Great Remedies.
DR. JOHN BULL,
MANUFACTURER AND VENDER OF THE Celebrated
Smith's Tonic Syrup!
FOR THE CURE OF AGUE AND FEVER,
OR CHILLS AND FEVER.
THE proprietor of this celebrated medicene justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe certain speedy and permanent cure of Ague and fever, or Chills and Fever whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and South western country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure. If the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficent for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health It is however prudent, and in every case more certain to cure if its use is continued in smller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult & longstanding cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of Bull's Vegetable Family Pills will be sufficient.

BULL'S
WORM DESTROYER,
To my United States and World-Wide Readers.
I HAVE recieved many testimonials from professional & medical men, as, my almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following from a highly educated and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever recieved. Dr Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and his testimony deserves to be writen in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctors say of Bull's Worm Destroyer:
VILLANOW, WALKER COUNTY, Ga June 29, 1866.
DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: I have recently given your "Worm Destroyer" sevral trials, and find it wonderful effecicious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for ome articles of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you, is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine directly from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line of M. D.'s. but I see not just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to aleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms.
I am, sir, most respectfully.
JULIUS P. CLEMENT, M. D.

BULL'S
SARSAPARILLA.
A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.
Read the Captain's Letter and the Letters from his mother:
Benton Barracks, Mo., April 30, 1866.
DR JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficacy of your Sarsaparilla, and the healing and beneficial qualities it posesses, I send you the following statement of my case.
I was wounded about two years ago—was taken prisoner & confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not sat up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in any thing eles. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige
CAPT. C. P. JOHNSON,
St. Louis, Mo.
P. S.—The following was written April 30, 1865, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Capt, Johnson.
DR. JOHN BULL.—Dear Sir. My husband Dr C. S. Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in central New York, where he died leaveing the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhea and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. IT CURED HIM. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio, and Iowa, for scrofula, fever soars, and general debility. Perfect success has atended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever soars were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is fearful of getting a spurious article, hence his writing to you for it. His wounds were terrible, but I believe he will recover. Respectfully,
NIEGEN JOHNSON.

BULL'S
CEDRON BITTERS.
Arkansas heard from.
Testimony of Medical Men.
Stone Point, White Co., Ark., May 23, 1866.
DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir. Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedron Bitters.
My son-in-law, who was with me in the store has been down with rheumatism for some time, commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved.
Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and also improved.
Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—he improved very much by the use of your Bitters Indeed the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this settlement. I think I could sell a great quantity of your medicines this fall—especially your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care of Rickett & Neely. Respectfully,
C. B. WALKER.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15th, 1868.
Allow me to call your attention to my
Preparation of Compound Extract Buchu.
The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.
MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.
Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates, the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.
Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation.
With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,

POETRY.

The following by R. H. Wilde, is worth publishing at least once a year:

My Life is like the Summer Rose.

My life is like the summer rose
That opens to the morning sky,
But ere the shades of evening close,
Its scattered on the ground to die.
Yet on the rose's humble bed
The softest dews of night are shed,
As if she wept such waste to see;
But none shall shed one tear for me.

My life is like the autumn leaf
That trembles in the moon's pale ray;
Its hold is frail, its date is brief,
Restless and soon to pass away.
Yet when that leaf shall fail and fade,
The parent tree will mourn its shade,
The winds bewail the leafless tree;
But none shall breathe one sigh for me.

My life is like the print that feet
Have left on Tampa's desert strand,
Soon, as the rising tide shall beat,
All traces vanish from the sand.
Yet, as if grieving to efface
All vestige of the human race,
On that lone shore loud moans the sea;
But none shall thus lament for me.

Wonderful Discovery.

A Box of Coins and Valuable Ornaments, Supposed to have Been Buried by De Soto. Found Near Natchez, Mississippi, Great Value of the Treasure.

Many of our readers will no doubt remember the great excitement which existed about a year ago in this vicinity, caused by the assertions of an old negro sorceress that a quantity of the treasure of the once celebrated Captain Kidd was buried at a short distance from the National Cemetery, near what is familiary known as the "Devil's Punch Bowl."—Quite a number of our citizens, believing the story of this old woman, engaged in the work of digging for the hidden treasure in a spot in which, by the aid of the black art, she had pronounced it to be buried.

They progressed in their "labor of love" (of gain) for a number of weeks without success, and finally gave up in despair, a heavy rain having discommoded them to a discouraging extent. Time passed on, and the event has perhaps escaped the minds of nearly all to whom the mysterious affair was cognizant, and but for event which we are about to chronicle, would perhaps have never disturbed their brains again. However, we will on to our story, which is as strange as it is true.

Shortly after a heavy storm a few weeks ago, a couple of negro boys, while hunting in the vicinity of the excavations made by the discomfited treasure seekers of one year since, chanced to find a dingy old rusty box which was so bound with metal as to almost resemble an iron box. It was with difficulty that the two combined could move it, and to carry it was out of the question.

While one of them remained near this queer-looking old box, the other went home for his father. The father, his wife, and another colored man repaired to the spot, and remembering the old sorceress tale, at once concluded they had found at least a portion of the treasure. Events had proved that they were not amiss in their conjectures. But they moved very cautiously in the matter, lest they should be discovered, and so under cover of night the box was removed to their little cottage. Up to the early part of this week they confided their secret to no living person but a serious affair having occurred between the boys (being at first but vaguely hinted at) came to the ears of our reporter.—He repaired to the house on Wednesday night for the purpose of examining the treasure found. The box in which it was found is about three feet long by two feet wide, evidently made of species of cedar, and is firmly bound by strips of iron running around latterally and diagonally, and fastened with long nails, clinched inside. The treasure consists principally of ancient Spanish gold and gold and silver coin, dated from 1450 to 1530, and it is adjudged that there is at leased $30,000 worth of them. Besides the coin there are several gold buckles and various other articles, seemingly to have been worn as ornaments. A great number of silver ornaments were in the box, which it appearod were used as some part of their trappings.

It is impossible to tell what metal any of the coins or ornaments are composed of by their looks, for all have a mouldy, green appearance, fully attesting the lapse of time since they were buried. A little golden cross, with an image of our Saviour, established the religion of the people who buried the treasure, and from the date of the various coins it is believed that the treasure thus unearthed at this late day was buried by none other than the great Herando De Soto and his followers, about the year 1580, as it is well known that the discoverer of the mighty Mississippi was in this vicinity about that time, and also that he was seriously troubled by the hostile Indians.

A piece of parchment found in the box was so old and musty that no characters could be discovered upon it. As a whole, the discovery of this hidden treasure forms no inconsiderable event in our history, and will throw a new light upon the adventures of the hardy Spaniards who frequented the spot where now stands our beautiful city centuries ago. A number of individuals have visited the hut, and examined the coins, and all agree with the views of the writer as to whom the treasure was buried by.

A prominent gentleman has bargained for the box and its contents, with a view of removing them to New York, where the coins will bring a large price from antiquaries.

A NEST OF RATTLESNAKES KILLED.—Captain E. W. Booker, who resides two miles West of Greensboro, killed last week four rattlesnakes found under his dwelling. There was a nest of three young ones and the mother,—the male was not found. The old one had fifteen rattles, and, we learn, was five to six feet in length and three to four inches in diameter. The track of a very large snake had been seen in the yard, at times, for several years past. The nest was first discovered by children playing under the house, and who were within a few feet of it at the time.—Greensboro Beacon.

The Fruits of Jealousy.

The Nashville Union of May 4th has the following: One of the most sanguinary deeds growing out of jealousy we have seen any account of for many a day occurred a few days since near East Tennessee line in the edge of North Carolina, bordering on Blount county.

It appears that the wife of James Davenport became jealous of a young girl named Kate Jackson, represented as being quite handsome and loveable. Quarrels and contentions were fierce and frequent between the two ladies aforesaid.

On the day of fatal collision, it appears that Miss Kate Jackson, in company with her married sister, Mrs. D. Armand, passed the residence of the Davenport family. As soon as the sisters were discovered on the road, the Davenports, six in number, comprising the mother, three daughters, two of them grown, and two sons, rallied in force, and set about in vigorous pursuit of the defenseless sisters. The trail was continued until the sisters had nearly reached the Tennessee line. Here the Davenport brothers, by a military movement, strugetically flanked them and presented a front armed with sticks and stones. This caused Kate and her sister first to halt, and then to attempt to retrace their steps. But, was confronted by Mrs. Davenport and her three daughters similarly armed, who demanded Mrs. D'Armand to get out of the way, as they intended to kill Kate. But, instead of obeying this militia order, Mrs. D'Armand made preparations to defend her sister. Young Devenport, the elder son, seeing this opposition to his order, at once let go a stone at her, which took effect on her head, breaking her skull, and prostrating her lifeless on the ground.

The heroic Kate was thus, at the onset of the engagement, left to defend herself. She rallied and maintained her line by indiscriminately hurling upon the attacking party such flinty missels as came opportune to her. One of these shots took immediate effect upon the elder Davenport boy, slitting one side of his face open, and placing him hors de combat. Turning her attention then to the maternal head of the Davenport family, she directed a stone against her head that inflicted a severe wound and laid her sprawling on the field. This accomplished, the brave girl slowly fell back to a position where she could supply her self with necessary ammunition. This point obtained and being still besieged, she again discharged a shot, and another of the Davenport boys wilted. Then the Davenport girls rallied and made a desperate charge upon her with clubs and stones, inflicting serious wounds but not succeeding in getting her down. Just at this crisis Kate, hard pressed as she was, and having no time to stoop to gather rocks to defend herself extricated from her pocket a small pen-knife measuring about six inches in the blade and commenced an indiscriminate and very wild and general cutting and slashing at the combined Davenport girls surrounding her. The result of this fearful frenzy on the part of Kate was seriously detrimental to the well-being of the Davenport females. Two of them received serious slashes from the weapon she wielded, one of them dropping on the field from loss of blood let flooding the knife, and the other so seriously disabled as to be a fit subject for hospital practice.

This unexpected result contributed materially to the withdrawal of the remaining Davenports besieging party, who quietly removed their disabled from the the field, leaving the heroic Kate master of the situation.

The casualities sustained in this engagement only amount to the death of Mrs. D'Armand, with the probability that the elder Miss Davenport will die, and the crippling for life of four others of the Davenport family.

Kate Jackson was less injured than any one engaged in the fight and was able to carry her dead sister home after the battle closed.

As everything touching the Fenian excitement is of interest to the public, we give the following amusing account of the arrest of Gen. O' Neill, the Fenian commander, by United States Marshal Foster,

The article is from the New York Herald:

The King of France, with forty thousand men, Marched up the hill and then marched down again.

But this was nothing to General O' Neill's last invasion of Canada. He likewise marched up the hill; but he got into a fight, and while the battle was going on he came down on the side of the hill, and, entering a house perhaps for some refreshment, was claimed by the United States Marshal for the District of Vermont as his prisoner, the Marshal and deputy being on the ground and on the lookout for an overt act against our neutrality laws. General George P, Foster is the name of the Marshal. "Sir, I shall resist your arrest," said General O' Neill. "It will be useless, sir," said General Foster. "But, sir, I am armed,' said O' Neill. "So am I," said Foster. "John, open that carriage door Now, Mr. O' Neill ('Mr. O' Neill is good,) get into that carriage or I will put you in. I am going to take you to St. Albans right through the midst of your men, and if you make the slightest outcry I will shoot you dead." "Mr. O' Neill" saw that "the game was up," and so he surrendered, obeyed the orders of his superior officer, and was carried off, his unexpected adventures at the expence of the United States culminating in Burlington jail.

Now, of all the practical jokes ever played upon the commander of an army in the crisis of a battle, this joke upon O' Neill is the funniest. That United States Marshal Foster is not only a trump, but he is a wag; he has not only the coolness, tact and courage of a first rate officer and soldier, but he has also a vein of wit and humor that would make him an excellent comedian. The capture and abduction of "Mr. O' Neill" from his army in the crisis of its first battle, beats any curious things produced in military science by Fox, of the Olympic, or the nigger minstrels. In point of fun it beats the surprise and flight of Jack Falstaff from his highway plunder. This remarkable capture, however, of the Fenian General carries with it a good moral, and it is this; when in command of an army engaged in battle on a hostile frontier enter no house for rest or refreshment without first ascertaining who is inside.

The Force of the White Force.

The plea that the ratification is fraudulent; and therefore null, is the extreme of puerility. If that amendment were submitted to popular vote to-morrow, it would be overwhelming sustained.—State Journal, Rad.

Then, why did not Congress submit it to action of Legislatures to be elected after the proposition was made? Why did the Legislature of Ohio refuse to entertain the suggestion of Hon. Lewis D. Campbell that the ratification be submitted to a vote of the people of that State? Why do the Radicals refuse to consider the rescision of New York? Why did they violate the law in the case of Indiana, without waiting for a popular vote at the succeeding election? Why did they dragoon Virginia, Texas and Mississippi into terms? It appears to us that to consider the ratification anything but fraudulent is the extreme, not puerility, but of deception and tyranny. That a majority of the white vote were not for negro suffrage is evidenced by the fact that a majority of the white vote of the United States were against GRANT for President, although he had in his favor all the prejudices of the Northern side of the war.

GRANT received, nominally, 373,005 more votes than SEYMOUR, out of a total vote of nearly six millions. Grant's entire vote was 3,090,069 and Seymour's was 2,717,064. In Grant's majority of 373,005, is included the negro vote of Alabama, about 70,000; of Arkansas about 25,000; of Tennessee, about 45,000; of Missouri, about 50,000; of North Carolina about 80,000; of South Carolina about 60,000; of Louisiana about 30,000; of Georgia about 55,000—in all 415,000.

So, without the negro vote, Grant would have fallen far below Seymour upon the popular vote, even with the proscriptions, bayonet oppressions and frauds practiced by the Radical party. Now, considering the 50,000 whites disfranchised at that time in Tennessee; the 50,000 more disfranchised in Missouri; the 25,000 suppressed white majority in Virginia; the 40,000 whites excluded in Alabama by the test oath and an unfair registration; and we may conclude, without missing the mark very far, that the whites of the United States were in favor of Mr. Seymour and the Democracy by over two hundred thousand majority. The Radicals know very well that had their Reconstruction measures and Gen. Grant's claims to the Presidency, based upon those measures, been submitted to a plebiscite, they would have been beaten by an overwhelming majority. They were saved from defeat only by a free use of the bayonet and by the operation of the State electoral college system. If the United States were a pure democracy to-day, and the Radicals successful in wiping out State lines, the result would be disastrous to the existence of their party.

We recapitulate the last national vote, for the readers of the MAIL in the approaching canvass. We desire our friends to let the people understand that Mr. Seymour represented the white men of the United States in the last election, and that the Democratic party of Alabama will represent the white men of the Union in the approaching State election:

Horrible Death of A Bridegroom by Hydrophobia.—A death by hydrophobia under singular and very distressing circumstances occured in Yonkers, N. Y. Wednesday morning, the 18th inst. Thoms. Lamb, an engineer, who has been employed in Otis' factory, in Yonkers, and who was living in Brooks street, in that village, was bitten in January last by a large dog belonging to Mr. Bergen, in the brewery of that gentleman in Dobbs Ferry. Lamb's hand was not much lacerated by the dog, and no anxiety was felt as to serious consequences. The dog, a very valuable one, was, however, killed by Mr. Bergen.

On Tuesday of last week, young Lamb was married to the object of his choice, but again the wishes of her mother, who at once visited the young couple and expressed her feelings in pretty hard language, winding up with the wish that her daughter would be a widow in three months.

On the day after the wedding the husband showed symptoms of hydrophobia, and medical treatment for a time seemed to have a good effect; but subsequently Lamb sprang from his bed and fled to the woods, where he carried on all sorts of antics, jumped over fences and barked like a dog. His friends, aided by the police, captured him, and took him to his house, where his ravings, barking and hideous noises were of the most agonizing character. Early yesterday morning death ended his sufferings.

The following specimen love letter was dropped in the street by a young lady a few days ago:

"Oh My Dearest Mollie i will tri to ancer your Deer letter. O how my throbbing heart Does ake to Embrace you once again. O you Darling Rosy Bud want you marry me i hear the eko ancer, i will. Dont let that ugly thing take you Buggy Riding again. O how i felt the first time we touched our lips together. O how my hole frame quivered but i must stopp—i will go crazy. O how we will divide the sorrows and joys and comforts of life. Anser rite of from your, GEORGY

ROANOKE COLLEGE.—We were pleased to meet in our office, Monday, Mr. J. D. Dreher, the accomplished Travelling Agent for the above famed Institution of learning and that best of all Southern (or Northern) Magazines,—the XIX Century, published at Charleston. S. C.

Roanoke College, Salem, Va., is situated in the midst of some of the finest natural scenery in Virginia, midway between the Alleghany and Blue Ridge chain of mountains, and within six miles of the celebrated Botetourt and other mineral springs. Hollin's Institute, a flourishing Female College is situated at Botetourt. The close proximity of these two Institutions, gives parents the rare opportunity of having their sons and daughters educated near each other.

The course at Roanoke is most thorough, and her graduates are turned out finished scholars. The student at Salem is surrounded by the most refined society and a healthy moral atmosphere, much to be desired. The large list of students from Virginia attest the popularity of the College at home, and the yearly accession of others from other States, speak of its rapidly spreading fame abroad. The "Microcosm," an annual published by the secret fraternity of the College is, we believe, a new feature in College publications. It is a picture, each year, of the past with the honors, the friendships and the foibles of the student life of that year, and is calculated to recall in the man many pleasing recollections of alma mater, long after he has entered into the more real and earnest struggle of life.

To sum up: Its learned Faculty; its healthy location; the refined atmosphere which surrounds it; its splendid mail facilities; its proximity to another celebrated seat of learning &c., gives Roanoke College an advantage possessed by no other College South.

Mr. Nowlin of Gadsden, is a graduate of this College and would be, no doubt, happy to furnish any information concerning it, that parties might desire.

The "Microcosm" and Catalogue can be seen at this office.

The next Session begins Sept. 5th—expenses for Session of ten months about $210.

For further information address Rev. D. F. Bittle, D. D. Pres't., Salem Va., or J. D. Dreher, Travelling Agent. Columbia, S. C. Also see advertisement in another column.

We concur in the suggestion offered by "Many of the People" in another column, to call a County Convention on the 4th day of July, for the the purpose of organization; and would most respectfully suggest to the Executive Committee to name that as the day. This will give us four months to work in before the election, and two months in which to determine the action of our delegates in the State Convention, not an over sufficiency of time for either: What say the Committee.

We give most of our editorial space this week to our Correspondents. The fact is there is but little to write about. The party string has been about worn out. The Fenian war, we hoped, would furnish matter for some time to come; but that has ended as suddenly as commenced in a couple fiasco.

Last week's dispatches contained about all there was of the war. The Irish deserve more than they have yet accomplished; but they will never get the sympathy of the world until they organize a resistence sufficiently formidable to command respect. They seem to have incompetent leaders—men not even brave soldiers, let alone statesmen. The last war was hardly deserving of notice in the police reports. When they go at the thing in earnest, they have our sympathy.

☞The attention of our readers, especially those who are seeking health and recreation, is invited to the advertisement of Mr. JOSEPH A. PECK, lessee of the new Hotel at White Cliff Mineral Springs located in Monroe co. E. Tenn. We gave some account, in a letter from these springs, on a brief but pleasant visit last Summer. They have been greatly improved since, a new and commodious Hotel erected, and become quite a fashionable resort.

Mr. Peck is a polite, friendly and accommodating gentleman, who will not fail to give the most perfect satisfaction to his guests.

We assure our friends in this section and South Alabama, that they can find no more beautiful, healthy, invigorating and pleasant Summer resort anywhere in the whole country.

It is thought from calculation that the wheat crop this year will be greater than in the year 1857—the most celebrated wheat year on record.

We notice that many of our exchanges keep up the cry of 'all cotton and no corn.' Now,, it was very well for the papers to urge the planting of grain in the winter, when such advice was worth something; but now, when it can do no good, it is time to stop it. "Scant corn" publications only encourage the Western dealers to ask any price they please for produce, and the extravagant promises of a large yield of cotton next year only serves to put down the price of the present crop on hand. The supply and demand regulates the price in a great measure in each; yet such publications damage to a considerable extent. For instance, they encourage the hoarding of produce in our midst, which should be thrown on the market.

England.

LONDON' June 1.—The last surviving member of the brigands, who slaughtered the English in Greece, has been captured.

Address to the Voters of Calhoun County.

November next, it will be your privilege, and your duty to cast your vote for Governor, State officers and Representatives to the Legislature. This inestimable right you have not exercised for a considerable time. The Reconstruction acts and military force, have for a long time placed over you a set of rulers, a majority of whom are ignorant negroes and unprincipled adventurers, not to the manner born, the mere filthy scum that has been thrown to the surface by the late war, and drifted down to Alabama, placed in power over you, against your will, and in violation of the then, reconstruction acts of Congress. These ignorant negroes and carpet-baggers have been succored and supported in office by a few adjunct professors, appropriately called scallawags. These waifs have been tied on to the negro and carpet-bagger and floated into office, to be used like a circulating medium or bartered and sold in market like sheep in shambles. Your rulers and office holders are composed in the main of the above described putrid lumps of mortality.

They have, in a legislative capacity, imposed upon you many onerous, mischievous and wicked laws.

They have levied and collected from your heavy and onerous taxes—three times as much as is necessary to support the State Government, if administered economically and honestly.

They have created numerous offices, unnecessary and uncalled for, with large salaries, and filled them with their kith and kin in polities, in violation of the constitution—not letting the people vote to fill these offices.

They have refused, or neglected, to provide for the election of Justices of the Peace in each beat throughout the State, and instead they have passed a law creating two Notaries Public in each Beat in the State, and they are appointed by the Governor. This is done for a two fold purpose. One is to prohibit the people in the white counties from voting or selecting their own Justices, & the other is a cheap mode of subsidizing self-conceited or weak kneed men by throwing them the husk of office, and covering their vanity and weakness with the flimsy robe of Gubernatorial appointment.

They have increased the indebtedness of the State to an enormous sum, which will have to be paid and wrung out of the tax payer. Only two items will be here mentioned—the space allowed this article is not half sufficient to cover the other items.

To the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad has been appropriated $2,000,000, not of State indorsement, but out and out 8 per cent. State Bonds. In addition to this, $16,000 per mile indorsement of its bonds, for the entire length of the road, which is about 3000 miles; amounting to $4,800,000. This added to the $2,000,000 to one railroad. To the Montgomery & Mobile Railroad (a finished road) $2,500,000 of indorsement of its bonds. Making appropriations to two railroads only, $9,300,000.

They have corrupted the ballot box by passing highly penal laws, prohibitting any one from going in thirty feet of the polls after voting—or challenging an illegal vote. This was passed for the purpose of allowing the negro and the carpet-bagger who has no locality, individuality, or identity, to vote at different boxes as often as they please.

They have so arranged the fundamental laws, that no portion of the poll tax goes to the support of the State Government. This is done to favor the negro and carpet-bagger who have no visible property.

They have in the fundamental law, created two legislative bodies to make laws. The board of Education is made a legislative body, that originates and passes laws on all subjects connected with education. This legislative body has effectively destroyed your State University, they have a full set of professors with high salaries and nothing to do; and only six students in the University.

They have taxed the people hundreds of thousands of dollars to support free schools, and they have divided it out among a swarm of officers, scattered all over the State; and done little or nothing in educating either white or black children.

They have repealed the law making it the duty of the Grand Jury to examine into the official bonds of county officers. This is done to hold in office incompetent and worthless men who can not give a good bond.

They have passed various acts of class legislation in favor of the black man and against the white man.

They have in various ways attempted to affricanize the State of Alabama—not merely by giving to the black man, civil and political equality; but by trying to force social equality.

They have robbed and plundered your state exchequer in various ways; and if you grant them another lease of power, your State will be hopelessly bankrupted and forced to repudiation.

These country-men are a few of the charges in the bill of indictment against our mongrel hord of rulers and office holders now in power. It is earnestly proposed that you should organize for the coming election, for the purpose of expelling from office these incompetent and corrupt officials.

For the purpose of attaining this end. it is proposed, that you come up in mass from each beat in the county to a county Convention to be holden on the fourth day of July next, at Jacksonville. The object of this county meeting, in part, will be to select delegates to send to a State Convention, to be holden on the first day of September next at Mongomery, to nominate a Candidate for Governor and other State officers.

Also it is desired that a Central County Committee should be organized, and Beat Committees should be appointed. Also to do and perform any other business the good of the county may require.

The fourth of July is selected as the day for the County Convention. This day is eminently appropriate for this important occassion. It is done in humble immitation of our brave and noble ancestors, who, on the 4th of July 1776, assembled in convention at Philadelphia, and organized, and inaugurated a system to rid themselves from tyrants and oppressors. Let us under the supervision of Divine Providence meet, act and perform, in a peacable way, the imperative duties that devolve on a down trodden. and negro ridden people.

MANY OF THE PEOPLE.

For the Republican.

The People against the Fools and Thieves in Power.

This is the plat-form suggested by the Haneville Examiner, approved by the Selma Argus, the Eutaw Whig, and several other journals of the State for the people of Alabama to adopt as a basis to go before the voters in the coming November election.

This plat-form meets with hearty approval. It substantially covers every foot of ground necessary to be occupied in the coming contest for State Officers, from the Governor down.

This plat-form is broad and comprehensive, it is "rich and pungent," and will be refreshing when the people of Alabama swing open the doors of the Augean Stable, to cleanse it of the fools and thieves in power, who have for the last two years and better, been rioting and fatening on their substance; and who now, by the grace of the powers that be, expect, booted and spurred to ride over the white race of this state, and continue in power.

This plat-form is eminently suited for every honest man in the State to stand on; it matters not, what heretofore may have been his party affiliations.—Mark you! It does not purpose or say the Democratic and Conservative party vs. the fools and thieves in power:—it is the people, the sovereign people. Hence we say, every honest man, can swing around the circle, and fall into line and do battle upon this plat-form. The name of Democratic Conservative party is distaseful to some few men, who in ante-bellum times used to oppose this ancient and time honored party. They have not joined the fools and thieves in power, or any other party. They have stood aloof: some self-conceited ones think and call their position masterly inactivity—others have not registered and voted, and think it will do no good. They have acted the part of drones in the hive, until the vermin and caterpillers have robbed and plundered all the honey from the people's hive. Under this banner all can rally and go to the polls and vote to expel the fools and thieves in power. It is well known that every Democrat and Conservative in the State, have denounced from Dan to Bersheba, the reconstruction acts, the 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution. It is well known that these measures have been fastened and clinched on the South by fraud and military force. It is well known to every one, that these issues or measures can not be changed or modified in a contest for State rulers, and it is well known, negro suffrage is a fixed fact, and can not be changed, if we even desired to do so. With these facts before us, why should we over load the canvass with dead and impracticable issues? Why should we drag into the canvas federal politics, when nothing practical is to be gained by it? We see no good and substantial reason for doing it.

Then let us ignore dead issues, and in this canvas let us moot only live vital questions. The main and crowning issue is, shall the people be taxed and plundered any longer by the fools and thieves now in power? From the foot of our Blue Mountain, our voice shall be raised, to rally the plundered and robbed tax-payers—onward to expel the fools and thieves in power.

These men were saddled upon the people against their will by a wicked and treacherous Congres

It is now the duty of the people to flock and rally around this banner—throw it to the breeze from the outer wall and never haul it in, until the place of every fool and thief is filled by a worthy, competent and honest man.

CALHOUN DEMOCRAT.

One member of the Massachusetts Senate resolutely refused to be presented to United States Senator Revels when he visited the legislature.

Dr. N. B. Cloud has issued a circular, in bad grammer, annoucing his desire to be renominated by the Radicals to the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction.

There lives a man in Cleburne county, Alabama, in which he was born. He is now about 35 years old—lived in Randolph county 32 years. A new county being made he was cut off into Cleburne county. He has never been to his county town, was never sued, never sworn in any court as a juror or witness, has a wife and four children, and is an intelligent and good citizen. Beat that if you can.

Koskoo Cures Scrofula in its Worst Forms.

No. 11 Main St., Norfolk, Va., Sept 1869.

DR. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir: Your Koskoo has worked wonders in my family. My daughter has been a sufferer from Scrofula since childhood. She lost thirty one pieces of bone from her ankle, several from her arm, besides having ulcers in several parts of the body. Whilst in this condition she commenced taking your Koskoo—it acted like a charm on her; under its use the ulcers gradually healed, and her general health greatly improved. It certainly saved her much suffering, and perhaps her life. I regard Koskoo a specific for all scrofulous affections. Your Koskoo also cured my wife of dyspepsia, from which she suffered greatly. She is now in better health than she has been in five years.

With the highest regards,

I am greatfully yours, &c.,

A. W. MILLS.

Koskoo is endorsed by the best physicians every-where. Read the following from Dr. Tillery, a successful practitioner of many years standing in the Old North State:

Rocky Mount, Edgecombe Co., } September 10, 1869.

DR. J. J. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir: I have used your Concentrated Fluid Extract of Koskoo in my practice with the happiest results. I find it to be a powerful Liver Invigorator, Blood Purifier, and Nervous Tonic. In all diseases of the Liver, Scrofulous Syphilitic, and Nervous Affections, it is a remedy of immense value; in fact, in almost every variety of Chronic Diseases its use is indicated. Hoping you may meet with the success which you deserve as a manufacturer of reliable medicines, I am sir, with much respect,

Your obedient servant,

R. C. TILLERY, M. D.

Koskoo Cures Chronic Rheumatism

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 7, 1869.

DR. J. J. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir: My wife has received so much benefit from your wonderful Koskoo that I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude. I had tried almost everything without benefit. I believe, in all sincerity, that your Koskoo is an INFALLIBLE remedy for the disease from which he has suffered, and, so far as I can learn, has never failed. If you only knew the immense amount of suffering that he has undergone, then you could conceive the value of such a remedy as Koskoo—THAT SURELY CURES. The great amount of good it is now doing among us is inestimable.

With much graditude,

I am, respectfully yours, &c.

MRS. M. E. A. NELSON.

Read the following from Mr. Womble, a prominent Hardware Merchant of this city, No. 13 Market Square, Norfolk, Va. October 13, 1869.

DR. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir: To the large number of testimonials which you offer of the great efficacy of your Koskoo, I take pleasure in adding my own. I suffered greatly with Nervous Debility, Headache, Loss of Appetite, &c. Two bottles of Koskoo restored me to health.

Yours truly,

J. G. WOMBLE.

From Rev. W. H. Christian, Pastor of Dinwiddie Street Methodist Church.

Portsmouth, Va., Oct 25, 1869.

This is to certify that I know Dr. Lawrence well. He is a gentleman of culture, and worthy of the fullest confidence. I have used his Koskoo with advantage to myself, and have adopted its use in my family in cases of nervous debility and depression.

W. H. CHRISTIAN.

From Dr. Lloyd, a Physician of large Practice.

Great Bridge, Va., Oct. 8, 1869.

J. J. LAWRENCE, M. D.—Dear Sir: I cheerfully endorse your Koskoo as being a most valuable preparation. Upon examination of the formula, I find each ingredient highly extolled by our best and most progressive clinical investigators. I have tested its effects in my own practice, and have no hesitation in recommending it. In my opinion, it is the best compound of its class ever put before the public—exceeding by far all the various compounds of sarsaparilla ever invented. It is a decided Nerve Tonic and Invigorator of the animal forces, aiding digestion and assimilation, and thus producing healthy blood, which should be the basis of treatment in all chronic diseases. Hoping you will reap the reward you deserve from the public as a benefactor,

I am sir, yours truly,

CHARLES LLOYD.

After reading the above high recommendation, Invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give the KOSKOO a trial.

JACKSONVILLE ALA.

JUNE 4, 1870.

They have to get to be "mighty" clever when they beat John Hughes, of the firm of J. M. Carroll & Co.. We have been recently eating some of their canned oysters and pronounce them the best we have ever enjoyed, of course when gave them to us. How else would they ever have got them?

Attention is invited to the change in the advertisement of P. Rowan. The line of papering is positively beautiful and the lot of shoes mentioned cannot be beat. All fresh arrivals.

SURPRISE OATS.—We have been shown and now have on exhibition a sample of the above quality of oats, which, although not yet matured, is a foot long and lying over one hundred large grains on it. These oats are said to produce 75 bushels to the acre. They are now being raised by Wm. Crow, and Ed. Woodward. It is to be hoped they will be introduced throughout the county next season.

Last week we omitted to mention the change in the advertisement of E. L. Woodward's Sons. It will be seen by reference to it that they are now preparing to sell all kinds of Steam Machinery and agricultural implements at manufacturers prices. They have also added materially to their already large and beautiful stock of Dry Goods, and 'John' and "Lige" and "Ed" will, with unusual courtesy take pleasure in showing their customers.

The ladies will be glad to learn that Mr. Joe H. Sargeant contemplates establishing at his residence in a few days, an Ice Cream Saloon. He has just received a new Arctic Refrigerator, capable of freezing water into solid ice, and consequently can always have it on hand. Being at his house, the ladies can go freely, and avail themselves of this cold and delightful delicacy. He well understands how to get up a nice thing and the Ice Cream Saloon will be one of the features of the place.

We hope it will receive a sufficient patronage to make it a permanency.

When ready, the fact will be announced by advertisement.

Those desirous of learning the language or rubbing up on French, have a rare opportunity, to avail themselves of the services of Amdole G. Rodrigue, of Paris, a finished scholar, at present staying at the Jacksonville Hotel. He will take pleasure in giving lessons at any hour or place designated by the student.

We have for some weeks been publishing the advertisement of the Daily Mobile Register. It is the largest and one of the ablest dailies in the South. It has the ring of the true metal and we would like to see a club made up here for it. Merchants particularly who wish to keep up with the Mobile and New Orleans grocery market would do well to subscribe.

PUBLIC SPIRIT.—While on the street yesterday, we heard a gentlemen who has money of a Pennsylvania company for investment, ask Hon. Thos. A. Walker, of this place, the price of some valuable iron beds and mineral lands lying just outside the incorporation.

"Nothing," was the generous reply. "more than an assurance that they will begin work soon, and securely protect my adjacent farming lands."

Give all the people of Jacksonville such a spirit, and she may crack her fingers at the world. She will certainly be a great city. We would ask fate no odds and "run" on cause and effect. Public spirit is what Jacksonville now "most desires" at this time.

Attention is invited to the card of the Misses Duncan of Oxford. They have a very fine stock of goods in the millinery line and both good milliners and mantua makers. They are most estimable ladies and we wish them abundant success in Oxford.

Attention is invited to the advertisement of the American Emigration Agency, London, England. We will notice this advertisement more at length in our next issue.

We regret the necessity which compels us to leave out, the communication on the subject of water works, this week. It shall appear next week.

People who have old army guns can have them made into good shot guns with small tubes &c., at Beysiegel's for $3. We have seen an elegant one made for C. B. Sisson.

We understand that a Corps of Engineers of the Opelika & Guntersville Road, were to have been here yesterday. It is hoped they will find good passage across the mountain.

Col. Pennington, Pres. of the E. O. G. & G. R. R. was in our office Wednesday. We regret we did not see him. He was looking after the interest of his Road.

The astonishing success of the Hungarian Balsam, in the cure of the consumption, warrants the proprietors in soliciting for treatment the worst possible cases that can be found in the community—cases that seek relief in vain from any of the common remedies of the day, and have been given up by the most distinguished physicians as confirmed and incurable. The Hungarian Balsam has cured, and will cure, the most desperate of cases. It is no quack nostrum, but a standard medison, of known an established efficacy. For sale by all druggist.

THE FENIAN INVASION.

Battle of Trout River.

The New York Tribune's special correspondent in Canada gives the following account of the battle of of Trout River, between the Fenian invaders, under General Starr, and the Canadians and British troops:

General Starr crossed Trout River on the morning of the 27th and advanced with his comand: He proceeded about 500 yards when he deployed on the right and left of the road, his extreme right resting on Trout River. He had not occupied this possition long when the British troops and Canadian militia emerged from the woods a little in front and on the other side of the Fenians. Line of battle was at once formed by the British, and a sharp and steady fire was at once opened on the Fenians. There was at the time a small rail fence in front of the latter, which was immediately converted into a sort of stockade. The Fenians, who had been told by General Starr to keep up a steady fire ten minutes, obeyed orders and stopped the advance of the British. Before the expiration of ten minutes the Canadian troops, far out numbering the Fenians, made a movement as if they intended to flank and capture iraders, when General Starr formed a rear-guard and a retreat was ordered. The British continued firing, pressing the Fenians, who managed to maintain comparatively good order until they reached the United States line, when a parting volley was given the British, and the battle of Trout River was over.

General John H. Gleason, of Richmond, Virginia, assumed command of the forces, and General Starr has disappeared, as the Fenians threatened to lynch him for his cowardice.

The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph published the following letter from General James B. Magruder to a gentleman in that city, in reply to certain statements made by Mr. Cameron in the Senate of the United States:

GALVESTON, May 8, 1870.

Dear Sir: I have not had an opportunity to answer your letter of April 16th until now. As I have abstained from politics entirely since the war, I regret that I am compelled to write a letter which will be construed by some at least as being of a political character. It is not so, however, for this letter is purely personal, and is written solely in defence of my honor, which has been recklessly, maliciously and mendaciously attacked by Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, in a debate in the Senate on the 5th ult., as appears from the Congressional Globe which you, though unacquainted with me personally, I believe, have had the kindness to send me, for which I thank you sincerely.

Before going farther I will here say that you are not only at liberty to publish this letter, but I hope that you will do so and in such newspapers that Mr Cameron will be forced to read it; as I hold myself responsible personally at any time to Mr Cameron for its contents.

The paragraphs in the debate in which allusion is made to me are as follows:

Mr. Cameron—I remember that Captain Somelady, who became a General in the rebel army, had the command of a battery here, and he was going to start off, not only with himself but with his battery, but somehow or other the battery did not get off. He cleared off in a few evenings after, however, and got across the bridge.

Mr. Pomeroy—That was the Captain who escorted the President to the White House?

Mr. Cameron—The same man. He escorted the President to the White House, and I heard him say to the President that he admired him, and was going to stand by him during the war. He said that the evening before he went away.

I will premis in reference to the above that as I was the only officer that commanded a battey in Washington at that time, and afterwards became a General in the Confederate army, Mr. Cameron could have meant none other than myself. The rest of his remarks are false in every particular. In fact they constitute one monstrous, malicious, reckless, and infamous lie. For, in the first place, I never was with Mr. Lincoln in the presence of Mr. Cameron in my life. Secondly, I never escorted Mr. Lincoln to the White House, for I was on my way from or in Europe at that time, as the military representative of the country, sent by Mr. Buchanan to inspect and report upon the armies of Europe, and did not reach Washington until after the inauguration—I think about the 10th of March, 1861. In fact I never was in Mr. Cameron's company but once in my life, to my knowledge, and that was at a dinner party in the house of my brother, Com. George A. Magruder, of the United States Navy, in Washington, while Mr. Cameron was Secretary of War, about the 16th, 17th or 18th of March, 1861, when Mr. Cameron offered, in a conversation with me, as I was sitting by his side at the dinner table, to send me to Russia, there to remain until the termination of the pending war, if I would agree to it. I looked upon it as the most disgraceful position an officer could occupy. To stand upon the soil of a foreign country, to receive his pay, fold his arms, and look from a distance upon a deadly conflict of his countrymen, without taking sides with one or the other, was, I felt, the most ignoble course of all; and I treated Mr. Cameron's offer with the silent contempt I thought it deserved.

I am sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant, J. Bankhead Magruder.

The Methodist General Conference has changed the boundary lines of a number of the Conferences. Among them that part of Alabama, formerly in the Tennessee Conference has been given up to Alabama. Mobile Conference has given up that part of Mississippi, so long in the Mobile Conference.—There are now two Conferences in the State, the line commencing on this South line of Chambers county, (on the Georgia line,) running west along the south line of Coosa and Tallapoosa, thence to the Mississippi line, on the South line of Pickens Co. The Southern Conference called the Alabama Conference, the other the North Alabama Conference, mostly connected with a membership, clergy and laymen formerly with the Tennessee Conference.

RALEIGH, May 31.—On Wednesday morning three men went to the house of Daniel and Neil McLeod, two brothers living in the western portion of Cumberland county, and murdered both, also badly wounded the wife daughter and son of Neil McLeods. The McLeods were Democrats and peaceable citizens, highly respected by their neighbors.

THE NEW METHODIST BISHOP.—We find in an exchange the following description of Dr. Keener, the recently elected Bishop of the Methodist Church.

"The bishop elect is about fifty years of age, and is a member of Louisiana Conference, and has been for many years connected with the interests of his church in the city of New orleans. He has been, in addition to being Presiding Elder of the New Orleans District, editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. He is a graceful and forcible writer, a man of much experience with men and things. He traveled extensively both in this and the old world, and is perfectly conversant with the usages of his church. Rather dogmatic and austere in demeanor, but clear in judgment and safe in counsel.

SUGAR IN WINE.—A certain amount of sugar is needed to make good wine in the South, Mr. Wilker informs us, in the Aberdeen Examiner, that an egg is a perfect saccharometer for this purpose. Drop a fresh egg into the must, and stir in sugar until the egg rises to the top, showing the size of a dime above the surface.

KOSKOO.—This medicine is rapidly gaining the confidence of the people, and the numerous testimonials of its virtues, given by practitioners of medicine, leaves no doubt that it is a safe and reliable remedy for impurity of the blood, liver disease, &c.

The last MEDICAL JOURNAL contains an article from Prof. R. S. Newton, M. D., President of the E. Medical College, city of New York, that speaks in high terms of its curative properties, and gives a special recommendation of Koskoo to the practitioners of medicine. This is, we believe, the first instance where such medicines have been officially endorsed by the Faculty of any of the medical colleges, and reflects great credit upon the skill of Dr. Lawrence, its compounder; and also puts "Koskoo" in the VAN of all other medicines of the present day.

Dr. A. L. SCOVILL is the inventor of several medical preparations which have become very popular, and have been liberally used. Among his inventions are "Hall's Balsam for the Lungs" and "Liverwort and Tar." For the past six years a better Lung remedy has been offered to the public. Read the following letter from Dr. Scovill referring to it:

Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

Gents:—I make the following statement from a perfect conviction and knowledge of the benefits of Allen's Lung Balsam in curing the most deep-seated PULMONARY CONSUMPTION! I have witnessed its effects on the young and the old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the phlegm and mattter to raise, without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs), and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops the night-sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.
Dr. Francis will supply the demans.

LOUISIANA GREOLE HAIR RESTORATIVE!

The Hair restored naturally to its original color, prevented from falling out, its growth increased, and its softness and beauty multiplied.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer keeps the head clean, cool and healthy, removes all diseases of the scalp, keeps it free from Dandruff, prevents irritation and itching and is an excellent remedy for nervous and other forms of headache.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer is not a dye, but restores gray hair to its original color by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance which may not be assimilated from either age or decay. All instantaneous Hair Dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair and afford of themselves, no dressing, but on the contrary make the hair brittle and wiry. The

Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer not only actually renews the hair and restores the natural color by natural means; but it imparts to it a luxuriant beauty which it can attain by no other method.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer in addition to its many useful qualities is elegantly perfumed and is entirely free from greasiness and stickiness, so that the finest linen fabric is not spoiled or even stained by its use. It contains no poison to kill the hair, but under its continued use, improvement is steadily manifested and it never fails to give the best satisfaction.

MAGIC ARNICA LINIMENT

WILL CURE PAINS AND ACHES IN FIVE MINUTES.

Prepared from rare Essential Oils; Extract of Camphor, Extract of Arnica, Chlodyne and Magnetic Fluid, chemically combined.

The Magic Arnica Liniment is one of the most powerfully penetrating Fluids known. It is no rancid grease like many of the so-called liniments sold, but a clear, transparent, ruby colored Fluid, which when applied, promptly penetrates through skin and muscles to the very bone itself, striking at the root of the disease, and instantly relieving all pain. In cases of Paralysis, Numbness, Bites, Cramps, swellings, and in fact, all classes of diseases that can be reached by external treatment, this liniment will be found efficacious. In Rheumatism it acts promptly, killing the pain in one or two applications, and when used in connection with Mansfield & Higbee's Great Internal Remedy, the RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, we have never known it to fail in effecting a CURE As a

Horse and Cattle Liniment it is unsurpassed, curing where other liniments fail. A striking evidence of this is its unparalleled success when used in the treatment of Charbone or Erysipelas in Horses or Mules—a disease which at one time threatened to destroy all the stock in the Mississippi Valley. The

Magic Arnica Liniment was the only remedy that was found to cure in all cases.

With every bottle will be found a circular containing specific directions for using.

For sale by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.

Yosemite.

If there is a place on earth that should be left as God made it, that place is the valley of the Yosemite, and we much fear that the present Congress will turn it over to showmen, who will turn it into a beer garden, if no worse. In the year 1851, some white men who were searching for stock stolen by the Indians, came upon this valley of the Yosemite, which had never before been seen by white men. Of this party a Mr. Hutchings was one. This Place is a valley some seven miles long, and in no place more than a mile and a half wide. It surrounded by walls of granite, which, for six miles, are from 2,000 to 5,000 feet high. Over these the water comes tumbling down in a style that shames Lodor. The highest of these several falls is:

Bridal Veil Fall.	940
Yosemite Falls there in number) 2,634.
Vernan Fall.	350
Nevada Fall	700
South Fork Fall	600
Royal Arch Fall	1,800
Sentinel Fall	3,500

These are but a few items in the scenery account of this wonderful place. Sentinel Dome is a mile high, and the most wonderful in the world. The United States granted it in trust to the State of California, to be forever preserved as a pleasure ground for the people of the United States. Three men have squatted in it without a shadow of title, and ask that the land may be granted them. Out of this they would make a show ground, and are now before Congress pressing their claims. It it is to be hoped that Congress will not make the grant, or in any way turn Yosemite over to speculators.

A LAMENTABLE AFFAIR.—A heart rending occurrence took place a few days ago in Montgomery county, Md. A young lady, of the most respectable family and possessed of considerable means was engaged to be married to a gentleman in the neighborhood, but the match was opposed and prevented by her family. The lady threatened revenge for their unkindness, and a few weeks ago carried her threat into execution in a terrible manner, by eloping with a negro man, formerly a slave of one of the farmers in the vicinity. Nothing was heard of her until a few dnys ago, when her family received a letter from some town in Massachusetts informing them that she had married the negro. The sad affair has plunged a large circle of friends and relations in the deepest gloom and sorrow. For many and obvious reasons we withhold the name of this unfortunate and misguided young lady.—Ellicott City Times.

A Marvelous Youth in Florida The Playmate of Rattle Snakes, Scorpions, Centipeds Wasps and Hornets.

The Key West Dispatches relates the following of a youthful magician in that city:

For the benefit of the outside world, we have to put on record the fact that in our island city there lives a youth who, in himself, is one among the great phenomena of the age. Listen and be the judge yourself. He can handle snakes, scorpions, centipeds or what not, with perfect impunity. He makes pets and play fellows of the large kind of rattle snakes twisting them around him and dallying with their forked tongues and their ten or twelve rattles! He actually has carried scorpions in his bosom and wasps and hornets in his sleeves and pockets, without receiving bite or sting. In the loneliness of the grove or forest, or in any secluded place infested with snakes, he can, by a few talismanic words, call around him any number of snakes, whom he can charm into perfect obedience to all his mandates. He can pick them up and lay them down at any given place, and at his bidding they will remain there until he returns, after an absence sometimes of hours.

He can take a rat, or a mouse, and so manipulate it—so put that inexplicable tyrant spell upon it—so that it at once becomes a mute suppliant for favor it quiescent, and may be tumbled about at pleasure. The young magician avers that this miraculous power is given him by spirits—whether good or evil, he knows not.

We could relate many incidents in this connection illustrative of our little friend's necromantic faculty of subduing the repitl creation; but the foregoing suffice.

On his death-bed, a distinguished humorist requested that no one be invited to his funeral,, "because it's a civility I can never repay," said the dying wag.

It is said that Sam Hildebrand, the Missouri outlaw, has gone to the Red River country, He passed through Sioux City a few days since, and a local editor, who interviewed him, counted 476 notches on his rifle stock, each notce indicates one sole less in the world. His band will meet him in the Red River country, where they purpose joining arms against the red coats.

75,000 Majority in New York.

The election for State Supreme Court Judges in New York has resulted, so the telegraph of Tuesday night informs us, in seventy five thousand majority for the Democracy. This result has been attained in spite of the evasion by the World of the great issue made by the reconstruction measures of the Radical party. It has been attained in spite of the "young Democratic" movement advocated by the World and thrust forward in the face of the noble message of Gov. Hoffman and the speech of speaker Hitchman, repudiating the bogus amendments to the Constitution. The New York Democratic press have spoken out boldly and manfully against quieting the questions which have agitated the political world for the past four years. The World has had few sympathizers. The New York Democracy have stood firmly up to the position of the Pennsylvania Democracy, and instead of losing the State, as was prophesied by the enemy, have increased their majority of ten thousand up to seventy five thousand. In New York the noble Democratic masses stand just as the Philadelphia Age declares that the Pennsylvania Democracy stands. The Age says:

"In city and country the Democratic party is a unit in opposition to the fraudulent and infamous XVth Amendment. There is not a break in the line. No Democrat is absent from his post. All are ready for the contest to again make this a white man's country and a white man's government, and an inheritance fit for the children of white men. The attempt of the Radicals to make the question appear a settled one, and thus prevent the serious defection in their ranks which is now taking away from them thousands of voters' who, although they are Republicans, are white Republicans, has utterly failed. The contest will go on until right again is throned supreme over force and fraud, and the country ruled by the race who raised it from a few weak colonies to an empire of population, wealth and renown."—[Montgomery Mail.

THE HAWKINS COUNTY, TENN., VENDETTA.—Another Victim:—The Knoxville papers contain an account of another deed of blood, growing out of the terrible tragedies enacted in Hawkins county, Tenn, since the war closed, beginning on the 14th of June, 1867, when Capt. Wm. Sizemore killed a man by the name of Webster, then in the autumn following a man by the namd of Willis killed Capt. Sizemore near the same spot Webster was killed. Then followed the tragic death of Willis. On the night of the 17th inst, Mr. Thomas Sizemore, brother of Capt. William, killed by Willis, was coll to the gate at his residence in that county by an unknown person, to get a letter, Sizemore went out, as requested, and was handed a piece of paper. Just as he took the paper he was shot through the head, the ball entering over the eye. A second shot was sent through his right breast the two shots producing instant death. The man committing the murder left at once, and has not yet been arrested. The dead man was quiet and industrious, and has been for some time past engaged in teaching school. He had been away from home all day on the 17th, working for a neighbor, some two miles from his home. A strange man supposed to be the same who murdered him, called at his house during the day and asked for him, saying he wanted to buy some hogs.

M. HOUSE,

Counsellor at Law,

STATE AND UNITED STATES COURTS,

Offices, No. 78 Nassau Street,
NEW YORK,

Notary Public and Commissioner for all the States.

I have been fifteen years in the divorce business, ten years in the offices I now occupy. Having been consulted by over thirty thousand persons on the subject of divorce, I refer to my numerous clients for whom I have obtained divorces. I am connected with the most expert and successful Divorce Lawyers in the States of New York, Indiana, Illinois, Connecticut and other States where laws are liberal on the subject, and parties residing in any State or County wishing divorces would therefore do better to apply through me than elsewhere. I obtain divorces for desertion, adultery, drunkenness, non-support, etc., without publicity and without charge unless I succeed. Advice free. I call attention to the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States has lately decided that divorces obtained in one State are perfectly legal in every State.

In all cases where an advance is paid on a case for my security, I will return the money if I should fail in obtaining the divorce. Every divorce obtained by me is warranted perfectly legal everywhere. Call on address, M. HOUSE, Counsellor at Law

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Great Remedies.
DR. JOHN BULL,
MANUFACTURER AND VENDER OF THE Celebrated
Smith's Tonic Syrup!
FOR THE CURE OF AGUE AND FEVER,
OR CHILLS AND FEVER.
THE proprietor of this celebrated medicene justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe certain speedy and permanent cure of Ague and fever, or Chills and Fever whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and South western country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure. If the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficent for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health It is however prudent, and in every case more certain to cure if its use is continued in smller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult & longstanding cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of Bull's Vegetable Family Pills will be sufficient.

BULL'S
WORM DESTROYER,
To my United States and World-Wide Readers.
I HAVE recieved many testimonials from professional & medical men, as, my almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following from a highly educated and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever recieved. Dr. Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and his testimony deserves to be writen in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctors say of Bull's Worm Destroyer:
VILLANOW, WALKER COUNTY, Ga } June 20, 1866. }
DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: I have recently given your "Worm Destroyer" several trials, and find it wonderful efficacious. It has not failed in a single inst ance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for ome articles of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you, is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine directly from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line of M. D.'s, but I see not just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms.
I am, sir, most respectfully.
JULIUS P. CLEMENT, M. D.

BULL'S
SARSAPARILLAA.
A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.
Read the Captain's Letter and the Letters from his mother:
Benton Barracks, Mo., April 30, 1866.
DR JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficacy of your Sarsaparilla, and the healing and beneficial qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case.
I was wounded about two years ago—was taken prisoner & confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not sat up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in any thing else. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige
CAPT. C. P. JOHNSON,
St. Louis, Mo.
P. S.—The following was written April 30, 1865, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Capt, Johnson.
DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir. My husband Dr C. S. Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in central New York, where he died leaving the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhea and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. IT CURED HIM. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio, and Iowa, for scrofula, fever sores, and general debility. Perfect success has attended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever sores were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is fearful of getting a spurious article, hence his writing to you for it. His wounds were terrible, but I believe he will recover. Respectfully,
NIEGEN JOHNSON.

BULL'S
CEDRON BITTERS.
Arkansas heard from.
Testimony of Medical Men.
Stone Point, White Co., Ark., May 23, 1866.
DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir. Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedron Bitters.
My son-in-law, who was with me in the store has been down with rheumatism for some time, commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved.
Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and also improved.
Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—he improved very much by the use of your Bitters Indeed the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this settlement. I think I could sell a great quantity of your medicines this fall —especially your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care of Rickett & Neely. Respectfully,
C. B. WALKER.

TO PHYSIGIANS.
New York, August 15th, 1868.
Allow me to call your attention to my
Preparation of Compound Extract Buchu.
The component parts are BUCHU, LONG WORT, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.
MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubeba extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.
Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates, the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.
Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation.
With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,

POETRY.

Words.

FROM "HOUSEHOLD WORDS."

WORDS are lighter than the cloud foam
Of the restless ocean spray;
Vainer than the trembling shadow
That the next hour steals away;
By the fall of summer rain-drops
Is the air as deeply stirred;
And the rose-leaf that we tread on
Will outlive a word.

Yet on the dull silence breaking,
With a lightning flash, a word,
Bearing endless desolation
On its lightning wings, I heard.
Earth can forge no keener weapon,
Dealing surer death and pain,
And the cruel echo answered
Through long years again.

I have known one word hang star-like
O'er a weary waste of years,
And it only shone the brighter
Looked at through a mist of tears;
While a weary wanderer gathered
Hope and heart on life's dark way,
By its faithful promise shining
Clearer day by day.

I have known a spirit calmer
Than the calmest lake, and clear
As the heavens that gazed upon it,
With no wave of hope or fear;
But a storm had swept across it,
And its deepest depths were stirred,
Never, never more to slumber,
Only by a word.

I have known a word more gentle
Than the breath of summer air,
In a listening heart it nestled,
And it lived forever there:
Not the beating of its prison
Stirred it ever, night or day,
Only with the heart's last throbbing
Could it pass away.

Words are mighty, words are living;
Serpents, with their venomed stings,
Or bright angels, crowding round us,
With heaven's light upon their wings;
Every word has its own spirit,
True or false, that never dies;
Every word man's lips have uttered,
Echoes in the skies.

The Enforcement Bill.

The St. Louis Republic compiles the following summary of the bill (now a law) to enforce the 15th Amendment:

The Fifteenth Amendment, printed in ordinary type, would occupy about three-quarters of an inch of space in our columns; but it has just resulted in a bill for its enforcement, of over twenty sections, that would fill nearly two entire columns—a startling illustration of the fact that the people do not know what they are approving when they ratify a constitutional amendment. As this enforcement bill will probably become a law of the land, if it has not already become so, and is of vast importance and significance, a brief summary of its provisions will not be out of place.

Section first declares that all citizens of the United States qualified to vote at any election, shall be allowed to vote, without distinction of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Section second directs that they shall be allowed to register, and do all other acts prescribed as a prerequisite condition to voting, without let or hindrance; and it imposes a forfeit of $500 on any person or officer who shall omit or refuse to give full effect to this section—the forfeit to go to the aggrieved voter; and it further inflicts on the person or officer offending a penalty of $500, and imprisonment for not less than one month nor more than one year.

Section third provides that whenever any citizen, qualified to vote, offers to do any act prescribed as a precedent condition to voting, such as registering, swearing, or paying a tax, and is denied the right of doing it, the offer to do it shall be taken as a performance, and he shall be permitted to vote just the same as if he had actually done the act. The aggrieved voter's affidavit is all the evidence required of the fact, and on the presentation of this affidavit to the judge of election, it is made the duty of the judge to receive and count his vote. It will be seen that the final meaning of this provision is that any person who will swear that he has been wrongfully refused registration or other prerequisite to voting, shall be allowed to vote, and that the judge of election who refuses to receive and count his ballot, shall forfeit $500 to the affiant, and pay an additional fine of $500, and be imprisoned not less than one month, nor more than one year. Section four imposes a forfeit of $500 and a penalty of $500 and imprisonment besides, on any person who shall prevent or obstruct any citizen from doing any act prescribed as a condition precedent to voting, by means of bribery, threats, intimidation, ejection from rented houses, or discharge from employment. Section six makes it felony for two or more persons to band togother, or go in disguise on the highway, or upon the premises of another, to violate any provision of this act, to threaten a citizen, or to hinder his free exercise of any right under the Constitution of the United States; and punishes the act with a fine of not less than $5,000, imprisonment of not less than ten years, and disability to hold any office under the constitution or laws of the United States. Section seven provides that if in violating the two preceding sections, the offender shall commit any other offence, he shall be punished for that besides. Section eight gives exclusive cognizance of cases under this act to the United States courts. Section nine requires U. S. attorneys, marshalls and commissioners to institute proceedings against all persons who violate this act. Section ten authorizes U. S. commissioners to appoint suitable persons to execute their warrants and processes under this act, and these persons shall have power to summon posses, and call to their aid the land and naval forces of the United States, or of the militia, in the execution of their duties. Section eleven punishes resistance to processes under the act, rescues and attempted rescues, with fine of not more than $1,000 and imprisonment for not more than six months. Section twelve prescribes the fees of officers for services under this act. Section thirteen authorizes the President to employ the land and naval forces of the United States to execute the act. Section fourteen enforces the fourteenth amendment, by providing that whenever any person shall hold office contrary to that amendment, it shall be the duty of the U. S. district attorney to proceed against him by quowarranto; and this writ in such case shall take precedence of all other cases on the docket of the court.

Section fifteen makes the acceptance of office by persons disqualified under the Fourteenth amendment a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year, and fine of not more than $1,000.

Section sixteen directs that all persons shall have the same right to sue and be sued, give evidence, make and enforce contracts, and to have the full and equal benefit of laws in a state or territory that white persons have therein, and shall be subject to the same laws as white persons. No tax or change shall be imposed by any State on any person immigrating thereto, from one foreign, that is not imposed on the immigrants from any other foreign country. This is aimed at the California laws against the Chinese, and so is the seventeenth section, prescribes a fine of not more than $1,000 and imprisonment for not more than one year for any person who, under color of a law of any state, shall subject any inhabitant of such state to the deprivation of a right under this act. Section eighteenth re-enacts the civil rights bill, and directs that sections sixteen and seventeen of this act shall be enforced according to the provisions of said bill. Section nineteen provides that if, at an election for member of congress, any person shall attempt to vote in the name of another person, living, dead, or fictitious, or shall vote more than once, at a place where he is not entitled to vote; or vote without a lawful right; or do anything to prevent another qualified person from voting; or interfere in any improper way with voters, or with the officers of election, he shall be punished by fine of not more than $500, and imprisonment for not more than one year. Section ten inflicts the same penalty on any one who shall register under a wrong name, or improperly interfere with the registration of voters. Section twenty-one directs that any person who shall be deprived of, or fail to be elected to an office except that of congress or legislature of a state, by reason of a denial to any citizen of the right to vote, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude, shall be entitled to hold such office receive emoluments, and preform its duties, and may recover it by writ of quo warranto.

Such are the provisions of this extraordinary measure—the most elaborately un-American act ever placed on our statute books, or even proposed in congress. At present, it is not fully intelligible, it shocks the American nature, and is so utterly and monstrously at variance with our method of thought, our views of justice, our habitude, and all our accepted maxims and ideas, that we are not able to comprehend its meaning and measure its scope. It looks like a re-enactment of the old fugitive slave law, with the whole white race for its exclusive beneficiaries, and the army and navy of the United States for its executioners. Even the Democrat, which approves it as a whole, is forced to admit its revolutionary character by saying that, "it is little less than an endeavor to newly create these United States: to bring a political millenium by one act."

A Sad Story.

Death of the Eldest Son of Henry Clay —Thirty-eight Years of Hopeless Insanity, and Final Death in an Asylum—A Madman Through Love.

Outside of Fayette county, where the prophet was held in high, but not in blameless repute, being "in his own country," the name of Clay has ever been a sacred one in Kentucky, and to name him has been to quote lovingly, "Wherever freedom found a votary, that votary met in him a champion. When Greece, the classic land of Greece, the fountain of refinement, the birth-place of eloquence and liberty and of poetry; when Greece awoke from the long slumber of ages and beat back the faded crescent to its native East; when Macedon recalled to mind the feats of her conquering boy, and the Spartan struck for the land that bred him, then the voice of Clay rolled over the blue Atlantic as a greeting from the New World to the Old. But hushed is that voice whose every tone was music," and so on till the declaimer wearied. Such being the esteem in which the Sage of Ashland was held in the hearts of his countrymen, the people of his Commonwealth have been slow to speak to strangers of the skeleton in his household, though in the homes of the State the sad story has been a household word.

Yesterday morning our special telegrams announced the end of a weary life, in stating that Theodore, eldest son of Henry Clay, had died in the Lexington Lunatic Asylum, after a long confinement. The record of his blasted life is briefly thus:

At thirty years of age Theodore Clay was a promising lawyer. He was the image and the hope of the statesman whose fame was on every tongue. It is true that there were whispers of wild living, and of indifferent morals, that somewhat tinged the fair repute and even darkened the future prospects of this scion of a noble house.—Still it was hoped that these were but the results of youth, and would be cast aside when circumstances called upon the matured man to assert himself and make his talent felt in the community.

It was in this turning-point in his life that Theodore Clay began to pursue, with an unwearied perseverance that caused his friends great uneasiness, a young lady of Lexington, whom he had long loved hopelessly. The object of his attachment, who is at the present moment one of the brightest ornaments of Kentucky society, repulsed firmly but kindly, every attention offered by the infatuated young man, after his meaning had become manifest. It was of no use, he would not be refused, and followed his fair fate in the streets by day and wandered in the neighborhood of her home by night, in an annoying manner, until at last it became evident that he "was not all there," to use the soft phrase by which a kindly peasantry express insanity. Subsequent violent demonstrations tended to confirm the impression, it being even related that he went to the home of Mr. ——, and demanded his daughter at the pistol's point, until at last the wretched truth could no longer be ignored, and confinement in the Asylum became a stern necessity. This was accordingly done, (in 1832, we believe) his father providing for his support at that time, and leaving $10,000 in his will, the income from which was secured to Theodore for life. The life, after thirty-eight years of imprisonment in what in the earlier days of his confinement he was wont to call, "a good boarding house, but having some of the biggest fools he ever saw as boarders," has just closed. For nearly thirty years he was one of the most noted of the inmates, not only his proud descent, but his graceful manners and flow of conversation rendering him an object of interest to all visitors. He labored under the hallucination that he was George Washington, and was fond of assuming the traditional attitudes of the Father of his Country.

At the occasional balls given to the inmates, (averaging some five hundred in number), he was always exquisitely dressed, in the style of his day, and was the beau par excellence. During all these long years, despite his general gentleness and cheerfulness of manner, he was restless and discontented, and required close watching—it never, in fact, having been considered prudent to allow him to go out into the grounds without attendants. About the year 1860, his condition began to grow worse, and he soon after became demented, continuing in hopeless idiocy until a few days since, when Death, grater healer than Time, placed him again upon an eduality with the peers of his early manhood, who had gone before him to the God that created him and did with him according to his inscrutable will. And so ends as sad a story as the truth of history ever commanded to be written.

Two sons of Henry Clay yet surviving him, T. H. Clay, Ex-Minister to Honduras, now residing on his place, "Mansfield," near Lexington, and John M. Clay, the raiser of "Kentucky," and one of the greatest turfmen living.

Forests on Fire.

For several weeks past, most disastrous and wide-spread fires have been spreading among the forests in the south-eastern part of the State of New York, particularly in Sullivan, Orange and Delaware counties. The estimated loss already incurred is estimated at not less than $5,000,000. The whole country, in the neighborhood of the fires, presents a scene of terrible desolation. The fires were first noticed among the mountains, and it is probable that they were started by people who live a sort of gipsey life, in shanties scattered through the forests.

In time, however cinders were wafted, from the burning trees on the hill tops, into the cultivated valleys below, setting on fire hay-stacks, barns and dwellings. The Sullivan county forests have been burnt for a distance of twenty miles. The Delaware county woodlands have been devastated some fifteen miles. In both of these localities the fires are still raging. In Orange county the flaming tempest has spent its strength, and the mountain ridges and hill-sides are a smouldering waste of land, in hideous contrast to the smiling valleys and beautiful verdant fields on either side.

Along the line of the Erie Railroad, very considerable damage has been done in the burning of fuel collected for supplying the trains; twisting the ties, and destroying the trees. At times they have been obliged to test the safety of the track by sending a detached engine over it. In one instance, the paint on a train of cars was blistered, notwithstanding the cars had been thoroughly wetted before they came to the fire. The engineer and fireman were both singed by the heat. All along the track of the fire are seen the bones of reptiles and animals, both wild and domesticated. A family of three, living remote from a settlement, and cut off from all means of escape, have probably perished.

Prairie Farmer.

An Inconsiderate Action.—One of our exchanges is responsible for the following highly amusing statement. Gray hairs in Wilmington must be exceedingly troublesome at this time:

Down in Wilmington, some time ago, an old man who was very feeble, was helped across a crowded street by a youth of twenty. A month afterward the old man died, and as an expression of gratitude he left the youth forty thousand dollars. And now no old man's life is safe in Wilmington. All the young fellows have had their ambition excited, and as soon as any venerable man appears on the sidewalk a dozen chaps rush at him, grab him by the trowsers and the collar and the back hair, and try to carry him across the street whether he wants to go or not. When he gets there a lot more fasten on to him and set him back again, and then present their cards. So the old men in Wilmington are having a lively time now, and they have got to tack up the street whenever they go out for a walk. Thus far very little cash has been evolved, but all the young men study the obituary advertisements carefully, and when they see the words: At the age of seventy-six or sixty-six, or any where in that neighborhood, they hurry down to the office of the Register of Wills and pore over the last testament of the deceased. All this goes to show how much distress one inconsiderate action will cause.

A Yankee, who had been bragging of the victories of the Revolution, was referred by an Englishman to the battle of White Plains, at which the Americans were severely beaten. The Yankee hesitated a little, and then remarked that "it was that battle the Americans somehow didn't seem to take any interest in the fight!"

Capt. Godfrey, who committed suicide last week in San Francisco, made every preparation for the rash act, and placed his effects in order with the coolness of one retiring to sleep. A photograph of a woman was found in his memorandum book, and near the picture was written in pencil: "A thoroughly heartless woman." On the back of the card is the following note: "The mistress of D. W. formerly my wife; she is the cause of my death. C. Godfrey."

Unreconstructed.

The spirit of rebellion has broken out again. Just listen to the following from the "unrepentent rebels." We are willing to wager the honesty of some of our bad paying subscribers that Texas man's hands are just dripping with 'loyal gore.' Hear him.

"Our last dispatches announce that General O'Neal, with his Fenian army, has absolutely invaded Canada, and the war has begun. We are in favor of all kinds of rebellions against all kinds of Governments, even against the British, which we consider the best in the world." Southern (Texas) Banner.

The Rome man gets worse; but for better cause: The Texas man's remarks were superfluously made: Let him be "thoroughly reconstructed." Ye Unrepentants! how can you talk thus about the loyal, the elect, the humane Yankee rulers of this "best Government the world ever saw." Do you suppose for an instant that were you to again bare your chivalrous breasts before the oppressors, that Brother Johnathan would fail to pit his Dutch, Irish, Africans and all other nationalities against you, and then set him down to making money out of the job? Most certainly he would. And then we must "have peace" you know. Choke it down, smother it. You cannot fight the world now. But hear the Rome man. Will bet another lot of our bad paying subscribers, that he is Grand Titan of the Dominion, at least. He is too savage for a mere Grand Cyclops.

"The following which we take from the New Brunswick, New Jersey, Times, ought to arouse in the breast of every Southern man a bitter and everlasting hatred to the infernal devils who are now lording it over our land. If after this exhibition of demoniac spite by the officials of the government toward our people, there is a man living in the South, who would not gladly see that government damned to all time, he deserves to be a slave.

It is no government— it is a miserable despotism, at the head of which a self-conceited butcher struts in all the glory of a peacock—his prime to dy is a murderer and a robber. Having stolen the ground on which they parade their malice to the world, they insult high Heaven with their blasphemous rites.

Let every man, woman and child remember that insult to our dead; let it rankle in our breasts until the time will come when we can arise in our wrath and hurl these miserable monsters, who disgrace the name of man, to the dust:

President Grant and his Cabinet attended the decoration ceremonies at Arlington Cemetery, Washington, and General Logan delivered an address. Two ladies and a gentleman who placed some flowers on the graves of some Confederate soldiers were brutally insulted by members of the Grand Army, and their flowers trampled into the dirt. A Southern lady dressed in deep mourning, while passing a grave on the head-board of which was inscribed the name of her son over the word in glaring letters, "rebel," quietly left a crown of roses on the green sod, and was passing on, when the harsh voice of one of the committee gentleman ordered her to take it away again or he would throw it among the crowd. The lady burst into tears, but was compelled to obey.

The Grand Army (so called) of the Republic around Washington, have repeated, this year, the brutality of last, in refusing to allow friends the privilege of decorating the graves of Confederate soldiers buried there. The same action last year created a tremendous burst of indignation from brave hearts on both sides of the line. The men who do these things may have worn the blue; but they are not soldiers in the true sense of the word. The soldiers who fought us in Virginia and around Washington are too brave to thus insult our dead who fell there. No! The men who do this thing are bummers and cowards—men who have become martial since the war, and who would run like whipped hounds before these same Confederates whose bones they insult, could they be resurrected, shoulder musket and again wear the gray. We could contrast the course of the Southern people, who we believe decorate all graves alike—both Federal and Confederate—with the brutality of these bummers; but we should as soon think of contrasting an angel and a sinner, or an honorable man with Gen. Logan, the infernal scoundrel who prominently officiates in this annual insult to us. Let us not fret over it. We should as soon think of chastising the dog that barks at us. The day will come when these rascals will be licking the feet of the South as they did in the day of her power. We cannot think that any of the Soldiers of the army engaged in it. They exhibited a more noble spirit at Appamattox and elsewhere. It was the cowards and bummers and if Grant stood by and witnessed, unrebuked, (as the papers say) the insult offered mothers who fain would have strewn flowers on the graves of dead sons, he is the greatest coward and bummer among them.

Any one that has been at all observant since the war, cannot have failed to notice the gradual passing away of the negro race before the increasing numbers of the whites. There are fewer births than before the war. Of the children that are born, more die (owing to neglect) under 2 years of age, than formerly. The mortality among the adult blacks is greatly in excess of that among the whites, owing to their ignorance of the laws of health and the dissipation and vices following emancipation. The following report of Dr. J. N. Simmons, Chairman of the Atlanta Board of Health, sustains us fully. It is to be regretted that a record of the sort exhibited below, had not been kept in every city and town in the South. In that event we would now be able to calculate, to a day, when the negro question would settle itself, by act of God, rather than through Congressional enactment. The following is the Report.

MORTUARY REPORT.

In the subjoined report will be found the list of interments in the city of Atlanta for the four years that have elapsed since the close of the war.

DEATHS.

	WHITES	COLORED	TOTAL.
1866	311	379	690
1867	213	252	465
1868	156	265	421
1869	238	291	529

The following figures will serve to show the relative population of the colored to that of the whites at the respective periods indicated:

	WHITES.	COLORED.	DIF.
1866	10,940	9,288	1,652
1868	15,982	13,184	2,798

These statistics furnish the information necessary to a proper appreciation of the mortality that has prevailed in the two classes, within the city limits, in the space of four years.

"Resistence to Tyrranny is obedience to God" is the latest adopted motto of the carpet-baggers at Montgomery. Of course they will adopt it only so long as it takes to settle their family fuss. It all grew out of the fine and inprisonment of Reynolds, Auditor of State, by Judge Busteed.

Meeting of the Stockholders of the S., R. & D. R. R. at Patona.

Yesterday we in company with others of this place got aboard the train, by our watches, at a quarter past eleven, and reached Patona by the time we had them safely replaced in pocket. On arrival it was found that the Selma and Talladega delegations had gone to meet the Board of Directors and that the train from Rome had not arrived. While waiting for it, instinct directed us to the grove where the barbacued meats were being prepared. Here we found Messrs. W. Harris, McElreath and that best of all butchers Gidley, busily engaged in raising delightfully browned meats from the "ditch" and sending same to the Depot where the table was spread. For a time (a short time) visions of machine shops faded before the tempting sight and, we candidly acknowledge it, our stomach got the better of our "public spirit". The men mentioned above, had toiled all night long without sleep to present an acceptable bill of fare and cannot be too highly praised.

The very best of all the Grocery Houses in the world, (we refer to Pitner & Smith) had not neglected more important detail. A gentleman whom we did not know; but who we would most readily recognize again by his exceedingly lively and ruddy countenance, tapped us on the shoulder, and informed us we were wanted in the "Captain's office." Tremblingly we went and (oh relief) found representatives from the firm of Pitner & Smith dispensing elegant brandies and wines to an appreciative crowd, most industriously engaged in "discussing" them. In the meantime the meeting had opened and we had a fine opportunity to see all the Railroad Kings who possess the controlling stock in the Road. Every countenance indicated a shrewd business man as the bearer—some even approaching the Crafty. The proceedings of the Board we publish below, with the omission of the texts of some of the Resolutions referred to.

After the meeting had ajourned. Capt. Barney invited everybody to tables spread in the Depot building, and we are not extravagant when we say it was the most elegant barbacue dinner we ever sat down to. The complete success in this line can only be accounted for when we know that J. F. DeCamp and Henry Barney superintended it. They both look like men who enjoy good eating immensely, and that they are gentlemen who thoroughly appreciate the meaning of the term, no one can doubt after partaking once of their generous hospitality. Too much praise cannot be bestowed either on Capt. Barney and other attaches of the Road who took so much pains to make every gentleman present feel thoroughly at home.

Altogether the meeting was indeed a pleasant one. Acquaintances from all along the line met, and before the graver deliberations of the day commenced, "joy was unconfined." As to the heart burnings &c, if there was such a thing, among the money Kings, we know nothing, Providence having graciously relieved us, or rather never having given us, the superfluous funds necessary to admittance to the ring where uneasiness dwells. The only thing we were at all troubled about during the day, was the fear that we would not get the machine shops at Jacksonville; but, after being closeted awhile in a Rail Road car with Mr. Breed and others, we, in the evening, "went on our way rejoicing." "In which condition" we reached Jacksonville.

PROCEEDINGS.

The Stockholders of the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad Company met in Convention pursuant to notice at Patona, Ala., at 1 P. M., and was called to order by the President, F. H. Delano, upon whose motion Gen. Levi W. Lawler was elected chairman, who, upon taking the chair, addressed the Convention, congratulating the Stockholders upon the completion of the road to Dalton, reminding them that it was completed within the time contracted for by the lessee. Mr. Breed, and that it was a first class road.

On motion, G. M. Chapman was appointed Secretary.

On motion a committee was appointed to ascertain and report to the Convention the names of Stockholders and proxies present, and the amount of stock represented in this Convention. Gen. W. H. Forney, A. W. Bowie and Geo. O. Baker, were appointed as said committee.

The President reported verbally that a bill had been prepared and presented to Congress confirming and ratifying the grant of lands made by Congress to the Alabama and Tennessee River Railroad; that the bill had passed the Senate and had gone to the House of Representatives where it was amended, by our consent, and that it was in the hands of report, and we have assurances that it will be passed so soon as it can be reached.

He also reported adoption of a Resolution at a meeting of the Board of Directors held in New York, July 9th 1869, providing for the transfer of the Ashby branch of the Road to a company who propose to build the same.

He also reported transfer of road from Jacksonville to Gadsden to Hon. Thos. A. Walker and others. Resolutions introduced enforcing and ratifying the action of the Board of Directors in transferring these roads, were adopted.

The President further reported that the completion of the road to Dalton was too recent to enable the Engineer and other officers to furnish the data from which a detailed report could be prepared, but that so soon as it could be done a report would be made, printed and circulated among the stockholders.

The Convention then took a recess to enable the committee on proxies time to report.

Upon reassembling the committee on proxies made their report which was received and adopted.

James W. Lapsley introduced a Resolution authorizing and directing Executive Committee of Board of Directors to hear and determine applications for duplicate certificates of Stock, for parties whose Stock certificates have been destroyed. Adopted.

Committee reported amount of Stock represented at 56657 shares.

Convention then proceeded to election of President and Board of Directors. The old Board with one exception was unanimously re-elected.

Convention then adjourned sine die.

The People vs. The Fools and Knaves in Power.

I notice in your paper of the 4th inst., an article with the above caption in substance signed, "Calhoun Democrat." Also another article in same paper signed "Many of the People."

I do hope "the people" will all read these articles and ponder well the facts therein stated. It is the duty of all honest men, to aid in expelling from power, the present incumbents whose inexpressibly diabolical course has involved our State in almost utter ruin.

This may be done by rallying to the polls in Nov. next and voting for honest and competent men for Governor, State officers and members of the Legislature. No excuse is available now for "masterly inactivity" amidst the perils by which the people are now surrounded. You must rally to the polls and thus come to the rescue, or you are guilty of a gross neglect of duty. If you stand idly by and permit your country ruined, you are responsible for the dire consequences. But, do you ask what you can do? You can talk and stir up your neighbors, some of whom seem to be sleeping over the volcano ready to explode with utter ruin. You can open the eyes of the freedmen to the base hypocracy of the radicals whose only object is to use them in order to remain in power. Inform the colored race, that it was the the Northern people who originally captured their ancestors, brought them to the United States and enslaved them. That they (the Yankees) brought the negroes South and sold them "as slaves for life." In this manner you can secure a large portion of the freedmen to vote for good men. Then, let all "the people" unite and shoulder to shoulder, in the November next, make one mighty effort for deliverance. Then shall the "fools and knaves" tremble as did Belshazzar when he saw the hand writing on the wall. Then deliverance will be achieved and "the people" be glad and send up a shout of joy that will thrill throughout the land. Do you say I am too ardent? I hope not. Read "Many of the people," if not already done and behold the cavern yawning ready to engulf "the people." Think of $9,300,000, for two Rail Roads. But, I cannot recapitulate. Read I say then and quiet your conscience if you can for careless indifferance, or "masterly inactivity" "so-called". Let all rally to the polls at the next election. Let no laggards be found among "the people." Come in your majesty and by one united voice proclaim the condemnation of "fools and knaves" their expulsion from power and the installation of honest and competent men. Then shall we "have peace." Then again, and not until then shall the "wilderness and solitary places be glad and the desert rejoice and blossom as the rose."

"Let us have peace."

PACIFICUS.

EXCITEMENT AT TUSKEGEE

Negroes threatening to Destroy the town.

Advices from Tuskegee last night represent that armed negroes in countless numbers are guarding the streets leading to the town, and firing on all persons who do not give the countersign. Women and children have fled from the place, seeking refuge in Montgomery and places along the rail road. The whites have told the negroes that the negro Legislator, Alston, was shot at the instance of white men, and they have declared that the town shall be destroyed, and fixed upon last night or to-day as the time.

Alston was shot by envious negroes of his own faith, a fact that is indisputable. All this is consequent upon the teachings of the same villainous crew that are now endeavoring to dupe the decent people of Alabama, by the popular old dogma that "resistance to tyranny is obedience to God."

We will receive further news to day concerning this affair.

THE LION QUEEN.

Thrilling Adventure of a Woman in a Cage of Lions.

New York Special to Cincinnati Commercial.

The performance in Bowery theater, early on Sunday morning, terminated in a frightful tragedy. Last week the managers introduced living lions and tigers as a novelty, with a young woman, whose stage name is Minnie Wells, as the lion queen. Attired in a well fitting suit of red, she boldly entered the lions' cage, and for a time became master of the king of the forest. The tigers were also so thoroughly under her control that at a mere motion of her hand they crouched to her feet permitting her to sit on their backs.

About 12:30 o'clock this morning, when the curtain was about to fall, Minnie Wells entered the cages of lions and tigers and reduced them to submission. Attired in her garish costume, the girl went into the cage of the two lionesses and began her performance. One of the animals was ready to obey her mistress, but the other was out of humor; but it would never do to disappoint the patrons of the Bowery theater, so Minnie Wells attempted to chastise the animal, and the brute, snorted under the blows, sprang upon her. In the twinkling of an eye, the lion queen was thrown down, and the furious beast sprang at her throat, fastening his teeth and claws into both throat and shoulders. It was thought at first, by the spectators, that this was part of the play, until the girls, shrieks undeceived them. Then the truth began to dawn upon the house. The woman also shrieked and fainted. Some of the more timid left their seats and rushed from a place which had been changed from the representation of a mimic to a real tragedy.

The woman lay on the floor of the cage, the teeth and claws of the beast tearing her flesh, Shriek after shriek rang through the theater, and all supposed that the end of the lion queen's performance had come. But soon the atte[ndants] rushed to the stage, armed with bars, and began to belabor the monster until he had released his hold. The girl was then taken out, more dead than alive, for she had fainted. Her friends rushed up, and took her from the theatre to her lodgings where a surgeon was summoned to dress the wounds. On examination it was found that the injuries were not fatal, but still very severe. The girl's face, neck and shoulders had been very severly bitten by the animal's teeth and claws.

In trying to save herself the lion queen thrust out her hand, which was seized by the lion's teeth, and so severely bitten that it may be necessary to amputate it.

The laceration by the teeth, especially on the neck, are deep and wide. The animal's claws are frightful, and considered the most dangerous, as the virus getting into the blood may cause mortification.

The animals which Miss Wells appears with are only two years and five months old, and were obtained by her father a few days after their birth, and reared and trained by him especially for his daughter to perform with. They are said to be very tractable, and devotedly attached to their young mistress, showing for her all the affection of a young spaniel. The keeper of the animals and Mr. Wells are unable to account for the ferocity of the lioness, which is Miss Wells' pet, otherwise than that she was annoyed by Prince, the African lion, in the adjoining cage.

ANIMALS REASON.—We have often thought that animals possess something more than instinct, and consequently that they have a hereafter. If the following device of rats don't establish not only the fact that they reason, but that they are really possessed of inventive genius, we give it up. Here is the story.

A son of Mr. Reid, two miles from town discovered three rats approaching a hen's nest at the stables. For some time they maneuvered around as if to determine how to get the eggs off to their holes. At last after squealing around awhile, one fellow deliberately rolled over on his back with his head to the nest. The other two then rolled an egg on his breast which he clasped tight with his feet. They then both got hold of his tail and dragged off the booty in real sled style. The Old Boy is good for these three cunning sinners certain, if we admit anything further than instinct for them. The truth of the above can be vouched for by one whose veracity is unimpeachable.

☞We call the attention of our readers to the inducements held out by the new firm that style themselves the "Cheap Men." They merely ask a call, and want all to judge for themselves.

Their stock is large and varied, and that of Ready Made Clothing particularly extensive and cheap.

Give them a call.

We had the pleasure of meeting frequently, last week, Maj. A. M. O'Neal representing the firm of Sherman Bro's, New York. Maj. O'Neal represents the very best Hardware House in New York, and deserves, because he is a most thorough, winning gentleman and an Alabamian, a more than ordinary degree of consideration at the hands of our merchants. We knew him before and during the war. He was at West Point when the Revolution began, and did not hesitate to abandon all his prospects and cast his lot with his own people of the South. We commend him to merchants wherever he may go.

FINE WHEAT.—We were handed the other day, a bunch of wheat, raised by Mr. F. Snow of this place. Some of the heads contained 12 meshes on a side some of the meshes 5 grains, and the heads from 80 to 100 grains.

J. B. Williams, Esq. has also exhibited fine specimens—in fact the crop generally is extraordinary.

We understand that summer visitors have come to Jacksonville and gone away for want of accommodation. This will never do. We ought to be able to accommodate at least two hundred. They come for the Summer months and do not expect great things in the way of accommodation. They come to rusticate and are prepared to put up with inconveniences. All they want is to get into private families. Let room be made for them. After a few days acquaintance we will be glad that we have taken them in.

We have often read of Iowa and Illinois fish showers &c, but never believed anything of the kind until we had an ocular demonstration. Yesterday while walking from the Rail-road meeting to the store of one of our most worthy merchants, immediately after a shower, we picked up a beautiful spotted trout, about one half inch in length which must have come from the clouds, as there is none of the species in our creeks, except a mountain stream which is never fished in. It was barely dead when we picked it up. We believe henceforth in fish showers.

On behalf of the friends of the gentlemen named, we thank Capt. Barney for a free pass over the R. Rd., for the Rev. Mr. Blue, and a half-free pass for Rev. W. R. Kirk of the Talladega circuit, who pays us an occasional visit. If the Captain could only unfreeze toward Jacksonville and pay the town an occasional visit, we would soon be able to count him among her admirers.

We were particularly struck yesterday, at the Rail Road meeting dinner, with the handsome way in which Mr. Henry Barney dispensed the hospitalities. He did the work of about four servants in getting the good things around. Indeed, but for Henry, we cannot see how the dinner would have gone off so successfully. He understands the amenities, as both Shanklin of the Daily, and the representative of the Republican can attest.

To the Mayor and Councilmen of Jacksonville.

GENTLEMEN:—I beg leave to call your attention to the important question of supplying the town with water. I shall consume no time—or labor in argument to prove the importance of this self-evident proposition. The only question to which I desire to invite your attention are first the practicability of the enterprise, and second the cost of the work.

It is well known to you all, that the side and slope of our beatiful Blue Mountain, is beautifully supplied with the best and purest of free-stone springs. The limits of your Municipal Corporation reach the base of this mountain. Water in wasteful abundance can be conveyed in pipes to the public square, from thence to all portions of the town. The practicability of doing this at this time, is not an open question.

Many years ago four or five of the citizens of the town (among them was the editor of this paper, Mr. J. F. Grant,) brought water in pipes made of pine logs to their residences. The original cost being five or six hundred dollars. If it was practicable for this small party to convey water from the side of the mountain over the Nisbet hill to the centre of the town—is it not clear and evident that the Corporation of this town can do the same thing by the use of cast iron pipes?

The practicability of bringing the water to the public square I repeat, is not an open question, it has been demonstrated by the Editor of this paper and three or four others, and therefore I will not labor on this point any longer.

The main and only serious question to be considered is the cost of the work. Is the cost of the work in the reach of the corporation? I hold that it is.

I have made special inquiry for the purpose of ascertaining the cost of wrought and cast iron pipes. I have before me the price list of the Girard Tube Works of Philadelphia. Wrought iron pipes one inch cost 25 cents per foot; two inches 56 cents; two and half inches 90 cents; three inches $1,30 per foot. I am satisfied from a full investigation of the subject a two inch pipe will convey ample, and sufficient water to supply the town for all purposes. The wrought iron two inch pipe is 56 cents per foot—this is rather expensive.

A two inch cast iron pipe at the same works can be had for 20 cents per foot. I am fully satisfied from information obtained from practical men, that the two inch cast iron pipe is equal to the two inch wrought iron pipe, if not better—it is much thicker and not so subject to rust or corrode, and therefore will last longer; and is not half so costly.

Glass piping can be had at 15 cents per foot which is not so expensive, but not so reliable and durable on account of being easier to burst or break.

I have selected the two inch cast iron pipe as the most suitable—best and cheapest all things considered. I have seen them and examined them recently in Selma, where they are being put down. I am fully satisfied this is the pipe for our work and recommend it to your favorable consideration.

In the next place I will give you the cost of one mile of two inch cast iron piping. One mile is 1760 yards or 5280 feet, at 20 cents per foot will cost $1056,-00. I do not know the exact distance the pipe will have to be laid, I suppose a small fraction over a mile. When the exact distance is ascertained the precise cost of the piping is easily attained.

From these facts, I have come to the conclusion that water can be conveyed from the mountain springs to the public square for $1,500 or $2,000.

I am satisfied that $2,000 will cover the cost of the pipes and laying them under ground. If this be true, will the town council hesitate to take steps to accomplish the grand object?

Public and private necessity requires that the town should be supplied with water. A few days ago, the town barely escaped being consumed by an accidental fire. Sooner or later it is bound to be destroyed by fire unless steps are taken to guard against it.

Bring water from the mountain and it will supercede the necessity of a fire engine—by procuring hose so arranged as to attach to each hydrant you can so elevate the fountain head to throw water over any house in town. Or you can bring water to the top of the Nisbet hill deposited in a reservoir, which will give sufficient elevation to throw water over the top of the court house. Bring water from the mountain, it is much better for domestic purposes, than the lime stone spring. Consult the laundress who has cleansed soiled clothes with the free stone water from the mountain and from the lime stone spring of the town and she will tell you the mountain free stone is greatly preferable.

Bring water from the mountain and build your College, if you desire to see your town improve and increase in population. Bring water from the mountain if you desire to dispense with your water carts.

Bring water from the mountain, and flowers will come after, to adorn and beautify the place. All will join in sustaining you in this grand and important undertaking from the merchant down to the washer-woman.

AQUA.

P. S. The writer of this hasty article is a tax-payer in the corporation, has two good wells on his lot—will not be personally benefited by bringing water to the town. Yet he is willing to be taxed by the corporation to defray the expense of bringing water from the mountain for the public and private good generally that will flow from it.

TRUE.—The man that will take a newspaper for a length of time, and then send it back "refused," and unpaid for would swallow a blind dog's dinner, and then stone the dog for being blind.—Ex.

"He would do worse than that. He would marry a girl on trial, and send her back with the words dont suit chalked on her back, after the honey-moon."—Iron City.

'Worse than that. He'd steal the chalk to write it with, and afterwards he would use it on his shirt to save the expense of washing, and then sue his wife's father for a Month's boarding."—Standard.

'Worse yet. He'd chase a sick rat 10 miles over a corduroy road, and institute a post-mortem examination after he had caught him, in order to recover a stolen grain of corn."—Morgantown Star.

'We endorse every word of the above. He would steal rotten acorns from a blind pig. He would steal all the winter meat of an editor."—Somerset Herald.

He would be as mean as the man who cursed his poor old mother for stopping in his door yard to beg for bread; and who gave his only child a penny for going to bed superless, and the next morning charged him a penny for his breakfast.—Torch Light.

'Stronger yet. He would sponge a living from the heard earnings of his poor old father until the poor old gentleman became unable to work, and then let him die in the poor house, and afterwards sell his remains to the medical students for anatomical purposses.'—Bluffon Banner.

'Worse still. He would dig up the bones of his mother and make dice of them, and play chuck-a-luck, on his grandmother's tombstone for a copper cent which a horse thief had stolen from the eye of a dead 15th Amendment.—Quitman Bannet.

'Yes the man who would subscribe for and read a gentleman's paper and not pay for it, would steal the pap from his infant child, starve it to death, and sell its bones to a guano factory, in addition to doing any and all the the mean things enumerated above.—Cartersville Ex press.

Yes he,d rob his sick sister of her hair; he'd do for a carpet-bagger or scalawag, or even might be induced to become a member of Congress.

Dr. A. L. SCOVILL is the inventor of several medical preparations which have become very popular, and have been liberally used. Among his inventions are "Hall's Balsam for the Lungs" and "Liverwort and Tar." For the past six years a better Lung remedy has been offered to the public. Read the following letter from Dr. Scovill referring to it:

Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

Gents:—I make the following statement from a perfect conviction and knowledge of the benefits of Allen's Lung Balsam in curing the most deep-seated PULMONARY CONSUMPTION! I have witnessed its effects on the young and the old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the phlegm and matter to raise, without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs), and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops the night-sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

LOUISIANA GREOLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.

The Hair restored naturally to its original color, prevented from falling out, its growth increased, and its softness and beauty multiplied.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer keeps the head clean, cool and healthy, removes all diseases of the scalp, keeps it free from Dandruff, prevents irritation and itching and is an excellent remedy for nervous and other forms of headache.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer is not a dye, but restores gray hair to its original color by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance which may not be assimilated from either age or decay. All instantaneous Hair Dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair and afford of themselves no dressing, but on the contrary make the hair brittle and wiry. The

Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer not only actually renews the hair and restores the natural color by natural means, but it imparts to it a luxuriant beauty which it can attain by no other method.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer in addition to its many useful qualities is elegantly perfumed and is entirely free from greasiness and stickiness, so that the finest linen fabric is not spoiled or even stained by its use. It contains no poison to kill the hair, but under its continued use, improvement is steadily manifested and it never fails to give the best satisfaction.

For sale by Druggists generally. Prepared by MANSFIELD & HIGBEE, Memphis, Tenn.

MAGIC ARNICA LINIMENT

WILL CURE PAINS AND ACHES IN FIVE MINUTES.

Prepared from rare Essential Oils, Extract of Camphor, Extract of Arnica, Chlodyne and Magnetic Fluid, chemically combined.

The Magic Arnica Liniment is one of the most powerfully penetrating Fluids known. It is no rancid grease like many of the so-called Liniments sold, but a clear, transparent, ruby colored Fluid, which when applied, promptly penetrates through skin and muscles to the very bone itself, striking at the root of the disease and instantly relieving all pain. In cases of Paralysis, Numbness, Bites, Cramps, swellings, and in fact, all classes of diseases that can be reached by external treatment, this liniment will be found efficacious. In Rheumatism it acts promptly, killing the pain in one or two applications, and when used in connection with Mansfield & Higbee's Great Internal Remedy, the RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, we have never known it to fail in effecting a CURE! As a

Horse and Cattle Liniment

it is unsurpassed, curing where other liniments fail. A striking evidence of this is its unparalleled success when used in the treatment of Charbone or Erysipelas in Horses or Mules—a disease which at one time threatened to destroy all the stock in the Mississippi Valley; The Magic Arnica Liniment was the only remedy that was found to cure in all cases.

With every bottle will be found a circular containing specific directions for using.

For sale by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.

Manufactured only by the sole Proprietors, Mansfield & Higbee, Memphis Tenn. Wholesale Agents at Mobile, McGuire, Blackwood & Co. and at Selma, J. L. McVoy & Co.

Dated at Jacksonville, the 2d day of May, A. D. 1869.

H. A. EARNS, Assignee.

A NOVEMBER AFTERNOON.

BY REBECCA HARDING DAVIS.

The wind of the Delaware was keen. It reddened the noses of the pretty young girls hurrying home up Chestnut street, and brightened their eyes; their plaid cloaks and scarlet plumes fluttered; the red sunset glittered on the windows; people called gayly to each other as they passed; out of every area window came savory whiffs of dinner. The world to Sam Bender had never seemed more insultingly good-humored.

"How d'ye like this blow, Sam? Smells Thanksgivish eh?"

"How goes it Bender?"

"What's the good news, Sam?"

Bender turned at this. It was little Joe Houston, one of his fellow-clerks, who had clapped him on the back.

"Good news? no good news," turning gruffly away.

Yet he wished the fantastic little fellow would stay with him. He felt terribly alone—as he had never done before in all his life—things had reached such a narrow strait with him to-day.

"Tut, tut, Bender! You're morbid since you've been sick. Do you think you're the first man that's had typhoid?"

"I've lost more than health. I had to-day Stouch stopped my salary after the first week."

"Whew! But after all, what's money, boy? Can sordid dust make the bosom's lord sit lighter on his throne?" tapping his gaudy little waistcoat theatrically. "Anyhow, I don't think Stouch knows anything about it. It's that cursed old Morris."

"What does that matter? It's gone. I've been saving for years to pay off the mortgage on our house. I'll have to take the money to clear off the debts of the last three months, and the mortgage falls due to-morrow."

"That's the devil's own luck! Such a snug little house, too! How long have you lived there, Sam?"

"I was born in it. It's the Bender homestead. I've been saving ever since I was married to pay off that mortgage. But now—"

"Mary's done her share of saving too."

Bender was silent a moment.

"I have no fault to find with my wife," he said, coldly.

"No chance of renewal?"

"None. He is glad of the chance to foreclose."

"Too bad, too bad!"

He was chewing his sandy mustache. Joe was always fidgetty and in motion.

"There's Kitty Stouch coming now. She's a brick of a girl! Know her? It would be worth a fellow's while to cut in there, hey? If you've nothing more to say I'll join her, Sam,' I is eager face growing as red as his hair as the young lady came near.

"I've nothing more to say."

"Bye, then!" touching his cap and skipping off to the side of the large, calm-eyed blonde, who was now abreast of them.

Her heavy, lustrous silk brushed against Sam as she swept by.

When Houston joined her, he spoke eagerly, motioning back to Sam; then they both laughed.

What had induced Bender to make a confidant of the man? He cursed his own folly, looking after him as he went skipping along, light as a grasshopper. Yet he used to think Joe was soft-hearted as a woman.

But what did it matter to any man that he stood there ruined to-day, the patient toil of years swept away in one blow? What did the world care? Or God?—if there were a God.

He looked for a few minutes stolidly over the heads of the gay, moving crowd, into the cloudy sky.

Only a year ago Sam had been a rigid church member, teaching a class of boys in the Sunday-school. He tried to teach them to trust in a living Christ, to trust in each other; constantly growing stronger himself from the teaching. Now—

It was not the loss of the money. But that Mary should have turned from him—

He walked down the street, his head on his breast. Then he came slowly back to the door of Sauls' warerooms. In a few minutes he could know the worst, and he would not shirk it.

He did not remember to have noticed this house particularly before. It was a seven-storied white marble building—the warerooms above the ground floor occupied as a sole department. The manufacture was exclusively that of gas fixtures:

The windows, beside one of which he stood, were filled with costly bronzes; the lofty ceiling of the room within glittered with chandeliers and lusters. Two or three of these great gewgaws would have paid for his home, he thought bitterly.

It was strange that, at that moment, when he was waiting to know if his wife were true or false to him, the loss of the home should have occurred to him. But it had become, through long years of waiting, of penny-saving, and self-denial, a mania with Bender.

'Saul, Crompton & Saul'—he read the name of the firm over and over. The Sauls were merchant princes—Hicksite Friends. He knew their stately house on Locust street.

It was Crompton, whom Morris, the overseer, had told him, with so meaning a smile, was a gay fellow 'not to be trusted with so pretty a wife as yours Bender.'

It was only that morning that Morris had told him this, when he had crept down to the office for the first time after his three months' illness.

He felt, when he opened the office door, as if it were the ghost of Sam Bender who was going in, the strength was drained out of his body.

Then he had, for a long time, noticed the change in Mary—how preoccupied she was, silent, going about the house with her thoughts far off. He had not failed to note her long absences, even when he was still ill, and needed, or thought he needed, her constant care.

This thing had worked a deep change in him.

Sam Bender was not the man to ask questions or chatter over his jealousy or wounded love. He only put his wife coldly away from him a little space, and waited.

At the most, he fancied that she had grown wearied of the sick room and the man But when she was put away from him, the soul seemed to grow weak in his body. They had been a peculiarly loving husband and wife.

That morning Morris had told him first of the stoppage of his salary.

'Very sorry, Mr. Bender; glad to have you back again in the works. But the salary only went on for one week. Very true, very true, Mr. Stouch has been in the habit of continuing back pay with some old retainers. But we are drawing in, sir, drawing in. The money market never was so tight.'

It was as Bender walked away from the desk that Morris called him back and asked him about Mary.

'A particular friend of young Crompton's, eh?'

'My wife does not know Mr. Crompton. Nor do I.'

'No? Better if you did, then,' with a serious look. 'Mrs. Bender does. I meet them sauntering along in the evening together very frequently. Crompton's an attractive fellow. No wonder women like him for a friend. Irish, you know, gay, handsome, genial. Too attractive to be trusted with as pretty a woman as your wife, Bender, if you'll allow me to say it.'

'I will not allow you to say it, Mr. Morris. You do not know my Mary, and are not capable of judging her. For my part, I am glad she has made a pleasant friend.'

Morris laid down his pen and came outside of the desk-railing.

'Now, don't be offendrd and sulky, lad,' drawing him aside. 'I'm an older man than you. I know women better. They are nervous and magnetic, especially high-spirited, delicate women like your Mary, if that her name. They grow tired of the jog-trot life at home, and the dull, daily talks with their husbands. They pine for some repetition of the old romantic, love making days. So they form a platonic friendship. That's the worst I ever suspected of your wife—a platonic friendship. But if she were my wife,' emphatically, 'I would as lief another man kissed her lips as paltered in that fashion with her heart.'

'I am not afraid,' coldly.

'Of course not. Oh, certainly not! I'm sorry I mentioned it.'

'On the contrary, I am obliged to you for your interest in me. But you are mistaken.'

'Well, good day, Bender. You'll be on hand to-morrow? By the way, though, it was odd, now, that Mrs. Bender did not mention Crompton to you?'

He was not angry with Morris, though he had tried to blind him as he did. The old man wanted to save him—and her.

He did not go home again, though he had promised Mary to be back by noon.

He had intended to begin work until the next day. He told her he would bring the back salary with him, in time for her to pay off the pressing bills that afternoon. He would draw the money from the savings bank, too, to clear the mortgage.

But, on leaving Morris, he had gone aimlessly wandering about the streets, out to Fairmount at last, down between the great wheels, over which the river rushed in a hell of sound.

It would be so easy to end it all! But Bender was a slow, phlegmatic man, not apt to be moved by any sudden temptation.

He came back to Chestnut street in the afternoon.

Young Ward met, one of the clerks of the savings bank.

'Hallo! Sam. You told me you meant to draw that little pile of yours to-day. Bank's just closing. If you want it come along.'

'Yes, I suppose so,' following him.

'Going to clear your mortgage, eh? That's clever. Well, there you are,' counting out the notes and smiling over the counter.

Sam smiled back at him Then he went down to Saul & Crompton's.

He would meet her there, if it were true. The devil whispered that into his ear as a certainty.

He had been standing by the window for about an hour, when Joe Houston passed.

People went in and out of the showrooms; but Mary's slight figure, in the well-worn brown suit, was not among them.

He peered in now and then through the shining vista of gilt-work and colored glass to see Crompton.

He would know him at the first sight, he knew—'tall genial, handsome.' There was no one like him among the dapper little clerks.

It began to grow dark at last. He went in.

'Is Mr. Crompton in?'

'In his private office, sir. Second floor. Will you walk up?'

One of the clerks was coming down the stairs.

'He's engaged just now, Phil. A lady.'

'Will you wait, sir?' said the first. 'Sit down,' pushing a stool toward him, seeing how white and weak he was.

'I'll go outside, into the air.'

'You may miss Mr. Crompton. He comes down the private stairs often on the other street. Shall I send your name up?'

'No.'

He went out to the street. He knew Crompton would come down the private stairs. He knew who would be with him.

The door of the side entrance was narrow; there was a fruiterer's stall next to it. Standing in the shadow, Bender was almost concealed from view.

Half an hour passed, the State House clock struck 5. He moved to go away. After all it might be but a devilish dream. Mary was at home, doubtless, watching at the window for him, with Jackey in her arms.

The door above opened. There was a moment's pause, and then a man's voice.

'Take care! the stairs are dark. Give me your hand.'

A ringing, rich voice, such as would belong to a genial, love-making Irishman, softened now to a very tender inflection.

Then there was a quick, light-step upon the stairs. Bender had learned to know it years ago.

They came out together on the pavement. Mary's dress almost touched her husband; it was her one good dress, the brown silk so long kept for church. She had a bit of blue chenille, too, twisted in and out of the coils of her black hair. It was many a day since she had taken that trouble to look fair in his eyes.

They spoke together in a low tone, Crompton urging something, which she faintly resisted.

He prevailed at last, though.

'I will be there at nine, then?' raising his voice.

'At nine if you will,' she said gently.

'Will it be safe?'

'Oh, quite safe. He goes to bed early since his sickness. Poor old Saul' with a nervous laugh.

'Shall I not go home with you now? It grows late.'

'No, no! We may be seen together.'

He held her hand in his a moment, and then she was gone. Crompton stood still looking after her.

Bender came up the pavement and faced him. His face was so ghastly and menacing that the younger man drew back and the air died on his lips which he was softly humming.

The low sunlight fell on his elegantly dressed figure as he stood there—on the flushed, handsome face, with its full, reddish beard and hair.

To be concluded next week.

A Brave Girl.

The Atchison county (Mo.) Journal tells the following story of the exploits of a brave girl in that country:

A few weeks, since, as Paulina Vogler, a young daughter of Charles Vogler, living a short distance south of town, was riding horseback over the prairie, she espied a young wolf in the grass. She dismounted and captured, his wolfship, and was a bout to mount again, when the mother of the animal, hearing the cries of her young, put in an appearance rather suddenly. Paulina, nothing daunted, mounted hastily and made off with her prisoner, the old wolf following in close pursuit until warned by some dogs of impending danger to herself.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.

The July number of BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE is the commencement of the Thirty-second Volumn. Its popularity is now so great that no magazine in the country stands higher in the estimation of the people for genuine interest and excellence. Each number contains 100 pages of reading matter—stories, poems, historical events, wit and humor, a housekeeper depart. ment, and from sixteen to twenty illustrations of noted scenes and places. All this can be obtained for $1.50 per year, or fifteen cents single copy; and club terms are even cheaper.

A Reverent Scoundrel.—We clip the following paragraph from an exchange:

"Rev. M. P. Gaddis, formerly Assessor of Internal Revenue in Cincinnati, has been arrested in New York, on a requisition from the Governor of Ohio, for alleged complicity in revenue frauds, while in that position."

This fellow Gaddis, a Northern Methodist preacher, came to Huntsville in 1862 as the chaplain of an Ohio regiment, in Gen. O. M. Mitchell's command, and proved himself a veritable diable voiteux (devil on two sticks) in his career here. He seized the Democrat office, and published a so-called Union paper, with our press, type, ink and paper, (about three months supply,) and printed jobs, until Gen. Buell came here, and (as we were told,) turned him out and closed the office, telling him that he had no right to seize property and use it on his private account. He, of course, paid nothing for stealing our property. Besides, he was guilty of the inhumanity of forcing one of our servants to act as pressman, the servant being engaged at the time, in waiting at the bedside of one of our sons, who was dangerously ill. Some months ago, this pious preacher (now charged with revenue frauds) was announced as a lecturer, in favor of reading the Bible in the public schools of Cincinnati.—Huntsville Democrat.

Notary Public and Commissioner for all the States.

I have been fifteen years in the divorce business, ten years in the offices I now occupy. Having been consulted by over thirty thousand persons on the subject of divorce, I refer to my numerous clients for whom I have obtained divorces. I am connected with the most expert and successful Divorce Lawyers in the States of New York, Indiana, Illinois, Connecticut and other States where laws are liberal on the subject, and parties residing in any State or County wishing divorces would therefore do better to apply through me than elsewhere. I obtain divorces for desertion, adultery, drunkenness, non-support, etc., without publicity and without charge unless I succeed. Advice free. I call attention to the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States has lately decided that divorces obtained in one State are perfectly legal in every State.

In all cases where an advance is paid on a case for my security, I will return the money if I should fail in obtaining the divorce. Every divorce obtained by me is warranted perfectly legal everywhere. Call on address, M. HOUSE, Counsellor at Law

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Great Remedies.
DR. JOHN BULL,
MANUFACTURER AND VENDER OF THE Celebrated
Smith's Tonic Syrup!
FOR THE CURE OF AGUE AND FEVER,
OR CHILLS AND FEVER.
THE proprietor of this celebrated medicene justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe certain speedy and permanent cure of Ague and fever, or Chills and Fever whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and South western country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure. If the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficent for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health It is however prudent, and in every case more certain to cure if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult & longstanding cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of Bull's Vegetable Family Pills will be sufficient.

BULL'S
WORM DESTROYER,
To my United States and World-Wide Readers.
I HAVE recieved many testimonials from professional & medical men, as, my almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following from a highly educated and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever recieved. Dr Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and his testimony deserves to be writen in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctors say of Bull's Worm Destroyer:
VILLANOW, WALKER COUNTY, Ga } June 29, 1866.
DR. JOHN BULL.—Dear Sir: I have recently given your "Worm Destroyer" several trials, and find it wonderful efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for one articles of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you, is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine directly from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line of M. D.'s. but I see not just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms.
I am, sir, most respectfully,
JULIUS P. CLEMENT, M. D.

BULL'S
SARSAPARILLA.
A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.
Read the Captain's Letter and the Letters from his mother:
Benton Barracks, Mo., April 30, 1866.
DR JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficacy of your Sarsaparilla, and the healing and beneficial qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case.
I was wounded about two years ago—was taken prisoner & confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not sat up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in any thing else. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige
CAPT. C. P. JOHNSON,
St. Louis, Mo.
P. S.—The following was written April 30, 1865, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Capt, Johnson.
DR. JOHN BULL.—Dear Sir. My husband Dr C. S. Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in central New York, where he died leaveing the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhea and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. IT CURED HIM. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio, and Iowa, for scrofula, fever soars, and general debility. Perfect success has attended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever soars were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is fearful of getting a spurious article, hence his writing to you for it. His wounds were terrible, but I believe he will recover. Respectfully,
NIEGEN JOHNSON.

Testimony of Medical Men.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir. Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedrou Bitters.
My son-in-law, who was with me in the store has been down with rheumatism for some time, commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved.
Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and also improved.
Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—he improved very much by the use of your Bitters Indeed the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this settlement. I think I could sell a great quantity of your medicines this fall —especially your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care of Rickett & Neely. Respectfully,
C. B. WALKER.

TO PHYSICIANS.
NEW YORK, August 15th, 1868.
Allow me to call your attention to my
Preparation of Compound EXTRACT BUCHU.
The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.
MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.
Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates, the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.
Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation
With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,

POETRY.

Sweet Thoughts.

I have sweet thoughts of Heaven,
That cheer me all the day,
As thro' the clouds and darkness
I take my toilsome way;
I think of all the dear ones,
Who saintly glory share;
And Heav'n I know is brighter,
For all the loved ones there!

I have sweet thoughts of Heaven,
That fill my soul with joy,
When earthly trials gather,
And earthly cares annoy;
I think of that bright dwelling,
That home of perfect rest,
Where angel choirs are singing
The chorus of the blest!

I have sweet thoughts of Heaven,
That keep me from despair,
When life, with all its burdens,
Seems more than I can bear;
I think of Him, my Saviour,
Who suffered pain and loss;
Through Him I gain salvation,
For Him I'll bear the cross!

I have sweet thoughts of Heaven—
Of bliss, and peace, and rest;
A loving angel-presence,
That calms my troubled breast;
They cheer me when I'm lonely,
They comfort me when sad;
Sweet thoughts of Heaven!—ye on'y
Can make my spirit glad!

NORA O'NEIL.—Some wag gets off the following:
"O! you say you are lonely without me, that you sigh for one glance of my eye; you're blarneying always about me—O! why don't you to papa apply? You men are so very deceiving, I can't believe aught that you say; your love I will only believe in when my jointure is made out an fait. This trash about eyes, voice and glances, may do for a miss in her teens; but he who to me makes advances must talk of his bank-stock and means. You beg me to go galavanting, to meet you at the foot of the lane—with a kiss, too. why, man, you're ranting? do you think that I am wholly insane? When you woo a young lady of sense, sir, don't whine about sorrow and tears; it's a matter of dollars and cents, sir: no tale of romance interferes. O! poverty is not all fancy (my style I will never conceal) if I can't get a husband with money, O! I'll live and die, Nora O'Neil.

State Aid.

The Supreme Court of the State of MICHIGAN has just resurected a "dead" Democratic issue with a vengeance. In the year 1864 the Legislature of that State passed a law authorizing certain named townships to pledge their credit to aid in the construction of a connecting railroad, and at the session of 1869 extended that act into a general law "to "enable any township, city, or village to "pledge its aid, by loan or donation, to "any railroad company now chartered or "organized, or that may hereafter be "organized, under and by virtue of the "laws of the State of Michigan, in the "construction of its road." Technicalities aside, the principle involved in those acts, or State aid, came up before the Supreme Court on the 26th ult., and was there decided against by the Chief Justice and two of his three associates in an opinion that is so just, calm, and sensible that we will endeavor to synopsize its main points.
Taxation, said the court in effect, is the taking of the people's money under the implied condition of using it for the people's good. Where it is not imposed for public but for private purposes, then it ceases to be taxation and becomes plunder. Such being the case, the question arises whether railroads are public objects; and the answer to this is no. "They are private property, whose own"ers make it their business to transport "persons and merchandise in their own "carriages over their own land, for such "pecuniary consideration as may be stip"ulated." True, as they accommodate a public want they seem to possess a public character; but that character is in nowise different from that attaching to a hotel, a line of stages, or a grist-mill—all of which are public, but in the eye of the law mere private enterprises begun and carried on for private gain. Private gain is, with the railroad company as with the hotel proprietor, the great impelling motive, and the benefit to the public a mere incidental consideration—so proven by the fact that, if it were possible for a railroad or hotel to make money without serving the public, then the public would not be by them served. If thus appearing that railroads are private objects it is not in the power of the State, under the name of a bounty, or under any "other cover or subterfuge, to furnish "the capital to set private parties up in "any kind of business, or to subsidize their "business after they have entered upon "it." The favoring of one business at the expense of the rest, whether that one be farming or banking, merchandising or milling, printing or railroading, is not legitimate legislation, but, on the contrary, an invasion of that equality of right and privilege which is a maxim of State government.
These are apples of gold set in pictures of silver. The whole absurdity of the modern doctrine of internal improvments is at once laid bare. The people of the United States build the Pacific Railroad, contributing millions of dollars of their money and millions of acres of their land to its construction, and yet have as little interest in and are charged as much to ride upon that road as if it had been built by British capitalists. The principle is the same as if A were to give money to B, and then B loan it back to A on conditions of interest for its use. Why should not A keep his money and save his interest? Why should not the people have free use of the roads built and managed with their own means? And what equivalent do JOHN DOE and RICHARD ROE render that the people should give them millions to build a road, and then other millions for the use of the road when built? There is in this City of New York a beautiful park bought with the money of our citizens and kept open to the world. Suppose toll-gates built and a fee charged for admittance, and there would be perpetrated on this city the same outrage which the Pacific Railroad commits daily on the whole country.

State aid is the policy of thieves; "development," "opening up," "internal improvement," the rallying cries of the sharper, the lobbyman, and the legislative knave. Private enterprise never fails to supply a mill, hotel, church, or newspaper where one is needed; and railroading can safely be remitted to the same care. Such was the old Democratic doctrine; and it is a pleasing reflection that, mocked and disregarded as it has been as effete, illiberal, and unprogressive, its sound sense and old-fashioned honesty are bringing it once more into prominence, approved and vindicated by the best test any principle can have—the disorders, to wit, prevalent from its absence. Much has been lost during its abeyance; but if now reaffirmed in other courts, as in MICHIGAN, and maintained in the press and at the ballot-box, many spoliations may be averted.

The Latest from Tuskegee.

TUSKEGEE, June 10, 1870.
Eds. Advertiser: Now that the minds of men have grown calm and the truth begun to prevail, you will doubtless wish to be informed as to what has been the real state of affairs at this place for the past few days, of tumult and excitement and what were the actual objects sought to be accomplished by those who were active in fomenting the disturbances. It has been difficult even here to correctly estimate the dangers of the situation, and it is not to be wondered at that reports of a highly exaggerated character have been promulgated abroad. The difficulty as you are already aware originated in the disorderly proceedings of a meeting of the Radical club at Zion Church, situated in the suburbs of the town, on Saturday night last. Alston had previously been elected President of the club, defeating several opponents. A bitter state of feeling had been engendered in consequence thereof, and the friends of the defeated candidates who also differed from Alston on points of party policy were present at the meeting, and strenuously opposed every measure suggested by Alston. It seems that the principal point of difference between the factions is the propriety of retaining white men in the party.—Alston and his friends advocating the policy of discarding the white element and making it a purely negro party, and the other faction opposing this measure. So great a state of disorder and confusion was at length produced that it was found necessary to adjourn the meeting without any of the objects for which it had assembled having been accomplished. The enemies of Alston retired in bad humor and with abusive and threatening language. Shortly afterwards Alston was shot. The next morning four of the leaders of the opposition were arrested upon affidavits of Alston and his wife and lodged in jail. The negroes and one or two of their white coadjutors demanded of the officers that they arrest every person whom they might designate without affidavit being made. This was of course refused. Alston and his friends issued from their head quarters orders to all the negroes in the country to repair immediately to Tuskegee with their arms for the purpose of taking matters into their own hands. Crowds of armed negroes began to assemble, with threats to burn the town, whip out the whites, tear down the jail and do all manner of mischief generally. Guards were stationed on all the streets in the vicinity of Alston's residence and all white men halted and denied passage. On Monday the negroes in the country continued to leave their work and come to town. The Sheriff finding it impossible to disperse them by virtue of his official authority alone, called into service a posse of citizens to assist him. On Tuesday, finding peaceful measures unavailable, the posse gave the negroes ten minutes to disperse and leave the town, stating that if they did not do so they would be fired upon.—The negroes then quietly dispersed.—All day long however, reports of the presence of considerable bodies of armed negroes at various points in the surrounding country were brought to town and with such a degree of authentication that it was deemed safe to call into service additional numbers of citizens. Many of these reports were doubtless exaggerated and yet it is the general opinion that had not prompt and efficient measures been taken, by the whites and the authorities, much damage would have been done. The negroes had been made to believe that Alston was an officer of superior authority, and that they were compelled to obey implicity any order he given them, and they did actually exhibit a readiness to do whatever he might command in opposition even to the civil authorities themselves. If the company of negro militia from Montgomery had persisted in their intention to come to Tuskegee, a bloody drama would have been enacted and not one of them would ever have returned to tell the tale. They may well thank Gen. Clanton that he interfered to prevent their coming.
Gov. Smith as you aware came up on Wednesday bringing with him a company of U. S. troops, which he left at Chehaw until he could get definite information as to the situation of affairs. He stated to the Sheriff that as the civil authorities had proved efficient to preserve order he would much prefer that no troops should be called for. The citizens had however been on duty three days and nights, and were thoroughly exhausted, and as the Sheriff thought it advisable to have a guard to protect the prisoners in jail against threatened violence, he requested that the troops should be sent to town. The request was complied with and been on duty since, but will return to Montgomery this afternoon. The action of the Governor while here was sensible, prompt, efficient and impartial and entitles him to the thanks of good citizens. He instructed the civil officers to use every effort to discover the leaders in the disturbances and in every case to bring them to punishment. He, himself gave the names of some, who were implicated. Several of the ring leaders have already been arrested and others are being vigorously pursued. Our carpet-bag post master, Gilbert was about being implicated, but got wind of it and last night took to his heels. He is however being pursued and we trust may be arrested. It is said that he advised the negroes to take up arms and wrote the orders for their appearance in town.
The trial of the four negroes for shooting Alston is being proceeded with, Judges Strange and Menefee presiding. Several days will be consumed in taking the testimony. All is now quiet along the lines. The citizens have laid aside the implements of warfare and are engaged in their ordinary avocations.
AMICUS.

THE RURAL CAROLINIAN is never behind the times. Prompt in its publications and timely in its topics, it shows itself fully alive to the actual present needs of the farming community. Its conductors seem to know exactly what its readers want (or ought to want), and to have always at hand the right kind of matter for their instruction. The June number furnishes a good illustration of this remark. Such articles as "Cause and Prevention of Rust in Cotton;"—worth a year's subscription to any planter; Shading the Ground—showing the benefits of mulching; "The Cultivation of Celery;" Propagation by Budding (illustrated;) "Iron and its uses—the Atlanta Rolling Mills;" "Industrial Schools;" "Irrigation in Eastern Spain;" "Education for the Agriculturist;" "Immigration and Direct Trade" and "The Sisal Hemp Question," show that both editor and contributors are wide awake people, who know what is going on in the world and what people are interested in. A fine portrait and an interesting biographical sketch of Hon. Horace Capron, Commissioner of Agriculture, occupies the leading place in the number, and will attract attention, as will "My Pear Experience;" "Domestication of the Ostrich;" "Chinese Immigration—an Adverse View;" "Labor and Wages;" and "Immigrants for the South;" "Notes and Queries"—full of useful hints; "Correspondence"—very interesting; Literary "Miscellany"—with original poems by Mr Simms and Dr. F. O. Tichnor. Rural Architecture— describing and illustrating a cheap cottage; and some excellent short articles under the heads of "Hygiene and Household Economy;" "Scientific Notes;" and Industrial Items with "Brief Mention" of many other things help to make up the attractive table of contents. The illustrations are as usual, numerous, appropriate and well executed. Published at Charleston, S. C. by Walker, Evans & Cogswell and D. Wyatt Aiken. Two dollars a year.

THE INFALLABILITY DOGMA.—The Scheme and its Discussion.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune furnished what is alleged to be the text of the infallibility scheme now reported to be occupying the attention of the Vatican Council in Rome. The paper is as follows:
1. If any one shall say that the Episcopal Chair of the Roman Church is not the very true and infallible chair of the blessed Peter, or that it has not been divinely chosen by God as the most solid, enduring and incorruptible rock of the whole Christian Church—let him be anathema.
2. If any one shall say that there exists on earth, distinct and separate from the chair of the blessed Peter, any other infallable chair of the truth of the Gospel of Christ the Lord—let him be anathema.
3. If any one shall deny that the Divine supremacy of the chair of the blessed Peter is to all men, whether unbelievers or believers, whether laymen or bishop, necessary as the true road to eternal salvation—let him be anathema.
4. If any one shall say that each and all of the Roman Pontifis, legitimately elected, are not jure divino successors of the Blsced Peter, in the gift also of magisterial infallibility, and shall deny to any one of them the prerogative of infallibility to teach the Church the Word of God, pure from all corruption and error let him be anathema.
5. If any one shall say that Œcumenical Councils are a power placed by God in the Church for feeding the divine flock on the Word of God superior to the Roman pontiff or equal to him, or necessary by Divine institution, to the completion of the infallible magistracy of the Bishop of Rome—let him be anathema.

The Montgomery Advertiser says that a negro was shot in Tuskegee on Thursday by a white man, and badly wounded. The difficulty had no connection whatever with the late disturbance at Tuskegee.

The Democrts in Colbert county, in convention at Tuscumbia last week, says the Huntsville Independent, present the name of Hon. R. D. Lindsay for Governor.

"Are you connected with a paper here?" asked a countryman of D. H. Bennet, lately of the insane asylum. "Oh no," was the reply: "I have been to the insane asylum, and am cured; a man never runs a newspaper after he is cured."

Another negro has been appointed to West Point, Congressman Hoge, of South Carolina, having nominated one James W. Smith, of Columbia. Smith is a son of an alderman and has completed a two years' course at Howard University.

Parallels in History.

If history is not a repetition of itself, it certainly has, in its different periods, very striking coincidences. E. D. M., the outside editor of the Cincinnati Gazette, recalls a scene of the French Revolution, which, as an incident of party extravaganza, is not without repetition in these times. Says Mr. MANSFIELD:
"One of the most singular scenes ever exhibited occurred in connection with San Domingo. In the most inflammable period of the French Revolution, a decree of emancipation was passed. The convention went into a fever of excitement. There was an old negress in Paris, near one hundred years of age. She was brought into the Convention with a rejoicing mob, carried up to the President's platform, embraced and kissed by the President as the representative of liberty, fraternity and equality."

LAST WORDS OF AN AUTHOR.—It is not generally known, but the last lines "Frank Forrester" ever wrote were the following: "Rest is for the dead—and peace and happiness immortal. For those who remain behind, the weariness of memory, the loneliness of regret, the yearning for the untimely lost, which will not pass away until life itself shall have passed through the darkness of the grave into the light of immortality."

Jacksonville Republican.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA,

Saturday, June ,18 1870.

Democratic Mass Meeting.

The Democrats of Calhoun County are requested to meet in Jacksonville on the 4th day of July, for the purpose of nominating Deligates to the State Democratic Convention to be held in Montgomery Sept. 1st 1870, and for the transaction of other business.

By order of the Committee.
June 11th.

Last week we published the call of the County Democratic Executive Committee, for a Meeting of the Democracy of the County, at this place on the 4th day of July for the for purpose of nominating delegates to the Convention at Montgomery and for other purposes.

We do hope that every Democrat in Calhoun County will respond to the call.

You have every encouragement to be faithful.

Last April Connecticut returned to the fold of Democracy. The elections West have almost unanimously resulted favorably to the Democracy. New York gives us a more than hoped for majority. Only a few days ago, Oregon, which last year went for Grant, elected a Democratic Congressman and Governor and a Legislature which will elect a Democratic U. S. Senator. Out of four or five States in which elections are held before November only two will go Radical and there is a doubt as to whether they will go so.

So in November we will start with a tremendous "bulge," and "bulge" is a great deal in civil or military warfare. We will start with at least six States against two, beside the victory of countless municipal and other local elections all over the United States. If Alabama don't wheel into line it is the fault of the Counties. If the Counties don't come in, it will be the fault of the Beats. If the Beats do not respond, the responsibility will lay at the doors of the influential men of those Beats, and so the matter may be traced to "the people." Will the people not respond? Remember there is much in the "bulge." If we meet with only a corporal guard here on the 4th, our enemies will exult and our friends will enter the campaign disheartened. Come, if only to lend your presence to swell the crowd. Come and help throw the burden off our beloved State. Come, and help to leave the heritage of freedom to your children. Come, and help the Democracy to kick the carpet-baggers out of the high places they have usurped. Come and let us take measures to remove the 'fools and thieves' and put competent, honest men instead. Is there a man who will stay away? Can there be one having so little interest in affairs which so intimately affect his neighbors and friends, as to stay away even though he himself may not be specially interested.

Turn out well on the 4th and let us show that the Democracy is not dead; but a vital, living and exceedingly large and formidable party. Speeches will be delivered on the occasion.

☞ We would inform the Editor of the Selma Times, that the rat story which he copies from the last Republican and for which he says father Grant is responsible, is one of the junior's vagaries; the senior is not anxious to claim the paternity of that sort of stories.

While on the subject of personal responsibilities, we would further say, that although we have been a long time at the printing business, (over half a century.) we are not in years so very old, and are not particularly anxious to be frequently referred to as father Grant, in terms which might mislead strangers into the belief that we would pass very well for Mathuselah, or the Wandering Jew.

The Huntsville Advocate (?) prefers Col. Hodgson of the Mail to any other Democrat, for State Superintendent of Education. While widely differing in politics, the Advocate acknowledges his full ability to fill the place with credit.

Nearly every Democratic paper in the State, and every one that has yet spoken of it, urges Col. Hodgson for the position. The Press as the Advocate says, is entitled to a representative on the State ticket, and we warmly urge Col. Hodgson's claims before the next Convention.

"NEW ORLEANS, June 15th.—Judge Dibble, who lost a leg at Port Hudson on the union side, expressed himself strongly upon Judge Bradley's decision in the Slaughter House case. He threatens to employ State against Federal force, should the argument show that Bradley's decision is without the sanction of law and his injunction imprudently issued."

Well now if this isn't the strangest. After fighting four years to bring about the death of State Rights, he proposes to fight again for its assertion. Too late Judge, you have found out your error. We say, let him be "thoroughly reconstructed."

After the 16th Amendment conferring the right to vote & hold office on woman, the question will arise whether the wives of those resting under "disabilities" shall be included. If so there will have to be another "force law" to that amendment making it worth a man's life to bring any "undue influence" to bear, towards shaping her vote. Other wise, the hearty old rebs will certainly get into power again through madam. We give this suggestion to carpet-bag Spencer, for what it is worth.

We acknowledge thanks to Mrs, Judge Alexander Woods for a plate of raspberries from the "Davidson, thornless" species. The cuttings were set out this season, and the berries sent us are larger than any strawberries we have gathered this year. Their flavor is most delicious. Mrs, W. is entitled to the thanks of the community for the introduction of this large and delicious berry.

The people of Spain have been looking around in vain, two years to find some one willing to take the crown. This goes to prove that there are no carpet-baggers in that country.

None of our Gadsden friends were kind enough, (or else they were loth to disseminate the information,) to inform us of the result of the Election on R. R. subscription. We learn by a passenger that "subscription" was defeated by 23 votes—a close race.

What has become of old Appletoddy, our distinguished Lieut Governor? We cannot hear from him. Has he shuffled off this mortal coil; "gone for" the crown of Spain; or does he lie sulking in his tent? Will some one relieve our anxiety?

IMPORTANT.—It will be remembered our Agricultural Society offered premiums for the best, Corn, Cotton, Clover, Wheat, Oats, Broom Corn, and box of honey. The Competitors for the various prizes were required to enroll their names with Geo. J. Turnley, Sec'y, before to—day week. Let those who wish to compete, come in and see Mr. Turnley. Will not the ladies bring on their honey?

We have been compelled to condense the column advertisement of J. B. Turney & co, to make room for editorial matter.

We see from the Stevenson NEW ERA, and learn through private sources, that the other side of the Sand Mountain are, with enviable complacency, proposing to themselves to send another member to Congress, from that side. Without disparagement of the claims of the present incumbent, or those of any other gentleman proposed by them, we expect firmly to insist on the choice of a member from this side, in the coming District Convention.

It will be remembered that "this side," although largely outvoting the "other," yielded, last convention, because of the "importunity" of the Huntsville delegation. Fair play &c.

Giving up the Ghost in Advance.

The New York Times, in a leading editoral article, called attention to the fact that on Monday last Oregon was to have opened the campaign of 1870 by the selection of a State ticket and a meaber of Congress: the Delaware and Kentucky elections will follow in August; those of Maine, Vermont and California in September, and the rest of the State elections will take place in October and November. The Times evidently thinks "it is all up" with Republicans in these States unless something is done by Congress to keep life in the party. It half frantically asks:

"What is the Republican party doing to intrench itself against the coming assault? Almost nothing. Congress seems to be unconscious of the impending danger, or if it is conscious, it is strangely indifferent to it. The controlling necessity of the hour is action. We must have a policy, and such a policy, as will satisfy the great mass of the party, and nationalize it. This cannot be accomplished until the last vestige of the reconstruction business is finally disposed of by Congress, and every State is fully restored to its normal Federal relations. It seems amazing that the Republican leaders in Congress do not recognize this fact, and make an end of all necessary work in that direction, before we enter the impending political campaign. They have dallied too long with other work which they have taken in hand, and have thereby embarrassed and damaged the party all over the country.

Lothair.

We have not, as yet, had the pleasure of reading Mr. Disraeli's last work; but from what we can gather from the various reviews of it, it answers to what might have been expected from its distinguished author. After the obloquy attempted to be cast upon the people of the South by the Summers, and his class, down to the negro; there comes gratefully across the waters, the testimony of England's ripest scholar and most brilliant politician—a man ill imitably above our slanderers in every point of excellence. The compliment paid the South, in the book, is incidental but none the less appreciated. Lothair & the old Duke (God bless him) are none the less Disraeli, because they speak well of us. The following is clipped from a short review of the book by the Rome Daily.

"On page fifty-one, in Lothair's speculations upon the ecclesiastical status of Theodora, it traspires that Colonel Campian is an American, was probably a Protestant, "but he was a gentleman from the South, with nothing puritanical about him."—What could be better than this? A more delicate, and yet more grateful compliment could not be paid the South. And again, on page ninety-two, in answer to a suggestion made by the Duke, Lothair says:

"I believe that Colonel Campian has large estates in the South, but though really I have no right to speak of his affairs, he must have suffered very much.

"Well, he has the consolation of suffering in a good cause," said the Duke. "I look upon an American gentleman with large estates in the South, as a real aristocrat, and whether he gets his rents, or whatever his may be, or not, I should always treat him with respect."

And again on page ninety-four: "The character which the Duke gave of him commanded universal sympathy." "You know he is a gentleman," said the Duke, "he is not a Yankee. People make the greatest mistakes about these things. He is a gentleman of the South, they have no property but land. It is not unlikely he may have lost his estates, but that makes no difference to me. I shall treat him, and all Southern gentlemen, as our fathers treated the emigrant nobility of France."

EXTRAORDINARY OATS.—We were shown the other day three stalks of oats, the Norway variety, grown in a garden by Mr. Wm. Goode and J. B. Turnley. These stalks, though only half way up the boot when pulled, measured inches in length of head. One had grains, another 145, and another . Mr. Goode informed us that he anted 50 stalks which came up from grain. Could this kind of oats be generally disseminated, we might be never to pass through such another ter for furnishing stock as the last. rops of all descriptions are very mising at present in this section; and this year bids fair to be one of extrainary production, we will thank our nds among the farmers, to inform us any thing extra in the way of quantity, lity or new variety. We will conse or extend, and publish them in h form as may be necessary to convey desired information, and make them uable and interesting for future refer-ce.

FINE FIELD OF OATS.—We have en shown several extraordinary large ds of oats from the brag crop of Mr. o. M. Wyly, of this place. One uble head shown us, measured 254 hes in length, and had 196 grains of s on it. The seed was bought from . Divine of Chattanooga, who made 6 bushels off of one acre. We looked his field yesterday, and the heads ntioned are very little, if any above average. He will have them for e as soon as made. They are of the rway variety of oats.

THE LARGEST YET.—We were shown sterday by Wallace Woodward, a head wheat, containing 12 mashes on a side, majority containing 5 grains, and one m which six perfectly formed grains re carefully counted in presence of veral witnesses.

We believe that both "Father Grant" d the party referred to as witness dene to father last week's rat tale. So le ave the reader in doubt as to the uth of that one, and give the following tail in lieu thereof.

A Merchant in going into his ware om discovered a rat trying to get to e molasses through the bunghole; in no manner could he contrive to ch them with his mouth without pre. sitating himself into the barrel. His -ship was nonplused for a moment. After a lick or two at his pate with his w, a happy thought struck him. The erchant kept quiet to see the result d was amused to see him deliberately rn around and drop his tail into the le and draw it up covered with Molas-s. This he would lick off and repeat the hing operation until his appetite was tisfied. Now of course no one will be keptical as to this one.

And as a fit sequiter to rat tale no 2 e have to record a hog story, vouched for by Capt. D. P. F., of this place, which not only demonstrates the fact that hogs reasons; but that they possess a anguage intelligible among themselves.

While walking along one of our back lleys, the other day, the Capt, was ttracted by a very peculiar noise made y a hog. Approaching he found that he hog, (an exceedingly lean animal) ad stopped and "set" a snake, as a pointer dog would set a bird. A repetition of the peculiar soun i, brought, post haste, three other hogs from around a corner, as lean as the first; which number also took up position at a respectful distance from his snakeship—all assuming the peculiar position of a setter dog, on finding a bird. While wondering what would come next, the Capt. espied a very large and fat hog coming at a tearing rate, from a distance, to the seat of action. Without apparently stopping to take in the situation, the last arrival rushed in and presented his fat jowl to the snake. The snake availed himself of the opportunity and fastened his fangs in him. No sooner done, than, the other four hogs litterally tore the snake into threads.

Now the fat in the jowl of the fat hog was calculated to resist the effect of the poison. The same snake bite would have killed one of the poorer ones. They knew this, and consequently awaited the coming of a fat hog. The fat hog knew certainly what was the matter before he got there, as proved by the unhesitating way in which he "went in" on arrival. The first hog, in hog vocabulary, called out "snake; and all the rest, within hearing, understood it.

We've nailed the man who vouches for this, and he will furnish anybody presuming to doubt it, a pocket full of affidavits.

Our friends must bear with us a little for the present. We are now very much crowded with advertisements, and cannot give as much reading matter and news as we would desire to. It will be better soon.

ENCOURAGING.—One of our friends from about White Plains sent us three new subscribers, and said he intended to send us One Hundred more before he stopped. Who will do likewise? Let every man that reads this send us in, at least, one more name.

As will be seen from the notice of the Probate Judge, in this issue, there will be no election for County subscription, as advertised. The Rail Road company have postponed asking a subscription from this county. When they show their faith more plainly by their works, they may ask it. In other words, when we see more in sight, they may ask us to help them out. Then will be time enough for discussion of the question in the newspapers. For the present the thing is at rest—the company paying all the expenses so far incurred.

Show going people will be glad to learn that Col. C. T. Ames' Mammoth Menagerie and Circus will visit our town on the 24th inst. Col. Ames, was a Colonel in the Confederate Army, and brings his Menagerie and Circus from New Orleans, where he exhibits during the Winter months. Col. Hyatt, the polished agent of the company has called on us and left an advertisement of the exhibition, which none will fail to read.

Our advertising friends will please excuse us this week. We are compelled to leave out several columns of advertisements to get in anything in the way of editorial or news. We will make up lost time to them by additional insertions.

The engineers, we understand find the passage over the mountain at this point, very easy—only 2 feet in the 100 rise.

Billy Laird made us last week just one of the best and nicest fitting pairs of boots we have ever seen. This we speak of not so much to attract attention to our boots as to Mr. Lairds superior workmanship. He is capital at his trade, and now gets orders from neighboring towns.

The Amateurs have in preparation the "Iron Chest" and will perform within two weeks. The cast of characters is good—the Star Sir Edward Mortimer—particularly good. Ample notice will be given. The money will be devoted to a benevolent purpose.

We noticed on Monday a colored 16th Amendment nodding it out all day long, on the Court House steps, waiting for the proper officer to come, so that she could "swear it to somebody."

As will be seen from their column advertisement, J. B. Turnley & co, have just received a tremendous stock of family groceries. Their beef tongue is remarkable, fine. We speak by the card, for we have tried it. Their sugar cured Hams, and Beef equal the tongues in flavor. They have molasses of the very finest, in bbls, half bbls and quarter bbls. In truth we cannot enumerate what they have not. The prices for these necessities are fixed at the very lowest price. They are men, who sell, profit or no profit—live men, who seem to be determined to build trade. By getting things through in large quantities, their freights are not so heavy as would be if they shipped in smaller quantities. Besides they are most exceedingly clever men, and we hope to see their custom extend and enlarge. Towns-people, farmer's, all go in and see their stock. It will cost you nothing to take a look, and you will certainly make a ten strike by buying of them.

Attention is invited to the advertisement of the Cross Plains Hotel. The very heading of the advertisement has a hospitable ring about it. The Hotel bids fair to be the best in this section of the state. The proprietors are well known for their liberality and hospitality. Good fare there certain. Stop with them.

Felicitous.

Mr. Stephens sends out the second volume of his history of the late civel war, with the following felicitous and most beautiful dedication:

To the memory of those whose lives, in the late war between the States, were sacrificed, either in battle, in hospital, in prison or elsewhere, in defense of the sovereign right of local self-government, on the part of the people of the several States of the Federal Union; and in defense of those principles upon which that Union was established, and on which alone it or any other union of the States can be maintained consistently with the preservation of constitutional liberty throughout the country, this volume is most solemnly and sacredly dedicated! While others are to-day strewing flowers upon their graves, this oblation, with like purpose and kindred emotion, is that contributed by the author, to the same hallowed shrine.

Social Equality.

The Demopolice Exponent says that the "first effort we have ever heard of being made in this community to establish social equality among the whites and blacks was attempted on the Selma and Meridian railroad, on Tuesday last. LaMott, a negro school teacher, while on board the train from Selma to this place, very quietly walked into the ladies' car and took a seat. The conductor walked up to LaMott and told him he was in the wrong box, and that he would find accommodations in the front car. LaMott replied that he was an American citizen, and manifested a strong desire to retain his seat. Upon being informed by the conductor that if he did not leave the car he would put him out, or words to that effect, he concluded that discretion was the better part of valor, and left."

Dr. A. L. SCOVILL is the inventor of several medical preparations which have become very popular, and have been liberally used. Among his inventions are "Hall's Balsam for the Lungs" and "Liverwort and Tar." For the past six years a better Lung remedy has been offered to the public. Read the following letter from Dr. Scovill referring to it:

Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

Gents:—I make the following statement from a perfect conviction and knowledge of the benefits of Allen's Lung Balsam in curing the most deep-seated PULMONARY CONSUMPTION! I have witnessed its effects on the young and the old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the phlegm and matter to raise, without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs), and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops the night-sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

Dr. Francis will supply the demands.

A NOVEMBER AFTERNOON.

BY REBECCA HARDING DAVIS.

Sam halted, and then went on.

'Poor devill I wonder whether women or whisky have driven him mad,' thought Crompton, beginning his tune again a moment after.

Bender went down toward Fourth street with slow, resolute steps. His old strength seemed to have come back to him in the last half hour.

Stopping at a large boarding house, he sent in for Ward, the bank clerk. They had been old chums in Bender's bachelor days.

'Lend me your revolver, Horace; I'll be done with it by to-morrow. Mine is broken, and I never bought another.'

'Of course'

Ward vanished and reappeared in a moments.

'What are you going to shoot, Sam—rats?'

Bender took the pistol and turned away without speaking. He had been deaf and blind to every sight or sound of the streets since Mary's voice rung in his ears.

After he was gone his manner recurred to Ward as strange and unpleasant.

'I believe I'll go after him,' he thought. But dinner was ready, and, being a feather-headed yong fellow, forgot the whole matter speedily.

The pistol was not charged. Bender stopped at a shop on the way up the street and loaded it carefully.

It was nearly dark before he reached his own steps. Mary opened the door before he could touch it

She wore yet her silk dress and her pretty collar of fine lace; her hair was curled about her face; her cheeks were pink and hot; her eyes brilliant with a new fire.

He saw all. What was it Morris had said about their hunger for a repetition of the old love-making days?

She put up her mouth to be kissed as usual, and when he passed her hurried in after him, taking his hand.

'Poor old papa! He's tired? Go in, Jackey; don't worry father now.'

So skilled in deception already?

She was leading him into the dining-room, where supper was spread; but he put her quietly aside and passed up to his own room. She followed him.

'You are worn out! Why did you stay in the works all day?' coming behind him and putting her white hands upon his shoulder as he sat staring into the fire.

When he did not answer she drew his head back on her breast and kissed his lips. That kiss set fire to the smoldering madness within the man; but he was always quiet and grave.

He looked her steadily in the eyes. How beautiful the face that was bent over him; Some dainty Ariel of a spirit looked out of it which he had never conquered nor owned. He saw that clearly now.

She turned away from him at last and busied herself about the room—went down and brought him a cup of tea.

The farce of playing the wife over, she became absent, as was usual with her now; her thoughts far off.

He took out the roll of notes and laid them down on the mantle-shelf.

'There is the mortgage money.'

'Yes.'

She did not brighten and flush as she would once have done.

He remembered how often she had taken out her pencil and counted up these savings in a triumphant sum, drawing a little frame-work of vines about it, and presenting it to him with a joyous little chuckle.

She scarcely glanced at the money now But he would try her further.

'I cannot use it for the mortgage. Stouch refuses to pay the back salary.'

'Then the mortgage will be foreclosed to-morrow? And you lose your home?'

She came suddenly close to him, her face colorless, her dark eyes wet and full of pity. Not love. He was not deceived.

Not love.

No wonder she had some little compassion for the man in whose bosom she had lain for years, on this night when she meant to fly from him.

'Poor old Sam!'

'The loss of the house matters little to us now.'

'Why, I thought your heart was bound up in it!' She paused suddenly, a keen suspicion flashing into her face. 'What else have you lost?'

For a moment there was silence, the husband and wife looking steadily at each other, the oil-lamp burning with uncertain yellow flashes between them.

'I do not know,' he said at last in as quiet a tone as though replying to an ordinary question, 'what there is left to me. There is nothing on earth that I can call my own.'

She answered not a word; but stood motionless, with the same penetrating, doubtful look fixed on him.

Now, Mary was not naturally a reticent women; all her emotions bubbled straight to the surface. She had been a gay, giddy girl; and now, when she was a mother, she kept house alive with what her husband censured as a most unnatrualy light-heartedness; singing, jesting, laughing most of the time and washing away any trouble in a shower of tears.

Her immobility now proved how deep his thrust had wounded her.

'You've nobody in the world? Nobody? Not even me?' she said slowly at last. She turned to the window, putting her hand for support on an old chair that stood there. It was a worn and shabby chair; but she had nursed both the children in it. Jackey and little Jenny—Jenny who was dead; who would never lie on her breast again. Did she remember? She looked at it, and then at him for a moment; and then, without a word, turned away and left the room.

He knew that she would never enter it again. It was strange how many of these intuitions, amounting to certainties, came to him to-night. He thought that pain, in this great crisis of his life, had given him a spiritual clearness of insight. Another person might have suggested that the devil helped him.

It was only 7 o'clock; there were two hours yet to pass before the end. He sat by the fire, pushing the poker between the bars, looking around him There was nothing in the cheaply-furnished, pretty chamber that had not to-night a terrible meaning for him. He remembered when he had brought that very chair home, two or three weeks after Jack was born; and, lifting Mary out of bed, and placed her in it, and laid her baby in her arms.

That was only six years ago; yet he thought of himself as but a boy. What a perpetual frolic they made of life then! Hard at work and miserably poor, but joking away all weariness or want; how full of joy and content the world was, how many friends they had then!

He had learned since to see things differently. When he set his heart on paying off that mortgage it seemed suddenly to open his eyes to the seriousness of life. It affected his religion. He began to see faults in the old friends who were in the habit of dropping in every day, finding Mary's house so pleasant; he began to fear that his own and his wife's spiritual character would suffer from contact with them; one by one he had driven them off. As he stinted and saved more and more to gather this money his ideas of duty hardened. He had grown old and grave, while Mary remained the same happy-tempered girl.

To-night, for the first time, a dull doubt came to him whether he had not been to blame; her perpetual good humor, her eager interest in the people about her. her singing, her noisy romps with Jack, all had seemed giddy and trivial to him; he had rebuked her incessantly for them. 'It was a solemn thing to live; who would go dancing over graves?' had become a proverb with him. Could he have driven her from him? Driven her to a man whose temperament suited her own?

He was standing before a looking-glass, and he could not help comparing his own common-place, gloomy face, with its stubbed black beard, to the gay, winning countenance that had won her from him.

He put his hand up to hide the face from himself.

'I loved her,' he said quietly; thinking that if she had known how much she would have forgiven him. He sat down again. Searching again for miserable secrets in the fire, he had become a wiser man since he had been ill. Sitting staring day after day into the embers, he had learned how utterly hollow the world was, how treacherous were men and faithless were women. Nothing was true but God; and as God, to Sam Bender, meant his own narrow notions of duty, there was nothing to lift him out of the slough in the thought; there was nothing in it either to check him in the slow, subtle madness that nerved him to his present purpose.

What maddening fancies those two hours brought to that unhappy man it is needless for us to know.

The house remained very quiet. When Jackey's bedtime came he heard his mother bring him the child to the door, and opened it for him to enter. But he would not look at the little fellow in his white night gown, who stood pulling at his coat. Beside him, on the mantle-she'f, lay the pistol, ready for use. He could not touch or look at the chi'd but motioned him away, turning his back on him.

Eight o'clock came. He heard his wife come again to the door, softly listening. He remained quite still. She should think him asleep. 'By nine o'clock all would be safe,' was part of her plan.

The clock in the hall rang out half-past eight. Nine!

Bender took up the pistol, and, concealing it in his breast, left the chamber. Passing the door of the child's room, he stopped and laid his hand on the wood with a sudden, passionate tenderness as though it had been the boy himself. 'Jackey! Jackey?' he cried. To-morrow the child would be alone—without father or mother. It might have been different, But it was too late now. He went down the stairs and entered a small, unlighted room adjoining the parlor.

In another moment there was a roll of wheels on the street, a carriage stopped at the door, and then there was a low ring at the bell.

'They carry the matter boldly! he muttered. Whatever agony of mind the old love that would not be stifled had cost him tonight was over now; an implacable madness seized him; the fury with which the hound pants before it falls upon its prey. They were in his power.

He crept nearer to the door; held it ajar, his hand upon the lock. He heard Crompton enter, and the next moment the soft rustle of Mary's dress. He could not distinguish her words, but the tones of her voice made him shudder. Not for years had they thrilled with such nervous, trembling joy as now. She laughed once—a low, hysterical laugh, not far from tears. Crompton spoke in a whisper. Once she raised her voice a little.

'You do not know what to-day is to me! I have waited for it for years!'

Bender raised his hand; his finger was on the trigger. He pushed the door; but, before it opened, Mary left the parlor, going lightly up the stairs. She had apparently forgotton something for her flight.

He stood waiting her steps sounded above him When she should reopen the door would be his time.

She was on the stairs. One moment more—then—she broke into the verse of an old song; an old silly habit of hers to sing when her heart was full:

Sae true his heart, sae smooth his speech,
His breath like cauler air;
His very foot has music in't
As it comes up the stair,
For there's nae luck about the house,
There's nae luck at a',
There's little pleasure in the house
When my gudeman's awa'-

It was his song. He had liked it best in their old courting days; he had made her sing the children to sleep with it always.

The pistol dropped from his hand. 'She is true. My God! she is true!'

He stood there, for how long he never knew. He heard the low murmur of their voices. The devil, be sure, did not leave him altogether.

He fancied her hand in Crompton's: their lips meeting But the weapon lay untouched at his feet.

Why should he not at least open the door? He had a right to their secret, whether guilty or not. The man trembled, great drops of sweat wrung out on his forehead.

'She is my wife She is a true woman. Though she will kill me, yet I will trust in her.' Yet there was nothing to fight back the devil of suspicion but that old cheery old song.

The hall-door opened and shut at last. There were hurried voices outside, and then the carriage rolled away. Was she gone?

He thrust the pistol into his breast, and opened the door. Mary stood there, her face flushed, tears in her eyes, folding up a strip of paper When she saw him she sprang forward, and hugged him close.

'The money!' she sobbed. For the mortgage!' crying and laughing till she cried again: telling him between times that she made it—she—in her usual tumultuous fashion. 'Couldn't he understand?'

'No, I don't understand,' he said, soothing and petting her as he had forgotten to do for a many a long day. 'I have been duller than you know, Mary. But it's all over now, thank God!'

'It was all my drawing, you known, Sam. My o e talent, as you used to call it. When you were so badly pressed two years ago, I thought I might turn it to account. I went to the Academy of Design. And I did turn it to account—in designing Don't you understand now? Friend Matthew Saul said I had a very pretty gift, indeed. Everybody was anxious to help me. It's such a friendly world, Sam,' creeping closer to him.

'Is it, Mary? Perhaps so. God knows.'

'So they took me into the establishment, and paid me for designing new patterns of gas fixtures. Ten dollars a stone. That was two years ago. And I have not drawn the money till to-day. I heard—(taking breath and speaking slowly)—that you were not to receive your back pay. So I went to Mr. Crompton this afternoon and asked for a settlement. He is the business man, and so considerate and kind! I always thought how much alike you were, and what good friends you would be when you knew him. It wasn't pay day, and it took some time to make out my account. But he offered to bring the money himself to-night, that I might give it to you as a surprise in the morning. And he did bring it, and there is enough to pay off the mortgage; and now have you nothing and nobody you can call your own in the world—not even me?'

Sam Bender only held his wife close to his breast and kissed her. She was so used to his silence when he was deeply moved that she did not heed it.

'You thought me brutal—mad, to-night, Mary?'

'Bless your dear old miserable face! How could I be so silly? You have been ill and nervous, and the disappointment to-day was more than you could bear. I understood it all! I sent Jackey in, thinking he would comfort you. Shall we go, and tell Jackey about the mortgage?' anxiously.

'I doubt if he would understand.'

'Perhaps not,' looking blank. 'Though Jackey understands a great many things that would surprise you. He's a very wise child. Who can that be so late? Mr. Crompton's carriage again!'

The door opened and the handsome Irishman entered, a lady on his arm. He blushed a little as he glanced down at her, laughing and looking handsomer than ever. 'I asked leave, Mrs. Bender, you remember, once, to make known my promised wife to you. I have brought her to-night. She has an errand to your husband, which, she fancies, will not wait.'

The words came to Bender like far-off pleasant sounds in a dream. How bright the fire glowed! What a cordial, wholesome ring there was in the man's voice! A fellow it would be good to know. The girl's face, too, was sweet and friendly; he had seen it before, in some pleasant time which he could not remember. But there was no woman who would not look dark and dim beside Mary. Where had she hidden that tender, glowing beauty all these years? The very familiar room had a look which it used to wear when the first glamor of their married life made everything about them mysterious and bright.

Was that old time coming again?

Crompton's cheerful ruddy face was before him. 'I am so glad to have the chance of shaking you by the hand. I have been waiting for it a long time.'

Sam took the hand and shook it heartily.

'Mrs. Bender, this is Miss Stouch, who hopes she will not bear that name a month longer.'

The fair, calm-looking beauty took Mary's hand, and then kissed her, after the manner of women. 'I've heard all about the mortgage and the secret,' she whispered. 'Wasn't it it delicious? But I have a message for your husband. Papa bade me say to you, Mr. Bender,' turning, with a business like look, to Sam, 'that he has been ill for several weeks—that horrid rheumatism it is; and has had to leave the business almost entirely in the hands of Mr. Morris, who will make mistakes sometimes. He is so sorry that there is one in yours, and that your rightful salary was detained. He begged me to hand you this letter.'

'The salary is not due,' said Sam, stiffly, 'Mr. Morris will tell you that.'

'Mr. Morris has no authority to speak for me,' the young lady said, haughtily. 'It is not the custom of our house to make deductions in case of sickness.'

'It is the best policy,' said Mary, quickly. 'A house loses nothing by generous dealing. At least, not with men like my husband.'

Bender stood hesitating. 'How did your father know?'

'Oh! it was that little creature, Joe Houston, who told me. Where in the world is the man? He came with us—so ridiculous, Mrs. Bender! But the best fellow in the world! The tears were acutually in his eyes when he told me how unjustly your husband had been treated Oh! here he is!'

'Here I am!' Joe came in with a skip and a flourish. 'Here we all are, Sam! God bless you, boy! Just like a scene in a play! It's a jolly good world after all, now, isn't it? What a devil of a humor you were in with it to-day, though, to be sure! You look as if you were cured now'—in an under tone, where Bender stood apart with his wife.

'Are you cured?' she said, softly touching him.

'By an old song,' he said. 'Some time I will tell you all, Mary. But let me hear your songs and your laugh every day. You do not know from what they have saved me.'

He stood looking at them talking together, a smile on his lips, but his eyes dim as a man's seldom are in this world; thinking of the song, and of how many messengers he had in this world, and how none of them ever failed in its errand.

Counsellor at Law,

STATE AND UNITED STATES COURTS,

Offices, No. 78 Nassau Street, NEW YORK,

Notary Public and Commissioner for all the States.

I have been fifteen years in the divorce business, ten years in the offices I now occupy. Having been consulted by over thirty thousand persons on the subject of divorce, I refer to my numerous clients for whom I have obtained divorces. I am connected with the most expert and successful Divorce Lawyers in the States of New York, Indiana, Illinois, Connecticut and other States where laws are liberal on the subject, and parties residing in any State or County wishing divorces would therefore do better to apply through me than elsewhere. I obtain divorces for desertion, adultery, drunkenness, non-support, etc., without publicity and without charge unless I succeed. Advice free. I call attention to the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States has lately decided that divorces obtained in one State are perfectly legal in every State.

In all cases where an advance is paid on a case for my security, I will return the money if I should fail in obtaining the divorce. Every divorce obtained by me is warranted perfectecty legal everywhere Call on address. M. HOUSE, Counsellor at Law

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county; and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion clearly within the provisions of said act, I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

Great Remedies.
DR. JOHN BULL,
MANUFACTURER AND VENDER OF THE Celebrated
Smith's Tonic Syrup!
AGUE AND FEVER,
OR CHILLS AND FEVER.
THE proprietor of this celebrated medicene justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe certain speedy and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and South western country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure. If the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficent for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health It is however prudent, and in every case more certain to cure if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult & longstanding cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of Bull's Vegetable Family Pills will be sufficient.

BULL'S
WORM DESTROYER,
To my United States and World-Wide Readers.
I HAVE recieved many testimonials from professional & medical men, as. my almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following from a highly educated and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever recieved. Dr Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and his testimony deserves to be writen in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctors say of Bull's Worm Destroyer:
VILLANOW, WALKER COUNTY, Ga }
June 28, 1866. }
DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: I have recently given your "Worm Destroyer" several trials, and find it wonderful efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for one articles of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you, is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine directly from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line of M. D.'s, but I see not just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms.
I am, sir, most respectfully.
JULIUS P. CLEMENT, M. D.

BULL'S
SARSAPARILLA.
A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.
Read the Captain's Letter and the Letters from his mother:
Benton Barracks, Mo., April 30, 1866.
DR JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficacy of your Sarsaparilla, and the healing and beneficial qualities it posesses, I send you the following statement of my case.
I was wounded about two years ago—was taken prisoner & confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not sat up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in any thing eles. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige
CAPT. C. P. JOHNSON,
St. Louis, Mo.
P. S.—The following was written April 30, 1865, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Capt, Johnson.
DR. JOHN BULL.—Dear Sir. My husband Dr C. S. Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physican in central New York, where he died leaveing the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhea and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. IT CURED HIM. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio, and Iowa, for scrofula, fever soars, and general debility. Perfect success has atended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever soars were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is fearful of getting a spurious article, hence his writing to you for it. His wounds were terrible, but I believe he will recover. Respectfully,
NIEGEN JOHNSON.

BULL'S
CEDRON BITTERS.
Arkansas heard from.
Testimony of Medical Men.
Stone Point, White Co., Ark., May 23, 1866.
DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir. Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedrou Bitters.
My son-in-law, who was with me in the store has been down with rheumatism for some time; commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved.
Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and also improved.
Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—he improved very much by the use of your Bitters Indeed the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this settlement. I think I could sell a great quantity of your medicines this fall—especially your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care of Rickett & Neely. Respectfully,
C. B. WALKER.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15th, 1868.
Allow me to call your attention to my
Preparation of Compound Extract Buchu.
The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.
MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.
Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates, the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopæa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.
Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation.
With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,

POETRY.

Credo.

When the hand of the morning first pushes
Aside the dark curtains of night,
And out of his mountain lair rushes
The sun, like a lion of light;

And I feel on my brow the fresh breathing
Of wind through the dew-jeweled trees,
And, like wine that is given with music,
Are the flowers, the birds, and the breeze.

Then a strength in me riseth up proudly;
Then I think how I'll labor to-day,
With an earnest and honest endeavor
To wipe my past failings away.

With an earnest and honest endeavor
To be nobler and better at last;
More worthy of men's love and God's love
Then ere I have been in the past.

Up the zenith the sun marches slowly.
In the forest the wind lies asleep;
As the day grows it proves me too feeble
The purpose of the morning to keep.

As the day wanes it finds me imperfect,
I have sinned and failed as before,
And the Evil One whispers his counsel,
"Why try for the good any more?"

As the day wanes the daylight and darkness
Are blended again as at morn,
And again in the midst of the forest
Sweet music and perfumes are born.

And again from the midst of the forest,
When the sun sinketh slowly to rest,
Like a hint of God's gracious forgiveness
Comes the wind from the beautiful west.

And I feel though I have not been truly,
As noble and good as I ought,
In the eventide something suggesting
A credit, though vainly I wrought.

Thus waiting till the starlight supplanteth
The more critical light of the day,
I pray for my failings forgiveness
And know that I'm heard when I pray.

The "Sleeping Beauty" of Tennessee by One who has Seen Her.

So much has already been written in regard to the lady known here as the "Sleeping Beauty," that I can scarcely hope to give you anything new, but will add my testimony to that already given, and make you a plain statement of facts, as I know them from her mother, and friends, who now have her in charge in the same house in which I am stopping, and from which I am writing to you. Miss Susan Caroline Godsay was born in Obion county, Tenn, and within ten miles of this city, of poor but very respectable parents. Her father has been dead for over twelve years. Her mother still lives and watches over her loved child, and the sunken eyes and furrowed brow shows plainly the trials and sorrows she has experienced in her duty for twenty-one years. She is very poor, and to some extent depends on the contributions of visitors, to take care and procure proper supplies for her charge.
Miss Godsey was sick when about four years of age, with what is supposed to be chills and fever but which baffled the skill of nurses and physicians for more than two years, at which time she fell into a nervous sleep, from which she has not woke since for a longer time than twelve minutes. She usually sleeps soundly from 11 o'clock at night until about 6 in the morning, and through the day awakes about once an hour. Her waking spells are never of less than four nor more than twelve, but usually about six minutes duration. In her waking moments she speaks both pleasantly and intelligently, answers promptly any question asked her, and appears quite happy and contented.
One of the strangest points of this strange case is the seemingly total absence of anything like respiration. A piece of the finest polished glass held to her lips fails to disclose the slightest trace of breath. Her pulse is perfectly still, and but for a nervous and tremulous motion of the body, which never ceases, you might at any time call her dead. She has grown during her affliction from a little child to about the average height of her sex and weight 96 pounds, and though her body and hands show her very poor in flesh, her face is full and smooth, and features well developed. Indeed, such a rare style do her featurs portray that she is not inappropriately called the Sleeping Beauty of Tennessee.

A Mild Rebuke.

No deliberate body ever offered so mild a rebuke to the constituents of another body, similar to itself, for an insult, than did the late General Conference of Southern Methodist Church to the northern Methodist Church. The General Conference of the latter church, by resolution, appointed a Commission to confer on the subject of a union of the two, with a like Commission on the part of the African (negro) Methodist Church, and then any other Methodist organization seeking admission into the fold of the Northern Methodist Church. The meaning of the resolution was the negros were invited to the table first, and, after the colored bretheren had feasted the white bretheren who were very hungry might have the crumbs if they would ask for the privilege. The Southern Methodist Conference thus gravely insulted, returned a soft answer, by simply telling, in effect, Bishop Janes they did not ask for the privilege.
There may be much of christianity, but we are confident there is but little of human nature in the reply. Our natural impulse would have caused us to have kicked Janes and his colleague out of the hall, but, of course, it is better to square our conduct according to the precepts and examples of our Living Master, yet if ever a departure from Christain courtesy, yet is allowable, we are sure the Southern Methodist Conference would have been justifiable for pursuing a different course.
It does appear, that these blatant Northern fools, can never understand the Southern character. The Southern Methodists want no union with them, and, hence, we see no probability of a blending of the two churches even on terms of perfect equality, while we know the Southern Methodist will never be guilty of an act of self degredation to accomplish it.
The truth is, if by trickery, a General Conference of the Southern Methodist Church, favorable to a union with the Northern Church, could be secured, the Conference would be without constituents, and nine-tenths of the membership would refuse to be sold out or in any way ratify the bargain.
Perhaps a general knowledge on this truth might save them from periodical insult from their brethern (?) of the North.

ROMANCE IN DEATH.—The Natchez, Miss, Free Trader, of June 22, 1839, contained the following story: "On the 7th of the present month, Miss Mary Ann L. Barber, aged seventeen, and L. B. Young, aged twenty-three, both of Tuskaloosa, Alabama, were buried in one grave, after having departed this life under the following circumstances: Mr. Young was a high-minded, honorable young gentleman, most ardently and devotedly attached to Miss Barber, between whom and himself those promises and attentions had been enterchanged which pledged them to the marriage union at no distant day. One in every sentiment, as well as in sympathy, they both, a few months since, made a profession of religion at the same time. On the day of their death, they had gone on a water excursion, with uncommon buoyancy and animation of spirits, along with four others, in a skiff, which suddenly overset and plunged them all in the water. The lover seized the one whom, of all others, he would save, and they both perished! They were found at the the bottom, locked fast in each other's arms. With a solemn propriety, that embrace was never broken, and their bodies thus rest in one grave together, even as their spirits together passed into, one heaven."

HON. D. W. VOORHEES, in a speech made at Indianapolis lately, while speaking of the Funding Bill now being advocated by the Radical party, and which is about to become a law, said:
"During these forty years in which the bonds are to run, the nation will pay an interest on the five per cent. bonds, eight hundred millions: on the four and a half per cent. bonds, seven hundred and twenty million; on the four per cent. bonds, six hundred and forty millions, making in all, as interest alone, two thousand one hundred & sixty millions, in gold, being more than the entire debt is at this hour and nine hundred and sixty millions more than the whole amount funded and still not one dollar of the principal paid, nor the orginal debt diminished a single farthing. And this is the wise policy offered to the people as a measure of relief. That is all!"

The Synod of the reformed Presbyterian church of New York, has declared against Free Masonry and other secret societies, as 'pagan in their character, infidel in their tendency, and perilous to the liberties of the State and the church."

Ambrose Henderson, a colored member of the Mississippi Legislature, has urged and secured the appointment of his "old master" to a chancellorship. His letter to Gov. Alcorn is a model of perfect expression, given to devoted, lifelong friendship and kindnesses.

—The Lower House of Congress refused by a vote of 111 to 59, to suspend the rules to pass a General Bill removing political disabilities.
—There has been a big split in the Radical party in N. Carolina. Prominent Republicans declare that the disgraceful scenes enacted in the convention surpass anything of the kind ever witnessed.
—In the Mississippi House of Representatives, last week, a sensation was produced by Senator Morgan escorting a colored school teacher in, taking a seat by her and remaining in close conversation for an hour or more, and then taking a drive in a carriage with her. The wife and daughter of two prominent Republicans who were in the Hall when they came in, left in, disgust.

When I was teaching in—— Seminary, I boarded with an old lady who had an opinion on every subject, and expressed it. One night a train ran off the track near by, and in consequence there was a deal of whistling. Next morning the old lady inquired if we had heard the disturbance. "No; my wife thought something was the matter, but I heard nothing." "Well," said she, "I dare persume there has been an accident, for the cars have been whistling most all the night.—They whistled and whistled I dare presume, for half an hour. I didn't think it possible for a man to hold his breath so long!" Why, mother," said her daughter, "it's a steam whistle." "Ia!" said the old lady, "I always thought that it was the engineer that whistled.

WHAT THE METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE DID.—The General Conference at Memphis declares the District Meeting an organic part of the Methodist system; the Bishops were invested with a veto power on constitutional questions; the Foreign and Domestic Mission Boards were reunited into one; a Sabbath School Department was organized and a Sunday School Editor appointed; the Conference approved of class meetings and denounced dancing, horse racing, &c.; provision was made for a new Monthly Magazine; a new arrangement of the Discipline was ordered; five new Conferences were organized and provisions made for two more; a general S. S. Convention of the Church is to be held; a German hymn book and catechism are to be issued; a Quarterly Review is to be started; a General Conference of the colored people is to be provided for; the Episcopacy was strengthened by the election and consecration of Rev. Dr. J. C. Keener as Bishop; the name of the church was not changed and the exceptions that allowed preachers to remain perpetually in the City of New Orleans was removed, so that the preachers in that city will have to remove the same as elsewhere.

BRUTAL TREATMENT OF A WHITE BOY.—The Selma Times gives a detailed account of the unmerciful whipping of a white boy near that city by a gang of negroes. As reported to us, a young white boy, about fourteen years old, who was living at or near the plantation mentioned, found a negro boy in possession of a pair of drawers which had been stolen from the white boy, and which he became satisfied were taken by the negro. The boy thereupon had an altercation with the negro, which resulted in his giving him a whipping. The matter was reported to the negroes employed on the plantation, who gathered in force, and took the boy and whipped him unmercifully. A severe flagellation was then administered by another crowd of negroes, and the boy was then taken off by a portion of the party, and since that time has not been heard of. Whether he was murdered outright, or left by the brutes in some out of the way place, to die of his injuries, is a matter of conjecture. Seventeen of the negroes have been arrested and lodged in jail.

When the negro West Point cadet graduates and becomes an officer in the army, and that institution shall send out whites and blacks indiscriminately, there will be in full blossom the brilliant rose of social equality. For instance, Colonel Smith (negro) sends a polite note that he would like to have the honor of Captain Jones (white) and wife to dinner. The captain would be guilty of a disrespect to his commanding officer if he did not accept the invitation. Officers of equal rank and grade generally mess together, and at every table there will be a delightful blending of colors.

A lady made her husband a present of a silver drinking-cup with an angel at the bottom. When she filled it for him he used to drink it to the bottom, and she asked him why he drank every drop.
"Because, ducky, I long to see the dear little angel at the bottom."
Upon which she had the angel taken out, and a devil engraved at the bottom. He drank all the same, and she again asked him the reason.
"Because I won't leave the old devil a drop," he replied.

A Scale by Which to Measure Crime.

He who steals a half million is a defaulter.
He who steals a quarter of a million is an "irregular financier."
He who steals a hundred thousand is a rogue.
He who steals fifty thousand is a knave.
But he who steals a pair of boots or a loaf of bread is a scoundrel of the deepest dye, and deserves incarceration in prison.

A perfect "reign of terror" is said to exist in Robeson county, North Carolina, and for which all agree that the bloodthirsty Union League is responsible.

Jacksonville Republican.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA,

Saturday, June 25, 1870.

Democratic Mass Meeting.

The Democrats of Calhoun County are requested to meet in Jacksonville on the 4th day of July, for the purpose of nominating Deligates to the State Democratic Convention to be held in Montgomery Sept. 1st 1870, and for the transaction of other business.

By order of the Committee.

June 11th.

In Williard Warner (carpet-bagger) and George E. Spencer, (carpet-bagger) (both members of the Republican party and the United States Senate) we have the difference between a man of education and position, on the one hand, and an illiterate, cowardly boor, on the other. Warner was for some six years, we understand, a member of the Ohio Legislature and afterwards Adjutant General to Gen. Sherman—a position in the army which could only have been filled by a man of some merit. Spencer, on the other hand was never any thing, that we ever heard of, before the war, enjoyed the distinguished position of sutler during the war, and has proven himself a black guard and liar since the war. Both having been foisted on us by reconstruction, Warner like a gentleman and soldier, stands to his pledges and endeavors through general amnesty and opposition to further extreme measures to somewhat ameliorate our condition. Spencer, the sutler, in a vain attempt to ape some of the extreme Radical leaders of brains, stands up in the Senate and spits venom, written no doubt by a hired scribbler, at the people he claims to represent. With a shamelessness that would put the Devil to the blush, in a speech made some days ago, full of slander, he declared among other things, that to be a Republican and supporter of the Administration and its policy, was to have a mark set upon the brow and a price put upon the head; that "to-day, in the South, there is no such thing as freedom of speech, freedom of thought [curious] or freedom of action," except in the loyal localities. He declares it is a subject of common conversation in the South, that the National debt must be repudiated, and payment of the Confederate war debt and for slave property exacted; that being "unmolested in person and property" we grow more arrogant and hate the government worse every day—thus intimating that the halter and confiscation should have followed the war; that the ku-klux have a regularly organized Government in the South and are determined there shall be no peace under Republican rule. Pages of this kind of vile slander, the wretch poured out upon us; but we have not the patience or inclination to follow him farther. We started out, as stated, to prove the difference between two men of the same politics—one being an educated man and the other an ignoramus.

We again appeal to our friends to turn out well on the 4th day of July to the County Convention. That day used to be observed by us. It is no less ours now, that we have lost the liberty secured to us by the Fathers. It is fit that we should on that day make an effort to regain it, thus rendering it doubly dear. Let everybody resolve to take holliday on the 4th and come to the County Convention. Enthusiasm in one begets enthusiasm in another, and one large turnout of the people will inspire such courageous hope in the breasts of all as will carry all before it from now to November. We can win if we will win. So croakers must give up their doubts and dastards must daily no longer. The question is one in which every man is personally interested, and we hope to see a good turn out.

The latest stealing scheme started at Washington is a bill now before Congress to create what is called a "Freedman's Homestead Commission." It is proposed to give thirteen Commissioners enormous grants of lands in the West, belonging to the Government, which said Commissioners will sell and apply the proceeds to the purchase of lands in the South for the negroes. They will apply some of the money also to the education of the negro. The territory acquired by the white people of the Government is to be seized and appropriated to the negro; but there is nothing done for the poor white people. As it is, a negro can enter lands as well as a white man; but this is not the thing. The public lands are too poor for the negro. They must sell Western lands and buy him rich lands and give them to him. The poor public lands in the South, will be left for the poor white man, who may enter upon them by paying the Government for them. How do white men, who have been affiliating with this negro party, like the picture.

Executive Committee 5th Congressional District.

The following list comprises the names of the Democratic Executive Committee, of this, the 5th Congressional District. It is to be hoped they will begin to take some steps toward calling a District Convention, in view of the rapidly approaching contest; or else signify their intention to do nothing and turn the matter over to others that will. The same remarks might well apply to our remarkably active State Executive Committee. Outside of Mosely's dispatch to the Talladega Mountain Home, no one in this stronghold of the Democracy knows whether, at their called meeting, they determined to hold a State Convention or not. "The people" begin to want a little light on these things As stated, the following is the District Committee. We venture some of them have forgotton they ever belonged to it.

A. L. Woodliff, of Etowah, City Ch'rm.
James Croom, of Calhoun. "
John Pratt of Cherokee "
Wm. O. Winston, of DeKalb. "
James Jordan, of Jackson. "
Jno. W. Young of Madison. "
J. H. Moore, of Marshall. "
James Foreman, of St. Clair. "

Since going to press, we see the State Ex. Com. have acted. Will publish their Address next week. September 1st is the day.

The name of Government employees, clerks &c in Washinton City is legion. In additon to this force, the Radicals have kept a standing army of negroes there, at Government expense, to do the voting of the party; yet a short time back Mayor Bowen, a firm supporter of Grant's administration and his personal friend, was badly beaten for the mayoralty. This was done within the shadow of the Capitol and under the very nose of Congress. When Congress fails to keep the small District of Columbia radicalized, how, in the name of common sense, do they expect to keep the whole country in that condition. The days of that party are over and the party dies with the going out of the 41st Congress, in a short time.

There has been an election in Mobile, in which the Republican paper there, the Radical Mayor, and all other Radicals confidently calculated to carry the negro vote. But the negroes repudiated their former leaders and voted almost to a man opposite to them. The negro is fast learning that he has a right to vote as he pleases and is refusing to be "led as asses are," as heretofore.

Dennis Dykons of the Decatur Republican, in speaking of the Gadsden Times, makes a manifest pun (the very worst) upon our name as proprietor; and speaks of the people of Etowah in a sneering manner as "refined" (italics) &c. If we could only understand what the old fool has endeavored to express, we might pay more attention to our part of it. For the "refined" people of Etowah, we will say, they were clothed in too much uncouth honesty to understand his refined rascality, when they gave him that $10, he came to Gadsden and begged, on his masonic diploma, while on his way to take charge of the paper through the columns of which he now throws out sneers at them. Friends of Gadsden, has the old scallawag ever paid that money back to you? If not, then his sneer is indeed in bad taste.

SILVER AND LEAD MINES NEAR GADSDEN.

Cherokee Indians to point out the Place—Intense Excitement among Old Miners—and people living in the designated Locality.

We are credibly informed that a party of some twenty Cherokee Indians, descendants of the tribe of celebrated Chief Kuskovy, are on their way to Gadsden and are now encamped on the mountains near here. The object of their visit is to make known the locality of certain lead and silver mines said to be within one mile of the Double Springs just outside the corporate limits of Gadsden.

Parties interested have gone to the Indian Nation heretofore, but could not find any willing guides until now who knew where the mines were, those knowing asserting that if they disclosed their locality they would be instantly killed. Some of our oldest and most reliable citizens are willing to testify that the Indians used to obtain lead in its native state, in less time than one hour from the time of their starting from Double Springs.

This information has created considerable excitement amongst the old miners and the people owning the land near where the mines are said to be located. Lands in the immediate locality have gone up to one and two hundred dollars, some parties refusing to sell at any price.

Gadsden Times.

We learn that several citizens of Jacksonville have been purchasing land in the alleged vicinity of the "silver and lead" mines near Gadsden. The Indians have not yet arrived, from some cause or other, but are expected every day, &c.

Gadsden Times.

The Gadsden Times felicitates itself over its bad joke about "Indians having arrived to point out silver and lead mines, in one mile of the town;" and in the same article perpetrates a worse one, in representing the citizens of Jacksonville in a state of excitement thereat.

It won't do "big Joe!" It won't do. The speak is not known over here yet: for the Republican failed to copy it until this week, and the Times subscribers at this box, hav'nt read their papers yet. Now come back at us by saying your paper is too "big" to read through in one week.

P. S.—Since the above was in type, we received the Attalla Republican Union, which tells more of "big Joe's" Indians. It seems that the Ku-Klux, not appreciating "developement of the material resources" any more than did the voters of Etowah, in the last R. R. election, got after them and run them out of the county. Below we give the reason why "big Joe's" Indians didn't come to time.

☞ Last week an Indian, accompanied by a white woman and child, camped near town and commenced business in "fortune telling." Being that they were not precisely the class of citizens desired here, the "K. K. Ks." got their "dander up" and addressed a letter to Sheriff Dillard. By some means the fortune teller ascertained this fact; and in a few minutes, fired his camp and "dusted" down the road toward the terminus. Below we copy the letter received by the Sheriff:—

WILLS VALLEY LODGE.
KU—KLUX—KLAN—
PERIOD OF BLOOD.
14TH MOON.

To the Indian, pretended fortune teller.

You are a humbug and a nuisance in this community. We hereby warn you to leave this neighborhood within 12 hours from this minute date. If you do not break up camps and leave taking all your effects, including that woman and child, which we know is not your wife and child, we will visit you with DEATH.

Take warning in time to save blood shed. Our eyes are upon you.

[Signed.] WILLBEWAH, great A, D. S. B. L. S. T. and father of death. 8 o'clock and 4 minutes A. M. June 13th, 5670.

Don Piatt the Radical Correspondent of the Cincinnatti Commercial, the most influential Radical paper in the West, in a letter to that paper, in which the situation is calmly reviewed, comes to the conclusion that it is all up with his party. Among a great many other things to the same end. he says.

* * * * Turning my back upon what I could wish for, and looking with calm, philosophical impartiality upon what is, I am forced to say there is no more cohesion beyond mere office holding and public plunder, in the Republican party, than there is in a rope of sand. For over a year I have been in Washington, employed to criticise our public men, and measures, and put to new-paper record their political acts I wrote the fact that while the democracy is a compact, well organized body, representing certain feelings, that make of its parts one efficient whole the Republicans are one party only in name—and each leader is the representative of a faction in deadly hostility to some other faction inside the organization. Were a caucus to be called to-day for the purpose of considering any one of the more important measures now under consideration, its deliberationes would be marked by personal abuse, violent discussions, and every evidence of hate and suspicion, to end in a violent dissolution. No such caucus has been held since I have been in Washington, and no such caucus can be held.

And after a review of the policy pursued by Congress and the Executive, and after letting out the fact that a great many Republican members in Congress would be secretly rejoiced at a triumph of Democratic principles, he concluded:

We have received notice to quit. The partnership heretofore existing between the honest men and the rogues is hereby dissolved, and every man is left to go his own way unquestioned. Greely, Grant & Co., will settle up and close the concern. The late republican party is the deadest thing above ground. And if the surviving friends wish to retain for it any feelings of respect they will hasten its funeral. Upon it's melancholy tomb let us inscribe this epitaph:

DIED.
After a brilliant career, the late Republican Party.
BORN,
Of patriotic impulse, it built huge navies, organized vast armies and through long campaigns with bloody battles
Saveda Nation from the jaws of Hell. Its immediate cause of dissolution was Trichina. Certain vermin, knows as Thieves, plunderers, and Protectionists, ate into its vitals,
Causing a dreadful nausea a bad smell and a sudden death.

D. P.

In view of the recent "enforcement act" of Congress, the negro reconstruction song will do to quote. In the light of Radical law, there is more truth than poetry in it. Here is one stanza from it.

It is a sin to steal a pin—
A crime to cut a throat—
But a darned sight bigger to stop a nigger
From putting in his vote

We publish, below, an account from the Oxford Star of the killing of a man near that place last week. We refrained from mention of it in our last issue, not having as correct particulars as we desired.

DEATH.—On Sunday last a young man by the name of Stephen McCray, died at this place, under the following circumstances. A few days previous the deceased had been arrested in Carrol county Georgia under the charge of horse stealing, said to have occurred in St Clair county Alabama. The accused asserted his innocence, and requested those in charge of him to pass through Talladega county and he (the accused) would establish his innocence. They stayed at a house a bout 7 miles from town on Friday night and Saturday morning the accused attempted to make his escape when one of the guard shot him. He was brought to town, medical aid was procured but with out avail: after his death a coroners inquest was held. The jury rendered their verdict that he came to his death at the hands of those two men in charge of him. We forbear comment, but only say that he had every attention while here it was possible for him to have. No people are more willing to administer to the wants of suffering humanity than ours. To the sorrow stricken friends we tender our heart felt sympathy. We leave it for that Being who judgeth aright to say whether he is or was guilty or not.

The Greenville Advocate asks the newspapers of the State to pass around one John S. Evans, a Masonic imposter, now on the ramage in that County. He has also endeavored, that paper states, to pass himself off as an ex-Confederate General. He is no doubt a great rascal.

Billy Beasly, formerly of this office, and now Editor of the Evergreen Observer, took, so the Greenville papers state, rather a novel way of getting satisfaction of a Mr. Cunningham, a member of the firm of J. J. Milton & Co., of Mobile. The parties had a disagreement in Mobile about money matters, and agreed to drop it until they met in Evergreen. They met as by agreement, and Beasly, armed with a quart bottle containing four ounces of Nitric acid and two ounces of Cayenne pepper, diluted with water, broke the same in Cunningham's face, inflicting a severe wound. When last heard of Cunningham was still on the scene, with a shot gun in his hand.

The citizens of Butler County have met in Convention and appointed Delegates to the State Convention, now supposed to be on the 1st of September next. Their Resolutions are a model of brevity. The first provides for the selection of Delegates. The second, recommends another County Convention for the nomination of a member to the Legislature. The third provides for the appointment of a County Executive Committee; and the fourth, embonies their platform, which is sufficient for the purpose. We give it below as follows:

4th. That we cordially recommend all good citizens and true patriots, to co-operate in harmony and with untiring zeal, in the effort to relieve our State at the ballot box, from the reign of misrule and corruption, under which the people now groan.

Mr. R. O. Randall, Sir Knight, Worshipful Master of Gadsden Lodge No. 236, one of the brightest Masons in the South, has been secured as Masonic and Local editor of the Gadsden Times. We congratulate the Times on the acquisition.

Since the moment that John W. Forney got the last dollar of the amount for which he sold himself and his paper to Bullock not a loyal drop of blood untimely shed has stained the soil of Georgia.

We invite attention below to a sketch contributed by one of our ablest and most respected citizens—a life-long temperance man—one who has been uniformally successful in business and now rests on the fruits of his labors.

From his standpoint and the length of time given him for observation, he has had thousands of opportunities to witness the baleful effects of the Curse of the 19th Century, as he has experienced the benefits resulting from a life of strict temperate habits. Somewhat of a philosopher, he has divined the correct manner to attract the attention and impress a lesson upon the unfortunate young, who have began to tamper with the tempter. People mistake the true course to pursue in this regard. Men can be led where they cannot be forced. Coldness only stiffens the neck, and abuse begets first resentment and then despair. The saddest set of men in the world are those who have once been brought under the influence of the passion for strong drink. They carry about within them a self-deprecatory feeling, a certain sense of inferiority to others inferior to themselves, free of the habit. This in itself very unpleasant, begets a vague feeling of unrest and unhappiness, and the wine cup is the remedy sought. That soon raises a man to the condition of Tam O'Shanter, who, while Kings were allowed to be "happy," was himself

"Glorious: O'er all the ills of life victorious."

The true philosophy is to remove this feeling, and supply by encouragement of word and smile, that feeling of elevation and self confidence sought for at the bottom of the wine cup. Hence the benefit of pointing advice in such a tender way resorted to by the author of the sketch alluded to. Hence the benefit of Good Templar and kindred associations, in which intellectual and social enjoyment supply the healthy excitement and beget the feeling wine supplies only for a moment, before "It biteth like an adder and stingeth like a serpent"

In this connection it will not be inappropriate to mention that the formation of a Good Templar's Lodge is anticipated here. Maj. Palmer, the principal officer in the State, will be here about the 4th day of July, and, if a sufficient number be secured, will proceed at once to organize. Many of the young have signified a willingness to go into the arrangement, and we hope he will succeed. A Good Templars Lodge is composed of both sexes, the two dividing the offices. Total abstinence is the cardinal object, and intellectual improvement the secondary. Wherever tried they result in much good both intellectually and morally.

"Be temperate in all things"

Chremes a Grecian, by a life of dissipation had become disordered so as to experience occasionally a state of torpor and insensibility. During one of these lethargic periods he had a trance. Then appeared to him an old philosopher, who on sitting down at the table, much to Chremes' surprise, partook of but one dish and that the most simple present. Notwithstanding his extreme age, his conversation was both sprightly and wise, and all his movements full of the vivacity of youth. He invited Chremes to sup with him in the neighborhood, which invitation Chremes readily accepted always expecting something on such occasions to gratify his gluttonish propensities. He failed not at the appointed time to repair to the philosopher's house: but imagine his surprise when on seating himself at the table, he saw nothing but milk and honey, with a few roots dressed in the plainest manner, their only sauce being the philospher's cheerfulness and edifying conversation. But seeing that Chremes could not use such aliment, the philosopher had prepared for him, a banquet of the richest viands and wines, as delicious as the most voluptuous could desire. Chremes was greatly delighted, as every thing he tasted created sensations exquisitely gratifying. Around the sumptuous board were grouped the most beautiful damsels he had ever beheld, who to complete his happiness, sang enchantingly, and danced with graces almost Divine. Chremes was lost in exstatic joy. All seemed an Elysian and Chremes was so enchanted that he was about to indulge great freedom when lo—all their beauty which had been a mere mask, disappeared and disclosed the most frightful creatures imaginable. Lust fear, revenge, meagre poverty, all were present to his affrighted view. How did he shudder with horror, anxiously desirous of being delivered from such an appalling scene. His frame trembled his knees smote each other and his whole system seemed to portend sudden dissolution.

The philosopher who had observed all this, discovering that he was sufficiently impressed approached him and said, "Fear not, it is i who have thus entertained you; it is Esculapius who now addresses you. Learn from this wisdom. See in it the follies of luxury and become temperate. For know ye that temperance alone can render you susceptible of the enjoyment of permanent happiness, and that all haunts of dissipation are but harbingers of misery."

Chremes, instructed by the vision became temperate which soon freed him from all his bodily infirmities, the certain attendants of intemperance, and in after life was regarded as one of the best and wisest men of Greece. Having lived to a good old age he,

"Calmly retired like evening's light
And cheerful, bid the world good night."

Reader, do you desire thus finally to depart? If so,

"Let temperance constantly preside—
Your best physician, friend and guide."

Marathon.

A BIT OF HISTORY.—Cotton Mather, of Massachsetts, a first-class Puritan, advised the capture of Wm. Penn and company, in 1682, on their way from London to pensylvania. He said;

* * * "Much spoyle can be made by selling ye whole lotte to Barbadoes, where slaves feteh goode prices in rumme and sugar, and shall not only do ye Lord great service by punishing ye wicked, but we shall make greatgayne for his ministers and people.

* * * * * * * *

"Yours in ye bowells of Christ,
"COTTON MATHER."

Some of the "bowells" of Cotton Mather have descended in a direct line in the aforesaid Massachusetts, whose owners "pray all night and steal all day."

We have received a note from Mr. Spinner, U. S. Treasurer, stating that two thousand ten dollar notes, from No. H3,530,001*, to No. H3,532,000*, both inclusive, have been stolen from the Treasury. No notes higher than H3,236,000* have been issued. Look out for them.

LOUISIANA CREOLE HAIR RESTORATIVE!

The Hair restored naturally to its original color, prevented from falling out, its growth increased, and its softness and beauty multiplied.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorative keeps the head clean, cool and healthy, removes all diseases of the scalp, keeps it free from Dandruff, prevents irritation and itching and is an excellent remedy for nervous and other forms of headache.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorative is not a dye, but restores gray hair to its original color by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance which may not be assimilated from either age or decay. All instantaneous Hair Dyes are compos'd of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair and afford of themselves no dressing, but on the contrary make the hair brittle and wiry. The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorative not only actually restores the hair and restores the natural color by natural means, but it imparts to it a luxuriant beauty which it can attain by no other method.

The Louisiana Creole Hair Restorative in addition to its many useful qualities is elegantly perfumed and is entirely free from greasiness and stickiness, so that the finest linen fabric is not spoiled or even stained by its use. It contains no poison to kill the hair, but under its continued use, improvement is steadily manifested and it never fails to give the best satisfaction.

For sale by Druggists generally. Prepared by MANSFIELD & HIGBEE, Memphis, Tenn.

MAGIC ARNICA LINIMENT

WILL CURE PAINS AND ACHES IN FIVE MINUTES.

Prepared from rare Essential Oils, Extract of Camphor, Extract of Arnica, Chloroform and Magnetic Fluid, chemically combined.

The Magic Arnica Liniment is one of the most powerfully penetrating Fluids known. It is no rancid grease like many of the so-called liniments sold, but a clear, transparent, ruby colored Fluid which when applied, promptly penetrates through skin and muscles to the very bone itself, striking at the root of the disease and instantly relieving all pain. In cases of Paralysis, Numbness, Bites, Cramps, swellings, and in fact, all classes of diseases that can be reached by external treatment, this liniment will be found efficacious. In Rheumatism it acts promptly, killing the pain in one or two applications, and when used in connection with Mansfield & Higbee's Great Internal Remedy, the RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, we have never known it to fail in effecting a CURE! As a

Horse and Cattle Liniment

it is unsurpassed, curing where other liniments fail. A striking evidence of this is its unparalleled success when used in the treatment of Charbone or Erysipelas in Horses or Mules—a disease which at one time threatened to destroy all the stock in the Mississippi Valley. The Magic Arnica Liniment was the only remedy that was found to relieve in all cases.

With every bottle will be found a circular containing specific directions for using.

JACKSONVILLE.

JUNE 25, 1870.

We acknowledge receipt, from Montomery Bros., of a nice lot of Canned Oysters, fresh Lobsters and a very superior brand of Sardines—the best we have tasted. The lobsters come in good time for lobster salads, and, of course, will go at once—other of their Fancy Groceries are fresh and delicious. Two more clever young men could not be patronized, and we know everybody will drop in and take a look at their newly arrived, choice stock.

Mr. John A. DeArmand, one of the Census takers for this county, is at present in Jacksonville, and will be glad if parties will call at his office and give in their census—thus saving him the trouble of visiting each house, which he will do, as in duty bound, otherwise. He reports everything as quiet and prosperous throughout the county, and the people ready to respond cheerfully to every question asked. The population of Jacksonville, he says, will reach over 1200.

We have been shown by L. W. Cannon, Esq. a bunch of wheat heads from the farm of Mrs. Nancy P. Scarborough, in the fruitful valley of the Choccoloco, picked at random, which average 75 grains to the head and four grains to the mash—about 400 fold. By the way, although a woman, she is one of the best farmers and managers in the valley. Since the death of her husband she has increased the value of her farm and property three hundred per cent. A strong argument for woman's rights, if we are to judge by merit and enterprise.

Buy your fruits, flowers, shrubery, ornamental trees &c, from the nursery of Richardson & Nicholas, Geneva, New York. W. A Lyon of Georgia Agt.,

Gen. Burke, a citizen of our town, and his accomplished wife, left Monday last on a tour to Europe. Gen. Burke has done much since his citizenship among us, to forward the material development of this section. His Company, with adequate means have built up one branch of industry which is daily adding to its proportions and is destined to be of immense benefit to the town. Gen. Burke will make speeches in Ireland to induce emigration from that country to this immediate section, through the Port of Mobile. As he will make it a point to disabuse the minds of his countrymen as to the reputed social condition of this country, and enlighten them all in his powers to its multiplied advantages, we wish him God speed and large success. Let the European emigrant once begin to find his way through the Port of Mobile, and Alabama will soon have her quota and spring forward in that rapid career of prosperity, which has hitherto marked the young States of the West. We say to those whom Gen Burke may address in the old country, to come along, with the assurance that they will be most heartily welcomed and well treated. We wish the General a safe journey and a speedy return.

One of our friends having caught the infection, has exhibited to us a most remarkable head of Dog Fennel. He says he has not counted the seed yet; but is satisfied his "head" contains more seed than any other mans, "head" around town.

Joking aside, Dog Fennel, when cut and dried properly, makes the very finest kind of hay, so the agricultural Magazines say; and it grows very readily in and around town. Can not some of our friends try the experiment and demonstrate the good there is in this now considered nuisance.

Please oblige us by admiring that exceedingly fine hat ye Local wears. It came from the store of E. L. Woodward's Sons, and they have plenty more. JUST ARRIVED and cheap as dirt. And hats are not the only part of their fine stock which is going thus cheap. In every department, goods are astonishingly low. But to the hat—we love to dwell it. We are aware how agonizing it is for a young man to find himself outdressed by another; but when a married man "outshines" him, the suffering is simply beyond calculation. But such nevertheless is the painful fact and will be until our young friends avail them of the beautiful styles mentioned at Woodwards. Go and see and—buy. We feel isolated as it is.

Whisenant & Driskell have just received a large lot of Canvassed hams, Bacon, Sugar, Coffee and a very superior quality of New Orleans Molasses. Prices low. Give them a call.

We learn that our highly, esteemed neighbor city—Gadsden—labors under a misapprehension as to the part taken by Jacksonville in the recent R. R. election in Etowah. No one, that we have heard of, expressed any opposition to "subscription," and we know some here who own property in Etowah, and consequently had the right to speak, who were in reality for subscription. Jacksonville is a powerful place to attend strictly to its own business, and we regret that Gadsden could think she interfered or endeavored or even wished to interfere in a matter which concerned Etowah alone. You labor under a mistake Messieurs Gadsdenites.

Our White Plains friends are still sending us subscribers. Will not Democrats in other parts of the country do likewise? The coming political canvass will be one of unusual interest and excitement. Radical documents will flood the country; and party friends should work to get a paper which will expose their tricks and sophistry, into the hands of every intelligent voter. Let every Democrat who reads this send us in one new subscriber at least. Think who among your neighbors it is, that don't take the paper, and go to him at once. Subscribers will be taken for three, six or twelve months.

Young Grisman, who killed the Confederate General Zollicoffer in battle during the war, has gone crazy because he did not take him prisoner instead, and was last week sent to the asylum.

We notice that Mr. E. L. Woodward is repainting and otherwise improving the buildings on either street adjoining his store-house. It vastly improves the appearance of the block. Our whole town is susceptible of improvement in this respect, and we hope to see others following the good example set by Mr. W. Let's present a "clean face" to visitors.

We were glad to meet Mr. W. A. Marschalk, one of the Proprietors of that staunch and excellent paper, the Selma Argus. The Argus is too well known and highly appreciated in "these parts" to need commendation at our hands. We hope Mr. Marschalk may make up a large club to-day, 24th, here.

Mr McAllister in the room formerly occupied by Dr. Lawrence, is now prepared to do all kinds of fine work in the way of boot and shoe and harness making. He makes splendid Congress Ladies and Gentleman's Gaiters, fine boots &c. We have seen specimens of his work, and know that he puts up a pretty and substantial job. Give him a call.

☞ The graves of the Confederate dead at this city, were decorated last Saturday with appropriate and impressive ceremonies. Boquets and wreaths were placed upon the graves, and the Confederate Monument was festooned with evergreens, all emblamatic of the life eternal and undying love. The procession of beautiful young ladies and girls moved out to the cemetery under charge of Captains McDowell and Desha and to the sound of the fine music of the Fennell Band. Rev. H. Glass, of the Presbyterian church of this place, conducted the religious portion of the ceremonies. What can be more holy or more noble than this annual demonstration of love for the dead, by the living?

A number of boquets and wreaths were sent from other States to parties here, to be placed upon the grave of some loved one. Miss T. J. Webb received two baquets by express from Mrs. M. E. Rowland, and her little daughter, of Jacksonville, Ala., requesting her to place them upon the grave of the departed husband and father.

Spathiana Democrat.

Gen. Joseph W. Burke, the Register in Bankruptcy, for this section of our State will leave his home on Monday, accompained by his family for an European tour. He as well as his accomplished wife carry with them our best wishes for a safe voyage across the "pond." They expect to be gone for several months. In the meantime everything in Bankruptcy, requiring the action of the Register, will be suspended.

A WONDERFUL MICROSCOPE.

Rev Daniel Wise, D. D., editor of the New York sunday school Advocate, thus speaks of the celebrated Craig Microscope;

Its simplicity cheapness and great magnifying power struck me with suprise Then I was examining a fly's eye by its aid, and was struck with wonder at skill and power of the Creator which is displayed in its structure. When I saw a statement in an advertisement that the Craig Microscope magnified one hundred diameters and could be bought for $2,50, I thought it was one of the hour, for I had paid $20 for a microscope not long before But now I find it to be a really valuable instrument which I should like to see introduced into the families of our readres in place of the manifold useless toys which plea e for an hour and then destroyed. This microscope would both amuse and instruct them and I advise every boy and and girl who wishes to know the wonders which lie in little things to save his money until he has $2.75, which will pay for the microscope and the postage will be sent by mail.

As a holiday gift this microscope is unsurpassed, being ornamental, instructive amusing and cheap, and never looses its interest. Agents and dealers supplied on liberal terms. A sample will be mailed, post paid, to any addess for $2,75, by E. H. Ross, 313 Locust St St. Louis, Mo.

The Trinchina Spiralis or Pork-Worm

Perhaps it is not generally known that the much talked of trichina spiralis, or pork worm, was first discovered in America by Dr. R. C. Kendall, Philidelphia, Pa., with that American instrumet known as the Craig Microscope, costing only $2.75, after repeated failures to discover the worm with an imported microscope, costing $55, of feebler power and less reliable." This fact Dr. Kendall stands ready to prove at any time. "Craig" Microscope in neat box with full direction is mailed anywhere for $2,75, by E. H. Ross; 313 Locust st., st. Louis, Mo.

A Sneaking Scoundrel."

Washington June 15.—There was an extraordinary scene in the committee on Reconstruction to-day. Gen. Butler took opportunity of a moment when his adherents happened to be in the majority, to put a motion to reverse the former action of the committee, and strike Mr, Farnsworth's amendment off the Georgia bill. He declared it carried in spite of all remonstrances, refusing to allow time to send for the members, who were absent only because they supposed this question was settled. Mr Farnsworth in a towering rage shook his fist in Butler's face, and denounced him as a sneaking scoundrel, with other epithets of the strongest sort, which Butler endured with calmness. As the representatives of the majority who had agreed to Farnsworth's amendment demanded a full meeting before the bill should be reported, it was finally settled that one should be called for Thursday.

Chancellor John Foster, of Calhoun, is proposed by a correspondent of the Gadsden Times for Congress from the 5th District. Chancellor Foster is known all over North Alabama, and has a reputation for ability and devotion to sound doctrine, unsurpassed by any man in the State, and we would be glad to see him in a position where the State could receive the benefit of his services. We understand, however, that he is ineligible under the 14th Amendment.

Huntsville Independent.

Some of the tax assessors of Alabama have assessed cotton in the hands of producers, for taxation. The State Auditor has addressed a letter to Messrs. Shorter & Brother, of Eufaula, in which he decides that cotton is subject to taxation as personal property, when in the hands of speculators, merchants or brokers, but that agricultural products when in the hands of the producer are not subject to tax, State or County.

A DEATH BLOW TO NORTH ALABAMA RADICAL ASPIRANTS.

The Radical State Executive Committee have set fire to the turpentine, so far as North Alabama aspirants for office are concerned.

They don't expect any vote in North Alabama and have determined that this section of the State shall have comparatively no voice in the State Convention.

They have determined and published that the 5th Congressional District composed of the counties of Madison, Marshall, Cherokee, Calhoun, Cleburne, Jackson, DeKalb, St. Clair and Etowah shall have but twenty-one delegates in the State Convention.

And that the 6th District, composed of the Counties of Jefferson, Walker, Winston, Marion, Blount, Lauderdale, Limestone, Franklin, Colbert, Lawrence and Morgan shall have but twenty-one delegates in the State Convention.

They have determind that the counties of Dallas and Montgomery(only two counties) shall have more delegates in the State Convention and consequently that much more influence in the nominations than either of the Congressional Districts named. How do you like it North Alabama Radicals?—[North Alabama.

A GROSS SLANDER.—We read the speech of one Geo. E. Spencer who misrepresents facts and the people of Alabama and the South, in the Senate of the U. S., too late for comment this week. We will publish his charge made without qualifications or restrictions against the people of the South next week, and it is due to truth and to the people of the South that he should be contradicted and branded as a base slanderer and foul mouthed calumniator of a people he pretends to represent. We make the charge against him that there is not an intelligent truthful Republican in Jackson county and we do not believe there is one in the State, who believes or would endorse his charge.—Scottsboro Herald.

"The annual report of the insane Asylum at Tuskaloosa states that, of the inmates, 18 were sent there by whiskey, 17 by religious excitement, 10 by political excitement, and one by tobacco.

Look for Him.—All Masons are warned to be on the lookout for an individual claiming to be a Mason, now living in Calvert, Texas, named Isaac J. Hillman. Said Hillman is a dangerous character, and has been imposing upon confidence of the craft, both in this State and Missouri. He is about 5 feet 8 inches high, black hair, eyes, whiskers and eyebrows, dark clear complexion; is very plausible in general manners, and rather inclined to be very intimate on short acquaintance. Originally from Nashville, Tenn., and Westport, Mo.

FORTRESS MONROE, June 19.—The military authorities have been called upon to drive the negro squatters from a farm at Ocean View. Company C, of the 5th artillery, was sent over for that purpose this evening.

WOOD, the Richmond policeman who thrashed Congressman PORTER (U. S.) has been called before Congress to answer for it.

THE MESSRS LO AS DINERS OUT.—Don Piatt gives some interesting information of how the Indian chiefs recently at Washington City, behave at dinner parties. He says:

It is customary for these children of the wilds to eat all that is placed before them. This Variegated Narrative and others proceeded to do with solemn resolution. Thus, a pot of mustard being put within the reach of Red Cloud, he immediately tossed it down. Then, while the tears came for the first time in his savage eyes, he seized Mrs. Fish's finger glass, and after swallowing the same, to that stately lady's amazement, he cried out: "Hip, by dam, too hot a-most." While eating the little kick-shaws these noble red men had a discontented look, as if they would greatly prefer roast baby, or scalps on toast. The odor arising from the children of the forest and plains gave the company an aristocratic air. Your genuine aristocrat, especially if he is a Senator, always looks as if he smelled something. The odor, Jones says, was a strange compound of old moccasin and Blue-lick water. It was so powerful at times that Secretary Robeson, of the Navy, who is prone to sea-sickness, had to retire several times.

A Democratic member of the House proposes to advocate Whitemore's admission on the following grounds: This is a representative Government, and Congress has no right to dictate to the people whom they shall select to represent them. The House branded Whittemore as a thief and with that brand upon him he went back to his constituents. They have re-elected him. The inference is that in that district the thieves are in a majority. But the House has no right to say that those thieves cannot be represented.

Koskoo Cures Scrofula in its Worst Forms.

From A. W, MILLS, a prominent and well known merchant of Norfolk, Va.

No. 11 Main St., Norfolk, Va. Sept 1869.

DR. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir: Your Koskoo has worked wonders in my family. My daughter has been a sufferer from Scrofula since childhood. She lost thirty one pieces of bone from her ankle, severed from her arm, besides having ulcers in several parts of the body. Whilst in this condition she commenced taking your Koskoo—it acted like a charm on her; under its use the ulcers gradually healed, and her general health greatly improved. It certainly saved her much suffering, and perhaps her life. I regard Koskoo a specific for all scrofulous affections. Your Koskoo also cured my wife of dyspepsia, from which she suffered greatly. She is now in better health than she has been in five years.

With the highest regards,
I am greatfully yours, &c.,
A. W. MILLS.

Koskoo is endorsed by the best physicians everywhere. Read the following from Dr. Tillery, a successful practitioner of many years standing in the old North State:

Rocky Mount, Edgecombe Co., }
September 10, 1870. }

DR. J. J. LAWRENCE.—Dear Sir: I have used your Concentrated Fluid Extract of Koskoo in my practice with the happiest results. I find it to be a powerful Liver Invigorator, Blood Purifier, and Nervous Tonic. In all diseases of the Liver, Scrofulous Syphilitic, and Nervous Affections, it is a remedy of immense value; in fact, in almost every variety of Chronic Diseases its use is indicated. Hoping you may meet with the success which you deserve as a manufacturer of reliable medicines, I am sir, with much respect,

Your obedient servant,
R. C. TILLERY, M. D.

Koskoo Cures Chronic Rheumatism

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 7, 1869.

DR. J. J. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir: My son has received so much benefit from your wonderful Koskoo that I cannot refrain from expressing my gratidude. I had tried almost everything without benefit. I believe, in all sincerity, that your Koskoo is an INFALLIBLE remedy for the disease from which he has suffered, and, so far as I can learn, has never failed. If you only knew the immense amount of suffering that he has undergone, then you could conceive the value of such a remedy as Koskoo—THAT REALLY CURES. The great amount of good it is now doing among us is inestimable.

With much graditude,
I am, respectfully yours, &c.,
Mrs. M. E. A. NELSON.

Read the following from Mr. Womble, a prominent Hardware Merchant of this city:

No. 13 Market Square, Norfolk, Va }
October 13, 1869. }

DR. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir: To the large number of testimonials which you offer of the great efficacy of your Koskoo, I take pleasure in adding my own. I suffered greatly with Nervous Debility, Headache, Loss of Appetite, &c. Two bottles of Koskoo restored me to health.

Yours truly,
J. G. WOMBLE.

This is to certify that I know Dr. Lawrence well. He is a gentleman of cultivation, and worthy of the fullest confidence. I have used his Koskoo with advantage to myself, and have adopted its use in my family in cases of nervous debility and depression.

W. H. CHRISTIAN.

From Dr. Lloyd, a Physician of Large Practice.

Great Bridge, Va., Oct. 8, 1869.

J. J. LAWRENCE, M. D.—Dear Sir: I cheerfully endorse your Koskoo as being a most valuable preparation. Upon examination of the formula, I find each ingredient highly extolled by our best and most progressive clinical investigators. I have tested its effects in my own practice, and have no hesitation in recommending it. In my opinion, it is the best compound of its class ever put before the public—exceeding by far all the various compounds of sarsaparilla, &c., ever invented. It is a decided Nerve Tonic, and Invigorator of the animal forces, aiding digestion and assimilation, and thereby producing healthy blood, which shoul be the basis of treatment in all chronic diseases. Hoping you will reap the reward you deserve from the public as a benefactor.

I am sir, yours truly,
CHARLES LLOYD.

After reading the above high recommendation, Invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give the KOSKOO a trial.

Offices, No. 78 Nassau Street, NEW YORK,

Notary Public and Commissioner for all the States.

I have been fifteen years in the divorce business, ten years in the offices I now occupy. Having been consulted by over thirty thousand persons on the subject of divorce, I refer to my numerous clients for whom I have obtained divorces. I am connected with the most expert and successful Divorce Lawyers in the States of New York, Indiana, Illinois, Connecticut and other States where laws are liberal on the subject, and parties residing in any State or County wishing divorces would therefore do better to apply through me than elsewhere. I obtain divorces for desertion, adultery, drunkenness, non-support, etc., without publicity and without charge unless I succeed. Advice free. I call attention to the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States has lately decided that Divorces obtained in one State are perfectly legal in every State.

In all cases where an advance is paid on a case for my security, I will return the money if I should fail in obtaining the divorce. Every divorce obtained by me is warranted perfectly legal everywhere. Call on address, M. HOUSE, Counsellor at Law

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character now required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county," and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, which designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama; and in my opinion clearly within the provisions of said act, I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.
