A LECTURE

TO YOUNG MEN.

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope. Price six cents.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self-Abuse, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequence of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain sealed envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

TENNESSEE.

From Louisville Courier Journal

[illegible]nation by Brownlow—The [illegible]ratic Party and the Gubernatorial Canvass.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 20.—The following proclamation declaring martial law, was issued by Gov. Brownlow to-day:

I, William G. Brownlow, Governor of Tennessee, do hereby proclaim martial law in and over the following counties, to-wit: Overton, Jackson, Macon, Giles, Marshall, Lawrence, Gibson, Madison and Haywood. And I further direct that General Cooper distribute these troops at once, and continue them in service until we have unmistakable evidence of the purpose of all parties to keep the peace

The action of the Governor is recommended on by prominent men here, as it is generally conceded that Tennessee has never been in a more peaceable condition than at present. A case of outrage or lawlessness has not been reported for weeks, and the act quartering militia among peaceable communities is looked upon as a direct intention to provoke bloodshed.

Recent developments render it almost certain that there will not be any Democratic Convention in Tennessee this year, and that no Gubernatorial candidate will be brought out by that party under any circumstances, unless the Supreme Court of the United States should declare the franchise law unconstitutional. Leading men from different parts of the State, after comparing notes, arrived at this decision and since Brownlow has refused to give the certificates of election to the Democratic Congressmen elected in the Fourth and Eight Districts, the sentiment has become almost universal that a canvass this year, with the registration and election machinery under the absolute control of one man, would be nothing better than a farce So it may be set down as certain that Andy Johson nor any other man will be put forward this year by the Democratic party

It is not improbable that the bitter feeling between the Brownlow and Fletcher wings of the Radical party will bring about a split, and that two candidates for the Governorship will make the race. In that case, the one committed to rebel enfranchisement would be likely to receive the conservative vote.

Mrs. Grant.

The New Mistress of the White House.

From the Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Strover, Andrew Johnson's daughter, quietly and respectfully took her departure for Tennessee last week Good opinion follows all the ladies of the White House under the passing administration. We feel the most perfect and serene confidence in the spirited, handsome, and graceful lady who is to be the mistress of this mansion under Gen Grant Her education, parentage, and social opportunities have abundantly qualified her to grace the White House. Her father, Mr. Dent, was the proprietor of an estate and a home comparable with any between New Orleans and St. Louis, in those days when that part of the world contained the gentleman planter, par excellence He spared no generous pains to make his boys influential and his girls accomplished. Mrs. Grant was the flower of the family, and in her sagacity of head and heart she was probably the first person in the land to express sympathy and appreciation of the quiet young cadet. her brother's classmate at West Point.

She was the tried companion of his poverty and early struggles, and when the war bereaved her of him she manifested a constancy of confidence in his virtue and ability which never for one moment faltered. At the darkest periods of fortune she believed in his star, and fought his praises in civil life as bravely as she followed the Southern Cross in his campaigns. Josephine will have no larger homage when both Grant and Bonaparte have mellowed into history, than Mrs Grant. Unlike Josephine, she has submitted to the decree of good fortune with blameless modesty, and republican womanhood has no more exquisite example at this day than Mrs Grant. Her care of her children, whom she teaches to be self reliant as well as obedient, and the domestic and religious influence she exerts over her husband, are not unobserved here. The taste of her toilet, adapted to a naturally graceful and stately figure, has passed the gantlet of the most invidious criticism. It is with more reason than the high estimate of his high sagacity that people predict of General Grant a fortunate and happy administration, for behind his magistry there will always be a home. I make these remarks because a wretched and scurrilous newspaper in New York has lately undertaken to speak of Mrs. Grant as unequal to her eminence.—Upon this point the strictest criterion in the land may be satisfied. The White House will be honored in her accession

A Small Farm Well Tilled.

We clip the following wide and timely article from one of the best agricultural periodicals published in this or any other country.—The Southern Cultivator.

"At the close of the Revolutionary War the American [illegible] the finest domain on the globe. By subsequent purchase this has been trebled. Had they preserved it for their children, a thousand generations would scarcely fill it But unwisely, in my opinion, in the name of philanthropy, we invited the inhabitans of every country to come and help us occupy it.

"Our system of farming has been equally visionary and prodigal. What we could not give away we have made haste to destroy. We have cleared the land of its fine timber, and cultivated the rich soil in such a slovenly manner that it has washed away. We still march Westward, destroying as we go and leaving behind us desert of worn out fields, cut up by gullies, and red with clay banks. Nature, to hide our crime, covers them over as soon as she can with broom sedge and pine bushes

"Heretofore, a hand was expected to cultivate 25 to 30 acres; but he never did it, otherwise than to scrath over it as to wear it out and cause it to wash away in 8 or 10 years. Ten to fifteen acres—and ten better than fifteen—are as much as any hand can cultivate properly.

"Select your land so as to get all the natural advantages you can, and as soon as cleared and fenced, have it properly ditched, the hill sides by horizontal ditching, and the wet or seepy parts by covered ditches. Remember, this requires no little skill and experience, and these ditches are expected to be permanent. There is no sense in spending money, time and labor to put manure on land, when the next rain will wash it away, or when the soil wet your manure will sour or seep away

"Your next step is to manure David Dickson, the most successful planter of Georgia, uses commercial manures entirely, but these cost money in advance, which every farmer does not have. George W. Gift, the most successful gardener of Tennessee, says:—"Make your own manures, from your stables, cow lots, hog pens, swamp muck, &c." As I have elsewhere said, in speaking of the two systems of these distinguished men truth lies not in extremes, but in a happy medium. When the land abounds in the necessary salts, the manure should be made as Mr. G says If there is vegetable manure without a proper admixture of salts, these should be supplied by purchase as practiced by Mr. D., but if the land is deficient in both, a proper blending of the two will prove best. This may be done by buying the requisite salts and putting them on the compost heap, so as to mix them with the other ingredients, or by scattering them on the ground in the Spring, and supplying the vegetable manure by a green crop, to be grown during Summer, and turned under The green crops will be greatly increased by putting them on in Spring. Green crops should be turned under while flowering, and before seeding; besides, if your green crop consists of weeds and grass, you destroy them by preventing their seeding.

"In England, the tenant is required to fallow, as they call it, one-third of the land. This is done by plowing it well in the Spring, which greatly increases the green crop, and turning it under while in bloom in the after part of the year.

"I have improved portions of my farm by penning my cows on [illegible] corner spots which lie well [illegible] plowing it under every two or three weeks. When I get that spot as rich as I desire, I move the pen. I am particular to have every cow penned. During the Winter I feed them in the pen. I also fatten my hogs on my cultivable lands.—Many, rather than carry them water, make their lots on a branch, where all their droppings, and the cobs, which are the best of manure, wash away—They place their horse lots in the same way. No thrifty farmer will do that.

"Deep and thorough tillage will in a great measure compensate for want of ditching manuring and uplands. Where the land is thoroughly and deeply plowed, the rain, instead of running off and carrying the soil, will filter through it, leaving more or less richness. During Summer, the roots of vegetables will penetrate deep in search of moisture, and in dying will become manure, so that in process of time the land will become rich as deep as it is plowed.

"New lands should be plowed up as deep and soon as possible, so as to mix and save the virgin soil with that below. Old land, which has not been plowed deep, I prefer to work thus:—The first year, run a turning plow 5 inches deep, and a sub soil plow 4 inches deeper; in this drill your manure, and then bed on it by plowing out the middles in the same way. The second year run your turning plow 6 inches deep, in the middle furrow of last year's row, and your sub soiler 5 inches deeper. The third year, run your turning plow eight inches deep in the same furrow, and your sub soiler 6 inches deeper, applying your manure as the first year. Each year you will thus have worked it as deep as your manure and the soil will justify, and have saved the useless labor—and that very hard—of working up the useless clay After the Spring floods are over, one deep, thorough plowing, while your crop is small, should be given. This will loosen what has been packed by the rain, and pulverize and mix the soil. After this, the plowing should be very shallow The crop, no matter what it is, should be worked very carefully, so as not to choke or cover it, when small, with the dirt, or break or bruise it.—Coffee and my white men seem to have very little sympathy for young corn and cotton, and not much more when larger, and work it in such a manner as to do it nearly as much harm as good. A proper stand is of the first importance. Where it is too thick there will, in corn, be a great many barren stalks, and those which have ears will have small ones. On the other hand if you have a bad stand, your work you land for nothing.

"Discard forever all idea of moving, and plant your stakes for life. Be not unsettled by this and that fine tale about good countries. The good country is ever, like the rainbow, in the distance. There is no place without objections this side of Heaven. Select a suitable piece of ground near your house, and comence at once an orchard and vinyard. Get the best acclimated peaches, apples, &c, and the Scuppernong grape. Let amateurs alone—Don't forget the garden and a spot for flowers. If you are prudent and industrious, you will learn God has given us a better world than we gave him credit for.

"Perverse mankind, whose will's created free,
Charge all their woes on absolute decree;
All to the dooming gods their guilt translate,
And follies they miscall the crimes of fate.

"Whatever stock you get, get it of the best quality, even at a high price. It will be the cheapest in the end.—Good stock will eat no more than bad. Never forget that they are fle-h and blood, and that there is a limit to their strength and endurance. God gave us these creatures for our benefit, and we should treat them kindly in gratitude to Him. The merciful man is kind even to his brute. There is no comparison in the value and amount of service (to say nothing of the cheerfulnes with which it is done,) on a poor weakly animal and a fat and full one. The mule when will treated, will perform good service to 20 or 25 year of age Bucephalus carried Alexander in military campaigns until he was 30.—There is no better evidence of a good or bad man than the condition of his stock, not of a good or bad farmer.

AN ATTEMPT TO HARMONIZE.—A meeting of prominent Radicals and Southern Conservatives was held a few nsghts since, which was intended to be private until o her meetings of a similar character should be held. It has, however, leaked out that there were present about forty persons, including Gen. Fremont, Col Forney. Congressmen Cooke, Merrill and Morehead, General Longstreet, and Ridgeway and Barbour, of Virginia, and Col. Duncan of Ky, and several Southern Senators. The object of the gathering was an interchange of views toward harmonizing the people of the two sections;

FORNEY said the time had arrived for the exercise of a wise and magnanimous legislative policy toward the South so as to bring that people into full accord and brotherhood, and he avowed his intention to devote his energies to this great purpose. Fremont indorsed heartily his views, and others spoke in a similar strain. Forney's conservatism has surprised his friends, who are mostly the interest Radicals.

Wash. Cor. Louisville Journal.

A practical farmer writes: In my observations for twenty years in the practical application of manure, I am convinced that what is ordinarily termed "mulching," or the application of thoroughly decomposed, barnyard manure to the surface, the most economical use of this class of fertilizers. From this experience, I am convinced that one cord of manure applied to the surface of wheat ground, at the time of sowing, or on ground intended for corn, in the late autumn, or applied to all varieties of large and small fruits, is worth three cords plowed or dug under a depth of eight or ten inches."

GEN. JOHN H. FORNEY.

We have not heretofore mentioned the unfortunate insanity of this gentleman, supposed to be superinduced by a wound received in the war, which has thrown a feeling of gloom and sadness over our entire community, because we had hoped that it would be of short duration. But such had been the violence of his paroxysms, that by the advice of his physician, and at his own request in lucid intervals, his relatives last week consented to take him to the Lunatic Asylum at Nashville. We now learn from his brother, Capt D. P. Forney, who has returned, that the principal physician of that institution has pronounced it a case of acute insanity, and expressed the confident hope that it could be relieved in a few months.

The St. Clair Eagle of the 20th ult. makes some comments on, and takes exceptions to the course Judge Woods has thought proper to pursue in revoking his order designating that paper as the official organ for the publication of legal advertisements for Calhoun County, and the appointment of the Republican in its stead. We care nothing for any opinion that paper may either entertain or express, as to the Republican or its politics, and for that cause alone, should not refer to the subject; but we think its strictures come with a bad grace, under the circumstances, upon the course Judge Woods has felt it his duty to pursue. The law makes it the duty of Judges of Probate to decide the question, and not interested newspapers; and where there is a newspaper in the county, which comes clearly within the provisions of the act, to select it first, and then the next nearest. In selecting the Repnblican, Judge Woods has not only complied with the law, as expressed in his opinion making the change, but also with the obligations of his official oath, to protect the interests of widows and orphans committed to his charge, as well as all other persons interested in legal notices and sales; and in so doing, his conduct in the premises will be approved by all such, without a single exception. He has had too long an experience in the discharge of official duty to be dictated to by a village newspaper less than six months old.

We make these remarks, not with any desire to provoke controversy, but simply as an act of justice to Judge Woods

Knowing the anxiety of our readers to see the President's Inaugural Address, we have kept our paper back until Saturday morning We now present them with it, bht have not time or room for comment. We can only say now, that with the general tone and drift of the address we are well pleased. If the promises therein made and implied, to administer the government with justice and equity, and without party or sectional prejudice, are faithfully carried out, our country cannot be far from that state of cordial union, harmony and restored prosperity which the president seems so ardently to desire. We like to hear him talk of the full restoration of civil law in all parts of the county, the national honor, the revival of trade and restored prosperity. These objects cannot be accomplished while the government is administered sololy in the interest of a party, or the stronger section is permitted to proscribe and oppress the weaker. If the course marked out in this address, does not put the breaks on extreme Radicalism, the only real and imminent danger to the country, we are much mistaken; but are not disposed to lose sight of the fact that fair promises are often broken, sometimes from the want of power, and sometimes of will to comply with them.

We are indebed to a friend for the following Telegraphic Dispatch of the president's Cabinet.

E B. Hoare, Attorney General.
No Secretary of War named.

☞The attention of dealers in Liquors, Segars &c. is invited to the advertisement of the excellent and reliable firm of Cox & Hill, Atlanta, Ga. These gentlemen deal only in the best articles, receive directly from the manufacturers, and sell at remarkably low prices.

Mr. T. M. Wood, long and favorably known in Rome and other parts of Georgia, and in this State, as a correct and gentlemanly business man, is in this house, and recently visited our town on business connected therewith.

☞We invite special attention to the fact, that our liberal, enterprising and justly popular Grocery and, commission merchants, Messrs J. B. Turnley & Co. have just received and offer for sale, at very low prices, a superior article of N. O. Syrup—also Lard and Clover Seed. Those needing Syrup would do well to call soon, as a considerable rise in that article is anticipated, in consequence of the revolution in Cuba.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS
OF
PRESIDENT GRANT.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—General Grant on taking the oath said:

Your suffrage having elevated me to the office of President of the United States. I have in conformity with the Constitution of our country, taken the oath of office, prescribed therein.—I have taken this oath without mental reservation, with the determination to do to the best of my ability all that it requires of me. The responsibilities of the position I feel, but I accept them without fear. The office has come to me unsought. I commence its duties untrammeld. I bring to it a conscientious desire and determination to fill it to the best of my ability, to the satisfaction of the people.

On all leading questions agitating the public mind. I will always express my views to Congress and urge them according to my judgment, and when I think it advisable, will exercise the constitutional privilege of interposing a veto to defeat measures which I oppose. But all laws will be faithfully executed, whether they meet my approval or not.

I shall on all subjects have a policy to recommend, but none to enforce against the will of the people.

Laws are to govern all alike, those opposed to as well as those who favor them. I know no method to secure the repeal of bad or obnoxious laws so effective as their stringent execution.

The country having just emerged from a great rebellion, many questions will come before it for settlement in the next four years, which preceding administrations have never had to deal with. In meeting these it is desirable that they should be approached eamly without prejudice, state or sectional pride, remembering that the greatest good to the greatest number is the object to be attained. This requires security of persons and property and for religious and political opinion in every part of our common country, without regard to local prejudice. All laws to receive these ends will receive my best efforts for their enforcement.

A great debt has been contracted in securing to us and our posterity, the union. The payment of this principal and interest, as well as the return to a specie basis as soon as it can be accomplished, without material detriment to the debtor class, or to the country at large, must be provided to protect the national he Every dollar of the Govern indebtedness should be paid in gold, unless otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. Let it be understood that no repudiator of one farthing of our public debt will be trusted in public place, and it will go far towards strengthing a credit which ought to be the best in the world, will ultimately enable us to replace the debt with the bonds bearing less interest than we now pay. To this should be added a faithful collection of revenue, a strict account bility to the treasury for every dollar collected, and the greatest practical retrenchment in expenditures in every department of the Government

When we compare the paying capacity of the country now, whith ten States still in poverty from the effects of war, but soon to emerge, I trust, into greater prosperity than ever before, with its capacity twenty-five years ago, and calculate what it probably will be twenty-five years hence, who can doubt the feasibility of paying every dollar then with more ease than we now pay for useless luxuries. Why it looks as though Providence had bestowed upon us a strong box, the precious metals locked in the sterile mountains of the far West for which we are now forging the key to unlock to meet the very contingency that is now upon us Ultimately it may be necessary to increase the facilities to reach these riches, and it may be necessary that the general Government should give its aid to secure this access; but that should only be when a dollar of obligation to pay secures precisely the same sort of a dollar to use now, and not before.

Whilst the question of specie payments is in abeyance, the prudent business man is careful about contracting debts payable in the distant future.—The nation should follow the same rule.

A prostrate commerce is to be rebuilt and all industries encouraged. The young men of the country, those who, from their age, must be its rulers twenty-five years hence, have a peculiar interest in maintaining the national honor, A moment's reflection as to what will be our commanding influence among the nations of the earth in their day, if they are only true to themselves, should inspire them with national pride. All divisions, geographical, political and religious, can join in the common sentiment.

How the public debt is to be paid or specie payments resumed, is not so important as that a plan should be adopted and acquiesced in. A united determination to do is worth more than divided councils upon the metdod of doing. Legislation upon this subject may not be necessary now, nor even advisable, but will be when the civil law is more fully restored in all parts of the country, and trade resumes its wonted channels.

MR. GRANT:

I desire through the columns of the "Republican," to call the attention of those intrusted with the supervision of public county interest, to the present continued, and past common condition of the public thoroughfares throughout the county. During the entire winter, the roads have been almost impassable, even now it is with labor, and great difficulty that wagons can make headway in any given direction, without resorting to je rews or doubleteaming. The present system of road working is a perfect farce, and without a dicided Radical change in this department, the material growth and prosperity of the country will continue in a stunted stand-still condition.

Give us at least passable highways to and from market, and large quantities of unsold produce will find their way to adjacent towns and vilages, thereby in infusing new life into mercantile interest, and at the same time producing a happy effect upon topemen and their cubs, by stirring up their sluggish blood, and affording relief at least for a season, from sedantery and dyspeptic habits.

Ten days before the opening of the incoming term of the Spring Court for Calhoun county, the various overseers will call out their respective squads, throw a few pinetops in a conspicuous place or so, scratch off a hillock, dismiss the hands after having complimented them for a faithful performance of duty—report the road in excellent condition, and thus pass muster before an ordinary board of apportioners, as scientific practical engineers of the first water, when in reality a proper review would exhibit a different state of facts, clearly showing a disposition simply to envade the law without regard to duty, or public interest involved.

Evidently a lameness exists in the present road-law, or in its execution, and the hope is here expressed, and designed to be impressed upon the minds of the Grandjurors to be assembled at the sitting of the Spring Term of the court 1869 that they will make minute enquiry (allowing no dodging), as to the condition of the various roads during the past year, and not their present states after the scientific handling alluded to above in this article.

I would that I could be, to those who have the control of this matter, what "Cross Tie" evidently disigns himself to be to the "Town Council," a perpetual eyesore, or thorn in the side, till this lamentable omission of public duty is properly remedied.

FARMER.

OBITUARY.

Harris Taylor, son of Jasper L. and Martha E. Mays was born February 20th, 1853, and died January 18th, 1869. aged 15 years 10 month and 18 days.

It is supposed that Harris came to his death by Apoplexy. He was loading a waggon with seed cotton, from which he fell backward, was taken up, carried home, and died in about one hour. He never spoke from the time he fell.

He was converted and joined the M E. Church South, under the ministry of Rev. T. G. Slaughter, As a son, he was affectionate and obedient; as a brother, he was kind; as a member of the Church, he was consistent. Harris was a good boy. But he is gone, went suddenly and unexpectedly. How appropriate the admonition, "Be ye also ready."

Court of Probate for said County,
Special Term, February, 17th, A. D. 1869.

THIS day came John A. Spalding, in right of his wife, Paralee A. Spalding, and Paralee A. Spalding, late Paralee A. Phillips, and late the wife of Charles P. Phillips, deceased, and now the wife of the said John A. Spalding, and present their petition in writing, representing that the said Charles P. Phillips, deceased, was the late husband of the said Paralee A. Spalding; that the said Charles P. Phillips, departed this life intestate, on the day of 1859, and that on the day of 1859, one William Phillips was by an order of said court duly appointed the administrator of the estate of the said Charles P Phillips, deceased, and that he duly qualified as such administrator, &c.; and that as such administrator the said Wm. Phillips, under the order of said court sold the personal property of said decedent, and collected the debts due said intestate's estate—they further state, that the said Wm. Phillips as administrator as aforesaid, has made no settlement of his administration of said estate, and that no distribution of the assets of said estate has ever been made, although the personal property was sold by said administrator on the day of 1860.

Petitioners further state, that the said Wm Phillips has removed from the State of Alabama, and now resides as they are informed and believe in the State of Texas, the county being unknown to them. They further state that the said Paralee A. Spalding and Oliver P Phillips are the only distributees of said estate;—and thereupon, the premises being considered, petitioners pray that such orders be made, and proceedings be had in this court as will compel the said Wm Phillips, as administrator as aforesaid; to come into court and file his account and vouchers for a final settlement of his said administration

It is thereupon ordered by the court, that the 15th day of March, 1869, be, and the same is hereby set apart for the hearing of said petition, and that notice thereof be given by publication in the Jacksonville Republican, a Newspaper printed and published in said county for three successive weeks prior to said day, as a notice to the said Wm. Phillips, administrator as aforesaid, to be and appear at a special term of said court to be holden at the court house of said county on said 15th day of March, 1869, and then and there file in this court his account and vouchers for a final settlement of his administration of said estate; and upon his failure to do so, the Court upon such evidence as may be brought before the court, will proceed to state an account between said administrator and said estate for final settlement as provided for by law.

To WOODWARD & SON.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows, to wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published, which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

POETRY.

Ring the Bell Softly

Some one has gone from this strange world of ours,
No more to gather its thorns with its flowers;
No longer to linger where sunbeams must fade,
Where, on all beauty death's fingers are laid,
Weary with mingling life's bitter and sweet,
Weary with parting and never to meet,
Some one has gone to the bright shore—
Ring thebell softly, there's crape on the door!

Some one is resting from sorrow and sin,
Happy where earth's conflicts enter not in,
Joyous as birds when the morning is bright;
When the sweet sunbeams have brought us their light;
Weary with sowing and never to reap,
Weary with labor, and welcoming sleep—
Some one's departed for Heaven's bright shore.
Ring the Bell softly, there's crape on the door!

Angels were anxiously longing to meet
One who walks with them in Heaven's bright street.
Loved ones have whispered that some one is blest
Free from earth's trials, and taking sweet rest;
Yes! there is one more in angelic bliss—
One less to church and one less to kiss;
One more departed to Heaven bright shore;
Ring the bell softly, there's crape on the door!

A Sensational Romance of Real Life.

Dr. Levinger, a celebrated lawyer of the higher courts at Vienna, in Austria, was a few weeks ago, intrusted with an uncommonly interesting case. An old nobleman of immense wealth and a high position at the Imperial Court, fell in love with a beautiful young woman, of low extraction, and persuaded her to live with as his mistress. He sequestered his jewel in one of his castles in the country, in order to suffer less from the pangs of jealousy, and at the same time conceal from the world the interesting circumstances in which the thoughtless creature found herself. In May 1841, the old Baron advised his love by letter that, in view of an approaching event, he had made a codicil to his will, wherein he had provided for his offspring with princely munificene. But before the letter reached its destination, the Baron was struck by sudden death from appoplexy, and the party to whom it was addressed had given birth to a healthy boy. The Probate Court opened the testament, wherein the two legitimate daughters of the Baron were named as his heirs, but there was no vestige of the codicil. Out of respect for the former high position of the Baron in society, and to avoid scandal, the two heiresses supported his mistress and her child during the first few years, and even provided her with the means for the boy's education. But after a while they lost sight of them, and finally abandoned them entirely.

Years passed by, and the illegitimate son became an intelligent and laborious student of mendicine at the University of Berlin, and received his diploma as Doctor of Medicine in 1866. His mother had carefully concealed from her son his illegitimate origin, and allowed him to believe that his father had belonged to her own class, and that he died many years ago. At that period one of the daughters of the old Baron, who had married a chamberlain of the Court, sought to engage a tutor for her son, a youth of sixteen years, and by one of those marvellous coincidences, which happen oftener in romances than in real life, her attention was thrown to the young physician, who at that time was visiting the hospitals of Vienna. Her son being of a frail constitution, she was very glad to intrust his peculiar studies was enabled to carefully watch over his physical condition; and without the least idea that she had engaged so near a relation, the young doctor was introduced into the family. He soon gained the confidence of his employers, and they intrusted him with many delicate transactions. Among others they required him to examine their family archives and select the valuable papers from those which might be destroyed as useless. Pending this work, he found a diary of the old Baron, which contained the whole history of the doctor's birth and the indication of the place where the father had deposited the codicil. The young man at once communicated the circumstances to his mother, took possession of the codicil, which gave him a million of guilders, and, as the legitimate heirs of his father refused to employ with its stipulation, he commenced suit against them after having in vain attempted to come to friendly terms. About the middle of May the case will be pleaded before the Imperial Court at Vienna, and the amount bequeathed to the illegitimate child being not in excess of what such children are permitted to receive from a father in case there are legitimate children also, it is scarcely doubtful that the young physican will soon become a man of great wealth.

PORTRAIT OF CARL SCHURZ.—Don Piatt writes: Charl Schurz is a man of great talent; indeed, I may say he is a man of great genius. But he has no more heart than a hollow turnip. Nature, true to herself, has harmonised his outer man with his inner parts, and it is not loveable. Tall, thin and angular, he looks like a hawk in ill health—ugly enough to scare horses, and as self opinioned and egostistical as that elongated way, the pronoun "I," always is when mentioned with two legs and set in motion.

Among the harbingers of spring in Savannah Ga., is a soda fountain.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Spermatorrhoea or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self-Abuse, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain sealed envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers.

Gen. Grant and Georgia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The statement that Gen. Grant had thrown his influence against the measure to dismantle Georgia, expel her representatives from Congress, and induce her to a state of vassalage was verified to day.—He went to the capital this morning and sent for Boutwell, who had charge of the Resolution, and frankly expressed to him his views on the subject. The result is, that when Boutwell he announced the indefinite postponement of the resolution, which will be heard of no more. The circumstances which led to this important conclusion were as follows: Gen. Young, of Georgia, a Democratic Representative, aware that Boutwell was pressing the resolution, and, if it were reported to the House, the reckless majority therein would adopt it under the usual gag, called on Gen. Grant and laid before him the facts, together with the action of the Georgia Legislature. He appealed to the General to use his power to protect a helpless people. He informed the General that the Georgia Legislature had passed an ordinance authorizing the Supreme Court of the State to promptly adjudicate on a case which would determine the status of the negro, but that Gov. Bullock vetoed the bill to prevent any adjustment, so that Congress would return the State to a territorial condition, and give Bullock control of the offices, institute test oaths, and otherwise consumate all the mischief possible. He urged Gen. Grant to advise a postponement of the proposed action of Congress, at least until the courts could decide the case. Gen Grant said:

I am opposed to Congress touching the State of Georgia. I think that the people ought to refer, the matter to the courts and abide their decision. The Legislature acted badly in expelling the colored members, but its subsequent course in sending the question to the courts meets my views, and the veto of the Governor surprises me. I do not think that Congress can ignore the fact Georgia is a State in the Union. I hope that Congressional action will be postponed.

General Grant further intimated that he would act at once; and with what effect is stated above.

Incidentally during the interview the General referred to Mr. Boutwell as one of the ablest as well as one of the most upright men in the country, and he also repeated the remark which has hitherto been attributed to him, that he would not be the President of a mere political party, but of the whole country.

A most decided sensation was experienced in the House to-day over the spectacle for the first time in our history of a negro appearing in debate in Congress The galleries were literally packed, and people came flocking from all portions of the building as soon as it was known that Willis Menard, the colored claimant for a seat from Louisiana, was to address the House in a little speech in behalf of his claim. His white opponent, Hunt, declined to avail himself of the opportunity to reply — Menard is a rather intelligent looking negro, all over and all the time. A smart debate sprung up, following his speech, Messrs. Garfield, Paine, Schenck and others taking ground for his admission in opposition to the report of the committee. Finally the whole matter was tabled. But forty Radicals voted to admit the negro Representative.

The Radicals do not intend to submit their Constitutional Negro-suffrage Amendment to the President for his signature. They propose to send it at once to the States upon its passage by the two Houses of Congress This is a very summary manner of disposing of the following section in the Constitution, which says: "Every order, resolution or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment,) shall be presented to the President, and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill." This dispensing with the President's signature in the highest of all legislative measures—the alternation of the fundamental law—is a pure usurpation upon the part of Congress. It ought to vitiate the amendment, even if it was adopted by all States, and would in the opinion of any upright and honest Judge of the Supreme Court.

ROBERY AND ITS REWARD.—We were informed, yesterday, that, a few days ago, a planter of Limestone county, on Lover Elk river was visited, at night by a band of men in the KuKlux guise, who demanded his money, recenty received for his crop of cotton. He gave up the money, and after the pretended KuKlux left, he armed himself with a double barreled shot gun and a revolver, pursued and overtook them, and fired on them, killing a white man, who lived in the neighberhod, and two negros, who had helped to make his crop of cotton. The rest fled, and he recoverd his money which was in the possession of one or more of the clan. We did not converse with the citizen of Limestone, who brought the news to our city but we receive it from a gentlman who did converse with him and belives him trustworthy.

P. S.—After writing the above, we learned that the three men, who were killed were the only persons of the house, and the rest stood outside of the gate; and as soon as the robbers left the house, the planter fired on them with the results stated.—Huntsville Democrat.

The Negroes—Their Fate.

We quite agree with the Times that negroes are likely to get precious few offices in this country, and these few generally poor ones. They are a small fraction of our people, and certain to be a less and less considerable minority with each decennial consus.

N. Y. Tribune.

Mark that When the subject of emancipation used to be agitated, the Tribune and other Radicals organs assured the people that the negroes, when emancipated, would thrive and flourish and become a great and prosperous people in our land, yet now these same organs tell us that the emancipated negroes are dying out, and that the fact of their rapidly approaching extinction is certain to be exhibited by every census. The present Radical confessions on this subject are enforced confessions. The negro race is actually vanishing like a black frost in the sunshine. Various causes, all irressistible, are contributing to the inevitable result. We are told on good authority that there is not in all the South a county in which the negroes are much more than half as numerous as they were while slavery existed. In the name of God and humanity, Radicalism is sweeping a great race from the face of creation.

Moreover, the condition of the negroes who survive seems far less miserable than that of those who die. During the recent Protestant Episcopal Convention of Louisiana, in New Orleans, an interesting subject came up for discussion, bearing on the colored people. Deplorable facts in regard to them, as viewed from a religious standpoint, were brought to light. The reports, made unofficiallp by the rectors from the country parishes, concurred in representing a horrible state of affairs as existing among them. It was stated, personal observation and knowledge, that they are abandoning any and all semblance of Christians worship that may have been taught them and are lapsing into absolute idolatry, fetichism, voudonism and the worship of snakes, lizards and toads. This does not come from irresponsible sources, but directly from the lips of clergyman of the Episcopal Church, and is entiled to implicit belief. They say that the negro orgies are savage; indecent and inexpressibly hoorrible.

Who can wonder that the negro race is vanishing from the earth? Is it not time that it should thus vanish? Except for Radical interference, the negroes, even after their emancipation, might have remained, in a great degree, contented and happy. But the Radicals have made themselves a curse to two faces —Courier-Journal.

A Warning from Bishop Coxe, of Western New York.

Dr. A. C. Coxe, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Western New York, has issued an important pastoral address, in which he says:

The solemnities of Lent, now about to begin, justify me in calling on you, as myself also, to renew repentance, meditation and sincere confession with prayer. The last pastoral letter of the House of Bishops suggests those practical matters to which attention should be particularly directed, and I need add little to my request that you may heed those admonitions, and study the Holy Scriptures, "whether these things are so."

The enormities of theatrical exhibitions and the lasciviousness of dances too comonly tolerated in our times, are thereso specially pointed out as disgraceful to the age and irreconcilable with the Gospel of Christ, that I feel it my duty to the souls of my flock to warn those who run with the world "to the same excess of riot" in these things, that they presume not to come to the holy table Classe preparing for confirmation are informed that I will not lay my hands, knowingly, on any who is not prepared to renounce such things with other abominations of "the world, the flesh and the devil." Let all such choose delioerately whom they will serve; and, if salvation be worth striving for, let them be persuaded to a sober life, to self-denials, and to the pure and innocent enjoyments which the Gospel not only permits, but which it can only create. It is high time that the lines of distinction should be drawn between worldly and good living, and I see no use in a Lent that is not sanctified to such ends.

I have heretofore warned my flock against the blood guiltless of ante-natal infanticide. If any doubt existed heretofore as to the propriety of my warnings on this subject, they must now disappear before the fact that the world itself is beginning to be horrified by the practical results of the sacrifices to Moloch which defile our land

Again I warn you that they who do such things cannot inherit eternal life If there be a special damnation for those who "shed innocent blood", what must be the portion of those who have no mercy upon their own flesh? Dearly beloved, save yourselves from this untoward generation.

BLOWING UP A MOUNTAIN.—Science is daily growing more audacious. The engineering feat of springing mines in the army, which was generally followed with but limited success, pales before the attempts to overturn mountains in some of the mineral regions of the West. This introduction of miniature earthquakes into hills and mountains, by means of tunnels and powder, is an accomplishment which belongs to the latest science.

The Smartville (Cal.) blast, so long in preparation, has been fired, and the results singularly coincide with the calculations. A tunnel was bored 570 feet in length, in which were placed 1,200 kegs of powder. An electric wire threaded the mazes of the tunnel and tapped each keg. At a distance of 600 feet the battery stood, connected and charged. After public notice, in pursuance of which the inhabitants of the surrounding valleys left their homes; and at a stated hour, a romantic young lady applied the lighting. The mountain rose some fifteen feet, burst into atoms, and settled back a pulverized mass Water will do the rest. It can be washed now from summit to base.—Thus man tears down what nature has built and through science gives us gold.

The Pie Boy Who Became a Prince.

The first Prince Menschikoff was a pie boy at Moscow, and was delivering things at a nobleman's kitchen one day, when Czar Peter the Great was expected to dine at the house. While waiting about he heard the nobleman give special directions for the preparation of a favorit dish of the Czar's, and afterward; while the cook was absent, the boy saw him place something in a dish which he believed to be poison. As soon as Menschikoff saw the Czar in the street, he cried out his rolls more loudly than usual, and even began to sing, and approached the Czar to make himself seen. Peter called to him, asked him some questions to which he answered so happily, that the Czar said, "I will keep thee in my service." Menschikoff accepted the offer with joy.

At dinner time, without orders, he entered the banquet hall and stood behind Czar. When the dish appeared, he bent down and whispered "not to touch it." Peter got up, and with a smiling face, made pretence to take the boy into an adjoining apartment, when Menschikoff explained his suspicion.—Upon the Czar returning to the table, the Boyard again offered the dish, and Peter asked him to sit by his side and partake with him The nobleman colored, and said it became not the subject to eat the same as the emperor; who, seeing his embarrassment, took the plate and offered it to a dog, who swallowed all its contents. But a few moments afterward it began to run and howl, then stagered, fell and soon expired.—The Boyard was secured, but the next morning was found dead in his bed.—Menschikoff had to sell rolls no longer; the first step to his rapid fortune was made and his descendants are a most powerful family in Russia to this day.

Wonders of the Microscope.

They exceed even those of the telescope. It shows us how two thousand millions of animals, of perfect and most delicate organization could live and move in a drop of water. Extensive geological formations, covering hundreds of miles in extent, were constructed out of the fossil remaines of organized animals, whose existence had been unknown to man xecept for this instrument. In questions of medical jurisprudence the information furnished by the mircosoope was often decieved It tells us whether the blood found on a knife of a suspected murderer is that of a hunan being or not, and enables us somtimes to detect the part of the body which the blade entered by an analysis of the secretions which adhere to it. In the detection of poisons, drugs, groceries and the like, it is also invaluable. The quality of the supplies furnished to the U. States army was ascertained through the aid of the microscope, and enabled the Government to cetect imposition.

Gen. Forney's Letter.

We shall publish in our next paper the letter alluded to in the following extract from the Montgomery Advertiser of the 10th inst. The letter was addressed to the Editor of the Capitol City Record, published at Montgomery, in answer to questions as to his opinion of the political situation and prospect.

"The Advertiser of this morning contains the admirable letter of this distinguished citizen. All should read it. Every word breathes the sentiments of a true Southern gentleman, and its high moral tone is not surpassed by its solid, logical qualities. Such a letter as this of Gen. Forney's appeals, with irresistible force, not only to the patriotic sensibilities but to the substantial common sense of every Southern man. It is a brave, sensible and eloquent exposition of the true policy which should now control us in our political course. Every one will in the end admit that after all "honesty is the best policy.

It is unnecessary for us to inform the people of Alabama who Gen. Forney is. His noble record, both in the field and in the Council Chamber, is a part of the history of the State of Alabama, and in some sense, of the entire South."

☞We expect to be able to give our readers some interesting and important Railroad news in our next paper.

REAL ESTATE IN JACKSOVILLE.—Notwithstanding all the evil prediction of croakers, as to the future prospects of Jacksonville, we can assure our friends at a distance, that trade and business was never more prosperous, or on firmer basis. The price of real estate is also as good or better than it has ever been since its first settlement. Sales have been made within the last few weeks to the amount of some $15,000

☞It will be seen by reference to the advertisement of Col. J. D. Hoke, that he has just received a fine varied assortment of Srping Goods — Call soon and call often, and you can be suited both in quality and price with every article desired. The attention of Millers is specially invited to his fine assortment of Bolting Cloths.

SADDLERY & HARNESS.—Mr J D Privett, as will be seen by reference to his advertisement, has greatly enlarged and increased his business in this line. Mr. Privett, a well known and worthy citizen, is a first class workman himself, and what he does not manufacture, he will always have on hand from others, of superior workmanship. This establishment is a great convenience and advantage to our place, and well merits and will doubtless receive a liberal patronage. Persons living near the Railroad in any direction can, without the expense and loss time of personal application, send their orders for any description of articles in his line, with the most perfect confidence in their being promptly filled, of as good quality and upon as good terms as if they were personally present.

Calhoun County, Ala., March 11th, '69.

I deem it my duty, in gratitude to Dr. W. T. Knight, and for the benefit of the afflicted, to state that I have two sons who were almost entirely blind from disease of their eyes; and who were cured by Dr. W. T Knight. They had been afflicted for four years, and had been treated by several physician, from whom they received no benefit; and continued to grow worse, until I thought their cases hopeless. At last, I was so fortunate as to hear of Dr. W. T. Knight, to whom I took my sons; and when he told me that he could cure them and restore their sight I doubted it; but in a few months he cured them both, and now they are free from disease of their eyes, or obstruction to sight It is over twelve months since they were cured and they are all right.

Notice to Executors, Adminstrators and Guardians.

THE Law requires Executors, Administrators and Guardians to make annual settlements; and on their failure to do so, it is made my duty under the Law, to see that such settlements are made. The settlements of all Executors, Administrators and Guardians are now due for the past year 1868, and notice is hereby given, that all who fail to be and appear at my office, on or before the 1st day of May, 1869, and then and there file their accounts and vouchers for settlements, will be waited upon as the law directs.

A. WOODS, Judge of March 13, 1869. Probate.

The New York Tribune says: In the Supreme Court, yesterday, the last legal technicality in the discharge of the case of Mr. Jefferson Davis, was complied with; and the ex-President of the Confederacy, is now freed from even a semblance of prosecution or trial. We do not expect to hear the clamor now, that much simpler and more evidently just steps in the same case evoked some time ago; and yet, we fail to perceive why, if this thing were to be done, it might not better have been done without the prolonged incarceration, and the other chapters of the discreditable history.

Report of the Agricultural Committee to the Farmers and Mechanics meeting in Jacksonville.

TO THE FARMERS OF CALHOUN COUNTY.

Gentlemen:

Your committee appointed on the——day of——met on the 10th inst. and after consultation, beg leave to submit the following report:

The first difficulty that presents itself to our minds, is the uncertainty and instability of labor. To meet this difficulty, we recommend, 1st, That a liberal compensation be offered to laborus, and that no laborer be employed unless he brings a certificate of character from his former employer. 2d, That Farmers agree upon and established a uniform price for the different grades of laborers. In view of the fact that we see our once productive fields, now almost barren, because of the exhaustive system of culture which extracts its life and gives nothing in return, we recommend, that after having exhausted all the droppings from the stable, barnyard, cow lots and all the leaf mould and other fertilizers about the farm, that we purchase and use a sufficient amount of commercial fertilizers to restore our lands to their once healthful, vigorous and remurating condition.

On account of the scarcity of labor we would urge Farmers to curtail the acre of his crop, by cultivating only his best lands, to lay aside the Scooter and Shovel which have so long scraped the surface, and to avail himself as far as possible of the great advantages offered by the improvements in agricultural implements.

As an agent, and as we believe an efficient agent to accomplish all that the most sanguine may desire, we recommend the constant reading of agricultural bokos and periodicals, which furnish us what the experience and observation of others who have passed and are now passing an ordeal similar to ours. And in order to carry out more perfectly the foregoing suggestions, we reccommend that a society be organized to be known as "The Agricultural Society of Calhoun County. We further reccommend that each Beat organize a farmers club as auxiliary to the County Society. We would also reccommend that the County Society hold its meetings monthly, and each club weekly. And now gentlemen, having concluded our meager, imperfect, but concise report, allow us in conclusion to call your attention to the important interests involved. Your land upon which nature lavished so much beauty and wealth, are annually becoming less valuable — Your broomsedge fields and sassafras orchards are "surely but not slowly" diminishing the dominion of the plow. The deep ravine, and the pine jungle have taken possession of the broad acres once covered with the snowy cotton, the waving wheat and golden corn Barrenness and wastes meets your gaze whithersoever you turn. The lean and unboused cattle beside your straw piles, but take up and repeat the sad story of decay and dissolution around us. These all with trumpet tongues, loudly urge reform.—These admonish us to awake from our lethargy, and do something while we may. The success which has crowned the concentrated efforts of others teaches us that we too by concert of action and well directed energy, may reclaim the wastes of our once fertile fields.

J. C. McAULEY,
Chairman.

The Committee of Mechanics reported in favor of the establishment of Cotton and other Factories; and the following constitution of an Association then formed, was adopted:

CONSTITUTION.

ART. 1, SEC 1. The name and style of this organization shall be the Agricultural, Mechanical and Manufacturing Association of Calhoun County.

SEC. 2. The Officers shall consist of one President, four Vice Presidents two Secretaries, one Corresponding Secretary and one Treasurer—who shall each hold his office 12 months and until their successors are elected and take the office.

SEC. 3. The regular meetings of this organization shall be held once a month, on the first Monday of the month at the court house in Jacksonville, or such other place designated; for the transaction of any business.

SEC. 4. The objects of this society are and shall be, to promote, by every practicable means and influences, improvement in Agriculture, Mechanics, and Manufactures; and the general diffusion of intelligence among those engaged in such pursuits.

SEC. 5: The officers shall be elected hereafter at the regular meeting on the 1st Monday of April in each year, and in case of a failure to elect at that time, then at the next succeeding regular meeting.

THE COMB & SOAP QUESTION —Touching on the matter of Congress using fourteen hundred dollars' worth of combs and soap, the New Orleans Cresent remarks: "There is no danger that the Royal street concern (Louisiana Legislature) will incur no such expense. Combs and soap would be superfluous articles amoung our Legislators, a large proportion of whom could not use a comb if they would and wouldn't use soap if they could." It will not require much acuteness to discover the kink in that suggestion.

Andrew Johnson.

The New York World concludes a long article on the retirement of Andrew Johnson with the following:

While we cannot regard President Johnson either as a wise statesman or a skilful politician, we must concede that he has been placed in a position so trying and difficult that no address or abilities could have appeared to advantage in it. We must also pay a sincere tribute to his personal character, which is less distinguished perhaps by the amiable than by the respectable virtues. He is a man of settled convictions and stubborn fidelity to them. He cherishes a just and deep reverence for the Constitution of his country. He has never been accused, never even suspected, of using any public position for purposes of private gain. With a Democratic Congress to support him, he would have made a judicious and successful though probably not a brilliant administration. His talents are better fitted for debate, and if, after a needed interval of repose, he should be returned to the Senate from Tennessee, he will be one of the most important and usful members of that body, a perpetual thorn in the side of the Radicals, and the fearless champion of honest legislation.

The Philadelphia Age says:

The time is not far distant when the cloud of dust raised by the Radicals, to hide then own misdeeds, will pass away. Then the character of Andrew Johuson will appear as one not free from hasty impulses and gust of passion, but, in the main, swayed by the highest motives of patriotism and a fearless and unflinching devotion to the right.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 4—In the Legislatuae this morning, as soons as the session was opened, fifty-nine Democratic members offered their resignations, thus breaking the quorum and bringing the session to an end The coup de etat was not expected, it having been determined upon in caucus last night. A few members remained in order to make the calls of the House and otherwise prevent any further legislation. This leaves matters in a very bad state, not a single one of the appropriation bills have been passed, and and the benevolent institution, prisoners, etc, are left unprovided for. Had the bolt been postpoued until this afternoon, these would have been passed, and there could have been no danger of pressing the passage of the constitutional amendment. A caucus of the Republican members was held immediately, but it was found that nothing could be done to help things. A committee of two Senators and three representatives was appointed to issue writs for special elections in the vacated districts, and will call a special session of the Legislature to meet in April.

Probate Court, Special Term,
18th February, 1869.

THIS day came G. C. Ellis, Executor of the Estate of R. G. Earle, deceased, and filed in court his application in writing, setting forth, among other things, that said deceased died seized and possessed of the following described Lands, to-wit: a House and Lot in the town of Jacksonville, Alabama, known as the Earle place, being the late residence of the said deceased, and containing twelve acres more or less, and being a part of section 14, Township 14, Range 8, Coosa Land District. And also unimproved Lands as follows, to-wit; The south half of north west fourth, and Fractions B, C, and I, in fractional section No. 20, fractional Township 12, Range 7; and Fractions D and E, in fractional section 17; and the north east fourth of south west fourth of fractional section 20, all in fractional Township 12, Range 7 east. And further that the estate of said deceased had been duly and regularly declared insolvent, and before it was necessary to sell said Lands for the purpose of raising means to pay the debts of said deceased; and asking that an order be granted by this court, authorizing him to sell said Lands for that purpose.

Said Executor further set forth, that Sallie E. Hertman, late Sallie G. Williams, and now the wife of Hertman, of full age and residence unknown, was a legatee under the last will of said deceased; also, that the children of Sarah A. Lamey, of Carrollton District, state of South Carolina, were legatees under said will, and asking, that they be made parties Defendants, and brought into court by publication.

It is therefore ordered by the court, that Thursday the 1st day of April, 1869 be set for the hearing of said application, and further, that a notice of this order be published in the Jacksonville Republican, a Newspaper published in said county, once a week for three consecutive weeks, prior to said 1st day of April, 1869, when and where said non-resident Defendants can appear before me, at my office in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and object to the granting of said order, if they think proper to do so.

Given under my hand, at office in Jacksonville, Alabama, this 1st 17th day of February, 1869.

A. WOODS, Judge
Feb. 27, 1869. of Probate.

Sensible Talk About the South.

The New York Herald, with all its vagaries, sometimes gets its head level and hits the nail a "square" blow, as it does in the following remarks:

Briefly, we declare that reconstruction is completed in the South, or so nearly that it cannot longer be made a bugbear to frighten old women with; that all trouble is over, and that all the South has to do is to raise good crops, make money, be economical, carry out the laws of Congress, pitch the goblins of constitutional amendments to the dogs or the radicals—it does not make much difference which; for the amendments now in Congressional throes about negro equality will never be incorporated in the Constitution—place their trust in Grant "let the negro slide." In fact, the country is practically relieved of its concern about the negro, and it is time it was. For upwards of thirty years twenty-four millions of whites have been wasting time, talent, blood and treasure to free and elevate four millions of blacks. What has it all amounted to? They are, of course, free, as every human being should be who has judgment and intelligence enough to appreciate a state of freedom; but it is a grave question whether the mass of the blackies are any better off, or even as comfortable, as well fed, clothed, doctored, and otherwise cared for in their preset condition as they were when a state of servitude. A few instances exist where negroes have shown unusual intelligence and adapted themselves to conditions in life which reflect honor upon their race; but these are isolated cases—the exceptions to the general rule—and it will require ages of freedom, surrounded with all the appliance of learning and knowledge, to elevate the pure black man to an intellectual standard with the white. The negro question being definitely settled, and reconstruction in effect accomplished, the South has now nothing to do but to advance forward in its career of prosperity, civilization and progress.

What is Said of the Inaugural.

The Richmond Examiner says it seems to us that the document breathes a catholic spirit towards the whole country, and we do not fail to remark the absence of the ordinary vocabulary, so unfriendly to the South, which characterizes the utterances of the politicians of the Radical party. The reserve exhibited in the whole paper seems to us to indicate a very well defined and determined policy on the part of the Executive, and tends to elevate one's estimate of the intelligence and ability of the speaker.

The Nashville Union and American says the paper, in style nor matter, contains anything remarkable, or worthy of the space we have devoted to it.—The President is an actor now, and as a public journal we shall note and judge his works, giving credit where it is earned and sparing not of censure where it is incurred.

The New York Herald says, after rehearsing the points of Grant's inaugural: "Here then, inclining to economy, retrenchment, and a faithful collection of the public revenue, we have the sailing directions of the new administration. What is the general prospect? It is full of promise, prosperity, progres, development and power at home and abroad, and so opens the new books of American history."

The Mew York World says the inaugural shows too much confidence and self-sufficiency, lacks that grave and sustained propriety of expresson befitting the Chief Magistrate. Has no original ideas, and everything in the message which is not flat is crude, and it is a mere echo of the tritest common place of the Republican press.

The Evening Post, speaking of the inaugural, says Grant's sentences all hit their mark. He does not mean to quarrel with Congress, neither does he mean to be its creature. It compliments the inaugural warmly. Speaking of the Cabinet, the Post says it is by no means such a one as the politicians with a strong party attachment would have appointed. This is to be regarded as a recommendation.

Memphis, March 8.—Capt. Haynes of Arkansas militia, accompanied by Sergeants Brown and Finch, Metropolitan police, with requisition from Gov Clayton, of Arkansas, approved by Gov. Brownlow, went to Horn Lake, Miss., twelve miles below here, yesterday, to arrest Cub Harland, a notorious Choctaw Indian who had fled from Arkansas. On approaching the house, Cub, who suspected their intention, met them at the door with a revolver in each hand and opened fire on the party, shooting Finch through the body, inflicting a wound from whic he has since died.—Capt. Haynes was also shot twice in the groin and dangerously wounded. Cub then fled. Brown and Haynes were under the impression that they had badly wounded the Indian, but later reports state that he returned to the house where the affair occurred last night, and stole two horses, in revenge for his supposed betrayal. Finch was a native of Ohio, and served in the Union army.

☞ An election for Municipal Officers of Gadsden was had on Monday last, which resulted in the election of our cotemporary of the Times, L. W. Grant, Esq., to the Mayoralty of the City, and Sam Orr, W. P. Liddell, L. E. Hamlin, and Dr. Bevans, as Councilmen. The Marshal is to be elected by the Council. The officers elect are clever gentlemen, and we feel sure they will financier to the best advantage for Gadsden.—Rep. Union.

So deeply fixed in the human constitution is the sense of disgust, which we feel at nauseous smells, that it has found outcrop in one of the most expressive figures of speech, that can be coined. Thus when a man falls into disgrace, we have only to say, that he is in bad order, and we have fully conveyed our meaning to the most ordinary capacity.—Here, too, is a tacit admission of the necessity for some moral renovation, like that which is accomplished in the physical domain by the disinfecting virtues of Darby's Prophylactic Fluid.

The thorough bred and fine blooded Horse

JOE JOHNSTON:

WILL stand the present season one half his time at the stable of the undersigned, three miles south-east of Oxford, Ala., and the other half at Jacksonville, at $15 the season, or $20 the insurance, money all due at the end of the season.—Care taken, but no responsibility for accidents. Season to commence 10th March and end 10th June.

Pedigree.

Joe Johnston is a beautiful black, of good size, five years old this spring. He was sired by Young Albion, he by Imported Albion. Imported Albion's 1st dam by Leviathan; 2d dam by Bledsoe's Columbus; 3rd dam by Truxton, by Imported Diomede—Columbus' dam by Imported Dungannon. Joe Johnston's dam is known to be one of the finest blooded mares of Kentucky, but we are unable to trace her pedigree. He is believed, by good judges, to be one of the finest horses in this country, and shows for himself that this is the case.

DARBY'S Prophylactic Fluid.

Letter from Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Ga.

Crawfordsville, Ga Sept. 29th. 1868.

Darby's Prophylactic Fluid is an article of little cost, but great value. Its domestic as well as medicinal uses are numerous, while its specialities are most wonderful. I have not been without it for ten years, and no head of a family who can afford to have it shoulp be without it.

ALEX. H. STEPHENS.

The Wonderful Family Medicine.

Letter from the Surgeon General of the late Confederate States.

Richmond, Va., Jan'y 14, 1869.

Jno: Darby & Co, No. 160 William st. N. Y.

Gentlemen: I have received your letter of the 15th of December, 1866, calling my attention to your (Darby's Prophylactic) Fluid. I most cheerfully state the Fluid was furnished to, and exstensively used by the Surgeons in charge of Genral Hospitals in the Confederate Service with great benefit to the patients—all the surgeors makeing a favorable report—a great deal of it was used in the hospitals.

Very Respectfully Your Ob't serv't,

SAM'T PRESTON MOORE, M. D.

DISINFECTANT!

EMERY COLLEGE, OXFORD, Ga.

December 28th, 1868.

Prof. Darby. Dear Sir:—Having not been engaged for many years in the active duties of the Mebical Profession, I am only superficially acquainteb with the claims of your Prophylactic Fluid, but am well acquinted with its chemical eliments. While, therefour, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound, yet the disinfecting and Therapeutics of the agents empyed in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its discoverer, as a chemist, autliorize me to regard its merits as of a high order;—on the whole it must be considerd as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many competent judges, who have tested its properties.

Believe me, dear Sir,

Yours; Respectfully,

A. MEANS, M. D., LL. D.

Messrs John Darby & co. 160 William st. N. Y

Gentlemen:—I received your Circulars of the 10th inst, asking an expression of opinion from me as to the merits of your Prophylactic Fluid. The preparation has been so generally used by the profession and public at large, and so unerversally esteemed, that it seems to me to need no farther recommendation.

As a Disinfectant, and remedial agent too, when indicated, it is noc excelled by any similar preparation. We use per-manganic preparations very extensively in this Hospital, and could not do without them. I consider yours the best and most elegant preparation of the kind manufactured.

WESTERN FEMALE COLLEGE,

Staunton, Va., Jan. 9, 1869.

Prof Darby.—When I was President of the La Grange Female College of Georgia, I used your Prophylactic Fluid in the College with decided success, both as a disinfectant and as a remedy for sores and burnes, etc., it was efficacious and proved to be what It is represented. Every family and public institution ought to have it. I wish you geat success in the sale of it.

WM. A. HARRIS, D. D.

Pres. W. F. College, Staunton, Va.

Never was there a family medicine so highly recommended as this. Try it and you will never regret it.

Let every Country merchant visiting New York this Spring put this article on his list. But dont wait—Order it at once.

And so we might fill this entire paper with recommendations from the very best men in the country.

There is no question that this is a most wonderful and useful article as a disinsectant, and for wounds, sores burns, poisons, colic, as a tooth-wash, general purifier, etc., etc.

Every Druggist or Country Merchant has it for sale.

SARSAPARILLIAN,

AND

Its Powerful Curative Associates.

Prepared under a newly discovered Process for Extracting the Curative Properties from Vegetable Substances, enters into the Composition of

Dr. RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.

A NEW PRINCIPLE DISCOVERED.

ONE BOTTLE OF RESOLVENT IS BETTER THAN TEN LARGE BOTTLES OF THE ADVERTISED SARSAPARILLAS, OR DIRECT DIURETIC REMEDIES:

Physicians wonder at the extraordinary power of RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT in curing the worst forms of Scrofulous, Syphiloid, Chronic Skin Diseases, and its marvelous power in resolving calculous concretions, affording immediate relief and consequent cure of diseases of the Kidney, Bladder, Liver, Lungs, Pancreas, Spleen: Its rapid influence in the cure of Diabetes, Incontinence or scanty, turbid, albuminous, cloudy urine; its almost instant efficacy in stopping itching and painful discharge of urine, and its singular power in curing discharges from the Uterus and Urethra, Leucorrhoea, Bloody Urine, and other unhealthy and weakening discharges;—and enquire wherein the SARSAPARILLIAN used in the Renovating Resolvent differs from ordinary Sarsaparillas! Sarsaparillian is the only principle in Sarsaparilla that possess a curative properties; all other parts of the root are inert and useless. One ounce of the extract obtained under Dr. Radway's new process for extracting the curative properties from vegetable substances, contains more of the true principle of cure than 20 lbs. of the ordinary roots.

SARSAPARILLIAN is only one of the ingredients that form this truly wonderful medicine; and it is the only compensating remedy that communicates its purifying, cleansing and reinvigorating properties through the BLOOD, SWEAT, URINE, and other secretions, securing a harmonious functional action of every depraved organ and gland in the system. If the blood is corrupt, the Resolvent will make it pure. If the Lungs are ulcerated and sore, secreting thick phlegm and purulent matter, the Resolvent will loosen this deposit and repair the wasting lung with sound and healthy material. If the Skin is covered with pimples, spots, pustules, sores, ulcers, &c., the Resolvent will quickly remove these annoyances. If mercury is deposited in the bones and has accumulated in the system, the Resolvent will drive it out. If the Throat or Bronchial Glands are ulcerated, the Resolvent will cure these signs of an early waste. Direct remedies, possessing only exclusive properties, are hurtful, as they increase the functional secretions of one organ by suspending the constituent secretions of others; hence, a compensating remedy like the Resolvent is the only means of a permanent cure.

BEAR IN MIND THAT EVERY DROP OF BLOOD impregnated with the Resolvent and absorbed to supply the waste of the body, will make pure, sound and healthy flesh and fibre. The first dose that is taken commences its work of purification and increasing the appetite and flesh.

A REMARKABLE CURE!

SORES ON THE TONGUE, ULCERS IN THE THROAT, SORE GUMS; SORE MOUTH, SORES IN THE NOSE, AROUND THE EYES, &c.,

If recently exhibited, a few bottles will cure. If chronic, or through the effects of Mercury, Potassium, Corrosive Sublimate, from six to one dozen bottles may be required to make a permanent cure.

A remarkable instance of personal beauty restored to a Lady disfigured by the ravages of a frightful disease:

From the advanced sheets of a new Medical work called

"FALSE AND TRUE."

BY JOHN RADWAY, M. D.

N. B.—This book contains much valuable information for the benefit of the sick. Illustrated with figures of the Liver, Lungs, Kidneys, and other organs in their natural and in their diseased condition. Every person in search of health, and desirous of preserving the same, should send for a copy, which will be sent free of charge, by remitting one three cent stamp for postage, to Radway & Co., New York.

FIRST BOTTLE.—At the end of the first bottle her strength, appetite and spirits were improved, and the small pimples, blotches, pustules, disappeared. Applying the Resolvent over the surface with a fine sponge, relieved the inflammation and itching, and served as a reliable antiseptic in cleansing and purifying the putrid flesh.

SECOND BOTTLE.—At the end of the second bottle, signs of improvement in the discharges from the uterus, inflammation, pain and swelling abated, the skin greatly improving, the eyes growing brighter, strength and appetite increasing.

THIRD BOTTLE.—Dry scabs on the scalp, and sores on the arms, and incrusted scales of the hands, gradually disappearing, leucorrhea greatly lessened, water becoming clear, and kidneys and bladder improving.

FIFTH BOTTLE.—Finger nails growing, hands and arms clear and smooth, hair growing on the scalp, bowels regular, and skin free from irritation, face clear of sores.

SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOTTLES.—Ulcer on the neck greatly improved, leucorrhea discharge stopped, menstruation regular, pain of the abdomen, irritation in the uterus, bladder and kidneys stopped; face clear of all spots, hair covering the scalp, great increase of flesh, spirits buoyant, step elastic, and appetite good.

NINTH BOTTLE.—All signs of disease gradually disappearing, frequent rides in the Park, great improvement in personal appearance; hair continuing to grow rapidly, skin smooth and clear, and the ulcer in the neck healed.

TWELFTH BOTTLE.—Continuing the Resolvent after all eruptions had disappeared, she gained in flesh and personal beauty. No more trouble in the uterus, kidneys, etc. Bowels regular, digestive organs regular, blood pure, her nails perfect, hair growing luxuriant, spirits excellent, she exhibited to her friends a picture of health and beauty.

For six months after the use of the twelfth bottle, she continued taking three teaspoonfuls of the Resolvent per day, and two of the Pills three times a week."

In this wonderful cure a lesson may be learned in regard to the true means of securing personal beauty. Good, pure, rich blood will make healthy fibre and clear skin, beautiful complexion and luxuriant hair. Cosmetic powders, painting the skin with brushes, applying greasy substances, and alcoholic lotions to the hair, are injurious. The paint, powder, &c., clogs up the pores, obstructs the free escape of sweat and insensible perspiration, thus preventing the absorption of oxygen in the atmospheric air, so essential for the vitality and purification of the blood and fluids of the skin, &c. Pure blood is secured by the Resolvent, and all who use this medicine will enjoy the possession of its blessings. R. R. Resolvent is sold at $1 per bottle, at No. 87 Maiden Lane, N. Y., and by Druggists everywhere. Six bottles for $5.

N. B.—SEE THAT THE WORD SARSAPARILLIAN IS ON THE LABEL OF EACH BOTTLE.

POETRY.

FINISHED.

From out the watching music of the night,
Whose silvery notes weave love-kissed dreams;
From out the breathing glory of the light,
That floats down murmuring, shadowed streams;
Ye come, soft-bathed in tears,
O, visions of sweet ended years.

From out the echoes lingering on life's hills,
That wander home like birds at summer eve,
From out the hours, whose brittle cup love fills
With nectar drops that yet a bitter leave;
Ye come, strong, as Heaven nears,
O, visions sweet of ended years.

No more to be, hope's glowing, mystic lamp,
Whose fervid flame sets free the prison'd heart;
Nor, eager, beckon looks and tones that stamp,
Their colors on the soul then, pale, depart;
Yet on, mindst burried fears.
Come visions sweet of ended years.

O, unforgotten, blighted days and hours,
Snatches of life—song wildly dear and sweet!
O joyous buds that never bloom'd to flowers,
But left your morning promise incomplete!
With patient heart I bring you to the quiet shore,
Where eyes that wept resistless tears will weep no more.
To dying sight the finite clears—
With God, those visions sweet of ended years.

GOOD NATURE.—Good Nature is a fairy who makes the association of finite beings a means of happiness. Her presence is to be coveted above gold and gems. Where she is, there is no contention, no discord, no strife; but all is peace and harmony—love and unity—Where she is, there is no cold restraint, no stiff mistrust, no two-faced reserve, no fear. Over the hallowed ground that her feet touch we can walk with a bold, untrammelled step. In the habitation where she abides every reasonable thought is spoken without dread. She never misinterprets, misconstrues, nor magnifies, of evil. In whatsoever circumstance, in her presence, we are free—free to think, free to speak, free to act. Where she reigns, we dread no ill will, no detraction Her motto is Pleasure, and her watchword, Peace.

THE EDITOR.—A schoolboy's composition on "The Editor" ran as follows, in a school not far from Cincinnati:

"The editor is one of the happiest animals in the world. He can go to the circus, afternoon and evening without paying a cent; also, to inquests and hangings. He has free tickets to picnics and strawberry festivals, gets wedding cake sent him, and sometimes gets a licking, but not often, for he can take things back in the next issue, which he generally does. I never knew but one editor to get licked. His paper busted that day, and he couldn't take anything back. While other folks have to go to bed early, the editor can sit up late every night and see all that is going on. The boys think it's a big thing to hang on till 10 o'clock. When I am a man I mean to be an editor, so I can stay out late of night. Then that will be bully. The editor dont have to saw wood or do any chopping, except with his scissors. Railroads get up excursions for him, knowing if they didn't he'd make them git up and git. In politics he don't care much who he goes for, if they are on his side. If they ain't he goes for 'em any way; so it amounts to nearly the same thing.—There is a great many people trying to be editors who can't, and some of them have been in the profession for years. If I was asked if I had rather have an education or be a circus rider, I would say, let me be an editor."

More about Velocipedes.

The following is from the Connecticut Mirror.

Mr. Charles Bradford, brother of the marine artist, William Bradford, has recently invented a four-wheel velocipede, which is said to be paragon of these vehicles. The luckey inventor has been offered twenty thousand dollars for his patent, but declined it. He has sold, however, the right for the State of Connecticut, for six thousand dollars, This invention "running on all-fours," promises to make the new means of locomotion of positive value, and the millenium for horses may possibly be near. The four wheeled nags, unlike those with only two wheels, stand quietly, while the most timid and slow moving, mount and settle themselves in their seats, and at the end of the journey, are equally gentle while the riders dismount.

The price of velocipedes vary from $69 to $100. The weight is about sixty pounds, and the size of driving wheel most in favor from 30 to 36 inches in diameter. Hills, of more than one foot rise in twenty, can hardly be mounted. A horse costs more, and must eat, and may kick, and will die, and you cannot stable him under your bed, The great amusement of America, the coming season, will be velocipede riding.

ASSASSINATION.—Dr. John L. Finlayson, Clerk of the Jackson County Circuit Court was short from behind a tree by an unknown assassin last Friday and killed instantly. Maj. J W. Purmen, who was walking with Doctor Finlayson, at the time, was also badly wonded, and lies in a critical condition.

A REGULAR GRADUATE OF MEDICINE, as diploma at office will show has been longer engaged in the treatment of Venereal, Scrotal and Private Diseases, than any other physician in St. Louis

Syphilis, Gonorrœa, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis Hernia, and Rupture: all Urinary Diseases & Syphilitic or Mercurial Afflictions of the Blood, Skin or Bones, are treated with unparalleled success.

Spermatorrhœa, Sexual Debility and Impotency as the result of self-abuse in youth, sexual excess in mature years, or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as nocturnal emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, evil forebodings, aversion to society of females, loss of memory and sexual power, and rendering marriage improper, are permanently cured.

Dr. Whittier publishes a MEDICAL PAMPHLET relating to venereal diseases and the disastrous and varied consequences of self-abuse, that will be sent to any address in a sealed envelope for two stamps. Many physicians introduce patients to the doctor after reading his medical pamphlet. Communication confidential. A friendly talk will cost you nothing. Office central, yet retired—No. 617 St. Charles street, St. Louis, Mo. Hours, 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. Sundays 12 to 2 p. m.

TO AUTHORS. The publishers of "TWELVE TIMES A YEAR" beg leave to announce that they will be happy to receive and consider the manuscripts of Authors, and will pay liberally for such as may be accepted. Our plan is to examine each manuscript in reference to its MERITS, irrespective of authorship. Such as are rejected will be carefully preserved and returned on receipt of sufficient postage.

THE LIVER.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

THE symptoms of LIVER COMPLAINT, are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for Rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general costive, sometimes alterative with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensations of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits; sometimes some of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of these; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved, Cure the Liver with Simmons' Regulator and all will be well.

MESSRS. REILLO & Co.,—Gentlemen: I have used the Simmons Liver Regulator in my family, and also in my regular practice, and have found it a most valuable and satisfactory medicine, and believe if it was used by the profession it would be of service in very many cases. I know very much of its component parts, and can certify of its medical qualities and perfect harmlessness.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self-Abuse, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain sealed envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

Letter from Gen. W. H. Forney.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., Feb. 27, 1869.

Editor Capital City Record:—DEAR SIR: Pressing professional engagements and other causes have prevented my answering your very kind and complimentary letter until the present time. Although you greatly overrate the importance of my political opinions, yet lest the fact of my silence in the last campaign, to which you make allusion, might lead to a misconstruction of my true position, both by my political friends and opponents, I have concluded to comply with your request and furnish you with a brief expose of my views of the "situation."

I did not vote in the last Presidential election. I could not do so, except by taking the oath prescribed by the Legislature. This I was unwilling to do, because I gave a different construction to the obligation thereby imposed from that of most of my democratic friends, fearing, if I took the oath, it would commit me fully and forever to the doctrine of negro suffrage—a doctrine so monstrous and absurd; that much as I desired the success of the democratic party, I could not conscientiously comply with the pre-requisite condition of casting my vote. Possibly, in this, I erred. But that contest is now over.—The American people have, by their verdict endorsed the principle of the republican party; the "Reconstruction Act," negro suffrage, and negro carpet-bag constitutions of the South. The Southern people are utterly powerless to escape from any of these evils for the next four years, at least. The Supreme Court, whatever may be their convictions of law or right, dare not. I fear, in the face of the dominant party, at present decide the Reconstruction Acts unconstitutional. The radical leaders have lost none of their bitter, unrelenting hate towards the South. Gen. Grant, even if disposed (of which, as yet, we have not written evidence,) to pursue a more just and liberal policy, could not aid us without breaking with his party. In which event, notwithstanding his great popularity, he would soon find himself, almost if not quite as powerless as President Johnson, for at least the coming Congressional term.

The political future of the South is indeed gloomy, and makes us well nigh despair of the Republic. Free institutions were formerly supposed to rest on the virtue and intelligence of the people as their corner stones. These have crumbled. And now the American edifice rests on vice, ignorance and corruption for its foundation. Our nation, although young in years, already gives indication of all the vices which have marked the decline and fall of all former republics. The Southern people are powerless to stay the tide of corruption which threatens the overthrow of our government. It is easy to see the bane, if difficult it is not impossible to prescribe the antidote. No one in the South is insane enough again to appeal to the sword—all factious opposition to the government, every lawless resistance of the constituted authorities, State or Federal, every secret attempt to wreak vengeance on those who oppress and enslave us, instead of remedying, tend but to aggravate the ills we suffer.

Our people should not adopt such a policy. It seems to me there are but two courses for us to pursue. One is passive endurance of a state of things, which, however galling and oppressive, we cannot remedy, but must bear with. To and act as we were recently advised in the address to the people of Alabama, be patient, steadfast and firm; true to our allegiance; to principle and Constitution; true to the instincts of white men; true to the proud auspices of Caucasian blood; true to our hitherto untarnished honor, and in a little while we may hear the Slogan and the heavy tramp of the great conservative constitutional party of the North and Northwest no longer under the leadership of Tammany Hall politicians, but headed by her Pendletons, her Blairs, her Vallandighams, with waving banners and keeping steady pace to the music of the Constitution, coming to our rescue. Then our deliverance will be sure, full and complete. The other course is to join the ranks of our oppressor. Out Herod Herod, in hope of partaking of the loaves and fishes. Honor, patriotism, self-respect, as well as the memories of the past, indicate the former as the true policy to pursue Join them! Never! The radical party of Alabama, in the opinion of its leaders, is sufficiently large, or nearly so for all practical purposes.

Even now they find it difficult to satisfy the cravings of all their hangers on for office. We see this illustrated in the remarks of the leaders, that they must be content to work in the ranks a while,—or, in the language of those unfortunates, who some time ago advised their rebel friends to take back seats. These political vaulters furnish good example of this truth, for notwithstanding they have been long and anxiously waiting on a back seat, none of the masters of the Radical feast have invited them to come up higher. In fact the radical party are now like the managers of some of our theatres and halls, who, when their houses are crowded, and all the seats taken; to prevent disappointment from those who come late to the entertainment, put up on bulletin boards, in large letters, "None but standing room left." The radical managers, if equally honest, would announce "None but standing room and a few back seats left. For one; I do not propose to join and take the chances for a front or back seat, for I was brought up as a States' Rights democrat. I have adhered to that party through evil and good report. I have contended for the principles of that party, and what I honestly believe to be the rights of the South, on the stump, in the legislative hall, and the field of battle Defeat has not changed my conviction of right or duty. For one to desert the State of Alabama in this, her hour of humiliation, and join her enemies still further to oppress and degrade her, would in my opinion, be as base as it would have been for a soldier in the Confederacy, in the last days of its existence, when its fortunes become hopeless, to have deserted his standard, gone over to the enemy, and fought with the conqueror to enslave his native land.

The true soldier stands to his colors to the last, in the hour of victory or defeat, in sunshine or in storm. True, the doctrine of States rights, with the "Lost Cause," was crushed to the earth, never, perhaps, to rise again.—Corruption, ignorance and tyranny have taken the place of patriotism, intelligence and liberty. We have now all the evils and none of the blessings of a monarchy, Possibly it may be our good fortune even with the loss of liberty to have a firm and stable government established where law will be enforced, justice ordained, and the happiness, and prosperity of the country secured This has been the fate of all former republics, and it may be ours.—Whatever may be the issue, or whatever the policy of the national government, I see nothing the South can do. As the Law now stands, in an election for members of Congress we are not permitted to vote for a true representative man of the South, but are compelled to vote for one of five classes—a democratic carpet bagger or scalawag, a radical carpet-bagger or scalawag, or a negro. Perhaps, but for the sake of decency, the negro would do us less harm, and there would be a sort of retributive justice in returning the poisoned chalice to the lips of our Northern brethren next to the negro, probably the scalawag democratic, or radical would be the least objectionable, for there are heights and depths of infamy and corruption known to the carpet bagger which the scalawag has never reached or sounded. However, it is our duty, so long as we are permitted to vote, to endeavor to elect honest and capable men, choose the least of the evils tendered, and at all times obey the laws of our country

The present condition of the South is well illustrated in the exclamation of the chivalric Francis the first, after the battle of Pavia. "All is lost—save honor." Some of our readers from recent developments are advising us to lose even that—the last resource of a brave, but conquered people. In accepting the situation and giving the Administration of General Grant a fair trial, as all are disposed to do, I cannot recognize the "inexorable logic" which requires us to join the radicals and bow the head to the cap of Gesler, or "fall down and worship at the sound of the cornet," the ebony idol which the shriekers of Freedom, Humanity and Progress have, like Nebuchadnezar, set up on the plains of Dura The true Southron, like the true Israelite, "will choose to suffer afflictions with his own," rather than for a season to be clothed in purple and accounted the son of Pharoh's daughter. Let us in conclusion, cultivate that divine gift—charity, "which holpeth all things, endureth all things"—trusting that after a long and lingering night, light will again dawn upon us and joy come with the morning.

Truly your friend,
W. H. FORNEY.

THE POLLARD MURDER TRIAL AT RICHMOND.—The trial of James Grant for the alleged murder of H. Rives Pollard, the Richmond editor, who had published a scurrilous article, written by J Marshall Hanna, and full of false and slandrous accusations against a young sister of the accused, resulted last Saturday in a verdict of "not guilty." This verdict must, clerly be reguarded by no means as an approval of a dangerous and too frequent practice in this country—that of seeking to redress grievances by taking the law into one's own hands—but rather as an indication of the feeling with which an entire community indignantly protests against anything like "blackmailing," and worse than murderous attacks, under shelter of laws never intended to protect the guilty, upon the privacy and peace of families.—N. Y. Herald.

Extraordinary Phenomena.

Humbug or Reality—Which?

The London correspondent of the New York Times relates the following story of recent strange phenomena in spiritualism:

Making a call in Paternoster Row the other morning, I met a barrister of some literary and scientific as well as legal reputation and social position, who gave me an account of some recent manifestations in the presence of Mr. Home; which have been witnessed by a hundred or more noblemen and literary and scientific notabilities, and which are more astounding than anything which has happened; perhaps for centuries.—Passing over the usual manifestations; such as the raising of heavy bodies; playing on locked pianos, or so that the keys can be seen to move without fingers, I come to three or four distinct manifestations, the testimony to which is very difficult to get over. My informant is a man in every way reliable, and the other witnesses, whose names have been confidentially given me, not only belong to the highest circles of political society, but are men eminently capable of forming a correct judgment. These, then, are the facts related: In several instances the body of Mr. Home has been elongated by measurement upon the wall and lying on the floor; to the extent of eight or nine inches, and then shortened as much—making a carefully measured difference of a foot and a half.

He has been at different times raised into the air from the height of four feet to that of a higher ceiling, and carried round the room in clear view of all present, who have had the means of assuring themselves that no deception was possible. He was carried horizontally out of a window in the third story of the house of Lord ———, and brought in at the window of another room, some thirty feet distant, having been carried through the air forty feet or more from the ground Finally, he has on several occasions taken a large live coal from a coal fire; held it in his hand; and laid it in the hands of other persons, without even the smell of fire, or the sensation of heat being perceived by them. My informant showed me where his own finger had been burned in testing the reality of this manifestation. He assured me that he had seen Mr Home go to a large coal fire and lay his face upon the white-hot coals, without even singing his hair or beard. As this is a pretty strong story, I beg to append the following; which I find in the Spiritual Magazine for this month. Mr. Hall is the well-known editor of the Art Journal—his wife, Mrs. S. C. Hall, is well-known as a writer, and has lately received a pension from the Queen:

No. 15 ASHLEY PLACE, Victoria st. S. W.

SIR:—I state facts without explanation or comment. On the 27th of December I was sitting with nine other persons in my drawing-room Mr. D. D. Home left the table, went to a bright fire, took thence a lump of "living coal," brought it red hot to the table, and placed it on my head. Not a hair was singed, nor did I sustain any injury.—The coal remained upon my head about a minute. Mr Home then took it and placed it in Mrs. Hall's hand without injury to her, and he afterward placed it in the hands of two of our guests.—The gas-light and two candles were buring in the room I add that nine other persons present would depose to these facts. Your obedient servant,

S. C. HALL.

The editor adds the following note:

"At the conference at Lawsod's room, January 14. Mr. H D. Jenckin, who was present on this occasion, publicly stated the facts here given by Mr. Hall, and added several instances of the kind which he had witnessed. The fire test, he said, had now been seen recently, at different times, by more than fifty persons in the metropolis and its neighborhood."

I may add that I know Mr. Jenckin, and that he is a gentleman of high scientific acquirements as well as social position, and I should say, every way to be trusted.

C. W. Boyd and S. H. Wilson, two old citizens of Yazoo City, Miss., got in a quarrel on Thursday about running a ditch between their property. Words ran high when Boyd struck Wilson in the face; Wilson went off and armed himself, and returned; the quarrel was resumed, when both parties drew pistols and commenced firing Each fired several shots, when they fell on each other, Wilson dying, and Boyd mortally wounded.

☞Our thanks are due to Mr. F. Sutton, for the nice present of light bread, cakes and custard, manufactured at his new Bakery and sent us on Wednesday evening last. This gentleman has now got his extensive new Bakery in full blast, and will be able to fuanish the public with excellent articles at low prices.

SOUTHERN ALMANAC.—We acknowledge the receipt, and tender our thanks to Messrs. Walker, Evans & Cogswell, Stationers, Printers, and Account Book Manufacturers, Charleston, S. C., for a copy of their valuable Southren Almanac. This almanac is not only neatly and beautifully printed, and substantially bound, but contains a large amount of Agricultural, Railroad, & Commercial Statistics carefully compiled, making it valuable, not for one year only, but future time. While speaking of this excellent and reliable firnf, we will take the liberty to say, that we have no doubt Court officers and commercial men in this section can get from them Blank Books of every description of as good quality and on better terms, than Philadephia or New York. Keep this in mind, and give your patronage to a worthy firm of southernmen.

☞We promised our readers last week, some interesting and important Railroad news, or at least expressed the expectation that we should be able to give it in this issue. We will only say now however, that our Railroad prospects are altogether encouraging. For prudential reasons, we do not think it best to make public all we have learned on the subject. These reasons, we think, will be fully understood and duly appreciated by our readers.

☞We invite attention to the medical card of Dr. X. H Miller, who has long been engaged in the successful practice of his profession at his present location.

☞The attention of all persons who may desire temporary accommodation, is called to the notice of Mr. Francais Sutton, the prompt, attentive and accommodating Proprietor of the Jacksonville Restaurant. Our friends from the country in attendance on court, will find his prices very low, and his establishment a means of economy and convenience to them.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The Spring term of our Circuit Court will commence on Monday next.

Owing to the fact that Hotel keepers, who take care of horses will be charged for Livery stable license, we learn that they will prepare for it in this place, and we give the information in order that persons from the country may not be disappointed, and have time to make other arrangements.

☞J. B. TURNLEY & CO. have just sold out a very superior lot of No. 1, New Orleans Molasses, which we know from having used it.

They will have another lot in a day or two, equally good; and we would advise every body who can, to procure a supply before it becomes scarce and high.

☞Mr. McBride, of the house of McBride, & Co, the extensive, Crockery, Glassware, China, Silver Plated Ware and Cutlery, dealers, of Atlanta Ga., is now in our place. This is an excellent house, deals very extensively with many interior merchants of Georgia, Alabama, and other adjoining States, and upon terms more favorable, in many respects than can be obtained in any of the Northern cities. We commend Mr. McBride to the confidence and patronage of our Merchants here and elsewhere, along the line of the Selma, Dalton & Rome Railroad. We learn from conversation with Mr. McBride, that the firm sells to many merchants on their return from New York. This house is too well, favorably and extensively known to require any extended remarks from us.

THE USES OF CLOVER.

It would be very difficult to overestimate the importance of this crop to all farmers engaged in mixed husbandry. Its introduction into England produced an entire revolution in the Agriculture of that country. Clover laid the foundation of all those wise systems of rotation that have since made the agriculture of England a model, and a marvel to the world. Nor is its importance much less in those sections of America where its values are appreciated and rightly applied. Clover is valuable:

1. As a forage plant.
2. As a fertillizer.

As a forage crop, its special value is in the quantity and quality of the hay that it produces, and the rapidity with which it comes to maturity after being sown Clover, properly cured, is almost equal to good Timothy for cattle, and much superior to all other hay for milch stock. In pasture, the same relative values hold, with the addition that, for hogs, clover is a grand specific—superior, perhaps, to all other grasses.

The specific value of Clover, however, lies in its wonderful powers as a fertilizer. In this respect, it is unequal by any crop grown on the farm. The different ways in which it adds to the fertility of the land, are chiefly:

1st. Shading the surface of the soil.—Owing to its rapid and luxurant growth, it soon forms a close and heavy covering over the soil, that acts as a mulch in protecting it from the scorching rays of the summer sun. At the same time that the soil is protected, the weeds are smothered out and the land cleaned up

2d. By serifying and disintergratiug the soil.—Clover possesses peculiarly long and powerful tap roots, that penetrate deep, loosening the soil and admitting the air, thus rapidly changing the physical condition, not only of the soil, but of the subsoil also

3d. By effecting important chemical changes necessary to enrich the earth with plant food—Its abundance of foliage enables clover to gather from the atmosphere immense stores of gasses that give life to the plants, which its far-reaching roots send deep down into the earth. Thus a clover field becomes, as it were, a great reservoir for plant food. And clover itself becomes a great commissary, collecting food from the earth and the air for whatever crop that may follow.

4th. By preventing washing.—The clover mulch breaks the force of the hard beating rains, while the roots hold the soil in a mat as it were, thus preventing it from washing.

5th As a green manure.—Perhaps no crop is so valuable for turning under in a green stage as clover. In addition to the immense amount of rich vegetable matter in its abundant roots, in all the materials necessary to the healthful growth of succeeding crops.

The Cotton Crop—Its Past, Present and Future.

The Selma Cotton Broker's Association furnishes the Selma Times with the following paper on the cotton crop:

The crop of cotton to be raised in the United States cannot, for at least several years, exceed two and a half million bales, and for the present year the indications point to a much smaller figure. It is an alarming fact that throughout Middle Alabama the planters are from two to three weeks behind with their work, and the season is too far advanced for them to remedy this evil.

On quite a large number of the plantations no hands have been employed, and of course no work has been done, while on a majority of them the number hands employed is wholly inadequate to the cultivation of the land.

The freedmen to a very damaging extent have thus far refused to contract, and excessive rains have rendered farm work wholly impracticable. Under all the circumstances it would be almost a a miracle to see a crop of two million bales this year.

In view of the future prospect of cotton as glanced at above, it becomes a matter of serious interest both to the producer and consumer to study carefully the question of supply and demand.

The entire visible supply of cotton in the world on the 5th of February, 1869, was 1,300,000 bales. In 1868 it was 1,500,000, and in 1867 it was 1,700,000.

It would seem apparent from the above that while the world has been producing as much cotton as we can hope to produce for at least several years to come, the consumption has been continually gaining upon production, and as shown above, caused a reduction of stock to the extent of 400,000 bales in two years.

The American crop of 1867 was say 2,400,000 Admitting that the crop of 1868 shows as many bales (which we hold is an error of 200,000) the difference in the weight of bales this year and last will reduce the estimate about 1000,000 bales.

In 1867 the planter had every inducement to make heavy bales. In 1868 the case was reversed, and the crop of 1868 will show a diminished weight of at least thirty pounds per bale.

The spinners at Manchester hold to-day 120,000 bales less than one year ago. This reduction of their stock has been caused by their persistent refusal to enter the markets for supply, hoping by this means to force down prices, but thus far they have only succeeded in reducing the price about ⅜ of a penny from the highest point.

The receipts at U. S. ports for the month of February show a falling off, as compared with last year, of say 110,000, and this disparity will continue.—So we naturally conclude the entire stocks now held in American ports added to receipts yet to come in will not give an aggregate supply of American cotton of 900,000 bales, for the remainder of the year.

We exported last year say 1,650,000 bales Thus far this year we have exported say 855,000 If we furnish to Europe this year as much as last, we will have left for American spinners less than 100,000 bales.

From the most reliable statistics we think the consumption by American mills, this year, will reach at least 1,100,000 bales, of which not more than 600,000 bales have been taken by them. If this is true, and the American spinners take 500 00 needed by them, we will have but about 350,000 bales for export, (having 50,000 bales for stock) thus leaving us short in our export this year as compared with last about 450,000 bales. This, too, in the face of the fact that, while we exported last year say 450,000 bales more than we possibly can this year the stock in Liverpool was reduced last year about 100,000 bales, showing that our exports of 1,650,000 bales last year were, to that extent, insufficient to meet the demand. It is not claimed by any one that the receipts this year, from India, Brazil, Egypt, or elsewhere, will be in excess of last year, while from America the European receipts will certainly be less by 400,000 bales.

In making the above estimates and suggestions, we have taken as a basis of our calculation the popular idea contained in the cotton circulars usually received as authority. Our own opinion is that the crop of 1868 will be about 2,200,000. This opinion is induced by a personal knowledge of the almost entire exhaustion of the interior supply of cotton over a very extensive area of the cotton region as shown by recent receipts.

The receipts at all the ports this week are about 40,000 bales, against 78,000 for the corresponding week of last year, showing a decrease of about 30,000 for the week as compared with ast year. All the rivers tributary to New Orleans were open to navigation one month earlier this year, than last, and the continued high prices, added to the necessities of the cotton planters of the West, have made them free sellers The present material falling off in receipts at that port indicates unmistakably an exhaustion of supply.

The receipts up to this date, including overland shipments direct to the manufacturers, amount to, say 1,900,000 bales. In 1867 the receipts after this date were about 3000,000 bales.—The receipts for the past three weeeks have fallen off about 20,000 bales as compared with the corresponding period of 1867.

We take the year 1867 as a criterion, for the reason that we are this year at least three weeks ahead of last year in receipts, and hence a comparisou will not hold.

The continued wet weather has facilitated the shipments of cotton, while it has retarted labor upon the plantations. All things considered, we are fully convinced that the estimates of the crop of 1868 are greatly above the mark, and that 2,200,000 will cover the crop. One other idea, and we will leave practical men to draw their own conclusions: At present prices there will be near 200,000 bales held over by the planters against say 42,000 last year, thus reducing the supply to that extent.

SELMA COTTON BROKERS' ASSO'N.

FROM GEORGIA.

Augusta, March 14.—The particulars of the tragedy at Warrenton, Ga, which resulted in the killing of Wallace by Darden, and subsequently the killing of Darden by disguised parties, show that both Wallace and Darden were democrats and that the whole affair was purely personal, originating first in a private quarrel between the friends of Wallace and Darden, which was carried into the Masonic Lodge, where it is alleged Darden black-balled Wallace, for which the latter denounced the former as a liar and a scoundrel, on the publication of which Darden shot at Wallace while passing on the street in front of his office. As already stated, the affair is deeply regretted as a great calamity by the friends of both parties, who were highly esteemed and connected in Georgia.

In Alexander county, N. C., a few days since, a young man named Land had a disagreement with his sister, whereupon she left her father's house and did not return till night. On attempting to enter the house she was shot and killed by her brother with whom she had quarreled. Her father mother and two brothers then collected wood and burned the body almost literally to ashes in order to conceal the crime. Shortly afterward the party were all arrested and confined in the county jail, and whilst there, the father and Mrs. Land were murdered by the two sons. They coolly confessed the crime, and expressed no regrets for the deed. It is stated that the family are fanatical on the subject of religion and are supposed to be insane.

Three or four days ago a Mr. Hilliard and wife got aboard a Memphis and Charleston Railroad train at Moscow. With them was their dead infant, whose remains they intend taking to Columbia, Tennessee, for burial.—Mr. Hilliard has been unwell, and, after securing seats in the car, swallowed a quantity of morphine, in the hope of obtaining sleep. He sank into a deep slumber, but never awoke. The opiate was too powerful for his system, and an outburst of grief from the heart-broken wife apprised the passengers that death had entered the car. Poor Hilliard had breathed away his life so peacefully that even his wife knew not her double affliction until a cessation of the heart's pulsations told the sad story.

What the Cubans are Fighting For.

The Cubans, if we may credit their own story, told officially and from mouth to mouth, are fighting for

Representation,
Severance of Church and State, and
General emancipation.

Cuba has to day no representation in the Spanish Courts, and never has had. She has not been offered even that constructive representation with which we were sought to be deluded in colonial times. She has no voice in determining the amount or the method of collection of the taxes which she must raise. The taxes again, are not invested nor spent for her benefit, nor has she any power of any kind over them. She is simply the coffer of the Spanish throne.

The consequences of this disability are those which have always followed it, and are not a few.

A burdensome standing army weighs down and impoverishes the island.

The rule of the Captain General is absolute and arbitrary.

The exercise of the right of petition has been followed by expatriation and imprisonment.

The corporate association of the people for the purpose of science, art or commerce, has been discountenanced & impeded.

The ports of the island have been closed to foreign ships for the purpose of creating a monopoly for Spanish bottoms.

But why enumerate a lengthening list of evils? For this cause alone—taxation without representation,—we went to war, and deemed the step well and prudently taken

Calhoun County, Ala., March 11th, '69.

I deem it my duty, in gratitude to Dr. W. T. Knight, and for the benefit of the afflicted, to state that I have two sons who were almost entirely blind from disease of their eyes; and who were cured by Dr. W. T Knight. They had been afflicted for four years, and had been treated by several physician, from whom they received no benefit; and continued to grow worse, until I thought their cases hopeless. At last, I was so fortunate as to hear of Dr. W. T. Knight, to whom I took my sons; and when he told me that he could cure them and restore their sight I doubted it; but in a few months he cured them both, and now they are free from disease of their eyes, or obstruction to sight It is over twelve months since they were cured and they are all right.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
Calhoun County.

Court of Probate for Calhoun County,
March the 15th, A. D. 1869.

WHEREAS, on the 17th day of February, 1869, John A. Spaulding, in right of his wife, Paralee A. Spaulding, and the said Paralee A. Spaulding, late Paralee A. Phillips, and late the wife of Charles P. Phillips, deceased, and now the wife of the said John A. Spaulding, filed in court their petition in writing, representing among other things, that the said Charles P. Phillips died in then said county of Calhoun, intestate, on the —— day of —— 1859, and that on the—day of — 1859, one Wm. Phillips, was by the Order of this court appointed and qualified as the administrator of the Estate of said decedent, and under an Order of this Court, the said Wm. Phillips, as such administrator, proceeded to sell the personal property of the Estate of said decedent, and collected the debts due intestate's estate; and they further alledge, that the said Wm. Phillips, as administrator as aforesaid, has never made settlement and distribution of said Estate; and further, that the said Wm. Phillips has removed as they have been informed and believe, beyond the limits of the State of Alabama, and now resides somewhere in the State of Texas: and they now appear in court, and pray that their said petition be heard, and determined upon at the present term of the court—and it appearing that the notice required by Law in such cases had been given by publication in the Jacksonville Republican, a news paper printed and published in said county, for three successive weeks prior to this term of the court, as a notice to the said Wm. Phillips, as administrator as aforesaid, to be and appear at this term of the court, and defend against said petition if he thought proper so to do; and also to file in this court his account and vouchers preparatory to making a settlement of said estate; and the said Wm. Phillips having failed to appear at this term of the court, and defend against said petition, or to file his account and vouchers for a settlement of said Estate; and it further appearing to the satisfaction of the court, that the allegations set forth in said petition are true.

Thereupon the court proceeded to state an account between said administrator and said Estate, for settlement of said Estate from such materials or information as presented to the court.

It is therefore ordered by the court, that the 22nd day of April, 1869 be set for examining, auditing, and restating said account (if necessary) so stated as aforesaid by the court, and making settlement of said estate; and notice of the same be given by publication in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper printed and published in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day, as a notice to the said Wm. Phillips, administrator as aforesaid, and all other persons concerned, to be and appear at the court house of said county on said 22nd day of April, 1869, and show cause, if any they have, why the account so stated, as aforesaid by the court, between the said Wm. Phillips, as administrator aforesaid, and said Estate, should not be examined, audited, passed and allowed, &c. as provided by Law.

NICE NEW

LARD,

FOR SALE BY
J. B. TURNLEY & CO.
March 6, 1869.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
Calhoun County.

Probate Court, Special Term,
18th February, 6869.

THIS day came G. C. Ellis, Executor of the Estate of R. G. Earle, deceased, and filed in court his application in writing, setting forth; among other things, that said deceased died seized and possessed of the following described Lands, to-wit: a House and Lot in the town of Jacksonville, Alabama, known as the Earle place, being the late residence of the said deceased, and containing twelve acres more or less, and being a part of section 14, Township 14, Range 8, Coosa Land District. And also unimproved Lands as follows, to-wit; The south half of north west fourth, and Fractions B, C, and I, in fractional section No. 20, fractional Township 12, Range 7; and Fractions D and E; in fractional section 17; and the north east fourth of south west fourth of fractional section 20, all in fractional Township 12, Range 7 east. And further that the estate of said deceased had been duly and regularly declared insolvent, and before it was necessary to sell said Lands for the purpose of raising means to pay the debts of said deceased; and asking that an order be granted by this court, authorizing him to sell said Lands for that purpose.

Said Executor further set forth, that Sallie E. Herriman, late Sallie E. Williams, and now the wife of Hertman, of full age and residence unknown, was a legatee under the last will of said deceased; also, that the children of Sarah A. Lamcy, of Carrollton District, state of South Carolina, were legatees under said will, and asking, that they be made parties Defendants, and brought in to court by publication.

It is therefore ordered by the court, that Thursday the 1st day of April, 1869 be set for the hearing of said application, and further, that a notice of this order be published in the Jacksonville Republican, a Newspaper published in said county, once a week for three consecutive weeks, prior to said 1st day of April, 1869, when and where said non-resident Defendants can appear before me, at my office in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and object to the granting of said order, if they think proper to do so.

Given under my hand, at office in Jacksonville, Alabama, this the 17th day of February, 1869.

E. C. HANNON, ... PRESIDENT.
Ex Gov. T. H. WATTS, ... VICE PRES.
MICAH TAUL, ... SEC. & TREAS.
T. A. BARNES, ... GEN'L AGENT.

THIS company, organized for the purpose of retaining at home a part of the immense sums annually sent out of the State for Life Insurance, affords to our people an opportunity to insure their lives at less than half the usual rates, and on a plan which gives to the assured a greater certainty of payment in the event of death, than any other system.

Every policy holder is insured by every other member of his class, and the company guarantees that the insurance shall be paid, and is enabled to make this guarantee good, by a deposit annually required from each member to cover his default.

Gen. W. H. Forney.

We publish with great satisfaction the letter of Gen. W. H. Forney, of Calhoun county, on the situation. Gen Forney is not a Democrat of the times serving and weak-kneed sort, who deserts his principles and makes fair weather with their enemies the moment that a season of adversity sets in to try the stuff that public men are made of. He cannot accept and endorse the crowning infamies of reconstruction because the party that inflicts them is strong in position and apparently firmly seated in the saddle as the dispenser of power and patronage. He does not yield assent to the pernicious doctrine of mongrelism because it appears to be the prevailing and fashionable dogma, and none can hope for advancement who do not embrace it. But planting himself on what his studies and reflections have taught him to be the right and the truth, he stands by his flag the closer and the more bravely that it is surrounded by enemies, howling and struggling to bring it to the dust We do not see how a public man, of honest convictions and self respect, can do otherwise. Indeed, it is a simple question between devotion to a noble cause in its dark hours, and selling one's honor and country for place. And it is in seasons like the present that the world discovers who are the true and trustworthy friends of the people, and who the pretenders, that wear the colors of liberty on the holidays of its prosperity. And in nothing do the weak, who are exposed by these crucial tests, so much display their weakness, as in their false appreciation of the values which they exchange. A public man can find no equivalent for the barter of his honor and the respect of his countrymen extorted by a firm and steady uprightness. When he parts with these, as he is sure to do when he quails before the power or is seduced by the blandishments of political adversaries, he has no better consolation left than that of Esau, that he has sold his birthright of political integrity for a mess of pottage. He is a miserable counterfeit of a public man and political leader who can blink the country's great and vital interests and open his eyes only to his own aggrandisement, and when he attempts to gloss over his selfish choice with specious reasons of expediency and policy, he deceives nobody but himself.

Gen. Forney does not belong to this class, but rather to that of the "old guard," who believe in the omnipotence of truth and in the eternal right In this character he speaks words of comfort and counsel to the constituents who have trusted him, and to the people for whom he has periled his life in the field. Honor and redemption lie in the path of fidelity to the principles of the Democratic party, and in a resolute purpose, under whatever privation and temptation, never to bow the knee to the cap of Gesler So far, like Frances at Pavia, the South, he tells us, has lost all but its honor, and that he conjures his countrymen never to part with. We are sure that the readers of the REGISTER, who accord with its sentiments and principles, will peruse Gen. Forney's letter with the pleasure it has given us. When the weak and timid are flying before the adverse tide of political battle, it is cheering to see a brave man standing fast and firmly breasting the shock. It is thus that trial winnows the wheat from the chaff and marks the pure metal from the alloy.—Mobile Register.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.—The whole community, says a Lexington exchange of the 17th inst., was thrilled and horrified yesterday morning by the news of one of the most fearful tragedies ever enacted in this city. The terrible affair occurred on the beautiful farm of John W. Lee, adjoining the cemetry. At about day light yesterday morning a sister of Mrs. Lee, who was sleeping in the second story of the farm residence, was awakened by cries for help proceeding from the bedroom of Mrs. Lee, and heard her sister scream to her in fearful tones "Mr. Lee has killed himself, and is trying to kill me. She rushed to the door of the bedroom, but found it locked. She then called to Mr. Lee's little son, who was in the room, and told him how to open the door, which he succeeded in doing. Mr. and Mrs. Lee in their night clothes were weltering in their blood on the floor not far from the door, toward which Mrs. Lee had evidently struggled desperately, hoping to escape Mr Lee was quite dead, with his throat cut from ear to ear, and Mrs. Lee, horribly cut, was just breathing her last. In addition to the gashes on her neck, one of which had severed the jugular vein, both of her hands were nearly cut in tow. In a sickening pool of blood at the side of the bed lay a new razor. It was seizing this murderous weapon in the awful contest that had taken place that had caused these wounds. Dr. T. W. Foster was called in, but too late to render medical assistance Their little son, about four years old, the only and helpless witness of this awful tragedy, first cutting Mrs. Lee's throat, and then his own. It has transpired that Lee also intended to consign his little boy to the same fate of his murdered mother. He did succeed in slightly wounding him, but the little fellow got away from him and run under the bed, and it is supposed that Lee was too weak from loss blood to follow him.

"HOLD YOUR NOSE!" How apropos the injunction to any unfortunate that ventures into a second-rate passenger car, on a night train in winter. Whew! What a hetrogenous concatenation of hircine emanations is this de-oxygenated atmosphere! Why don't the Rail Road corporations try the disinfectant qualities of DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID?

So deeply fixed in the human constitution is the sense of disgust, which we feel at nauseous smells, that it has found outcrop in one of the most expressive figures of speech, that can be coined. Thus when a man falls into disgrace, we have only to say, that he is in bad order, and we have fully conveyed our meaning to the most ordinary capacity.—Here, too, is a tacit confession of the necessity for some moral restoration, like that which is accomplished in the physical domain by the disinfecting virtues of DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID.

JOE JOHNSTON:

WILL stand the present season one half his time at the stable of the undersigned, three miles south-east of Oxford, Ala., and the other half at Jacksonville, at $15 the season, or $20 the insurance, money all due at the end of the season —Care taken, but no responsibility for accidents. Season to commence 10th March and end 10th June.

Pedigree.

JOE JOHNSTON is a beautiful black, of good size, five years old this spring. He was sired by Young Albion, he by Imported Albion. Young Albion's 1st dam by Leviathan; 2d dam by Bledsoe's Columbus; 3rd dam by Truxton, by Imported Diomede—Columbus' dam by Imported Dungannon. Joe Johnston's dam is known to be one of the finest blooded mares of Kentucky. but we are unable to trace her pedigree He is believed, by good judges, to be one of the finest horses in this country, and shows for himself that this is the case.

DARBY'S Prophylactic Fluid:

Letter from Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Ga.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, GA Sept. 20th, 1868.

Darby's Prophylactic Fluid is an article of little cost, but great value Its domestic as well as medicinal uses are numerous, while its specialities are most wonderful. I have not been without it for ten years, and no head of a family who can afford to have it should be without it. ALEX. H. STEPHENS.

The Wonderful Family Medicine.

Letter from the Surgeon General of the late Confederate States.

RICHMOND, VA., Jan'y 14, 1869.

Jno. Darby & Co, No. 160 William st. N. Y.

Gentlemen: I have received your letter of the 15th of December, 1866, calling my attention to your (Darby's Prophylactic) Fluid.

I most cheerfully state the Fluid was furnished to, and extensively used by the Surgeons in charge of Geural Hospitals in the Confederate Service with great benefit to the patients—all the surgeons making a favorable report—a great deal of it was used in the hospitals.

Very Respectfully Your Ob't serv't,

SAM'T PRESTON MOORE, M. D.

THE ASTONISHING

DISINFECTANT!

EMERY COLLEGE, OXFORD, GA.
December 28th, 1868.

Prof. Darby. Dear Sir:—Having not been engaged for many years in the active duties of the Medical Profession, I am only superficially acquainted with the claims of your Prophylactic Fluid, but am well acquainted with its chemical elements. While, therefour, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound, yet the disinfecting and Therapeutics of the agents emplyed in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its discoverer, as a chemist, authorize me to regard its merits as of a high order;—on the whole it must be considerd as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many competent judges, who have tested its properties.

Believe me, dear Sir,
Yours Respectfully,

Messrs John Darby & co. 160 William st. N. Y.

Gentlemen:—I received your Circulars of the 10th inst., asking an expression of opinion from me as to the merits of your Prophylactic Fluid. The preparation has been so generally used by the profession and public at large, and so unerversally esteemed, that it seems to me to need no further recommendation.

As a Disinfectant, and remedial agent too, when indicated, it is noc excelled by any similar preparation. We use per-manganic preparations very extensively in this Hospital, and could not do without them. I consider yours the best and most elegant preparation of the kind manufactured.

Resp'y Yours, &c., P. BRYCE, M. D.,

A Perfect Pain Killer.

WESTERN FEMALE COLLEGE,
STAUNTON, VA., Jan. 9, 1869.

Prof Darby.—When I was President of the La Grange Female College of Georgia, I used your Prophylactic Fluid in the College with decided success, both as a disinfectant and as a remedy for sores and burnes, etc., it was efficacious and proved to be what it is represented. Every family and public institution ought to have it. I wish you great success in the sale of it.

WM. A. HARRIS, D. D.
Pres. W. F. College, Staunton, Va.

Never was there a family medicine so highly recommended as this. Try it and you will never regret it.

Let every Country merchant visiting New York this Spring put this article on his list. But dont wait—Order it at once.

And so we might fill this entire paper with recommendations from the very best men in the country.

Jacksonville, February 13, 1869—3m.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

SARSAPARILLIAN,

AND

Its Powerful Curative Associates.

PREPARED UNDER A NEWLY DISCOVERED PROCESS FOR EXTRACTING THE CURATIVE PROPERTIES FROM VEGETABLE SUBSTANCES, ENTERS INTO THE COMPOSITION OF

Dr. RADWAY'S

RENOVATING

RESOLVENT.

A NEW PRINCIPLE DISCOVERED.

ONE BOTTLE OF RESOLVENT IS BETTER THAN TEN LARGE BOTTLES OF THE ADVERTISED SARSAPARILLIAN, OR DIRECT DIURETIC REMEDIES.

PHYSICIANS wonder at the extraordinary power of RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT in curing the worst forms of Scrpulous, Syphilitic, Chronic Skin Diseases, and its marvelous power in resolving calculous concretions, affording immediate relief and consequent cure of Diseases of the Kidney, Bladder, Liver, Lungs, Pancreas, Spleen. Its rapid influence in the cure of Diabetes, Incontinence or scanty, turbid, albuminous, cloudy urine; its nimo-t instant efficacy in stopping itching and painful discharge of urine, and its singular power in curing discharges from the Uterus and Urethra, Leucorrhœa, Bloody Urine, and other unhealthy and weakening discharges—and, enquire wherein the SARSAPARILLIAN used in the Renovating Resolvent differs from ordinary Sarsaparillas! Sarsaparillian is the only principle in Sarsaparilla, that possesses curative properties; all other parts of the root are inert and useless. One ounce of the extract obtained under Dr. Radway's new process for extracting the curative properties from vegetable substances, contains more of the true principle of cure than 20 lbs. of the ordinary roots.

SARSAPARILLIAN is only one of the ingredients that forms this truly wonderful medicine; and it is the only compounding remedy that communicates its purifying, cleansing and reinvigorating properties direct to the BLOOD, SWEAT, URINE, and other secretions, securing a harmonious functional action of every depraved organ and gland in the system. If the blood is corrupt, the Resolvent will make it pure. If the Lungs are ulcerated and sore, secreting thick phlegm and purulent matter, the Resolvent will loosen this deposit and repair the wasting lung with sound and healthy material. If the Skin is covered with pimples, spots, pustules, sores, ulcers, &c., the Resolvent will quickly remove these annoyances. If mercury is deposited in the bones and has accumulated in the system, the Resolvent will drive it out. If the Throat or Bronchial Glands are ulcerated, the Resolvent will cure these signs of an early waste. Direct remedies, possessing only exclusive properties, are hurtful, as they increase the functional secretions of one organ by suspending the constituent secretions of others; hence, a compensating remedy like the Resolvent is the only means of a permanent cure.

BEAR IN MIND THAT EVERY DROP OF BLOOD impregnated with the Resolvent and absorbed to supply the waste of the body, will make pure, sound and healthy flesh and fibre. The first dose that is taken commences its work of purification and increasing the appetite and flesh.

A REMARKABLE CURE!

SORES ON THE TONGUE, ULCERS IN THE THROAT, SORE GUMS, SORE MOUTH, SORES IN THE NOSE, AROUND THE EYES, &c.,

If recently exhibited, a few bottles will cure. If chronic, or through the effects of Mercury, Potassium, Corrosive Sublimate, from six to one dozen bottles may be required to make a permanent cure.

A remarkable instance of personal beauty restored to a Lady disfigured by the ravages of a frightful disease.

From the advanced sheets of a new Medical work called

"FALSE AND TRUE."

BY JOHN R. RADWAY, M. D.

N. B.—This book contains much valuable information for the benefit of the sick. Illustrated with figures of the Liver, Lungs, Kidneys, and other organs in their natural and in their diseased condition. Every person in search of health, and desirous of preserving the same, should send for a copy, which will be sent free of charge, by remitting one three cent stamp for postage, to Radway & Co., New York.

FIRST BOTTLE.—At the end of the first bottle her strength, appetite and spirits were improved, and the small pimples, blotches, pustules, disappeared. Applying the Resolvent over the surface with a fine sponge, relieved the inflammation and itching, and served as a reliable antiseptic in cleansing and purifying the putrid flesh.

SECOND BOTTLE.—At the end of the second bottle, signs of improvement in the discharges from the uterus, inflammation, pain and swelling abated, the skin greatly improving, the eyes growing brighter, strength and appetite increasing.

THIRD BOTTLE.—Dry scabs on the scalp, and sores on the arms, and incrusted scales of the hands, gradually disappearing, leucorrhea greatly lessened, water becoming clear, and kidneys and bladder improving.

FIFTH BOTTLE.—Finger nails growing, hands and arms clear and smooth, hair growing on the scalp, bowels regular, and skin free from irritation, face clear of sores.

SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOTTLES.—Clear on the neck greatly improved, leucorrhea discharges stopped, menstruation regular, pain of the abdomen, irritation in the uterus, bladder and kidneys stopped, face clear of all spots, hair covering the scalp, great increase of flesh, spirits buoyant, step elastic, and appetite good.

NINTH BOTTLE.—All signs of disease gradually disappearing, frequent rides in the Park, great improvement in personal appearance, hair continuing to grow rapidly, skin smooth and clear, and the ulcer in the neck healed.

TWELFTH BOTTLE.—Continuing the Resolvent after all eruptions had disappeared, she gained in flesh and personal beauty. No more trouble in the uterus, kidneys, etc. Bowels regular, digestive organs regular, blood pure, her nails perfect, hair growing luxuriant, spirits excellent, she exhibited to her friends a picture of health and beauty.

For six months after the use of the twelfth bottle, she continued taking three teaspoonfuls of the Resolvent per day, and two of the Pills three times a week."

In this wonderful cure a lesson may be learned in regard to the true means of securing personal beauty. Good, pure, rich blood will make healthy fibre and clear skin, beautiful complexion and luxuriant hair. Cosmetic powders; painting the skin with brushes, applying greasy substances, and alcoholic lotions to the hair, are injurious. The paint; powder, &c., clogs up the pores, obstructs the free escape of sweat and insensible perspiration, thus preventing the absorption of oxygen in the atmospheric air, so essential for the vitality and purification of the blood and fluids of the skin, &c. Purity of blood is secured by the Resolvent, and all who use this medicine will enjoy the possession of its blessings. R. R. Resolvent is sold at $1 per bottle, at No. 87 Maiden Lane, N. Y., and by Druggists everywhere. Six bottles for $5.

N. B.—SEE THAT THE WORD SARSAPARILLIAN IS ON THE LABEL OF EACH BOTTLE.

POETRY.

The Golden Side.

There is many a rest in the road of life,
If we only would stop to take it;
And many a tone from the better land,
If the querulous heart would make it!
To the sunny heart that is full of hope,
And whose beautiful trust ne'er faileth,
The grass is green, and the flowers are bright
Though the wintry storm prevaileth.

Better to hope though the clouds hang low,
And to keep the eye still lifted,
For the sweet blue sky'll soon peep through,
When the ominous clouds are rifted!
There was never a night without a day,
Or an evening without a morning;
And the darkest hour, as the proverb goes,
Is the hour before the dawning.

There is many a gem in the path of life,
Which we pass in our idle pleasure,
That is richer far than the jeweled crown,
Or the miser's hoarded treasure;
It may be the love of a little child,
Or a mother's prayers to heaven,
Or only a beggar's greatful thanks
For a cup of water given.

Better to weave in the web of life
A bright and golden filling,
And to do God's will with a ready heart,
And hands that are swift and willing,
Than to snap the minute, delicate threads
Of our curious life asunder,
And then blame heaven for the tangled ends,
And sit, and grieve, and wonder.

A Diamond Story.

A remarkable diamond story has been set afloat, which is briefly as follows: Nearly a century ago an old gentleman in the lower part of Virginia picked up a stone to throw at a rabbit; the stone glittered in the sun, and the old man concluded to take it home to his children to play with. Shortly afterward the family physician happened to see the stone, and offered six dollars or it, but the family would not sell Subsequently a trusty friend, about to visit Europe, was given the stone, and on his reaching London he consulted an old lapidary named Nox, who, after careful examination, declared that "all America is not able to buy that stone" A Jew, whom the trusty friend afterward consulted, informed him not to come out with the stone again witho a guide, as he would be robbed were it known he had it. The friend returned home, and delivered up the precious gem. Some time afterward a party of six Marylanders offered for the stone in lands and negroes the equivalent of $100,000, which was refused. The old man died; and the stone remained in the family for several generations, and recently, so runs the story, it came into the possession of Dr. Dougherty, of Mechanicsburg, Penn., whose children are legal heirs. It is claimed to be a diamond of first quality, and weighs 450 carats, while that of the Rajah of Mattan (?) said to be the largest in the world, weighs only 367 carats. The stone has been sent away to pass the scrutiny of the ablest cientific men in the country, and the Harrisburg State Guard, which is responsible for the story of which the above is an outline, says "there is reason to believe that America can boast the largest diamond in the world"

The North Pacific Railroad Company sharks who are now wailing through the lobbies of Congress crying for a subsidy of bonds, already have 490,000 square miles of land It's awful that Congress will not give them the entire public domain and a mortgage on the nation itself!

What Working Men can do in Texas

NANASOTA, February 6, 1869.

Editors Galveston News :—I frequently see accounts of what white labor can do in Texas. Here is an instance that was accomplished in the county of Grimes: Mr. J. H Williams, assisted by his son and broter-in-law—lads of 13 years each—and no other help, raised and brought to market twenty bales of cotton, weighing five hundred pounds each off of twenty one acres of land and sold the cotton for 17½ cents, gold: clear of freight and commissions. In addition to the cotton, raised 200 bushels corn, 600 bushels sweet potatoes and 250 bushels pinders.

I have the above from as reliable men as are to be found anywhere. J. K. H

Macon, Ga., Dec. 23, 1868.

Messrs. RELLIO & Co.,—Gentlemen: I have used the Simmons Liver Regulator in my family, and also in my regular practice, and have found it a most valuable and satisfactory medicine, and believe if it was used by the profession it would be of service in very many cases. I know very much of its component parts, and can certify of its medical qualities and perfect harmlessness.

TO YOUNG MEN.

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope. Price six cents.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Spermatorrhoea or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self-Abuse, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain sealed envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

W. H. Seward.

It is a matter of congratulation that the expired term of Mr. Johnson carries out of office a politician whose public life and example have been baneful to the country. To Wm. H. Seward as much as any other man in high station, is due the sectional antagonism that culminated in the frightful war. He was the arch-high priest of Abolitionism, and it was he who first paraphrazed and gave body and form to the spirit of the alienation of sections in his celebrated "irrepressible conflict." It was by his slogan that the North and South were marshaled in battle to settle a conflict he pronounced irrepressible. Ambitious, false, tricky and treacherous, he was not trusted by friend or foe.—And it was these qualities, in lieu of those of a philanthropic and far-seeing statesmanship, that he brought to bear in front of the tremendous issue of peace and war, presented to him in the first days of his control of the State Department. Mr. Seward had it in his power to have averted the war. His hypocritical diplomacy with the Southern Commissioners, while his government was preparing to strike for the relief of Fort Sumter, did not deceive them, though in obedience to instructions from Mr Davis's Government, to gain all the time possible, and accept any excuses for delay in bringing their mission to a definitive end, caused them to be willing that Mr. Seward should think that he was deceiving them. The Commissioners had very direct and positive assurances from the penetralia of the White House itself? that the Lincoln Cabinet were determined on war, and yet during all this time Mr. Seward was repeating his assurances that no warlike movement should be determined upon, and no change in the existing status should take place without notice to the Commissioners. Yet the knowledge by the Commissioners of the expedition from New York to relieve the Federal garrison at Fort Sumter was derived from other sources; and was never imparted by Mr. Seward.—There is nothing in his Senatorial career or his wordy administration of the foreign affairs of the country to cause his retirement from public life to be regretted or to entitle him to a respectable place on the pages of history. He was a partizan and trickster on politics—"this, and nothing more." Thank Heaven we have an end of him, and we could wish we could say the same of the whole school of demagogues which he helped to form and of which he was a shining light.—Mobile Register.

Important from Washington.

The United States and Cuba.

A Speck of War!

The Washington Chronicle of Thursday last says: For three or four weeks prior to the end of Mr. Johnson's term as President, agents of Cuba revolutionists were here urging the late Administration to recognize them as belligerents. They received no direct encouragement from Mr Johnson, who, however much he may have favored the petition, was probably restrained from any action in the matter by Mr. Seward, who favored and advised the issuing of a proclamation forbidding the formation of armed expedition and recruiting in the United States in aid of the Cuban revolutionists, this country being at peace with Spain, and Cuba being one of her dependencies. So the matter stood at the conclusion of Mr. Johnson's term. Immediately upon the inauguration of General Grant as President, the agents of the Cuban insurgents renewed their efforts for recognition, and found favor and encouragement in both branches of Congress, and, it is said, received encouragement from the Executive. These facts becoming known to the Spanish embassy here, and action being taken looking to this recognition in the form of a resolution in the House, remonstrance has been made by the Spanish Minister to our Government. In view of possible difficulties that may arise from this state of affairs, the Government on Tuesday last, through the Navy Department, ordered two ironclad vessels to proceed at once to Key West, and that a part of the Pacific squadran proceed immediately to Cuban waters

Tragedy at Sea.

Three Hundred Lives Lost by a Powder Explosion.

Vienna (Feb. 22) Cor. London Morning Post

The first news of this catastrophe was received here by the naval section of the War Ministry by a telegram from the commander of the island and fortress of Lissa, in which it was stated that the optic telegraph stationed at Fort Wellington had signaled the information that, at a distance of about ten miles to the Northeast of the island, an Austrian frigate was blown up. The commander of the island instantly telegraphed to the vessels stationed at Trieste and Zara, and to the commander of the squadron at Gravosa, to proceed at once to the scene of the accident; and the ironclad frigate Ferdinand Max, as well as the gun-boat Hum and the steamer Andreas Hofer, were immediately dispatched to Lissa with orders to render any assistance that was necessary and possible under the circumstances.

A deputation of the corporation of Lissa also set out to the place where the accident had occurred, and on their return yesterday they telegraphed that of the crew and marines on board, numbering in all 364 men, besides the Captain, only 23 had been able to save themselves by swimming.

The Radeizky was under sail, on a cruise for gun practice, and had no steam up, so that the accident could not have been caused by the explosion of the boiler or a cylinder.

According to the meager authentic reports which have reached the War Office and the newspapers, wet cartridges were being dried in the powder-room. The ammunition had been unpacked, & quantities of powder were lying about on the floor, and the workmen were consequently commanded to enter the room only in felt slippers. They, however, came in with their boots on, without putting felt slippers over them. The powder coming in contact with the hard soles of the boots ignited from the friction caused thereby, and a terrific explosion sent vessel and 340 men to destruction.

A telegram from the commander of Lissa to the naval section of the War Office, dated yesterday evening gives the following additional details: The explosion took place in the powder-room abaft while the metal was being cleaned Cadet Barth was near the foremast when the explosion took place, by which he was hurled into the sea.—Quartermaster Kraus reported that he was the corridor superintending the process of cleaning After 10 o'clock he laid himself down in the corridor near the foremast He was roused from his sleep by a violent shock and the cry of "Fire!" He rushed to the hatchway, but the steps were blown away, and he had to creep into the battery, when he saw the destruction of the hind part of the ship, which was on the point of sinking. The water was rushing in from all sides, and he had just time to throw himself into the sea through the port hole Kraus is of opinion that Quartermaster Doger, by incautiously striking a light, had caused the explosion in the powder-room, where the ammunition had been unpacked and cartridges spread out to dry.

CHARLESTON.—There are more country merchants and strangers generally in the city than there have been at any one time since the close of the war. The wholesale houses seem to be crowded, and the tapping and hammering late at night, together with the bright lights in the stores give old Charleston almost an ante bellum look. One of the most gratifying features of the business of the present season is the fact that merchants have come from Alabama and Georgia who have not visited us since Appomatox. Gradually are we winning back our old trade. Blood will tell.—Charleston News

The Farmer.

It does one's heart good to see a merry, round-face farmer. So independent, and yet so free from vanity and pride. So rich, and yet so industrious; so patient and preserving in his calling, and yet so kind, social and obliging.—There are a thousand noble traits about him which light up his character. He is generally hospitable; eat and drink with him, and he won't set a mark on you, and sweat it out of you with a double compound interest at another time; you are welcome. He will do you a kindness without expecting a return by way of compensation. He is generally more honest and sincere, and less disposed to deal in low, underground cunning, than many we could name. He gives to society its best support; he is the edifice of government and the lord of nature. Look at him in homespun and gray, gentlemen, and laugh, if you will; but believe us, he can laugh back, if he pleases.

Rich Without Money.

Many a man is rich without money. Thousands of men with nothing in their poskets, and thousands without even a pocket, are rich. A man born with a good, sound constitution, a good stomach; a good heart, good limbs, and a pretty good head-piece, is rich. Good bones are better than gold—tough muscles than silver; and nerves that flash fire and carry energy to every function, are better than houses and lands.

It is better than a landed estate to have the right kind of a father and mother. Good breeds and bad breeds exist among men as really as among herds and horses. Education may do much to check evil tendencies, or to develope good ones; but it is a great thing to inherit the right proportion of faculties to start with

That man is rich who has a good disposition—who is naturally kind, patient, cheerful, hopeful, and who has a flavor of wit and fun in his composition. The hardest thing to get along with, in this life, is a man's own self. A cross, selfish, desponding and complaining fellow—a timid, care-burdened man—these have all been deformed on the inside. Their feet may not limp, but their thoughts do.

MAXIMS.

Never be idle; if your hands cannot be usefully employed, attend to the cultivation of the mind.

Always speak the truth.

Keep good company or none.

Make few promises.

Live up to your engagements.

Have no very intimate friends.

Keep your own secrets if you have any.

When you speak to a person look him in the face.

Good company and good conversation are the very sinews of virtue.

Good character is above all things else.

You had better be poisoned in your blood than in your principles.

Your character cannot be essentially injured except by your own acts.

If any one speaks evil of you, let your life be so virtuous that none will believe him.

Drink no intoxicating liquors.

Ever live, misfortunes excepted, within your income.

When you retire to bed think over what you have done during the day.

Never speak lightly of religion.

Make no haste to be rich if you would prosper.

Small and steady gains give competency with tranquility of the mind.

Never play at any kind of game.

Avoid temptation through fear that you may not withstand it.

Earn your money before you spend it.

Never run in debt, unless you see a way to get out again.

Be just before you are generous.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY AT WARRENTON.—THE MURDERER SHOT.—We yesterday learned the following additional particulars of the murdering of Charles Wallace, at Warrenton, Ga., by Dr. Darden. After the shooting of Wallace, the citizens of Warrenton became so incensed at the atrocious manner in which it was done, that Darden, by the advice of a few friends, and desiring to preserve his life, gave himself up to the sheriff of the county, who promptly placed him in jail, and locking it up made his way to Augusta—the sheriff admitting him in jail armed. At intervals, and nearly all through the day, crowds were seen on the street corners discussing the killing. Things thus progressed until night, when a crowd of men, numbering some twenty-five or thirty, assembled and proceeded to the jail, demanding from Darden that he should give himself up to them. He refused, and the crowd piled a lot of rubbish against the door and under the jail, and attempted to smoke him out. Darden then cried out that he would give up his pistol and yield to their wishes; but when they came near, the smoke having gradually left the house, he again refused. The crowd then became more incensed, and made another application of rubbish to the house, and again smoked him. This time the smoke and heat became so intense that he was heard to feebly ask to be let out. The crowd then broke open the jail, and took from it their victim. They then conducted him to his office, allowed him to write a letter and make his will. He was notified that his time was up, and they gave him a few moments to make a last appeal to God—which, being done, they escorted him out to the public streets, and there shot him until every spark of life left his body—piercing him with no less than twenty-five balls. Thus ended another fearful tragedy.—Augusta Constitutionalist.

DEAD BODY FOUND.—On Sunday the 14th inst., the body of a man, very much decayed was found by some boys, on the drift at Ten Island Shoals in Coosa River. Some portion of his remains had been carried off by dogs. A large pocket book was found in his clothes, containing papers which seemed to identify the body as that of Benjamin J Goss, of Cass County Ga. The papers, subject to the order of his friends, will be left at this office. His remains were decently interred by the people of the neighborhood, near the place where they were found.

We learn since that a man answering to the name and description of Mr. Goss was drowned some months ago, while crossing the Coosa river, on his way moving west.

REPUBLICAN IN A NEW DRESS.—We promised our patrons some time since, that we would procure new type for our paper. We were prevented however, by adverse circumstances from fulfilling the promise as early as we expected — We have now ordered the type, and expect to receive them at farthest in two, weeks, after which we will present our patrons with a paper as neat in every respect as any in the State, and also with several additional columns of reading matter. We have also ordered an additional supply of large display type for handbills and posters, with fancy type for Bill and Letter Heads, cards, circulars, &c. and respectfully ask our friends, who need any of this description of work, to give us their patronage, instead of sending it to distant cities.— We promise them to do their work in any style desired, as neatly as they can get elsewhere, and upon terms equally as cheap if not cheaper

The Press in Congress.

The New York Tribune says Congress does not always take all the excellent advice it receives from the newspapers —more's the pity!—but it lays hold of all the newspaper men it can for its high offices. Having already Mr. Scuyler Colfax, a Western editor, for President of the Senate, and Mr. Gorham, formerly connected with the California press, for its new Secretary, succeeding Mr. Forney, editor of two papers (with Mr. Blaine, a Maine editor, for Speaker of the House, and Mr. McPherson, a Pennsylvania editor, for its Clerk, and with any number of journalists in prominent position in or about either House,) the Senate has just finished the journalistic organization of that body by the choice of Mr. Anthony, editor of the Providence (R. I.) Journal, for President pro tempore. Their appreciation of the profession being thus made known, will not Congressmen take the example of the gentlemen whom they delight to honor, make few and short speeches attend promptly to their business, get through with it as soon as possible, and leave the American Eagle to Mr. Pogram and his brethren of the stump?

The people of Talladega have a sensation in the report that many of the citizens, even old settlers, have no legal titles to their lands. Indian records are being hunted up. The whole affair seems to be regarded as an attempt by somebody to get other people's property

Cotton Manufactory.—We learn that a company has been formed, and have commenced erecting a cotton factory, near, Columbia in our county. That is the right spirit and should be encouraged by every true lover of the county. Our county has unsurpassed water power and plenty of labor for manufacturing purposes. It is conceded by all who know anything of cotton manufacturing, that capital cannot be invested in anything that will pay a better dividend We hope the company all the success that can be attained, and hope that we may have many more of the same kind in our county.

☞A terrible hail-storm occurred at Memphis on Sunday night doing great damage. Scarcely a pane of glass is left in the city, and the shubbery and fences are demolished. A negro who had been caught in the storm was killed by the hail-stones which were as large as hen's eggs.

DISAPPEARANCE OF THE U. S. MARSHAL.—A few days since we published the rumored disappearance of the United States Marshal from Atlanta, and that no one had been able to discover his whereabouts On Saturday the Atlanta papers, who have hitherto been most mysterious-ly silent on the subject, in their account of the proceedings of the United States District Court in that city, say that the United States Attorney officially announced to Judge Erksine the absence of the Marshal, and requested that some one be appointed to take his place temporarily. This the latter refused to do, as the Deputy Marshal was present, and the business of the Court could proceed as usual; but the U. States Attorney was ordered to communicate the intelligence to Attorney General Hoar as soon as possible. The Marshal has been missing now nearly a week, and no one knows what has become of him. We learn that between fifty and sixty thousand dollars belonging to other parties, was in his possession just before his mysterious disappearance.

Augusta Chronicle, 18th.

A Washington correspondent says: "There is quite a stir in diplomatic circles over the report that Mr. Sumner has a very strong speech ready on the Alabama claims, holding that England is responsible for the prolongation of the war. It is rumored that the English minister has ascertained the drift of the speech and declared that it looks like a war.

A FLOATING NEWSPAPER GEM.—The prayer which Socrates taught his disciple Alcibiades, deserves a place in the devotions of every Christian: "That he should beseech the supreme God to give him what was good for him, though he should not ask it, and to withhold from him what would be hurtful, though he should be so foolish as to pray for it."

Court of Probate for Calhoun County

March the 15th, A. D. 1869.

WHEREAS, on the 17th day of February, 1869 John A. Spaulding, in right of his wife, Paralee A. Spaulding, and the said Paralee A Spaulding, late Paralee A. Phillips, and late the wife of Charles P. Phillips, deceased, and now the wife of the said John A Spaulding, filed in court their petition in writing, representing among other things, that the said Charles P. Phillips died in such said county of Calhoun, intestate, on the —— day of —— 1859, and that on the—day of —— 1859, one Wm. Phillips, was by the Order of this court appointed and qualified as the administrator of the Estate of said decedent, and under an Order of this Court, the said Wm. Phillips, as such administrator, proceeded to sell the personal property of the Estate of said decedent, and collected the debts due intestate's estate and they further allege, that the said Wm. Phillips as administrator as aforesaid, has never made settlement and distribution of said Estate and further, that the said Wm. Phillips has removed as they have been informed and believe, beyond the limits of the State of Alabama, and now resides somewhere in the State of Texas and they now appear in court, and pray that their said petition be heard, and determined upon at the present term of the court—and it appearing that the notice required by law in such cases had been given by publication in the Jacksonville Republican, a news paper printed and published in said county, for three successive weeks prior to this term of the court, as a notice to the said Wm. Phillips, as administrator as aforesaid, to be and appear at this term of the court, and defend against said petition if he thought proper so to do: and also to file in this court his account and vouchers preparatory to making a settlement of said estate; and the said Wm. Phillips having failed to appear at this term of the court, and defend against said petition, or to file his account and vouchers for a settlement of said estate; and it further appearing to the satisfaction of the court, that the allegations set forth in said petition are true.

Thereupon the court proceeded to state an account between said administrator and said Estate, for settlement of said Estate from such materials or information as presented to the court.

It is therefore ordered by the court, that the 22nd day of April, 1869 be set for examining, auditing, and restating said account (if necessary) so stated as aforesaid by the court, and making settlement of said estate; and notice of the same be given by publication in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper printed and published in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day, as a notice to the said Wm. Phillips, administrator as aforesaid, and all other persons concerned, to be and appear at the court house of said county on said 22nd day of April, 1869, and show cause, if any they have, why the account so stated, as aforesaid by the court, between the said Wm. Phillips, as administrator aforesaid, and said Estate, should not be examined, audited, passed and allowed, &c as provided by Law.

Probate Court, Special Term,
18th February, 1869.

THIS day came G. C. Ellis, Executor of the Estate of R. G. Earle, deceased, and filed in court his application in writing, setting forth, among other things, that said deceased died seized and possessed of the following described Lands, to-wit: a House and lot in the town of Jacksonville, Alabama; known as the Earle place, being the late residence of the said deceased, and containing twelve acres more or less, and being a part of section 14 Township 14, Range 8, Coosa Land District. And also unimproved Lands as follows, to-wit; The south half of north west fourth, and Fractions B, C, and I, in fractional section No. 20, fractional Township 12, Range 7; and Fractions D and E, in fractional section 17; and the north east fourth of south west fourth of fractional section 20, all in fractional Township 12, Range 7 east. And further that the estate of said deceased had been duly and regularly declared insolvent, and before it was necessary to sell said Lands for the purpose of raising means to pay the debts of said deceased; and asking that in order be granted by this court, authorizing him to sell said Lands for that purpose.

Said Executor further set forth, that Sallie E. Herndon, late Sallie H. Williams, and now the wife of Herndon, of full age and residence unknown, was a legatee under the last will of said deceased; also, that the children of Sarah A. Larney, of Carrollton District, state of South Carolina, were legatees under said will, and asking, that they be made parties Defendants, and brought into court by publication.

It is therefore ordered by the court, that Thursday the 1st day of April, 1869 be set for the hearing of said application, and further, that a notice of this order be published in the Jacksonville Republican, a Newspaper published in said county, once a week for three consecutive weeks, prior to said 1st day of April, 1869, when and where said non-resident Defendants can appear before me, at my office in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and object to the granting of said order, if they think proper to do so.

Given under my hand, at office in Jacksonville, Alabama, this the 17th day of February, 1869.

History of Gen. Hindman's Assassination—Exposure of the Plot—The Guilty Parties in Jail.

MEMPHIS, March 17 —A prisoner in the Helena, Arkansas jail, yesterday overheard two negro prisoners discussing the assassination of Gen. Hindman. He informed the Jailor, who together with the Marshal took one of them out and after charging him with the crime; he confessed being one of the nine negroes who had formed a conspiracy to burn the town of Helena; Arkansas, and to avenge the hanging of a negro last September for rape; that three of the party had gone to Hindman's house for the purpose of burning it. he having prosecuted the negro who was hung and one of the number seeing Hindman sitting by a window, leveled a musket and fired, killing him. The others becoming frightened, fled and abandoned the plot to burn the town.—Five of the nine have been arrested and are now in jail. The authorities are now searching for the others.

The War Commenced—The Tenure-of-Office Bill and the Ultra Radicals—Distrust of President Grant—Excitement in Political Circles.

WASHINGTON, March 16.

The fight waxes warm, and the question is, "Whose fault is it? That it is to be a war to the knife and the knife to the hilt" is now universally conceded, but who is to blame for the family feud? Many predicted just such a state of things, but no one supposed the rupture would take place so soon It was argued that quiet would be maintained until the spoils of victory had been parcelled out, for even the belligerent spirit of radicalism is capable of nursing its wrath, and keeping it warm as long as there is a chance for spoils and plunder. But so full of spleen and hate are some of the radicals leaders that they have precipitated the contest of factions, and we are already in the midst of war.

The Civil Office-Tenure bill is made the pretext for strife among professing friends, and the resolution reported by Senator Trumbull, providing for a suspension of the act until the meeting of the next Congress, led to a most significant debate in the Senate to-day, in which Mr. Morton declared that the proposition meant distrust, and the purpose was to put President Grant on probation or on trial, and so declare to the country. Senator Morton preferred that the law should stand as it was than to have passed a resolution reflecting so offensively upon the Chief Magistrate of the nation.

Such is the view taken by the President's friends of the war now commenced upon the new administration, and in which the conflicts of bitter strife will be intensified as the spoils become exhausted. But little is discussed or spoken of in political and official circles to-night but the open breach in the radical ranks; and the Democrats declare that they have nothing to do but to remain quiet, but not altogether disinterested; spectators of the scene

THE DESPOILER'S TRACK:—The editor of the Valley Spirit, of Chambersburg Penn; has recently spent some time in South and North Carolina, and witnessed the vandal distruction by Sherman and his hordes, in his match through those States. He thus speaks of the appealing and sickening scenes of devastation which met his eye:

"We crossed the track of Sherman's army on our route from Charlotte to Columbia. No guide was needed to point out to us the ground over which the army passed. Tall, blackened chimnies stood like grim sentinels over it as if the spoiler had set them there to warn the former occupants never to return. Though voiceless, these chimnies, from which once curled the smoke of happy house-holds, spoke trumpet tongued, and woe to those against whom they speak. If Chambersburg in her ashes looked like the crater of hell, this track of Sherman's looked like the road over which the blazing wheels of Stanton's artillery had rolled, consuming all that came in their way. For two hours we ran through these blackened monuments of our country's shame. I pity the Northern man who can look on them with complacency."

The Bogus Peace.—The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says:

"It is of no use for President Grant any more than for the rest of us, to yearn for the happy consumation of a cemented Union, so long as the Senate and House overflow with malice and all uncharitableness towards a majority of Southern ex-rebels, who wish to be restored to their old relations. It will be only a mockery to offer prayers to God for His aid in this respect, so long as the nation tolerates a majority of men in Congress who are at war with the first principles of Christianity in its application to this earthly life—the forgiveness of offences and the exercise of love towards our neighbors."

About sixteen hundred miles of the cable to be laid between France and America, have been completed, and six hundred of them are already on board the Great Eastren. The whole will be ready by June next.

So deeply fixed in the human constitution is the sense of disgust, which we feel at nauseous smells, that it has found outcrop in one of the most expressive figures of speech, that can be coined. Thus when a man falls into disgrace, we have only to say, that he is in bad order, and we have fully conveyed our meaning to the most ordinary capacity.—Here, too, is a tacit admission of the necessity for some moral renovation, like that which is accomplished in the physical domain by the disinfecting virtues of DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID.

DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID.

A CHALLENGE TO THE WORLD!

We challenge the world to produce a better or a stronger recommendation for any article for any purpose than the following:

November 1st, 1868.

We very cheerfully unite our testimony in favor of the great merits of the valable disinfectant manufactured by Prof. Darby, and known as DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID. From the reputation of Prof. Darby as a scientific gentleman, from our own knowledge of this preparation, and from the general esteem in which it is held wherever known, we have no hesitation in recommending it as one of the most valurble household articles with which we are acquainted.

Dec. 26, 1869—4m.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

SARSAPARILLIAN;

AND

Its Powerful Curative Associates.

PREPARED UNDER A NEWLY DISCOVERED PROCESS FOR EXTRACTING THE CURATIVE PROPERTIES FROM VEGETABLE SUBSTANCES, ENTERS INTO THE COMPOSITION OF

Dr. RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.

A NEW PRINCIPLE DISCOVERED.

ONE BOTTLE OF RESOLVENT IS BETTER THAN TEN LARGE BOTTLES OF THE ADVERTISED SARSAPARILLAS, OR DIRECT DIURETIC REMEDIES.

Physicians wonder at the extraordinary power of RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT in curing the worst forms of Scrofulous, Syphiloid, Chronic Skin Diseases, and its marvelous power in resolving calculous concretions, affording immediate relief and consequent cure, of diseases of the Kidney, Bladder, Liver, Lungs, Pancreas, Spleen. Its rapid influence in the cure of Diabetes, Incontinence of urine, turbid, albuminous, cloudy urine; its almost instant efficacy in stopping itching and painful discharges of urine, and its singular power in curing discharges from the Uterus and Urethra, Leucorrhoea, Bloody Urine, and other unhealthy and weakening discharges;—and enquire wherein the SARSAPARILLIAN used in the Renovating Resolvent differs from ordinary Sarsaparillas! Sarsaparillian is the only principle in Sarsaparilla that possesses curative properties; all other parts of the root are inert and useless. One ounce of the extract obtained under Dr. Radway's new process for extracting the curative properties from vegetable substances, contains more of the true principle of cure than 20 lbs. of the ordinary roots.

SARSAPARILLIAN is only one of the ingredients that forms this truly wonderful medicine; and it is the only one healing remedy that communicates its purifying, cleansing and reinvigorating properties through the BLOOD, SWEAT, URINE, and other secretions, securing a harmonious functional action of every depraved organ and gland in the system. If the blood is corrupt, the Resolvent will make it pure. If the Lungs are ulcerated and are secreting thick phlegm and purulent matter, the Resolvent will loosen this deposit and repair the wasting lung with sound and healthy material. If the Skin is covered with pimples, spots, pustules, sores, ulcers, &c., the Resolvent will quickly remove these annoyances. If mercury is deposited in the bones and has accumulated in the system, the Resolvent will drive it out. If the Throat or Bronchial Glands are ulcerated, the Resolvent will cure these signs of an early waste. Direct remedies, possessing only exclusive properties, are hurtful, as they increase the functional secretions of one organ by suspending the constituent secretions of others; hence, a compensating remedy like the Resolvent is the only means of a permanent cure.

BEAR IN MIND THAT EVERY DROP OF BLOOD impregnated with the Resolvent, and absorbed to supply the waste of the body, will make new, sound and healthy flesh and fibre. The first dose that is taken commences its work of purification and increasing the appetite and flesh.

A REMARKABLE CURE!

SORES ON THE TONGUE, ULCERS IN THE THROAT, SORE GUMS, SORE MOUTH, SORES IN THE NOSE, AROUND THE EYES, &c.

If recently exhibited, a few bottles will cure. If chronic, or through the effects of Mercury, Potassia, or Corrosive Sublimate, from six to one dozen bottles may be required to make a permanent cure.

A remarkable instance of personal beauty restored to a Lady disfigured by the ravages of a frightful disease. From the advanced sheets of a new Medical work called

"FALSE AND TRUE."

BY JOHN RADWAY, M. D.

N. B.—This book contains much valuable information for the benefit of the sick. Illustrated with figures of the Liver, Lungs, Kidneys, and other organs in their natural and in their diseased conditions. Every person in search of health, and desires of preserving the same, should send for a copy, which will be sent free of charge, by remitting one three cent stamp for postage, to Radway & Co., New York.

FIRST BOTTLE.—At the end of the first bottle her strength, appetite and spirits were improved, and the small pimples, blotches, pustules, disappeared. Applying the Resolvent over the surface, with a fine sponge, relieved the inflammation and itching, and served as a reliable antiseptic in cleansing and purifying the putrid flesh.

SECOND BOTTLE.—At the end of the second bottle, signs of improvement in the discharges from the uterus, inflammation, pain and swelling abated, the skin greatly improving, the eyes growing brighter, strength and appetite increasing.

THIRD BOTTLE.—Dry scabs on the scalp, and sores on the arms, and incrusted scales of the hands, gradually disappearing, leucorrhea greatly lessened, water becoming clear, and kidneys and bladder improving.

FIFTH BOTTLE.—Finger nails growing, hands and arms clear and smooth, hair growing on the scalp, bowels regular, and skin free from irritation, face clear of sores.

SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOTTLES.—Ulcer on the neck greatly improved, leucorrhea discharges stopped, menstruation regular, pain of the abdomen, irritation in the uterus, bladder and kidneys stopped, face clear of all spots, hair covering the scalp, great increase of flesh, spirits buoyant, step elastic, and appetite good.

NINTH BOTTLE.—All signs of disease gradually disappearing, frequent rules in the Park, great improvement in personal appearance, hair continuing to grow rapidly, skin smooth and clear, and the ulcer in the neck healed.

TWELFTH BOTTLE.—Continuing the Resolvent after all eruptions had disappeared, she gained in flesh and personal beauty. No more trouble in the uterus, kidneys, etc. Bowels regular, digestive organs regular, blood pure, her nails perfect, hair growing luxuriant, spirits excellent, she exhibited to her friends a picture of health and beauty.

For six months after the use of the twelfth bottle, she continued taking three teaspoonfuls of the Resolvent per day, and two of the Pills three times a week."

In this wonderful cure a lesson may be learned in regard to the true means of securing personal beauty. Good, pure, rich blood will make healthy fibre and clear skin, beautiful complexion and luxuriant hair. Cosmetic powders, painting the skin with brushes, applying greasy substances, and alcoholic lotions to the hair, are injurious. The paint, powder, &c., clogs up the pores, obstructs the free escape of sweat and insensible perspiration, thus preventing the absorption of oxygen in the atmospheric air, so essential for the vitality and purification of the blood and fluids of the skin, &c. Pure blood is secured by the Resolvent. and all who use this medicine will enjoy the possession of its blessings. R. R. Resolvent is sold at $1 per bottle, at No. 87 Maiden Lane, N. Y., and by Druggists everywhere. Six bottles for $5.

N. B.—SEE THAT THE WORD SARSAPARILLIAN IS ON THE LABEL OF EACH BOTTLE.

POETRY.

From the Banner of the South

Widowed.

By Oswald.

Angel of innocence!
Picture of health!
Sleep on my little one—
All mother's wealth!

Sleep well, my darling one!
Rest while you may;
Mother is watching you,
Trying to pray.

Praying for fortitude,
Courage to bear,
Well with this heart rending,
Well with this care,

On thy clam gentle face,
Imaged he lives;
He, who was all to me
Living might give.

Father is sleeping son,
Father is gone!
Lying, so chilly now,
Shrouded alone!

Love beyond measurement,
Manhood and trust;
All are now torn from me,
Still in my youth!

Rest, rest baby boy!
Mother will weep
Heart-broken o'er thee
While you're asleep

The Snows in Canada.

MONTREIAL, March 12.——A heavy snow storm and raging wind prevailed yesterday No trains have started from or arrived here for two days. Four trains from New York are blocked at St. Joins The passengers are well supplied with provisions and fuel.—Two gentlemen got through by sleighs yesterday. The eastern trains are about thirty miles away, and there is no probability of their being extricated before Saturday. The ice roads on the river are impassible. Some men tried to cross yesterday, but had to abandon their teams. There is eight feet of level snow on the track for a strech of twenty-four miles. Trains over the Arthabasca branch of railway have discontinued running till April.

QUEBEC, March 12 —A terrifie snow storm prevailed here. Three men were found dead in the snow drifts to day, near this city. They tried to travel on foot yesterday.

POINT LEVEL, March 12.—An avalanche of snow fell from the cliffs on a house containing fifteen persons, four of whom were crushed to death.

The fall of snow this winter in Canada, shows an increase of 3,877 inches over the mean twenty years. The entire amount, if it had lain as it fell, would have been about ten feet. At the present time, the snow lies about 18 inches.

A negro woman near Macon, Georgia, on last Monday, killed a poor white girl for the purpose of robbing her of three dollars, which she had in her possession. They were out getting pine wood to sell in the city and the negro knocked her in the head with the axe, frightfully breaking her skull and killing her almost instantly. Will the reconstruction committee at Washington make a note of this Kuklux outrage.

German papers state that the whole tract on which the city of St Petersburg is built is sinking slow'y, but with fearful regularity, and that at the present rate it will be wholly submerged in fifty years. It is added that the Russian Government is taking steps to remove the court to some other city.

LAND SALES AT THE SOUTH.—There is quite an active business in real estate at the South this Spring. Farms in Virginia are changing hands constantly, the purchasers generally being men who propose to cultivate for themselves. The same is true in South Carolina and other States at the South, and very good prices are realized by the sellers At a recent auction sale in Kershaw district, South Carolina, a tract of six thousand acres was divided up into small lots and sold on liberal terms, and a good many freedmen were among the bidders and purchasers.—The prices were fully as high as would have been obtained before the war. In North Carolina a tract of 20,000 acres, which wes in the market at fifty cents per acre before the war, was lately sold to a German colony for a settlement at $1 50 per acre. The small farm system will soon be very generally introduced in the Southern States, and it will be a great improvement over the old plan of plantations with hundreds and thousands of acres of unimproved lands.—Baltimore Sun.

☞The Herald's Washington correspondent says it was the treasury ring and not the law, of 1789 that rul out Stewart. That law, the correspedent says, has been a dead letter on the books for years. It provides that the Secretary of the Treasury shall not purchase public lands or public securities, and yet the official records show that Secrtary McCulloch, since he took the office, purchased 7,010 acers of public lands. The correspondent insists that were it not for the weakness of some of the President's friends, who quailed before the clamor of the Treasury ring againts the appointment of Mr. Stewart, two thirds of Congress would have willingly voted for the repeal of the law, which has become obsolete and useless.

Allen's Lung Balsam.

WHAT THE DOCTORS SAY.

Amos Woolly, M. D., of Kosciusco county, Ind. says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively in my practice and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the remedy to cure all Lung and Throat difficulties. It should be thoroughly tested before using any other Balsam. It will cure when all others fail. Directions accompany each bottle.

THE LIVER.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

THE symptoms of LIVER COMPLAINT, are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for Rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general costive, sometimes alternative with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensations of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits; sometimes some of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the Liver with Simmons' Regulator and all will be well.
