

OCTOBER

We are authorized to announce that Wm. T. Ryan, as a candidate for Sheriff of Calhoun County—election 1st Monday of August next.

We are authorized to announce Fielding Love, as a candidate for Sheriff of Calhoun County—election 1st Monday of August next.

The ladies of Jacksonville and vicinity, friendly to the Baptist cause, are making preparations to entertain the public on Tuesday night, the 2nd of November next, during the second week of Court, with a supper and music for the purpose of furnishing the new Baptist Church House, just erected. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Talladega papers will please copy.

We would earnestly solicit those in debt to us for subscription or advertising to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded at the approaching term of the Circuit Court, to send, or call in and settle their accounts in whole or in part. We assure them that we have never known a period since the commencement of the publication of this paper, in which their assistance was more needed, or would be more gratefully appreciated.

As many persons wish to contribute their newspaper subscriptions at some noted period so that they can remember when their year ends, we would suggest the approaching term of our Fall Circuit Court, 1st Monday of October, as a good time to subscribe, and all who give or send in their names previously shall have the numbers extra up to that time.

Dry Goods advertisement of R. S. Norton & Son, Talladega, Ga., received after this paper was in the press, shall have a conspicuous place in our next.

Valuable and beautiful Residence for Sale.

Persons far or near, who may wish to purchase a beautiful, roomy and comfortable residence in this place, would do well to give attention to the opportunity now offered by Judge Woods.

The place he offers for sale has been universally admired, both by residents and strangers for its handsome and convenient buildings, its beautiful extensive grounds, its water, and many other recommendations. It is offered, as we happen to know, at between two and three thousand dollars less than the value of the lot and improvements; a bargain which does not often happen in the sale of so choice and desirable a place. Those who may have the slightest inclination to purchase should act promptly.

For a person living in the Southern part of the State, who wished a healthy summer residence, this would be a very desirable place.

Hon. J. L. M. Curry, Representative in Congress from this district, will be in this place on the 1st Monday of November, being the 2nd Monday of our Court, and deliver an address to his constituents. Continued ill health has prevented him from visiting most parts of his district, previous to this time.

The attention of all who may need or wish to purchase goods, is invited to the advertisement of J. D. Hoke & Co. This long-established and reliable house, has just received a superb stock of Fall and Winter goods, carefully selected in reference to latest styles, durability and beauty. They have not only selected their goods with care, but we have been assured, are determined to sell them as low as any house in the place. Give them a call and examine their goods, and avail yourselves of the advantages offered. And it is not perhaps improper for us to refer to the fact, that as this house, by a thoughtful concern for the interests of its patrons, refrained from pressing collections, during the two last difficult and distressing seasons, they have brought them under additional obligations to come to their relief, now that times are better, and they can conveniently do so.

Broken Jail Notes.— Bishop and a negro man belonging to Mr. White, stole a bundle out of our jail Thursday night. The negro man, it is said, went to his master, but Bishop has not been heard of. They were supposed to have been aided from the outside with implements, and the father of Bishop has since been arrested on a charge of aiding in his escape, and committed to jail for further trial.

Rail Road Meeting.

The Talladega Reporter, mentions the rail road meeting at that place on Monday last inst., as being well attended, with encouraging prospects of procuring the necessary means to finish the rail the Talladega.

A committee of 14 was appointed, consisting of some of the strongest men of the County, to confer with the Directors, in relation to the terms upon which the Railroad Bonds could be purchased, and also to canvass the county, and ascertain by personal application if the necessary amount, $50,000 could be raised.

We invite attention to the changed advertisement price list of Yeal & Co. Rome, Ga. These gentlemen have conferred signal benefits on the public, not only by preventing, in season, but in keeping genuine articles at very reduced prices—making up for not legally and according to the usual small profits by extensive sales. With genuine, warranted articles and published price list, surely all can be pleased and suited. Give them a liberal, hearty patronage, for they deserve no less.

The Yellow Fever is abating in New Orleans; Charleston; and Savannah. The New Orleans "Pianeyne," mentions, with note of astonishment, the fact, that notwithstanding there have been considerably over 2000 deaths in less than two months, the influx of unacclimated strangers is greater than in a healthy time; and that but for this influx the abatement would have been much greater. Most of these strangers, says the same paper, are in prospect of dead men's shoes; but the prospect is ten to one they will leave their own dead men's shoes for others. Verily, there seems to be at least one thing in this world, which can deprive death of its terrors, and that is the hope of the rapid acquisition of wealth.

The only way to connect North and South Alabama by Rail Road.

We have before us the last annual report of the President and Directors of the Ala. and Tenn. Rivers R. R. Co.—showing its extension, operation, and business transactions from its commencement, up to the first of June last, '58. From this report we glean some substantial and valuable facts, which we lay before our readers, and invoke their special attention and close consideration.

The length of this road from Selma to Gadsden is 167 miles and a small fraction of this distance 100 miles of this road is finished and in daily running operation from Selma to Alpine.

From Alpine to Gadsden is 67 miles of this distance up to the 15th of last June, 40 miles were graded, two companies since that time have been engaged in grading, and doubtless have finished a few more miles; this however we will not include in our account and estimate.

Thus it will be seen from Alpine, the end of the finished road to Gadsden is 67 miles, 40 miles of it are graded—leaving only 27 miles to grade—all the heavy grading is finished—the 27 miles yet to grade is light work. This road thus far in its construction is a first class road laid with heavy T. rails. The graduation, masonry and bridging is first class work. All cuts are 14 feet wide at the grade line—slopes 18 inches to the foot—embankment at top 14 feet over.

From this it will be seen, if this company had the iron, this road could be finished in a very short time. The track laying might commence, and progress to Gadsden without interruption.

At Gadsden on the Coosa river, in Cherokee county, the Tenn. & Coosa Rail Road company sets in, and extends to Gunters Landing on the Tennessee river. According to the last survey made by J. R. Abraham, chief Engineer of the Tenn. & Coosa Rail Road, from Gadsden to Gunters Landing is 241 miles. We have it from a reliable source that the Tenn. & Coosa R. R. Co. have 23 or 25 miles of their road graded—we will put it down at the least number 23 miles which leaves only 218 miles to grade.

From the above state of facts taken from the reports of the two companies, it will be seen from Selma to Gunters Landing via Ala. & Tenn. R. R. R. and the Tenn. & Coosa R. R. the distance is 204 miles, counting in the fractions. Out of this distance we have shown 160 miles of finished road—out of the 194 miles from Alpine to Gunters Landing, the Ala. & Tenn. R. R. has 40 miles graded, the Tenn. & Coosa R. R. has 23 graded, making 63 miles graded from Alpine to Gunters Landing, leaving only 41 miles to grade from Selma to Gunters Landing.

We here conclude the statement more closely, and show that from Selma to Gunters Landing it is 204 miles—100 miles of that distance is finished and in operation—63 miles of the balance is gradually leaving only 41 miles to grade. From this it is easy to be seen, that if two companies had the iron to clothe their roads, North and South Alabama could be connected by Rail Road—the Ala. & Tenn. rivers would be connected at Selma and at Gunters Landing. The Tenn. river is navigable for Steam boats all the season from the mouth of our river to Thursday night to Gunters Landing; and from the home to its master, but Bishop has not been heard of. They were supposed to have been aided from the outside with implements, and the father of Bishop has since been arrested on a charge of aiding in his escape, and committed to jail for further trial.

eriment be used for any other purpose. The State has in its possession or owes to this fund $337,125 58.

At the last session of the Legislature, a committee was raised from both houses to investigate and examine into the condition of this fund. That committee was composed of able business men—they made a full and thorough examination into the condition of that fund, and reported that the State had on hand and owed to that fund the sum of $337,125 58.

The larger portion of this fund had been in the possession of the State ever since the year 1823, up to this date, making about 35 years. We are decidedly of the opinion that the State of Ala., should hold this fund no longer. A fund lying as dead capital for thirty-five years in the possession of the State is an insufferable, and fraught with the worst sort of policy.

We say this fund should be disbursed by the State, and applied in connecting North and South Alabama. More could be done to the State and the people in this way than any other.

There are two companies that have been struggling for a long time to connect the waters of the bay of Mobile with the Tenn. river. They have done much, which has added greatly to the interest of the State—much remains yet to be done; and we think the State out of this internal improvement fund, should loan enough to these companies for the purpose to lay the iron to finish the road to Gunters Landing.

The State might take it in preferred stock on these roads or let it out as a loan, either of which would do.

The State in our opinion can be amply secured in a loan. The State loaned to the Montgomery & West Point R. R. $116,000 of the two per cent. fund, which enabled that company to finish that road—that loan was for ten years—four years without interest, and five years at 5 per cent. interest. The State lost nothing by this operation.

We ask now, where is the objection to loaning these companies enough of that fund to purchase the iron to finish the road to Gunters Landing?

North & South Ala. can be connected with the three per cent. fund—There is no other company—there is no other Rail Road route—in fact there is no other way by which North & South Ala. can be connected, with so small a sum, as the three per cent. fund. Any other route beside this. Five Millions of Dollars added to the three per cent. fund will not connect North and South Alabama. Hence we say, it is the policy of the State to aid this route out of the three per cent. fund—not out of the Treasury.

Montgomery Mail's Phillips on the Ala. and Tenn. Rivers Rail Road.—The acrimonious speeches of Demos thenes, the Grecian orator, against Mark Anthony, the Roman orator, against Mark Antony, were called philippics. They were intended to arouse the Greeks and Romans from their lethargy, and to avenge and destroy Philip and Antony, and were to some extent successful. The Montgomery Mail, inflated with honors of successful wit and sarcasm, has on many occasions been betrayed into vain efforts to cut down humble and unpretending men, with his withering wit and piercing satire. Flushed with the honors of these victories, the Mail has ventured to imitate the Grecian and Roman orators in pronouncing a philippic against the Alabama and Tenn. R. R. Road; an enterprise of such magnitude and importance to the State, that its friends vainly hoped to be spared the crushing weight of the heel of the Mail. It seems now, that this enterprise, to connect North and South Alabama, must be abandoned, crushed and put down. The Mail has just discovered, that it is as "weak as half a dozen rats' horns set on end," and therefore must be abandoned, and give place to a new project—a route from Montgomery to Decatur.

Notwithstanding the Ala. & Tenn. R. R. Road is finished 100 miles, and in daily operation, and now has over 40 miles graded between the 100 mile station and Gadsden; and between Gadsden and Gunters Landing the Tenn. & Coosa Rail Road company have 23 miles graded, leaving only 39 or 40 miles more to grade between Alpine or the 100 mile post on the Ala. & Tenn. R. R. to Gunters Landing—yet it would seem, all this must be abandoned and give way to the Montgomery and Decatur route, which they call the Central route. If it will not be considered arrogant on our part—we will say to the Mail under the ear of Montgomery—this route can not be abandoned—so late on viper—that is a life you have hold of now.

The classic and classic term of "mammoth" pool—applied by the Mail to this road only serves to put in motion our reader's faculties—and reminds us of how valuable ram's horns used to be in olden times. Sacred history furnishes more instances than one—where rams horns were made valuable auxiliaries in destroying certain arrogant and perverse cities. There was an ancient city called Jericho, that thought itself an inland republic—a capital, self-reliant—haughty, wicked, that fell—and how did Jericho fall? Joshua a valiant man of war with seven priests armed with seven "Rams horns" compassed the city seven days, and on the seventh day it came to pass that Joshua commanded the priests to blow the rams horns, a few blasts were given, and the walls of Jericho "fell down flat." May not Montgomery profit by the suggestion.

The same history furnishes another striking instance of the effects that have been produced by trumpets. Gideon a valiant captain armed his host numbering only three hundred, with trumpets and pitchers—and with the blast of his trumpet and the cry "the sword of the Lord and Gideon" the Midianites fled in consternation. So after all, the ridicule and epithets of the Mail, applied to the Selma and Gunters Landing road, they will in all human probability, be quite as injurious to Montgomery, as they will be to these roads.

We deprecate sectional controversies—we eschew and avoid them as we do pestilence. Yet at the same time there are such principles as self-defense and self-preservation. He who waxes against another, may well expect to meet with resistance. The war waged against this section of country and its enterprises by the Mail and the itinerant orators who represent Montgomery in conventions, is our excuse in defending our section of the State and our railroad—our only hope in getting to any market in Alabama.

We take it for granted that the Mail reflects the opinions & the feelings of quite a number of the good people of Montgomery, in reference to our road. We think it is not only unkind but ungrateful on the part of the press or any of the traveling orators of Montgomery to speak or write against our section or our internal improvements. We hold that Montgomery is greatly indebted to North East Alabama for what she has grown to be. The truth of history we think will vindicate our assertion.

In 1841, the Congress of the United States relinquished to the State of Alabama the two per cent fund for the express purpose of connecting the waters of the bay of Mobile with the Tennessee river—by some means of internal improvement, and to construct a road across the State from West Point, in the direction of Jackson, Miss.

A short time after this the Montgomery and West Point Rail Road made application for a part of this fund; not only this country, but North East Ala. generally gave aid and assistance in obtaining about $116,000 of this fund, to aid in the construction of that road.

Again the seat of Government under the constitution was permanently located at Tuscaloosa, when an effort was made to amend the constitution of the State so as to have biennial instead of annual sessions of the legislature. The proposed amendments to the constitution originated in the House of Representatives, and passed that body, and when they came to the Senate, the then Senator of Benton County moved a further amendment to change that part of the constitution which permanently located the seat of Government at Tuscaloosa. All a fierce conflict and debate on the question; the amendment was made, which passed both branches afterwards. By this legislative strategy the seat of Government was finally moved, and when the question of a new location came up, this country, and according to our recollection, every county along the line of our Rail Road was the advocate and friend of Montgomery.

Again, when the state Capitol was burnt, and the question of moving the capital to Tuscaloosa came up, Montgomery found her old allies and friends in East Alabama, doing battle for her. During all these conflicts for Montgomery and her interests, where was her now magnus Apollo, Decatur? Again—when the question to connect North and South Alabama was mooted before the people, a convention was called to be held at Shelby Springs—an invitation was extended to all—Montgomery, Decatur, Walker, Blount and Jefferson sent no delegates—stood aloof. This section of the State desired to connect with Montgomery, and advocated the postponement of any definite action until another convention could be held at a future date. The result was, another convention was called, and Montgomery especially invited. This convention met at Talladega, for the purpose of settling upon the route and the point on the Ala. and Tenn. rivers to start from and to end. Montgomery was represented in the Talladega convention—she was called upon to lead off, for Benton and Talladega wished to start at Montgomery and construct the road to Gunters Landing. The delegates from Montgomery "fell back in the harness" and opposed action. The old war horse, who we believe is the regular itinerant delegate for Montgomery in all internal improvement conventions, was in favor of staying off action—showed no disposition to engage in building a Rail Road, unless it started some distance up the Montgomery and West Point R. R. say Franklin, Chelaw or Opelika.

This section urged a connection at Montgomery, her delegates gave it the cold shoulder—did not even pledge Montgomery to aid or do anything—Selma, Dallas County, Bibb and Shelby held out their hands, and said meet us at the Coosa River, we will join you, we will strike hands with you, we will aid you in finding an outlet to market—Benton and Talladega, seeing that Montgomery did not intend to aid in building this road, finally, the reluctantly joined with Selma. Montgomery seemed to be satisfied for a long time. She had not the slightest idea that a little one horse town like Selma could construct a first class Rail Road out of Dallas County. She has been no doubt greatly deceived—something must be done now to impede her progress.

Our space will not allow us to discuss this branch of the history of this rail road in its early inception. It is enough for us to know and to answer our purpose, that Montgomery alone is to blame in not starting this road from that city. Hence we say, it is unjust, unkind and ungrateful for Montgomery or her papers, or orators to speak and write against our Rail Road project, or our section of Country.

We desire it to be distinctly understood, that we have no objection to Montgomery and Decatur building their road if they desire it. At the same time we desire it to be known in the same connection, that we shall oppose, the state aid which is looked to for the construction of this road. Six millions of money will not construct the road from Montgomery to Decatur, across the mountains and streams of Shelby, Jefferson, Walker, Hancock, Blount and Morgan, yet if Montgomery and Decatur desire it let them have it. We only say to them keep out of our State treasury. The people of this State will never submit to be taxed, to construct that or any other road.

Liverpool, Saturday Afternoon, Sept. 18.—Sales of cotton 10,000 bales—speculators taking 1,000. The market closed steady and firm. Broadstuffs were quiet and sales unimportant.

Judge Thos. A. Waker, the active and zealous President of the Alabama and Tennessee Rivers Railroad, has been unable to dispose of its Bonds in the Eastern markets. This is what we expected. The people of Talladega, Calhoun and Cherokee counties have the disability and now let them come forward and take the Bonds themselves—Talladega should finish the Rail Road through her limits; so should Calhoun County, and then let Cherokee complete it to Gadsden on the Coosa. The road bed is graded—the iron is the great difficulty. If the people of Selma and along the line do not furnish the means—less than half a million of dollars—to lay the iron, then they do not deserve to have the railroad at all. They have already lost largely by delay—still further delay may result most disastrously and cripple the Road for all time. Go to work and help yourselves, we say to these counties—you have the ability and only want the will. Huntsville Ad.

POETRY.

The Mill-Stream.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "REVERBERATIONS."

A child looks into the mill-stream, Where the fish glide in and out, The dace with the gold of silver, And the crimson-spotted trout.

He plays with the diamond waters, He talks to the dawning bees, He sings to the birds sing with him, He runs as to catch the breeze.

A perfume from wood and meadow Is wandering round the bay; He is twining a garland of lilies, And, joyous, he thinks not of joy.

He prays in the eve and morning, For the heavens seem always near, And he thinks that each childish murmur Is a charm that the angels hear.

O life! O beautiful picture! O light, and perfume, and love! O the grace of the heart that is tender! O the dream that can lift us above!

O life! no longer a problem, But a something to see and enjoy, A brightness on stream and on meadow, A breeze round a dancing boy.

Back, back to the fair blue morning Of wild hope and of fancy wild, Let me watch the fish in the mill-stream With the eyes & heart of a child.

Where There's a Will There's a Way.

BY ELIZA COOK.

We have faith in old proverb full surely, For Wisdom has traced that they tell, And Truth may be drawn up purely, From them as it may from a well.

Let us question the thinkers and doers, And hear they honestly say, And you'll find they believe, like bold warriors, In "Where there's a will there's a way."

The hills have been high for Man's mounting, The woods have been dense for his way, The stars have been thick for his counting, The sands have been wide for his tracks.

The sea has been deep for his diving, The poles have been broad for his way, But bravely he's proved in striving, That "Where there's a will there's a way."

Have ye vines that ask a destroyer? Or passion that need your control? Let reason become your employer, And you'll find he'll rule you well.

And you'll find he'll rule you well, For he'll be true to his word, And he'll be true to his word, And he'll be true to his word.

For "Where there's a will there's a way."

Have ye vines that ask a destroyer? Or passion that need your control? Let reason become your employer, And you'll find he'll rule you well.

And you'll find he'll rule you well, For he'll be true to his word, And he'll be true to his word, And he'll be true to his word.

For "Where there's a will there's a way."

Have ye vines that ask a destroyer? Or passion that need your control? Let reason become your employer, And you'll find he'll rule you well.

And you'll find he'll rule you well, For he'll be true to his word, And he'll be true to his word, And he'll be true to his word.

For "Where there's a will there's a way."

Have ye vines that ask a destroyer? Or passion that need your control? Let reason become your employer, And you'll find he'll rule you well.
