sick sister and himself, I found were all of the little family. His mother sang the song of the shirt all day and starved; his little sister was too sick to sing or eat, and he sold papers to pay the rent of their room and to help his mother and sister starve.
"How many extras have you sold?" asked I, as I was about leaving him, after having learned his little history.
The number was given.
"What are you going to do with the money?"
"Give it to my mother: to-morrow is our rent day."
"That is a good boy; always try and help your mother. Here is a shilling, to help you buy a nice supper for your mother tonight."
The leaden eyes brightened up and the little pinched, skeleton face smiled all over with grateful joy.

It was two hours later; I was returning home, when, passing the spot where I had bought the second "Extry," (which contained, after all false information, as the next arrival proved.) I was attracted by a crowd of boys, round the door of—no matter where—one of our flourishing shops.

From the heart of the juvenile crowd came forth the childish sobs a sound always appealing to my sudden sympathies. I peered over the heads of the tattered "small fry," and recognized my little friend, the newsboy, setting upon the steps of the store, and crying as though his poor little heart would break.

"What is the matter?" asked I.
"I lost all my money," sobbed the boy, looking up and showing that pale, puny, unpossessing little face all begrimed with tears and dirt.

"He's lost most a dollar down the grating there," said one of the largest boys, in an indignant voice, "and the big ugly clerk won't let us go down into the cellar and look for it, and he gives us all his just now, and threatened us with the police because we wouldn't leave the store door."

"He'll get all's dollar himself, and keep it," spoke up another of the indignant crowd.
"Never mind, I'll give him a sixpence of my earnings," said a little pale faced boy who went on crutches.

"And I'll give him another—don't cry, Alf!"
"And I!"
"And I!"

While this passing chorus was being sung by these fresh young hearts, who notwithstanding their poverty and wretchedness, had not yet learned the selfishness of the world, the "big ugly clerk," came out looking black and threateningly.

"Hav'n't you gone yet, you little vagabonds?" commenced he, in a voice of thunder, but seeing me he anteded apologetically in a milder tone—"these boys are so!"

"It seems this fellow has lost his money down your gratings, could you not permit him to go in your cellar and look for it?" asked I.

"Oh certainly," said the obsequious clerk; "but they are such a living, thieving set; one does not know when to believe them." I walked on slowly for a few steps, watching the result of my little friend's search.

Presently he came out of the store with those who accompanied him, his dirty little face wreathed with the brightest smiles.
"Did you find your money?"
"Yes, ma'am."
"Where are you going now?"
"Home," replied the boy.

"I'll go with you, and see your mother."
It was a dingy dark comfortable little room such as has been described to heedless ears thousands of times.

There was another heart-break for little "Alf." His sick sister was dying.
There was no one in the room but the little newsboy's pale, anxious mother—the poor one troubled with no superabundance of friends.

"Can nothing be done for her?" said I, going up to the wretched bed on which lay what seemed to be the shadow of a girl. "Can nothing be done for her?" Slowly and mournfully the poor mother shook her head. "It is too late," said she.

Starvation and neglect had done their work. To keep a roof over the sick child's head, the poor mother was obliged to go out and seek work, and often unable to get it, leaving for hours the little girl who needed her constant care.

I hastened to the nearest druggist to procure some light cordial to restore and nourish the fading life, but when I returned the last faint spark which warmed the little girl's heart had burned out—the child was dead.

The Society buried little Alf's sister, and found employment for the mother. But it was many a day before the little sorrowing newsboy could cry his "Extry" in the clear, piping tone as he did before the death of his little sister.

A Call to the Friends of Ireland in Georgia.

IT RELIES TO ONE WHO WOULD GO.
Fellow-Countrymen:—The time for Ireland's independence has at last arrived. England is now on the verge of destruction. She has drafted the last man from the shores of your dear native land, and has left but a few thousand disloyal police to guard her ports.— Your unfortunate countrymen at home, are ready and anxious for the moment to arrive when they can hail you as their deliverers, and unite their many voices with yours in sending up to the very portals of high Heaven one wild hurrah for liberty and freedom! Remember the words of the immortal O'Connell:
"England's difficulty is Ireland's opportunity." Fellow-countrymen, Ireland's opportunity is now at hand. She has never had a better one; and if we are to judge the future by the past, she will never have a better opportunity than the present, to strike for her freedom. Then, for God's sake, bury your dissensions, both religious and political, in one common grave, and rally to your country's deliverance. Ask no man what his politics or religion is. No! but ask him if he is a friend to Ireland. If he says he is, then say to him:

"Come pledge again thy heart and hand, One grasp that ne'er shall sever, Our watchword be—Our Native Land, Our motto—Love forever!"

Our affairs are to be so conducted as not to compromise the government that has sheltered us with a home when tyranny drove us from our heritage, and we roomed over the earth friendless exiles, without a place to lay our heads.— Yes, Countrymen, America reached her hand at this extremity, and welcomed us to a participation of all the rights and immunities of freedom and it never shall be said that the laws that have afforded us such ample protection will ever be insulted by one disloyal act of ours. No—nor the banner, for whose glory and honor we have been ready to lay down our lives, ever blush at our ungrateful, ever blushing countrymen. Let the star spangled banner that unfurled over the altar of her own fair land, and may she there forever wave, with orient pride and sublime dignity, over the land of the free, the seat of the noble, and the home of the brave! But, fellow-countrymen, let us rally once more beneath the standard of Green, and unite in one solid phalanx in the injury of freedom.

Charge boldly onward, for the redemption of the Emerald spot that gives us birth. Let us at once assume and repair to the altar of Liberty, and there beneath the folds of the stars and stripes fight the torch of freedom, and swear by the outrage of murder and famine, that it never shall be extinguished until it is applied to our dear native land, and a fire of liberty there kindled, that shall wrap the British Empire in flames, and consume her corrupt carcass to ashes.— For my own part, I am ready at a moment's warning. I have no funds to contribute, but I can purchase my own coat, pay my own passage, and on my country's altar, offer up my life as a sacrifice to the God of Liberty. Yes—And thank God that ever I drew my breath,
To triumph in such a noble death!

"Oh! Erin, shall it ever be mine, To wreak thy wrong in battle line!
To raise my victor head and see, Thy hills, thy dales, thy valleys free?"

Oh! then friends of Ireland in Georgia, rally, and come to the rescue of five millions of your starving, mistreated and oppressed countrymen at home. They will strike for their own independence if they had the means to do it without they have them not. We have the means, fellow-countrymen.

Let us then reach forth our hands and grasp them with all the fury of revenge, and with the holy enthusiasm of Patriots, the genius and majesty of freedom, and the vengeance of centuries of outrage and oppression, strike for liberty and justice.

Yes, Countrymen,
"Strike! till the last armed foe expires; Strike! for your altars and your fires;
Strike! for the green graves of your sires; God, and your Native Land!"

You will, therefore, without a moment's delay, organize yourselves into Irish Emigrant Aid Societies in every city and town in Georgia, and draft your resolutions, and send them on to the Irish Emigrant Aid Society in the City of Boston from whom you will receive a charter, accompanied with all the necessary instructions for the future.
Arouse then, ye hairy breasted and sinewy multitude, and shake off the fatal lethargy that paralyzes your noble energies. Arouse, ye high of heart and strong of arm—ye, to whom danger and destruction is but a scoff, onward to the redemption of your dear, native land.
She is sinking deeper and deeper every day, in the putrid quagmire of infamy, that her heartless oppressor has thrown around her. She is now making her dying struggle. Her noble Patriots at home, have done all they can to rescue her, and as a dying resort have thrown a rope across the broad Atlantic, and in a voice of thunder, are now calling on their friends in America to lay hold and wrench them from the grasp of their Monster Tyrant. Oh! then, fellow-countrymen, from East to West, from North to South, around above, below, come—come all, lay hold give a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether, and tear her from the strangling grasp of her butcher tyrant.

Then join the inspiring anthem of redeemed millions, and once more behold your beautiful Island, pure and regenerated, an emerald-set in the ring of the Sea.

An Angel in Every House.

There is an ANGEL in every house!
No matter how fallen the inmates, how depressing their circumstances, there is an angel there to pity or to cheer. It may be in the person of a little child; or it may be enclosed in a stooping and wrinkled body, treading the downward path to the grave. Or, perhaps, in a cheerful spirit, looking upon the ills of life as no many steps toward heaven, if only bravely overcome, and mounted with sinless feet.

We knew such an angel once, and it was a drunkard's child. On every side wherever she moved she saw only misery and degradation, and yet she did not fall. Her father was brutal and her mother discouraged, and her home thoroughly comfortless. But she struggled along with angel endurance, bearing with an almost saintly patience, the infringements of him who gave her existence, and then hourly embittered it.— Night after night, at the hours of ten, twelve, and even one, hard, cold, ragged, shallow and boresome, has she been to the den of the drunkard, and gone staggering home with her arm around her father. Many a time has her flesh been blue with the mark of his hand, when she has stepped in between her helpless mother and violence. Many a time has she set upon the cold carbones with his head in her lap; many a time known how bitter it was to cry for him, though his head was spent for him.

And the patience that the angel wrought with, made her young face shine, so that though never acknowledged in the courts of this world, in the kingdom of heaven she was waited for by a smothered host of spirits, and the crown of martyrdom ready lay awaiting her fair young brow.

And she was a martyr. Her gentle spirit went up from a couch of anguish; anguish brought on by ill-usage and neglect. And never till then did the father recognize the angel in the child.
Never till then did his manhood arise from the dust of his dishonor. From her humble grave, he went away to step his resolves for the better in bitter tears; and he will tell you to day, how the memory of her meek enduring life, keeps him from the bowl; how he goes sometimes and stands where her patient hands have held him, while her cheek crimsoned at the sneers of those who scoffed at the drunkard's child.

Search for the angels in your households, and cherish them while they are among you. It may be that all unconsciously you frown upon them, when a smile would lead you to a knowledge of their exceeding worth. They may be among the last cared for, most despised; but when they are gone with their silent influence, then will you mourn for them as for a jewel of great worth.

NEW YORK.

A Southerner sojourning in New York writes to the Richmond Enquirer the following account of his experience in a fashionable New York Church, where "crowded houses" render it necessary to secure a seat in advance. A friend at our elbow suggests that when the owners of some of these fashionable pews get to Heaven, they may find the seats all "taken."

"Having for some time had a desire to hear the Rev. Stephen H.
Ting, I went, in company with a friend, to St. George's Church, yesterday afternoon. The church is a magnificent one, and in the most fashionable portion of the city. All of the 'Upper Tendon' attend there. On opening a pew door to walk in I saw a large printed card (very neatly printed) with this notice on it:

STRANGERS ARE RESPECTFULLY REQUESTED NOT TO OCCUPY THIS PEW.

Just then a gentleman sitting opposite remarked to me that that pew was taken. There was sufficient room in his pew for us, but as he did not open the door, I could not help thinking of 'secedents' at the theatre. We passed on to another pew, and were hardly seated before a tall-faced looking gentleman, with a voice as if his throat had just been oiled, touched me on the shoulder, and said that 'he would have to occupy his pew with his family.' The tall-faced gentleman's family consisted of himself, wife, wife's acquaintance, two grown daughters and two children. As the pew was only intended to seat five, we left at once; but thought it singular that a gentleman (?) who would crowd seven people into a pew and pay for five, should look so very important when he spoke for his pew.

"We would have left immediately then, but felt a curiosity to hear what kind of a sermon Dr.
Ting would preach to such a set.—
So we walked on a little further, when a gentleman pointed us to a pew which he said was 'not taken.' We took our seats, congratulated ourselves that we had found one at last. After service was over, I went to the pew where we found the printed proclamation, and taking it up, read it carefully and made a copy of it. The wife of the tall faced gentleman, and the flaxen haired gentleman, who had just left the forbidden pew looked at me very savagely. The aforesaid looked as if she had just taken a dose of castor oil, or some thing else bad to take."

INSTANCES OF PULPIT ELOQUENCE.

In the life of John Flavel; a renowned dissenting preacher of England, it is said "one of those omens, which are supposed to announce eminence, accompanied his birth. A pair of nightingales made their nest on the window of the chamber of his mother, and with their delicious notes sang the birth of him, whose tongue sweetly proclaimed the glad tidings which gave songs in the night." I cannot assert that the oratorical distinction of John C. Barris was proceeded by such incident. But it has seldom been my fortune to hear a speaker. In very early years, a student in Washington city, I heard the famous Sumnerfield, a young Methodist itinerant. His face and form were of womanly almost angelic beauty. A divine lustre beamed from his eyes.
His clear, full sonorous voice, fell like the tones of a mountain bell, one moment, and anon, came crashing, thundering down, with terrible effect on the startled masses, forcing them to cry aloud and crowd together, with uplifted arms, as though for shelter from an impending avalanche. His eloquence shook sin from its citadel and dragged vice and fashion from their "pri de place." The sensation he produced was tremendous. Multitudes followed his footsteps. As a field preacher he towered alongside of Whitfield; but he soon went down to the grave, consumed by his own fire, and called to a higher sphere for some inscrutable purpose.

It is related of Bossuet, that when he pronounced the funeral sermon of the Princess Henrietta and described her dying agonies, the whole audience arose from their seats, with terror in every countenance.

When Massillon ascended the pulpit, on the death of Louis XIV, he contemplated for a moment the impressive spectacle—the chapel draped in black—the magnificent mausoleum raised over the bier—the dim but vast apartment filled with the trophies of the glory of the monarch, and with the most illustrious persons in the kingdom.
He looked down on the gorgeous scene beneath, then raised his arms to heaven and said in a solemn subdued tone "Mes freres Dieu seul est grand!"—"God only is great." With one impulse, all the audience arose, turned to the altar, and reverently bowed.

When Dr. Hassy preached at Waterford, on the small number of the elect, he asked whether, if the arch of Heaven were to open, and the Son of man should appear to judge his hearers, were it quite certain that three—that two—nay, trembling for myself as well as for you, is it certain that one of us, "he exclaimed in a voice of thunder, "would be saved?"— During the whole time of this aspostrophe, the audience was agitated. At the ultimate interrogation, there was a general shriek, and some fell to the ground.

M. Briane, a French missionary, and the peer of the most renowned orators of that eloquent nation, preached a sermon at Bag-noie. At the end of it he lifted up his arms and thrice cried in a loud voice, O Eternity! at the third repetition of this awful cry, the whole party fell on their knees.— During three days consternation prevailed the town. In the public places young and old were heard crying aloud, Mercy! O Lord, Mercy!

Writing Bricks.—It is important that every one engaged in building should be well informed in regard to the durability of materials: Very few people, or even builders, are aware of the advantage of wetting bricks before laying them, or if aware of it, they do not practise it? for of the many houses now in progress in this city, there are very few in which wet bricks are used. A wall twelve inches thick, built of good mortar with bricks well soaked, is stronger in every respect than one eighteen inches thick built dry. The reason of this is, that if the bricks are well saturated with water, they will not abstract from the mortar the moisture which is necessary for its crystallization; and on the contrary, they will unite chemically with the mortar, and become as solid as a rock. On the other hand, if the bricks are put up dry, they immediately take all the moisture from the mortar, leaving it dry to hard-den, and the consequence is that, when a building of this description is taken down or tumbles down of its own accord, the mortar from it is like so much sand.

Scientific American

The reports from Norfolk and Portsmouth are really alarming.
The fever seems to be raging with no abatement from its violence.— On Sunday, the deaths in Portsmouth alone, amounted to thirty, and on Monday the report is that the disease was rapidly increasing.
There has been two hundred and twelve deaths since the 6th inst.
A private letter to the South Side Democrat, (Petersburg) dated Saturday, says that there were seven or eight hundred cases in the city.

Major Woodis, who has been for morning a victim to his own benevolence and magnanimity. He had abundant opportunities for leaving the city, but he still remained for his own death. The South Side Democrat says: "Since the moment that the pestilence first visited the city of Norfolk, he has walked the unceasing round of his responsible and dangerous duty with a courage and a zeal which knew neither fear nor fatigue. No remuneration could move him from the task to which he had devoted himself. He offered I life a willing sacrifice if Providence should see fit to call him. Where-ever the pestilence raged most fiercely, and men shrank most in terror from its approach Woodis was seen battling bravely against it, and throwing a succoring arm around its trembling victims. After weeks of heroic exertion, he fell at last on Thursday evening after a day we are told, of unparalleled effort, and was carried to the hospital. Broken down with weariness and watching, his exhausted frame sunk rapidly under the terrible scourge. And Sunday morning, despite the prayers and labors and love of a stricken people, he died. His loss is an irreparable calamity—the heaviest affliction that has befallen the afflicted cities. How heavy then to his poor wife and four or five little children.
Be the widow's husband and the orphan's father a friend to them, for there never was dropped a tear over the grave of a nobler soul than Hunter Woodis."

PROOF OF MONSTER GUNS.—Mr.
Nasmyth, of Patrieroff, who is making the monster guns for the Horatio, has nearly finished the first gun, which we believe, will be ready for trial in a few days.— It was arranged that this gun should be tested on the north shore, at Liverpool, and this we hope and believe will be done, as originally intended. Military and scientific men from all parts of the country will be present on the occasion. These guns, with their carriages, will weigh fifty tons each, and will carry a shot half a ton weight a distance of four miles.
It will take two and a quarter barrels of powder, or 225 pounds for a charge. Guns like these must add a new feature to the destructive engines of modern warfare, particularly against such stone walls as those at Cronstadt and Sebastopol.—Liverpool Times.

The present number of our paper is printed on a portion of a lot recently purchased from the Rock Island Paper Mills, Columbus, Ga. It is decidedly the best paper we have used for years, and is sold as low as like quality can be purchased in New York, or at least as we have ever been able to purchase it.

The "North Alabama Register," is the name of a new democratic paper recently started at Bellefontaine, Ala. by W. J. Green, Esq. It is large, neatly executed on a new type, and filled with interesting matter.

CORRECTION:--The sale of Land by Jas. Lea and E. S. Simmons, Esq's. will be on one and two years credit. The terms were omitted in the advertisement handed us, and would have been corrected sooner, but we did not get the first letter requesting it.

NEW MAIL ROUTE.--We are gratified to learn that through the praiseworthy exertions of Judge Thomason and others a regular tri-weekly mail has been established directly from Jacksonville to Asheville, Ala. which will be a great convenience to the citizens at both ends of the route.

J. KAHN & BRO., are now receiving a part of their splendid Stock of New Fall and Winter Goods, purchased recently in New York by the senior partner of the firm. Advertisement giving particulars will appear in our next.

subject of the Dalton and Gadsden and Jacksonville Rail Road will be published next week.

DEATH OF GOV. COLLIER.--The last Florence Gazette came to us in the drapery of mourning for the death of ex-Governor Collier, who died at Bailey's Springs in Lauderdale County on the 25th ult. He passed through Florence a few days before, on his way to the Springs, at which time he thought he was improving, but his disease assumed a more malignant character, and he grew worse until he died. Although absent from home his last days were cheered and his sufferings soothed by the presence and attention of a portion of his family and friends. His wife and daughter, two of his brothers, and also Drs. Manly and Haywood of Tuscaloosa were with him.

BASCOM FEMALE INSTITUTE, HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA.

Having recently paid a brief visit to this Institute, we can safely say that all our previously conceived favorable impressions, from reading the annual circular, advertisements, &c., were more than realized. During the short space of time allowed for our visit to Huntsville, and a part of that embracing the Sabbath, we became acquainted with the able and efficient President of the Institute, Rev. G. M. EVERHART, by whom we were politely shown various apartments in the building, accompanied by very interesting explanations of the different plans and arrangements. With respect to the building we will only say that it is certainly more admirably planned and executed, for the purposes intended than any we have ever seen and, for other particulars would refer to the advertisement which may be found in this paper. This taste and liberality is not alone exhibited in the building and decorations, but carried out in the selection of the most competent and well qualified officers and Teachers, and in a liberal expenditure for Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus, Musical Instruments, &c.

Huntsville appears to be admirably adapted for the location of such an Institution. It is said to contain from three to four thousand inhabitants; and appears to have been the chosen, permanent residence of many gentlemen of wealth, who expend a liberal portion of their abundant means in elegant and tasteful decorations and improvements. It is the most abundantly supplied with pure water of almost any Town or City in the Union; has wide, clean, well paved streets, and the buildings, uniformly bear the marks of elegance, taste, and refinement; and perhaps there is not another place in the Union, displaying fewer evidences or appearances of poverty, want or destitution. If some of our Southern travelers were to find just such a place in one of the Northern States, we have no doubt they could fill a letter of two columns in length with an enthusiastic description, but which if found in the South would scarcely elicit a passing notice. But we hope that the time has arrived for the cultivation of a more intense Southern feeling--when our own majestic scenery, rivers, mountains, valleys, and mineral waters will attract more attention and admiration, and a more correct estimate and sense of justice prevail towards our own men of political and moral worth, education and refinement.

In the publication of the news of the day, it is sometimes our duty to give items of intelligence of painful interest. Of this character are the accounts given in to day's paper of the late dreadful Rail Road accident between Philadelphia and N. York, by which upwards of twenty were killed, and 60 or 80 wounded, and the continuation and increase of the ravages of the yellow fever at Portsmouth, Norfolk, New Orleans, &c. It appears to be raging with more fatality at the first named places than ever known in cities of equal size, and the only hope of arresting it seems to be the total removal of the inhabitants to some other locality. The deaths in New Orleans from yellow fever average from 300 to 400 per week, and some 200 from other diseases, and it has also lately made its appearance at Vicksburg. Unless checked by an early frost, we shall expect to hear of its appearance at many other places on the Mississippi, and a vast increase of mortality in New Orleans.

We have been politely favored by the Publisher with a copy of the work mentioned in the following paragraph, but have not had time as yet to give it a perusal. From numerous complimentary notices, we have no doubt it is exceedingly interesting, and we hope it will be universally purchased and carefully read, as some reward and manifestation of admiration for southern genius. Single copies of three or more 75 cents. Address J. M. Smythe, Augusta, Ga. "HENRY VERNON; OR, THE DREAM."--To the accomplished author, J. M. SMYTHE, long known to the literary men and readers of Georgia, we are indebted for a copy of this interesting and chaste novel. We had opportunity but to glance through its pages, but we found much vigorous thought and beauty of expression to admire. It is a home production, and, therefore, deserves a large patronage from Southern readers. Southerner.

EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE CANAL. The steamer Herman sailed from Southampton on the 15th for New York, with two hundred passengers.

THE WAR--OPERATIONS IN THE BALTIC.

The announcement that the allied fleet in the Baltic had destroyed Swaborg, was taken up by the Herald, but the Canada brings subsequent details, which modify the first accounts. The following is the first despatch on the subject from the French Admiral.

On Board the Louisville, Aug. 11, 1855.--The bombardment of Swaborg by the allied squadrons has been attended with success. An immense conflagration, lasting 45 hours, has destroyed nearly all the storehouses and magazines of the Arsenal, which is a complete ruin. Various powder magazines and stores of projectiles blew up. The enemy has received a terrible blow and suffered an enormous loss. Our loss is insignificant in men and nothing whatever in material. The crews are enthusiastic. PENAUD.

The dispatch of Admiral Dundas is less highly colored, and is as follows. Off Swaborg Saturday, Aug. 11, 1855.--Swaborg was attacked by the mortar and gun-boats of the allied squadron on the morning of the 9th. The firing ceased early this morning. Heavy explosions and very destructive fires were produced. In a very few hours nearly all the principal buildings on Swarte, including those of the Dockyard and Arsenal, were burned. Few casualties have occurred, and no lives lost in the allied fleets.

(Signed) DUNDAS. It will be observed that in the above no mention has been made of the Russian ships. St Petersburg, Aug. 11.--A Russian despatch on the 11th, says: The Allied fleet opened the bombardment against Swaborg on the 6th, and have kept it up with energy until now.

LATEST. Danzig, Aug. 19.--The allied squadron returned to Nargen from Swaborg, on the 13th. None of the allied ships were seriously damaged. The British casualties were killed, none; wounded, two officers and thirty men. The French loss is equally trifling. Advice from Koingsburg state that when the attack on Swaborg began, the Grand Duke Constantine asked permission from the Emperor to attack the diminished fleet before Cronstadt, but the Emperor refused.

Swaborg seems not to be in possession of the allies, and as it is not a key to any important position, its destruction must be regarded as a detached enterprise, and not as any part of any comprehensive operation. Its successful bombardment, however, has had the effect to revive the spirits of the fleet, and to satisfy expectations at home. Consols advanced 1-4 per cent, and the French funds 25 centimes on the receipt of the news.

THE CRIMEA. The news from the Crimea is important, a great battle having been fought on the Chernaya. The British Government received the following dispatch: Tarna, Aug. 16.--The Russians attacked the position at Chernaya this morning at daybreak in great force. The action lasted about three hours, but they were completely repulsed by the French and Sardinians.

SECOND DESPATCH. "ONE O'CLOCK.--The Russians attack this morning, was under command of Librandi, with from 40,000 to 50,000 men. Their loss is estimated from 4,000 to 5,000, and about 400 prisoners are taken. The loss on the side of the Allies was very small." Pelissier telegraphs on the 16th, as follows:

"For some days past rumors of an intended attack on the part of the Russians had excited our attention, and this morning at day break they realized their intention against our lines on the Chernaya. But in spite of the movement of imposing masses, which had been collected during the night, the enemy were repulsed with great vigor by the troops forming the divisions of Generals Herbillon, Canava, Fanchoux and Moris. The Sardinians placed on our right fought bravely. The Russians fled, and we made many prisoners. The Russians were in complete retreat on Mackenzie's Hill when our reserve came up, and with the aid of our brave allies, particularly the English cavalry, the enemy received a severe blow. Our losses although much less numerous than those of the enemy, are not yet known.

PELISSIER. Affairs before Sebastopol were unchanged. Omar Pacha had received hurried orders to return to the Crimea instead of going to Asia. General Simpson telegraphed on the 16th: "General Pelissier and I have decided to open the fire from the English and French batteries to-morrow morning at daybreak."

St. Petersburg letters say that Gortschakoff has orders from the Emperor to sink the Russian fleet if the Malakoff falls. The London Morning Post (Ministerial organ) says editorially: "We have reason to believe that stirring and hitherto unexpected intelligence may be looked for from the Crimea within the next few days."

It is supposed to refer to the secret expedition or field movements. SEX OF AZOFF. The Invalides Russes publishes that on July 23d a British gun boat went ashore near Tanganog, and was burned by the Osacks.

ARRIVAL OF THE CRESCENT CITY. New Orleans, September 1.--The steam ship Crescent City has arrived from Havana, with advices to the 25th ult. SANTA ANNA and family arrived at Havana on the 24th, and left for Caracas on the 26th ultimo.

COTTON.--The sales to day comprised 1000 bales. Middling was quoted at 91-2. Flour is dull at 87.25 per bbl.

NEW YORK MARKETS. New York, Sept. 1.--Cotton is firm and 1200 bales changed hands to day. Flour is a trifle lower. Corn is firm. Spirits of Turpentine is worth 44 cents per gallon. Rice is quiet.

LOUISIANA.--The Richmond (Madison parish) Journal, of Friday last, says: So far as our observation has extended, we are satisfied that the cotton crop will be a short one. The weed has matured, and the crop is now made. Usually at this season of the year our cotton fields are white with blooms in the morning; but now it is a rare thing to find a field blooming to any extent.

erates the conductor, blames the engineer, and suggests that some rule should be adopted, in order in future to prevent similar accidents.

Washington, D. C. Sept. 5.--A committee from Norfolk has waited upon the President, to ask the use of Fort Monroe for the citizens of the infected cities. This, however, was not his power to grant, but he has issued orders to the Commandants of the other Navy Yards to employ refugees from Gosport. The Cabinet have contributed $300 for the relief of the sufferers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.--There was a full meeting of the Cabinet to-day, and a considerable amount of business which had accumulated during the President's absence was considered.

Almonte, the Mexican Minister does not fear a recall by Carrera, the provisional President, who is his personal friend. WEDDING, N. C., Sept. 2.--The gallant Daniel J. Ricardo, now at Norfolk, has telegraphed to New Orleans for twenty more nurses. Fever in Norfolk begets all description.

LATER FROM EUROPE. ARRIVAL OF THE ATLANTIC.

The steamer Atlantic has arrived at New York with one week's later news from Europe.

LIVERPOOL MARKET. Liverpool, Aug. 28.--Cotton is easier, but not quotably lower--the market closed steady.

THE WAR. Nothing important has been received from the Crimea.

The Russian loss at Swaborg was only 200 killed and wounded. Affairs at Sebastopol are quiet and unchanged. The Russians hold their former positions.

COLUMBIA, Sept. 6.--The fever at Norfolk and Portsmouth is greatly increased. Forty dead bodies were unburied for want of coffins. The deaths at Norfolk on Sunday were 60; on Monday 57. Fourteen hundred cases under treatment.

From the Phila. North American, 30th. Terrible Railroad Accident--Upwards of Twenty Persons Killed, and over Forty Wounded.

There occurred yesterday another scene of railroad disaster, which was accompanied by dreadful loss of life and limb. It appears that the ten o'clock A. M. train from Philadelphia proceeded as usual on the way, until they got about a mile above Burlington, N. J., when they dived over the train from New York coming down at full speed. The engine back on to a siding to let the New York train pass, when the track was crossed by a carriage and two horses driven by Dr. Hamman, of Columbus, N. J. The horses were caught by the hindmost car, knocked down and crushed to death. The Doctor was thrown out and made a narrow escape, the carriage being shivered to pieces. This collision caused the rear car to be thrown off the track and dragged some distance, breaking it up, and dragging it after the engine car, which was smashed to pieces. The other cars were forced through it, and thrown down an embankment on either side of the road. There were five cars completely torn to pieces. A more sad wreck we never witnessed on a railroad. One of the cars was reduced to splinters. Another was out in twain. The major part of the passengers in the rear cars were instantly killed or seriously injured.

The scene that ensued baffles all description. The consternation was so great that a panic of horror seized on all who survived the awful calamity. Twenty-two persons were killed and about forty wounded most shockingly. Some so badly that recovery is almost impossible. Last night the remains of the dead were carefully deposited in coffins, furnished by the authorities of Burlington. The spectacle at the Town Hall was of the most painful character. Fifteen coffins being arranged around the centre of the room. When we left, the corner of the place was about swarming with a jury to investigate the case. Almost every house in Burlington contained one or more of the sufferers by this terrible catastrophe. During the entire day this unusually quiet town was the scene of the wildest excitement. Four of the cars were mashed to pieces. In some cases the mutilation was horrible. One had his arm torn off in a fearful manner. Another had an arm also torn off and thrown some distance up the embankment, and his legs separated from his body, his heart and viscera strewn along the track for a great distance. One or two others were buried in the sand, and others were crushed to death between the sleepers. One had his scalp taken off; another had his thigh broken. Several others had arms broken, and were lacerated and bruised in the most dreadful manner.

ARREST OF THE PESTIFEROUS.--A writer in Saturday's National Intelligencer suggests an expedient for staying the ravages of the Yellow Fever, by the removal of the whole population of Norfolk and Portsmouth to Old Point and the Rapp-Rap. That removal (he says) can be effected in one day. Provisions of all kinds can be easily conveyed to those places. In a healthy locality, such as either of them, the fever will not diffuse itself. The sick may die, and the tainted may become sick--but the healthy will escape. If they remain in the infected District no abatement of the pestilence can be expected till nearly two months off. In that period, what misery what woe, what bereavement may not witness! Prompt and decisive action is evoked.

A MISERS EPITAPH.

"Here lies Old Thirty-two. Per cent! The more he got the more he lent: The more he lent the more he craved! Good God! can such a soul be saved?"

PRESIDENT PIERCE IN VIRGINIA.

The Baltimore American gives the following account of the reception of the President of the United States at Staunton, Va.:

"The President of the United States, on his arrival at Staunton, Virginia, on Thursday last, was welcomed to the hospitalities of the town by the mayor and council. A splendid dinner was prepared at the Virginia Hotel of which the visitors and a number of citizens partook. To a complimentary toast the President responded--we quote from the Vindicator--as follows:

"He alluded to the pleasure it afforded him of visiting the citizens of Staunton, and breathing the atmosphere of Virginia, not only from its invigorating effects, but on account of its nationality. He adverted to the thoughts suggested as he passed in sight of Monticello, and expatiated with ardent eloquence upon the value and importance of preserving inviolate that great chart of our liberty--the constitution--in the forming of which Mr. Jefferson acted so prominent a part. His feelings revolted from the idea of a dissolution of the Union. It would be the libid of innumerable woes, from the contemplation of which he shrank. He continued by alluding to the greatness of Virginia, not only as it respected the enlarged patriotism of her people, but her physical resources, and closed by returning his thanks for the cordial welcome that had been extended to him."

"Subsequently, the President and Senator Mason visited the Insane Asylum and the Deaf and Dumb institution, expressing much pleasure at all they saw. On Friday morning the President and Mrs. Pierce, Senator Mason, J. S. Barbour, jr., and others, left by a special train for the springs."

A MOST GLOOMY PICTURE.

A most worthy citizen sends the Richmond Enquirer the following, which is enough to make one's heart bleed for the sufferings of our brethren:

Nonfolk, Aug. 18, 1855.

There is no abatement of the yellow fever either in this city or Portsmouth. During this week, there has been a daily increase in the burials at Norfolk, and from all I can learn, the last twenty hours will show about 12 deaths, many of whom are our best and most useful citizens.

Thousands of our people have left us, and many more are daily going off to occupy corn houses and stables, half frantic with alarm. I learn to-day that cases have occurred three miles from this city, which makes us poor mortals think that we have become better contented with our condition. My heart sickens at the recital of our sufferings, and I long to say no more. The only hope I have is, may not visit Richmond this plague."

It becomes every day more mysterious, and truly it walketh in darkness. Your friend, J. W.

PROGRESS OF THE FEVER AT NORFOLK AND PORTSMOUTH.--We extract from the Richmond Dispatch, of Monday 3d inst. the following: The accounts from the infected cities are of a most melancholy character. In Norfolk, on Friday, there were forty burials, and nine deaths after the list was made up.

The Augusta, Saturday evening, brought up several persons who had gone down to tend the sick, some of them having yielded to the earnest advice of physicians, who assured them that to remain was almost certain death. One informant, who left Norfolk Saturday, says that the state of things there is truly appalling. While walking one of the principal streets, he saw a man lying on a cedar cap, in almost the agony of death, with no one in sight. A little further on he saw a child rushing screaming from a house, and upon going in, found that one of her parents had just died, and the other was lying on a bed of death.

FEVER IN PORTSMOUTH.--The Portsmouth Transcript has the following account of his field of misfortune for four days:

500 patients were visited in town, including new cases, on Wednesday. On Tuesday, 13 deaths, 11 on Wednesday--as reported by the attending physicians. On Thursday, 559 visited--81 new cases. The deaths as reported by authority were 13 to town and 14 at the U. S. Navy Hospital, making a total of 27. Physicians think the disease has or is assuming a milder type.

A MAN AND TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.--An awful catastrophe occurred at Rouse Point, Canada, on the 28th ult., involving the death of three persons. It seems that Mrs. Mary Kannelly had procured a barrel of whiskey from this city, which by some means suddenly that two of the children of Mrs. Kannelly, and a man by the name of Patrick McGrath, were burned to death. Mrs. Kannelly also severely burnt, and was not at last accounts expected to live.

In Paris the telegraph wires are laid underground, to poles being seen in the streets. A trench is dug twelve or 18 inches wide, in which the wires are placed side by side, but so as not to touch each other. Liquid bitumen is then poured on, which surrounds the wires, and completely isolates them. It secures them from damage by accident or design, and from being deranged by atmospheric influence. The same plan is to be adopted at Lyons.

LIGNEOUS PAPER MILL.--We mentioned a few weeks since, says the Little Falls (N. Y.) Journal, that the foundation for a new paper mill for the manufacture of paper from Basswood had been commenced in our village, by Mr. George W. Beardslee, of Albany.

It will be the most substantial and durable building in our village. The dimensions of the main building are: 81 by 100 feet, with a wing on the east side of 50 feet wide and 90 feet long. Mr. Beardslee is manufacturing his own paper engines in this village. There will be from fifteen to twenty of them for the manufacture of pulp, capable of turning out 50 tons per week. Mr. B. will be confined to basswood. He has experimented with spruce, pine, hemlock, white-wood, buckeye, &c., and is confident he can produce a good, first rate quality of paper from each of them, and at a less price than printers are now obliged to pay. The mill will be in readiness for operation about the 1st October, when we shall have more to say about it.

A BURGLAR DETECTOR.--Quite a singular machine has been exhibited lately in our city, for the detection of burglars, by a "Yankee," whose business seems to be to sell rights for counties. The contrivance consists of a bell attached to a spring and a fluid lamp with a match attached also to a spring from this machine (which can be placed at the head of one's bed, or any other desirable place) run wires to be attached to every door and window in the house. In case either is moved, the alarm bell is set in motion and a light struck, leaving nothing to be done but the seizing one's revolvers and boots. The cost of the article is put at $15, and it is pronounced by a machinist friend as working admirably. Albany Atlas.

IMPORTANT IRISH MOVEMENT.--The New York Herald of Monday last, says a great Convention of Irishmen has been held in Massachusetts that have placed themselves upon a platform likely to unite the entire Irish population of the country. Fifty-five towns were represented, besides which there were twenty-five delegates from local societies and twelve invited guests. The avowed object of the movement is "to profit by the advent of O'Connell's long promised era of hope, when England's difficulty would become Ireland's opportunity."

The capital prizes drawn at Concert Hall, in Mason Ga., on the 3d September, in the Jasper County Academy Lottery, were distributed as follows:

1st, $10,000 in Cleveland, Ohio, 1871. 2d, 5,000 in Lynchburg, Va. 3d, 2,000 in Lynchburg, Va. 4th, 1,200 in Brooklyn, N. Y. 5th, 472. 1,100 in Vicksburg, Miss.

An awful explosion at Naples occurred in the castle Nuovo, where percussion caps are made, on the 29th July. The entire building was blown up, and it is said at least 200 persons have been buried in the debris. Fearing that another revolution had broken out, the soldiers rushed to arms, while the inhabitants, imagining that an earthquake had happened, ran about in a frantic condition. The windows of the palace were broken and there are grave shakings of the head whether this was not a grand conspiracy to extricate the royal family.

DEATH FROM THE BITE OF A SNAKE.--Mrs. Hevener, the wife of John Hevener, of Pendleton Co., Virginia, was bitten by a rattlesnake, at the residence of her husband in that county, on last Thursday morning, and died from the effects of the bite, on the evening of the same day.

A Large Corn Field.--On an eminence near the city, may be seen at one sight, sixteen thousand acres of corn in one body, divided only by a few fences. It extends up this side of the Miami towards Elizabeth town. At an average of sixty bushels to the acre, which we believe is below what the average will be, this body of land will yield nine hundred and sixty thousand, or nearly one million bushels. The gold diggings of California scarcely equals it. Lawrenceburg (Ind.) Register.

A MAN AND TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.--An awful catastrophe occurred at Rouse Point, Canada, on the 28th ult., involving the death of three persons. It seems that Mrs. Mary Kannelly had procured a barrel of whiskey from this city, which by some means suddenly that two of the children of Mrs. Kannelly, and a man by the name of Patrick McGrath, were burned to death. Mrs. Kannelly also severely burnt, and was not at last accounts expected to live.

THE DISTINGUISHED GENU OF THE AGE.

Nature, now and then, brings to such geniuses as Newton, Shakespeare, Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, Cromwell and Jackson. Their fertile intellects compelled the world to admire them.

The genius of the present age is Dr. HOLLOWAY. In the progress of the sciences, this age is immeasurably superior to any former one. The wonderful discoveries in the science of medicine has made great progress. Professor Holloway has covered and prepared a remedy for the diseases of man in whatever climate they may have given him birth. We have, in a former article, introduced our readers this distinguished physician whose reputation is already engraved on the world's history. As a physician he stands the acknowledged Emperor. Both in the sale of his medicines, and in the number of patients he has taken them, he is unrivalled. Professor Holloway has labored to supply the human family with a permanent remedy for their diseases, to which the afflicted may have recourse with absolute certainty that they will be cured. There is no disease to which they will not afford relief. His Pills and Ointment, prepared from selections from the vegetable kingdom, with great care, drive disease out of the system. The hands of the most intelligent minds of nations, men distinguished in every sphere of life--the statesman, philosopher, conqueror, and those whose highest aim is to do good to their fellow men, unite in their praises of the remedies discovered by Professor Holloway for the removal of disease.

In uniting in this general recommendation of the remarkable virtues of the loway's remedies we only perform a Christian duty, which the press should never neglect. Those who are eminent for the good they do in the world, have a just claim upon the press for aid in extending the good to the extent of the power. Therefore, we have determined to express our opinion that HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT are adapted to the removal of disease, and have restored millions of the sick to health.-- New York Atlas.

A CARD.

MR. FIGURES: Allow me to say, if you please, through your paper to the friends and patrons of Bacon, F. Insitator that our apparatus including a Telescope of very considerable power, was shipped from Boston on the 13th August, and will be here in a few days. A set of splendid Chandeliers has been ordered for our Chapel and Hall, and will soon reach us.

But the object of this Card is to inform our friends of the new arrangement which we have made in the French Department. Madeleine de France, a successful Teacher in both France and England, has been employed as a Teacher of the French Language. She will reside in the Institute, preside at a table where only the French language is spoken, and in all her intercourse with her pupils both in and out of school, she will speak only in French, and require them to do the same. This arrangement must necessarily recommend itself in a particular manner to all persons who wish their daughters to become well acquainted, in comparatively a short time, with the "Court language of the World." We are resolved to make the Institute not only eminently worthy of general patronage, but as a Boarding School to give it so many advantages that even persons living in the City will sometimes find it to their interest to place their daughters for a Season or more as resident pupils in the Institution.

G. M. EVERHART, Pres't. Sept. 3d, 1855.

Louis Kossuth a year ago transmitted a memorial to President Pierce inquiring whether in the event of a revolutionary contest in Hungary, and Italy, American ships will be permitted, under the laws of the United States, to clear for ports in the possession of the insurgents? And whether such ships will be exempt from search or seizure on the high sea by the Austrian vessels of war? He now publishes the memorial in the New York Times and complains that the President returned no answers to his inquiries. Had he done so we think the American people would have had just ground for complaint.

A boy 13 or 14 years old named Ward killed another boy about the same age named Lewis, a few days ago near Maryville, Tenn. by cutting his bowels out with a knife. Ward was lodged in jail.

The Montevale Herald notices specimens of rich silver ore taken from mines near the Coosa river owned by Col. J. E. George. Six ounces of the ore produced two ounces of metal. Mining operations will be commenced at the mine in October next.

Holloway's Pills, the most celebrated medicine in the Union for the cure of diseases of the Liver and Stomach. Edmund Alga, of Cooperstown, New York, was for the period of nineteen years a complete misery to himself, and a burden to his friends, he suffered so severely and continuously from liver complaint, and a disordered stomach, that he was constantly for weeks together confined to his bed, the doctors did him no good, and he therefore left off consulting them. Nine weeks ago he commenced using Holloway's Pills, and his wife called last week at the store of Professor Holloway, to acknowledge most gratefully, that her husband is quite cured. Professor Holloway hopes that the thousands others in the Union who have been benefited will now come forward.

Helmhold's Genuine Preparations.
HELMHOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED Compound Fluid Extract Buchu, For diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, recent Diseases, Stricture, Hematuria, and all diseases of the Sexual Organs, whether in Male or Female, from whatever cause they may have originated, and no matter of how long standing they may be.
If you have contracted the fearful disease which when once seated in the system, will surely go down from one generation to another, undermining the constitution, and sapping the very vital fluids of life, do not trust yourself in the hands of Quacks, who start up every day in a city like this, and fill the papers with glaring falsehoods, nor well calculated to deceive the young, and those not acquainted with their tricks. You cannot be too careful in the selection of a remedy in these cases.
The Fluid Extract Buchu has been pronounced by eminent physicians the greatest remedy in its class, and very interesting in its action, and yet so thorough that it annihilates every particle of the rank and poisonous virus of this dreadful disease, and, unlike other remedies, does not hurt the delicate blood.
Constitutional Debility, brought on by self-abuse, a most terrible disease, which has brought thousands of our countrymen to untimely graves, by blasting the brilliant bloom of parents, and blighting in the bud the glorious ambition of many a noble youth, can be cured by this infallible remedy. And as a medicine which must benefit every body, from the simply delicate to the confirmed and despairing invalid, an equal is to be found acting both as a cure and preventive.

HELMHOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED Compound Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla,
For Purifying the Blood, removing all diseases arising from excess of Mercury, exposure and impudence in life, chronic constitutional disease, arising from an impure state of the Blood, and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ulcers of the Throat and Legs, Pimples and Swellings of the Bones, Tetters, Pimples on the Face, and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin.
This article is now prepared by some of the most distinguished chemists in the country, and has proved more efficient in practice than any preparation of Sarsaparilla yet offered to the public. Several cases of chronic disease, arising from the use of this medicine, have been cured, and the most inveterate skin diseases, arising from the use of this medicine, are being cured. Not a few of the most distinguished Physicians and Professors of several Medical Colleges, and numerous other eminent Physicians, have accompanied several Preparations.
Fluid Extract of Buchu, $1 per bottle or 6 bottles for five dollars, equal in strength to one gallon of Syrup of Sarsaparilla.
Prepared and sold by H. HELMHOLD, Chemist, 302 1/2 3rd Street, near the Grand House, Philadelphia.
The list of Agents and Dealers everywhere. All letters directed to the Proprietor or Agent, receive immediate attention.

CHAMPION'S AGUE PILLS WILL CURE IT.
AMONG the thousands of preparations of all kinds now scattered throughout the country, every one knows that of them all, not one in ten is worth anything. Knowing this to be the fact, we hesitate somewhat in introducing Champion's Pills to the Public. But that which is deserving patronage should receive it, and we thus introduce to your attention the merits of Champion's Ague Pills, which we do think worthy of public favor. They have now been before the people of the South and West for sixteen years, and we do not know of a single instance where they have failed to effect a standing cure when taken in sufficient quantity and according to the directions. They also stand unrivalled in other fevers originating in the same causes, and are perfectly safe being entirely vegetable.
Champion's Anti-Bilious Pills as a Cathartic and general Physic, stand without a superior, acting by their different components upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Blood, and are especially beneficial in Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Sick Headache and Sick Stomach, etc., to gether with all that class diseases. Also entirely, purely and positively vegetable.

NEW STAGE LINE FROM Guntersville to Jacksonville.
A Tri-weekly line of Stage Coaches, four horse Post Coaches, is now running and permanently established, between Jacksonville and Guntersville, Ala. forming a direct connection with the Tennessee river and the daily line of Stages from Rome, Ga. via Talladega to Montgomery, Ala.
There is also a line of four horse coaches from Talladega to the head of the Alabama and Tennessee river Railroad, above Montealegre. Guntersville is situated half way between Decatur (the head of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad) and Bridgeport, (the crossing of the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad) it being only sixty miles, or six hours run on the Mail stages which pass daily to either of the above points. Whitesburg (the Huntsville landing) is only 30 miles by the river, and a splendid line of four horse coaches over a Macadamised road, ten miles to Huntsville. Passengers from Nashville, West Tennessee, North Mississippi, and all portions of North Alabama to Jacksonville and Talladega, Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, will find it to their interest to travel this route, as it is cheap, safe, swift and comfortable.
The above line is stocked with good coaches and teams, with accommodating drivers; it runs over a fine natural road to Talladega and Selma, and a splendid plank road from Talladega to Montgomery. No labor or expense shall be spared on our line to render travellers comfortable. Passengers to Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, will find this route 24 hours quicker, and from eight to ten dollars cheaper than any other arrangement. Passengers are such that passengers can have eight hours sleep in Jacksonville, and from 5 p. m. to 3 a. m. in Talladega, making almost the entire route in day light. Leave Guntersville Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays, at 6 o'clock a. m., and arrive at Jacksonville same days, at 10 p. m. Leave Jacksonville, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 6 o'clock a. m., arrive at Guntersville same days at 10 p. m.
Fare from Guntersville to Jacksonville 56. To Talladega $9. Montgomery $14. Way passengers ten cents per mile.

Helmhold's Genuine Preparations.
HELMHOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED Compound Fluid Extract Buchu, For diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, Secretions of the Sexual Organs, whether in Male or Female, from whatever cause they may have originated, and no matter of how long standing.

When you have contracted the fearful disease which when once seated in the system, will surely go down from one generation to another, undermining the constitution, and sapping the very vital fluids of life, do not trust yourself in the hands of Quacks, who start up every day in a city like this, and fill the papers with their fraudulent and uncalculated to deceive the young, and those not acquainted with their tricks. You cannot be too careful in the selection of a remedy in these cases.
The Fluid Extract Buchu has been pronounced by eminent physicians the greatest remedy ever known. It is a medicine which is pleasant in its taste, and very innocent in its action, and yet so thorough that it annihilates every particle of the rank and poisonous virus of gonorrhoea, and a healthy state is induced by its use. It is a medicine which must benefit everybody, from the simply delicate to the confirmed and despairing. It is equal to the best of the kind, and is a Cure and preventive.

HELMHOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED Compound Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla, For Purifying the Blood, removing all diseases arising from excess of Mercury, exposure and impudence in life, chronic constitutional disease, arising from an impure state of the Blood, and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Pains and Swellings of the Bones, Tetters, Pimples on the Face, and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin.

This article is now procured by some of the most distinguished physicians in the country, and has proved very efficacious in the treatment of the venereal disease, and all the secondary symptoms which attend it. It is a medicine which is pleasant in its taste, and very innocent in its action, and yet so thorough that it annihilates every particle of the rank and poisonous virus of gonorrhoea, and a healthy state is induced by its use. It is a medicine which must benefit everybody, from the simply delicate to the confirmed and despairing. It is equal to the best of the kind, and is a Cure and preventive.

COLLEGIATE
Cherokee Institute.
This second term of the above Institution will commence on the 1st Monday in September, 1855. A full and complete course of study will be given, and also appropriate rooms for students, and for the musical and primary departments.
The undersigned, Principal, induced by the prospect of an early commencement of the year, to enter and keep in the Institute 50 pupils for the term of two years, each paying in advance for the number of pupils named to his name, the sum of $200, in full for the term of two years, and for his own expenses, an amount worthy of the noble cause of Female Education. This must afford the most ample assurance of his determination to make the Institute entirely worthy of the name he has given it. To this may be added an experience of 20 years, and a reputation in this and other respects, which will be a guarantee to the parents of their children, that they will not be disappointed by the result of their investment.
The following is a list of the most approved and useful branches of study, to be pursued in the Institute: French, Latin, Greek, and Italian; Mathematics, Logic, Moral and Intellectual Philosophy, History and Rhetoric.
Miss C. E. CALDWELL, Instructor in English, Grammar, Arithmetic, Freshman and Sophomore Classes, Geography, & Philosophy, &c.
Mr. F. DELANEY, Instructor in the French Language, Drawing, and Botany, &c.
Mr. B. F. JAMES, Instructor in Music—Vocal and Instrumental—on the Organ, Piano, Harp, Guitar, or other instrument.

Terms.
To those who board in the family of the undersigned, the entire charge for Boarding and Tuition is set in at the sum of $200, in full for the term of two years, and for their own expenses, an amount worthy of the noble cause of Female Education. This must afford the most ample assurance of his determination to make the Institute entirely worthy of the name he has given it. To this may be added an experience of 20 years, and a reputation in this and other respects, which will be a guarantee to the parents of their children, that they will not be disappointed by the result of their investment.

CHAMPION'S AGUE PILLS WILL CURE IT.

AMONG the thousands of preparations of all kinds, now scattered throughout the country, every one knows that of them all, not one in ten is worth anything. Knowing this to be the fact, we hesitate somewhat in introducing Champion's Pills to the Public. But that which is deserving patronage should receive it, and we thus introduce to your attention the merits of Champion's Ague Pills, which we do think worthy of public favor. They have now been before the people of the South and West for sixteen years, and we do not know of a single instance where they have failed to effect a standing cure when taken in sufficient quantity and according to the directions.

They also stand unrivalled in other fevers originating in the same causes, and are perfectly safe being entirely vegetable.
Champion's Anti-Bilious Pills, as a Cathartic and general Purgative, stand without a superior, acting by their different components upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Blood, and are especially beneficial in Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Habitual Constiveness, Sick Headache and Sick Stomach, etc.; together with all that class diseases. Also entirely, purely and positively vegetable.

FROM Guntersville to Jacksonville.
A Tri-weekly line of Stages, four times a week, is now running and permanently established, between Jacksonville and Guntersville, Ala., forming a direct connection with the Tennessee river and the daily line of Stages from Home, Ga., via Talladega to Montgomery, Ala.
There is also a line of four horse coaches from Talladega to the head of the Alabama and Tennessee river Railroad, above Montgomery, Guntersville, Ala., situated half way between Decatur and the head of the Memphis and Charlotte (the head of the Memphis and Charlotte crossing of the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad) it being only sixty miles, or six hours' run on fine Mail coaches, which pass daily to either of the above points. Whitesburg (the Huntsville landing) is only 30 miles by the river, and a splendid line of four horse coaches over a McAdams' road runs daily to Huntsville. Passengers from Nashville, West Tennessee, North Mississippi, and all portions of North Alabama to Jacksonville and Talladega, Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, will find it to their interest to travel this route, as it is cheap, safe, swift and comfortable.

The above line is stocked with good coaches and teams, with accommodating drivers; it runs over a fine natural road to Talladega and Selma, and a splendid plank road from Talladega to Montgomery. No labor or expense shall be spared on our line to render travellers comfortable. Passengers to Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, will find this route 24 hours quicker, and from eight to ten dollars cheaper than any other arrangement, so that passengers can have eight hours sleep in Jacksonville, and five p. m. to 3 a. m. in Talladega, making almost the entire route in daylight. Leave Guntersville Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, at 6 o'clock, a. m., and arrive at Jacksonville same days, at 10 1/2 p. m. Leave Jacksonville, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 6 o'clock, a. m., arrive at Guntersville same days at 10 1/2 p. m.
Fare from Guntersville to Jacksonville $3. To Talladega $9. Montgomery $11. Way passengers ten cents per mile.

Summer's Gone.

BY MRS. MORTON.
Hark! Through the dim wood dying, With a moan, Faintly the winds are sighing—Summer's gone!
There when my bruised heart feeleth,
And the pale moon her face revealeth, Darkly my footsteps stealeth, To weep alone,
Hour after hour I wander, By men unseen,
And sadly my wrong thoughts wonder,
On what hath been,
Summer's gone.

There in our green bowers, Long ago,
Our path thro' the tangled flowers, Treading slow—
Oft hand in hand entwining—Oft side by side reclining—We watch'd in its crimson shinning The sunset glow, Dimly that sun now burneth For me alone—
Spring after spring returneth, Thou art gone,
Summer's gone.

Still on my worn cheek playeth
The restless breeze;
Still in its freshness strayeth Between the trees,
Still the blue streamlet gusheth—Still the broad river rusheth—Still the calm stream lusceth The heart's disease, But who shall bring our meetings Back again?
What shall recall thy greetings—Loved in vain?
Summer's gone!

A LYRIC.

BY CHARLES KINGSLEY.

Three fishers went sailing out in the West,
Out into the West as the sun went down, Each thought of the woman who loved him best,
And the children stood watching them out of the town;
For men must work and women must weave,
And there's little to earn, and many to keep.

Through the harbor bar he moun-deth,
Three wives sat up in the light-house,
And dimmed the lamps as the sun went down,
And they looked at the squall, and they looked in the shower, And the rack it came rolling up ragged and brown;
But men must work and women must weave,
keep.

And the harbor bar he moun-deth,
Three corpses lay out on the ship's deck,
In the morning gleam as the tide went down,
And the women are wandering and wailing on the beach, For they who will never come back to the town;
For men must work and women must
weave,
keep.

LETTER FROM COL. JOHN ERWIN.
GIBBSVILLE, August 1, 1855.
To Wm. M. Brooks, John Scott, and others.

Gentlemen—I am honored by the receipt of your favor of the 29th ult., inviting me to attend and participate in an anti-Know Nothing Barbecue, to be given by the friends of Civil and Religious Liberty, and the advocates of Constitutional Rights, at Marion, on the second day of this month.

Though forbaid by a sense of my condition from engaging in any violent excitement; and consequently, to comply with an invitation from a source I so much esteem, and in terms of such marked courtesy, I am, nevertheless, delighted to see that the true and patriotic freedom of Perry, whom I have so long and favorably known, and with whom I have always taken so much pleasure in being, are aroused by the most remarkable and untoward state of political affairs, and are prepared to do their duty to their country. Were it in my power, it would give me great satisfaction to mingle with them, and give all the assistance I could to their efforts in behalf of the cause of Civil and Religious freedom, heretofore so dear to every truly American heart. I would like especially to avail myself of the occasion, to which you invite me, to give utterance publicly to my sentiments in regard to that greatest of moral, political, and religious abominations which has ever darkened the face of the earth in our midst—Know Nothingism. Or igniting in the most ungodly and corrupt portion of the Union, where a ruthless and fanatical war against the institutions of the South, is the favored and paramount policy, it has as rapidly, as unexpectedly, spread its baleful and pernicious influence, more or less, to every portion of our country, assailing with insidious but malignant hatred our most patriotic and useful men—the most valued principles of our institutions and our beloved and cherished traditions—filling society with discord, hatred and strife, and paralyzing, as with a deadly poison, the efforts of the tried and faithful friends of the Constitution and the South, to save the former and preserve the rights of the latter.

Upon the maturest reflection and the best examination I have been capable of giving it, I am forced to look upon it as a stupendous and unmitigated falsehood—a conglomerated mass of unadvised and grand, duplicity and hypocrisy—and its Philadelphia Platform as simply the last and rarest specimen of claptrap, humbug and deception—and a most flagrant attempt on the prejudices of a too credulous but honest people. Its facts are unfounded; its assumptions unwarranted; its pretences frivolous and deceitful; and its professions and promises hollow and insincere—the legitimate offspring of a body composed of ignorant and faithless Southern men, and traitorous and fanatical Northern ones.

What is there in a dark, secret association of men, whose leading, if not only principles, is Know Nothingism, and whose objects are the destruction of the Union, and the subversion of the Constitution, that has been held in such esteem by the very act of joining in it, and who, by their own admission, are so ready to sacrifice some of the most precious privileges of freemen, and will so readily surrender some of the most sacred rights of citizenship, to the power of a few fanatical and unprincipled men, who, in the name of religion, are so ready to sacrifice the rights of their fellow-citizens, and to trample upon the rights of the Constitution, and the rights of the Union?

marked courtesy, I am, nevertheless,
delighted to see that the true and patri-
cal, and religious abominations which

tutions of the South, is the favored and
preserve the rights of the latter.

last and rarest specimen of claptrap,
too credulous but honest people. Its
ones.

ciation of men, whose leading, if not only
Union?

given by the friends of Civil and Religious Liberty, and the advocates of Con-

STATEMENT OF AN EYE WITNESS.

We find in the Indianapolis Sentinel the following letter from Louisville, Kentucky, written by a gentleman who was present during the dreadful scenes which he describes:

LOUISVILLE, August 7, 1855.
ERRORS SEXTINE: It is with feelings of deep mortification that I sit down to detail the horrible scenes of yesterday. If what I witnessed is a fair specimen of "Americans ruling America," then the elective franchise is a mockery and liberty an empty delusion. The Know Nothing blacklegs and professional gamblers, who are all members of the Order, had but largely on the result of the election to win their bets by fraud and violence, hundreds of armed bullies were transported to the city. Their plans were concealed in Know Nothing lodges.

Their signs and signals were understood, and during the terrible day they were faithfully and promptly executed. On Monday morning at 4 o'clock, the places of voting in the 1st and 5th wards, which are the strong Democratic precincts, were taken possession of by the Know Nothings. A few of the old Democratic citizens in these wards were permitted to vote in the morning but all others who were unable to give the signs were ruled out of the polls. This state of things prevailed to a greater or less extent in all the wards. If an Irishman or German attempted to approach the polls, he was driven back with bloody missiles. Native-born American citizens who were unable to give the proper signs and signals shared the same fate. To entitle a citizen to the privilege of a voter, he must, to use the know-nothing slang, be "right on the grass ground!"

By ten o'clock the city was under the control of a lawless Know Nothing mob—neither life nor property was safe. At this crisis Hon. Wm. P. Thomason, formerly a Whig member of Congress from the city, and a gentleman of high character and standing, mounted the rostrum and implored them as good citizens to desist from such a course. He had, however, spoken but a few moments when the Know Nothing signal for blood was given, and he was instantly knocked down by a club in the hands of some assassin who approached him in the rear. About this time Col. Preston, the anti-Know Nothing candidate for Congress, appeared at the first, which is the large Democratic ward, and pleaded chiefly of German naturalized citizens, and requested his friends not to attempt to vote. He stated to them that the polls were in the hands of the Know Nothing bullies, that his friends could not approach the polls in safety, and advised them to retire peacefully to their homes and submit to discrimination rather than endanger their lives. The result was that out of 6,000 voters in the city only 4,000 were polled. Two thousand Democratic voters were by violence deprived of the right of suffrage.

In the afternoon a fight occurred in the first ward, which ended in the discharge of fire arms and the death of several persons. The Know Nothing mob then commenced tearing down the business houses and private dwellings occupied by German citizens. A rush was then made for the Catholic Church, and the cry, fire fire "damned Popish den," rang out. The mayor appealed to them, and the mob desisted. They then made a rush for the large brewery, owned by a German citizen, and after tearing out the inside and distributing the beer, they fired the building, and it was burned to ashes. The Know Nothing fire companies appeared on the ground, but did nothing except to carry off the beer and ale casks. But the most terrible and heart-rending scenes occurred in the lower part of the city, where the Irish population principally reside.

About six o'clock in the evening the Know Nothing bullies, armed to the teeth with muskets and a large brass cannon under the control of Capt. Stone, proceeded to that part of the city. Every Irishman that made his appearance was assaulted and beaten. The groceries in that vicinity were broken in, their contents scattered over the streets, and the liquors divided among the thirsty crowd. A general light ensued; shots were fired from the houses that were being stoned, and a number on both sides were killed and wound-

The buildings on both sides of Main Street, between 10th and 11th, were fired. Every Irishman who showed himself was shot down. Here followed a scene which neither tongue nor pen can describe. My heart sickens at the recital.

Men lying dead in the street, women who carried out the bedding and household goods were assaulted, and their agonizing cries for mercy were met by mocking groans of derision. I saw a poor Irish woman with an infant clinging to her neck, trying to save her bed, kicked across the street, and her bed burned, the Know Nothing fiend crying in derision to her, "Worship the Pope, will you? Well, learn you, that Americans will rule America." It is impossible to tell the number of killed; one man was hung, and five burned alive.

About 11 o'clock the signal was given to demolish the Democrat and Times printing offices. A rush was made, but Prentice, thinking it was time to stop, appealed to them to desist, which they did after bursting the windows and burning the sign of the Times office.

About 12 o'clock, a move was made for the German part of the city, and as I retired, sickened with the scenes of the day, a large fire was raging in that direction. I have not learned this morning the result of their doings. This is a specimen of "Americans ruling America." If it is to prevail then there is no security for life, liberty or property. During the scenes of bloodshed and riot in the 8th ward an attempt was made by the Know Nothing Mayor to arrest the mob or prevent bloodshed and murder. No attempt was made by the police to arrest any one. Peaceable citizens were shot down, and their murderers permitted with loaded guns, to stalk around in search of more victims. But this letter is already too long. I have no comments.

AN EYE WITNESS.

REMARKABLE PRESERVATION. In one of the badly crushed cars at the recent terrible tragedy on the Camden and Anson Railroad, was Colonel Solomon M. Bieble, with his lady, three children and two nurses, not one of whom received the slightest injury, although in the midst of killed, dying and wounded.

This brings to your mind a similar remarkable preservation of a store during the great fire of 1853, that destroyed so many squares of valuable buildings, from South street up to the Merchants Exchange. The next day, from about the middle of this great ruin, was seen, standing unharmed, a solitary store. These inmates lately adjoining, right and left, as well as those on the streets, front and rear, were levelled with the earth. One of the three occupants of this store, was the brother of this very Mr. Solomon. From the roof of this building thousands were viewing the next day, this immense desolation of acres of burned buildings, all surrounding this saved and comparatively unharmed structure, which, it appears, had been saved in the same manner and with the same materials as the other. From the summit on its roof, in the midst of fire and smoke, was seen occasionally by the fire engineers the head of an individual, with spy glass in hand, intently viewing some object off in the rear on a parallel with the store. That object next day was confessed to be the mill-shop of this firm, at 2,000, laden with half a ton of gunpowder—2,000 casks. It appears that the tides had prevented its coming early enough to be shipped on board a vessel for which it was engaged, and for the sake of which it was engaged for the forts of Maracibo. The captain and hands had gone up into the city to lodge, thinking her safe, leaving only the cabin boy as a guard. It was in vain, after the fire had got under such way, and the flakes of cinders falling on and about her, that large suns were off-ered by the firm to the captain and hands, who had been roused from their beds by the great alarm in the city, and came to the wharf opposite the sloop, to go on board and hoist her anchor and remove her out of danger. They feared every minute her explosion.

The lad on board was seen by means of the spy-glass from the roof to be engaged in drawing water and wetting the deck, as those powder sloops, from powder dust falling out of the cracks often on deck, renders it often rather menacing, especially if one comes near, smoking tobacco pipes. This most remarkable escape in the midst of the combustible district of that night, brought the names of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, alluding to the fire in the Book of Daniel, when in the fiery furnace the above three individuals were cast by order of the King of Babylon for refusing to fall down and worship his idols, and who were seen to walk about in the flames, therein unharmed, on account of which miracle he afterwards acknowledged the God of the three believers, and afterwards abolished his own worship of idols. Compound Fluid Extract Buchu.
HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED Compound Fluid Extract Buchu, For diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, Secret Discharges, Stricture, Weakness, and all diseases of the Sexual Organs, whether in Male or Female, from whatever cause they may have originated, and no matter how long standing. If you have contracted the fearful disease which once seized upon another, and which has since descended upon you, and which is now threatening you, do not trust yourself in the hands of Quacks, who start up every day in a city like this, and fill the papers with glowing falsehoods, and well calculated to deceive the young and the old, and to induce the selection of a remedy in these cases. The Fluid Extract Buchu has been pronounced by eminent physicians the greatest remedy ever known. It is a medicine perfectly pleasant in its taste, and very innocent in its action, and yet so thorough that it annihilates every particle of the virus of the disease, and restores the system to its normal state, and restores the system to its normal state, and restores the system to its normal state.

NEW STAGE LINE FROM Guntersville to Jacksonville.

A Tri-weekly line of four horse Post Coaches, is now running and permanently established, between Jacksonville and Guntersville, Ala., forming a direct connection with the Tennessee river and the daily line of Stages from Rome, Ga., via Talladega to Montgomery, Ala. There is also a line of four horse coaches from Talladega to the head of the Alabama and Tennessee river Rail Road, above Montevallo. Guntersville is situated half way between Decatur (the head of the Memphis and Charleston Rail Road) and Bridgeport, (the crossing of the Nashville and Chattanooga Rail Road), being only sixty miles, or six hours run on the Mail steamers which pass daily to either of the above points. Whitesburg (the Huntsville landing) is only 30 miles by the river, and a splendid line of four horse coaches over a McAdams road runs ten miles to Huntsville. Passengers from Nashville, West Tennessee, North Mississippi, and all portions of North Alabama to Jacksonville and Talladega, Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, will find it to their interest to travel this route, as it is "cheap, safe, swift and comfortable."

The above line is stocked with good coaches and teams, with accommodating drivers; it runs over a fine natural road to Talladega and Selma, and a splendid plank road from Talladega to Montgomery. No labor or expense shall be spared on our line to render our route comfortable. Passengers to Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, will find this route 24 hours quicker, and from eight to ten dollars cheaper than any other arrangement, as such that passengers can have eight hours sleep in Jacksonville, and from 5 p. m. to 3 a. m. in Talladega, making almost the entire route in daylight. Leave Guntersville Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays, at 9 o'clock a. m., and arrive in Jacksonville, Monday at 10 1/2 p. m. Leave Jacksonville, Monday at 10 1/2 p. m., Wednesday and Fridays, at 6 o'clock a. m., arrive at Guntersville same days at 10 1/2 p. m. Face from Guntersville to Jacksonville, 26. To Talladega 29. Montgomery 24. Way passengers ten cents per mile.

WONDERFUL! New York in Jacksonville!!

The undersigned respectfully informs the citizens of Jacksonville and the surrounding country, that he has opened a Cabinet Shop, ON THE Public Square, a few doors from the Brick Hotel, where he is constantly manufacturing all kinds of FURNITURE of the very best quality and latest styles. He has now on hand and for sale elegant Secretaries and Book cases, Dressing Bureaus, Centre Tables, Sofas, the genuine article of French Bedstead, Also the Cottage Bedstead, together with a large lot of other furniture too tedious to mention, which he warrants to be equal if not superior to NEW YORK FURNITURE, having finished his trade in New York, and having a long practice in the business, he is fully qualified to finish anything in his line in the best manner. Those desiring fine CHEAP FURNITURE will do well to give him a call. JAMES G. DAILEY, February 27, 1855.

FEVER & AGUE or CHILLS AND FEVER. CHAMPION'S AGUE PILLS WILL CURE IT. AMONG the thousands of prostrated throughout the country, every one knows that of them all, not one in ten is worth anything. Knowing this to be the fact, we hesitate somewhat in introducing Champion's Pills to the Public. But that which is deserving patronage should receive it, and we thus introduce to your attention the merits of Champion's Ague Pills, which we do think worthy of public favor. They have now been before the people of the South and West for sixteen years, and we do not know of a single instance where they have failed to effect a standing cure when taken in sufficient quantity and according to the directions. They also stand univalued in other fevers originating in the same causes, and are perfectly safe being entirely vegetable. Champion's Anti-Bilious Pills, as a Cathartic and general Purge, stand without a superior, acting by their different components upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Blood, and have especially benefited in Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Habitual Constipation, Sick Headache, and all Stomachic affections, together with all that class of cases. Also entirely pure and positively vegetable.

Painting and Furniture PAINTING. The undersigned, with ability and the public favor, are respectfully informed that the undersigned has commenced the above business in Oxford, Ala. He will be prepared to execute all orders for Painting in the most neat, fashionable and approved style, and with the utmost promptness. A COAL PAINTING warranted to last as long as the natural wood. Persons in the country and adjoining States, who may have jobs of Painting, can have them promptly executed by addressing a line to the undersigned at Oxford, Ala. W. G. VENABLE, Oxford, Ala., Feb. 27, 1855.

AUTUMN MEMORIES.

BY MISS MOORE.
Once I sat where evening shadows From a forest o'er me fell, Listening to the mournful stories Sighing, moaning thro' my soul, Till the tear-drops, slowly, sadly, Down my cheeks began to roll.
As the evening shadows deepen'd, As the night-winds louder cried, Phantoms, from the year departed, Through the forests seemed to glide.
Silently I gazed upon them, Through the mists of blinding tears—Dearly loved, and long lamented, Visions from the vanished years.
All the withered leaves were falling, Whirling downward to the blast; Dirge-like tones were faintly sounding Requiem for the summer past.
All the forest-voices wailing For the joys of summer time, Softly, sadly, very sweetly, Mingled in a plaintive chime.

And the giant trees uplifted All their gentle branches high, As the vernal wind came sweeping, With murmuring fury by;
But the phantoms glided calmly Through the forest's fearful gloom—From the years long gone hath gather'd To the numbers of the tomb.
Softly as the moonbeams' glimmer O'er the cloud-tops, rolling high; Silent as the hush of chaos,
That pale company drew nigh.
Close they gathered all around me,
With their deep and earnest eyes Bent upon me, fondly, sadly, Filled with deathless memories.

Stretching out their pale hands towards me,
Did the shadow loved ones come,
And with voiceless pleadings called me,
To their voiceless spirit home.
She upon whose faithful bosom Forest leaves and shadows lie, He who, weary hearted, wandered From his father's house—to die.
One whose earliest love was given,
In its fullness unto me, Sleeping now his dreamless slumber Where the mountain winds blow free; Sweet young faces gone forever From the noontide and the morn, On the autumn winds of midnight Through the forest aisles were borne.
Then my soul grew faint with yearning Sick with longing to depart, As I vainly strove to clasp them To my torn and bleeding heart;
And in wildest tones entreating, Loudly, bitterly, I cried,
"Torture not my brain to madness, Ye who in life's glory died."

"Let me feel your arms enfold me, Let me clasp you to my breast, Mark me not, but bear me with you,
To your Sabbath Land of rest."
But they backward drew and faded, In the cold gray dawn of day,
And they in mists of morning Through the forest passed away.

From the Baltimore Patriot.
Will you love me when I am Old.
Will Affection still enfold me,
As the day of life declines, When Old Age, with ruthless rigor, Ploughs my face with furrowed lines.

When the eye forgets its seeing,
And the hand forgets its skill,
When the weary words prove rebels To the Mind's once kindly will;
When the deaf ear, strained to listen, Scarcely hears the opening word,
And the unfeeling depths of feeling Are by no swift currents stirred;

When fond Memory like a luster, Mans a line perspective casts, Spreading out our by-gone pleasures On the canvas of the Past;

When the leaping blood grows sluggish,
And the fire of youth hath fled,
When the friends who now surround us Half are numbered with the dead;

When the years begin to shorten, Scarcely leaving us a trace, When Old Time, with bold approaches, Marks his dial on my face;

When our present hops, all gathered, Lie like dead flowers on our track, When the whole of our existence Is one fearful looking back;

When each wasted hour of talent, Scarcely measured now at all, Sends its witness back to haunt us, Like the writing on the wall;
When the ready tongue is palsied,
And the form is bowed with care, When our only hope is heaven,
And our only help is prayer;

When our idols, broken round us, Fall amid the ranks of men;
Until Death uplifts the curtain, Will they love endure till then?

The Rail Road Tragedy.

New Jersey.—The whole community has been so shocked and startled by the late terrible railroad accident on the Camden and Amboy Railroad, that we may well be pardoned for departing from our wont, and giving a portion of the sermon preached by the Bishop of New Jersey, in his Church at Burlington, last Sunday morning. Preached almost on the very scene of the catastrophe itself, and while the feelings of all were yet thrilling with the terrible excitement, his words are eloquently alive with more than wonted vividness and power:
You all remember how beautiful a day was Wednesday. We may suppose such weather constantly in Paradise. I spent the morning on our unsurpassed Green Bank, with two friends —one of more than thirty years—who had come to put their children at the College. They left me with their little son, in the most perfect enjoyment of all that makes up life, to return to their home in New York. In less than an hour I heard of what had happened on the Railroad. I thought at once of them and rather led, than ran, to find their mangled bodies. God had preserved them perfectly unhurt.

There came to me, from Boston, twenty years ago, a young man who had early taken a high stand at the Bar.
He was of a patriot name—the very blood of Bunker Hill. His father had adorned the Bench. His brother has not been surpassed as a historian, in modern times. He had lived carefully, and away from God. But his heart had been touched. It had melted under the Gospel; it yearned to preach to others "the unsearchable riches" which had been more than riches to itself; and he asked me to receive him as a candidate for Holy Orders. I did. There are many here who must remember him. He studied faithfully and well; he was ordained; he went to Salem as the minister of the parish; he was most acceptable as a preacher and as a pastor.
He married as lovely a woman as ever lived; his life was filled with usefulness and happiness. But this is not our rest. His health failed; he sought in vain its restoration; he went to sea; he died on board the ship.
He left a widow, without children.— Possessed of a man's me fortune; and what is better, with the sense that it was not her own; she was another Dorcas, in the "good works and the alms deeds which she did." At 10 o'clock she started, with two dear friends, on a tour for health and recreation, and in but little more than an hour had yielded up her soul to God. Is it not true "in the midst of life we are in death?" Do we, or can we, know "what shall be on the morrow?" Which one of us might not have been that dead company, which filled our streets with coffins, and hung our houses and our hearts with sackcloth?

My brethren, there can need no preacher to bring the mournful providence home to your hearts. Those hearing trains. The signal to "break up." That carriage on the track.— The crash. The crush. Car mounted upon car. Car rushing through car.— The storm of splinters. The groan.
The shriek. The wail. The wounded.
The mutilated. The crushed. The torn assunder. The buried alive. That horrified row upon the bank. The hurt.
The dying. The dead. Our public houses filled with the maimed and mangled. Our public hall a receiving vault for unknown corpses. Our private houses so many hospitals. Every man a servant—every woman a nurse.— Through that whole day business given up. The social currents all directed to one point. Not an act, not a word, not a thought, but of the wounded, of the dying, of the dead. The very center of our city a choked graveyard. There is no human eloquence that is not le-gared by such scenes as that scene preached to every heart. God spoke, and man was still. "In the midst of life"—all felt—"in the midst of life we are in death."

The lessons which this painful Providence should preach are numerous and impressive. They have cost too much to be repeated often. Let us lay them to our heart! What could more forcibly teach us the uncertainty of life?
What more familiar thing than to get into a car? How few of you who do not do it every week? It is as common as coming to church; and yet, of the travellers in that sad train, how few escaped unhurt; how many in an instant were left. Three sat out together on the same excursion of enjoyment: one was taken and two were left. Aged men—The vigor and husband of middle life.
Tender and delicate women. All ages, every condition, either sex, involved in one promiscuous ruin. Not a moment's warning. No time to say "Farewell!" No opportunity to pray. An instant; and an end! Is it not true that "in the midst of life we are in death?" Is it possible to know "what shall be on the morrow?"

We learn from this disaster the terrible violence of death. In a moment one was so changed whom I had known familiarily for twenty years, that I could not discern one single feature. In the common course of things we do not feel this. Our beloved fade from day to day beside us, and we scarcely mark the change. But it does take place. And when, as now, all in one moment, we are startled at the possibility. A young and lovely woman, reared in the lap of luxury, and magnetic center of the circle that revolved around her, borne in a cart begrimed with dust; scarcely a trace of her former condition left. The manliest beauty marred and maimed in odious deformity. A company of gentlemen from every quarter of the country, clergymen, officers, planters, merchants, scholars so disgraced that "one would think them," said a surgeon in attendant, "the passengers in an emigrant train, and of the lowest sort." So terrible in violence, is death. So terrible in its approaches. What a revealing of the horrid secrets of the grave! What an exponent of the awfulness of sin, by which so foul a blight was brought upon this beautiful creature! What an index of the sorer curse which it has brought upon the soul which was the image of its Maker! What a shadow nearly of that fearful future where its full dominion is achieved: "where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched."

And then another lesson of this fearful Providence: What a level is death!
Along the edge of that embankment, lies a sad and solemn row. Who can say, which is the master? which is the servant? Who can discriminate between the millionaire and the mendicant?
Who, but the Maker of them all, that can distinguish one from another, in that community of wretchedness? On a settee, in the Station-house, a man of noble birth, the representative of the first Government of Continental Europe, is agonizing in convulsive death. On a mattress, in the entry of the hotel, a preacher of the Gospel is breathing out his life in words of prayer and benediction. In a corner of the parlor, lies the body of a colored servant; who has died, in her fidelity and gone, where all are equal. Upon the floor of the City Hall, slumbers in silence, the rained temples of the Godhead, lie in promiscuous desolation, the bodies of fair women and brave men, the darlings of ambitious hearts, and light of homes, that could not yet their darkness, unchained, unknown, unrecognized. How poor, in such an hour, the frivolous distinctions for which men fret, and toil, and fight!
In what un distinguishable confusion the brave, the mean, the rich, the poor, the high, the low, that can read them all might. But one bar, that can give to all their dues. For all, one Judge.
For all, one issue; or the other: eternal happiness or everlasting misery.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 8.—Mr. Charles Fingerhut, of this city, one of the killed by the railroad accident at Burlington, would, it is stated, have inherited a fortune of $500,000 had he lived until he arrived at the age of twenty-one years, which would have been the last of the present month. A clause in the will provided that in the event of his decease before arriving at age the fortune would fall to another branch of the family.— It is said that an effort will be made to recover this amount from the railroad company. George W. Ridgeway of the firm of Ridgeway & Dohl, one of the killed, had his life insured for $10,000.

A Dozen good Gleams of Light.
Let us adopt the love of peace that Christ may recognize his own, even as we recognize him to the teacher of peace.
Prayer is the rich man's ruffe and the strong man's hope; its power opens the heavens and closes the yawning of the pit.
The shortest and surest way to live with honor in the world is to be in reality what we would appear to be.
A proper survey is the only mystery of able men; mystery, is the only secrecy of weak and cunning ones.
If a fool tells a secret, he tells it because he is a fool; if a knave knows one, he tells it wherever it is his interest to tell it.
Vague, injurious reports are no man's lies, but all men's carelessness.
The longer the saw of contentment is drawn the better it grows.
Men with few faults are the least anxious to discover those of others.
Strong passions work wonders when there is stronger reason to curb them.
If the ear of a friend is the sanctuary of evil reports, there alone they are safely preserved.
Nothing elevates so much as the presence of a spirit similar yet superior to our own.
A quiet mind, like other blessings, is more easily lost than gained.

If thy conscience blame thee, though ever so little, despise it not, nor neglect the secret check; 'tis a message from heaven, sent to summon thee to thy duty.
He who injures another, injures himself.
Do the duty that liest nearest thee.
How many opportunities of doing of receiving good do we suffer to pass away, not knowing their value till they are beyond our reach?
It is better to see our own faults than other people's.

How Big Darky Jake was Cured of Butting.

By the little 'un in the Spirit of the Times.
Some years since I was employed as warehouse clerk in a large shipping house in New Orleans, and while in that capacity the following funny incident occurred:

One day a vessel came in consigned to the house, having on board a large lot of cheese from New York; during the voyage some of them had become damaged by bilge water (the ship having proved leaky,) consequently the owners refused to receive them; they were, therefore, sent to the consignees of the ship, to be stored until the case could be adjusted. I discovered a few days afterwards that as to perfume, they were decidedly too fragrant to remain in the warehouse in June, and reported the same to my employers, from whom I received orders to have them over hauled, and send all that were passable to Beard and Callhoun's auction mart (then in Old Camp street Theatre.) I got a gang of black boys to work on them and when they stirred 'em up, "De bones of Molly Kelley's quart mug!" (the small was illegitimate entirely.) I kept a respectable distance, between me, for strong nigger and strong cheese on a hot June day just bangs all common senses, including a certain varmint we read about.

Presently the boys turned out an immense fellow about three foot six "across the stump," from which the box had rotted off; in the center a space of about ten inches was very much decayed, and appeared to be about the consistency of mush, of a bluish tint, which was caused by the bilge water. The boys had just set it upon its edge on a bale of gunny bags, when I noticed over the way a big barkey (then on sale) from Charleston, S. C. who was notorious for his butting propensities, having vicimost of the negroes in that vicinity a taste of his quality in that line. I had seen him and another fellow the night previous practising; they would stand one on each side of the hydrant, some ten yards distant and run at each other with their heads lowered, and clapping their hands on the hydrant, they would but like vapor rams. A thought struck me that I might see him of his sport also, so I told the boys to keep dark, and I called "Old Jake" over.

"They tell me you are a great fellow for butting Jake!"
"Is some massa, dat a fac—I done but de wood timber of ob old Pete's head las night, and mass Nicholas was going to go me goss! I kin jiss bang de head of any nigger in dese parts, myself—I kin!"

"Well, Jake, I've got a little job in that line for you when you haven't any thing else to do."
"So on hand for all dem kine ob jobs, myself—I kin."
"Well, you see that large cheese back there?"
"Does dat? I does myself."
"Now, if you can butt a dent in it, you shall have it."
"Golly, massa! you foolin' dis nigger!"

"No, I'm not Jake—just tre me."
"Wot? you gib me de hull ob dat cheese? I butt a dent in um!"
"Yes."
"De Lor! I'll bust 'em wide open, I will, myself. Joss stand back dar, you Oldness niggers, and clear de track for Old Sam Carolina, case I see a comin'

And Old Jake started back some fifty feet, and went at it a good quick run, and the next instant I heard a dull, heavy sound, a kind of splash, and Old Jake had disappeared from sight, with the top just visible on the other side, as he rose from his new fashioned necklace, the soft rotten cheese oozing down all round him as it settled down, so that just his eyes were visible. From the corner of Old Jake's nose was seen a small and half smothered, as he vainly tried to remove the immense cheese.
"O golly, ob de Lor! mass—Lick him up! Gor a nitty! I—" Meanwhile I was nearly dead myself, having laid back on a cotton bale holding myself together to keep from bursting, while the boys stood round Old Jake, paying him off.

"De Lor! how de nigger's brof smelt!
You don't clean your teeth, Old Jake!"
"I say! you didn't make more dan four times dat hand, you ole boss!"
"Well, you is a nasty nigger, da sa fact!"
"Well, you is de biggest kine of Whar Rabbit you is."
"Whar you get your bar groove?"
"And that de boys 're Old Jake—now half smothered—until I took compassion on him and told them to take it off—

A STRING OF MISHAPS.

A man named Wragg, was brought into one of the city courts in New York for disturbing the peace. No witness appeared against him, and he was requested to tell us his own story:

Judge—Mr. Wragg will you state the facts connected with your arrest?
Mr. Wragg—Certainly, sir. Last night about ten o'clock, I was going along the street quietly and unostentatiously, with my mind occupied in profound meditation, suddenly my thoughts and vision were simultaneously arrested, not by a member of the police, but by an old hat which was lying on the sidewalk. Now I have a deep aversion to an old hat. In fact I might say that the whole world has a rooted antipathy to old hats. It may be because old hats are emblematical of a man going down the hill of adversity: Men under such circumstances and old hats receive the same kind of treatment, namely, kicks.
Now, mine out of ten, seeing that old hat lying on the sidewalk as I did, would have given it a kick, and that six, is just what I did. I kicked that old hat, and not only that, but kicked a frightfully large stone which was inside of it: I felt myself falling forward, and unfortunately, I fell against a fat woman, with sufficient force to cause her to fall; in falling she knocked down a ladder; one end of the ladder struck me, the other hit a cart horse; the horse gave a jump, and the cartman was thrown off from his cart; he fell on a bull terrier dog; the dog gave a yell and bit the cartman, who rolled over me; a nigger rushed out of an alley and kicked the cartman for falling on his dog; the cartman picked up a stone and threw it at the nigger, but unfortunately it went through the window of a Dutchman's grocery and fell into a butter tub; the Dutchman came out; by this time I had got up and was about to chastise a boy whom I saw laughing, from which circumstance I was led to believe that he had put the stone in the old hat; I ran after the boy.
When he saw my bellicose attitude he yelled out for his father. The Dutchman ran after me, and just as I caught the boy the Dutchman caught me. Sir, my physical power was not sufficient to cope with both. I am not a Samson.
I was vanquished; not only that, sir, but when released from their grasp I was taken by three or four other Dutchmen.

BALLOON ASCENSION OF HONORABLE —Professor Elliott, who is well known in Washington as a daring aviator, made an ascension from St. Louis last week on horseback. The Republican says:

"Agreeably to announcement Professor Elliott made his aerial voyage on horseback. The ground inside of the enclosure was thronged with ladies and gentlemen to witness his perilous voyage, while outside the numbers could only be enumerated by thousands. There were many who thought the ascent would not go up; but true to the appointed time, he was harnessed to the aerial car, and at a given signal, with Professor Elliott on his back, off they went into regions of air. The horse behaved himself most admirably, and looked around and down upon the earth, apparently in the most perfect astonishment. His horse never for a moment 'clawed the air,' but he contented himself by gazing in most perfect horse wonder at the peculiar situation of things. Professor Elliott seemed as much at home upon his charge as if he were upon a macadamized road. As far as the eye could reach, both horse and rider seemed to be getting along quietly and safely.

"This is the first balloon ascension on horseback, we believe, ever attempted in America, and in the science remains, St. Louis ranks as the Paris of the continent."

Last evening we understand that the officers of the steamer Key-stone, which arrived betw. an eight and nine o'clock, saw the balloon and horse coming down in the immediate vicinity of the mouth of the Mississippi river, and from all appearances made a safe landing."

KANSAS.—The freesoil plot thickens in Kansas. A Mass meeting held at Lawrence, their stronghold, on the 18th inst., resolved to disregard the action of the legislature, and treat it as an illegal and unauthorized body. They also determined to make an immediate move for the formation of a State Constitution.
It is said that they have been accumulating arms and ammunition, and preparing for actual hostilities. The plains of Kansas may be the field upon which the battles for Southern rights is to be fought.
The South should lose no time in colonizing the territory with a substantial Southern population. Kansas Clubs should be organized to furnish outfits to our enterprising young men willing to settle there. This is a great practical question, upon which our friends require not our sympathy only, but material aid. We are glad to see the press awaking to the importance of this matter.—Spirit of the South.

I say Sambo, does ye know what makes de corn grow so fast when you purs de manure on it?"
"No I don't know hardly."
"Now I jist tell ye. When de corn begins to smelt de manure, it don't like de timber, so it hurries out de 'ground' and gits up as high as possible so as to not breath de bad air."

REPORT OF THE PRO- GRESS OF THE ALABAMA COPPER MINING COM- PANY.

Talladega, Aug. 30, 1855.
The prospects of our company brighten every day; and I am happy to acquaint you with the following facts.

On the 9th instant our miners cut in the channel of our Talladega mine through a few inches thick cover of the peroxide of iron, under which they found a large quantity of a bluish black sediment of black oxide of copper. Iron, Sulphur, &c., imbedded in a fissure of quartzose ferruginous slate, so situated at the foot of the upheaval of the gangle and so shaped that it forms a reservoir for a part of the copper and iron salts which once filtered dissolved in water from a lode of copper pyrites in the act of decomposition.

We took about a ton of it out upon our platform. It resembles the first copper ores cut in the Wilks, and in the Howard proprieties in Virginia, and proves that a lode of black oxide of copper which we aim to cut before long with our level, reaches us. The regular continuance of the indications for several miles with large out crops of gossin insures a heavy lode, and as no gangle boulders of gneissoid or granitic character are thrown up I expect no great difficulty in penetrating the wallings of the vein.

The operations on our Monument Hill, and in our Hatchet Creek mine are discontinued, on account of the determination of our company to cut a hole in the Tala-dega mine without being troubled by water.

IMPORTANT FROM CALI- FORNIA.

The steamer North Star has arrived at New York with dates from San Francisco to the 18th ult.
Trade was dull—goods had declined and mining was good.
An Indian war was raging in Northern California and Southern Oregon, in which 25 Americans had been killed.

The Klamath Indians attacked the miners on the Sacramento—fifty Indians were killed.
A party of Mexican robbers attacked the settlers and killed eight men and one woman. The robbers were pursued and three killed and nine hung.

Woods, the late partner of Adams & Co., had absconded to Australia, taking $100,000 of the assets of the late firm.
It is said that two gold dust counterfeiters were employed by Adams & Co.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

The war rages in Central America. The democratic forces were defeated in a battle on the 18th, by the government troops.
Walker was recruiting at San Juan with but poor success.

Col. Kinney had concluded a contract with Shepard for thirty-five millions acres of land, and sent Lieut. Grada to the Government to confirm the grant.

The Future.—What is more simple and truthful than this,
"The past belongs to God, the present only is ours, short as it is, there is more in it than we can well imagine. He who can measure it, with its purpose, is doing a man's work; there are few who do it, and many who do less. A man cannot measure it with a bound, nor gather up its harvest in a single sheaf. It is broader than the vision, and has no end."

MISSISSIPPI.—The Grenada Re- publican of Saturday last says:

The cotton crop is suffering dreadfully in this region of country from the rust, rot and drought.
The rust has given many upland fields the appearance of having been the victim of a killing frost.
Many planters with whom we have conversed, think that there will not be more than half a crop made this season.

COL. GOLDSBY.

President Alabama and Tennessee River Railroad arrived home yesterday morning. He succeeded in purchasing 3000 tons of iron, to arrive in Mobile in sundry shipments, ranging from October to January next. This is enough to reach the 100 mile station. Let all hands now take hold and rush the work on till this iron is all laid down. The earnings of the road will then be worth something worth talking about, and the road will then do this town, as well as the up country large good. Oh! for a ride to the 100 mile station and Talladega town (9-12 further) in five hours! That'll be ngood day for this paragraph to learn that at the recent election in New Orleans the greatest outrages were perpetrated by the party in power. The True Delta gives the following account of them:

At the recent judicial election in this place for the choice of Judge to fill the judgment seat of the Court of Probate, or the Second District Court as it is called, many citizens resident here for twenty or more years past, were upon one pretext or another, repelled from the polls, native and adopted alike through not, of course, in equal proportions their preferences for one or the other of the candidates who for some time to come to dispense justice in a court where, sooner or later, the affairs of almost every citizen have to be adjudicated, being rudely questioned, or disgracefully wickedly and illegally denied.

It is hardly necessary to add that New Orleans is under the control of the Know Nothings.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—The following singular case of death by lightning is reported in the Brantford (C. W.) Chronicle. The wife of Mr. John Currie, farmer, on the concession of the West Gwillimbury, was on last Thursday killed by lightning. She had gone out to milk in a field near the house; her daughter and servant woman were going with her, the latter to hold a wild heifer while being milked. On looking out and seeing it likely to be wet, they stepped back, the daughter to throw something over her, and the man to put on his coat. This was the work of a moment, and the daughter having hastily thrown over her shoulders a man's coat, she was stepping out of the house, when a volume of flame rushed towards her, which was accompanied by a most tremendous peal of thunder. Fearing for her mother's safety, the daughter sprang towards where she had last seen her. Here she met a great body of smoke, and saw her mother prostrate in the midst of it, her clothes on fire, and her body lifeless. On going out, Mrs. Currie had two milk pails, one tin and the other wood. The rim of the tin pail was cut into by the electric fluid, and two holes were made in the bottom of the wooden one as if perforated with a rifle shot. Her cap was on fire some distance from the body, and she shows a considerable distance apart, and several rods from where she lay. The soles of her shoes were torn from the uppers; the hair of the head and the trunk of the body were greatly singed and burnt, but no appearance of bruises or broken bones. Within a radius of six feet the ground where the fell was perforated in six places, all obliquely, as if by grape shot. An inquest was held on the body, and a verdict returned that the deceased came to her death by being struck with lightning.

A REMARKABLE MAN.—There is a gentleman residing in this city, who came here twenty three years ago from England, and brought with him some three hundred guineas of his own hard earning, with which he commenced business as a grocer on a small scale. Little by little he increased his trade, and at the present time he is probably worth more than any other man in Massachusetts in the same line of business. During the period of twenty-three years he never gave a note of hand or took one; he never sued a man and was never sued himself, and was never called to the witness stand in any court during the whole period. He was never naturalized, and of course never voted, although he has paid thousands of dollars for county taxes. He has been known to buy a cargo of West India goods amounting to $60,000, for which he paid cash on delivery. He never deals in or drinks intoxicating liquors; never gives a dollar for a charitable purpose, while he supposes his name will appear in the newspapers, although he has distributed thousands to the distresses of his fellow men. Can such another man be found in this or any other country?—Bos. Times

OBITUARY
Died at the residence of the undersigned in Benton County Ala. on the 15th Sept. 1855. Major Harris Toney, from protracted calculus affection, in which he suffered a great deal. He was a resident of Heard County, formerly Franklin County Ga. The well known public services of Major Toney, entitle him to the gratitude of his Country. It may be gratifying to his relatives and friends to know that he was perfectly resigned and that he died in the full belief that happiness awaited his transit from this to another world.

Holloway's Pills.—Charles H. chin son (33) of Burlington Vermont, was for fifteen months a sad victim to this complaint, so bad was he one part of the time, that the water actually oozed through the pores of the skin, and thrice per day change of apparel became necessary. Every time his doctor called he expected to find him dead, and in fact gave his friends no hopes of his recovery; his sister who had derived great benefit by the use of Holloway's Pills, begged him, as a favor to her, to try them; fortunately for him he did not refuse, and they soon produced a change for the better, in four weeks he was again attending to business, having thoroughly got rid of the disorder, and in the most excellent health and spirits. These Pills work wonders in liver and Bile's complaints.

Also the south-west quarter of the south-west quarter of section 26, Township 19, and Range 6. Also all that part of the north half of the north-west quarter of section 35, Township 19, of Range six, lying west of Talladega Creek, (except two acres owned by H. Bridges.) Also two Yoke of Oxen, two Wagons, one Carry Log, two sets wag on wheels, two Log Chains, two Broad Axes, one Cross Cut Saw, one Smith's Vice, one Screw Plate, and the Forge Tools.

There being an abundant supply of good Iron Ore, and favorable indications for Copper on these premises, and the Forge and Mills being new, good and substantial, there is a good chance for some one to make a fortune out of them. Any one desiring to examine these valuable possessions previous to the day of sale, will please call on Geo. M. Riddle at Chandler's Springs, in Talladega county, or any information wanted will be given by him.

A MARVELLOUS REMEDY. For a Marvellous Age!

THE GRAND EXTERNAL REMEDY.
By the aid of a microscope, whose millions of little openings on the surface of our bodies—through these this Ointment, when rubbed on the skin, is carried to any organ or inward part. It cures the Kidneys, disorders of the Liver, affections of the heart, inflammation of the Lungs, Asthma, Coughs and Colds; are by its means effectually cured. Every bronchitis knows that salt passes freely through its membrane of its thickness. This healing Ointment for more readily penetrates through any bone or fleshy part of the body, curing the most dangerous inward complaints, that cannot be reached by other means.

SERYIPELAS, SALT RHEUM, & SCORBUTIC HUMORS.
No remedy has ever done so much for the cure of diseases of the Skin, whatever form they may assume, as this Ointment. No case of Salt Rheum, Scoury, Sore Heads, Scrofula, or Erysipelas, can long withstand its influence. The inventor has treated over many parts of the globe, visiting the principal hospitals, and has by this Ointment, given advice as to its application, and has thus been the means of restoring countless numbers to health.
SORE LEGS, SORE BREASTS, WOUNDS & ULCERS.
Some of the most scientific surgeons now living, have used this wonderful Ointment, when having to cure with the worst cases of sore, wounds, ulcers, glandular swellings, and tumors. Professor Holloway has, by command of the Allied Governments, dispensed to the hospitals of the East, large shipments of this Ointment, to be used under the direction of the Medical Staff, in the worst cases of wounds—It will cure any other glandular swelling, stiffness or contraction of the joints, even of twenty years' standing.

PILES AND FISTULAS.
These and other similar distressing complaints can be effectually cured if the Ointment be well rubbed over the parts affected, and by others also following the printed directions around each pot.
Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Scalds
Sore Legs
Sore Breasts
Chapped hands
Sore-eyes
Chilblains
Sore-throats Furuncles
Sore-hips
Gout Sprains
Lumbago
Mercurial Eruptions
Swollen Glands Piles
Sore Joints Rheumatism
Ulcers
Salt Rheum
Venereal Sores
Chilblains
Wounds of all kinds

* Sold at the Manufacturing of Professor Holloway, 80 Maiden Lane, New-York, and 234 Strand, London, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers of Medicine throughout the United States, and the civilized world, in Pots, at 25 cents, 62 1/2 cents, and $1 each. There is a considerable saving by taking the larger size.
N. B. Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are enclosed to each Pot.

Helmbold's Genuine Preparations.

Compound Fluid Extract Buchu.
For diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, Secret Discharges, Stricture, Weakness, and all diseases of the Sexual Organs, whether of Male or Female, from whatever cause they may have originated, and no matter of how long standing. If you have contracted the fearful disease which when once seated in the system, will surely go down from one generation to another, undermining constitution, and sapping the very vital fluids of life, do not trust yourself in the hands of Quacks, who start up every day in a city like this, and fill the papers with glowing testimonials, too well calculated to deceive the young, and those not acquainted with their tricks. You cannot be too careful in the selection of a remedy in these cases.

The Fluid Extract Buchu has been pronounced by eminent physicians the greatest remedy ever known. It is a medicine perfectly pleasant in its taste, and very innocuous in its action, and yet so thorough that it annihilates every particle of the rank and poisonous virus of this dreadful disease, and, unlike other remedies, does not dry up the disease in the blood.

Compound Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla.
For Purifying the Blood, removing all diseases arising from excess of Mercury, exposure and imprudence in life, chronic constitutional disease, arising from an impure state of the Blood, and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Pains and Swellings of the Bones, Tetters, Pimples on the Face, and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin.

This article is now prescribed by some of the distinguished physicians in the country, and has proved more efficient in practice than any preparation of Sarsaparilla yet offered to the public. Several cases of secondary Syphilis, Mercurial and Scrofulous diseases have entirely recovered in the invariable wards of our Public Institutions which had for many years resisted every mode of treatment that could be devised. These cases furnish striking examples of the salutary effects of this medicine in arresting some of the most inveterate diseases, after the disease has been destroyed, the bones already affected.

Notice.—Letters from responsible Physicians and Professors of several Medical Colleges, and certificates of cure from patients will be found accompanying both Preparations.

Fluid Extract of Buchu, 61 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $5.
Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla, 21 per bottle or 6 bottles for five dollars, equal in strength to one gallon of Syrup of Sarsaparilla.

Prepared and Sold by H. F. HELMBOLD, Chemist, 263 Chestnut Street, near the Girard House, Philadelphia.

And of Druggists and Dealers everywhere.
All letters directed to the Proprietor or Agent receive immediate attention.

The undersigned, Principal, induced by the agreement of a number of citizens of this county, to enter a school in the Institute 30 pupils for the term of two years, each promising to enter and pay for the number of pupils named to his name, and undertaken to found here a new and extensive branch of the education of Female Education. This must afford the most ample assurance of its determination to make the Institute eminently worthy of the public confidence and patronage.

Every branch appropriate to the most accomplished female education will be here taught, in the most thorough manner, by experienced and able instructors, upon terms more moderate than in any other school in the State. The Faculty consists of the following: S. FOUCHE, Principal, and Instructor in the Greek & Latin Classics, Mathematics, Logic, Moral and Intellectual Philosophy, History and Rhetoric.

Mrs. C. E. CALDWELL, Instructress in E. Grammar, Arithmetic, French, German and Sophomore Classes, Geography, N. Philosophy, &c.
Mr. F. DELANOR, Instructor in the French Language, Drawing, and Business, &c.
Mr. B. F. BARCLAY, Instructor in Music—Vocal and Instrumental—on the Organ, Piano, Harp, Guitar, or other instrument.

Terms.
To those who board in the family, of the entire charge for Boarding and Tuition in any of the branches taught in the Institute, without exception, and inclusive of washing, fuel, and all other expenses, for the academic year—$150 for the Spring term of six months, and $100 for the Fall term of six months. Board in good families can be had at $10 per month. Tuition in the College department $50 per year. French $20; Drawing $20. No extra fee for the Greek and Latin as most other institutions. Music $30 for the Spring term and $20 for the Fall term. The primary department the charge will be 13 dollars for the Spring and 12 dollars for the Fall term.

Guntersville to Jacksonville.
A Tri-weekly line of four horse Post Coaches, is now running and permanently established, between Jacksonville and Guntersville, Ala., forming a direct connection with the Tennessee river and the daily line of Stages from Rome, Ga., via Talladega to Montgomery, Ala.

There is also a line of four horse coaches from Talladega to the head of the Alabama and Tennessee river Rail Road, above Montevallo. Guntersville is situated half way between Decatur (the head of the Memphis and Charleston Rail Road) and Bridgeport, (the crossing of the Nashville and Chattanooga Rail Road.) It being only sixty miles, or six hours run on fine Mail steamers which pass daily to either of the above points. Whitesburg (the Huntsville landing) is only 30 miles by the river, and a splendid line of four horse coaches over a McAdams road ten miles to Huntsville. Passengers from Nashville, West Tennessee, North Mississippi, and all portions of North Alabama to Jacksonville and Talladega, Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, will find it their interest to travel this route, as it is "cheap, safe, swift and comfortable."

The above line is stocked with good coaches and teams, with accommodating drivers; it runs over a fine natural road to Talladega and Selma, and a splendid plank road from Talladega to Montgomery. No labor or expense shall be spared on our line to render travellers comfortable. Passengers to Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, will find this route 24 hours quicker, and from eight to ten dollars cheaper than any other arrangement as such that passengers can have eight hours sleep in Jacksonville, and from 5 p. m. to 3 a. m. in Talladega, making almost the entire route in daylight. Leave Guntersville Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays, at 6 o'clock a. m., and arrive at Jacksonville same days, at 10 1/2 p. m. Leave Jacksonville, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 6 o'clock a. m., arrive at Guntersville same days at 10 1/2 p. m.

Fare from Guntersville to Jacksonville $6. To Talladega $9. Montgomery $14. Way passengers ten cents per mile.

LAND FOR SALE.
The undersigned offers for sale on accommodating terms, the tract of Land wherein he now resides, eight miles south of Jacksonville, and within 3 miles of the Steam Mill and Rail Road, containing

220 Acres,
In a good state of cultivation, with tolerable good dwelling and out-houses. There are several never-failing springs on the place, and an abundance of stock water. There are also indications of what is supposed to be valuable metals, lead-silver, or something else, specimens of which can be seen at this office. Twelve months credit will be given on one half the purchase money.—500 bushels of corn, a quantity of Paddy, and some stock hogs and cattle would also be sold if desired.

Those who want a bargain would do well to call and examine the place.
