they cannot borrow any money from abroad, and they have a government so excessively manufacturing paper money that there is no hope of keeping up any length of time the delusion that gold is valuable. Still there would be some hope if they could stop where they are. But they might as well think some trade relations with the South, and have the hopes of the Southern, have the wealth of the North, and then, many of us, would hope that he will get out of it. Now the frightful current expenditures can be stopped, or how the war can be settled, it is perhaps premature to speculate. Nor do we venture to calculate that the power of capital is so likely to feel as decisive on such a question. America has such imperishable advantages in her great unbroken tracts of fertile soil that no more calamitous calamities can strangle her. Economy, borrow and repudiate over and over again, and ruin every capitalist she has, and yet rise again and thrive. But such a crisis as the interests of wretched men are likely to be of great influence on events. We are great misfortunates if the opinion of the commercial body in the great cities of Federal America has not been a very lax one, and if there be not all around George Washington, general disgust and indignity at this empty dry bill, and a unanimous resolution to protest if it ever comes to maturity.

Gov. Brown of Georgia, has suspended the shipment of cotton over the Western and Atlantic Railroad, until further notice. His reason, to believe that cotton was being shipped to points in Tennessee for the use of the enemy.

Rich Mines.—A rich Gold vein has been recently discovered a mile from town, by Dr. Hamilton & Co. This vein is from 6 to 12 feet thick and is said to be the largest mine ever worked in this country. The company are prepared to work it on a large scale together with their other property, showing which will soon be so far developed as to enable them to put two additional mills into operation, or 12,000 tons per day, which will reduce from $15 to $10 per ton. The ore from the new mine is of a superior kind, containing an average of 150 lbs. of pure gold and on the Dwyall mine at the head of near 400 feet above this place, all being situated as to be conveyed by a simple arrangement the ore into the mill through a chute or plank box, which will save the greater expense of hoisting.

THE NORTHERN AFRICA. — The Senate of Maine, it is stated, has just passed a resolution with only four dissenting voices, memorializing Congress to free and arm the whole servile population. This is a development of Northern feeling towards us, which every man should know and weigh. It is the very distillation of malice and is conceived and born of the idea of the extinction in blood and fire of the whole Southern race. And that, therefore, should be the feeling of any daring despotic courage, which animates us when we know that, failing in self defense, we must fall into the hands of the conquerors, who hate us with a hatred which can be slayed only by our extinction.

Major General Hovey of this Division, has received orders from the Governor to discontinue every distillery in his command, from and after the 1st day of April next, and to prohibit the sale of ardent spirits within ten miles of any military camp, established by the Confederate State Executives.

All good citizens who desire the success of our army will give information to the Military officers, and all violators of the order will be punished promptly. Regimental and company muster grounds will be conducted in this order, and all officers are required to order prompt execution. Palladega Watchtower.

Gen. Enriquez—Promoted to Captain—The Columbia Guardian says General Shields commanded the Palmetto Regiment in Mexico. After the campaign he paid a visit to Columbia where he was faced and defeated. In the course of a speech he made from the porch of one of our hotels, after applauding the daring and heroic deeds of the regiment he said in substance, that he hoped to be able to draw his sword against South Carolinians, his arm might be severed from his body.

This speech of course in a situation has been generally forgotten. There are as we have pointed out, a few of the most prominent persons here, that only regret, all because they are not well or married, the matter too, for we know from his body

"CALL ALL! CALL ALL!"

Whoop! the Doodles have broken loose;

Running round like the very darts!

After 'em boys, and drive 'em back!

Butt-log, terror, cur and dog,

Back to the boggy land of ice;

Worry 'em! bite 'em! scratch and tear,

Everybody and everywhere!

Tennessee's split asunder!

Alabama's avails attack!

And Georgia bristles at her back!

Old John Brown is dead and gone!

THE FEDERALS ARE SORELY DISAPPOINTED

at the reception they meet from our people.

We keep aloof from them, and have no communication with them whatever. The country people refuse to bring in anything at all, and our market is almost bare. Aside from the miserable and money making population with which every Southern State is unhappily afflicted, our people are sound to the core. Dr. Harris, the Episcopal Minister, has left the city. He was arrested

Sunday a week ago, and told he must pray for the President of the United States, and no other, or peril his life.

He said he would suffer death first, so he is gone. All the churches are closed and we are all hopeful and buoyant, and will wait patiently, and pray fervently

for the good time coming.

Our women, God bless them, are all in favor of the South. An incident occurred here the other day, which is worthy of mention. The Yankees have injured very materially the property of these citizens in the service, absent from their homes on business, or compelled to leave from the nature of their occupation. The house of Col. George Man-gum, [1st Tenn. Regt.] was riddled and his furniture ruined. They committed degradations on the property of Rev.

John B. McFerrin and others, and visited the residence of Col. G. P. Smith with the same diabolical purposes, but were met at the door by his heroic wife armed with a pistol and bowie knife.

With a courage and determination of the women of '76, she confronted them saying: "I have a husband, two sons and a brother in the field fighting for the South and I am a woman. I have been left behind to protect my home, and I will

A. WOODS, 0

The Fort had not been taken on Wednesday.
Richmond, April 18.
On Thursday last the Yankees appeared in front of the Fort. The pickets were driven in, several of them being wounded. Our infantry and cavalry were sent out. The enemy being large force the Confederates were twice repulsed.
The enemy advanced and our troops fell back to Fredericksburg, and set fire to the three bridges across the river. The Confederates also burnt three steamboats and twenty vessels loaded with one hundred thousand bushels of corn, and several hundred bales of cotton at the Depot.
The panic among the citizens was tremendous.
Our troops evacuated the city and the enemy entered after them, which struck the cotton factory, doing much damage.
The rolling stock of the railroad company saved excepting eight cars.
Lyonsburg, April 18.
The Knoxville Register has a dispatch dated Bridgeport 10th inst. which states that neither Decatur nor Decatur bridge have been taken. There are only three thousand Yankees in possession of Huntsville, the balance having fallen back, and none of them are on this side of the city.
From the Southern Confederacy.
Richmond, April 18.—The Copyright Bill passed the House yesterday. It had previously passed the Senate. It is believed that Congress will adjourn next Monday.
[PRIVATE DISPATCH.]
Chattanooga, April 15.—Dr. W. C. Thompson: "The enemy have left St. George. No reliable news from Huntsville."
Special dispatch to the Southern Confederacy.
Memphis, April 14.—All quiet at Corinth.—We still hold part of the battlefield. Our entire loss is about 3,000 the enemy's larger, but unknown. The Confederates are in fine spirits.
Memphis, April 15.—Northern papers received here to-day state the Federal loss in the battle of Shiloh at 20,000 many Field Officers killed. Gen. Buell mortally wounded. Gen. Crittenden, Sherman and the two Wallaces wounded. Two regiments from Kentucky, and two from Wisconsin, laid down their arms at Nashville, and refused to fight for Lincoln any more.
Norfolk, April 15.—Northern dates to the south have been received. The papers claim a great victory at Pittsburg; that Beauregard's army was shot off, and the rebel host had fled in dismay. There is great rejoicing over the misrepresented result of the battle, and the surrender of Island No. 10, which are extraordinary falsehoods.
The Federalists say their loss at Pittsburg in killed, wounded and missing, is 20,000, and that of the Confederates 35,000 to 40,000.
Special Dispatch to the Savannah Republican.
Columbus, April 11.—No general engagement has taken place since the memorable struggle of the 6th and 7th. We still hold part of the battlefield, and considerable skirmishing is going on daily, in which the Confederates nearly always get the best.
The Federal Official papers found on the battlefield show that their expeditionary forces on the river, exclusive of Gen. Buell's command, amounted to sixty-one thousand.
Packages of poisoned balls were also found on the field among the ammunition of the enemy. It has been definitely ascertained, by scientific analysis, that quantities of guanine, which the enemy allowed to be smuggled across the line into the Confederate States, contain poisonous adulteration.
The towns of Huntsville and Decatur, in Alabama, have been occupied by the enemy. This was expected by our Generals, and should cause no alarm.—When the Federals came to the bridge at Decatur the draw was raised by the crossing, whereupon the enemy threatened to shell the town if it was not let down. The citizens, desirous of avoiding the fire of the enemy, prevailed on the officer to put it down.
General Wallace, of the Federal army, was killed in the late battle.
I regret to inform you that Gen. Gladden died to-day of the wounds received on the 6th inst.
Gen. Bragg has been made a full General.
The Confederate army is in excellent spirits, and ready to renew the fight.
