MAY.

BY EMILY HUNTINGTON MILLER.

The grass on the hillside is springing,
The cowslips are shining like gold;
The robins are merrily singing
A gladness that cannot be told.
Come out where the sunshine is flooding
The valleys with glory to-day.
And sing with the birds and the breezes,
To welcome the beautiful May.

The wind from the blossoming orchards
Brings up the low hum of the bees,
And the shouts of the barefooted children
At play in the shade of the trees.
Sing, birds, for the winter is over!
Sing, birds, for the summer is sweet!
And laugh at your play, little children,
For childhood and summer are fleet.

Thorwalsden's First Love.

Some fifty-five years age, a young woman of prepossessing appearance was seated in a small back room of a house in Copenhagen, weeping bitterly. In her lap lay a few small trinkets and other small articles, evidently keepsakes which she had received from time to time. She took up one after the other, and turned them over, but she could scarcely distinguish them through her blinding tears.—Then she burried her face in her hands, and rocked to and fro in agony.

"Oh," she moaned, and is it come to this? all my dreams of happiness have vanished—all my hopes are dead! He will even go without bidding me farewell. Ah, Himlen! that I have lived to see this bitter day! Love vare Gud!"

At this moment a hasty tapat the door was followed by the entrance of the object of her grief. He was a young man about twenty-five years of age, his person middle-sized and strongly built, his features massive, regular and attractive—his long hair flaxen, his eyes blue. This was Bertel Thorwalsden—a name which has since then sounded throughout the world as that of the most illustrious sculptor of modern times. His step was firm and quick, his eye bright, and his features glowing as he entered the room; but when he beheld the attitude of the weeping female, a shade passed over his countenance as he gently walked up to her, and laying his hand on her shoulder, murmured, "Amalie!"

"Bertel!" answered a smothered voice.

The young Dane drew a chair to her side, and silently took her tear-bedewed hands; "Amalie," said he after a pause broken only by her quivering sobs, "I am come to bid thee farewell. I go in the morning.

She ceased weeping, raised her face, and released her hands, pushed back her dishevelled hair. Then she wiped her eyes and gazed on him in a way that made his own drop. "Bertel," said she in a solemn tone, but void of reproach, "Bertel, why did you win my young heart? why did you lead me to hope that I should become the wife of your bosom?"

"[—] always meant it; I mean it now."

She shook her head mournfully, and taking up the trinkets, continued: "Do you remember what you said when you gave me this—and this—and this?"

"What would you have, Amalie? I said I loved you; I love you still—but—"

"But you love ambition, fame, the praise of men far better!" added she bitterly.

Thorwalsden started, and his features flushed; for he felt acutely the truth of her words.

"Yes, you will leave gamie Denmark—you will leave your poor, fond old father and mother, whose only hope and only earthly joy is in you—you will leave me, and all who love the sound of your footsteps, and go to a distant land, and forget us all?"

"Min Pige! you are cruel and unjust. I shall come back to my old father and mother—come back to thee, and we shall all be happy again."

"Never, Bertel, never! When once you have gone there is no more happiness for us. In heaven we may all meet again, on earth never! Oh no, never more will you see in this life either your parents, or poor-broken-hearted Amalie!" and again her sobs broke forth.

Thorwalsden abruptly rose from his chair and paced the room in agitation.—He was much distressed, and once or twice he glanced at Amalie with evident hesitation. His past life, the pleasures of his youth, the endeared friends and scenes of his childhood, the affection of Amalie, the anguish of his parents at the approaching separation, all vividly passed in review, and whispered him to stay and be happy in the city of his birth. But a vision of Rome rose also and beckoned him thither to earn renown, wealth and immortality. The pride of conscious genius swelled his soul, and he felt that the die was cast forever.

He resented himself by the side of Amalie, and once more took her hand.—She looked up, and in one glance read his inmost thoughts.

"Go," said she, "and fulfill your destiny. God's will be done! You will become a great man—you will be the companion of princes and kings, and your name will extend the fame of your country to the utmost parts of the earth. I see it all; and let my selfish love perish! Only promise this—when you are hereafter in the full blaze of your triumph, sometimes turn aside from the high-born, lovely dames who are thronging around, and drop one tear to the memory of the lowly Danish girl who loved you better than herself. Bertel, farewell!"

The next day Thorwalsden quitted Copenhagen for Rome, where he resided nearly the whole of the remainder of his long life, and more than realized his own wild aspirations for fame. But the prophecy of poor Amalie was literally fulfilled—he never more beheld his parents or his first true love.

Nearly half a century had elapsed, and the scene was Copenhagen. The streets were densely crowded with eager, sorrowing spectators, and every window of every house was filled with sadly expectant faces. At length a cry, "They come!" was echoed from group to group, and the crowd swayed to and fro under the sympathetic swell of common emotion.

A withered old woman was seated at the upper window of the house, and when the cry was taken she raised her wrinkled countenance and passed her hands over her eyes, as if to clear away the mist of more than seventy winters. An immense procession drew near. Appropriate military music preceded, the corps being conveyed to its last earthly abiding place.—The king of the land, the royal family, the nobility, the clergy, the learned, the brave, the gifted, the renowned, walked after it. The banners of mourning were waved, the trumpts wailed, and thousands of sobs broke alike from stern and gentle breasts, and tears, from the eyes of warriors as well as lovely women, showered like rain. It was the funeral of Bertel Thorwalsden, with the Danish nation for mourners! And she—the old woman who gazed at it as it slowly wound by—she was Amalie, his first love! Thorwalsden had never married, neither had she.

"Ah, Himlen!" murmured the old woman, wiping away tears from a source which for many long years had been dry, "how marvellous is the will of God! To think that I should live to behold this sight! Poor, poor Bertel! All that I predicted came to pass; but, ah me! who knows whether you might have enjoyed a happier life after all, had you stayed with your old father and mother, and married me? Ah, Himlen, there's only One can tell! Poor, poor Bertel!"

Four years more sped by, and one fine Sabbath morning an aged and decrepid female painfully dragged her weary limbs through the crowded rooms of that wondrous building known as Thorwalsden's museum. She paused not to glance at the matchless works of sculpture, but crept to an open doorway leading into the inner quadrangle, in the center of which a low tomb of gray marble inclosed the mortal remains of him whose hand created the works which fill the edifice. Step by step she drew close to the tomb, and sank on the pavement by its side. Then she laid down her crutch and pressed her bony hands tight over her skinny brow. "Ja, ja," murmured she; "they told me to lie here, and I prayed God to grant me strength to crawl to the spot, and he has heard me. Ah, Himlen! I can die happy now!"

She then withdrew her hands and peered at the simple but all-comprehensive inscription of "Bertel Thorwalsden," deeply cut on the side of the tomb. Then she raised her forefinger and earnestly traced with it every letter to the end.—Smiling feebly, she let fall her hand, while an evanescent gleam of subtle emotion lighted up her lineaments. "Tis true he moulders here. Poor Bertel, we shall meet again—in heaven!"

Her eyes closed and her head slowly sank upon her breast, in which attitude she remained until one of the officers of the museum, who had noticed her singular behavior, came up.

"Gammel kone," (old wife) said he, "what are you doing?"

She answered not; and he slightly touched her shoulder, thinking she was asleep. Her body gently slid to the ground at the touch, and he then saw that she slept the sleep of death.

Chamber's Edinburgh Journal

"Nice Young Men."

We begin to hear some little mouthing among our merchants, here of late, "dull trade," &c. It is a good indication—it's evidence that our farming friends are at their respective posts doing their duty. What a pity that some of our "nice young men" don't take the plow and hoe, an begin to earn a living for themselves, and quit living on their "so called" "rich kin."—They may hold off some time yet but thank the Lord, they've got to come to it yet, & then they'll quit turning up their dear perfumed "noses" at those who get their bread and meat by honest labor. These rich poor folks are the meanest and most trifling people in the world—they imagine every one should look up to them, lick their feet and black their boots. We know some "nice young men" who never made a dollar since they were born, and couldn't raise ten cents to save their livs, and yet they go about and put on as many "airs" as though they owned half of New York city, and wouldn't draw a bucket of water or cut a stick of wood if it were to keep their sixty year old mammas" from breaking their backs. We saw a case of this sort a few weeks ago—an old lady of at least fifty was cutting a fire of wood, while her "sporty" "nice young man" was standing off apiece with his hands in his "store-bought breaches" pockets, drawing the "Havana" out of a Florida "cheruto!" All such chaps will yet have to "grub" for a living, and we'll be glad to see them at it. If we had a million of loaves, we wouldn't give one of these "nice young men" a mouthful of bread if we knew the whole would 'spile' in a minute.—Monroe Eagle.

A drunken man, having vomited into a basket containing goslins, warming by the fireplace, exclaimed in consternation, "My God, wife, when did I swallow them things!"

Selma, Rome & Dalton Railroad.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this road was held at the Chamber of Commerce in this city yesterday. There was a full attendance, and the proceedings were conducted with the utmost unanimity and harmony.

Mr Barney was called on to give an account of the condition and future prospects of the road, which he did in a clear and satisfactory manner.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Franklin H. Delano, of New York.

Directors—U. A. Murdock, Wm. Paton, Isaac H. Knox, Jno. T. Agnew, C. C. F. Dambmann, David Crawford, of New York, A. G Mabry, J. W. Lapsley, of Selma, Levi W. Lawler, of Mobile, Daniel S. Printup, of Rome.

The following resolutions were presented and adopted.

BY COL LAHSLEY,

Resolved, That we deem it to be vitally important to the interest of this company and the country generally, that the city of Selma should be connected by railway, early as practicable, with the Gulf of Mexico at Mobile and Pensacola, and to that end recommend to the President and Directors of this company, to render all the aid in their power to the construction of roads to those points.

BY COL D. S. PRINTUP.

Resolved, That the Board of Directors of this company be authorized and instructed to give and transfer all right of franchise, and road-bed graded or to be graded, which this company now own or possess, on the line from Jacksonville to Gadsden in this State, to any person, or to any company duly organized or to be organized, who will give sufficient guarantee to build or put the same in operation between said places.

WHEREAS, a bill is now pending in Congress entitled an act to revive the grant of lands to aid in the construction of a railroad from Selma to Gadsden, in the State of Alabama, and to confirm the same to the Selma, Rome & Dalton railroad company; and whereas it is desirable that the same should be passed and approved at as early a day as possible, in order to enable the company to have said lands settled and occupied by bona fide settlers, and the mineral lands properly developed; therefore,

Resolved, that the stockholders of the Selma, Rome & Dalton Railroad, Company, here assembled, do hereby most respectfully petition the Congress of the United States to pass said bill. And,

Resolved That the Board of Directors of this company do petition the Legislatures of the State of Alabama and Georgia to give their influence, by resolution or otherwise, to the favorable consideration and passage of said bill by Congress.

The meeting was a very interesting one, and we regret that our limited space prevents us from giving a more extended notice of it.—Selma Times, 22.

INDICATIONS OF AN APPROACHIG WAR.—The International, of London, under date the 23d ultimo, mentions that correspondence from Berlin, from authentic sources, leaves no doubt respecting the military preparation now being taken by Prussia. A mobilization of the Landwehr is imminent, and it is added that news received from Paris fully authorizes these steps. In fact the prevailing conviction in official circles in Berlin is that France is preparing for an early war; large purchases of horses are reported, and it is even hinted that the genral elections will consequently not take place until July 1, 1869.

OPINION OF DISTINGUISHED BUSINESS MEN.—"Men should be careful in their business that they have a good article for sale. Then advertise it, for the greater nuber of people who know of the existence of the genuine article, the better it is for the owner.

P. T. BARNUM

"My motto through life has been work and advertise. In business, advertising is the true philosopher's stone, that turns whatever it touches to gold.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR.

"Whatever success I have had in business, I owe mainly to continuous advertising, and I deem it good policy to advertise long in the same papers: from close observation I am fully convinced that it is impossible to make much headway in any kind of business without the facilities which the press alone can give.

JACOB RIDGWAY.

"I have always considered advertising—liberal and long—to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have always made it an invariable rule, too, to advertise in the dullest times, a long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out; as by keeping my business continually before the public, has secured me many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

STEPHEN GIRARD.

SOLDIER KILLED.—Day before yesterday while a detachment of the 5th U. S. Cavalry, Brevet Maj. T. E. Mayley commanding, Lieut. Edwin Leas quartermaster, from Atlanta, bound for Omaha, was passing Martin Hale's 16 miles above here, some of the worst of the command attempted to rob his store. He attempted to make his way to the commanding officers to report the fact, whereupon the soldiers intercepted and fired upon him.—He returned the fire and killed one, and very dangerously wounded another. It is proper (and we have conversed with some of them) to state that the officers of the command in no way blame Mr. Hale and say he is perfectly justifiable. They would not have arrested if they could have done so. They are now in and around Gadsden, detained by high waters.

Gadsden Times.

Supposed Outrage.

While passing through this county the 5th Cavalry arrested, on the place of Col. Kyle, some miles above here, Samuel Roberts, an honest and hard working man and charged him with stealing two horses which they had lost overnight. They brought him through Gadsden, but did not turn him over to the civil authorities here, as was proper. After the detachment, having him in charge, left here, the Sheriff with a posse of men followed to demand his surrender to the civil authorities. The posse overtook the detachment beyond Clear creek and made the demand, when the officer in charge reported that he escaped at the creek.—It is the opinion of many that he was foully murdered at that point, without being allowed a trial. We give only facts, and await further developments.

Gadsden Times.

THE LARGEST TURTLE that we have ever known to be taken from the Coosa was brought to the surface by Messrs. Garner and Wren some days ago. He was a monster of the Loggerhead kind, weighed 97 lbs and was broad enough for all the little boys in town to take a ride on. After he was shown for some hours, we had the pleasure of supping some soup and eating some meat made from his "remains."—Gadsden Times.

Gold for Cotton.

Cotton is gold. It is gold just as truly as if it were dug directly out of a California placer or quartz mine. Why? Because, in the last resort, gold pays for it. Then, why should the planter, who digs it out of the fat alluvium of the river and creek bottoms or the free soil of the oak and hickory uplands, take the intermediary greenbacks for his lawful and legitimate "diggings?" To-night the BOARD OF TRADE takes up this great question. We stake our reputation on the suggestion, that our energetic BOARD never had a more vial and fruitful question before it. Let it rub this veritable Alladin's lamp and summon the genii of a new dispensation to pour its blessings upon this Radically -cursed land.

To us it appears that this proposition has but one side. The questions is, why should we of the South, in a spirit of misplaced generosity, volunteer to take a chance in the bad lottery of the Federal paper system? We need not do it. There is no call of honor, friendship, or magnanimous sympathy to take any such risk. The Federal debt, is no funeral of ours. Neither are its baked meats nor its probable collapse, affairs of ours. There rushes along the current! Why throw ourselves in it when on each side are sound financial banks on which we may plant ourselves and watch the onward tumble to the verge of the precipice? Take your gold, and let the Federal maelstrom "rip" ripas it will with sharpers and "rings" in the Capitol and imbecility in the White House and Cabinet. Let the Southern planter and merchant keep out of this muddle, and plant himself upon the solid metal which the experienced wisdom of ages has settled upon as the true and immovable yard-stick of property values.

Put not your trust in money, but put your money in trurt.

☞The Postmaster General is yet very busily engaged in appointing postmasters and route agents in all parts of the United States, and averages about one hundred appointments per day. The pressure for these officers continues unabated.

Says a writer in the blackwood: "I remember a cruel old schoolmaster of mine; who always accompanied his flagellations with the assurance that we'd bless him yet for this scourging, and that the time would come when we'd thank him on our knees for these wholesome floggings; but after a long lapse of years, I have felt no gratitude, nor ever met a schoolfellow who did."

Insanity has greatly increased since the war. The contention of those years of struggle and the great fluctuations of fortune have left their work. Nervous diseases also, which are only mile-posts on the same road, are far more prevalent.

The bright spots of a man's life are few enough, without blotting any out. The heart, like the earth, would cease to yield good fruit, were it not sometimes watered with the tears of sensibility; and the fruit would be worthless, but for the sunshine of smiles.

The Republican.

On the first day of the beautiful month of May, we present our patrons with the Republican in a new dress; and with it our promise to use every effort, and all the advantages of a lengthened experience, to furnish them with a neat, interesting and valuable paper. In return, we solicit their influence and aid in increasing its circulation; and take this occasion to return our sincere thanks to those who have already aided us in this way. It is the interest of every patron of a newspaper, not only to make prompt payment, but to aid in increasing its circulation, by which the publisher may be furnished with the necessary means to keep up a handsome and valuable paper, of which they may be justly proud.—Besides, the Newspaper is generally considered a safe criterion by which to judge of the character and condition of the people of the Town or section of country, where it is published and supported.—With a large circulation too, the publisher is enabled to furnish his paper at lower rates of subscription.

Job Printing.

With the new type for our paper, we have also received an additional assortment of large Fancy and ornamental Type of the latest and most beautiful styles, and are therefore well prepared to print Handbills, Posters, Circulars, Cards, Letter and Bill Heads, &c.

We again solicit our friends, who need such work, to give us their patronage, instead of sending it to distant cities. If we do not execute their work as correctly, neatly, handsomely and cheaply as they can get it elsewhere, we will not again ask them for their patronage.

Removals and Appointments.

The new President, thus far, seems to have disappointed all parties and given little satisfaction to any one except the recipients of fat offices. Removals and appointments, which are going on at the rate of about one hundred per day, seem to be the absorbing interest, and little else will be thought of or talked of, until that is over; not even the Cuban Revolution or the Alabama Claims. Nothing to equal the present "wild hunt after office" it is said, has ever been known in the history of the government. For every office to fill there are from one hundred to five hundred applicants. In one instance we notice where fifteen city officers were to be appointed, there were three thousand applicants. Of course this process is adding no strength to the Radical party.—For every successful aspirant there are hundreds of unsuccessful, disappointment and disaffected applicants. No doubt these sore-headed and disappointed aspirants who fail to obtain the offices they seek, are astonished at the want of appreciation by the appointing power, of their talents and services, and think that Republics, and especially Radical "Republics are ungrateful." They will hardly feel bound to labor in future, so faithfully, earnestly and unscrupulously, for a party that pays so badly.

But the Democrats can afford to look on this scene of party strife, with calmness and unconcern. They have nothing to expect, nothing to ask, and nothing to give. They can at least adopt, and take to themselves the consolation afforded by the negroe's text: "Blessed am him what expees nuffin, for he is sure not to be disappointed."

☞The report, that the "Imperialist," a paper recently started in New York, to advocate a change of our government from a Republic to that of a monarchy or empire, had ceased, for want of support and sympathy with its objects, turns out to be false. It is still published regularly, and the publishers say they have an assured patronage and support, sufficient to justify them in a weekly issue of at least ten thousand copies per week, and are therefore independent of the opinions or prejudices of the mass of the people. It has been developed too, that this support comes from the millionair landholding aristocracy of the North. They fear that if the government remains a Republic, in the hands and under the control of the overburdened and overtaxed people, they will sooner or later repudiate the debt, as a means of relief. Hence this movement to inaugurate a strong government, that will have the power to enforce the payment of principal and interest in gold. Were its success even possible, it might defeat the very object in view.—The new government might not be willing to shoulder the enormous debt of the old. But we do not believe its success possible, without a war, in comparison with which the late civil strife was but child's play. Possibly the late reckless course of Congress in rejecting the treaty with England by the Senate, and expression of sympathy for the Cuban revolutionists by the House, may have some connection with this imperial government project, in the hope that a foreign war would prevent an internecine struggle.

Selma, R. & D. Railroad.

We publish in to-day's paper, the election of officers, and Resolutions adopted by the late Convention of stockholders of the Selma, Rome & Dalton Railroad, held at Selma.

Among the Resolutions adopted, was one to give and transfer all right of franchise, and road-bed graded or to be graded, which that company now own or possess, on the line from Jacksonville to Gadsden, to any person or company duly organized or to be organized, who will give sufficient guarantee to build the road.

This is an important and generous concession, especially when it is remembered that the entire line, except six miles, has been graded, including the principal obstruction through Cove Creek mountain, which cost sixty-odd thousand dollars for less than one mile.

It is an important point gained for our place as a Railroad Town, inasmuch as no company can avail themselves of the advantages offered, unless they build from Jacksonville to Gadsden; and we tender to Col. Printup who offered, and the Convention which passed the Resolution, the hearty thanks of our entire community; and also to Hon. T. A. Walker and Gen. Wm. H. Forney, who by their earnest and energetic action, aided materially in that object.

We know that the citizens of our Town and County will respond liberally to any company or effort for railroad extension east and west from Jacksonville.

☞If you want to see one of the largest, finest and cheapest stocks of Goods ever brought to this section of the State, go to Woodward's Corner—of course if you need you will purchase.

Dr. J. C. Francis has just received at his new Drug Store, a full and varied assortment of fresh and genuine Drugs and Medicines, and in addition, a very fine assortment of Fancy Articles. We saw in his Store the other day the most beautiful and deliciously perfumed French Toilet Soap we have ever met with any where; besides, work pockets, work baskets, pocket books, "gold enamelled China Vases, &c. We cannot remember the names of half the beautiful articles we saw, but would invite the ladies to call and see them, knowing that they can better appreciate and admire them than we can. The sight of these exquisitely wrought articles will amply repay them to go a square or two out of their way.

IMPORTANT RUMOR.

A Secret Mission to the Cuban Insurgents.

The New York Herald of the 20th prints the following from Washington:

A dispatch was telegraphed from here last night to certain newspapers purporting to give the views of the President on the all-absorbing question of the Cuban insurrection, on the authority of a Cabinet officer. Diligent inquiry would lead to the belief that the Cabinet officer who communicated the intelligence was either badly informed or endeavored to mislead the correspondent, for the statements made therein fail to meet with confirmation. In regard to the views of the President on this subject, it may be stated on good authority that one of the President's nearest confidants, whose name your correspondent is not now at liberty to divulge, has been sent to Cuba on a secret mission, the object of which is to obtain all the information accessible in relation to the Cuban revolution, and to report to the President the exact chances for making the movement success-ful. On the strength of this report will depend the action which is to be taken by our Government with regard to the recognition of Cuban independence. The views of the agent who has been selected for this important mission are such that no circumstances will be lost sight of that will tend to present the affairs of the revolutionists in a favorable light.

A most disastrous fire occurred at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, on last Friday night. It raged for five hours, and destroyed a large portion of the business part of the town. Loss estimated at $150,000.

A Polish exile, who has supported himself and family for three years, in Dubique, by sawing wood, has just gone to Europe to claim a $5,000,000 fortune, left him by a relitiv.

A Beautiful Extract.

We publish below, the closing paragraph of the beautiful salutatory of Major Giles M. Hillyer, in assuming editorial charge of the Vixburg Times:

"To the South, the dream of political independence is over. The only independence that we can now obtain is that of character and efficiency in the struggle of life—not the strifes for peculation and speculation—but for the honest rewards of labor, thought, energy, enterprise and skill. With a soil rich as Eden's garden, a climate as luxuriant as the tropics, and far more healthy than the North, a land inviting the immigrant to come and partake of its blossoming, and a society that welcomes cordially the honest man who is willing to take up with us the crosses of life, and look forward to the crown of future prosperity, why should the South despair? No storms of adversity, no torrents of radicalism, no wild winds of fanaticism, can permanently injure it. After the storm, comes sunshine; after the shower, comes the rainbow."

CLASSICAL.—The Tuskaloosa Monitor says that the following letter, not enveloped or sealed, was found in the vicinity of the University. For the sake of the writer, it omits his name:

LOVE AND MURDER

A Lady Killed by her Lover—A Double Fatal Duel.

The Memphis Avalanche, of April 8, says:

The steamer Richmond, which passed up from New Orleans yesterday, learned at Grand Gulf the particulars of one of those tragedies of passion that appears more like romance than reality. In the county, at some distance from Grand Gulf, reside two respectable families, those of Cushing and Andrews. Miss Andrews was a lovely girl of 17, well accomplished & of usually fascinating manners. Mr. Cushing's son, a youth of twenty, had been attached to her from their early childhood, and as he grew older his affection became an ardent, absorbing passion. A short time ago he made a formal offer of his hand, when, to his intense disappointment and mortification, his offer was firmly, though courteously refused. He brooded over his ill-rewarded passion, and became a prey to jealousy, and at length left the neighborhood, vowing madly that he would come back and take his revenge.

On Sunday last he returned, and riding up to Mr. Andrews' house, he begged to see Miss Andrews at the door, without alighting. She came out, when he suddenly produced a pistol, fired, shooting her through the body, and she fell on her face, and died without a struggle. The infatuated murderer rode frantically away, but Miss Andrews' brother, breathing fury towards the murderer of his sister, sprang on a horse and followed. He came up with Cushing as he was crossing a creek and fired at him Cushing jumped from his horse and took shelter in the bush. Andrews, not to be at a disadvantage, did the same. A parley ensued, and the two young men agreed to fight according to the code; to leave the cover, fire, advance and fire, and again advance, firing until one of them should fall. At the first fire, Cushing received a mortal wound in the left shoulder, but the men continued to near each other and fire until their revolvers were empty. When assistance arrived, Cushing lay dead with four bullets in his body. Anderws had received three shots in his breast. He was able to tell how the fight had taken place, when he also expired

The Cincinnati Gazette (Radicals) is opposed to any more test-oaths. It says: "Experience has proved that swearing will not make rebels loyal nor save a country. It was supposed that by tradition the American people were opposed to test-oaths, but in the excitment of war we have pushed the oath business to extremity. We suspect that the whole result may be summed up in this; that our extra oaths excluded only the honorable men among the rebels, and admitted the worst, who took the oath and remained just as they were before."

☞M. De Lavalette and Rouher are said by the Gaulois to be the only advisers of Napoleon who desire peace. Every other counselor is anxious for immediate war with Prussia.

"Why do women spend so much time and money on dress?" asked a gentleman of a belle. "To worry other women," was the diabolic but truthful reply.

Radway's Readey Relief
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.

It was the first, and is the only PAIN REMEDY, that will instantly stop the most excruciating pains, allay INFLAMMATION, and CURE CONGESTIONS, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, or other glands and organs, by one application

IN FROM ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

No matter how violent or excruciating the pain, the Bed-ridden, Infirm, Crippled, Rheumatic, Nervous, Neuralgic, or prostrated with disease may suffer,

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will, in from ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES, cure and comfort, and this medicine, so rapid in stopping pain, can be purchased for 50 cts per bottle at almost every druggist's and country merchant's store in the continent, and within one hours distance of almost every habitation in the United States.

MILLIONS who have used Radway's Ready Relief for 25 years know that ONE 50 cent bottle, diluted in one gallon of proof spirits, will make a better Liniment, Pain Paint Killer, Panacea, King of Pain, equal in quantity to 144 Bottles of the Sizes of those Lotions that are sold at 25 cents.

And the public should also know that all these lotions are but poor imitations of RADWAYS READY RELIEF.—If those who are now suffering Pain—no matter what the cause may be, or by what name it is called—if external, apply Radway's Ready Relief to the part of the body where the pain is present. If internal, 20 DROPS diluted in water, as a drink; whether Cramps, Sprains, Inflammation, Congestion, Asiatic Cholera, Chills and Fever, the most violent, excruciating, and torturing pains, will be stopped in from

ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

One fifty cent Bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will do more service, and cure more complaints that are daily occurring in every family, than $25 expended in prescriptions for drugs.

FEVER AND AGUE CURED.
FOR FIFTY CENTS.

There is not another remedial agent in this world that will cure FEVER AND AGUE, and all other Malarious, Bilious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow and other Fevers, (aided sometimes with the Radway's Pills,) so quick and without annoyance to the patient, or leaving ill effects after the cure, as Radway's Ready Relief.

Millions of people throughout the world know how quick it will cure all ordinary complaints; for in all diseases where PAIN, INFLAMMATION, or CONGESTION is present, its effects are instantaneous. But in FEVER and AGUE, Asiatic Cholera, Yellow Fever, as these diseases are exhibited in the tropics,

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF has proved infallible, and will cure these terrible fevers quicker, without entailing the frightful penalties of ENGORGED LIVER, FAT SPLEEN, DISORDERED KIDNEYS, and saffron-colored skin, that are sure to follow the use of the "Chinchonas," "Ague cures," and other agents of the heroic Quinine, Mercurial, Arsenic, and other treatments where the medicines used accumulate, & become deposited in the system.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is the best and cheapest, and safest remedial agent that can be used for FEVER and AGUE, Billious, and other Fevers.

NOT ONE

person need suffer, be they ever so much exposed to Fever and Ague, if they will only take Radway's Ready Relief, and keep their bowels open with Radway's Pills. Hundreds in the west, who have heretofore been doctoring at the rate of one and two hundred dollars for a few months' treatment, are keeping themselves and families free from FEVER & AGUE, Chills and Fever, Rheumatism, &c., for one or two dollars a year, spent for Radway's Ready Relief & Radway's pills (coated.)

Radway's Ready Relief is an old established remedy. Under the new process of manufacture, it secures properties that will cure and prevent Small-Pox, Typhoid, and Scarlet Fever, Asiatic Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, &c., and as a Pain Remedy, it acts like magic. NOT ONE HOUR need one suffer with pain, or remain one week lingering in bed from Rheumatism, or any other acute or inflammatory disease. The Ready Relief will afford instant ease to all. Price only 50 cents per bottle.

FOR FIFTY CENTS.

N. B. See that every bottle has an Indian rubber stopper. Sold by all Druggists, and at Dr. Radway's office, No. 87 Maiden-lane, New York.

Thomas J. Garner, vs. John R. Northcut. } Appearance Docket, page 80, Spring Term, 1869, March 30, 1869.

THIS day came the Plaintiff, by his Attornies, and upon his motion, and it appearing to the satisfaction of the court that the suit is commenced by attachment, and that the Defendant is a non-resident of this State, and that said attachment was levied upon the property of the Defendant by summoning Elizabeth M. Hunt, as a Garnishee in this case—it is therefore Ordered by the Court, that the Clerk of this court cause a Notice of the attachment and the levy thereof on the Defendant's property, to be advertised for four successive weeks, in the Jacksonville Republican, a Newspaper published in the Town of Jacksonville, in the county of Calhoun, Alabama, it being the nearest newspaper published to this county; and that a copy of said notice be sent to the Defendant by mail, if his post office is known or can be ascertained.

A CARPET-BAGGER WANTS SATISFACTION.

Final Adjournment of the Senate.

FOREIGN.

London, April 22.—The London journals comment freely on Cuban affairs—The Telegraph says that England is unbiased, but England's interests will be best subserved by Spain's retaining authority over Cuba. It is not England business to interfere against Cuban independence, but her good offices might be useful in averting a quarrel between the United States and Spain.

The seizure of the Mary Lowell is designated a mistake, implicating England. Spain's best friend in a quarrel with the United States. The Telegraph argues that Cubans can never willingly attach themselves to American rule.

The Owl says that Grant has run mad on Cuba, and thinks England and France will interfere if the United States attempts to wrest Cuba from Spain. The Owl adds that Grant belongs to a foreign war.

The Owl says that a yacht will leave in a day or two for Cuba, to ascertain the exact position of affairs.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 23.—Mr Sprague's words, which offended Mr Abbott, were: "Mr. President—In answer to the trade of the Senator from Nevada [Mr. Nye] and the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. Abbott,] I am reminded of a little illustration. In my travels from the center here into the rural districts, through the woods and fields of the surrounding neighborhood, chances at one time brought me to a farm-house, where I discovered, on looking up, a mastiff and a little mongrel puppy dog. The little dog advanced on me with rapidity, and from behind bit at my heels, and frightened at his temerity, ran howling away followed by his larger companion. The Senate will observe that the mongrel whining puppy, encouraged by the mastiff, and emboldened to make the attack from the shadow of his backer, ran rapidly away, alarmed at his temerity, while the overgrown cur followed after, with ears dropped and tail between his legs, to a place of safety, beside his menaced companion."

During yesterday evening Abbott threatened to horsewhip Sprague unless he retracted.

In the Senate last night, Mr. Abbott said:

"When I arose in Executive session to ask that the doors be opned some time ago, I said that I did not intend to utter anything unbecoming on this floor. What I did intend to do was to ask the Senator from Rhode Island [Sprague] if he intended to apply the term puppy to me, as is implied in the connection of that language. If he did intend to apply it to me, my purpose was to ask him for retraction as full as the implication of the language and if he refused that retraction, my intention was to ask for satisfaction outside of this Chamber. I now, sir, give notice, inasmuch as that Senator has skulked out of the Chamber, that I intend to have satisfaction outside of the Chamber."

Mr. Sumner called Mr. Abbott to order, who, after much confusion, was allowed to say:

In explanation, I will state that I am not a duellist, and I did not mean that sort of thing. But I meant to say that the Senator from Rhode Island must make a retraction as full as the assertion, [order.] I said that I shall have that satisfaction outside of this chamber in some way.

The Senate rejected two of the twelve Quakers whom the President nominated as Indian agents.

The Senate adjourned sine die at half past one to-day.

In contradiction of the report that Mr. Sprague left town early this morning, and that Abbott was absent from his usual haunts, it is known that Sprague has been at home all the morning, but has not heard from Abbott.

The present solution of the Sprague-Abbott affair seems to be that Sprague is awaiting Abbott's demand to take back the puppy, and Abbott waiting Sprague's demand to take back the words "Skulked from the Senate." No fight in sight.

A PRIZE FIGHT NEAR RICHMOND.

New Hotel in Columbia, S. C.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 25.—The registrars have ceased indicating color on their lists. Negroes are registering largely; the whites as a mass seem indifferent. The registrars rejected the application of several black and white females to have their names registered.

A steamer snagged in the Missouri river thirty miles above St. Croix, while sinking, exploded. Fifty persons are missing. [illegible] is dead.

Andrew Johnson's son Robert is dead.

Washington, April 26.—The Herald's London special says it is rumored that the British Government will adopt a bold Cuban policy, according belligerent rights to the insurgents, and by assistance in securing the independence of the island, thus preventing its absorption by the United States, and maintaining consistency regarding the confederacy.

Madrid dispatches report a great popular demonstration there in favor of a republic. It is rumored that Serano and Prim are at variance.

FROM CUBA.

Havana, April 26.—It is rumored that the sudden departure of the frigate Gerona was intended to intercept the filibusters.

FROM MOBILE.

Mobile, April 26.—The steamer St. Elmo, belonging to the Montgomery and Mobile railroad, on its way to the city this morning, exploded her boilers. John Clay, steward, was blown overboard and drowned. Six other officers were seriously burned and bruised. No passengers hurt. The boat is being towed to the city.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 26.—Senators Sherman, Pool and Sumner have succeeded in engineering a reconciliation between Senators Abbott and Sprague.

Sprague writes to Abbott that "He wrote the paragraph which gave him offence before he spoke." Whereupon Abbott writes to Sprague; "My allusions to you in the Senate was founded on a misconception. I ask you to consider it unsaid."

A prize fight took place this morning twelve mile from Richmond on York River railroad, between Charlie Doherty (Irishman) and Tom Hammond (Englishman,) $300 a side; eighty-six rounds were fought in two hours and ten minutes. Both men badly punished. Doherty won the fight.

Bible Meeting.

All persons who feel any interest in the dissemination of the Holy Scriptures, are most earnestly invited to attend a meeting of the Union Bible Society, to be held at the Presbyterian Church in this place, on 3rd Sabbath in May, at 11, A. M.

Business of interest and importance will be brought before the meeting, and a full attendance of the community is warmly solicited. Come on brethren, and assist in the benovolent work of dispensing the Bread of Life to scores of needy souls in your own County.

☞Persons visiting Rome should not fail to see Veal's Jewelry Store.

☞The wonderful properties of the Pyrafuge is showing itself daily in the blooming cheeks of our former emaciated citizens, all of whom declare that until they tried this great chill and fever expeller, they knew not what it was to be clear, even for a few days, of the scourge of our southern country; but thanks to science and our enterprising townsman, we need no longer fear this great scourge, and we can now go on our way rejoicing that at last a conqueror is at our hands which will instantly expel from our system chills and fever, dumb ague, and those diseases incidental to malarious climates. Keep a bottle of the Pyrafuge in the house, and as soon as the chill or fever is felt commence taking it, and at once you are really making a lasting and permanent cure.

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Wakeness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY, and FITS, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞Price, in sealed envelope, only 6 cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstartes from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consquences of self-abs may be radically cured without the dangerous of inturnal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

POETRY.

Signs of Spring.

BY MRS. EMILY J. BUGBEE.

Do you feel the west wind
Coming o'er the hill?
Can you hear the singing
Of the unbound rill?

In the sunlight glancing,
See the bluebird's wing;
At your feet the violet,
Telling it is Spring.

All around is music,
In the earth and air;
Bloom and beauty stealing
Round us everywhere.

Soon the lilac's perfume,
And the apple bloom,
Will be sweetly filling
All your open room.

And the wild wood flowers,
'Mong the mosses green,
By the old, brown rootlets,
Peeping will be seen.

Come ye little children,
Nature calls to you;
Softest airs are wooing,
And the sky is blue.

Wander forth in gladness;
Through the woodland ways;
Gather all the glory
Of your childhood Mays.

Let Dame Nature take you
To her kindly arms,
Shedding o'er your spirit
All her wondrous charms.

For the years are coming,
When the wakening spring,
Less of bounding freedom,
To your steps will bring.

I'm Still a Friend to You.

[From Peters' Musical Monthly for April]

Ah, years have come and gone, dear Tom,
The past seems like a dream,
Since you and I together met,
Down by the winding stream;
When hand in hand we promised, Tom,
To each we would be true;
Old Time has made no change in me,
I'm still a friend to you.

How often have I wept, dear Tom,
When thinking o'er the joys,
The happy scenes of long ago,
When you and I were boys;
But now I'm told you're very poor;
And your days in life are few,
It gives me joy to meet you, Tom,
I'm still a friend to you.

Old friendship often withers, Tom
Whene'er a man grows poor,
The rich and proud forget "old friends."
And know them then no more.
But keep that honest heart of yours,
We'll make old friendship new;
I care not what the world may say,
I'm still a friend to you.

CHORUS.

I'm still a friend to you, dear Tom,
Alas! there is but few,
Have ever been as true and kind
As I have been to you.

SOMEBODY.

My heart is waiting for somebody;
Somebody, where can he be?
Somewhere on earth he is waiting,
Waiting and watching for me.

My heart shall be faithful and true, then
To that somebody, wherever he be,
Yes my heart is locked firmly and fast,
But there's some one possessing the key.

How shall I know who's the somebody?
My heart will tell faithful and true;
You wonder who can be the somebody!
Well, somebody, darling, is you.

The Beggar Woman of Locarno.

At the foot of the Alps, near Locarno, was an old castle belonging to the Marquis of Como, the ruins of which are still visable to the traveler, as he comes from St. Gothard—a castle with lofty and roomy apartments, high towers and narrow windows. In one of these rooms an old sick woman was deposited upon some straw, which had been shaken down for her by the housekeeper of the Marquis, who had found her begging before the gate. The Marquis, who was accustomed to go into this room on his return from hunting, to lay aside his gun, ordered the poor wretch to get up immediately out of her corner, and be gone.

The creature arose, but slipping with her crutch upon the smooth floor, she fell, and injurd her back so much, that it was with great difficulty she got up; and moving across the room as she had been desired, groaning and crying sadly, sank down behind the chimney. After a while she rose again, dragged herself painfully out of the castle, and died neglected in the adjacent village.

Several years afterwards, when the circumstances of the Marquis had been much reduced by war and the failure of his crop, a Florentine gentleman visited the castle with the intention of purchasing it, in consequence of the beauty of the situation. The Marquis, who was very anxious to have the bargain concluded, gave his wife directions to lodge the stranger in the same upper room in which the old woman had died, it having, in the meantime, been very handsomely fitted up; but, to their consternation, in the middle of the night, the stranger entered their own room, pale and agitated, protesting loudly that the chamber was haunted by some invisible being—for that he had heard somthing rise in the corner, as if it had been lying among straw, move over the chamber with slow and tottering steps, and sink down, groaning and crying near the chimney.

The Marquis, terrified, though he scarcely knew why, endeavored to put a fair face upon the matter, and to laugh off the fears of his visitor, telling him he would rise himself, and spend the rest of the night with him in his room: but the stranger begged that he would rather allow him to occupy a couch in the adjoining room; & as soon as the morning broke, he saddled his horse, took his leave, and departed. This occurrence, which occasioned much notice, made so unpleasant an impresson upon intending purchasers, that not another inquiry was made; at last, even the servants in the house becoming possessed with a notion that there was sonthing dreadful in the affair, the Marquis, with the view of setting the report to rest, determined to investigate the matter himself next night. Accordingly, in the twilight, he caused his bed to be brought into the apartment, and waited, without sleeping, the approach of midnight. But what was his consternation, when, on the stroke of midnight, he actually heard some inconceivable noise in the apartment, as if some person had risen up from among straw, which rustled beneath them, walked slowly over the floor, and sank, sighing and groaning behind the chimney?

When he came down the next morning, the marchioness asked him how the investigation had gone on; and he, after gazing about him with wondering glances, and bolting the door, told her that the story of the chamber's being haunted was true. She was terrified out of her senses; but begged him, before making any public disclosures, once more to make the experiment coolly in her company. Accompanied by a trusty servant, they accordingly repeated their visit next night, and again heard, as the Marquis had done before, the same ghostly and inconceivable noise; and nothing but the anxious wish to get rid of the castle, cost what it would, enabled them to suppress their terrors in the presence of the servant, and to ascribe the sound to some accidental cause.

On the evening of the third day when both determined to probe the matter to the bottom, were ascending with beating hearts the stairs leading to the stranger's apartment, it chanced that the house-dog who had been let loose from the chain, was lying directly before the door of the room; and willing, perhaps, to have the company of any other living thing in the mysterious apartment, they took the dog into the room along with them. The husband and wife seated themselves on the couch—the Marquis with his sword and pistols beside him; and while they endevored, the best way they could to amuse themselves with conversation, the dog, cowering down at their feet, fell asleep; Again, with the stroke of midnight, the noise was renewed: something, though what they could not discover, raised itself, as if with crutches, in the corner; the straw rustled as before. At the sound of the first footfall, the dog awake, roused itself, pricked up its ears, and growling and barking, as if some person was advancind towards him, retreated in the direction of the chimney. At this sight, the Marchioness rushed out of the room, her hair standing on end; and while the Marquis seized his sword, exclaimed "Who is there?" and receiving no answer, thrust like a madman in all directions, she hastily packed up a few articles of dress, and made the best of her way towards the town. Scarcely, however, had she proceeded a few steps, when she discoved that the castle was on fire. The Marquis had in his distraction, overturned the tapers, and the room was instantly in flames. Every effort was made to save the unhappy nobleman, but in vain; he perished in the utmost torture; and his bones, as the traveler may be aware, still lie where collected by the neighboring peasants—in the center of the apartment from which he had expelled the beggar woman of Locarno.

Little Johnny's Revenge.

Little Johny was a very naughty little boy. He was precociously profane, and always in mischief, and he made it a point to display more than usual eccentricities when his ma had company. One day Captain Gordon was to take tea with little Johnny's ma, and as she was a young widow, and he a young widower, it is natural to suppose that she would be anxious that little Johnny should not do or say anything naughty during the captain's visit. So his ma told little Johnny if he would be a very good little boy, and behave himself very well, he should sit at table next the captain. Now, there were two things in this world which little Johnny was fond of. One was a pet toad, which he tamed and fed, and made a play fellow of; and the other was to listen to Captain Gordon's sea yearns, so he promised to be very good.

Tea time arrived, and little Johnny came to the table with his pet toad inside his inner linen garment, for he was not to be trusted with pockets. The widow talked and smiled, and threw bright glances at the captain, and was evidently much pleased with the captain's company, and little Johnny's good behavior. She poured out for the captain a very large cup of very strong and very hot tea, and the cup stood on the table between little Johnny and the caytain. Little Johny was quiet and decorous for a long time, but presently he began to wiggle and squirm around on his chair, and to kick and become uneasy generally. Then he inserted his hand into the inside linen garment above referred to, and drew forth the pet toad, by the hind legs. Holding it over the captain's cup, he plunged its head into the hot tea, exclaiming:

"There, you gol darned dodrabit bull-frog; I'll learn you to tickle little Johnny's ribs when he's trying to be a good little boy!"

The captain drank no tea that evening.

Eleven States—Kansas, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Maine, South Carolina, Arkansas and Pennsylvania—have ratified the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution. Georgia and Delaware have rejected it.

Los Angelos, California, is described as a Paradise. "The alfala-clover is knee-deep; innumerable birds float on the self-made music of the flowerful air; during the rainless summers rich grape vineyards nature. the dreamy land is fanned with ocean zephyrs, and the horizon is filled with heavenly quiet."

London covers 122 square miles, contains 400,000 dwellings, with an average of eight persons to each, and has a population of nearly 3,200,000.

At the last grand ball at Vienna, the Empress of Austria appeared in a new dress composed of the green and golden wings of South American beetles, sown with gold thread on a tissue of white silk. A splendid suite of diamond and emerald completed this costume.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

Beast Butler Made Respectable.

One more brutish than the Beast is found in the person of Bre't Major Laley, 5th U. S. Cavalry.

Butler strangled his Victims after the forms of Law—Maley tortures his by piece meals.

He hangs awhile, then whips, then drags behind a wagon, until his Victim is exhausted.

The unfortunate citizen who is thus cruelly and brutally treated is only suspected of knowing who it was that stole two horses from the brutish Maley.

No hearing is allowed—no witness summoned—no investigation had.

An humble citizen is taken from his bed at 12 o'clock at night by armed Soldiery, placed upon his own mule and pressed beyond the limits of the County within which the supposed offense is committed

A United States Marshal demands the surrender of the citizen

His demand is disregarded.
The victim of tyranny is whipped on his bare back with hickory withs.

His cries for mercy meet no response, but curses and increased persecution.

Where is the boasted promises of the supporters of Gen. Grant, that we should "have peace."

"Vae Victis"—"Woe to the vanquished."

Radical peace to the South, is such peace as the wolf gives to the fold. Our boasted liberty and form of government to the contrary, we are now living under the lugest and most merciless despotism on the face of the earth. Acts are daily perpetrated by subalterns in every portion of the South, that the Czar of Russia would not dare do, even in Poland, and so revolting in detail, that King Theodore himself would hesitate in their commission. It is useless for us to go into the details of the outrage provoking these expressions. The tale is told in the heading, and it is the old, old story of wrong and oppression reiterated. It is useless to say too, that no one believes the man so severely punished, to have had the remotest connection with the stealing of the horses which the soldiers claim to have lost. His most probable offense was that he was a good Confederate soldier during the war, and an ardent hater of radicalism after the war.

This is the same case that we partially reported last week. It was then stated that he was probably drowned, but it seems the commander deceived the U. S. Marshal, and reserved his victim for further torture. The facts are briefly these, as far as we can learn.

The soldiers, while camped at Martin Hale's lost two horses. They suspected or pretended to suspect Mr. Roberts of the crime, although he lived seven miles distant, and was found quietly asleep at home when arrested. They at once arrested him, and next morning took him along with them on the march, and then his sufferings commenced. He either did not know, or would tell nothing of the horses, and they hung him, as the commander himself expressed to the U. S. Marshal, "until he was black in the face." Farther on they again hung him, so citizens report before reaching Gadsden.—When in Gadsden the nerves of the poor man were so unstrung that he did not know for some time his most intimate friends. After leaving the town the U. S. Marshal was sent for, and with the deputy Sheriff and others went in pursuit. On overtaking the command, they were informed that the man had escaped at the last creek, which led to supposition that he was there murdered. Afterwards, near Walnut Grove, citizens, report, he was again hung and whipped until his cries rang throughout the camp. Farther on, citizens report, he was tied behind a wagon and compelled to follow on foot. These repeated confirmations of gross outrage continuing to come in with every arrival, the Masonic fraternity at last made up a purse and started a lawyer (Mr. Seales) to head off the command and sue out a writ of habeas corpus.—This lawyer is now in Huntsville, laying the matter before Col. Ritter there, who, says the Huntsville Advocate, will and ought to investigate it. Mr. Roberts has at last been released, or made his escape; and parties now in town who staid night before last at the house of a neighbor of his, report that his mind is almost destroyed by the agony of his situation the past few days.

Certain it is, even if he was released, that no greater indignity has ever been practiced upon a citizen, and no clearer exemplification of the complete tyranny now reigning in the South, has ever occurred in this vicinity.

It makes the blood boil to read of such injustice, and the fingers tingle to pull trigger again on our oppressors.

Gadsden Times.

From the Newburyport, Mass., Herald.

THE CONFLICT OF RACES —WHAT A RADICAL EDITOR SAYS OF IT.

Races of men are always in conflict whenever they come together. There can be no mixture. That is not in the order of nature. If, as some believe, all the races are of a common origin, that origin must have been so many millions of years back that to us it is as though they never had been one. Two of the races show no marks of progress, and these two are perhaps the oldest—the African and the Australian. No explorations of Africa or Australia have discovered any evidences of a social, or civil condition among those people above what they are now. This is not so with any other race, No other seems to have been created and destined to live to the end barbarians, except where a higher race not only lifts them up, but every moment sustains them above that level. With the Indians we find the remains of a better condition enjoyed by them long before the white man came to their country. They reached the same, and had subsided before we knew them. The Mongolians, too, of Eastern Asia, though they have made no progress in thousands of years, yet have a civilization of their own, which, in some respects, will bear a favorable comparison with our own.

In a conflict of races—as we say, it always comes when two are in competition, the superior race overcomes and roots out the inferior, unless the former are so weak in numbers as to have no chance of success. Such is the case in the West Indies, where the whites are so few that they may eventually be driven out, as they have from St. Domingo, unless arbitrary power restrains the inferior, But where they have any chance the superiors—superior in mind, though they may nothe physically—will win the day if equal advantages may be given. With the inferior, their language, their blood, their features, and their cast of mind will disappear—In Afric, the negro type, within the meutory of man, has not extended north of the great desert, where the Arabs and the Moors prevail. They have been brought there as slaves, and been brought there as captives in war, but they have never mixed with the people to adulterate the blood or gain the ascendency by millibers. So it has been in the South of Europe. The Moors at one time were very numerous in Spain and highly civilized, but in the conflict with the Caucasians they were destroyed or exiled.

In Italy the Africans that were brought to Rome during the long years of Roman triumps, all disappeared. How numerous they were have no means of ascertaining, but it is estimated that no less than a million of negroes were brought there and mixed with the people; but to-day the Italian shows not the slightest taint of African blood. The African has been absorbed in the main stock, and, as in taking food into the stomach, what would not assimulate has been rejected and cast out.

It is the same in Egypt. There from the carliest ages the African has been a slave, and though a few mulattoes are found there, the greater part of the people show no traces of African blood. It will be the same in this country. There may be swamp lands in Louisiana, Florida, or other States, which will be deserted by whites, in which the negro may thrive; but in these sections where the races will be in competition, though the African may have the majority now, they will gradually disappear. When they were slaves they were kept seperate, and the care of the white man was to have them increase; but the more they mix with the whites the fewer they will become, and the less the white is bound to do for them the quicker they will sink. So we see that in all the Northern States they have rapidly disappeared, and the bleaching progress gradually works South. Fifty years ago Massachusetts had as many blacks as New York now has; and one hundred years hence Virginia will have no more than New York has to-day. It is the order of Providence—the law of God, that the higher shall overcome the lower, the superior occupy where the inferior have been; otherwise there would be no progress.

EARTHQUAKES.—The earliest period of these visitations of which history makes record was in the year A. D. 17, when twelve cities in Asia were destroyed. Herculaneum was destroyed in 79. Antioch in 112. One hundred and fifty cities were swallowed up in the kingdom of Macedonia in the year 557. In 894, several cities in Europe were engulfed.—Several villages of the Cimbri were destroyed in 417. Antioch was again destroyed in 528, and 4,800 people perished. In Palestine and Syria thousands were killed in 749. In 867 1,500 houses and 90 towers were thrown down. From 1043 to 1110, we find England constantly visited by earthquakes, and a great famine followed that of 1090. The most destructive earthquake that ever visited England took place in 1318. In 1456, 50,000 were destroyed at Naples. Port Royal, in Jamaica, was sunk in 1692, and 3,000 people perished. Messina, in Sicily, was overturned in an instant, and 18,000 lives were destroyed, the loss in the entire island being 60,000. In 1735 Ireland was visited by one of these horrors, which destroyed 5 churches and 500 houses. In 1746 Lima was destroyed and 5,000 persons perished. At the same date Calla suffered, and 5,000 perished there. In 1754, Cairo in Egypt was swallowed up, with 40,000 people. Lisbon, in Spain, was partially destroyed in 1755; whole streets were swallowed up, and 50,000 people perished.

In the same year Quito, in Peru, was destroyed, and earthquakes that year were of terrible violence. St. Ubes, in Spain, was engulfed, and the island of Madeira was split in two. In 1797, the whole country between Santa Fe and Panama was destroyed, and over 40,000 perished. History make record of over a thousand earth quakes within the period we have gone over, all of them more or less destructive of life and property.

☞Josh Billings was asked, "How fast does sound travel?" and his idea is it depends a good deal upon the noise you are talking about. "The sound of a tin dinner horn for instance, travels a half mile in a second, while an invitation to get up in the morning i hav known to be 3 quarters of an hour going up 2 pair uv stairs, and then not hev strength enough to be heard.

TASSO'S LOVE FOR LEONORA.

BY J. GARLAND HARDWICH.

Tasso, the author of Jerusalem Delivered," was as aimable in character as he was transcendent in genius. Rarely do we find in the annals of truth, or fiction anything more tender and touching, more hopeless and unfortunate, than the love which existed betweeii him and Leonora, the youngest sister of the Duke of Ferrara. Owing to her exalted birth, and the great difference in their fortunes in life, they never dared to breath their love. The vengeance of the inexorable Duke would have fallen mercilessly upon them had he known their passion. Indeed, from merely suspecting it, he confined for seven years, the gifted Tasso—by this piece of cruelty and wrong, gaining everlasting infinity.

The cell in which Tasso was imprisoned yet stands to excite in the mind of the musing traveler many sad reflections on the singularly unfortunate career of Italy's most admirable poet, "who learned in suffering what he taught in song."

I could linger near thee ever,
Though I might not dare to speak;
I could view with endless raptures,
Though I might not kiss thy cheek.

Eyes that beam with light from Heaven,
Light so pure, so soft and warm,
Ne'er before illumed my pathway
Through this world of calm and storm.

Smiles so sweet, or so endearing,
From such lips I never drew;
Words as thine so kind and cheering,
Ah, I've had—how few, how few!

In this greateful bosom, lady,
Dwells the tender thought; concealed
From the eye of all but heaven—
Only to thyself revealed.

In this breast arise fond longings,
I to none but thee can tell;—
Longings that a sinless angel
From his breast would not expel:

Sighs, that heave no guilty sorrow
Upward from a burdened soul,
Rise because I may not tell thee
Truths that live beyond control:

Tears, that flow from no offending
Of my soul against high Heaven—
Flow from fear that, if I tell thee,
From thy side I may be driven:

Tears of misinterpretation
By a cruel, callous world—
Tears of falsehood's poisoned arrows,
Often at the purest hureld;—

These have all relieved or stayed me,
Yet I look into thine eyes,
And the blissful revelation
To escape my bosom tries.

"Can that soul of guileless honor
Not be trusted?" I exclaim,
I'll make clear mine innocency,
And from her I'll fear no blame.

Then in pity hear the pleading
Of a soul for all of bliss
That humanity can ever
Taste in world so false as this.

Do not hate me that beside thee
In thine ear I'd pour the tale;
Do not check my heart's fond yearnings,
Though its sighs may not avail.

Let me look into those windows
Of a soul—oh, heav'n, how dear!
Let me tell thee that I love thee,
Let me tell thee without fear.

Let me for one fleeting moment
Hold thy tender hand in mine
Let me hear thee softly whisper
"I am thine, forever thine

Then I'll laugh at hate and vengeance,
Thinking them requited all,
By the sweetest moment's bliss that Man has tasted since his fall.

Woman's Work.

A good many women will endorse the following from the pen of Thomas K. Beecher: "I declare that the woman who is able to systemize and carry on smoothly the work of an ordinary family, illustrates higher sagacity than is called for by seven-eighths of the taskes done by men. Men take one trade, and work at it; a monther's and housekeeper's work requires a touch from all trades. A man has his work horse, and his definite tasks; a woman has work at all hours, and incessant confusion of task. Let any man do a woman's work for a single day—wash and dress the children, having provided their clothes the night before; see that breakfast is under way to suit a fault-finding husband; the wash-boilor on with water for the wash, and the clothes assorted for the washing; the dish water heating, and the luncheon brought out for the school goers; a nice dinner in the good man's pail; the beds made after proper airing; the father's convenince exactly hit for family prayers; the systematic sweeping of the house at least once a week, and of living rooms once to three times a day, according to the number of men to bring in the mud; the actual washing and outhanging of clothes; the drying, sprinkling and folding, and to-morrow the ironing of the same; the sorting and mending of them, and provsion for the new ere the old give out; the making of bread three times a week with cake and pies interpolated judiciously; pickles, preserves and cellar stores to be laid in, and not forgotten in their season; children's manners to be attended to; company to be entertained; her own person to be tidied up to plea e his eye, the tired him to be welcomed, and waited on by the no less tired her, and the home made cheerful; his trowsers to be patched after he goes to bed, so he can put them on in the morning; the children to be helped about their lessons, and reminded not to forget their Sunday school lesson: the shopping and marketing to be done for the household; house repairs to be attended to, and matters in general kept straight about home. Meanwhile, 'papa must not be hindered about his work, because his work brings in the money. Yes, man's work does not so tax the head and heart and hands as woman's work does."

Men Wanted

THE great want of this age is men. Men who are not for sale. Men who are honest; sound from center to circumference, true to the hart's core. Men who will condemn wrong in friend or foe, in themselves as well as others. Men whose consciences are as steady as the needle to the pole. Men who will stand for the right if the heavens totter and the earth reels. Men who can tell the truth, and look the world and the devil right in the eye. Men that neither brag nor run. Men that neither flag nor flinch. Men who can have courage without shouting to it. Men in whom the courage of everlasting life runs still, deep, and strong. Men who do not cry nor cause their voices to be heard on the streets, but who will not fail nor be discouraged till judgment be set in the earth. Men who know their message and tell it. Men who know their place and fill them. Men who know their own business. Men who will not lie. Men who are not too lazy to work, nor too proud to be poor. Men who are willing to eat what they have earned, and wear what they have paid for.

Yamoka, Or Desicated Sweet Potato.

Whilst in Vicksburg, last week Mrs. C. K. Marshall sent us a Sweet Potato Custard, made of kiln dried potatoes which have been preserved since 1867. Several intelligent gentlemen were invited to tea with us, and they all joined in pronouncing the Yamoka Custard very delicious fully equal to that made from the fresh potato. Rev. C. K. Marshall is the inventor and patentee of the process for euting and drying this delicious vegetble, and if the results meet his expectations his name will become a household world throughout the sweet potato regions of Southwest Mississippi. He has been making experiment and perfecting machinery for several years past, and now has a dry house in operation at Amite. La., and is having a great many experimen's made by scientific gentlmen in New York and Washington City. He thinks an outlay from two to three hundred dollars will supply all the necessary apparatus to cut and dry five hundred bushels per day, and says it can be removed from one neighborhood to another at a very trifling expense, thus enabling one man to do all the cuting and drying for the whole country.

It only requirs about five hours to dry a kiln: the bulk is reduced about two-thirds and a bushel when dried weighs from fourteen to sixteen pounds. Scientific men have decided that coffee made out of mixture of Yamoka and pure coffee—say two parts Yamoka and one of coffee—is decidedly more healthy, and nutritious and delicately flavord than that made from all coffee. For pies or custards it is fully equal to raw potato. For batter cakes or puddings it is excellent when ground into flour. Horses love it, and will fatten on it faster than on corn. In short, the potato is fully as good for all purposes when dried by this process, as when in its natural state, and the advantages of the dried are numerous.

The great drawback to raising potatoes in this section has been the want of a market, and the difficulty of keeping them from rotting. With this process they can be dried as fast as they are taken from the ground, and a team that would haul fifty bushels to market in the raw state would haul two hundred bushels in the desicated state. Heretofore we have had no market for our potatoes, because the weather gets too cold by the time they are dry enough to ship North. When dried they can be shipped to any part of the world, at a comparatively trifling cost, and will soon become an important article of food for the people of the Northern States. But the great demand for the Yamoka will be from the navies of the world. To prevent scurvey they are compelled to have vegetables to eat, and the dried potato will answer the purposes precisely.

This invention will be worth millions of dollars to the people of the piney woods where sweet potatoes grow spontaneously. Land that will not make over ten bushels of corn or a third of a bale of cotton to the acre, will produce from 150 to 200 bushels of sweet potatoes. But let us suppose that it will only produce 100 bushels per acre, and that the dried article will only sell for ten cents per pound—with 15 pounds to the bushel. That would amount to $150 per acre, or about as much as fifteen acres in corn. When ever the process is fully perfected, and a market created for the dried potato, our piney woods land will be worth more than the river bottoms.

Our Washington dispatches look warlike. Grant, it seems, has given out that a session of Congress will be called within sixty days with a view to force the Cuba business. It It is also distinctly alleged that he will not enforce the neutrality laws, but will allow the filibustering expeditions, now fitting out in New York and New Orleans to leave our shores. In addition to Cuba, the President and his personal friends are determined to make an issue with England on the Alabama claims, with a view, finally to compromise by taking Canada as an offset. There is a prospects of stirring times ahed—[N. Y. World, 27th inst.

EDITORIAL CALL.—We had the pleasure of a visit in our office last Tuesday evening by Dr. Mosley, one of the Editors and Proprietors of the Mountain Home of Talladega, and rising Star of Oxford. The Dr. seemed in fine health and spirits, and much encouraged by the prospect of the business success of his justly popular, interesting and valuable papers.

Public Meeting.

The Democracy of Calhoun County are requested to meet at Jacksonville, on Monday next, the 10th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of electing delegates to the District Convention, which will meet at some central point on the 2nd Monday in June next.

REAPERS AND MOWERS.—The attention of all persons who may need these very valuable labor-saving and grain-saving machines, is invited to the advertisement of the "Excelsior Reaper and Mower," in to-day's paper. There is no doubt but these are the best now in use. They can be had at Manufacturer's prices of Messrs. Privett & Dean, of Jacksonville, or W. L. Wadsworth, Rome, Ga.

STORMS & FLOODS.—Our exchange papers contain many accounts of heavy rain and hail storms, and tornadoes, by which much damage has been done to houses, fences, mills, bridges, &c. and the overflow of bottom lands, destroying crops of cotton, corn and wheat. These floods and storms extended through the Northern and Middle States, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and Middle Mississippi.

We think the calculations of a large cotton crop this year, have all been premature and mistaken, from at least three principal causes—the disorganized condition of the labor system, the unusually wet, cold and backward Spring, and the overflowing of bottom lands when too late to re-plant.

TALLADEGA MARBLE.—The attention of all persons who desire to procure any description of articles manufactured of Marble, is invited to the advertisement of Mr. J. A. Bergin, who has recently purchased the Talladega Marble works, and taken hold of the business with energy and efficiency. Mr. B. has had long experience in the business, promises to give satisfaction in the style of work, and at reasonable prices. The Talladega Marble has long been known as the finest and most beautiful in the country; and the fact that Marble is a heavy and expensive article of transportation, aside from every other consideration, will make it a matter of economy for people in this section to patronize these works.

RABBIT TOWN ROAD.—We hear complaints of late of the wretched and almost impassable condition of the Rabbit Town Road, from this side of the mountain to Town. Some seven or eight hundred dollars have been expended, and an excellent road made from the foot of the mountain on this side to the top. This expenditure will be almost a waste and useless, unless the road is finished to Town. Besides, the citizens on the other side of the mountain have pleged themselves to make the road on that side equally good, and are willing and waiting to do so, so soon as finished on this side, but very correctly conclude that it would be labor thrown away until that is done. Will not the Town Council, or some of our prominent citizens take this matter into consideration and act upon it immediately.

☞If you want a nice article of Chewing Tobacco, call at Woodward's corner. It is very cheap too in comparison with the quality.

THE POST OFFICE.—Since the appointment of Mr. W. C. Wynn, Post Master at this place the office has been removed back to the Court-house, and very neatly and conveniently arranged. The office will be kept open every day in the week, except Sunday, from 6 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night, which will be a great convenience to the public. On Sundays it will be kept open one hour in the forenoon and one hour and a half in the afternoon. Mr. W. thus far makes a very correct and efficient P. M.

☞President Grant and Gen. R. E. Lee, have lately had a friendly personal interview of several hours, at the solicitation of the former, which we hope is an omen for good—"Let us have peace."

The Jacksonville Republican.

This paper came out yesterday in an entire new dress, which gives it a very handsome appearance. The Republican shows evidences of industry and energy on the part of its proprietor, which should and we doubt not will be, properly appreciated and rewarded by the people of the the mountain counties.—Selma Times.

PROSPERITY.—The Jacksonville Republican made its appearance on the 1st in a new dress. The Republican is one of the oldest papers in the State, now in its thirty-third year, and has ever commanded the respects and esteem of the people of the section of country in which it is published. No better evidence of the popularity of Mr. Grant and his paper could be given than the bright, beautiful appearance with which the Republican greeted its patrons on the 1st. Long live and prosper our old confrere.

The Constitution provides that any person may become a member, by subscribing his name to the Constitution, and paying into the treatury $2 00, and $2 00 annually thereafter—and all present but two or three subscribed and paid.

The Society having thus fully organized, upon a basis thought to be practicable and permanent, it remains to be seen what results will follow, and how many public spirited men will unite in this enterprize. Will not every citizen of Jacksonville, and every Farmer of Calhoun County, come forward to the rescue of our farming interest? Your money and time will not be mis-spent—it will increase your income largely, and if you have not the money to start on, just tax your allowance for spirits and tobacco one tythe, for a quarter or half year, and you will have left ample funds to start on. Surely you do not feel much interest in the agriculture of your country, (all our interests, secular and religious, state and domestic rest upon this) if you cannot spare $2 per annum, and one day, three or four times a year, to promote its success; and that too, when it gives such assurance that you will be personally amply rewarded for this.

The first act of the society after being fully organized, was to order one dozen Nos. of Agricultural papers for distribution amongst those who desire to improve in the science of farming, horticulture, fruit growing and stock-raising. These papers will soon be received.

The ship is launched upon a smooth sea, with favorable breeze, and is sailing under the farmers' proud banner, inscribed Progress and Independence.

Preamble and Constitution

OF THE

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY OF CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA.

We, the undersigned, in order to improve Agriculture, by attracting the attention, eliciting the views, and combining the efforts of the individuals composing the agricultural community of Calhoun County; and aiming at the development of the resources of the soil, so as to promote the prosperity of all concerned in its culture, do hereby form ourselves into a society, and for its government adopt the following Constitution:

ART. 1st. This society shall be styled the Agricultural Society of Calhoun Co.

ART. 2d. The objects of the society shall be, to discover new and hidden resources of fertility, to facilitate the collection of manures generally, and designate the best mode of their application to the different varieties of cultivation. To procure and improve the implements of husbandry; to improve the style of rural architecture; to improve the breed of domestic animals, devise means for destroying worms and insects which are injurious to husbandry; to collect such foreign and domestic trees, shrubs, vines, plants, seeds and grains, as may be deemed necessary or useful for subsistence, ornament or comfort; for live fences, fruit or timber; and to make the necessary experiments as to the best rotations of crops, growth and adaptotion to our climate of different kinds of growth and their culture; to devise if possible, new and profitable objects of commerce, from the products either of the field, the forest, or the bowels of the earth—and whatever else shall tend to improve the agricultural and rural economy of the country; and the better to effect the above objects, and from which the society will never depart, it shall hold annual and special meetings; shall pass all rules and by-laws for its proper government, and for the promotion of the ends of the society; and so soon as its funds are sufficient for that purpose, shall purchase a suitable piece of Land for a Fair Ground and erect suitable buildings thereon.—Shall purchase or procure cabinet collections of implements, libraries & other aids to the general purposes of the society.

ART. 3. Any person may become a member of this society, who will subscribe his name to the Constitution, or signify by letter his wish to become a member, and who shall pay into the hands of the Treasurer the sum of two dollars, and at each annual meeting thereafter the sum of two dollars, except those who may be members for life. Any person who will at any time pay into the hands of the Treasurer twenty dollars, shall be a member for life. Each member shall remain such, until he signify his intention to withdraw, at any annual meeting, when upon the payment of all arrearages, if any be due he may cease to be a member.

ART. 4th.—Any member, on being proposed at a meeting of the society may be elected at the next annual meeting, an honorary member for life, by ballot, a majority of the members present voting therefor.

ART. 5th The meetings of this society shall be held at Jacksonville, annually, on the second Thursday of October in each year, and special meetings on the first Monday of December, Februrary, April, June and August; and meetings may be called by the President of the society at such other times as he may deem necessary.

ART. 6th. The society shall have a President, one Vice President from each precinct in said county, a Corresponding Secretary, a Recording Secretary and Treasurer, to be elected by ballot at each annual meeting, by a majority of the members present, who shall continue in office until a new election shall be made. They shall be styled the Board of Managers of the Calhoun County Agricultural Society; any five of whom, with the President, or with such Vice President as he may appoint in writing, shall constitute a quorum to do business. The Board shall possess all the Executive powers of the Society, except such as are specially assigned by this constitution, and shall apply and disburse all moneys appropriated by the Society, according to the directions of the Society if any be given; but if no direction be given, then according to their own discretion and judgment; and shall report at each annual meeting a full statement of their proceedings during the preceding year. The Board shall have power to fill all vacancies occurring in the body, and shall meet regularly on the first Monday in each month, and also at any other time they may designate. It shall be their duty to propose at the annual meeting of the society, any alteration in the constitution which they may deem expedient.

ART. 7th. The President, Vice President, Secretaries and Treasurer, shall be the officers equally of the Society and of the Board.

ART. 8th. This constitution may be altered at the annual meetings of the Society; but no alteration shall be made, unless it shall first have been recommended by the Board of Managers, and then sanctioned by the votes of two-thirds of the members present; but the quorum to transact the ordinary business of the Society, shall consist of not less than ten members, including the officers who may be present.

New Patent Plow.

We examined on Thursday last on the Hotel Porch of W. B. Wynn, a new and splendid plow, invented and patented by Gabriel Utley. It was pronounced by many good judges, the best for our climate and soil of any ever invented.

We understand a number of our citizens have purchased the patent for the State, and will shortly make arrangements for their manufacture and sale.

Further description and particulars next week.

☞See advertisement of Mrs. M. E. Rowland, who has just received an assortment of beutiful and fashionable Ladies and Misses Hats and other fine articles.

The special Washington reporter of the New York World says that the Republican Senators who are already known to be in unconcealed antagonism to the President are Brownlow, Schurz, Sprague, Fowler and Ross; that the two first named, who are the fiercest in their denunciations, are dissatisfied because of the distribution of offices in their respective States, and that the others are believed not to be in harmony with the prospective policy of the Administration.—This writer adds: "Very few Senators, in truth, are with the President. These, however, have openly broke with him.—The departure of others is only a question of time, and of very short time."

It was latly stated that Gen. Grant is a Uneversalist, but this is now denied. He believes that all the Grants and Dents will be saved, but not the whole human race.

SPIRITS VS. WATER—The "oldest inhabitant" has been reading a series of articles on the the adulteration of liquors, and has arrived at a somewhat singlar conclusion. The analysis of those liquors showed an average of about sixty-five parts of water to thirty-five of spirits. They don't give the spirits a fair chance," said the aged beachamal; "They'll keep on fooling with water till it depopulates the earth again."

☞Reader, if you have an advirtisment running through our own or any other good paper, you have tens of thousands of servants out at work for you whether you wake or sleep whether you be sick or well. Bible Meeting.

All persons who feel any interest in the dissemination of the Holy Scriptures, are most earnestly invited to attend a meeting of the Union Bible Society, to be held at the Presbyterian Church in this place, on 3rd Sabbath in May, at 11, A. M.

Business of interest and importance will be brought before the meeting, and a full attendance of the community is warmly solicited. Come on brethren, and assist in the benevolent work of dispensing the Bread of Life to scores of needy souls in your own County.

By order of Union Bible Society.

Valuable Land and Mills For Sale.

THE undersigned offers for sale a valuable tract of Land containing 760 acres, lying in both the counties of Calhoun and Etowah, one fourth of a mile below Greensport; 120 acres cleared and in cultivation, the remainder well timbered. The Mill is on Coosa river at the head of the Ten Island Shoals, with at undant water power for Manufactories, unsurpassed in the South. There is, also at the upper part of the tract a good and convenient location for a Steamboat Landing. There is also an inexhaustible supply of iron ore of superior quality on the Land, immediately at the Shoal.

Persons wishing to purchase this description of Land and water power, would do well to call on the undersigned, living near Greensport. Time on one half the purchase money. A good bargain will be given.

LATEST NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, May 2.—Col. P. Wiley, an eminent Texan lawyer, died at the Ebbett House to-day.

Motley leaves on the 19th. His instructions are very brief. He is to go to England and await events. Grant was in no hurry about the matter, but Sumner strongly urged Motley's early presence at St. James.

FROM NEW YORK

New York, May 2.—The Sounday papers all contains special reports of Lee's visit to Grant. They state that when Lee was announced Grant dismissed a number of visitors, including congressmen, telling he had an engagement with Lee, and must be excused. Then followed an interview of half an hour's duration, strictly private between the two—the first since they parted April 9th, 1865, at Appomattox.

FROM RICHMOND.

Richmond, May 2.—The Sothern Opinion announces its last publication this morning. The editor says that for some time he has thought that perhaps the mission of the Sothern Opinion had been fulfilled; and adds that the distinct Southern principles upon which the paper was founded are dead in the hearts of the people, is another fact which we cannot but recognize. No cause, however just and good, can long outlive defeat.

FROM OMAHA

Omaha, May 1.—The Pacific railroad reached its terminus at Promontory Point to day. The Union Pacific is delayed by heavy rock cutting and bridging. It is doubtful if the two roads meet before the 10th of May.

FROM TENNESSEE.

Memphis, May. 3.—It is reported that a fight was progressing last night at Brownsville, Tenn. Two negroes and one white man were killed at last accounts.

FROM MOBILE.

Mobile, May 3.—The incessant rains for the past ten days have overflowed large portions of the crops, doing great damage.

The Cuban Rebellion.

Attempt to Make Peace with the Indians an Entire Failure.

Killing of a Negro Member of the Virginia Convention.

FROM CUBA.

Havana, May 4.—The Revolutionary Congress, composed of thirty delegates, from all parts of the Island, assembled at Sibareon, unanimously adopted a resolution that the patriots were fighting for independence from Spain and annexation to the United States.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, May 2.—Advices from the Indian country received at Sheridan's headquarters say everythingt hat has been don to make peace with th Sioux as a nation is an entire failure. The Indians are just as far from peace to day as they were three years ago.

Richmond, May 4.—Joseph Holmes, colored member of the State Constitutional Convention, was killed at Charlotte Court House yesterday. A personal difficulty occurd between him and Marshall, son of Judge Marshall, of whose family Holmes was fourmely a boby servant. Both parties drew pistols and commenced firing, which was participated in by Marsall's friends. After being shot Holmes walked into the court-house and fell dead.

MOBILE, April 27.—Illinois Press Association, numbering some 120 gentleman and same number of ladies leave Mobile by special train for Montgomery to morrow morning. They go to accept hospitalities of that city tendered two days since. They have been here three days, and have don a vast deal to promote the good feeling. The City Government, Board of Trade, &c., treated them with the utmost hospitality. They are surprised at fertility of soil, and at opening of industrial and maifacturing pursuits. Radical editors are surprised at peaceful condition of the country, &c. The Daily Register has opened its columns to all parties, and is filled with these expressions from some of the most unswerving Republicans.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., May 1.—The members of the Illinois Prees Association, who for some days have been the guests of the city, left by steamer for Selma at ten o'clock this morning. They were much pleased with their visit, and received much courtesy and attention. They go from Selma to Columbus, Mississippi, and thence to their homes.

TENNESSEE.

The Eeast Tenuessee Kuklux Maltreat a Southern Methodist Preacher.

NASHVILLE, April 28.—Some of the preachers of the Southern Methodist Church are having a hard time of it in East Tennessee at the hands of the followers of Brownlow. About six miles from Knoxville a few days since, Rev. Jacob Smith, a quiet and unassuming minister, was assaulted by an armed mob, who first stripped him to his shirt and then tying him to a tree beat him unmercifully. His only crime was as far as can be ascertained, that he persisted in preaching after being warned to desist. It has been intimated that Brownlow's recent arrival Knoxville has had somthing to do with this flagrant outrage. It was near the same locality where Rev. Mr. Neal another Southern Methodist preacher, was so shamefully beaten and maltreated last year. Outside of these outrages of the East Tennessee Kuklux matters are perfectly quiet all over.

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the Radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Wakeness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY, and FITS, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞ Price, in sealed envelope, only 6 cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clealy demonstartes from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consquences of self-abus may be radicly cured without the dangerous of inturnal medicine or the applicition of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

On the Threshold.

We are standing on the threshold
Of a brighter world than this,
And through all our earth-born striving
Come deep sounds of far-off bliss;
Some stray note from harp of seraph.
Falls upon our careless ear,
And we start and wondering listen,
Though we know not what we hear.

Now and then the portals open
And we see our loved ones go,
And we lose them in the brightness
While we weeping, watch below,
But we know they're only folded
Closer to that Heart above,
Which is tenderer than a mother's
For we know our "God is Love."

What doth matter though we weary
Standing on the threshold dim,
If we catch some heaving cadence
From the great celestial hymn?
If our Saviour's hand we're clasping
In this world of blight and sin,
Blest are we when ope the portals,
Then to hear his "Enter in."

Spiritual Facts.

That whisky is the key by which many gain an entrance into our prisons and almshouses.

That brandy brands the noses of all who cannot govern their appetites.

That wine causes many to take a winding way home.

That punch is the cause of many unfriendly punches.

That ale causes many ailings, while beer brings many to their bier.

That champaigne is the cause of many real pains.

That gin-slings have "slewed" more than the slings of old.

That the reputation of being fond of cocktails is not a feather in any man's cap.

THE NEGRO'S SIMILE.—An old negro, named Pete, was very much troubled about his sins. Perceiving him one day with a very downcast look' his master asked him the cause.

"O massa! I'm sich a great sinner!"

"But Pete," said his master, "you are foolish to take it so much to heart. You never see me troubled about my sins."

"I know de reason, massa," said Pete: "when you go out duck shooting, and kill one duck and wound another, don't you run after de wounded duck?"

"Yes, Pete;" and the master wondered what was coming next.

"Well, massa, dat is de way wid you and me; de debbil has got you sure; but as he am not sure of me he chases dis chile all de time."

Thief Killed.

We learned yesterday that one negro thief was killed and another wounded on Sunday night last at the plantation of Mr. Samuel Clark, about six miles from this city, in Beech Island. Our informant says that on Sunday these two negros went with a cart to the corn crib of Mr. Clark to steal a load of corn. They were seen loading their cart by a young man, who got his gun and went after them. They were told to leave, but heeded not, when the young man fired killing one of the thieves. The other jumped into the cart and attempted to drive off, but was shot at and wounded with the other barrel of the gun.

BEGINNING TO BELIEVE.—"Bubbles," of the California Golden Era, gets off the following:

I begin to believe, nowadays, that money makes the man, and dress the gentleman.

I begin to believe that honesty is the best policy—to speculate with until you have gained everybody's confidence, then line your pockets.

I begin to believe in humbugging people out of their dollars. It is neither stealing nor begging, and those who are humbugged have themselves to blame.

I begin to believe that a man was not made to enjoy life, but to keep himself miserable in the pursuit and possession of riches.

I begin to believe that the surest remedy for hard times and a tight money market is an extravagant expenditure on the part of the individual—to keep money moving.

I begin to believe that none but knaves are qualified to hold office under the government, with the exception of a few natural born fools and lunatics.

Who Threw that Brick?

Yesterday afternoon a two cent dog sprang from an alley on High street, closely followed by a five cent brick.—Rounding the corner at right angles he came in contact with the feet of a Dutch woman who was carrying a jug of molasses in one hand and a basket of eggs in the other. The sudden collision of the dog with her lower extremities threw her from feet, and she sat down upon the basket of eggs, at the same time breaking the jug of molasses upon the side walk. A young gentleman, carpet bag in hand, anxious to catch the train, was running close behind and stepping upon the fragments of the jug and its contents, sat down upon the chest of the Dutch woman, who said "Mine Got." The young man said something about mad dog, but in the excitement of the moment said it backwords. In the meantime the dog had run against the feet of a team of horses, attachment to a load of potatoes, and they, taking fright, started for home. The end board being out, they unloaded the potatoes along the road as they went. Crossing the railroad track about a mile from this place, the wagon caught in the rails and tore one of them from its place. A freight train coming along a few moments later, was thrown from the track, smashing up a half a dozen cars, and killing thirty or forty hogs.—The horses on reaching home ran through the barn yard and overturned a milk pail; the contents of which another two cent dog licked up. One of the horses having broken his leg, was killed this morning, and the other is crippled for life. It is now a much mooted question whether the man who threw the brick at the two cent dog is responsible for the chapter of accidents which followed. Some think they do.

Radway's Readey Relief

IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERR PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN

It was the first, and is the only PAIN REMEDY, that will instantly stop the most excruciating pains, allay INFLAMMATION, and CURE CONGESTIONS, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, or other glands and organs, by one application

IN FROM ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

No matter how violent or excruciating the pain, the Bed-ridden, Infirm, Crippled, Rheumatic, Nervous, Neuralgic, or prostrated with disease may suffer,

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

will, in from ONE to TWENTY MINUTES, afford ease and comfort, and this medicine, so rapid in stopping pain, can be purchased for 50 cts per bottle at almost every druggist's and country merchant's store on this continent, and within one hour's distance of almost every habitation in the United States.

MILLIONS who have used Radway's Ready Relief for 25 years know that ONE 50 cent bottle, diluted in one gallon of proof spirits, will make a better Liniment, Pain Paint Killer, Panacea, King of Pain; equal in quantity to 144 Bottles of the Sizes of those Lotions that are sold at 25 cents.

And the public should also know that all these lotions are but poor imitations of RADWAYS READY RELIEF. If those who are now suffering Pain—no matter what the cause may be, or by what name it is called—if external, apply Radway's Ready Relief to the part of the body where the pain is present. If INTERNAL, 20 DROPS diluted in water, as a drink; whether Cramps, Sprains, Inflammation, Congestion, Asiatic Cholera, Chills and Fever, the most violent, excruciating, and torturing pains, will be stopped in from

ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

One fifty cent Bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will do more service, and cure more complaints that are daily occurring in every family than $25 expended in prescriptions for drugs.

There is not another remedial agent in this world that will cure FEVER AND AGUE, and all other Malarious, Bilious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow and other Fevers (aided sometimes with the Radway's Pills,) so quick and without annoyance to the patient, or leaving ill effects after the cure, as Radway's Ready Relief.

Millions of people throughout the world know how quick it will cure all ordinary complaints: for in all diseases where PAIN, INFLAMMATION, or CONGESTION is present, its effects are instantaneous. But in FEVER and AGUE, Asiatic Cholera, Yellow Fever, as these diseases are exhibited in the tropics.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF has proved infallible, and will cure these terrible fevers quicker, without entailing the frightful penalties of RUINOUS MERCURY, FAT SCREEN, DISORDERED KIDNEYS, and saffron-colored skin, that are sure to follow the use of the "Chologogues." "Ague cures," and other agents of the heroic Quinine, Mercurial, Arsenic, and other treatments where the medicines used accumulate, & become deposited in the system.

RADWAY'S READY-RELIEF is the best and cheapest, and safest remedial agent that can be used for FEVER and AGUE, Billious, and other Fevers,

NOT ONE

person need suffer, be they ever so much exposed to Fever and Ague, if they will only take Radway's Ready Relief, and keep their bowels open with Radway's Pills. Hundreds in the west, who have heretofore been doctoring at the rate of one and two hundred dollars for a few months' treatment, are keeping themselves and families free from Fever & AGUE, Chills and Fever, Rheumatism, &c., for one or two dollars a year, spent for Radway's Ready Relief & Radway's pills (costed.)

Radway's Ready Relief is an old established remedy. Under the new process of manufacture, it secures properties that will cure and prevent Small-Pox, Typhoid and Scarlet Fever, Asiatic Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, &c., and as a Pain Remedy it acts like magic. NOT ONE HOUR need one suffer with pain, or remain one week lingering in bed from Rheumatism, or any other acute or inflammatory disease. The Ready Relief will afford instant ease to all. Price only 50 cents per bottle.

THE LIVER.

SIMMONS THE symptoms of LIVER COMPLAINT, are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for Rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness. Bowels in general costive, sometimes alternative with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensations of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits; sometimes some of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the Liver with Simmons' Regulator and all will be well.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 16th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county," and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID.

A CHALLENGE TO THE WORLD!

We challenge the world to produce a better or a stronger recommendation for any article for any purpose than the following:

November 1st, 1868.

We very cheerfully unite our testimony in favor of the great merits of the valable disinfectant manufcturd by Prof. Darby, and Known as DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID. From the reputation of Prof. Darby as a scientific gentleman, from our own knowledge of this preparation, and from the general esteem in which it is held wherever known, we have no hesitation in recommending is as one of the most valurble household articles with which we are acquainted.

Our Railroad Prospects Brighten Every Day.

We see that the people East, West, North and South of us are waking up to the importance of a speedy R. R. connection at this place.

The Griffin, Newman and North Ala. R. R. company is again on its feet. This company, had previous to the war, expended some Three Hundred and Twenty Thousand Dollars in the grading their road, but was so crippled by the war that without outside aid they could not go on with the work. They have secured the necessary additional capital by associating with them, three of the richest corporations in the State of Georgia—the Georgia Central with Wadley, the R. R. King at its head—the Macon & Western, and the Macon & Brunswick road. These corporations have all come up nobly to the assistance of this most important work, and have made liberal cash subscriptions to the stock of the company, thereby placing the G. & N. Ala. R. R. in as good condition financially, as any projected R. R. in this section, securing beyond question, the completion of the road to Jacksonville at an early day.

Col's. Pennington and Harrington, the projectors and principal officers of the Eufaula, Opelika & Gadsden R. R., are displaying great energy in forwarding that enterprise. The various counties through which that road will pass, will vote from One Hundred to One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars each toward the construction of the road, which sum, with the Sixteen Thousand Dollars a mile of State aid, will be amply sufficient to complete the road.

Notwithstanding the veto by Gov. Bullock of the State aid voted by the Georgia Legislature, to the Rome & Gadsden R. R., that company is still alive, and if the Ga. & S. C. R. R., will only see their interest as others see it, and give the aid to that. (to them) vital extension of the State road; (it should belong to the State) the Rome & Gadsden road could be completed in Eighteen months; and even should the Romans get no assistance, we are very much mistaken in the metal of the men heading that enterprise (Cothran and Shorter) if the road is not put through on their own resources. Rome is certainly not so blind as not to see that the completion of the Griffin & North Ala., the Eufaula & Gadsden, and the Will's Valley Rail Roads taps her richest and most profitable trade, and that if she would still keep progressing in the march of improvement, she too, must extend her iron arms down the Valley of the Coosa, and Gadsden, vie with other sections for the rich and profitable trade of the grain and mineral region of this State.

But it was of the Alabama & Chattanooga Rail Road that we proposed to write when we commenced this article.—This Road is being pushed forward as rapidly as money and energy can possibly have the work done. Mr. Stanton, the energetic Boston capitalist, who is at the head of the enterprise, is handling all the energies of his nature to the completion of the road, and in order to hasten its completion, he now proposes to start two new gangs of hands, (600 in each gang) at Gadsden, and work both ends of the road from this place. By this arrangement he expects to complete his road by the 15th of January next, and by building the branch road to Jacksonville, to have a through [illegible] and the South.

Several [illegible] the stock of the [illegible] and we learn a Convention of stockholders of the Road will [illegible] Guntersville on the 12th of June, to make some definite arrangements securing the completion of the same to Guntersville.—Col. Donegan of Huntsville, a well known capitalist being at the head of this new movement.—Gadsden Times.

The Pacific Railroad.

Within a few days the Pacific Railroad will be completed, and the iron horse will speed his way from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean. Yes, the cars that leave this side of the Continent will sweep over three thousand miles of continuous railroad, and land passengers, mails and freight at San Francisco, on the other side.

What a stupendous achievement this of science, enterprise, progress and of liberality on the part of the government. It is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, achievement of this wonderful age or in the history of the world. Whether we look at the work itself so extraordinary and costly, or at the surprising results to flow from it, there is nothing comparable in the progress of this or any other country. The herculean labors of the thousands of men employed, the astonishing energy displayed, the removal of almost insuperable obstacles of nature in tunneling and over-leaping vast mountains and striding the most formidable canons, seem possible only to a race of giants. A work that it was supposed would take fourteen years to complete will be completed in five years. Looking at the science and almost superhuman energy displayed, as well as at the enormous cost, the construction of the Pacific Railroad is a theme worthy really of a grand epic as the siege of Troy or any other event in history.

When the last rail of the Pacific road is laid, and the cars are coursing from ocean to ocean, travel and trade around the globe by steam power will be complete.—We shall be able to go round the world, from West to East, or from East to West, by the power of steam in a little over two months. We can take the cars from New York to San Francisco and then the Pacific mail steamships to China, which will be reached in a month; thence by the British lines to India and to the Mediteranean by way of Egypt, by steamship and rail to England, and home again across the Atlantic. Or we can make the circuit of the globe the other way in about the same time.

If any of the grand old navigators of former times, whose ambition was to circumnavigate the globe, and who took years in making the effort, could wake up and see what is accomplished in this day, how astonished they would be. Yet we shall see greater things still. Improvements in the use of steam or in machinery, or in the application of some other motive power, will send us by and by more rapidly over the oceans and continents. Then it will not be long before that other mighty and mysterious agent of modern progress, the magnetic telegraph will girdle the earth and bring all nations within speaking distance of each other. The imagination can hardly outstrip the march of discovery and development.—New York Herald.

Living at San Francisco

But it is at San Francisco that we shall linger and take in the essence of California life, and cast the future of California's wealth. First we shall go to the Occidental, Cosmapolitan, Russ Lick Hotel, and live at three dollars a day—specie, mind you now—as well as at the Tremont or Fifth Avenue. Perhaps we shall have a mind to try that "peculiar institution of the city, the 'What Cheer House,' where meals and lodging at fifty cent each, with a library and museums of natural history and mineralogy thrown in. We shall certainly want to test the French restaurants, where, at sharp six and at a private table, we may have for a dollar and a half as good a dinner of four or five courses, wine included, as Parker or Delimonico would give us for a five dollar bill.

The abundance of fruit will have amazed us as we came down from the mountains; but still the wonder grows at the city fruit stands—Sweetwater and Black Hamburg and Muscat grapes at from five to twelve cents a pound, and poorer qualities at half the price; strawberries the season through; peaches and pears, more fair and luscious and large than our senses were ever accostomed to; fresh figs, oranges, limes and bananas, all cheap, and all in such abundance on the hotel tables and in the streets, as to make a fruitfamished New Englander rub his eyes and prick his flesh, to assure himself that he is not in a fairy-land dream. Then the more solied provisions! Here is flour at half the price it bears in the East, and vegetables of every kind—spring, summer and fall varieties—all at once in fullest perfection. Here are fresh salmon, twelve months in the year, at from ten to twenty cents a pound, smelts at eight cents, and fresh cod, bass, shrimps, anchovies, soles, even herrings—every luxury of the sea; and game as various, and at prices that shame our eastern markets. The materials for living are as plentiful here as the art of their preparation is perfect; and it will not take the thrifty mind long to calculate that, so far as food is concerned, a family can be supported more cheaply in San Francisco than in New York or Boston. The rates quoted are, of course, specie, but wages and profits are also in specie, and are higher generally, than currency wages and profits in Eastern cities.

The Flood in Alabama.

The intelligence from the rivers indicates the probability that the flood is the heaviest ever yet known. For sixty miles below Tuskaloosa, everything was under water before the last rain, and affairs must be much more serious now. Capt. Charley Locklin reports that during the Gertrude's trip it rained every mile of the way from Mobile to Wetumpka. It is not only the overflow, but the extreme saturation and washing of the ground which has interrupted and retarded the operations of agriculture. Replanting of cotton, on a large scale, will be necessary, and even this will have to be relinquished in many instances for want of seed. Indeed, some good calculators are of opinion that the replacing of much of the cotton and corn, will be anything but a misfortune to the country, as too many planters, with their habitual selfishness, had availed themselves of the genral opinion that small planting was the true policy, to plant an extra breadth of cotton themselves, and that to so great an extent as practically to frustrate the very policy on which they were building their hopes of profit.

Mobile Register.

The salaries of the different monarchs of Europe are given as follows by a German statistician:

Alexander II., $8,250,000, $25,000 a day.

Abdul Aziz, $6,000,000, or $18,000 a day.

Napoleon III., $5,000,000, or $13,710 a day.

Francis Joseph, $4,000,000, or $10,050 a day.

Frederick William, $3,000,000, or $8,210 a day.

Victor Emanuel, $2,400,000, or $6,840 a day.

Victoria, $2,200,000, or $6,270 a day.

Isabella II., $1,800,000, or $4,643 a day.

Leopold, $600,000, or $1,633 a day.

In addition to this salary, each of these individuals is furnished with a dozen or more first class houses to live in without any charges for rent.

☞A considerable portion of the space in the present number of our paper is occupied by the semi-annual Report of the County Treasurer, required to be made by the late Revenue Law; and also by the By-Laws and Ordinances of Town Council. These are matters of importance to the public, and will doubtless interest our readers as much as anything else with which the same space could be filled.

Our Town Council have patiently framed a good, wholesome and equitable code of Laws, and it is the duty of all good citizens, not only to obey the laws, but to assist in their enforcement when required.

We advise our patrons to file away and carefully preserve the present number of our paper. They will find it useful and valuable for future reference.

☞E. L. Woodward & Son wish to purchase 1000 lbs Tallow. This excellent and long established mercantile house is almost daily receiving large accessions to their stock of Goods, which they are disposing of rapidly at very low prices.

PRESENT TO THE PRINTER.—We tender our thanks to Dr. J. H. Lawrence, the competent and skilful Surgeon Dentist of this place, for one of his new and beautiful Bee Hives, which is said to be a perfect protection against the moth. The hive is his own invention, in which he has shown his skill and ingenuity in other things as well as his legitimate profession. As the industry of the Bee and the Printer are so much alike, scarcely any present could be more appropriate.

The Excursion.

In company with a number of our citizens, gentlemen and ladies, we accepted the polite, friendly and liberal invitation of Capt. E. G. Barney, extended through Judge Walker, to an excursion trip; on Tuesday last, down the S. R. & D. Railroad, as far as Talladega, or further, if desired by the company.

The special train arrived at our depot about half past 10 A. M. where we met Capt. E. G. Barney, the prince of railroad builders and managers, Mr. A. D. Breed, of Cincinnati, Lessee of the Road, Mr. U. A. Murdoch, of N. Y., Director, Mr. Wm. Paton of N. Y., Director, and Mr. Paton jr. The train proceeded at a moderate speed, stopping occasionally, to give the gentlemen from a distance apportunity to examine the beautiful scenery and boundless mineral resources of this section.

On our arrival at the depot at Talladega, the company partook of a bountiful lunch, thoughtfully provided by the kind and accomplished ladies of the party.—Wishing to return by the evening train, but few left for a visit to the Town, through fear of being left; but we were met at the depot by many of our friends and acquaintances—Maj. James Isbell Dr. Taylor, Dr. Vandiver, Col. Cruikshank, of of the Reporter, T. Hayden, Esq and others.

We have seldom made one of a party, who seemed more thoroughly to enjoy the day with its scenes and association. Our northern friends were exceedingly polite, friendly and social, and inspired us all with feeling of respect and esteem; and we assure them that our best wishes follow them for their health, prosperity and happiness.

On behalf of the entire company we return hearty and sincere thanks to Capt. B. for his kindness and liberality.

☞Our thanks are due to Messrs. J. P. Webb & Co., of the new Grocery and Confectionery, on the south side of the public square, for their nice present of ice cream. We learn that they have received a new patent apparatus for the manufacture of this excellent Summer refreshment, and are prepared to furnish it at all times.

☞We tender our thanks to R. Hughes, Esq., of Cold Water, for a club of new subscribers to be sent to Bynums.—We trust that many others of our patrons will follow his example.

☞The attention of the Ladies is respectfully invited to the new advertisement of Mrs. M. Goode, who has removed her Millinery establishment to next door north of Woodward's corner. She has just returned from market with a full assortment of fine and fashionable articles, and we doubt not will be able to please the taste and fancy of the ladies in every respect.

MR. EDITOR:—On Friday evening last in company with several gentlemen we spent an hour or so at the colored school of Gen. Hutchinson, we were surprised at the progress his schollars have made, also at the neatness, order and good behaviour of the school. Gen. Hutchinson must have labored faithfully and skillfully in discipling and teaching, the progress of his schollars has been rapid and all things considered wonderful. Spectator.

Primary Meeting of the Democracy of Calhoun County.

Pursuant to a previous call, a portion of the Democracy of Calhoun met at the Court House on Monday the 10th inst., when the following proceeding were had:

On motion of Hon. John Foster, Col. John R. Clark was called to the Chair, and John A. Fleming, Esq. was chosen Secretary of the meeting.

Col. Jno. H. Caldwell submitted the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That this meeting appoint delegates to attend a Democratic District Convention (for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Congress,) to be held at such time and place as may be agreed upon by a majority of the counties composing this the 5th District.

Resolved, That we suggest Gadsden in Etowah county as the place, and Tuesday the 8th day of June, as the time for holding said Convention:

Resolved, That having in view the promotion of the growth of our population, and the general prosperity of the country, we extend a cordial welcome to skill, labor or capital, from whatever section it may come—according to all the same freedom of speech, and perfect protection of the laws which we claim for ourselves —ostrasising no one, socially or commercially, on account of their past political tenets or opinions—nevertheless, leaving our delegates untrammelled, we respectfully suggest to our delegates to the contemplated convention, as the wish of the democracy of Calhoun County, that if in their best judgment a nomination should be made at all, they should select one who is a bona fide citizen of the State, whose sympathies are known to be with our people in their present suffering and humiliation, and whose interests are thoroughly identified with the people of Alabama.

To meet the requirements of the first resolution, the Chair appointed a committee consisting of Gen. W H Forney, Hon. Thos A. Walker and J. W. Whiteside, Esq. to select Delegates to attend a District Convention. The Committee reported the following names:

John Foster,	Dr. S. C. Williams
John H. Caldwell,	James Crook,
Wm. Scott,	Geo. I. Turnley,
J. A. Fleming,	Neil Ferguson,
M. P. Johnson,	Eli Bynum,
John Ross,	W. F. Bush,
D. D. Draper,	P. P. Linder,
G. C. Ellis,	Z. Henderson.

Which Report was received and adopted.

On motion of H. A. Earns, the proceedings of this meeting were ordered to be published in the Jacksonville Republican.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

J. R. CLARK, Ch'n.
J. A. FLEMING, Sec'y.

NEW SUIT.—The Jacksonvile Republican, now in in the thirty-third year of its existence, has turned out in a new suit of type, and looks young and fresh again. It is an evidence of prosperity in the mountain counties, and also in the Republican office, which we are glad to see. Mont. Mail.

The Jacksonville Republican, published by J. F. Grant Esq. the Nestor of the Alabama Press, has donned a nice new suit. The Republican has always been a true and faithful Democratic organ and its prosperity indicates a due appreciation of its labors by the sterling people of Calhoun county.—Mont. Advertiser.

☞Father Grant, of the Jacksonville Republican,—(The oldest editor and the oldest paper in Alabama,) is putting on airs in his old days has purchased new material and put on a bran new suit, looking as bright and fresh as if he intended to just start the world anew.

We believe if the old Republican had a new set of democratic harness, it could pull through the next State election. Talladega Reporter.

The old harness fits best friend Reporter; and [illegible] it has had many years service [illegible]. We think we [illegible] Politically we never [illegible] principle, name or policy.

☞ A TELEGRAPH OFFICE has been established at Jacksonville, and Mr. McCann, a competent operator employed.

Persons who may wish to send business or other messages to any point, can now do so.

☞The District meeting, for the 1st District of the Ten Islands Association will be held at the Baptist Church in Jacksonville, commencing on Friday before the 5th Sabbath of May, inst. A number of the ministering brethren are expected. JAMES CROOK, Clerk.

VIOLENCE IN TEXAS.—A Texas newspaper of recent date has the following;

A young man named Greene White was peacefully eating his supper near Henderson, Texas, one day last week, when he was suddenly set upon by five negros, terribly beaten, and then hung. Two of the negro murderers were preachers. The principal one engaged in the murder (Julius Jones) stood by with a gun, directing the others, and telling them he would kill the first that flinched. The same negro [illegible] the next day to Henderson, preached a sermon and babtised fourteen negroes. No cause could be assigned for the deed, except that Mr. Green was white. On the following Monday the five negros were arrested. They confessed the crime. On Tusday night, about 11 o'clock, a mob went to the jail, and hung every one of them on the publice square fronting each side of the courthouse, the two preachers together.

WHAT A NOISE!—We know of families in which they would as soon try to do without bread as [illegible]'s PROPHYLACIC FLUID, and no sooner does one of the little ones receive even the slighest injury than there is a cry for the Fooid. Now, there are in the Infant Hospital on Ward's Island, near New York 900 little children. Just imagine every one of these little darlings to burn its little fingers, and then set up a yell for Fooid! Would not there be squalling times among the babies?

"William, thee knows I never call names; but, Willam, if the Mayor of the city were to come to me and say. "Joshua, I want thee to find me the biggest liar in all Philadelphia," I would come to thee and put my hand on thy sholder and say to thee, "William, the Mayor wants to see thee."

To the Hon'l the Commissioners Court of Calhoun County, Ala.

THE undersigned, County Treasurer of said county, would respectfully submit the following semi-annual statement as he is required to do under "section 117 of the late revenue law," which statement shows all the monies received by me as County Treasurer, for and on account of said county, from the 1st of January up to the 1st of May, A. D. 1869, as well as the monies paid out by me, to whom paid, and on what account, &c., to-wit:

BY-LAWS

OF THE

Town Council of Jacksonville.

By-Laws for the government of the Intendant and Councilmen of the Town of Jacksonville, a Corporation created under the provision of Title 24, and Part 1st of the Code of Alabama:

1st. This Corporation shall consist of an Intendant and five Councilmen.

2d. There shall be a Treasurer and Secretary elected annually, at the first meeting after the installment of the new Board, or as soon thereafter as practicable, from the number of Councilmen.

3d. The Council shall proceed at the first meeting after the qualification of the new board, or as soon thereafter practicable to elect a suitable person to fill the office of Marshal.

4th. Any member may be removed at any time by a vote of two-thirds of a lawful quorum of the Councilmen.

5th. The Intendant shall preside at all meetings of the Council, try all parties accused and legally brought before him, according to the offense and penalties as set forth in said ordinances of the town; state all questions, in ties to give the casting vote, and perform all other duties consistent with the requirements of his office, and consonant with the laws of the State.

6th. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep a proper record of all the proceedings of the council at every meeting, submit the same at each subsequent meeting for consideration of the council, which, after approval, shall become a part of the corporation ordinances; and for failure to discharge these duties may be removed at any time by a lawful vote of the council.

7th. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive and receipt for all moneys, notes or other claims, due the corporation, paid into his hands, or placed in his possession, and to pay out of the same by and with the consent of the council and approval of the Intendant, and for failure to discharge the same may be removed at any time by the lawful vote of the council.

8th. The Councilmen shall be required to attend at all meetings, vote on all questions and perform all other duties devolving upon them, and shall not speak on any question more than twice without permission of the Intendant, and for failure to comply with the requirements shall, unless for good cause, be fined not less than one dollar.

9th. The Marshall shall be required to enforce all police regulations, execute all process, assess and collect the taxes, and perform all other duties that may be prescribed by the council, and as a compensation, shall receive the same fees as are allowed to State officers for similar services. For assessing and collecting taxes shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed to the county assessor and collector and be liable to the same penalties for neglect of duty. For superintending the work upon the streets shall receive two dollars per day and for failure to enforce judgements or collect fines against offenders shall be held responsible on his official bond, for the amount of the fine, with costs.

10th. The Intendant shall receive the sum of three dollars for each person tried before him for a violation of the ordinances, to be paid out of the monies collected from fines, in compensation for his services.

ORDINANCES

OF THE

Town Council of Jacksonville.

Offences against the Public Peace.

1st. Be it Ordained by the Town Council of Jacksonville, That if any person or persons shall be guilty of an affray, or an assault and battery where no weapons are used, the person or persons so offending shall be fined not less than one nor more than five dollars; for an affray or an assault and battery with sticks, staves, rocks, brickbats, or other missiles, thrown by the hand; each offender shall be fined not less than five nor more than ten dollars; for an affray, or an assault and battery with a knife, gun, or other weapon greatly endangering life, each offender shall be fined not less than five nor more than twenty dollars.

2d. Be it further Ordained, That if any person shall disturb the peace of the Town by loud hallooing, swearing, or any obscene or black-guard language near a dwelling house, loud enough to be heard by the inmates, or by galloping his horse or mule on the square, or along the streets, or shall suffer his horse or mule to run at large through the streets, shall be fined not less than one nor more than six dollars.

3d. Be it further Ordained, That any person who shall be guilty of any mischief, such as removing signs, turning over or displacing privies, building barricades in or across the streets or allies or on the public square; or such as molesting or injuring in any way public buildings or property, the premises or property of any person, or who shall disturb the peace of the public, or of private families by running through the streets with wagons, carts, buggies or carriages, or any contrivances to make a noise, or by singing, or beating on a drum, tin pan or any other thing, or by blowing a horn or trumpet or other instrument, ringing bell or bells shall upon conviction thereof be fined not less than one nor more than ten dollars.

4th. Be it further Ordained, That if any person shall be guilty of rolling balls upon a ten pin alley after ten o'clock at night, the offender shall be fined not exceeding ten dollars; that if any assemblage of citizens, who met originally for a legitimate purpose, shall, after ten o'clock at night, disturb the peace and quiet of the town by loud talking, hallooing, indecent language, swearing, or riotous conduct, shall be notified by the marshal, (and in his absence, by two citizens) to disperse, and if they do not immediately disperse it shall be the duty of the marshal to arrest any or all persons present and have them before the Intendant, which shall be prima facie evidence of guilt, and each one shall be fined not less than one nor more than ten dollars, unless the person arrested shall produce the guilty party with proof sufficient to convict the offender.

5th. Be it further Ordained, That if any person shall shoot a gun or pistol, within one hundred yards of any dwelling house, or across or along any street, shall be fined not less than one nor more than five dollars, provided that shooting beeves, hogs for pork, or a person shooting upon his own premises, if the projectile does not go across a street or alley or into the premises of another person or under the command of a military officer, are not offences under this ordinance.

6th. Be it further Ordained, That any person who shall intentionally disturb any assembly of citizens, or persons who have met for the purpose of holding religious worship, singing, attending licensed shows or exhibitions, or for musical entertainments, or for any other legitimate purpose; either by making noise, hallooing, hissing, whistling, stamping, clapping or in any other way, whatever, shall upon conviction thereof be fined not less than five ner more than twenty dollars.

7th. Be it further Ordained, That if any person shall expose his person in an indelicate manner on or around the public square, or along the streets, he shall be fined not exceeding ten dollars.

8th. Be it further Ordained, That if any person shall sell or otherwise dispose of any spirituous, vineous, or fermented liquors on Sunday, or if any dealer or dealers in the same shall suffer it to be drunk upon his premises upon any pretence on Sunday, except upon the prescription of a sober licensed Physician, shall be fined not exceeding ten dollars.

9th. Be it further Ordained, That any person who shall suffer his or her dead horse, mule cow, hog, or dog to remain twenty-four hours, after notice given, within one-fourth of a mile of any dwelling house, he or she shall be fined five dollars and expenses of removing the same, and it shall be the duty of the Marshal to have the carcass removed if no owner is found.

10th. Be it further Ordained, That any person in charge of any road wagon who shall unload the same on Sabbath day, shall be arrested by the marshal and kept in custody until Monday morning, then brought before the Intendant and fined five dollars.

11th. Be it further Ordained, That if any person violates any of the provisions of the Revised Code of Alabama, in reference to gaming, shall be fined ten dollars; if any person or persons play any game for sport, during Sunday, shall be fined not less than one nor more than five dollars.

12th. Be it further Ordained, That any person or persons keeping a house or houses of ill fame, shall upon conviction thereof be fined twenty-five dollars.

Miscellaneous Offences.

13th. Be it further Ordained, That any person who shall sell, give or deliver any spirituous, vinous or fermented liquors, to any minor, apprentice, student or pupil, of any school, or to any enlisted man in the service of the United States (army,) or to any person, for the use of any such minors, apprentices, students, pupils or enlisted men, knowing the use for which it was intended, without the consent of the parent, guardian, master or other person having the legal charge of such minor, apprentice, student, pupil or enlisted man, shall, upon proof being made, be fined in the sum of twenty-five dollars; one-fourth of which shall go to the informer.

14th. Be it further Ordained, That if any person shall encamp with his wagon on the public square, or on the property of any person without consent of the owner, he shall be fined five dollars.

15th. Be it further Ordained, That no person shall obstruct or encumber the public square, the streets, side-walks or alleys, the side ditches or water-ways.—The side walks of the principle streets shall be kept open and free from all obstruction (except open porches) eight feet from the line. All other streets and alleys shall be kept sufficiently clear of obstacles for wagons to pass without hindrance. The side ditches and water ways shall be kept sufficiently open to allow the water to pass at all times without being diverted from its course. Any person making or causing any such obstructions, who shall allow them to remain after being notified by the Marshal to remove them (except for a reasonable time in building or improving,) shall be fined from three to twenty (3 to 20) dollars and expenses of removal by that officer, whose duty it shall then become to remove all such obstructions.

16th. Be it further Ordained, That if any person shall willfully ride, lead, or drive his horse, mule or ox upon any of the pavements, or hitch them to any of the shade trees, he shall be fined not less than one nor more than five dollars.

17th. Be it further Ordained, That goats running at large on the public square shall be considered a nuisance and the owner of any goats suffering them to run at large, shall be fined not less than one or more than five dollars, unless the owner, after being notified, put them up.

Mode of Proceeding and Trial.

18th. Be it further Ordained, That when any person violates any of these ordinances it shall be the duty of the Marshal to arrest him or her without warrant and forthwith carry the offender with such witness as he can find before the Intendant, whose duty it shall be to fine the offender according to the offence and penalties as set forth in these ordinances.

19th. Be it further Ordained, That if any person shall be guilty of contempt while the Intenant is engaged in the trial of any case he shall be fined not less than one or more than five dollars.

20th. Be it further Ordained, That if any man when summoned by the Town Marshal shall fail or refuse to assist that officer to arrest persons violating these ordinances, or if any person fail or refuse to attend as a witness before the Intendant, he shall be fined not less than one or more five dollars.

21st. Be it further Ordained, That persons arrested after nine o'clock at night for breaches of peace or disorderly conduct, shall be kept in custody by the Marshal until nine o'clock the ensuing morning, at which time that officer shall bring them before the Intendant for trial: —Provided the party arrested may give bond for their appearance at a specified time, to be agreed upon by arresting officer.

22d. Be it further Ordained, That when any person is arrested during the illness or absence of Intendant, it shall be the duty of any one member of the Council in town at the time to try the case and discharge or punish such accused person according to these ordinances.

23d. Be it further Ordained, That any person arrested for a breach of these ordinances may go before the Intendant or any member of the council and plead guilty, and be discharged upon payment of the proper fine, without trial.

24th. Be it further Ordained, That in all cases of fining, the Intendant shall have power to weigh any mitigating circumstances and remit a part or all of the fine accordingly.

25th. Be it further Ordained, That all offenders failing or refusing to pay the fines and costs imposed by these ordinances shall be required to labor on the streets of the town at one dollar per day, under the controll and direction of the Marshal until said fines are satisfied; or may confess judgement before Intendant and give bond and security for the payment of the same within ten days after conviction of said offence. The provisions of this ordinance shall be such that the board of the offender shall be deducted from his daily wages.

26th. Be it further Ordained, That the license to retail spirituous liquors shall be at the rate of two hundred dollars for twelve months, all license to expire on the thirty-first day of December of each year.

The tax and license for a circus, menagerie or any public exhibition, for pay, shall be ten dollars, if the price of admission be fifty cents or more, and five dollars if under fifty cents, provided that this ordinance is not intended to appiy to concerts and entertainments given by citizens of the town, the proceeds of which are to be applied to charitable purposes, or for any scientific, moral or religious entertainments.

27th. Be it further Ordained, That after the publication of these ordinances, every pauper, vagrant, idle, or disorderly person, of evil life or ill fame, every person who has no visible means of support, and no fixed place of abode, every person whose conduct may be suspicious, and every person who loiters about the streets or other public places, found in the Town of Jacksonville, shall be arrested and ordered to leave the town, and if, after the expiration of twenty-four hours, such persons shall be found in the town, he or she shall be fined in the sum of twenty (20) dollars.

28th. Be it further Ordained, That the Marshal shall be authorized to procure a chain and establish a chain-gang for the purpose of enforcing these ordinances.

29th. Be it further Ordained, That the Marshal until otherwise ordered, shall act as overseer and superintendant of the working of the streets, and that whenever the Intendant and council may require the streets to be worked, shall give two days notice, either in person or writing left at the place of their abode, to all persons of whom labor may be required to meet at such time and place as he shall designate, and to bring such tools as he may direct; and if any person so summoned fail to attend and perform the services required, or send a substitute to work in his place, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of one (1) dollar for every day of such failure, recoverable in the name of of the Town of Jacksonville, before the Intendant's courts. On failure to pay the judgement of the court, for such forfeiture, such person may be imprisoned in the town goal one day for each day of failure, and be liable to the judgement of the court and all the costs attendant upon such imprisonment, for which execution may issue as in other case.

30th. Be it further Ordained, That any person found drunk upon the streets, side walks or public place, to the annoyance of the citizens, shall be arrested and kept in custody until sober, and shall be fined not less than one or more than five dollars.

31st. Be it further Ordained, That any ordinance heretofore passed contravening the provisions of the foregoing Ordinances is hereby repealed.

☞The wonderful properties of the Pyrafuge is showing itself daily in the blooming cheeks of our former emaciated citizens, all of whom declare that until they tried this great chill and fever expeller, they knew not what it was to be clear, even for a few days, of the scourge of our southern country; but thanks to science and our enterprising townsman, we need no longer fear this great scourge, and we can now go on our way rejoicing that at last a conqueror is at our hands which will instantly expel from our system chills and fever, dumb ague, and those diseases incidental to malarious climates. Keep a bottle of the Pyrafuge in the house, and as soon as the chill or fever is felt commence taking it, and at once you are really making a lasting and permanent cure.

POETRY.

True Heroism.

BY GRANT P. ROBINSON.

Let others write of battles fought
On bloody, ghastly fields,
Where honor greets the man who wins,
And death the man who yields;
But I write of him who fights
And vanquishes his sins,
Who struggles on through weary years,
Against himself, and wins.

A hero staunch and brave,
Who fights an unseen foe,
And puts at last beneath his feet
His passions base and low,
And stands erect in manhood's might,
Undaunted, undismayed—
The bravest man that drew a sword
In foray or in raid.

It calls for something more than brawn
Or muscle to o'ercome
An enemy who marched not
With banner, plume, and drum—
A foe forever lurking nigh,
With silent, stealthy tread,
Forever near your board by day,
At night beside your bed.

All honor then to that brave heart,
Though poor or rich he be,
Who struggles with his baser part—
Who conquers, and is free.
He may not wear a hero's crown,
Or fill a hero's grave;
But truth will place his name among
The bravest of the brave.

THE CHRISTIAN GENTLEMAN

A modern writer thus describes the Christian gentleman:

He is above a mean thing. He can not stoop to mean fraud. He invades no secret in the keeping of another. He betrays no secrets confined to his own keeping. He never stuts into borrowed plumage. He never takes no selfish advantage of our mistakes. He uses no ignoble weapons in controversy. He never stabs in the dark. He is ashamed of inuendoes. He is not one thing to a man's face and another behind his back. If by accident he comes in possession of his neighbor's counsels, he passes upon them an act of instant oblivion. He bears sealed packages without tampering with the wax. Papers not meant for his eye, whether they flutter at his window or lie open before him in ungarded exposure, are sacred to him. He invades no privacy of others, however the sentry sleeps. Bolts and bars, locks and keys, hedges and pickets, bond and securities, notice to trespassers, are none of them for him.—He may be trusted by himself out of sight—near the thinest partition—anywhere. He buys no offices, he sells none, he intrigues for none. He would rather fail of his rigts than win them through dishonor. He will eat honest bread. He tramples on no sensitive feeling. He insults no man. He cannot descend to scurrility.—In short, whatever he judges honorable he practices toward every man.

BEAUTIFUL.—General Albert Pike used the following language in a speech to the Soto county [illegible]:

"The sober autumn of our days! For you, dear girls, the violets and the rose; for us the leaves reddened by the frost, and soon to fall. For you the bright and glad anticipations of the future—the dreams that make youth's happiness; for us the memories of the past, of joys and sorrows intermingled, of the hopes and love and bitter disappointment and cruel losses, of the days that are no more. Our country, also, our own dear South-land, that you love so well, has its memories of the past of a glad bright dawn and a morning full of promise, that darkened into a day full of gloom and terror and disaster. Out of that darkness the faces of our dead look sadly and pityingly and lovingly upon us. They have not died in vain. The land they died for shall reap the fruit of the great sacrifice. Our country, also, has its hopes that are not delusive for the future. To it the sober autumn days are not come nor even those of life's summer. For it the rosy days of spring have not departed, though the immortelles planted by angels bloom on many graves.

PREVENTIVE AGAINST THE ARMY WORM.—We cull the following from an article in the New Iberia Journal:

A planter on the coast, having for several years past, been in the habit of sowing in his cotton land the ordinary cow pea, and finding to his amazement, that those of his neighbor's crops where no peas had been sown were literally destroyed by the worms, his crop remaing untouched, was induced to test the efficacy of the vine as a preservative against their destruction. With this view, he tried the following experiment, to-wit: That of cultivating one portion of his field in cotton alone, and surrounding the other with a belt of peas. This done the period of the army worm to appear having arrived, that portion of his field wherein no peas had been sown was entirely devoured, while that in which peas had been sown remained untouched—a result which, of course, leads him very rationally to suppose that the vine alone growing around the cotton, has proved its protection against the aggression of the insect.

After all, from the account given by the oldest inhabitants of our parish, we are inclined to think that it is, as reported, an infallible preservative against the ravages of the cotton worm, and for this reason: From the authority quoted above, we are told that up to twenty or twenty five years ago, such a thing as the cotton worm was unknown among them, and before that period it was the universal practice of all planters to yearly sow their fields—whether of cotton or corn, in peas. Why should they have given up this wholesome practice, we are unable to say, but certain it is that since, few have been the crops raised in this section without having been more or less injured by these insects.

We could not too strongly urge upon our cotton planters the importance of trying the efficacy of this simple expedient, it being both easy and profitable.

After reading this advertisement, need any one SUFFER with PAIN.

Radway's Readey Relief

IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERR PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN

It was the first, and is the only PAIN REMEDY, that will instantly stop the most excruciating pains, allay INFLAMMATION, and CURE CONGESTIONS, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, or other glands and organs, by one application

IN FROM ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

No matter how violent or excruciating the pain, the Bed-ridden, Infirm, Crippled, Rheumatic, Nervous, Neuralgic, or prostrated with disease may suffer,

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

will, in from ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES, afford ease and comfort, and this medicine, so rapid in stopping pain, can be purchased for 50 cts per bottle at almost every druggist's and country merchant's store on this continent, and within one hour's distance of almost every habitation in the United States.

MILLIONS who have used Radway's Ready Relief for 25 years know that ONE 50 cent bottle, diluted in one gallon of proof spirits, will make a better Liniment, Pain Paint Killer, Panacea, King of Pain; equal in quantity to 144 Bottles of the Sizes of those Lotions that are sold at 25 cents.

And the public should also know that all these lotions are but poor imitations of RADWAYS READY RELIEF. If those who are now suffering Pain—no matter what the cause may be, or by what name it is called—if external, apply Radway's Ready Relief to the part of the body where the pain is present. If INTERNAL, 20 DROPS diluted in water, as a drink; whether Cramps, Sprains, Inflammation, Congestion, Asiatic Cholera, Chills and Fever, the most violent, excruciating, and torturing pains, will be stopped in from

ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

One fifty cent Bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will do more service, and cure more complaints that are daily occurring in every family than $25 expended in proscriptions for drugs.

FOR FIFTY CENTS.

There is not another remedial agent in this world that will cure FEVER AND AGUE; and all other MALARIOUS, BILLIOUS, Scarlet, TYPHOID, Yellow and other Fevers (aided sometimes with the Radway's Pills,) so quick and without annoyance to the patient, or leaving ill effects after the cure, as Radway's Ready Relief.

Millions of people throughout the world know how quick it will cure all ordinary complaints; for in all diseases where PAIN, INFLAMMATION, or CONGESTION is present, its effects are instantaneous. But in FEVER and AGUE, Asiatic Cholera, Yellow Fever, as these diseases are exhibited in the tropics.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF has proved infallible, and will cure these terrible fevers quicker, without entailing the frightful penalties of ENGORGED LIVER, FAT SPLEEN, DISORDERED KIDNEYS, and saffron-colored skin, that are sure to follow the use of the "Chologogues," "Ague cures," and other agents of the heroic Quinine, Mercurial, Arsenic, and other treatments where the medicines used accumulate, & become deposited in the system.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is the best and cheapest, and safest remedial agent that can be used for FEVER and AGUE, Billious, and other Fevers.

NOT ONE

person need suffer, be they ever so much exposed to Fever and Ague, if they will only take Radway's Ready Relief, and keep their bowels open with Radway's Pills. Hundreds in the west, who have heretofore been doctoring at the rate of one and two hundred dollars for a few months' treatment, are keeping themselves and families free from Fever & Ague, Chills and Fever, Rheumatism, &c., for one or two dollars a year, spent for Radway's Ready Relief & Radway's pills(coated.)

Radway's Ready Relief is an old established remedy. Under the new process of manufacture, it secures properties that will cure and prevent Small-Pox, Typhoid and Scarlet Fever, Asiatic Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, &c., and as a Pain Remedy it acts like magic. NOT ONE HOUR need one suffer with pain, or remain one week lingering in bed from Rheumatism, or any other acute or inflammatory disease. The Ready Relief will afford instant ease to all. Price only 50 cents per bottle.

Thomas J. Garner, vs. John R. Northcut. } Appearance Docket, page 30, Spring Term, 1869, March 20, 1869.

THIS day came the Plaintiff, by his Attornies, and upon his motion, and it appearing to the satisfaction of the court, that the suit is commenced by attachment, and that the Defendant is a non-resident of this State, and that said attachment was levied upon the property of the Defendant by summoning Elizabeth M. Hunt, as a Garnishee in this case—it is therefore Ordered by the Court, that the Clerk of this court cause a Notice of the attachment and the levy thereof on the Defendant's property, to be advertised for four successive weeks in the Jacksonville Republican, a Newspaper published in the Town of Jacksonville, in the county of Calhoun, Alabama, it being the nearest newspaper published to this county; and that a copy of said notice be sent to the Defendant by mail, if his post office is known or can be ascertained.

☞ Passengers taken to and from the Depot free of charge. Dec. 5, '68.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

For the Rome Courier.

MAY DAY AT CAVE SPRING.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., May 3d, 1869.

My Dear Dwinell:

On last Saturday, the 1st of May which may be called "Queen Day" of the year; Flora, the Bridesmaid of the Queen, saw fit to let the little ones enjoy themselves in a different way from that of a festival of flowers, to that of a feast of good things, at Cave Spring. I expected to have met you there, not as old Dido would have met Eneas at the Cave, to make love.—Oh! that you know would not do for two old bachelors to think of.

"When Dido saw that Eneas did not come,
She mourned in silence, and was Dido dumb."

As the Down-Eastern would say, "You hadn't ought to have missed it." Had you been there you could have seen the dear little pledges, whom a Saint in Heaven has left to their parents. You would have seen the wit and beauty of Jacksonville and the vicinities of intermediate stations on the Selma, Rome & Dalton Railroad. You could have seen the infants clothed in their long white robes, and the tottering staff in their 6th or 7th decade. Yes, and you could have seen the beautiful cars, made by Barney, Smith & Co., of Dayton, Ohio. Capt. Barney, the Superintendent of the Road, paid the party quiet a compliment to have made such a fit up as it was. I had not ridden in a car for some time. I took my seat in the Dayton coach No. 5, and looked all around me to know where I was; so fine it was, I thought I was in a Christal Palace. The whistle blew, the bell rang, something snorted like unto a horse. I looked out of the window, on the left side of the Palace. Soon I was passing my friend Bill Cook's beautiful peach orchard, laid off as regularly as a South Sea Rookery, and went gently along through fields of moving green—stopped at the big Wakely spring, by which is a new tannery being spurred up, by the railroad enterprise. Passing along over Squire McCain's level plains until we come opposite my friend Wm. Scott's, who was standing on the declivity of his house place hill, looking as though he ought to have been aboard too, with his smiling ruddy face, and passed Balus Prater reading a newspaper at his big spring—like as not it was the Courier.—Then comes Warren Harris, whom everybody knows from Vanns Valley to Rome for his wit and humor. Passing along, taking notes of the left, or northwest side of the road, a voice sang out, "steam saw mill." There stood in the lumber yard, the well known Kit Isum, of the old "Dixowah House," in his coatless sleeves, knocking around in his usual energetic way; looking as much at home as if he had been dissecting a fat turkey with cranberry sauce and trimmings.

Next come the new place. Avoca, built on the Esquire Sharp place. There stood Capt. Barney and his corps looking at his beautiful train, (a voice, "three cheers for Capt Barney) so completely managed by his immutable engineer, Mr. Smith, of Selma, and his good natured conductor, Bill Day. All went on like clock work.

Passing Cross Plains, we soon came to Ladiga. Here we saw more of the energy of the enterprising Col. Wm. M. Richee in the way of a steam mill. He is like the unconquerable Dwarf, and can build upon the ashes of a burnt. Then comes Ambersonville, or New London. Then Griffith's mills, on the rushing Hurrican creek up the Hurrican, crossing its meanderings often, some one of the party, looking out, said, this is a powerful country for creeks. Ever and anon living mortality, without regard to seniority, gazed at the beautiful moving train, at which also the woods and green fields smiled. Then comes Prior's Station. Down we go, gliding along the stream that leads to the Cave. Passing along the Prior old house, where the lads and lasses were waving their white handkerchiefs, greeting the passers-by.—Arriving in the rich valley, we are taken by Wookstock, now occupied by Mrs. Ford as a private Female Boarding School.—One would say at once, this is the very place for a school, situated on a commanding hill, with a fine prospect, surrounded by a beautiful murmuring, meandering stream, along whose banks the classic student, might while away many an hour along her own Guadal quivir.

Next comes the beautiful Lake house, once the seat of the Indian Chief, Vann. Near here, the engine comes to a halt, when one of the party, from the ebullitirn of his feeling, called out, "Hurrah for Georgia," a feeling raised from the fact that he was near the spot where the brave Bartow lived and learned. The noble hero who illu trated the chivalry and daring courage of Georgia at the 1st Manassus. "Peace to his memory."

Now the fine coaches comes to a stand still. Out pours the current of one living stream of life, love and beauty; some got into conveyances, but most of them, or in fact, nearly all of them were taking it the good old primitive way, patronizing the people's line, with foot in hand. Here goes the crowd, the most in regular procession, following their banner of "salutation." Adown the broad street, across the foot bridge, through the double columns of open order, of infiladed children, and Sunday School teachers, up to the stand erected for speaking. The sober, thinking ones stopped at the stand; some went to the gushing spring, some ran to see the cave. The exercises opened with prayer, and then was introduced a youth whom you might have heard, whose name I did not hear, but of good appearance and good contour, with fine forehead, you would have said to the youth, "upward and onward," be your motto.

Had you been there you could have seen the good people of Cedartown, too; as the like of Mrs. Jesse F. Crook,
Who with her heart in hand;
Welcomed me to her native land.

After the sacred prayer, talking and singing of the different choirs was ended, dinner was announced. I took my old neighbor, Henry Watkins by the arm, and said, come, "lets go and do a thing we understand." Ho, readily took me up.—Now for a place, for we had to be invited to the repast. Now for it. Who did we meet but my good friend, Mr. Alexander Harper, who said, well, come go with us, and following in his wake to where the provident Mrs. Wright and his good lady had prepared on a snowy white cloth, a fine dinner. As I insinuated before, we did justice to the subject, and after returning our thanks to the good hostesses for treating us to so many good things, I took a stroll and looked around—saw my good friend, Dr. Leak and lady. The Doctor wrote me out a prescription. I can say in the words of old man Summerrour, many years ago, who took the toddy administered by Gen. John Moore, of North Carolina Doctor, your medicine is good, and then it is so easy to take." I am indebted to Mr. King, on the Coosa, and to Capt. Dent, of Cave Spring, who gave me a nice ride after his famous trotting mare—2 forty on a shell road.

I have told you of feasting the inner man, now let me tell you what you might also have seen had you been there too, but oh! stop, for in the language of Tom Moore's Anacreon,

"The women tell me every day,
That all my bloom has passed away;
Behold, the petty wantons cry,
Behold this mirror with a sigh;
The locks upon the brow are few,
And like the rest they are withering too, &c.

But never mind all that, a cat, as the saying is, can look at a king, so I shied around the buggy where the nameless one sat, surrounded as if she were a wheel by fellows. I don't know how many there were that were bleeding at the left breast, but several that were far gone. They passed me as I was standing looking at the dear mutes, discoursing the poetry of motion under the fine oak grove. I saw but one gentleman from Rome, he kinder coldly told me who she was, for which I was much obliged. I should have liked to have heard her use that Jenny Lind mouth, for I was told by one of the girls that she was the nightingale of Woodstock. But so it was, I had to leave without any of those delicate confections.

Now on this I will stop, for one of those fellows might ask one across the line to dance a duett. Oh! Dwinell, I have found out why the ground was not graced by the beauties of Rome, for you have read in the time of old Romulus and Remus, at the founding of old Rome, they give a feast, inviting the beautiful Sabine women. As then it might have been again. Our Jacksonville knights have surrounded and carried them southward to a more genial clime. Time irrecoverably flies while I relate these little particulars, so I must come to a close, but one of the most stirring scenes in the whole drama come off at the Depot, on the return home, before and after the arrival of the train.—You must excuse me for I cannot do the subject justice.

The night being dark and stormy, some of the mothers were quite uneasy, waiting at the Depot for our return, having sent their whole stock in trade of children to the Cave. One was telling her fix to a sober, thinking man, who makes good calculations, and who had sent only half of his loved ones from home; who wittily remarked to her who solicited sympathy, oh, aunt, you ought to have done as I did, saved some at home for seed. Soon though the confusion was over, and as Shakespeare says in his midsummer nights dream,

"Now the hurly burly's done,
Now the day is past and gone."

Truly yours,

GOV. DORR.

AN EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette says that the dispatches, received in that city by the Government, leave no room to doubt an imminent and wide spread revolution in Mexico. There is no reason to believe that our Goverment has any policy in view of anarchy there. Our foreigin relations are in such critical condition all around, and the members of the Cabinet so much at variance that it is not unlikely that the President wil call Congress together by the first of August.

AGED COLORED PERSONS.—There are at present two occupants of the city hospital, whose untied ages reach 221. Patty Miller was born in Charles City County, Virgina, in 1757, and is consequently 112 years old, while Ben Taylor, who was born in New York in 1760, has arrived at the age 109. Old Ben is a preacher, and holds fourth regularly every Sunday. Notwithstanding their weight of years, the old people jog along remarkably well.—Columbia (S. C.) Phœnix.

ANATHEMA-MARANATHA.—The editor of the Brandon (Ohio) Republican, having heard that Massachusetts has more paupers and drunkards than any other three States, offers the following amendment:

'And you might have added more spoon thieves, watch thieves piano thieves, United States treasury thieves of every grade, more political preachers, more revernend blackguards, more psalm-singing hypocrites, more men in petticoats and women in pants, more free loveism, spiritualism, and niggerism, more vice and less virture, more politicans and fewer patriots, more Republicans and fewer friends of the African, more women with false teeth, false calves, false eyes, false hair and false bosoms—more children who never knew their fathers, and more people who think they are no better than negroes, than any five States in the Union.'

—In 1830 there were 3000 Odd Fellows in the U. States. There are now 3000,000.

Gratifying Intelligence.

We have been shown a letter from Nashville to Capt. D. P. Forney of this place which states that Gen. John H. Forney has been entirely and perfectly restored, and that the Physicians of the Asylum had given their formal certificate to that effect.

This will be truly gratifying intelligence, not only to his immediate relatives, but also to his numerous friends and acquaintances in this and other States.

Wheat Harvest.

The time is near at hand, when we expect to hear repeated, and that not without cause, the complaint of extortionate demands for labor in the harviest fields. This class of laborers, knowing that the work must be done quickly, have sometimes commenced by demanding three or four dollars per day, and ended by compromising on about two dollars, for work not much harder, & the way it is often done no harder, than other description of farm labor, for which only fifty cents per day is demanded.

We know of but one remedy for this state of things, and that is for the farmers to provide themselves in time, which they can yet do, with labor-saving and rapidly working Reapers, which have been brought by human ingenuity to a great state of perfection. One of these machines will not only do the work of four or five hands, but save enough wheat which is wasted by the usual mode, in a few days work to pay for itslef. One of these machines in a neighborhood will break the high price monopoly. If it is objected that the land is too uneven for their use, then we say cut your wheat higher from the ground, and only the most level and even portions, leaving the rest for the cradle; and we venture that one experiment will induce you to put your wheat in more carefully for the next crop.

The best and most improved Reaping Machines can be purchased in this place at Manufacturers prices, from Messrs. Woodward & Son, and Messrs Privott & Dean, which gives the farmers all the advantages they would derive from having a manufactory in their midst. And we wish it distinctly understood, that we have not written this article for the benefit of the gentlemen who have them for sale, tho' their enterprise and public spirit is praisworthy, but for that of the farmers.

Germania Tannery.

We mentioned some time since that a company, with a capital of some thirty thousand dollars, had purchased a location with water power, two miles north of this place, at the Walnut Spring, for the purpose of carrying on the Tanning Business on an extensive scale. This company is composed of Gen. J. W. Burke, Isaac Frank, Esq. and Messrs. Rosenberg and Rodenberg; the two latter, the principal practical Tanners and business managers.

We had not, since our first mention, until Wednesday last visited the locality. We found a splendid dam erected, as tight as a vessel, enclosing a beautiful sheet of water, some 8 or 10 feet in depth, reaching up to the head Spring, which affords such an abundant and neverfailing or varying supply of water; and at the lower end of the dam, a building, though not yet entirely finished, about 120 feet long, 42 feet wide and three stories high, very strongly and substantially built. In the lower story were numerous vats, with already leather in process of tanning. These vats so arranged that ooze could be conveyed from one to another, and from the whole to a main reservoir by merely removing stoppers. Also machinery for the lifting and other heavy work, moved by a splendid water wheel situated at the lower end of the dam and north-east corner of the building. The wood-work of this wheel we were informed was made by our ingenious townsman and finished workman, Mr. J. J. Aderholt; and the iron-work by the Messrs. Adams of this place, equally good and superior workmen in their line.

The buildings and other works were designed and superintended by Capt. W. P. Schultz, one of the most competent, scientific and skillful engineers and architects of the country.

There was also a grist mill by the side of the building for the Tannery, and about 200 yards south, on a beautiful eminence, commanding a fine view of the entire premises and surrounding country, a double dwelling house of ingenious and convenient construction. This is the family dwelling house of Messrs. Rosenberg and Rodenberg.

All this building and improvement has been made within a few months, and work is still pressed vigorously forward. We suppose some six or eight thousand dollars have been already expended, and as much more will be, before all the contemplated improvements are finished. All the building materials have been furnished by our native population, and labor performed by them, that they could do.

Although this seems a large expenditure, yet as tanning is one of the most profitable branches of manufacture, we doubt not it is a good investment, and we heartily wish the worthy and enterprising Proprietors, prosperity and success.

IMPROVEMENT OF STOCK.—In passing the express office yesterday morning, we saw two beautiful white Chester Pigs, from Philadelphia, Pa. directed to Mr. W. A. Scarborough, of White Plains.—They were only one month old, and from their size and appearance, must be a very superior breed. We hope that others may follow the example of this thrifty and enterprising farmer.

FLORIDA ANNEXATION.—We shall publish next week, from the Montgomery Mail, a synopsis of the terms agreed on by the Florida and Alabama Commissioners, for the cession of West Florida to Alabama. The territory ceded contains an area of 10,000 square miles, embracing the counties of Escambia, Santa Rosa, Washington, Walton, Holmes, Jackson, Calhoun, & Franklin, with the splendid harbors of Pensacola, St. Joseph and St. Andreus, and an increased shore line on the Gulf of 180 miles. The terms are one million of dollars, payable in 30 years with an annual interest of $80,000. At the present value of the property in the territory ceded, it will bring an annual tax of about $81,000, and this value will soon be greatly increased. To perfect the cession requires the assent of Congress and ratification by the competent authority of the States of Alabama and Florida.

☞See advertisement of Woodward & Son, who offer for sale, at manufacturers prices, a variety of labor-saving Agricultural Implements, including Reapers and Threshers, which will soon be in demand. They have also, not mentioned in their list, a patent churn, which any one can see at a glance is a very useful and valuable improvement.

They wish to purchase a large quantity of Tallow and Beeswax.

COUNTY COURT.—This court is fast becoming one of the institutions of the day. It has been in session the present week from Monday to Friday inclusive, Hon. John A. D'Arman as presiding Judge. Quite a number of cases have been diposed of—some of which elicited unusual interest on account of the parties defendant and the character of the offenses.

May an honest, faithful and impartial administration of the Criminal Law, under the present regime become indeed a terror to evil doers.

☞It will be seen from the followsng, that the portion of the State Democratic Executive Committee residing in this District, have called the Convention to meet at the time and place requested by the public meeting in this place, the proceedings of which were published in our last paper.

Democratic District Convention.

A Convention of the Democrats of the 5th Congressional District, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress, is hereby called to meet in Gaesden, Tuesday, June 8, 1869.

Each County in the District will be entitled to three votes for every member in the House of Representatives in the Legislature.

County meetings should be held immediately and delegates appointed. Preparations will be made in Gadsden for the reception and entertainment of a large delegation.

All who favor the equality of the States, maintain that this is a white man's Government, oppose Radical usurpation and misrule, and favor holding inviolate the Constitution of our fathers, are invited to attend.

Distressing Accident.

The many friends and acquaintances of the parties in this city were shocked to learn on yesterday of the painful and sudden death of Mrs. Timberlake, the wife of Mr. J. F. Timberlake, one of our most substantial and respected business men, which occurred at Oxford, on Sunday morning last. We are not apprised of all the particulars of this most distressing occurrence, but as near as we can learn them they are about as follow:: On Sunday morning last, the father and mother of Mrs. Timberlake called at her residence for the purpose of accompanying her to church, and Mrs. T. went to her room to dress for the occasion, leaving the parents sitting in the parlor. They waited some time—ample time for her to have gotten ready—but still she did not return. Finally they repaired to her room, which they found locked, but could gain no admittance. They determined on forcing the door, and on doing so the parents were horrified at beholding the body of their beloved daughter lying apparently lifeless across the hearth, with her head resting on the grate. On examination it was found that life was extinct, though the immediate cause of her death was only a matter of conjecture. It is supposed, however, that while she was dressing, she was attacked with some kind of a fit, which caused her to fall senseless to the floor, and in falling that her head struck the grate, in which a fire was brightly burning. While in this helpless condition, and before she recoverd her senses or power to move, she was burned so as to cause her death. Her face and neck were very much burned, but not enough to have caused her death had she not been otherwise affected.

This is one of the most painful and distressing affairs which we have been called on to record for some time, and one which has excited a deep feeling of regret among the citizens of the city who are acquanted with the parties. Mrs. Timberlake was a very estimable lady, and her untimely death will be deeply regretted by her numerous friends. Mr. Timberlake is one of our most respected citizens, and has the sympathy and condolence of the entire comunity in this painful and sad affliction. —Selma Times.

CINCINNATI.

Particulars of the Great Steamboat Conflagration.

Cincinnati, May 12.—The most disastrous conflagration of steamboats that ever occurred in this city, raged on the New Orleans and Memphis Packet landing this morning. The fire broke out at 2 o'clock in the steamer Clifton. It extended to Westmorland and Melnotte above, and to the Cheyenne and Darling below. These six boats were soon enveloped in flames. The hulls of the Melnotte and Darling may be used again. The others are a total loss. The fire originated in the chambermaid's room on the Clifton, by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp.

Fourteen kegs of powder on the Cheyenne exploded and scattered the flames. The Westmoreland had two hundred barrels of coal oil aboard and the Cheyenne had two hundred and fifty barrels of coal oil. The Melnotte belongs to Williamson, Isham and Capt Kenniston, and wes valued at $8,000, and insured at $6,000 in the Union Farmers and one other company. The Westmoreland was owned by Capt. Byers, Rask and Wolf, and runs in the New Orleans trade, and valued at $20,000. Seventy tons freight were aboard and insured at $150,000. The old boat Clifton a fine Memphis packet, five years old, one third loaded, was owned by the Memphis Packet Company, and valued at $35,000, insured for $22,000. Mary Irwin, an Arkansas river boat, just repaired, belonged George Wolf. There was no freight aboard. Value, $12,000; insured at $10,000 in the Central and several Pittsburg office. The Cheyenne ran in the Arkansas river trade, was owned by Capt. John Kyle, new only eight months in use, and was loaded with valuable freight of about 300 tons. The boat was valued at $30,000, and was insured for $14,000; estimated value of cargo, $50,000 The powder on this boat was carried ashore. The Darling belongs to the Memphis Packet Co. She had just put off a cargo of cotton, most of which was lost. The hull was sved. Value, $25,000; insured for $20,000. Rumors are afloat that several lives were lost, but up to now no names have been reported.

EFFECTS OF NIGHT AIR.—An error which exerts a most pernicious influence, is the belief that the night air is injurious; this opinion hinders the introduction of ventilation more than all other errors together. Now there is not a particle of proof, nor have we any reason whatever to believe, that the atmosphere of oxygen and nitrogen undergoes any change during the night. But there are certain causes in operation at night which are known to exercise over us an injurious influence. We will investigate them to see if closed doors and windows will shut them out or stop their operation. First, it is known that there is a slight increase of carbonic acid from plants during the night, but this poison is generated in much larger quantity from the lungs of animals, and accumulates immensely more in close rooms than in the open air. It is therefore certain nothing is gained in this respect by refusing ventilation. The next difference between night and day, to be noticed, is the fact, that sunlight exercises a most important influence on plants and also on animals; but it is evident that shutting out fresh air will not restore his rays.

Another fact is, that all bodies, animate or inanimate, exposed at night to the direct rays of a clear sky, radiate heat with great rapidity, and their temperature is quickly and greatly reduced; and it is well known that it is dangerous to the health of men for temperature of their bodies to be greatly and rapidly reduced. But persons sleeping in a ventilated room, even if the windows are open, are not exposed to the direct rays of a clear sky (and the law does not apply to any other combination of circumstances;) therefore, this frequent source of injury to persons exposed does not reach those in a sheltered house. As to the injury to be feard from a cold current of air, I would say it is gross carelessness for any one to expose himself to this danger, night or day, whether the house is ventilated or unventilated. I believe there is not known any other cause which can be supposed to produce any special injurious effects at night, and the least re-action will show that not any one of those mentioned can by any possibility injure a person more in a ventilated than in an unventilated house. It therefore follows that the objection of the night air being injurious is utterly futile.

The pure atmospere has nothing whatever to do with causing the death of persons exposed at night within the tropics; nor does it produce the cough of the consumptive and asthmatic, nor the languor and misery which the sick so frequently experience.

These and other sufferings experienced more particularly at night, are caused by carbonic acid, absence of sun-light, rapid reduction of temperature, the air being saturated with moisture, &c., and not by that air without which we cannot live three minutes. It is absurd to suppose that fresh air supports our life and destroys our health at one and the same time. The same thing cannot possess the utterly incompatible character of good and evil, of supporting life and destroying it.

The Iron Deposits of Alabama.

We cheerfully publish the following communication relative to the production of iron in Alabama, and hail with pleasure every indication of the progress of the South, whether in labor, the mechanics, the arts, or the sciences:

AVOCA, Ala., April 28, 1869.
W. T. J. O. Woodward, Cherau, S. C.

MY DEAR SIR:—By request I submit the following statements respecting the past, present and prospective production of iron on and near the line of the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad.

Before the military raid under General Wilson (April, 1865,) the following furnaces and mills were in active opperation.

		Tons Daily
Red Mountain Furnace, producing		20
Oxford Furnace,	"	15
Choccolocco Furnace,	"	8
Shelby Furnace,	"	15
Bib Furnace,	"	20
Roupe's Valley Furnace,	"	20
Irondale Furnace,	"	20
Total		118
Shelby Rolling Mill, capacity		10
Briarford Rolling Mill,	"	10
Alabama Rolling Mill,	"	10
Selma Rolling Mill,	"	30
Total		60
Production of Bloomeries		20

All these works were destroyed during the raid referred to, and have only been partially rebuilt since the war.

At present we have in blast:

The Shelby Furnace, producing	15
The Bibb Furnace, capacity	8
The Irondale Furnace,	15
Total	38

The Oxford Roupe's Valley and Red Mountain furnaces have recently passed into the hands of capitalists, and will soon be built on a much larger scale than any similar works in the South. The deposits of ore at all these works are inexhaustible in quantity, unsurpassed in quality, and are more cheaply mined than any other known deposits.

The iron deposits of Alabama are more extensive than in any State in the Union.

With capitol and skill, both of which are being attracted hither, but a few years will elapse before Alabama will become the iron centre of the world. The opinion has been expressed by one of the oldest and most successful iron-masters of Pennsylvania, that while a tariff was necessary to enable that State to compete with foreign iron, Alabama could bid defiance to the world.

That this is no idle statement is shown by the fact, that the ores and limestone necessary to produce a ton of pig metal in Pennsylvania costs on an average $24 per ton, while in Alabama the same material will cost less than $5 per ton of iron.

Along the line of the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad, the iron deposits extend from a point near Cave Springs in Georgia to within forty miles North of Selma Alabama, a distance of one hundred and thirty-six miles, and within that distance the kown deposits are sufficiently extensive to employ one hundred furnaces, without a probability of exhausting the ores in a thousand years. This statement may seem exaggerated, but will be corroborated by all who have examined the section alludrd to. Bituminous coal and abundance of timber for charcoal are found along the line of road at convenient points.

The above are but a few of the valuable deposits existing, but are sufficient to interest those who are looking for investment. If any doubt, let them come and see for themselves.

Very respectfully,
E. G. BARNEY,
Superintendent S. R. & D. R. R.

Getting Alarmed.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says:

The increase of the public debt, notwithstanding the burdensome sytem of taxation, begins to alarm the public mind. Is there to be nor relief from the intolerable barned? This is a question that presses for an answer. Everywhere industry is paralyzed. People are becoming disheartened. Their earnings are absorbed by taxes for the support of the government, and for paying the interest on the increasing amount of our public debt. Gold rises, and the price of living is not reduced, though it was a year ago—according to the statement of Mr. Wells, the Revenue commissioner—ninety per cent, higher than it was before the war.

When Mr. Sprague brought to the notice of the Senate the fact that industry is depressed, and labor unemployed, half a dozen speeches were made, in succession, in attempted refutation of the assertion. A Senator from Orgon, Mr. Williams, stated that in his State laborers received in wages three dollars a day in gold. This was considered by the Senate as a triumphant refutation of Mr. Sprague's statement though, it only went to prove that in Oregon labor was scarce, and provisions dear. So, on the Western plains, twenty-five cents in specie, is the price of a cup of water—showing that water is scarce. It is not a proof of the public prosperity.

The experience of the Spring Trade is that the people can not consume domestic and foreign fabrics, and pay taxes also. The fall trade will be much worse by reason of accumulated stocks of imported goods, and a general scarcity of the means to purchase, and an increasing distrust of the future. Mr. A. T. Stewart has had the sagacity to foresee, and the frankness to state facts which conclusively show that a very large portion of the merchants in New York must fail and be bankrupt next fall. His views corroborate those that have been expressed by Senator Sprague.

THE ALABAMA MANUAL AND STATISTICAL REDGISTER FOR 1869.—We are indebted to Col. Hodgson, of the Montgomery Mail, for a copy of this work compiled by him. It contains valuable information for the immigrant capitalist, manufacturer, planter, mechanic, agriculturist, laborer, merchant and politician, with reference to the soil, climate, population, topography, education, productions, mineral and general resources of the State.

—We learn from the State Journal, that Maj. Maley, whose brutality we alluded to last week, has been arrested and is held in close confinement.

☞Parshall, the hotel keeper at Courtland, Ala., who some weeks ago killed a railroad conductor named Oats, has been tried by Circuit Court of Lawrence county, found guilty, and sentenced to be hung.

—Mr. Louis V. Taff, a member of the Illinois press association which visited Montgomry a few days ago, is so much pleased with Alabama that he has made arrangements to establish a Democrat paper at Union Springe. So says the Mail.

—A portion of the Commission appointed by Flordia to negotiate for the transfer of West Flordia to Alabama has reached Montgomery.

☞THE WONDERFUL PROPERTIES of the Pyrafuge is showing itself daily in the blooming cheeks of our former emaciated citizens, all of whom declare that until they tried this great chill and fever expeller, they knew not what it was to be clear, even for a few days, of the scourge of our southern country; but thanks to science and our enterprising townsman, we need no longer fear this great scourge, and we can now go on our way rejoicing that at last a conqueror is at our hands which will instantly expel from our system chills and fever, dumb ague, and these diseases incidental to malarious climates. Keep a bottle of the Pyrafuge in the house, and as soon as the chill or fever is felt commence taking it, and at once you are really making a lasting and permanent cure.

READ THESE LINES AND PONDER THEM WELL.—The best tests of the merits of any proprietary articles is to ascertain what is thought of it at home where it is manufactured; such a test Lippman's Pyrafuge can well stand, as to-day it is decidedly the favorite remedy for chills and fever, dumb ague and other diseases of a malarious origin, in the city of Savannah, where it is prepared The principal druggists of the city would as much think of doing without castor oil in their stores as to be without this popular (and deservedly so) remedy. It is a vegetable preparation free from deleterious drugs, and acts as a tonic upon the entire system, thereby invigorating the system so much so as to enable it to throw off disease. Pyrafuge does not nauseate or sicken the patient, and can be taken by the most delicate person without fear. It seems to be the general impression, however, that the French Government has fomented this discontent and adopted repressive measures to stay the disorders arising with a view to some ulterior design.

FROM NEW YORK.

New York, May 17.—Schepeler & Co. were large shippers in petroleum; produce and provisions, and heavy dealers in gold stocks, and bonds for Europe and extensive creditors in London, Antwerp, Bremen and Frankfort, and their liabilities are exclusively distributed on this side.

FROM MEMPHIS.

Memphis, May 18.—Every train arriving is crowded. Nearly all the delegates have arrived, representing nearly every State in the South and many points North.

FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Lt. Col. Clay C. Whitney, of the fifth cavalry, is ordered to the fifth military district. Col. Marshall, of the fifteenth infantry, is ordered to join his regiment at Fort Concho, Texas, en route for New Mexico.

There was a full and prolonged Cabinet meeting to-day.

Printer Clapp is determined to carry out his views regarding apprentices and the colored printer Douglass, regardless of the action of the Printers' Union.

FROM NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, May 18.—Seven companies of the fifth cavalry, under Gen. Carr, in moving from Kansas to Fort McPhearson, encountered five hundred Cheyennes. A [illegible] of the Indians having twenty-five warriors on the field. The troops lost three killed and three wounded. Gen. Carr is still in pursuit near Medicine Lake creek.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—Information has been received of a break in the Grand Levee, parish of Point Coupee, half a mile above the new work which has just been completed. It was a breake just closed at great expense, and which flooded so large a portion of West Louisiana for the last two years. The breake just reported, however, is said not to involve such great danger as a levee some distants from the river's edge, and the water at the breake is only six feet deep. The breake is reported to be 150 yards wide, but from the high stage of the water, it will be difficult if not impossible to close it.

The Villere crevasse, in St Benrard parish has been abandoned as hopeless. The breake is now several hundred feet wide, said great depth of water is sweeping back to the lake

SPURGEON'S CONVERSION.

It seems that the great Baptist preacher, Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, was converted through the instrumentality of the Primitive Methodists. Here is his own acount of it, as given in a sermon derilvered by him, some time ago in one of the Wesleyan chapels in the town of Huddersfield, Yorkshire, England:

"I will give you a little of my own experience by way of showing you how I found peace with Christ. For five years I had had a desponding heart, and had been in great trouble. I thought at that time that I was the most miserable creature that ever lived, and I hope and trust that none of you will suffer what I have endured. At night I dreaded to close my eyes in sleep, fearing that I might never wake again in this world. I thought that God was angry with me and that he would send fourth his judgments to consume me off the face of the earth. At times I would weep aloud for several hours, and could not find any comfort; and I should have been in that unhappy state until the present day had it not been for the sovereign grace of God. I well remember going out on Sabbath day. I had listened to all sorts of sermons, some of them good sermons; but none of them were for me. One man preached the Gospel of Christ doctrinally, and another man practical sermons, and another man preached the law; but I think I might have gone that dreary round until now, but one that dreary Sunday I happened to turn up a lane in which was a little Primitive Methodist chapel, and stepped into the place; but the minister had not come that day, and so his place was taken by a local preacher (as I took him to be.) This old man took as his text the words from Isaiah xlv. 22, 'Look unto me and be ye saved, all ye ends of the earth.' Now this poor old preacher was not an educated man by any means. I can assure you he did not make any fine flourishes from the text he had chosen. He was so stupid that he kept on repeating the text in some such manner as this: 'Look,' says the text: 'It is not even lifting the hand; it is not running one hundred miles away; it is stopping where you are and looking.' There is nothing so hard for you to do as this, owing to your pride. 'Look unto me;' Many of you are looking to yourselves some of you are looking to God the Farther; but you must look to Christ first; some of you are looking to the Spirit, to see where it is at work; but you are not told to do that. 'Look unto me,' says the text, and you have only to look as it directs you. I am dying; well, look to the Saviour; he is sitting at God the Father's right hand. 'Look unto me.' Thus the old Primitive Methodist preacher went on, until at last he caught sight of me where I was sitting under the gallery; 'Young man,' he says, 'you are miserable,' and I was miserable as he might have learned from my looks. 'You will always be miserable,' he continued, 'unless you attend to the text until you look unto Christ.' 'Look!' he shouted, as only a Primitive methodist can shout; and I did look there and then, and I trust that I found peace with which I had so long been afflicted was gone. I went home happy; and so marked was the difference in my appearance that others could see the change That one look to Christ had taken away all my burden.

"'E'er since by faith I saw the stream
Their flowing wounds supply,
Redeeming love has been my theme;
And shall be till I die.'

"Wonder if that 'poor old man' (good old man rather let us call him) ever heard how greatly that sermon of his was blessed? Be that as it it may, he will hear of it in heaven. If Spurgeon's crown shall be radiant with stars; O how brilliant with dazzling radiance must be the "crown of rejoicing" which will be worn in heaven by that 'old Primitive Methodist preacher!'

The Florida Annexation.

For several days the Commissions of the two States have been busily engaged in negotiating a settlement. Yesterday, we understand, the matter was decided so far as the representatives of each State were concerned, as follows:

The portion of Florida west of the Apalachicola is sold to the State of Alabama for the sum of $1,000,000 of Alabama bonds. The bonds to be delivered when the sale is ratified in accordance with law. This sale, or transfer, has to be voted upon by the people of West Florida, and after being ratified by the Alabama and Florida Legislatures, is to be rejected or approved by Congress. Some of the details we have not learned, but the above are the material facts.

Montgomery Advertiser.

PERSONAL.—Col. Joseph Hodgson, editor of the MAIL, is in our city, and has been for several day; but he has been so much engaged in matters connected with his work, "The Alabama Manual," that but few of his many friends have been aware of the fact. The people of this State are under lasting obligations to Col. Hodgson for the publication of his Manual. It is destined to prove a source of great benefit to the State, containing as it does, information, in a condensed and concise form, in reference to our resources and the inducements which the State offers to immigrants, which cannot be obtained from any other publication. Col. H. has made arrangements by which ample supplies of his book will be kept at all the principal points throughout the country. He returns to Montgomery to-day.—Mobile Tribune.

POETRY.

WHAT IS A YEAR?

What is a year? 'Tis but a wave
Of life's dark rolling stream,
Which is so quickly gone that we
Account it but a dream;
'Tis but a single earnest throb
Of Time's old iron heart,
Which tireless now, and strong as when
It first with life did start.

What is a year? 'Tis but a turn
Of Time's old bruzen wheel,
Or but a page upon the book
Which death must shortly seal;
'Tis but a step upon the road
Which we must travel o'er
A few more steps and we shall walk
This weary road no more.

What is a year? 'Tis but a breath
From Time's old nostril blown,
As rushing onward o'er the earth,
We hear his weary moan;
'Tis like the bubble of the wave,
Or dew upon the lawn,
As transient as the mist of morn
Beneath the Summer sun.

What is a year? 'Tis but a type
Of life's oft changing scene;
Youth's happy morn comes gaily on
With hills and valleys green,
Next Summer's prime seconds the Spring,
Then Autumn with a tear,
Then comes old Winter—death—and all
Must find their level here.

THE WORLD.—"Sir, bring me a good plain dinner," said a melancholy looking individual to a waiter at one of the principal hotels in the State.

"Yes sir."

The dinner was brought and devoured and the eater called the landlord aside and thus addressed him:

"You are the landlord!"

"Yes."

"You do a good business here.

"Yes," (in astonishment.)

"You make, probably, ten dollars a day, clear!"

"Yes."

"Then I am safe. I cannot pay for what I have consumed. I have been out of employment seven months; but have engaged to work to-morrow. I had been without food four and twenty-hours when I entered your place. I will pay you in a week."

"I cannot pay my bills with such promises," blustered the landlord, "and I do not keep a poor house. You should address the proper authorities. Leave me something for security."

"I have nothing."

"I will take your coat."

"If I go into the street without that I will get my death, such weather as this."

"You should have thought of that before you came here."

"You are serious? Well I solemnly aver that one week from now I will pay you."

"I will take the coat."

The coat was left, and a week afterwards redeemed.

Seven years after that a wealthy man entered the political arena, and was presented to a caucus as an applicant for a Congressional nomination. The chairman of the caucus held his peace. He heard the history and name of the applicant, who was a member of the church and one of the most respectable citizens.

The vote was a tie, and he cast the negative thereby defeating the wealthy applicant, whom he met an hour afterward, and to whom he said:

"You don't remember me?"

"No."

"I once ate dinner in your hotel, and although I told you I was famishing, and pledged my word of honor to pay you in a week, you took my coat and saw me go out into the inclement air at the risk of my life without it.

"Well, sir, what then?"

"Not much. You called yourself a Christian. To-night you were a candidate for nomination, and but for me you would have been elected to Congress."

Three years after, the Christian hotel keeper became a bankrupt. The poor dinnerless wretch that was, is now a high functionary. We know him well. The ways of Providence are indeed wonderful, and the world's mutations are almost beyond conception or belief.

THE BOTTOM FALLING OUT.—The Vicksburg Herald says that "between Oak Ridge and the Yazoo river—not far from where the 'Wild Man of Warren county' was first seen—is a strip of country consisting of an extensive forest, and of the highest hills known anywhere in Mississippi. Between the hills are broad valleys of very fine arable lands, which are yearly cultivated. On last Tuesday, one of these valleys, which had been recently plowed and planted in cotton, three acres wide and two acres long, making six square acres, sunk to the depth of over forty feet, leaving an immense cavern, in which could be obscured—were it possible to put it there—Mount Vesuvius.

State Senator Shot and Killed.

We clip the following from the Augusta Constitutionalist, of the 12 inst.

We learn that Joseph Atkins, Senator from Warren county, was shot and killed within a mile of Dearing, on the Georgia Railroad, yesterday, by some unknown person. He left Augusta, in company with his wife, as we understand, on Monday morning, leaving the cars at Dearing, for the purpose of taking a private conveyance through the country to his home. At this point, it is stated that he became involved in a difficulty with a gentleman by the name of Adams, a one-legged man, formerly a soldier in the Confederate army, and who was justly hostile to Atkins for an unlicensed liberty which he took on two several occasion, in penning loving epistles to a sister of Adams. Parties interfered, and succeeded in preventing a collision, advising Atkins, in view of the desperate character of his antagonitt when angered, to take his immediate leave, which he did. After walking a mile or so from the village, he persuaded his wife to go back for a buggy, while he awaited her return. When she returned, it was to find her husband shot and killed, with no explanation as to the perpetrator of the deed.

After reading this advertisement, need any one SUFFER with PAIN.

Radway's Readey Relief

IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERR PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN

It was the first, and is the only PAIN REMEDY, that will instantly stop the most excruciating pains, allay INFLAMMATION, and CURE CONGESTIONS, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, or other glands and organs, by one application

IN FROM ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

No matter how violent or excruciating the pain, the Bed-ridden, Infirm, Crippled, Rheumatic, Nervous, Neuralgic, or prostrated with disease may suffer,

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

will, in from ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES, afford ease and comfort, and this medicine, so rapid in stopping pain, can be purchased for 50 cts per bottle at almost every druggist's and country merchant's store on this continent, and within one hour's distance of almost every habitation in the United States.

MILLIONS who have used Radway's Ready Relief for 25 years know that ONE 50 cent bottle, diluted in one gallon of proof spirits, will make a better Liniment, Pain Paint Killer, Panacea, King of Pain; equal in quantity to 144 Bottles of the Sizes of those Lotions that are sold at 25 cents.

And the public should also know that all these lotions are but poor imitations of RADWAYS READY RELIEF. If those who are now suffering Pain—no matter what the cause may be, or by what name it is called—if external, apply Radway's Ready Relief to the part of the body where the pain is present. IF INTERNAL, 20 DROPS diluted in water, as a drink; whether Cramps, Sprains, Inflammation, Congestion, Asiatic Cholera, Chills and Fever, the most violent, excruciating, and torturing pains, will be stopped in from

ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

One fifty cent Bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will do more service, and cure more complaints that are daily occurring in every family than $25 expended in proscriptions for drugs.

FOR FIFTY CLNTS.

There is not another remedial agent in this world that will cure FEVER AND AGUE and all other Malarious, Billious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow and other Fevers (aided sometimes with the Radway's Pills,) so quick and without annoyance to the patient, or leaving ill effects after the cure, as Radway's Ready Relief.

Millions of people throughout the world know how quick it will cure all ordinary complaints; for in all diseases where PAIN, INFLAMMATION, or CONGESTION is present, its effects are instantaneous. But in FEVER and AGUE, Asiatic Cholera, Yellow Fever, as these diseases are exhibited in the tropics,

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF has proved infallible, and will cure these terrible fevers quicker, without entailing the frightful penalties of ENGORGED LIVER, FAT SPLEEN, DISORDERED KIDNEYS, and saffron-colored skin, that are sure to follow the use of the "Chologogues," "Ague cures," and other agents of the heroic Quinine, Mercurial, Arsenic, and other treatments where the medicines used accumulate, & become deposited in the system.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is the best and cheapest, and safest remedial agent that can be used for FEVER and AGUE, Billious, and other Fevers.

NOT ONE

person need suffer, be they ever so much exposed to Fever and Ague, if they will only take Radway's Ready Relief, and keep their bowels open with Radway's Pills. Hundreds in the west, who have heretofore been doctoring at the rate of one and two hundred dollars for a few months' treatment, are keeping themselves and families free from Fever & Ague, Chills and Fever, Rheumatism, &c., for one or two dollars a year, spent for Radway's Ready Relief & Radway's pills(coated.)

Radway's Ready Relief is an old established remedy. Under the new process of manufacture, it secures properties that will cure and prevent Small-Pox, Typhoid and Scarlet Fever, Asiatic Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, &c., and as a Pain Remedy it acts like magic. NOT ONE HOUR need one suffer with pain, or remain one week lingering in bed from Rheumatism, or any other acute or inflammatory disease. The Ready Relief will afford instant ease to all. Price only 50 cents per bottle.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county," and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

The Broken Engagement.

BY THADDEUS W. WILLS.

That was an elegant drawing-room in Mr. Miles Gardiner's house, and any one might have concluded that he was in good circumstances, even if report in business circles should not have represented him as being wealthy. And that pretty daughter of his, Netty by name, moved amid the elegancies of her home, in elegant dresses. And Netty's manners were elegant, too; and all things considered, she was what is sometimes called a "prize"—that is, that is the young man who should win her would secure a pretty accomplished bride, and a fortune into the bargain. So the talk ran. And Netty had not a few suitors. On New Year's Day, that drawing-room of hers would be filled with young men in fashionable attire, each and all of them on the watch for a look, a glance, the slightest turn of that bright, blue eye.

So it was on the New Year's Day of 1868. There sat Netty in the middle of the room—not prettier than a hundred fresh, young girls who might have been selected from the neighboring houses, but pretty. And the word has a meaning that young men appreciate.

A door leading to a back apartment was opened, and an elderly gentleman appeared and took his stand upon the threshold, and surveyed the company, with a knowing in his eyes. The old gentleman was Miles Gardiner, Netty's father. He came in and took a seat.

It was late in the evening, and the company departed, one after the other, until only four remained. And each one of these four was evidently eager to have a word in private with Netty. It was clear that they had determined to sit each other out, though it became a question whether the old gentleman would not sit them all out.

A jovial spirit seemed to have seized him. He cracked his jokes, told his stories, laughed at them, and made himself as agreeably disagreeable as it was possible for an elderly gentleman, under the circumstances, to be.

For the two hundredth or three hundredth time within the hours devoted to calling, the bell rang.

An anxious, expectant look flitted over Netty's face. She half rose from her chair, as though determining to go to the door herself, in advance of the slow servant; and then she rose to her feet and went. She entered the hall, closed the drawing-room door, and opened the front door. A young man stood there.

"Ah, you are here at last!" she exclaimed. "Pretty, that you should make me the last call."

"It is the call of honor," he replied.

She closed the door, and they stood in the hall together.

"Here we are, brother and sister," she said, "and a new year upon us."

"We are friends, are we not?" he said. "But I keep you from other friends."

"Other friends!"

She perked her lips as she uttered the words.

"I suppose you have a parlor full?"

"Only four."

"Ned Harkins is there?"

"Yes."

"I come to congratulate you upon your engagement with him."

"Well—thank you."

She averted her face slightly, and looked down at her foot, as it played with the fringe of the mat.

"Good-by," said he turning suddenly to the outer door.

She caught his arm.

"Why, Sam," she exclaimed, "are you not going to stay."

"Not at this late hour. Ned will wish to see you alone for the remainder of the evening. I am your brother. So I may call myself. We have grown up together. That brings about the relationship.—We are not of one blood, and yet we are brother and sister. A brother would be in the way in there."

"If he doesn't like your presence, let him go!" she exclaimed, in a tone that was almost indignant.

"Do you speak so of your betrothed?"

"I would speak of any one who should not like your presence," she replied: and she curled her lip and let her foot play somewhat violently with the mat fringe.

"I heard of your engagement with him but an hour or two ago."

"He proposed last evening, and I accepted him."

Her face, as she spoke, was still averted, and turned toward the door. Her frame began to tremble, and then a sigh escaped from her lips.

"Hillo, there, Sam!" was called out from the rear hall-door, and Sam looked up and saw Netty's father standing in the door-way. "Come in here, and let's have a taste of New Year together.—Come in Sam."

Both Sam and Netty went, in response to the summons, and still Netty lingered in Sam's company; and Ned Harkins and the three young gentlemen sat in the drawing-room awaiting her return.

The engagement had been a sudden affair, and was not yet generally known.

After awhile, Mr. Gardiner, Netty and Sam, entered the drawing-room together, at the rear door, leading from the anteroom, where they had been partaking of New Year's cheer together.

The two young people were sad, and hardly uttered a word; the old gentleman did the talking, and his spirits rose higher and higher. Two of the young gentlemen immediately took their leave, and Ned Harkins, Netty's affianced, alone remained. He cast a dissatisfied look around, then toward Sam Weston, who withdrew to a table and looked over some engravings. Old Mr. Gardiner, too, received a look now and then; but he was not disposed to take the hint, and he staid, and then his spirits rose.

"Since I lost my fortune," he said, addressing Ned, "which calamity has come to me within a day or two, I have been thinking how happy I ought to be, in view of the fact that in retiring from this house, and the rather elegant mode of living, I shall have my friends following me."

Netty, who had been looking at him with some astonishment during this speech of his, now interrupted him with the exclamation:

"Father, what do you mean!"

"I have not told you," said he. "Well, I thought I would reserve the announcement till to-day. You did not know that my fortune has taken to itself wings and flown away, and that I shall have to turn to and work in my old age. But I am of a cheerful turn of spirits, and will not worry. You, child, will not be able to afford so much dress in future, but I am sure you will not complain."

With tears in her eyes, Netty arose and put her arms around her father's neck and kissed him. Sam stepped forward and took his hand. Ned Harkins arose & bade them good-evening, and went out. Netty accompanied him to the door.

"Netty," said he, "I—I don't know—well, you see—I mean——"

"What do you mean?"

"Do you think this had better—better continue?"

"What had better continue?"

"This—hem!"

"Our engagement?"

"Yes."

"No. And I was about to tell you awhile ago that I thought I did not love you, but that I had engaged myself to you in a mere girlish whim. And now that it comes out that father has lost his fortune——"

"Oh, I don's mean that!"

"Oh, don't you? Well I do. Good-night, sir."

"Good-night. Let us shake hands at parting."

"No; you shall never touch my hand again. Good-night."

He went out. She closed the door.—When she returned to the drawing-room she found Sam alone. The old gentleman had withdrawn. Netty burst into tears. Sam stepped forward and took her hand.

"Netty," he said, "is our relationship that of brother and sister?"

She did not reply. He continued:

"Now that your father has lost his wealth, and since he is old, our need a friend. If you do not find Ned Harkins all that you ought to find him, look to me."

"I have dismissed him."

A long silence ensued upon this statement.

"And why?" he at length asked.

"I do not love him. He does not love me. I took him while in a whimsical mood. He is gone, and I am so glad!"

"Are we but brother and sister, Netty?"

"Are we?"

"No!"

"Then I say no," she said.

"I am more to you than a brother," he said. "Netty, I could be satisfied with no relationship to you except that which is nearest and dearest. I love you, and would marry you."

She turned her face to his, and kissed him.

The old gentleman, who seems to be ever lastingly about, must needs now come in to interrupt them. In he came, with a smile all over his face.

"What's all this?" he called out.—"Sam what are you about? Kissing Netty! Netty you minx; what do you mean by letting Sam kiss you?"

"I am her protector now," said Sam, straightening up and smiling. "And I will be yours, too, if you will let me.—Netty will marry me, and you shall live with us under one roof. I am not rich, but I have hands, and I hope I have such a share of brains as will enable me to provide for us all. You will let me be your son?"

"God bless you, Sammy. Yes!" exclaimed the old man. "But where is that Harkins Netty?"

"Sent him packing, eh? He didn't like the idea of my losing my wealth, I guess. To tell the truth, I haven't lost it, and am just as rich as ever."

"Pat" exclaimed Netty, flinging her arms about her father's neck.

"And," continued the old gentleman, "instead of your providing a roof for me, Sam, I will provide one for you. Shall have a handsome house, Sam—you and Netty; and I hope we shall have under it many a happy New Year.

And so they did. And the old gentleman trotted two grandchildren on his knee, and grew jollier than ever, as time wore on.

As to Ned Harkins, he got sour, and he ever rued the day when he gave up Netty Gardiner, for, as he thought, she would not have broken the engagement unless he had prepared the way.

INDIA RUBBER CARRIAGES.—This is the latest novelty, the patent has been obtained, a company has been organized and the first vehicle has been turned out and is now on exhibition at New York, attracting much attention. This use of vulcanized rubber promises to work a complete revolution in the manufacture and cost of carriages. The body, dash and seat are all made of rubber at perhaps one fifth of the cost of the long seasoned, expensive wood employed. The rubber for the body of the carriage on exhibition cost only ten dollars. It requires no painting and is so polished as to shine like a mirror. Three months time of a complete workman, which are now given for the polishing and finishing of a simple carriage, is now superceded by the work of two or three hours, in which a beautiful surface is produced, which does not soil by any amount of handling.

Edwardsville, Cleburne County, Ala.

Inasmuch as Editors belong to the public—are expected to know every thing—to tell all they know, and sometimes a great deal more, which they never fail to do; we suppose we shall be excused for giving a brief account of our first visit to the new Town of Edwardsville, the County seat of our sister county of Cleburne, and all we saw and learned by the way.

We left home on Monday morning, passing through the quiet and beautifully located little village of White Plains, six miles east, than which there is none other in the State, more harmonious, hospitable and moral, or that can boast of a better class of citizens, including those of the surrounding country. After leaving Whiteside's Mill about one and a half miles east, we passed through a verry hilly, broken country, thinly settled, almost the entire distance to Edwardsville; nevertheless, a country susceptible of great and valuable improvement, for orchards, vineyards, stock grazing, &c. and some portions believed to contain valuable deposits of gold, which will one day be developed. On arriving at Edwardsville, we met our old friend Jas. P. Thompson, Esq. with whose acquaintance many pleasant memories of the past are connected, and accepted his invitation to partake of his hospitality during our stay. We found at Edwardsville a good start for a county-seat Town, and several new buildings in process of construction. While there we met with James Baker, Esq. the competent and accommodating Circuit Clerk, made several new acquaintances, and also renewed a former one with Wm. R. Hannecutt, Esq. the newly appointed Judge of Probate, whom we doubt not, with the experience he has had a Clerk of the former Judge, will make an upright, competent and faithful officer.

We left early next morning, returning by way of Davisville and White Plains. We stopped at Davisville an hour or two, and found there several business houses, mechanic shops, and some manufacturing carried on also the "Platonic Institute," a flourishing Academy, with now about 85 pupils, and having for its Principal, that experienced, competent, faithful and justly popular Teacher, Rev. R. G. Ragan, and Mr. Hiram M. Evans, also a very competent and efficient assistant. For much of its business prosperity and other advantages, this place is greatly indebted to the energy and enterprize of J. F. Davis, Esq. who was one of the first settlers if not founder of the place.

After leaving Davisville, we stopped for an hour or more at the residence of that large-hearted, enterprising and successful farmer, Capt. W. R. Hanna, formerly a representative from this county, and at present one of the Vice Presidents of and most zealous members of the Calhoun Agricultural Society. After partaking of his hospitality, which we knew was as free as the gushing springs of pure water around and near his quiet dwelling, we walked with him to see his splendid wheat and clover fields. He has, we think he stated, over one hundred acres in white wheat, all of it fine, and some very superior—from 5 to 6 feet in height, and which he gave it as his opinion, without some future disaster, would yield from 20 to 25 bushels per acre. His clover also, some 30 or 40 acres, although sown only last month one year ago, was very fine—about knee high. He expected to cut into it with his mowing machine on the next Monday, and if we mistake not, said he was confident some acres would turn out three tons to the acre of hay.—Returning, we also examined some of his Reaping and Mowing Machines, Plows, &c. For the sale of which he is Agent, and we were glad to learn from him that the demand for them was increasing.

Passing through White Plains, in compliance with a previous promise, we stopped for a short time at the residence of M. P. Johnson, Esq. to examine King's patent Bee Palace, of which he has a number and for which he is the agent for this County. Without attempting a lengthy description, which we perhaps could not make intelligible, we will only say here, that it is considered by many, who have experience in bee keeping, and have studied the subject thoroughly, to be the best ever invented—that it is the only perfect security against the moth, and that is by affording access to every part of the hive, by which they may be removed when they gain access—for a moth can and will go wherever the bees can. Now worms can be made if worse enough to divide, or a portion of a strong hive added to a weak one—ample honey taken from one hive and added to another that needs it—comb transfered from one hive to another—and in short every conceivable advantage that could be desired. We also visited Mr. Johnson's orchard and vinyard; the latter containing now about four acres with vines well set, in healthy condition, of almost every variety; some of them only two years old now bearing. We hope to see the time when our county will contain many such farmers as Messrs. Hanna & Johnson, and are glad to know that they are on the increase, deeply imbued with the spirit of improvement.

We were accompanied on this altogether pleasant tour, by the junior member of the mercantile firm of E. L. Woodward & Son, who seemed at every point to make friends and patrons, and add to their already extensive business.

A VALUABLE BOOK.—We have been favored by Mr. W. F. Hanna, of Oxford, with a copy of "The Farmer's Book," containing a vast amount of practical information on Agriculture, Stock raising, Fruit culture, special crops, Domestic economy, Family Medicine &c. Illustrated with one hundred and forty Engravings, by Charles W. Dickerman. This work is more valuable to the farmer than monthly periodicals, inasmuch as it is not encumbered with unprofitable theories and controverted opinions, but contains in a condensed form, ascertained facts, and practical results. The work contains 750 pages, with a copious index for convenient reference, is securely bound, and sells we believe at only three dollars. No farmer should be without one, and could hardly fail of being benefitted every year, at least ten fold its cost.

Mr. Hanna is a citizen of our county, and an efficient and reliable agent, in whose statements and representations the most implicit confidence may be placed.

☞Attention is invited to the advertisement of the sale on Monday next, by G. C. Ellis, Ex'r, of the Earle Lot. We may safely say that it is one of the handsomest situations for a residence in the Town or vicinity, containing about twelve acres of Land. A bargain will very probably be obtained by some one.

Terms of Annexation—Statistics, &c

We publish below a synopsis of the terms and conditions agreed upon by the Commissioners appointed by the States of Alabama and Florida, to arrange for the cession of West Florida to Alabama.—We also present some interesting statistics of the country proposed to be ceded.

The terms agreed upon are in substance as follows:

1st. Conveys to the State of Alabama all the country in the State of Florida lying West of the Apalachicola River.

2d. Conveys to the State of Alabama all the public lands in West Florida, which consist of what is known as Seminary lands, the 16th section lands, and swamp and overflowed lands, amounting in round numbers to about 1,500,000 acres. These lands the State of Alabama takes subject to the trusts now imposed upon them—which trusts are for the benefit of West Florida exclusively, for purposes of schools and internal improvements. The State of Florida has authority to appropriate these lands for the purposes of the trust until the annexation is complete, and guarantees the titles to the State of Alabama perfectly free and unincumbered.

3d. The State of Alabama, upon the consummation of annexation, executes its bonds to the State of Florida for one million of dollars, payable within thirty years, at eight per cent. interest.

4th. The officers of West Florida retain their offices until the expiration of their terms.

5th. The Governors of the two States shall, within sixty days after the assent of Congress is given to this transfer, issue their proclamations declaring that jurisdiction over the ceded territory has been transferred to the State of Alabama.

6th. A Railroad from the Apalachicola River to Pensacola, or to some point on the Montgomery & Mobile Railroad, shall be entitled to the benefit of the endorsement law of the State of Alabama, ($16,000 per mile.)

8th. The Savannah & Gulf Railroad shall not receive permission from the State of Alabama, within three years, to pass across the ceded territory.

9th This agreement has no force until it shall have been ratified by competent authority of the States of Alabama and Florida, and by Congress.

Something over 1,200,000 acres of the public lands mentioned in the second item, are swamp and overflowed lands and internal improvement lands, while were carefully selected, and are said to be very valuable.

The State of Florida receives 5 per cent. of the proceeds of the sale of all Government lands within its borders. This per cent. upon the Government lands in West Florida is transferred to Alabama.

Under an imperfect revenue law, the revenues realized last year from the territory proposed to be ceded, amounted to $51,000. A more perfect law would have brought perhaps $50,000. But as it was, the rate of taxation of Alabama being higher than that of Florida, the sum realized under our laws would have been about $78,750.

The area of the counties of West Florida is about 16,000 square miles, with a shore line on the Gulf of Mexico of about [illegible]. Their productions are cotton, corn, rice, tobacco, sugar, molasses and lumber. Besides Apalachicola Bay, which is very much like Mobile Bay, there are three other harbors of note in West Florida, viz: Pensacola, the most commodious on the Gulf, and easy of approach and entrance by vessels drawing 21 feet water; St. Joseph, and St. Andrews both excellent harbors, and accessible by vessels drawing 16 feet.

The following statistics of the counties proposed to be ceded, will enable the tax payers of Alabama to calculate the revenue to be derived from them, with which to meet the interest upon the purchase money. At the same time it should be kept in mind that the present value of Pensacola, St. Andrews Bay and St. Josephs Bay, and the splendid farming lands around Marianna, presents an adequate idea of what their value would be after the completion of the Fernandina & Pensacola Road, and the completion after three years, of the Savannah & Pensacola Road, and the opening up of Pea River navigation into the counties of Dale, Henry, Geneva, Coffee and Pike:

Counties	1861 Whites	1861 Blacks	Property other than slaves in 1860.
Escambia	3,732	2,153	$1,11,150
Santa Rosa	2,111	505	1,164,156
Washington	1,946	562	281,221
Walton	2,329	202	247,092
Holmes	1,069	95	158,860
Jackson	4,241	4,499	3,205,511
Calhoun	1,015	585	250,570
Franklin	1,349	556	2,015,944
	17,813	8,878	$8,261,162

States Taxes assessed in 1867		$51,245 92
County "	"	16,049 69
Fines collected	"	1,599 67
Licenses	"	2,550
Auction Tax	"	194 26
Total		$51,639 62

With these data before the readers of the MAIL the value of the district under consideration may be pretty accurately seen.

Upon the basis of the value of real estate and personal property in 1860, exclusive of slaves, (and there is little reason to suppose that the old value will not be speedily restored in that section) the taxes derived under the present revenue law of Alabama, ½ of one per cent., would amount to $61,980. Add to this the revenue derived in 1860 from fines, licenses and auction, $17,591 40, and we have an income from West Florida of $79,471 40, as against $80,000 "outcome" for interest on the million dollar of bonds. It appears, therefore, that Alabama will not be the loser even as the country now stands. She will be immensely the gainer in view of the impetus given to the railroad system which concentrates at Pensacola.

The acquisition of Pensacola would be of vast importance to East Alabama as a coaling station, which would attract the fleets of every nation and thus introduce our resources and commodities to every part of the globe. It would be of vast importance to West Alabama and Mobile, since the Mobile, Pensacola and Fernandina road would be the natural continuation of the Memphis and Ohio, and of the proposed Grand Trunk Road to Elyton. Mobile could then draw to herself and forward to Fernandina or Savannah, the cotton which now goes over the circuitous Georgia Central. West Florida will also be largely the gainer. The State aid granted by Alabama will complete the road from the Apalachicola to Pensacola, and after three years the road from Bainbridge, counting Savannah and Pensacola, and the road from Tolleo to Pensacola. These connections would greatly enhance the value of real estate in Pensacola, Milton, St. Andrews Bay, St. Joseph's Bay and Marianna. Besides these railroads which are now in process of construction, Pensacola would be able to open the Choctawhatchie to the interior of South Alabama, and draw to herself the 10,000 bales of cotton which now go to Columbus and Savannah. The opening of this river would result in the building of a respectable shipping town at the point where the Fernandina and Pensacola Road will cross the Choctawhatchie.

Florida herself will be immensely the gainer by receiving an annual revenue of $80,000 from the Alabama bonds, and by securing the completion of roads from Fernandina and Jacksonville, through Tallahassee to Mobile, thence to New Orleans, and thence to El Paso, making a grand section of the Southern Pacific Rail Road. There appears little doubt that the wealthy corporation which is building the road from Mobile to New Orleans, and which has secured immunity grants and right of way to El Paso will become the Southern Pacific Company. If so, the natural terminus of this road upon the Atlantic must be across Florida, with four months, at Fernandina, dark on the Brunswick and Savannah. Alabama stands ready to build the link between the Apalachicola and Mobile.

In whatever light therefore we may view this question, it appears that all parties will be benefitted by the ratification of the proposed treaty.

From the Montgomery Mail.

The Rise in Gold—Is It War?

Gold has bounded up in the past week with a spasm which looks as though the galvanic battery of war had been applied to its legs. It is said, with how much reason we do not know, that this rise has been occasioned by the condition of our foreign affairs. Let us see how they stand! On Monday last Secretary Fish spent some time in consultation with the President over the instructions of Minister Motley. The Secretary of the State read the instructions carefully to the President and received his assent to them prior to their being sent to Mr. Motley at New York. What the precise nature of them is cannot be made public. That part of them which relates to the Alabama claims, however, is understood to be founded, substantially, on the speech of Senator Sumner with regard to a demand upon Great Britain for a national apology in addition to payment in full for damage to our commerce. He considers this would be treated by Great Britain as equivalent to a declaration of war, and, therefore, would not be entertained if presented by Minister Motley. Mr. Fish was barely in favor of going so far as Mr. Sumner in other matters connected with the Alabama claims, but the President was of the opinion that the people demanded a firm policy towards Great Britain on this question, and therefore, overruled the Secretary.

It must be apparent that the exhorbitant demands of Mr. Seward for material indemnity, backed by the President, is equivalent to proposing terms which must be immediately rejected by Great Britain and which must lead to the recall of Mr. Motley and a declaration of war. The Washington Chronicle of the 14th, a newspaper which professes to speak and has actually spoken on all occasions heretofore the views of the President and his friends, confirms our apprehension that the instructions given Mr. Motley are the basis of war. The Chronicle says:

"Whatever may be the hopes & desires of the American people for a peaceful settlement of the Alabama difficulty, it seems to have become clear that we may in the end be forced into means for the reparation of our wrongs and the maintenance of the national integrity. This is an unpleasant truth, but it would be worse than idle to attempt to conceal or disguise it; it would be censurable. We do not suppose that the people of this country desire hostilities, or that they would sanction recourse to them by this government except as a last resort, and after all other honorable means had failed.—Nevertheless, if war is forced upon us, England will find us ready to accept and prosecute it as becomes our cause and our resources."

The same article, which from beginning to end is belligerent and defiant toward Great Britain, insisting that she is "in an ill conduction for war," and that we are prepared to humble her pride the writer says:

Where the national interests and national honor have been assailed and injured in a most wanton and agravated manner by a government with whom we await peace, and which professes friendship for us, there can be only one alternative, reparation or war. If England deems it wiser to refuse the former and incur the latter, in other words, if she refuse us justice and compels us to seek it by force, we shall regret the situation, but accept it with a full sense of the righteousness of our cause. We trust, however, she will give the matter careful deliberation before deciding to transfer settlment from the cabinet to the field.

These are bold, high words to come from a paper purporting to be the organ and the sole organ of the administration.

Oats Against Broomsedge.

With the loss of the labor on our large farms and plantations, the area in cultivation has been gradually but steadily reduced. On many farms, only the basins and lower places are now in cultivation, while broad margins of unsightly broomsedge cover the hill sides and higher places. These sedge fields injure the land, endanger the fencing, and greatly disfigure the appearance of our best farms. As the sedge gradually approaches, and is firmly set, the fences are removed in and the farms reduced. We wish to enter our protest against this bad management and mistaken economy. If you are unable to cultivate your thin lands, sow them down in oats. This will give you good food for mules and horses and save your corn. Many seem slow to learn the fact that fifteen or twenty bushels of oats can be raised on an acre of land, that will not produce more than six bushels of corn. This can be done with one fourth of the labor required to make the six bushels of corn. It would greatly improve the condition of your stock to feed them oats and mixed food rather than keep them heated with corn, through the entire year on. Lay off your hill side ditches. Stop the gullies. Seed your thin land in oats. Select them in the fall, sow some good winter grazing grass. This will give you a great deal more by the winter and early spring, yield you a fair crop at harvest, and pay you handsomely for the labor expended. It will also improve your lands, benefit your stock, and add wonderfully to the appearance and value of your place.

If you want to sell, there is nothing that will freshen a place sooner than the sight of broomsedge.

A REVOLUTION IN THE OLD SYSTEM.—It has been for many years, say the Louisville Courier-Journal, a fixed belief among the practical men that the success of sorghum as a produce of sugar would revolutionize the entire sugar interest of the West Indies and the Southern States.

About a year ago a company was established in Kentucky, having for its object a thorough experiment in the manufacture of sugar from the Chinese cane. This company made its headquarters in Louisville, and went to work in a quick and business like way. Its experience is now an undoubted success. About eight miles out of town, on the plantations of Mr. Jones S. Sechrist, a car of the very fine description is being made out of sorghum in large quantities. All the original difficulties have been vanquished. Not an obstacle remains in the way of the enterprise. It is a complete success.

No one can investigate the matter without coming away with a very strong impression on his mind that the threatened revolution is in rapid progress of fulfillment. This sugar is in no way inferior to the best West India sugar, and it can be manufactured at one half the cost of the West India sugar.

It would be tedious and perhaps impossible to make plain to the mind of the reader the detail of the process of manufacture. It is simple, and the machinery, as we learn it is not expensive but it is necessarily full of technicalities, which would require the aid of illustrations to be described. Suffice it to say that the manufacture is in actual progress, and that there is no reasonable doubt that it will become a leading article of export from this market befor the end of the present year.

VIRGINIA STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—W. T. Sutherlin, Esq., president of the Virginia State Agricultural Society, has issued an address to the people of Virginia in which he says:

Come to our fair and witness all that genius, science and skill can accomplish to lighten the burdens and cheapen the cost of farming. Come and see the great improvements which have been made in machinery of every kind, by which one man is enable to do the work of ten. Come and feast your eyes on the collection of improved breeds of horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry of every kind that will contribute to the interest of the occasion. Come and examine the steam plow, the portable engine for farm purposes, the corn-sheller and sheller, the ditching machine, and every other improved agricultural implement by which your labor may be lessened and your profits increased.

We feel warranted in expressing the confident opinion that our next fair will equal, if not surpass, in interest and in the variety of articles on exhibition, as well as in the number of persons who will be present, any ever before held in the State. We expect to see there many persons from other States, and we cordially invite them to contribute of their industry and skill to the interest of the occasion. We desire that they, as well as our own people, shall witness what Virginians and Virginia soil are capable of doing.

WHEN trade grew slack, and notes fell due, the merchant's face grew long and blue; his dreams were troubled through the night, with sheriff's bailiffs all in sight. At last his wife unto him said: "Arise at once, get out of bed, and get your paper, ink and pen, and say these words unto the men: My goods I wish to sell to you, and to your wives and daughters too; my price are so very low, that each will buy before they go." He did as his good wife advised, and straightway went and advertised; crowds came and bought out all he had, his notes were paid his dreams were good and he will tell you to this day how well did printer's ink repay. He told us with a knowing wink, how he was saved by printer's ink.

Born Free and Equal.

The Impeacher utters the following: "Because the Republican demagogue professes to believe that all men are free and equal, he does not admit that every man has a right to manage a steam-engine, or to repair a watch. And yet he asserts that the most ignorant boor in the land has a right to interfere in the affairs of government. Is it therefore easier to govern a nation than a steam-engine? Is ignorance in watch-making more dangerous than ignorance in law-making?"

AN OLD FAMILIAR FRIEND—DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID.—We call the special attention of all housekeepers, heads of families, and the public generally, to the advertisement of Dr. Darby & CO. Every body who has used this fluid in the past will be glad to learn that it is again upon sale by druggists generally. As a disinfectant it has no equal, as a remedy for many of the infection which "flesh is heir to," it comes nearer being perfect, and to come up to what is claimed for it, than anything we have known. The Editor of the REPUBLICAN used it from the time it was first put upon the market until the war, and found it one of the most useful and valuable article which can be kept in a family. Therefore, we are glad that it is again being extensively manufactured. It is just exactly what is claimed for it. We commend it most cordially to the public.—La Grange Reporter, Nov. 20th, 1868.

READ THESE LINES AND PONDER THEM WELL.—The best tests of the merits of any proprietary articles is to ascertain what is thought of it at home where it is manufactured; such a test Lippmon's Pyrafuge can well stand, as to-day it is decidedly the favorite remedy for chills and fever, dumb ague and other diseases of a malarious origin, in the city of Savannah, where it is prepared. The principal druggists of the city would as much think of doing without castor oil in their stores as to be without this popular (and deservedly so) remedy. It is a vegetable preparation free from deleterious drugs, and acts as a tonic upon the entire system, thereby invigorating the system so much so as to enable it to throw off disease. Pyrafuge does not nauseate or sicken the patient, and can be taken by the most delicate person without fear. It should always be at hand, as chills and fever creep upon us so stealthily that we are not aware of its approach until it is upon us. A word to the wise is sufficient. tf.

Latest News.

FROM NEW ORMEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 24.—About 400 delegates to the Commercial Convention registered up to 11 o'clock this morning.

A row boat containing 18 men capsized Saturday, below the city. Eight men were drowned.

Eight firmen were severely, & a number slightly hurt by the falling walls at a fire on the corner of Canal and Common streets, Saturday night. Two are reported since dead.

FROM MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, May 24.—A disguised party stopped the train on Louisville & Memphis Road and attempted to rescue prissoners who were in hands of Revenue officers. They were fired into by the officers, and one of the gang killed. The assailants are supposed to belong to to the illicit distillery association, extending through East Tenn. and Mississippi.

FROM CHARLESTON

CHARLESTON, May 24.—A sudden and violent thunder storm swept over Charleston Saturday evening; damaging property, and capsizing boats in the harbor, by which a Mrs. Douglass and two children were drowned.

FROM LONDON.

LONDON, May 25.—The press continues bitter articles on the Alabama claims question. The Standard, tory, bitterly assails the radicals for addressing the Americans in language of affection and admiration. The flattery with which the Americans have been besmeared is the cause of their presents menacing attitude. No man with English blood in his veins should deal with Mr. Sumner's speech in such a feeble and unmanly strain. America had been deceived into the belief that England would meekly endure insult and humbly submit to chastisment. A message addressed to such a notion as England could only be answerd by a challedge. America remembers plain facts of the late war, and cannot be humbugged into the belief that the bulk of the English people approved of the subjugation of the South. Such assertions make Americans believe that England is telling lies to escape from a thrashing. We are never guilty of the meanness of denying the sympathies we entertainted in order to escape the displeasitre of a successful party. The educated classes who sympathized with the South are the nation—the masses are only their followers.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The steam tug William Parks exploded to day at the foot of Dock street, killing four persons.

The fire at Hunter's Point is still progressing. Over four heres are burning. Eight propellers and other vessels have been burned so far. Oil tanks on the docks are now burning. An explosion is expected. The loss will certainly exceed one million dollars.

FROM MOBILE.

MOBILE, May 16.—A fire occurrd on Commerce street, between St. Michael and St. Louis streets, last night, by which Childress & Davis, grocery dealers, Foster & Gardner, F. E. Stollenwerck & Bro., commission merchants; Ober & Anderson, feed store, and Baker & Co., forwarding merchants, were burnt out.

Col. S. T. Woodruff, one of the most prominent business men of the place, and President of the Board of trade, lost his life, and two others were severely injured by falling walls.

The loss is estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000.

From the Gadsden Times.

Statement of Mr. Roberts.

The Man who was so badly treated by the Military.

Thursday morning at 3 o'clock, the 22d of April I was arrested by Capt. Graighead, of the 5th U. S. cavalry. I was in my bed asleep, when I was awakened by some heavy rapping at my door. The house was surrounded by eighteen Yankees and two pilots. I got up, struck a match, lit a candle and opened the door, when three carbines were pointed at my breast. The first word they uttered was.—"You were in the fight at Hale store, d—n you, and we want revenge. Where are those horses you stole from us."

"I never stole your horses," I replied.

"You are a d—d liar," was answered, don't say you did'nt, come we can't wait on you any longer. Get your mule."

I got out my little.

Soldiers.—"Have you a negro here."

"I have. Do you want a man or woman?

Soldiers.—"A man sir, lead him out, where is he."

"He is in yonder house."

Two men went after the negro and brought him from bed out to the detail. The first question the soldiers asked him, was, "where were you yesterday. Was Sam Roberts at home."

"He was," replied the negro.

"You lie like h—l" replied the soldiers.

"No I don't" answered the negro.

"Where is the horses he rode home—what did he ride? A mule? Did'nt you feed the horses," all followed in quick succession.

"No sir from," the negro.

"You are a liar" again replied the ruffikees.

The negro then stated that he did not feed the horses, that no horses came there and that if they wanted to kill him for telling the truth, they would have to do so.

Officer.—"Come along d—n you, we'll take you along too," to the negro," then to the guard, "where is our pilot."

"He is hunting another watch," was answered, "the one he got is an old fashioned bulls eye, and he thinks he can get a better one."

We then set off and traveled four miles to Mr. Patterson's, where we halted and staied until daylight. There I was handcuffed. We remained an hour after daylight there and fed from Mr. Patterson's corn, which, I think, he got no pay for.—On strating the handcuffs were taken from my wrists, I was placed on my mule, and we started forward, reaching the command at Turkey Town about 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning. Then and there my troubles commenced fully. On arriving at headqvarters, the Captain in charge said to the Major.

"Well Major, here is the man that was reported to us as being in the fight at Hale's store."

Major.—"Come up here. Was you in that fight."

"No sir."

Major.—"You are a d—d liar, and then turning to the Captain, "what do you think of the horses Captain?"

Major—(To me) "Where are those horses, sir?"

"I don't know.

Major.—"You do know who got them, and where are they?"

"I don't know sir. If I knew I would tell you."

Major.—"Sergeant bring up the rope. We most hang this d—d bushwhacker and horse thief to that apple tree. We will now have revenge for the man murdered at Hale's. Put the rope around his neck."

Major—"Five men get there to the end of that rope and if he don't tell where the horses are in two minutes, hang him dead; now (to me) tell who has them and where they are?"

"I do not know, Major, who has them, nor where your horses are. If I did I would tell you."

"Hang him dead," cried the major.

One man raised me up to the height of about three feet, the others held the end of the rope until I hung about one minute. I well remember when the Major said, "Let him down; "Now (to me) I will give you one more chance to tell where the horses are and if you don't tell you will be left to that fine dead," again asking me of the horses. I again replied that I did not known and could not tell.—The rope was then ordered off my neck and the men directed to tie me to the rear end of a wagon, which was done. In a short time we moved off toward Gadsden. I had walked some four or five miles, when an order came back to have me put inside the wagon, handcuffed and the shed drawn so that none could see me. While in this condition we arrived in Gadsden. All this time my mule was out of my sight.

At the above town I heard a friend's voice. It was that of Col. Kyle. He had recognized the mule and on enquiry ascertained I was a prisoner. I was ordered out, when a conversation in relation to the mule ensued between Col. Kyle and myself which resulted in the Major giving the mule into the possession of Col. Kyle. During the talk I told Col Kyle that I was under arrest, was innocent etc, and for him to do all he could for me. He said he would. With some harsh language from the Major, I was ordered back into the wagon and moved on in the direction of Decatur, Alabama. As we crossed Little Wills Creek it swam the mules, and I knew not what moment the wagon led might float off, and me, which the cuffs on, sink to the bottom. After crossing Clear Creek, which swam again, the train halted and orders from Maj. Mala came back to draw the curtains well down and around, so that I could see nothing or any one see me. About 5 o'clock we reached the foot of Sand Mountain near Mr Gregory's, where we went into camp for the night. About sunset I was taken out to a tree which my handcuffs on, tied with a rope to it, and by orders from Maj. Mala received several lashes with a wagon whip. After I received the punishment and was returning from the tree, I espied a man that I knew sitting on his horse by the side of the Major. I was ordered up to the Major and asked the question. "Did you ever see this man before, you d—d rebel?

Under the excitement, I could not locate him, although I knew his face.

"Con is my name," suggested the man.

"Yes, I know you." I replied.

Major.—"State, Mr. Con, how he treated you."

"Well, Major, I have told you what he done to me, (referring to war times) and as an honest deserter from the rebel lines to the federal lines, I would say kill him."

After ordering Mr. Con out of camps with the promise that I should be killed, the Major remarked to the quartermaster, "Take that d—d rebel. I turn him over to you. Whip him, saber him, hang him one time in the presence of our loyal citizen Mr. Con.

Quartermaster (to the Sergeant) "bring that d—d rebel up here, and take a big drink of whiskey, Sergeant, before you commence whipping him. How many did you just give him?"

"Seventy-five was the reply.

"Well, now put on one hundred and seventy-five, and by that time we will know where the two horses are."

The punishment was inflicted, the same questions were asked, like answers returned as before. I was then ordered to be tied to a tree, to remain all night. Next morning (Friday 23d) still with the cuffs on, I was tied behind a wagon, and walked all day, which gave me great pain.—At night we camped at a little place called Summit, where the order was to give me one hundred and seventy-five more lashes, and then if I did not tell where the horses were, to have me tied to a tree and my brains shot out.

The Major then said to me; d—n you is your life insured."

"No."

"I don't want to talk to a d—n rebel prisoner," was the next word, and in great angef, he took a saber and plunged it into my side and hip freely.

"On saturday morning, the order not having been executed, the order to the Sergeant was to take me out and hang me, as they could not be bothered with me any longer. The rope was brought up.

Sergeant—"Have we to hang this man?

"You have" was the reply.

On retiring, the Sergeant after some words with the guard, sent some one way and some another, he alone remaining with me. After handling the rope awhile with anxiety, he laid it down, picked up a cup and stepped off some seventy-five yards to a spring, pretending to get water, leaving me entirely unguarded. I did not, however, try to escape.

After the guard returned they called me up and released me, telling me to go home to my family, all saying at the same time, if they had the men that reported me they would hang them. I will not give their names at present as there is a reason.

They got all the money I had about me, my knife and watch, which they claim their pilots took, though they were none too good to take it and lay the crime on my neighbors.

CENTRE, ALABAMA.

MR. GRANT.—I was for a long time a citizen of Calhoun county and have been a citizen of Cherokee county twelve years, and this is the first time in my life I was ever arrested, and the first time my honesty was ever impeached. I have given you only an imperfect sketch of the punishment inflicted on me. It is written in a hurry and badly composed, though what is writen is true. Put it in your paper and send me the same for six months, and I will pay you the next time I am in Gadsden.

Respectfully,
SAMUEL ROBERTS.

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Wakeness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc; also, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞Price, in sealed envelope, only 6 cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstartes from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consquences of self-abus may be radically cured without the dangerous of inturnal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land, every man in the land.

POETRY.

To My Mother.

I know thou art gone to the land of thy rest
Then why should my heart be so sad?
I know thou art gone where the weary are blest,
And the mourner looks uy and is glad;
Where love has put off in the land of its brith
The stain it had gained in this,
And hope the sweet singer that gladdened the earth
Lies asleep in the bosom of bliss.

I know thou art gone where thy forehead is starred
With the beauty that dwelt in thy soul;
Where the light of they loveliness cannot be marred,
Nor thy heart be flung back from its goal.
I know thou hast drunk of the Lethe that flows
Through a land where they do not forget;
That shuts over memory only repose
And takes from it only regret.

This eye must be dark, that so long has been dim,
Ere again it may gaze upon thee;
But my heart has revealings of thee and thy home,
In many a token and sign.
I never look up with a vow to the sky,
But a light like thy beauty is there
And I hear a low murmur like thine in reply
When I pour out my spirit in prayer.

In thy far away dwelling, wherever it be.
I believe thou hast vision of mine;
And the love, that made all things as music to me,
I have not learned to resign.
In the hush of the night, on the waves of the sea,
Or alone with the breeze on the hill.
I have ever a persence that whispers of thee
And my spirit lies down and is still.

And though, like a mourner that sits by a tomb,
I am wrapped in a matle of care.
Yet the grief of my bosom—O, call it not gloom
Is not the black grief of despair.
By sorrow revealed, as the stars are by night,
Far off a bright vision appears,
And Hope, like a rainbow—a creature of light—
Is borne like the rainbow, in tears.

The Use of Remembering.

"What's the use of remembering all this?" pettishly cried a boy after his father, who had been giving him some instructions left the room.

"I'll tell you what, remembering is of great service somtimes," said his cousin. "Let me read to you now. Pleas hear.

"My dog was once stolen from me,' says Mr. Kidd. After being absent thirteen months he one day entered my office in town with a long string tied round his neck. He had broken away from the felow who had held him prisoner. Our meeting was a very joyful one. I found out the thief and had him apprehended, and took him before a magistrate. He swore the dog was his, and called witnesses to bear him out. 'Mr. Kidd,' asked the lawyer, addressing me, 'can you give any satisfactory proof of this dog being your property?' Placing my mouth to the dog's ear—first giving him a knowing look—and whispered a litle communication known to only us two, Dash immediately reared up on his hind legs, and went through with a series of manuevers with a stick, guided mean while by my eye, which set the whole court in a roar. My evidence needed nothing stronger; the thief stood convicted, Dash was liberated, and amid the cheers of the multitude we merrily bounded homeward.'"

The dog's remembering was of service to him; it was taken as evidence in a court, and it fairly got the case. Yes, he was set free and the thief was convicted. Well, if remembering his master's instructions served a dog so well, how much more likely it is to be important for a boy to treasure up the instructions of his father? Now knowing what straits they may keep him out of.

NEW YORK, May 17

The Heardld states that Senator Sumner called at the White House to see the President last week, but Mr. Dent, the chief usher, having carried up his card, returned with the remark he would have to wait fifteen minutes. Mr. Sumner would not wait fifteen minutes for Napoleon, Victoria or any one else, and said that when Mr. Grant wanted to see him he could send for him. With that he withdrew in a rage and told a friend that the White House was nothing but a milatary camp.

Congressman Shanks called on Secretary Fish on Saturday; waiting for an hour and a half he left in disgust, declaring that in the future the Secretary might keep his damned old piscatorial department to himself.

Important intelligence is expected from Cuba during the coming ten days. Government detetives report from varius ports along the cost movement of small, suspicious looking crafts, and there is no doubt that expeditions are still being fitted out, and that arms and ammunitions of war are still being transported from the United States to the Cubans and the Spaniards too.

The Times speaking of the recent advance in gold says, under an administration of retrenchment, economy and revenue collection, the premium on gold ought to fall and the public credit in all respects be strengthened. Such a large, quick and unexpected advance as that of last month, deranges business and values, and works greatly to the detriment of the mercantile interests of the country. No doubt that the carrying out of the ideas of Gen Grant's inaugural, with a sound treasury policy and a proper treasury administration, would prevent these embarrassing and injurious fluctuations and at the same time solidly re-establish the public credit.

After reading this advertisement, need any one SUFFER with PAIN.

Radway's Readey Relief

IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERR PAIN.
IS A CURE FOR EVERY PAIN

It was the first, and is the only PAIN REMEDY, that will instantly stop the most excruciating pains, allay INFLAMMATION, and CURE CONGESTIONS, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, or other glands and organs, by one application

IN FROM ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

will, in from ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES, afford ease and comfort, and this medicine, so rapid in stopping pain, can be purchased for 50 cts per bottle at almost every druggist's and country merchant's store on this continent, and within one hour's distance of almost every habitation in the United States.

MILLIONS who have used Radway's Ready Relief for 25 years know that ONE 50 cent bottle, diluted in one gallon of proof spirits, will make a better Liniment, Pain Paint Killer, Panacea, King of Pain; equal in quantity to 144 Bottles of the Sizes of those Lotions that are sold at 25 cents.

And the public should also know that all these lotions are but poor imitations of RADWAYS READY RELIEF. If those who are now suffering Pain—no matter what the cause may be, or by what name it is called—if external, apply Radway's Ready Relief to the part of the body where the pain is present. If INTERNAL, 20 DROPS diluted in water, as a drink; whether Cramps, Sprains, Inflammation, Congestion, Asiatic Cholera, Chills and Fever, the most violent, excruciating, and torturing pains, will be stopped in from

ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.

One fifty cent Bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will do more service, and cure more complaints that are daily occurring in every family than $25 expended in proscriptions for drugs.

There is not another remedial agent in this world that will cure FEVER AND AGUE; and all other Malarious, Billious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow and other Fevers (aided sometimes with the Radway's Pills,) so quick and without annoyance to the patient, or leaving ill effects after the cure, as Radway's Ready Relief.

Millions of people throughout the world know how quick it will cure all ordinary complaints; for in all diseases where PAIN, INFLAMMATION, or CONGESTION is present, its effects are instantaneous. But in FEVER and AGUE, Asiatic Cholera, Yellow Fever, as these diseases are exhibited in the tropics.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF has proved infallible, and will cure these terrible fevers quicker, without entailing the frightful penalties of ENGORGED LIVER, FAT SPLEEN, DISORDERED KIDNEYS, and saffron-colored skin, that are sure to follow the use of the "Chologogues." "Ague cures," and other agents of the heroic Quinine, Mercurial, Arsenic, and other treatments where the medicines used accumulate, & become deposited in the system.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is the best and cheapest, and safest remedial agent that can be used for FEVER and AGUE, Billious, and other Fevers.

NOT ONE

person need suffer, be they ever so much exposed to Fever and Ague, if they will only take Radway's Ready Relief, and keep their bowels open with Radway's Pills. Hundreds in the west, who have heretofore been doctoring at the rate of one and two hundred dollars for a few months' treatment, are keeping themselves and families free from Fever & Ague, Chills and Fever, Rheumatism, &c., for one or two dollars a year, using Radway's Ready Relief & Radway's Pills (coated.)

Radway's Ready Relief is an old established remedy. Under the new process of manufacture, it secures properties that will cure and prevent Small-Pox, Typhoid and Scarlet Fever, Asiatic Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, &c., and as a Pain Remedy it acts like magic. NOT ONE HOUR need one suffer with pain, or remain one week lingering in bed from Rheumatism, or any other acute or inflammatory disease. The Ready Relief will afford instant ease to all. Price only 50 cents per bottle.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 16th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.
