Manhood: How Lost, How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebtated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cts.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing the publishers.

Also Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the Publishers.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any thing won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Description of the Work.

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever the lished and, by those who have examin pub- several portions of the work, it has ed the pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood and 260 pages of reading matter descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one half as thick, and same sized pages, of Websters largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired.

Sold by Subscription, Only.

Vol. I, Is devoted to Wild American Birds.
Vol. II, Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III, American Domesticated Birds and Animals.
Vol. IV, Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V, Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter, be complete without this addition to its treasures; while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

Agents Wanted.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful SPECIMEN BOOK FOR AGENTS containing 5 of the Oil Chromos, 10 Steel Engravings, 10 Wood Engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c., &c.

Our Specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. By-Laws

OF THE

Town Council of Jacksonville.

By-Laws for the government of the Intendant and Councilmen of the Town of Jacksonville, a Corporation created under the provision of Title 24, and Part 1st of the Code of Alabama:

1st. This Corporation shall consist of an Intendant and five Councilmen.

2d. There shall be a Treasurer and Secretary elected annually, at the first meeting after the installment of the new Board, or as soon thereafter as practicable, from the number of Councilmen.

3d. The Council shall proceed at the first meeting after the qualification of the new Board, or as soon thereafter as practicable to elect a suitable person to fill the office of Marshal.

4th. Any member may be removed at any time by a vote of two thirds of a lawful quorum of the Councilmen.

5th. The Intendant shall preside at all meetings of the Council, try all parties accused and legally brought before him according to the offense and penalties, as set forth in said ordinances of the town, state all questions, in ties to give the casting vote, and perform all other duties consistent with the requirements of his office, and consonant with the laws of the State.

6th. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep a proper record of all the proceedings of the council of every meeting, submit the same at each subsequent meeting for consideration of the council, which, after approval, shall become a part of the corporation ordinances; and for failure to discharge these duties may be removed at any time by a lawful vote of the council.

7th. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive and receipt for all moneys, notes or other claims, due the corporation, paid into his hands, or placed in his possession, and to pay out the same by and with the consent of the council and approval of the Intendant, and for failure to discharge the same may be removed at any time by the lawful vote of the council.

8th. The Councilmen shall be required to attend at all meetings, vote on all questions and perform all other duties devolving upon them, and shall not speak on any question more than twice without permission of the Intendant, and for failure to comply with the requirements shall, unless for good cause, be fined not less than one dollar.

9th. The Marshal shall be required to enforce all police regulations, execute all process, asses and collect the taxes, and perform all other duties that may be prescribed by the council, and as a compensation, shall receive the same fees as are allowed to State officers for similar services. And for failure to enforce judgments or collect fines against offenders shall be held responsible on his official bond, for the amount of the fine, with costs.

17, Be it further ordained. That when any person violates any of these ordinances, it shall be the duty of the Marshal to arrest him or her without a warrant and forthwith carry the offender with such witness as he can find before the Intendent, whose duty it shall be to fine the offender according to the offense and penalties set forth in these ordinances.

18, Be it further ordained. That if any person shall be guilty of contempt, while the Intendent is engaged in the trial of any case he shall be fined not less than one nor more than five dollars.

19, Be it further ordained. That if any man when summoned by the town Marshal fail or refuse to assist that officer to arrest persons violating these ordinances, or if any person fail or refuse to attend as a witness before the Intendent, he shall be fined not less than one nor more than five dollars.

20, Be it further ordained. That any person arrested after nine o'clock at night for breaches of peace or disorderly conduct, shall be kept in custody by the Marshal until nine o clock the ensuing morning, at which time that officer shall bring them before the Intendent for trial. Provided the party arrested may give bond for their appearance at a specified time to be agreed upon by the officer making the arrest.

21, Be it further ordained. That when any person is arrested during the absence or illness of the Intendent, it shall be the duty of any one member of the council in town at the time, to try the case, and discharge or punish such accused according to these ordinances.

22. Be it further ordained. That any person arrested for a breach of these ordinances, may go before the Intendent, or in his absence, any member of the council, and plead guilty, and be discharged upon the payment of the proper fine, without trial.

23, Be it further ordained. That in all cases of fining, the Intendent shall have power to weigh all mitigating circumstances, and remit a part or all of the fine accordingly.

24, Be it further ordained. That all offenders failing or refusing to pay the fines and cost imposed by these ordinances, shall be required to labor on the streets of the town at one dollar per day, under the control and direction of the Marshal until said fines are satisfied; provided the said person shall not be required to labor more than thirty days. Should such person fail or refuse to perform the labor so imposed, then he or she shall be imprisoned in the town jail one day for every dollar so fined; provided the term of imprisonment shall not exceed thirty days; provided further, that any person included in the foregoing paragraphs, may confess judgment before the Intendent, or in his absence, before any member of the council, and give bond and security for the payment of the same within ten days after conviction of the offense.

25, Be it further ordained. That the license tax to retail spirituous liquors shall be at the rate of five hundred dollars for twelve months, all licenses to expire on the 31st day of December, of each year; that tax and license for a circus, menagerie or any public exhibition for pay, shall be fifty dollars, if the price of admission be fifty cents or more, and twenty five and ten dollars respectively, at the discretion of the Intendent, if the price of admission be under fifty cents; provided that this ordinance is not intended to apply to concerts and entertainments given by the citizens of the town for charitable purposes, or for any scientific, moral or religious entertainment.

26, Be it further ordained. That after the publication of these ordinances every pauper, vagrant, idle, or disorderly person of evil or ill fame, who has no visible means of support, and no fixed place of abode, every person whose conduct may be suspicious, and every person who loiters about the streets and other public places, found in the Town of Jacksonville, shall be arrested and ordered to leave town, and if, after the expiration of twenty four hours, such person shall be in the town, he or she shall be fined in the sum of twenty dollars.

27, Be it further ordained. That the Marshal, until otherwise ordered, shall act as overseer and superintendent of the working of the streets, and whenever the council may require the streets worked, he shall give two days notice either in person or in writing, left at the place of their abode, to all persons of whom labor may be required, to meet at such time and place as he shall designate, and bring such tools as he may direct. All persons so notified will be required to work ten days of each year; and if any person so summoned fails to attend, (or send a substitute) and perform the services required, shall forfeit and pay the sum of one dollar per day for every day of such failure, recoverable in the name of the town of Jacksonville before the Intendent's court. On failure to pay judgment of the court for such forfeiture, such persons may be imprisoned in the town jail one day for each day of failure, and be liable to payment of court and all costs attendant upon such imprisonment, for which execution may issue as in other cases; provided however that those paying the street tax of three ($3) dollars, shall be exempt from such duty and penalty.

28, Be it further ordained. That any person found drunk upon the streets sidewalks or public square, to the annoyance of the citizens, shall be arrested and kept in custody until sober, and shall be fined not less than one nor more than ten dollars.

29, Be it further ordained. That any person or persons resisting the Marshal in the discharge of his duty, or refusing to be arrested after the commission of any offense mentioned in these ordinances, shall be fined twenty five dollars.

30, Be it further ordained. That the Marshal, for any neglect of duty, or failure to carry out the orders of the council shall be fined not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars.

31, Be it further ordained. That any one who shall hereafter haul goods or freight (except for themselves) to or from the depot, or within the limits of the town of Jacksonville, shall pay an annual license tax of twenty dollars on all two horse drays or wagons so used, and twelve dollars and fifty cents on all one horse drays or wagons so used.

Be it further ordained. That parties hauling under licence as above prescribed shall be governed by the following schedule of charges.

From 1400 to 1800 lbs 75c.
" 900 " 1400 " 50c.
" 400 " 900 " 35c.
" 200 " 400 " 25c.
All under 200 10c per hundred
Hhds of sugar molasses tobacco bacon 75c
25c per bale for cotton.

Be it further ordained. That any one violating either of the clauses of this ordinance, shall be fined not less than ten dollars.

2 Be it further ordained. That all ordinances heretofore passed contravening the provisions of the foregoing ordinances, be and are hereby repealed.

How Gunn Went Off—The Fate of a Life Insurance Fiend.

His name was Benjamin P.—Gunn, and he was the agent of an insurance company. He came round to my office fourteen times in one morning to see if he could persuade me to take out a life insurance policy in his company. He used to waylay me on the street, at church, in my own house, and bore me about that policy. If I went to the opera, Gunn would buy the seat next to me, and sit there the whole evening talking about sudden death and the advantages of the ten year plan. If I got into a street car, Gunn would come rushing in at the next corner, and sit by my side and drag out a lot of mortality tables, and begin to explain how I could beat his company out of a fortune. If I sat down to dinner in a restaurant, up would come Gunn; and seizing the chair next to me, he would tell a cheerful anecdote about a man who insured in his company for $50,000 only last week, and was buried yesterday. If I attended the funeral of a departed friend, and wept as they threw the earth upon his coffin, I would hear a whisper, and turning around, there would be the indomitable Benjiman P. Gunn, bursting to say: "Poor Smith! Knew him well. Insured for ten thousand dollars in our company. Widow left in comfortable circumstances. Let me take your name. Shall I?"

He followed me everywhere; until at last I got so sick of Gunn's persecutions that I left town suddenly one evening, and hid myself in a secluted country village, hoping to get rid of him. At the end of two weeks I returned, reaching home at one in the morning. I had hardly got into the bed before there was a ringing at the door-bell I looked out, and there was Gunn with another person! He asked if Max Alder was at home. I said I was the man. Mr. Gunn then observed that he expected my return and thought he would call around about that insurance policy. He said he had the doctor with him, and if I would come down he would take my name and have me examined immediately. I was too indignant to reply. I shut the window with a slam and went to bed again After breakfast in the morning I opened the front door, and there was Gunn sitting on the steps with his doctor, waiting for me! He had been there all night. As I came out they seized me and tried to undress me there on the pavement, in order to examine me. I retreated and locked myself up in the garret, with orders to admit nobody to the house until I came down stairs.

But Gunn wouldn't be baffled. He actually rented the house next door, and stationed himself in the garret adjoining mine. When he got fixed he spent his time pounding and crynig: "Hollo! Alder! Adeler, I say!—how about that policy! Want to take her out now? And then he would tell me some anecdotes about men who were cut off immediately after paying the first premium. But I paid no attention to him, and made no noise. Then he was silent for a while.

Suddenly, one morning the trapdoor of my garret was wrenched off; and, upon my looking up, I saw Gunn, while the doctor and a crowbar, and a lot of deathrates, coming down the ladder at me. I fled from the house to the Presbyterian church close by, and paid the sexton twenty dollars to let me climb to the point of the steeple and sit astride of the ball.

I promised him twenty more if he would exclude everybody from that steeple for a week. Safely on the ball, three hundred feet from earth, I made myself comfortable with the thought that I had Gunn at a disadvantage, and I determined to beat him finally if I had to stay there a month. About an hour afteward, while I was looking at the superb view to the west, I heard a rustling around on the other side of steeple. I looked around and there was Benjamin P. Gunn creeping up the side of that spire in a balloon, in which was the doctor and the tabular estimates of the losses of his company from the Tontine system. As soon as Gunn reached the ball he threw his grapling iron in the shingles of the steeple and asked me at what age my father had died, and if any of my aunts ever had consumption or liver complaint.

Without waiting to reply, I slid down the steeple to the ground, and took the first train for the Mississippi Valley. In two weeks I was in Mexico. I determined to go to the interior and seek some wild spot, in some elevated region, where no Gunn would ever dare to come. I got on a mule and paid a guide to lead me to the summit of Popocatapetel. We arrived at the foot of the mountain at noon. We toiled upward for about four hours. Just before reaching the top I heard the sound of voices, and upon rounding a point of rocks who should I see but Benjamin P. Gunn, seated at the very edge of the crater, explaining the endowment plan to his guide, and stupifying him with a mortality table while the doctor had the other guide a few yards off, examining him to see if he was healthy!

Mr. Gunn arose and said he was glad to see me, because now he could talk over that business about the policy without fear of interruption. In a paroxysm of rage I pushed him backward into the crater, and he fell a thousand feet below with a heavy thud: As he struck the bottom, I heard a voice screaming out something about "non-forfiture;" but there was a sudden convulsion of the mountain, a cloud of smoke, and I heard no more.

I know it was wrong. I know I had no right to kill Gunn in that manner; but he forced me to do it in self-defence, and I hope his awful fate will be a warning to other insurance agents who remain among us.

Well Said.

The Florence Journal utters the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, when it declares, "The Democratic party requires every man to do his duty. There should be no such man in our ranks as a "neutral;" when a man says he is neutral in policies but sympathizes with the Democracy, mark him; he will not do. He has a small axe to grind somewhere, which he esteems of greater importance than the preservation of his country's liberty. It is against nature and justice for any man to be neutral in politics in the present crisis."

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN.

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, MAY 6th, 1871.

A Word of Reply to the "Assaults" of the Montgomery Advertiser and the Huntsville Independent.

Below we copy from the Montgomery Advertiser and the Huntsville Independent, that we may say a word of reply thereto. And here we desire to say, we close our part in the bond discussion until it shall have assumed a new phase.

Our young friend of the Jacksonville Republican, (for whom we entertain the kindest feelings,) does well in refusing to join some of the indiscreet and over-anxious Journals in their censures of Gov. LINDSAY for having recently executed the Act of the last Legislature respecting the payment of interest on the bonds of the A. & C. Railroad. But why assault our Democratic friends in the Legislature who voted for the amended Steele bill. There were only eleven votes recorded in the House against this Bill. It strikes us that with five-sixths of his party friends on the other side of the question our young friend should be a little more forbearing. Ex Governor SMITH's letter offers no sort of pretense for the great error of talking about, much less attempting seriously to practise repudiation. We persume if every fact he states had been known to the Legislature, and were really facts, the Legislature would have instructed the Governor to pay interest on the honest part of the debt—that is the interest on the bonds for which the money of those who held them was actually obtained and applied to a work of State Improvement, the bonds having been purchased for ninety cents and up wards on the dollar.

We, therefore, congratulate the Republican in its wise dissent from the unjust and indefensible course of some Journals; but why the Republican should make such an ill-natured assault on fifty-seven Democratic members of the Legislature, and why it should desire to cover itself with the odium of being an orginal repudiationist, is singular, to say the least. Let us drop this silly repudiating business, and close up our ranks. We have heavy fighting, and many dangers ahead of us.—Montgomery Advertiser.

The above attack upon the Legislature is an editorial from the only organ of the so-called repudiators in this section which claims to belong to the Democratic party. It will be seen that it takes great comfort from ex-Gov Smith's reckless and ridiculous statements. It does not wait, in this instance, for ivestigation of charges which so gravely compromise the Democratic party; but hastens at once to give them full faith and credit.

The Republican is evidently desperate. It is appearently reckless of its witness and of the peculiar circumstances of this important subject. "If however it can wait a few days, we do not doubt that its swift radical witness, already discredited, will be fully and officially exposed to the satisfaction of every honest and intelligent mind in the State."

Gov. Lindsay is even now preparing an authentic answer to ex Gov. Smith's charges showing him forth in his real character, first as the tool of Stanton in issuing the bonds and last as the tool of Stanton in seeking their repudiation!

If this little Smith Stanton game were not so very apparent, somebody besides our Jacksonville neighbor might have been deceived thereby. But as it is who would believe Smith after such a foul confession? Who believes any thing on the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice? Who credits him with any concern for the honor and interest of the State?

It is simply puerile to talk of "the Legislature evading the responsibility." They acted with a full knowledge of the reality of the situation. They passed an act after long investigation and able debate which signed by the Governor, became the law of the land. The Governor has duly executed that law and made payments to bona fide creditors in strict accordance with it. No over issue, no premature issue of bonds by ex Governor Smith, has or will be recognized by the present Executive. He has done his duty in paying the interest due by law on the two millions state bonds, and on the four millions endorsed bonds in the possession of bona fide purchasers for a valuable consideration. He has refused to recognize the premature issue of legal bonds as well as the over issue of endorsed bonds. He has paid none that were not legally valid and binding. Indeed, Gov. Lindsay had too much character or desire to repudiate any obligation of the State. He has two much common sense to give Stanton a quit claim against the mortgage of the State.

As the representative of the honesty and intelligence of Alabama, the Governor will satisfy the valid claims of our bona fide creditors and in due time proceed upon the A. & C. for indemnification.

We therefore advise our so called repudiating friends in the Democratic party to possess their souls in patience. The so called fools and thieves are no longer in power, but the administration is in the hands of our own people.

Huntsville Independent.

It will be observed that both the papers quoted above, in alluding to a previous article in the Republican, containing a good word for Governor Lindsay and what they term an "assault" upon the Legislature, most unfairly judge us.

The Advertiser, while commending that portion relating to Gov. Lindsay, concludes with an expression of astonishment that we should be "desirous" of covering our paper with the "odium of being an original repudiationist." It smiles while it stabs.

The Huntsville Independent (as usual) echoes the sentiments of the Advertiser, though it does not so clearly express them, with the additional announcement that the Republican is the "only organ of the so-called repudiators in this (its) section, which claims [the italics are our's] to belong to the Democratic party" That independent (?) journal further takes us to task for giving credence to Smith's statements which, it thinks, "so gravely compromise the Democratic party," and then launches out, generally, in a wild defence of Gov. Lindsay, as if we had been abusing that gentleman.

We shall not consume much space in defining our position on the bond question, any more; for we trust our subscribers understand pretty well how we stand on that, and they are pretty nearly all that we care about. So far from desiring to cover the Republican with the "odium of being an original repudiationist," we, in the article those papers have taken for a text, and in other articles, have used the term as either of them would print the word "rebel"—in quotations—as an obnoxious word, applied unjustly.

As regards the status of our paper in this portion of Alabama, we believe we are with every paper here, except the Independent, one or two papers along the line of Stanton's Road, and possibly one other.

We took the statements of Smith, because we could not believe that any man would make such, so damaging to his honor, unless they were true. The only fear we had concerning them was that they did not contain the whole truth.—What they did reveal regarding the over-issue of bonds, was afterwards substantiated by Gov. Lindsay, in his letter detailing the result of his investigations. How Smith's charges could, by any possibility, "gravely compromise the Democratic party," we cannot see. Perhaps the Independent meant to say Radical party.

And now for the charge, more specifically made by the Advertiser, that we have made an "ill-natured assault" upon our Legislature. If we have done so, the deeper penetration of the Advertiser discovers more in our articles than we can see or intended to put there. So far from regarding the Legislature in the light the Advertiser would make us, we highly respect that body, and believe the Democratic members to have been actuated, in the course they pursued in relation to the Stanton bonds, by good motives; but we believe they were mistaken, and we have the right to so say without being chargeable with hostility to them. If "five-sixths" makes a right and the remaining sixth is a wrong; then according to such mathematics, the North was right, in our late conflict, and the South was wrong—an assumption the Advertiser is ever ready to dispute. If it is to be a repudiationist to say that we had rather have seen a fuller investigation before payment than was had or can, NOW, be had; if it be treason to party to criticise, temperately, the course of our Democratic members of the Legislature; if it be an "ill-natured assault" to tell our Representatives a fact they should ever bear in mind: that is, that they are the servants of the people and responsible to them—then we plead guilty to "repudiation," "treason to party" and "assault" with intent to kill.

The Communication of "Justice"

We republish, this week, the communication of "Justice" criticising Gov. Lindsay's action in the payment of the Stanton Bonds, that it may appear in corrected form—as it was written by its distinguished and talented author; and while doing so, we will now print some remarks upon it, that were crowded out last week.

"JUSTICE" concludes, as we take it, (1st) that the Act authorizing investigation and payment by the Governor, was ample in its provisions, and that the Governor displayed carelessness in carrying out those provisions; or that he misconstructed the act, and hence, arrived at a "most lame and impotent conclusion."

In an article the previous week, we took the ground that Gov. Lindsay did no more nor no less than he was required to do under that act; and that whatever may not have been satisfactory to the tax payers, in the transaction, was more due to the defects of the act itself, than to any act of Gov. Lindsay under its provisions. This we will endeavor to show in alluding to one or two points in the article of "Justice."

"JUSTICE" objects (1) to the character of evidence accepted by Gov. Lindsay, and (2) to the course pursued by him in going to New York to carry on the investigation he was required by the act to set on foot.

Previous acts of the Legislature granting aid to Railroads, (It is immaterial to this question whether they comprehended Stanton's Road or not; for if not the enactment in question cured the defect) required the Governor of the State, in event of default on the part of any of the Roads to pay the interest on Bonds issued under their provisions. This interest was to be paid in New York, so the Governor construed it. Stanton's default made the test case. That there was some interest to be paid nobody denied. How much was an unascertained fact. The Steele bill required the Governor to ascertain the amount of this interest and pay it. In obedience to this the Governor went to the men who could furnish him the necessary information. He had to go to them, because he could not compel them to come to him; for the Act, while shoving on to him the work of a Legislative committee, left him without the power of such a committee—to send for persons and papers &c. Hence, his trip to New York, where the sellers and agents of the buyers resided. Had he remained in his office "waiting for something to turn up" until the bondholders had instituted suit, (maybe at an immense cost to the State,) and have only paid the interest when compelled to do so at the end of the law, he would have been violating both the law, as set forth in the act last alluded to, and his oath of office; for the one made a requirement upon him (to investigate) and the other demanded compliance with that requirement.

In complying with the provision of the Act requiring him to set an investigation on foot he naturally went to the men who should have known most about it—the sellers and the buyers of the bonds. Their statements, voluntarily sworn to, was the very best he could do. They were presumed to know more about the transaction than anybody else; in fact, the only men possibly who may have known anything about it; for it was a business transaction simply between firms, and Gov. Smith had confessed himself in a muddle. But, says "Justice" the letter of Smith points to material evidence in his possession. Well, but how could Gov. Lindsay have got at this? He could not have compelled that man to submit these to his inspection; and even if Smith had done so, the correspondence of those parties, as given by Smith in his letter to Gov. Lindsay, revealed only such a state of facts as the parties to whom he went in New York revealed by their voluntary testimony. And if Gov. Lindsay had believed that they were swearing lies, and all rogues together, (Smith and the whole batch) what more faith could he have put in the correspondence exhibited than in their sworn statements? If they would have suppressed the truth in their statements to Gov. Lindsay, would not they have likely kept back all that portion of the correspondence that would have compromised them farther than their testimony had already done, supposing such correspondence to have been in existence?

If Smith was actually, endeavoring to render "honest men their dues" and was actually at "outs" with the parties mentioned in his letter to Gov. Lindsay, is it not presumable that he revealed in that letter all the material correspondence in his possession? It is due to Gov. Lindsay's honesty and sound judgment to suppose that he weighed all these facts and took the very best proof attainable. When he had done this he had discharged his duty under the law and payment necessarily followed. He had no power to refuse that.

In the language of the Governor, he "complied with the letter and spirit of the law"—in our opinion; and in saying this for the Governor we do not wish to be understood as endorsing the arrangement that was finally effected. What was done, unsatisfactory to the tax payers, was due more to the defects of the law under which he acted, than to anything he himself did.

For the REPUBLICAN.

THE FRAUDULENT BONDS.

Gov. Lindsay has come out with an explanation of the reasons which induced him to direct the payment by the State of the interest on the two million direct, and four millions of endorsed bonds paid to the A. & C. Railroad.

We can not think his reasons entirely satisfactory, or that he has fully carried out the "letter and spirit" of the law under which he acted. The investigation before the Legislature satisfied that body that these bonds were fraudulently issued, and void in the hands of the original holders; but that the State was in honor bound to pay the interest on such of the bonds as had passed into the possession of bona fide purchasers for a valuable consideration.

By the act approved March 3rd, it is enacted "that no interest shall be paid on any of said bonds not proved to have been held on the 1st of January 1871, by innocent and bona fide purchasers." The burden of proof was on the holders of the bonds, claiming to be bona fide purchasers, not on the Governor. The Legislature certainly never intended that the Governor should leave the capitol of the State, and start off in a "wild hunt" after innocent bond holders. Such a course was unwise and undignified, at least, on the part of his Excellency.

The proof required should have come from the other parties, from those claiming to be bona fide purchasers of the bonds. This is in accordance with law, common sense, and the "letter and spirit" of the act.

Again it is fair to presume that Gov. Lindsay had received the letter of ex-Gov. Smith, addressed to him April 3d. Ample time had elapsed for him to do so. Now although in a criminal case, the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice may be insufficient to convict, yet in civil cases, the rule is different. Besides ex-Gov. Smith's letter points clearly to most important proof in his possession—the correspondence of the Directors of the Road, and their financial agents. He points to other material witnesses for the Governor & states facts which strongly show that the house of Erlanger & Co. were "particeps criminis" in with the Directors of the Road and Soutter & Co. their financial agents, in the fraudulent issue, and sale of these bonds.

Under these circumstances it is a little strange that Gov. Lindsay should have examined no other witnesses than the very parties implicated in the fraud. He first called on Soutter & Co. and was so overpowered with their wonderful condescension, in furnishing him with a sworn statement, from their books, that he at once jumped to the conclusion: "It is all right." How these Bankers must have chuckled over the effect of their politeness and blandishments, as well as the easy credulity of the Governor. They probably sat down and wrote to Stanton after the fashion of their letters of April 19th, 1870:

"We are now in a very snug condition.—The State will pay all or nearly all the interest on the bonds." The next witness called upon by Gov. Lindsay, is a German Banker by the name of August Goettel, an agent as he represents himself to be, of Erlanger & Co. Heretofore Braunfels appears as their agent; but he now, mysteriously disappears, and Goettel turns up. Braunfels "had put his foot in it" in his examination before the Legislature. Goettel comes right up to the scratch and swears the two million bonds straight through, and the interest into the coffers of his house.

This is the evidence on the two million bonds. Gov. Lindsay does not inform us what evidence he had about the four millions of endorsed bonds. The presumption is that it was not as strong as the above; for the Governor would evidently select his best and strongest case for his own vindication. The whole course of Gov. Lindsay was unusual, first, in leaving the capitol; secondly, in shifting the onus of proof from the bond holders to the State; thirdly, instead of investigating, to call only upon the parties interested and implicated in the fraud—entirely ignoring, not only the testimony of ex-Gov. Smith, (who seems disposed to make a clean breast of it,) but all the materials and instruments of proof furnished him by Smith's letter. The testimony of the parties even is altogether ex parte—an affidavit drawn up by their Lawyers and sworn to by them. This is investigating with a vengeance! We think the reflecting "solid men" of the State, out of whose pockets this large amount of interest on fraudulent bonds must be drawn, will say that Gov. Lindsay has come to a "most lame and impotent conclusion," and that his action in the premises can not meet with their approbation.

Address of Democratic Congressmen to the People of the United States.

We publish this morning the address put forth by the Democratic members of Congress to the people of the United States. It is a timely document and presents an arraignment of the Republican party that cannot fail to make an impression upon the people.

Every charge in the bill can be sustained by facts, and if the intelligence of the country fails to convict the Radical powers, then we have no farther hope for our liberties.

Address of Democratic Congressmen to the People of the United States.

WASHINGTON, April 20, 1871.

The Democrats in Congress have just issued the following address:—

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES:

Our presence and official duties at Washington have enabled us to become fully acquainted with the actions and designs of those who control the radical party, and we feel called upon to utter a few words of warning against the alarming strides they have made towards the centralization of power in the hands of Congress and the Executive. The time and attention of the radical leaders have been almost wholly directed to devising such legislation as will, in their view, best preserve their ascendancy, and no regard for the wise restraints imposed by the constitution has checked their reckless and desperate career.

DICTATORIAL POWERS CONFERRED ON THE PRESIDENT.

The President of the United States has been formally announced as a candidate for re-election. The declarations of his selfish supporters have been echoed by a subsidized press, and the discipline of party has already made adhesions to his personal fortunes the supreme test of political fealty. The partisan legislation to which we refer was decreed and shaped in secret caucus, where the extremest counsels have dominated, and was adopted by a subservient majority, if not with the intent, certainly with the effect, to place in the hands of the President power to command his own renomination and to employ the army, navy and militia, at his sole discretion, as a means of subserving his personal ambition. When the sad experience of the last two years, so disappointing to the hopes and generous confidence of the country, is considered, in connection with the violent utterances and harsh purposes of those who control the President's policy, it is not surprising that the gravest apprehension for the future peace of the nation should be entertained.

PARTISANSHIP THE TEST.

At a time when labor is depressed and every material interest is paisied by oppressive taxation, the public offices have been multiplied beyond all precedent to serve as instruments in the perpetuation of power, partisanship is the only test applied to the distribution of this vast patronage. Honesty, fitness and moral worth are openly discarded in favor of truckling submission and dishonorable compliance; hence enormous defalcations and widespread corruption have followed as the natural consequences of this pernicious system. By the official report of the Secretary or the Treasury it appears that after the deduction of all proper credits many millions of dollars remain due from ex-collectors of the internal revenue, and that no proper diligence has ever been used to collect them

REFORMS PERSISTENTLY POSTPONED.

Reforms in the revenue and fiscal system, which all experiences demonstrate to be necessary to a frugal administration of the government, as well as a measure of relief to an over burdened people, have been persistently postponed or wilfully neglected Congress now adjourns without even having attempted to reduce taxation or to repeal the glaring imposition by which industry is crushed and impoverished. The Treasury is overflowing, and an excess of eighty million dollars of revenue is admitted; and yet instead of some measure of present relief, a barren and delusive resolution is passed by the Senate to consider the tariff and exercise systems hereafter, as if the history of broken pledges and pretended remedies furnished any better assurance for future legislation than experience has done in the past.

OPPRESSIVE TARIFF AND TAXATION.

Shipbuilding and the carrying trade—once sources of national pride and prosperity, now languish under a crushing load of taxation, and nearly every other business interest is struggling without profit to maintain itself.

Our agriculturists, while paying heavy taxes on all they consume, either to the government or to monopolists, find the prices for their own products so reduced that honest labor is denied its just reward, and industry is prostrated by invidious discrimination.

THE PUBLIC LANDS GIVEN TO MONOPOLIES.

Nearly one hundred millions of acres of public lands which should have been reserved for the benefit of the people have been voted away to giant corporations—neglecting our soldiers and enriching a handful of greedy speculators and lobbyists, who are thereby enabled to exercise a most dangerous and corrupting influence over State and federal legislation.

THE REPUBLIC IN DANGER—DANGERS FROM THE KU KLUX BILL.

If the career of these conspirators be not checked the downfall of free government is inevitable, and with it the elevation of a military dictator on the ruins of the republic. Under pretense of passing laws to enforce the fourteenth amendment, and for other purposes, Congress has conferred the most despotic powers upon the Executive, and provided an official machinery by which the liberties of the people are menaced and the sacred right of local self-government in the States is ignored, if not tyranically overthrown. Modelled up to the sediton laws, so odious in history, they are at variance with all the sanctified theories of our institutions. And the construction given by these radical interpreters to the fourteenth amendment is, to use the language of an eminent Senator, Mr. Trumbull, of Illinois, an "annihilator of States." Under the last enforcement bill "the Executive may, in his discretion thrust aside the government of any State, suspend the writ of habeas corpus," arrest its Government, imprison or disperse the Legislature, silence its judges and trample down its people under the armed heel of his troops. Nothing is left to the citizens or the State which can any longer be called a right, all is changed into mere sufferance.

THE PEOPLE APPEALED TO.

Our hopes for redress are in the calm good sense, the "sober second thought" of the American people. We call upon them to be true to themselves and to their past, and, disregarding party names and minor differences, to insist upon a decent equalization of power, the restriction of federal authority within its just and proper limits, leaving to the States that control over domestic affairs which is essential to their happiness and tranquility and good government. Everything that malicious ingenuity could suggest has been done to irritate the people of the Middle and Southern States: gross and exaggerated charges of disorder and violence owe their origin to the mischievous minds of political managers in the Senate and House of Representatives, to which the Executive has, we regret to say, lent his aid, and thus helped to inflame the popular feeling. In all this course of hostile legislation and harsh resentment no word of conciliation, of kind encouragement, of fraternal fellowship has ever been spoken by the President or by Congress to the people of the Southern States. They have been addressed only in the language of proscription.

VIOLENCE DEPRECATED.

We earnestly entreat our fellow citizens in all parts of the Union to spare no effort to maintain peace and order, to carefully protect the rights of every citizen, to preserve kindly relations among all men, and to discountenance and discourage any violations of the rights of any portion of the people secured under the Constitution, or any of its amendments. Let us, in conclusion, earnestly beg of you not to aid the present of Radical partizans to stir up strife in the land, to review the issues of the war, or to obstruct the return of peace and prosperity to the Southern States, because it is thus that they seek to divert attention of the people from the corruption and extravagance of their administration of public affairs, and the dangerous and profligate attempts they are making towards the creation of centralized military governments.

RADICAL EXTRAVAGANCE.

In the five years of peace following the war, the radical administrations have expended $1,200,000,000 for ordinary purposes alone, being within $200,000,000 of the aggregate amount spent for the same purpose in war and in peace, during the seventy-one years preceeding June 30, '61 not including in either case the sum paid upon principal or interest of the public debt.

It is trifling with the intelligence of the people for the Radical leaders to pretend that this vast sum has been honestly expended. Hundreds of millions of it have been wantonly squandred. The expenditures of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30 1861 were only $62,000 000, while for precisely the same purpose—civil list, army, navy, pensions and Indians—$164,000,000 were expended during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1870.

NO SYMPATHY WITH VIOLENCE.

No indignation can be too stern and no scorn too severe for the assertions by unscrupulous radical leaders that the great Democratic and Conservative party of the Union has or can have sympathy with disorders or violence in any part of country, or in the deprivation of any man of his rights under the Constitution.

RIGHTS TO BE PROTECTED AND PERPETUATED.

It is to protect the rights which every man cherishes, to revive in all hearts the feeling of friendship, affection and harmony, which are the best gurantees of law & order, and to throw around the humblest citizen, where he may be, the protecting ægis of these safeguards of personal liberty which the fundamental laws of this land assure, that we invoke the aid of all good men in the work of peace and conciliation; we invite their generous co-operation, irrespective of all former differences of opinion; so that the harsh voice of discord may be relieved: that a new and dangerous sectional agitation may be checked, that the burdens of taxation, indirect, may be reduced to the lowest point consistent with good faith to every just national obligation, and with a strictly economical administration of the government, and that the States may be restored in their integrity and true relations to our Federal Union.

GRANT'S KU KLUX PROCLAMATION.

Another step towards Imperialism

The plot Thickens.

The President has issued the following proclamation:

"The Act of Congress entitled an Act to enforce the provisions of of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and for other purposes, approved April 20, A. D. 1871; being a law of extraordinary public importance I consider it my duty to issue this my proclamation calling the attention of the people of the United States thereto, enjoining upon all good citizens and especially upon all public officers, to be zealous in the enforcement thereof, and warning all persons to abstain from committing any acts thereby prohibited. This law of Congress applies to all parts of the United States, and will be enforced everywhere to the extent of the powers vested in the Executive. But inasmuch as the necessity therefor is well known to have been caused chiefly by the persistent violation of the rights of citizens of the United States by combinations of lawless and disaffected persons in certain localities, lately the theatre of insurrection and military conflict. I do particularly exhort the people of those parts of the country to suppress all such combinations by their own voluntary efforts through the agency of civil law, and to maintain the rights of all citizens of the United States, and to secure to all such citizens the equal protection of the laws.

Fully sensible of the responsibility imposed upon the Executive by the act of Congress to which public attention is now called, and reluctant to call into exercise any of the extraordinary powers thereby conferred upon me except in cases of imperative necessity, I do, neverthless, deem it my duty to make known that I will not hesitate to exhaust the power thus vested in the Executive, whenever and wherever it shall become necessary to do so for the purpose of securing to all citizens of the United States the peaceful enjoyment of the rights guranteed to them by the Constitution and laws. It is my earnest wish that peace and cheerful obedience to law may prevail throughout the land, and that all traces of our late unhappy civil strife may be speedily removed. These ends can be easily reached by acquiescence in the result of the conflict now written in our Constitution and by the due and proper enforcement of equal, just and impartial laws in every part of the country.

The failure of local communities to furnish such means for the attainment of results so earnestly desired, imposes upon the National Government the duty of putting forth all its energies for the protection of its citizens of every race and color, and for the restoration of peace and order throughout the entire country.

"In testimony whereof I have caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington, this 3rd day of May, A. D. 1871. and of the Indepence of the United States the 9th.

Signed U. S. GRANT."

The Ohio Legislature has adjourned.

The Peasant and Lawyer.

Translated from the French of Emile Souvastre for Moore's Rural New Yorker.

Cities have their individuality as well as men manufacturing or maritime, intelligent or frivolous they always reveal by their physignomy the nature of their inhabitants.—Go through Rouen, Lyons, Brest or trasbourg, and looks around you. Everything which strikes your eye will be a revelation of tastes and habits: the history of each population will be found as one might say written in the streets.—One is especially struck with this truth in visiting Rennes. To see its grand edifices, with their magisterial air, its promenades, with scarcely here and there some pensive reader, you recognize at once the capital of old Breton Duchy, the old seat of Parliaments, the city of study, were all the thoughtful youths of the province come to cultivate their minds, for the prevalent air of Rennes is gravity; the whole city is calm and severe as a judgment hall, and indeed it is the dwelling place of the law. There you find its temple, its high priests and its most fervent worshippers. They resort hither from the most remote parts of Brittany to seek counsel. To come to Rennes without consulting a lawyer appears as impossible to a Breton as it would have been to a Greek to pass the temple of Delphos without interrogating the Pythoness.

This was as true towards the end of the last century as it is to-day, and especially of the peasants, a race rendered timid by experience and accustomed to take precautions. So then it happened, one day, that a farmer, having come to Rennes for some bargain, concluded after his business was finished, that as he still had some hours of leisure, it would be well for him to employ them in consulting a lawyer. He had often heard M Potier de la Germondaie spoken of, whose reputation was so great that a cause was deemed already gained, if it were supported by his opinion. The peasant asked his adress and repaired to him in St. George street. The clients were numerous, and Bernard had to wait a long time; at last his turn came and he was introduced. M. Potier de la Germondaie signed to him to sit down, laid his spectacles on the desk, and asked what he came for.

"Faith! Mr. Advocate," said the farmer, twisting his hat, "I have heard so much talk of you that, as I was here, I thought I would take the chance of consulting you."

"I thank you for your confidence my friend,' said M. Germondaie; "you have some suit, I suppose?"

"Suit? I abominate them, and Peter Bernard never had a word with anybody."

"Then it is settlement, a family division?"

"Excuse me, Mr. Advocate; my family and myself have never had any division to make, seeing we eat out of the same cupboard; as they say."

"It concerns some purchase or sale then?"

"Oh, no indeed! I am not rich enough to buy nor yet poor enough to have to sell out."

"But what do you want with me, then?" asked the astonished lawyer.

"Oh, well! I have told you, sir," replied Bernard, with a loud, embarrassed laugh. "I want an opinion—for money understand—because I am here, at Rennes, and must profit by the occasion."

M. Germondaie, took a pen and paper, and asked his name,

"Peter Bernard," said he, happy to be understood at last.

"Your age?"

"Thirty years or near about."

"Your profession?"

"My profession?—oh, yes; what I do? I am a armer."

The lawyer wrote two lines, folded the paper and handed it to his strange client.

"Is it finished already?" cried Bernard; "oh, well!—that's lucky; I say. How much is it worth, this opinion, Mr. Lawyer?"

"Three francs."

Bernard paid without complaint, scraped his foot and went out, enchanted with having profited by the occasion.

When he reached home it was already four o'clock. The trip had tired him, and he went in determind to rest. However his hay had been cut two days before, and was completely dry. One of his boys came to ask if he must bring it in "This evening?" interrupted the farmer's wife, who had joined her husband; "it would be a shame to go to work so late, when you could do it to-morrow without tiring youself." The boy remarked that the weather might change, that the teams were ready and the hands unemployed. The wife replied that the wind was from a good quarter, and that the night would soon interrupt them.

Bernard, listening to both sides, did not know how to decide, when suddenly recollected the lawyer's paper.

"Stop a minute," cried he, "I have got an 'opinion' here; it is from a famous man, and cost me three francs. That ought to settle it. Let us see. Therese, tell us what it says, you who can read all writing.

The wife took the paper and read, hesitatingly, these two lines:

"Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day."

"There it is," cried Bernard, struck with a ray of light.—"Come, get the carts, quick!—Girls, boys, let us get in the hay."

Still his wife tried to make objections, but he declared that people did not buy an "opinion for three francs for nothing, and they must follow the lawyer's advice. He himself set the example at the head of his laborers, and worked until all the hay was got in. The event seemed sent on purpose to prove the wisdom of his conduct, for the weather changed during the night, a sudden storm burst over the village, and the next day at dawn they perceived the river overflowing the meadows and carrying off the new mown hay. The harvests of all the neighboring farmers were completely destroyed. Bernard alone lost nothing. This first experience gave him such faith in the lawyer's opinion that from that day he took it for the rule of his conduct, and became, thanks to his regularity and diligence, one of the richest farmer's of the country. He never forgot, either, the service M. Germondaie had rendered him, but carried him every year from gratitude.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills.

Component Parts—Fluid Extrac Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

H

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not disolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

The Great Diuretic,

has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, irritation of the neck of the Bladder and inflammation of the Kidneys ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, retention of urine, diseases of the prostate Gland, stone in the Bladdor, Calculus gravel, Brickdust deposit, and Mucous or milky discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms. Indisposition to exertion, loss of power, loss of memory, difficulty of breathing, weak nerves, trembling horror of disease, wakefulness, dimness of vision, pain in the back, hot hands, flushing of the body, dryness of the skin, eruption on the face, pallid countenance, universal lassitude of the muscular system, etc.

Used by persons from the age of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bedwetting in children.

B

Helmbold's Extract Buchu is diuretic and Blood-purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these dissases used in connection with Helmbold's Rose Wash

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to ladies, the Extract Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy—as in chlorosis or retention, irregularity, painfulness or suppression of customary evacuations, ulcerated or schirrus state of the uterus, leucorrhœa white, or sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent physicians and midwives for infebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

Cures diseases arising from imprudences, habits of dissipation, etc., in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringent," been dried up in the system of break out in a more aggravated form as, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Price one dollar and fifty cents per bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates pimples, spots, scorbutic dryness, indurations of the cutaneous membrane etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restores the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a toilet appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula these prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the Extracts Buchu, Sarsaparilla, and Catawba Grape Pills, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. Price one dollar per bottle.

MONDAY MAY 1, 1871.

Council Chamber.

Present.—

Wm. Dean, J. D. Privett, L. W. Grant, Ed L. Woodward, and Joe S. Montgomery, Councilmen.

The Intendent being absent, J. D. Privett was called to the chair.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

A written proposition was received from J. M. Carroll to bring water from the town spring to the public square.—After informal discussion, the proposition was taken under consideration, to be acted on at a future meeting.

On motion, a committee was appointed to make a survey and ascertain the distance between the mountain spring and the public square; also to furnish specifications and receive bids to bring water from both springs.

On motion a committee was appointed to draft a form and have 300 tax lists printed.

Adjourned.

JOE S. MONTGOMERY, Sec'y.

The Chattanooga TIMES, (Stanton's [illegible] organ) notices officially [illegible] that the Democrats of the New [York] Legislature bought one Winans, a Republican member, so as to give them a majority, for $75,000 in cash and a soft place on the Erie Rail Road for five years. This reminds us that somebody bought up our entire Radical Legislature, Governor and all; and that many of them now have soft places on the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad.

The Rome Commercial establishment has bought out the Rome Daily and will hereafter run both offices, we presume, in one. This will largely increase the circulation of the Commercial and render it more desirable than ever as an advertising medium. The Commercial deserves all the success imaginable.

The Chattanooga TIMES thinks it takes brains as well as money to build such a road as the Alabama & Chattanooga.

"And when the money runs short," the Editor might have added, "another qualification is requisite, and that is, the Yankee brass and impudence that will actually negotiate for and buy up a corrupt legislature." No $2,000,000, no Railroad.

The wheat crop in this county is reported as not doing so well as might be desired.

The dispatches inform us that the creditors of the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad are forcing it into bankruptcy. This is another page in the chapter of villainy that has marked the dealings of this Yankee company with our State from the time it carpetbagged among us. If the Road is successful in bankrupting, the State will loose very heavily. Of course the friends of the Road are the "creditors" who are forcing the bankruptcy.

On the evening previous we received a nicely written invitation to attend the May-day supper, given at the Academy, by the Children of our Female School. The affair was recherche, the table being most richly spread and the happy children dressed faultlessly. The evening passed most delightfully with every one present. We were about to express the wish that life might be all May-day with them; but a fragment from a most beautiful poem, entitled "The Children" expresses it better.

"I ask not a life for the dear ones,
All radiant, as others have done,
But, that life may have just enough shadow,
To temper the glare of the sun."

We omitted to mention, last week, the "stag party" at the residence of Mr. Morris. The "stags," told us they had a most elegant time. "Mighty fine eating," said one hungry fellow, who was waiting on it. Well they may have had, but married man as we are, we can't see where the fine time came in without the [illegible]. It seems to us that a party without [illegible] would be like sweetmeats with the sugar left out.

Prof. A. Craig lectured in the Court House some nights ago on Phrenology, the Pacific Slope &c. Some of the crowd didn't like his style and pitched him over an egg or two, just to settle his coffee with. The Professor turned out not to be a very "pacific" character and next day "went for" one of the party whom he had identified, with a very large sized Navy revolver. He didn't get a chance to let it off; but in the course of his proceedings he violated the ordinances of the town. This he was appraised of and before trial time came "sloped" in real earnest.

Joking aside though, we do most heartily condemn such treatment of strangers, as he was subjected to, the night of his lecture. It is not hospitality. If people go to any kind of an exhibition or lecture and do not like it, the best plan is to leave. If imposters come along the better way is to leave them empty houses.

The spring fights continue with unabated vigor. Several fine old Irish shindies have contributed to enliven the dulness of the times, lately.

A "cullied man" and a white man put up with our Marshal at the Calaboose on Wednesday evening and remained with him until morning. The Mayor found out next morning that the negro had been "cussin" too near private houses and that the white man had been "cutting up powerful." The white man was proven to be insane.

The improvement of the streets continue under the management of our Marshal, Tom and our mule. If that mule goes on like he is doing, and will only quit "blowing" so, we will have a better opinion of him.

Grady of the Rome Commercial, indicates by their initials all the belles of the recent excursion party except one, and hopes she will excuse him for suppressing those of her name. The sly dog. He knew all the rest of the unmentioned ones would appropriate that part of the paragraph to herself. That boy knows too much.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Shulman, Goetter & Weil, Wholesale and Retail Dry Doods and Grocery Merchants, Montgomery, Ala. We have heretofore spoken in deserved terms of commendation of this house. Since then we have been shown through their immense establishment and have seen ample evidences of the mammoth business they carry on. Their sales amount, we understand to something like one million dollars a year. Their patrons express the highest gratification at their fair and liberal manner of dealing. We commend them to the patronage of our people.

In addition to our notice last week of the advertisement of B. L. Wyman Dealer in Hardware, Agricultural Implements &c., Montgomery, Ala., we desire to say that we have recently had personal dealings with this gentleman to the amount of over one hundred Dollars and found him fair in the representation of quality, reasonable in price and prompt in the shipment of goods, and we have no hesitancy in saying that he will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who order goods from this section. His Agricultural Implements are in great variety and of the very latest, most improved and valuable styles.

ERRATA—Several typographical errors occurred in the last number of the Republican. the types made us spell "regime," regiem—they also made us accuse the old mule of being employed in helping build Fort Morgan. The portion stating that he was still in service at the Front during the war was left out. Other errors occurred in the communication of "JUSTICE" which we this week correct.

It may be proper, as two communications appeared in the Republican, over the same assumed name, last week, to say that they were not written by one and the same gentlemen.

We acknowledge, with thanks, the receipt of an invitation to attend the late Excursion party gotten up by the citizens of Rome, as well as the Lecture at the City Hall and the Supper at the Rooms of the Rome Historical and Library Association that followed. None but the Romans know how to make grand successes of everything they undertake—none so hospitable—none more intelligent and refined.

Recent heavy rains have damaged many Southern Railroads to a large extent but more particularly the Alabama and Chattanooga Road. Whereas, that Road would have been completed in four more working days, now, it will not be completed within from two to four weeks. We are sorry of this; for it is probable that the completion of the Road will give an entirely different turn to the newspaper discussion concerning the Stanton Bond question. We allude to the probable course of the Governor, then, under the law.

The Andes Fire Insurance Company's stock is worth $1,20 in the Dollar says the Cincinnatti papers. Billy Alexander is the agent at this place.

Several of our lawyers have gone to attend Court at Gadsden. On the third week the great Hall murder case will be called. Judge Mudd will preside that this object may be effected.

ANSWER TO ENQUIRER.—A friend has handed us the following answer to the mathematical question proposed, in a previous number of the REPUBLICAN by "Enquirer:"

Multiply 12 and 7-11 into itself—Result, 159 10-11. This is as accurate a result as can be reached, making allowance for infintissimal reduction of the fraction. 160 is not a perfect square and the nearest approximation is 12 7-11 multiplied into itself.

E. L. Woodward Son has just received a fine lot of new and beautiful style Hats.

Bear in Mind.

When disease has undermined the health, and the physical system has become prostrated, a stimulant that will not only strengthen but remove the cause, should be immediately resorted to. Mental distress is also a fruitful source of the breaking down of the constitution, and the ravages of this enemy to health are truly alarming. For all such maladies Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have been found unsurpassed. By acting directly upon the digestive organs, they remove the heavy, disagreeable feeling after eating, so often complained of by persons of a delicate temperament. As soon as digestion is restored, the patient finds his strength increasing, and his general health improved.

Thousands of persons certify that it may be relied on in all cases of weakness or nervous debility attendant upon sedentary habits. The generality of Bitters are so disagreeable to the taste that they are objectionable to a weak stomach. This is not the case with Hostetter's Bitters, which will be found mild and extremely pleasant. Balsamic plants, barks and roots contribute their restorative juices to render it soothing and strengthening. Its basis is the only pure stimulant which has ever been produced, containing no fusil oil, or any other deleterious element. The most careful and skillful chemists have analyzed the Bitters, and pronounce them harmless. This is scientific testimony; but the testimony of the hundreds of thousands who have experienced the preventive and curative effects of the Great Vegetable Tonic and Alterative of modern times is still more conclusive. In Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Billiousness, Nervous Complaints, Chronic Complaints and general debility it is as nearly infallible as anything in this fallible world can be.

POSITIVELY LAST NOTICE.

Beauty.

The largest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is afforded in the Parlor Album, advertised in another column. This Album embraces the finest specimens of chromo lithographs, steel engravings and fine wood engravings ever afforded the public. The American Publishing Company of Rutland Vt., desire an active agent in every town and village, to whom they offer liberal terms. Read the advertisement of PARLOR ALBUM.

Among the Indians.—Lieut. Herdon tells us that no tribes of aborigines are found in the deepest forest, of South America, from the Andes to the Atlantic coast, that do not have and use Doct. Ayer's medicines and lowell cottons. "Teramont," "Suffolk," "Boot," are seen stamped in large red and blue letters upon their garments, while Ayer's Pills and Cherry Pectoral are among the treasures of the habitations. Their native soil furnishes them all their food and most of their remedies, but they suffer from some afflictions which must have the interposition of higher skill. [Sentinel, Liberty, Va.

Versallies, May 1.—A large number of troops moved towards Paris to-day as reinforcements to the army of investment.

Editors of all moderate journals in Paris have been ordered prossicuted, by Commune, and are leaving the city as rapidly as possible.

Private telegraphing in Paris again entirely stopped.

Rossel, in accepting the insurgent ministry of war, says "he shall have need of absolute co-operation of Commune troops and the people of Paris."

The provisional elections in all parts of France, have resulted in the choice of conservative Republicans.

The negotiations for the surrender of Issy failed. The bombardment was renewed, and is now very violent.

An Interior View of the Commune Government of Paris.

From a Private Letter Communicated to The Sun.

Paris, April 19.—We went to Neuilly on Friday evening after the battle, but experienced so much trouble and met with such an indecent reception from the Communists that we returned immediately without bringing in any wounded. The rascals seized all our wagons, at which I am not particularly grieved, as Mr. Obus now tumbles round our ambulance ground all the time. Moreover, the insurgents are very rough, and make no bones about insulting and maltreating any one they come across. They walk into any house and seize whatever they please. They have become reckless and rabid too, I guess, perhaps from eating too much dog during the siege. The respectable part of the community is completely cowed. I am confident that were a full vote taken to-day as to who should rule, Napoleon would receive the majority.

Napoleon and his policy could have no better justification than what has lately transpired. I think I wrote you that the Commune had passed a law releasing tenants from paying their rent. As I have received no pay for four months, I endorse this one act of theirs. The day after the publication of the law the office of the Commissaire was invaded by a host of persons anxious to avail themselves of it. The scene was most ludicrous. The tenants, among whom were cocottes, ladies of the highest respectability, litterateurs artistes, students, &c., sat down on one side of the room, and on the other all the Mr. and Mrs. Traddles. If you could have witnessed the scene that ensued, I think you would have killed yourself with laughter.

The Commissaire at first heard both sides, and in every instance decided in favor of the tenant. But this promised to take up too much time; so at last he called us all in and said that the majesty of the law must be upheld; that we were to demand our trunks and report any insubordinate propriétaires. One stupid woman began to thank him, saying she was much pleased at this, as she did not think the Commune would last long if it went on that way.

"What!" thundered the Commissaire, "do you pretend, Madame, to say that the best government the world ever saw elected by the people, will not exist?"

"Sir, I only stated that my impression ——"

"Madame, be kind enough not to state your impression."

"I beg pardon, sir, I merely repeated what I had heard."

"Madame, I don't want to hear any such repetitions. The Commune has been elected by the people and must be eternal. You know what you have to do."

Whitfield and the Thunder Storm—On one occasion, Mr. Whitfield was preaching in Boston, on the wonders of creation, providence and redemption, when a violent tempest of thunder and lightning came on. In the midst of the sermon it attained to so alarming a height that the congregation sat in almost breathless awe.—The preacher closed his notebook, and stepped into one of the wings of the desk, fell on his knees, and with much feeling and fine taste, repeated:

"Hark! the Eternal reads the sky!
A mighty voice before him goes—
A voice of music to his friends,
But threatening thunder to his foes.
Come, children, to your Father's arms;
Hide in the chambers of my grave,
Till the fierce storm be overthrown,
And my revenging fury cease."

One of the most remarkable personal encounters on record occurred recently at Jefferson Texas, resulting in the death of two notorious ruffians. One shot the other fatally through the body and then ran. The dying man pursued, without heeding the hand of death upon him, or the eternity upon whose brink he reeled, and with his last agonies of exertion emptied his revolver at his enemy, inflicting wounds which proved instantly fatal, after which he himself almost instantly expired.

CONSUMPTION,

Its Cure and Its Preventive,

BY J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

MANY a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy needs no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Seawood Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathizing" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION,

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND,"

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seawood Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chilification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exasperation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! the rotten throne it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or the womanhood that was,

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost imposible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in the section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough fever, pain and night sweats began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength and have grown in flesh ever since."

'I was weighed shortly after my recovery,' added the Doctor, "then looked like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a curer of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a propphylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seawood Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

WANTED AGENTS—$75 to $200 per month—everywhere, male and female, to introduce the Genuine Improved Common Sense Family Sewing Machine. This Machine will stitch, hem, fell, tuck, bind, braid, cord, quilt and embroider in a most superior manner. Price only $15. Fully warranted for five years. We will pay $1,000 for any machine that will sew a stronger, more beautiful or more elastic seam than ours. It makes the "Elastic Lock Stitch." Every second stitch can be cut, and still the cloth cannot be pulled apart without tearing it. We pay Agents $75 to $200 per month and expenses, or a commission from which twice that amount can be made.

For Circulars and Terms, apply or address, J. W. ROGERS & CO., 402 Library St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Caution.—Do not be imposed upon by other parties palming off worthless cast-iron machines under the same name or otherwise. Ours is the only genuine and really practical cheap machine manufactured.

NEAR CEDAR BLUFF Feb., 28, 1871.

Messrs. J. & S. Bones, Dear Sir:

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear fo my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in eleven minutes. I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time. I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

Dec. 14, 1869. Sup't.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published: which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cts.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing the publishers.

Also Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the Publishers.

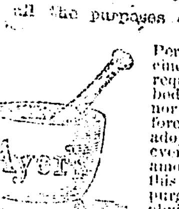
Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative [illegible]



Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends; and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

[illegible] are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings [illegible] and frequent doses [illegible] purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be [illegible] produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to [illegible] the stomach.

[illegible] stimulates the stomach and [illegible] action, restores the appetite, [illegible] system. Hence it is often advantageous [illegible] derangement exists. [illegible] finds that a [illegible] feel decidedly better [illegible] cleansing and renovating effect on [illegible].

PARLOR ALBUM
IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.
Price $9.00 per volume or
$40.00 PER SET COMPLETE,

Description of the Work.

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published and, by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 260 pages of reading matter descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one half as thick, and same sized pages, of Websters largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired.

Sold by Subscription, Only.

Vol. I, Is devoted to Wild American Birds.
Vol. II, Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III, American Domesticated Birds and Animals.
Vol. IV, Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V, Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter, be complete without this addition to its treasures; while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

Agents Wanted.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful SPECIMEN BOOK FOR AGENTS containing 5 of the Oil Chromos, 10 Steel Engravings, 10 Wood Engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c., &c.

Our Specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply and address,

CONSUMPTION,

Its Cure and Its Preventive,

BY J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

MANY a human being has passee away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

DR. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy needs no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Seawood Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathizing" with the stomack. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION,

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND,"

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seawood Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chilification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exascerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! the rotten throne it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or the womanhood that was,

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in the section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough fever, pain and night sweats began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength and have grown in flesh ever since"

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looked like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a curer of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a propylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seawood Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

Reunion of the old 10th Alabama.

THE COMPANIES MOVING.

Now we publish the proceedings of Cos. "E" & "A" 10th Alabama Regiment Talladega and Ashville.

We suppose Co. G, 10th Alabama, will meet in Jacksonville on Wednesday, to take steps looking to such a reunion of the old 10th at some time and place hereafter to be designated. Let every member of the old company, that can, attend on the 17th.

We would also request company H, to meet at White Plains or Oxford as soon as practicable and give expression to their wishes on the subject of the reunion.

Will not the officers of Co. D, call a similar meeting soon at Alexandria. Each company will be expected to appoint delegates to a preliminary Regimental meeting to be held in Jacksonville, soon.

This preliminary Regimental meeting will decide upon a day and place for the holding of our Grand Regimental Reunion.

ALPINE,
APRIL 30, 1871.

Mr. J. M. Renfro,

Dear Sir:

Enclosed I send you the proceedings of our meeting on yesterday, names of delegates &c. Some of us will be in attendance.

Reunion.

At a meeting of Co. E. of the 10th Alabama Regiment in the town of Talladega, April 29th 1871; in answer to a call made through the columns of the "Jacksonville REPUBLICAN." Dr. Wm. Taylor was called to the chair, and Jno. W. Heacock requested to act as Sec'y.

On motion of Albert W. Plowman, the following members of the old company were appointed as delegates to the preliminary meeting to be held in Jacksonville, viz: Albert W. Plowman, W. E. Riser, D. T. Castlebery, F. Z. Dickinson, Paul Bradford, Jno. W. Heacock, R. E. Cook, Dr. Wm. Taylor, Jarrett Thompson, Thos. Henderson, M. L. Wilson and James Hendrick.

The Secretary requested to advise the different absent members of the company of the action of this meeting.

DR. WM. TAYLOR, Chm.

JOE S. MONTGOMERY, Sec'y.
Pro-tem.

It is with profound regret that we announce the death of Mrs. G. I. Turnley, who died on Thursday morning the 11th inst., after a long illness. Only a short time a bride, comparatively, her death has cast the deeper gloom over this entire community, among whom she has from her childhood been known and beloved. United with an intellect brilliant and full of promise, she possessed a christian spirit of meekness and devotion that drew around her the warm affection of all the good of our community. The husband and relatives of the deceased have our warmest sympathy.

The irrepressible Jack Williams (M. J. Williams, formerly of the Selma Times.) has bought out the interest of Mr. A. F. Henderson in the Montgomery MAIL and has by the consent of Mr. W. W. Screws, consolidated that journal with the Montgomery ADVERTISER. What the title of the new paper will be we are not yet informed, but we presume it will be "Advertiser & Mail." As to what editorial changes this arrangement will effect, we are also in ignorance, but, (if Williams and Screws will allow) we hope it will not result in the loss of Col. Robt. Tyler to the profession in Alabama. We regard Col. Tyler as one of the ablest, if not the ablest editor that has wielded a pen in the State within the last quarter of a century, and one that, if he continues to write, untrammelled, will so impress his peculiar views upon the people of the State, that the "ADVERTISER & MAIL" will become the source from which the Democracy will draw its most healthy inspiration—the leader—the guide—the great Democratic organ

The Legislature of Connecticut, (Radical) has declared Jewell, the Radical candidate, Governor, over English, (Democrat) though English received a fair majority of all the votes cast, as decided by the proper officials whose duty it is to supervise such elections. The Yankee Radicals are taking pattern after our Southern Carpet-baggers. In fact they are likely to copy the South throughout; for they now have the Ku-Klux! We hope the President will soon introduce some of them into the mysteries of courts "organized to convict"—the rude touch of the soldiers &c, &c. May 25th and "all's well." Retribution.

Gen. Jno. H. Forney and everybody that has seen it at work, brags on our Cotton Planter. The General tried it on his plantation and found it eminently satisfactory. It is said that it saves the work of two hands and one horse in planting, but that this is the least of it, for when it comes to "chopping it out," so evenly is it sowed, that half the trouble and time is saved in this. It will save double its price in one small crop of cotton, and will last for twenty years. It is now worth $25 00. Next season we shall ask the Manufacturer's price of $35 00. The purchaser will make Ten Dollars by buying now—nearly one third the real price of the machine.

We regret to announce that Fielding Snow, one of the oldest and most esteemed citizens of Jacksonville, has, for some time, been very low with sickness. It is the earnest wish of all our people that he may be spared yet many years among us.

As the Summer months approach, we extend, on behalf of the people of Jacksonville, a most cordial invitation to the people of Selma and Montgomery to spend the hot months with us. We are always perfectly cool here. and are surrounded with mineral springs.

Supreme Court.

On enquiry in the proper quarter, we learn that several cases of public importance were submitted at the last term, in which opinions will probably be delivered at the coming term.—Among these cases is that of Tremmel et al vs, Pennington et al which involves the Constitutionality of the Act of the General Assembly authorizing cities, counties, and towns, to subscribe to the capital stock of Rail Roads. This case has been thoroughly argued by some of our ablest lawers, and the decision is awaited with considerable interest. The case of the Selma and Gulf Rail Road Company vs. Grant Treasurer, involves the construction of the acts relating to the two and three per cent fund, and the rightfulness of the action of Treasurer Grant, in refusing to pay a warrant drawn by the Auditor in favor of the above Company, on account of the two and three per cent fund.

The case of Bob Gully vs. The State, in which the defendant was sentdneed to be hung by the lower Court, will have to be decided at the present term.

The civil docket is not so heavy as the last term, the criminal docket shows some thirty appeals to the present term.—Mont. Adv.

A Noble Donation.

[From the Montgomery Mail.]

From the Troy Messenger of the 4th, we learn that the noble and generous hearted firm of LeGrand & Co., of this city have just fied the many tributes heretofore paid them by the press of Montgomery and entitled themselves to the thanks, not only of the suffering people of Pike but of all admirers of generosity and liberality everywhere. It is needless to add that this deed of LeGrand & Co. dosen't suprise us. It is just what we expected of them and just what their well known character at home and abroad gave us the right to expect. But here is what our able Trojan contemporary has to say on the subject:

The Montgomery Advertiser and MAIL, and especially the latter paper, have made earnest and frequent appeals in behalf of the sufferers by the late tornado, and as one of the fruits of these appeals, we have received a letter from the well known house of LeGrand & Co., Wholesale Dealers in Groceries and Dry Goods, 96, 98, & 100 Commerce street, Montgomery, in which this liberal firm say: "Desiring to render some assistance to the sufferers in Pike county, consequent upon the late severe storm, will you please authorize the proper committee to draw on us for One Hundred Dollars, either in Groceries, Dry Goods or Cash, as may be desired."

In behalf of the people of Pike all of whom we trust, will appreciate this generous and timely donation, we return thanks to Messrs. LeGrand & Co., and assure them that they have made a most excellent use of a portion of the wealth which they have accumulated by their energy and liberal dealing.

Other donations, of a similar character, have been received from Montgomery & Columbus, but we are not now at liberty to mention them. Major Wilkerson, we are informed, is making a proper and prompt distribution of all contributions placed in his hands, and we hope he will be furnished, from various sources, with money and supplies enough to meet the immediate wants of all the sufferers by the late storm. Let every generous heart remember, and act upon the principle, that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and such a result will be reached.

We are glad to notice, as we do in our exchanges, that a general appeal is being made by the press in behalf of our sufferers, many of whom are poor widows with children, whose dwellings have been destroyed and their "little all" swept away in a single night. On their account, if for no other reason, we trust these general appeals will result in generous contributions of money, groceries or clothing for their use.

It will be observed, however, that the generosity of our noble city has not stopped with the donation of LeGrand & Co. Others not yet known, have according to their means perhaps done as well as this firm. And it will hereafter afford us an equal degree of pleasure to say the same for each donor individually that we have here said for Messrs. LeGrand & Co. As an evidence of the kindness and liberality of our citizens, witness the following, which we also clip from our contemporary of the Messenger:

We are glad to be able to announce another liberal and generous donation from the citizens of Montgomery, through sheriff Strickland, of this city, consisting of 20 barrels and 2 sacks of flour, 2 kegs of syrup, 2 barrels and 1 piece of bacon, 2 kits of fish, 1 sack of meal and 2 bundles of hoes, all of which the Montgomery & Eufaula Railroad, with their accustomed liberality, transported free of charge over their route. We presume the Mobile & Girard Railroad did likewise. These articles are especially designed for the poor widows and such families as have lost everything, and are without sufficient credit at our stores to procure the necessaries of life. We feel sure that a proper distribution will be made by the committee having the matter in charge.—Montgomery has responded nobly to the appeals of her papers—in which respect the Mail has been most persistent in making our wants known—and we assure all concerned that their liberality and sympathy are duly appreciated and will hereafter be officially acknowledged.

THE LOCAL EDITOR.

What an unfortunate fellow the "local" editor is, to be sure, and how much is expected of him. If a man buys a new horse or a buggy, or if his cow can bawl three times without winking, the "local" is expected to proclaim the fact with a great flourish. If he starts a two penny business, his first thought is to bribe the "local" with a five cent segar to write up a five dollar puff.—Indeed, he thinks it is the mission of the "local" to make his fortune for him by "free blowing." He will take the "local" to one side and point out the superior qualities of a ratterrier dog, and cooly ask him to "give the pup a hoist." He dont care anything about it, only Spriggins has a dog that he thinks is a buster, and some of 'em wanted his dog "put in" just to take the conceit out of Spriggins. Oh, yes, put it in by all means. Everybody wants us to "put it in" that they are the "GREAT I AM," but nobody says: "Here, local, put yourself inside this new suit of clothes, or throw yourself outside of this oyster stew, or stuff this watch in your pocket." Oh, no, of course not, that would cost something. The shoe is on the other foot, you see. The "local" is supposed to know everything about other people's business, and is expected to "show up" all the actors in every family broil in town. If the vile tongue of scandal finds a victim, people wonder that he don't run about with his note book and gather up the vituperative bits of slander for the paper. If he steps into a billiard saloon, he is requested to make a note of the astonishing fact that Bill Tompkins has just made a "run of 11 points." When the ministrel troup arrives in town, the agent immediately rushes for the printing office and calling for the "local" he slips three or four tickets in to his hand and whispers —"Draw us a big house!" Put it in strong!" and patting him patronizingly on the shoulder, the agent admits the inferiority of the troupe but we are not to "let on." To please the lecturer "local" is forced to sit two mortal hours to hear him through an insipid discourse so that he can "write him up." And so it goes: All are anxious to appear favorably in print but few are willing to pay for it. "The 'local' thus is worth nothing. He has nothing to do but to bother his brains in writing puffs for ambitious persons. It don't cost him anything to live. He never eats, nor drinks, nor travels, and money is of no use to him, "Put it in!" "Put it in!"

A Diabolical Attempt at Outrage.

THE WIFE OF A U. S. JUDGE ASSAULTED BY A NEGRO.

On Monday evening last a negro man, named May Lee, attempted to outrage Mrs. Woods, wife of Judge Woods of the U. S. Circuit Court, and a sister of Ex-Senator Warner. The diabolical attempt was made at the extreme end of Perry street, near Mr. Keffer's residence, whilst Mrs. Woods was walking, all alone to the residence of Mr. Keffer, in the suburbs of the city. The screams of Mrs. Woods so frightened the "loil citizen," that he fled from the spot unsatisfied.

On yesterday the negro was arrested by Sheriff Taylor, and was identified by Mrs. Woods as the wretch who attempted the outrage. The case will be tried this morning, the negro, in the meantime, being in the jail.

Ex-Senator Warner, brother of Mrs. W. is in the city. Judge Woods himself, is in the city of New Orleans holding court and was recently in Mobile trying the case of the United States against Messrs. Pierce, Jolly and others, who are charged with having made a personal assault upon Warner, Parsons and others in Eutaw Greene county. It is a pity that he is not here to see that the creature who insulted his wife, is properly punished. There is certainly no "Ku-Klux" in this outrage. We hope the rascal, whoever he is, will be punished in full accordance with the nature of his offence.

Mr. Ferguson, a Wisconsin grocer, chalked his will on the counter and shot himself.—Mail.

That's My Boy.

I remember once standing by the surging billows, all one weary day, and watching for hours a father struggling beyond in the breakers for the life of his son. They came slowly toward the breakers on a piece of wreck, and as they came the waves turned over the piece of float, and they were lost. Presently we saw the father come to the surface and clamber alone to the wreck, and then saw him plunge off into the waves, and thought he was gone; but in a moment he came back again holding his boy. Presently they struck another wave, and over they went; and again they repeated the process. Again they went over, and again the father rescued his son. By and by, as they swung nearer the shore, they caught on a snag just out beyond where we could reach them, and for a little time the waves went over them there till we saw the boy in the father's arms, hanging down in helplessness, and knew they must be saved soon or be lost; and I shall never forget the gaze of that father. As we drew him from the devouring waves, still clinging to his son, he said. "That's my boy, that's my boy!" and half frantic, as we dragged them up the bank, he cried all the time. "That's my boy, that's my boy!" And so I have thought in hours of darkness, when the billows rolled over me, the great Father is reaching down to me, and taking hold of me, crying. "That's my boy!" and I know I am safe.—Dr. Fowler, in the Methodist.

Bear in Mind.

When disease has undermined the health and the nervous system has become prostrated, a stimulant that will not only strengthen but remove the cause, should be immediately resorted to. Many diseases both in a fruitful source of the condition down of the constitution, and the ravages of this enemy to health are truly alarming. For all such maladies Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have been found unsurpassed. By acting directly upon the digestive organs, they remove the heavy, disagreeable feeling after eating, so often complained of by persons of a delicate temperament. As soon as digestion is restored, the patient finds his strength increasing, and his general health improved.

Thousands of persons certify that it may be relied on in all cases of weakness or nervous debility attendant upon sedentary habits. The generality of Bitters are so disagreeable to the taste that they are objectionable to a weak stomach. This is not the case with Hostetter's Bitters, which will be found mild and extremely pleasant. Balsamic plants, barks and roots contribute their restorative juices to render it soothing and strengthening. Its basis is the only pure stimulant which has ever been produced, containing no fusil oil, or any other deleterious element. The most careful and skillful chemists have analyzed the Bitters, and pronounce them harmless. This is a scientific testimony; but the testimony of the hundreds of thousands who have experienced the preventive and curative effects of the Great Vegetable Tonic and Alterative of modern times is still more conclusive. In Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Nervous Complaints, Chronic Complaints and general debility it is as nearly infallible as anything in this fallible world can be.

Dr. C. C. Porter will hereafter be in Jacksonville the first week in each month to attend to any duties connected with his profession. Parties in need of his services would do well to remember this.

PAIN KILLER.
PERRY DAVIS & SON.
Manufacturers and Proprietors, Providence, R. I.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

No article ever attained to such unbounded popularity.—Salem observer.

An article of great merit and virtue.—Cincinnati Nonpareil.

We can bear testimony to the efficacy of the Pain Killer. We have seen its magic effects in soothing the severest pain, and know it to be a good article.—Cincinnati Dispatch.

A speedy cure for pain—no family should be without it.—Montreal Transcript.

There has nothing as yet surpassed the Pain Killer, which is the most valuable family medicine now in use.—Tennessee Organ.

It has real merit; as a means of removing pain, no medicine has acquired a reputation equal to Perry Davis' Pain Killer.—Newsport (Ky) Daily News.

Its wonderful power in relieving the most severe pain has never been equaled.—Burlington Sentinel.

It is one of the few articles that are just what they pretend to be.—Brunswick Telegraph.

Our own opinion is that no family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour. In flesh wounds, aches, pains sores, & it is the most effectual remedy we know of.—News St. John, Canada.

After many years' trial of Davis' Pain Killer, we are satisfied that every family should provide themselves with so efficacious and speedy a PAIN KILLER.—Amherst (N. S.) Gazette.

The Pain Killer of Perry Davis & Son we can confidently recommend. We have used it for a length of time, and invariably with success.—Canada Baptist.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and of all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequaled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S
Concentrated
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
The Great Diuretic,

has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of urine, diseases of the prostate Gland, stone in the Bladder, Calculus gravel, Brickdust deposit, and Mucous or milky discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to exertion, loss of power, loss of memory, difficulty of breathing, weak nerves, trembling, horror of disease, wakefulness, dimness of vision, pain in the back, hot hands, flushing of the body, dryness of the skin, eruption on the face, pallid countenance, universal lassitude of the muscular system, etc.

Used by persons from the age of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bedwetting in children.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu is Diuretic and Blood-purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with Helmbold's Rose Wash.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to ladies, the Extract Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy—as in chlorosis or retention, irregularity, painfulness or suppression of customary evacuations, ulcerated or schirrus state of the uterus, leucorrhœa or whites, sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent physicians and midwives, for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

Cures diseases arising from imprudences, habits of dissipation, etc., in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Price one dollar and fifty cents per bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates pimples, spots, scorbutic dryness, indurations of the cutaneous membrane, etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restores the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a toilet appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the Extracts Buchu, Sarsaparilla, and Catawba Grape Pills, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. Price one dollar per bottle.

Full and explicit directions accompany the medicines.

Evidence of the most responsible and reliable character furnished on application, with hundreds of thousands of living witnesses, and upward of 30,000 unsolicited certificates and recommendatory letters, many of which are from the highest sources, including eminent Physicians, Clergymen, Statesmen, etc. The proprietor has never resorted to their publication in the newspapers; he does not do this from the fact that his articles rank as Standard Preparations, and do not need to be propped up by certificates.

It gives the Complexion a clear and Healthy Color and Restores the Patient to a state of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional diseases arising from an impure state of the Blood, and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Pains and swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all scaly Eruptions of the skin, and beautifying the complexion. Price, $1 50 per bottle.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S
Concentrated

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

The Great Diuretic,

has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, retention of urine, diseases of the prostate gland, stone in the Bladder, Calculus, gravel, Brickdust deposit, and Mucous or milky discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to exertion, loss of power, loss of memory, difficulty of breathing, weak nerves, trembling, horror of disease, wakefulness, dimness of vision, pain in the back, hot hands, flushing of the body, dryness of the skin, eruption on the face, pallid countenance, universal lassitude of the muscular system, etc.

Used by persons from the age of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed-wetting in children.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu is diuretic and Blood-purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with Helmbold's Rose Wash.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to ladies, the Extract Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy—as in Chlorosis or retention, Irregularity, painfulness or suppression of customary evacuations, Ulcerated or schirrus state of the uterus, Leucorrhœa or whites, or sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent physicians and midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages, attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms.

O

cures diseases arising from imprudences, habits of dissipation, etc., in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Price one dollar and fifty cents per bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates pimples, spots, scorbutic dryness, indurations of the cutaneous membrane, etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restores the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a toilet appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invaluable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the Extracts Buchu, Sarsaparilla, and Catawba Grape Pills, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. Price one dollar per bottle.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published: which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act:—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

NEAR CEDAR BLUFF Feb., 28, 1871.

Messrs. J. & S. Bones, Dear Sir:

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear to my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in eleven minutes, I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short time, I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

Yours Truly,
H. H. MILLER.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink. Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and of all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends; and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Price $9.00 per volume or
$40.00 PER SET COMPLETE.

Description of the Work.

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published and, by those who have examined several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood and 200 pages of reading matter descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one half as thick, and same sized pages, of Websters largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired.

Sold by Subscription, Only.

Vol. I, is devoted to Wild American Birds.
Vol. II, Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III, American Domesticated Birds and Animals.
Vol. IV, Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V, Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter, be complete without this addition to its treasures; while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

Agents Wanted.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful SPECIMEN BOOK FOR AGENTS containing 5 of the Oil Chromos, 10 Steel Engravings, 10 Wood Engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c. &c.

Our Specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. DECORATION DAY, FOR 1871

The following beautiful verses were sung as a hymn at the decoration of the graves in the church-yard at Lexington, Va. in 1869. The writer, Mrs. M. J. Preston, is one of the noblest women of the South and her appropriate stanzas speak to the heart of us all.

LINES.

BY MRS. M. J. PRESTON, OF VA.

Past, the clash and clang of battle—
Past the terrors, trials, fears—
Past, the deadly roar and rattle,
Yet we meet in tears.

Not a shout of exultation
Breaks the sobbing silence deep;
On the death day of the nation
Is it strange we weep

But the homage sad we render,
Softens with a proud relief,
And a solemn joy and tender
Mingle with our grief.

Oh, the heroes wrested from us
Have not lived and died in vain!
For their memories' bow of promise
Spans our years of pain.

Countless eyes have conned their story
Countless hearts grow brave thereby;
Let us thank the God of glory
We had such to die!

Where had been the Church's honor,
When the overwhelming flood
Of her foes rushed fierce upon her,
But for martyrs' blood?

Where the lofty acclamations,
O're the wrench of thraldom's chain?
Where the grandeur of the nations,
But for patriots slain?

Shall we then in sad procession—
Heads low bowed upon the breast—
Only bring our tears to freshen
Graves where heroes rest?

Rather lay the rose and laurel,
Glad with dew, above the sod—
Learn their lives' majestic moral.
Wait and trust in God!

There was a little boy and he was his mother's joy
But what he loved best was a waffle
With a waffle in his mouth he was sweeter than the South,
But when it was gone he was awful."

There was a newspaper man, a Black Republican,
Whose subscribers were painfully duped
With Ku-klux on the brain, he would rant in lively vein,
But on every other subject he was stupid

The Good Old Times.

How our "Oldest Inhabitants" used to do on the 4th day of July.
Then and Now!

It is well occasionally to look back at the pranks of our fathers, if only to see what manner of men they were, when of our ages; and to profit ourselves by a study of their successful lives. In reading over the "Jacksonville Republican" of the year 1838, we stumbled on the following, which, if it interests our readers as much as it did us, will not unworthily fill the space we give it. Some of the actors in that great fourth of July celebration, are yet among us. Some have gone to distant countries. Most of them have gone to that yet more distant country, from which there is no return. One, who took an active part in these patriotic proceedings 32 years ago, now lies, yet in our midst, patiently awaiting his summons to "join the innumerable caravan." The retrospection that reveals strong men, then, whom we now see shaken and palsied by age, infirm in body, tottering Home, is sad indeed; but sadder, yes infinitely sadder, is the contrast that reveals to us more plainly the wreck and ruin of our country, the threatened slavery of the sons & daughters of these patriotic sires.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., July 12, 1838

A portion of the citizens of Benton county celebrated the Anniversary of American Independence on Wednesday 4th July at Jacksonville, The celebration was commenced by a procession formed on the public square under the direction of Col. John T. Pope. They proceeded to the Presbyterian Church, where the Declaration of American Independence was read by H. L. Martin Esq., followed by an oration of E. T. Smith Esq. The company then repaired to Lafayette Hall, and partook of a very sumptuous dinner, served up in fine style by Judge Pendleton the proprietor. After the removal of the cloth the following toasts were drank:

REGULAR TOASTS.

1st. The 4th of July '76—May the principles which on that day guided, continue to guide the councils of our nation and perpetuate our Union

2d. The memory of George Washington.

3d. The memory of Thomas Jefferson.

4th. The signers of the Declaration of Independence.

5th. The memory of Lafayette.

6th. The Administration of Martin Van Buren—Like the administration of Thomas Jefferson, it has to contend for the people against the influence of wealth and monopoly.

7th. The Governor of Alabama.

8th. Alabama—Destined to be one of the fairest sisters of the twenty-six

9th. The Star—The Union—A strict adherence to the Constitution, will protect the rights of the former and perpetuate the latter.

10th. Prejudice, Bigotry, and Ignorance—May the day soon arrive, when like the sun's dial at midnight they may cast no shadow, when the voice of abolition, antimasonry and anti-refinement may be lost in the spirit of union, of liberality and enlightened religion.

11th. The Sub-Treasury system—May the divorce of Government from Banks be perpetual.

12. The Heroes and Sages of the Revolution.

13. Woman—May we never forget that respect to ourselves is the best testimony we can give of respect to her.

VOLUNTEER TOASTS.

By Jacob Forney, President of the day. The people of the United States. Sovereign in their Moral influence, sovereign in their political power, and sovereign in all the attributes of a free and independent nation.

By Col. Daniel Hoke, 1st Vice President—Martin Van Buren, President of the United States—May he carry out the measures of government so as to follow the footsteps of Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, and not forgetting James Madison.

By Judge C. A. Green, 2nd Vice President. The Pressure—Hard work, economical living, homemade cloth, Gro de Nap, and champaign will relieve it.

By Wm. Scott, Esq. 3d Vice President. The County—The fertility of her soil, the salubrity of her climate, with a numerous and enterprising population, wants nothing but the safe navigation of the Coosa river or the facilities of a Rail Road, to make her one of the most desirable in the State.

By Col. John T. Pope, Marshal of the day. The Soldiers of the Revolution—For the cause of liberty they "pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor," to defend it her sons are ever ready.

By E. T. Smith, Esq. Orator of the day. The Constitution of the United States—The sheet anchor of our political safety.

By Col. H. L. Martin, reader. Benton Son of Democracy—High in the ascendant may it ever ride at eternal zenith, lighting to the tomb of the Capulets the hopes and prospects of all apostates from its faith and practice.

By Dr. M. Bart. Gen. Gordon of Virginia—The originator of the divorce of the government from the banks, altho a nullifier, deserves the respect and esteem of the friends of the present administration

By Miles W. Abernathy, Esq. Our Congress—May it hereafter be composed of more patriotism and less bullyism.

By Col. Benjamin Hollingsworth. Democrats of '38—Beware of the mischievous machinations of Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Nicholas and the Devil for the next presidency.

By James Clark, Esq. The President of the United States—Educated in the school of Thomas Jefferson; he is happily restoring his republican doctrines by trampling upon bank influence and monied power.

By Dyer C. Bancroft, Esq. Henry Clay for President. A United States Bank to regulate the currency of our country.

By Col. John D. Hoke. Martin Van Buren and the Pre-emption Bill—The man and the measure, like Lycurgus and the Division Law, have converted the Cherokee Country and the far west into a Sparta and Laconia.

By Col. H. L. Martin. Hon. Clement C. Clay, of Alabama—The able statesman, the enlightened politician and the zealous advocate of the doctrine of democracy. His indefatigable, uniform, and able support in the Senate of the U. S. of the "pre-emption bill," and others of no less importance to the South and West, has created a debt of gratitude which the people will ere long pay.

By John Lane, Esq. Clay is a mighty good man, and Chapman's no worse—they have given us a pre-emption law without any fuss.

By Col. George Fleming. The Orator of the day. E. T. Smith—May his efforts in his profession be as successful as his oration to-day has been brilliant.

To this sentiment Mr. Smith responded in a very neat modest and appropriate manner and concluded by giving

The Citizens of Benton County—Their kindness and hospitality is equaled only by their devoted patriotism and enthusiastic love of liberty.

By Fielding Snow, Esq. Success to Reuben Chapman and the Alabama squatters—May we flourish with the people of our sister states, and always treat Henry Clay in the way he deserves.

By Amos T. Laird, Esq. Martin Van Buren—Again at the schemes of combined whiggery, he has been elevated to the presidential chair and the democracy of the country will sustain him.

By Irby Morgan, Esq. Martin Van Buren!!!—May his chunk never be extinguished so long as America may need a Beacon by which to steer her course.

By Wm. Laird jr. Esq. The Administration—The only opposition to its measures is that prompted by the same feelings which opposed Thomas Jefferson.

By Philip Fulks, Esq. The pre-emption Law—An act of justice. Its liberal provisions will leave to each one of the "barless rabble" the blessings that the president and his true friends in Congress intended.

By Wm. Lard, jr. Esq. Martin Van Buren—His recommendation of the pre-emption bill, his hostility to the fanaticism of abolition, are evidences of patriotism that all the acts of the opposition cannot suppress.

The Company having called upon John Foster, Esq. for a speech and sentiment, Mr. Foster rose, and in an eloquent and beautiful strain held the company for several minutes in delight, and amidst loud cheering concluded with the following toasts:

The Citizens of Benton County—There are hearts nowhere warmer or kinder than theirs.

By J. B. Pendleton, Esq.
The first Monday in August, may we have it to say,
That for Benton County it proved a proud day,
That out of the number as if with one voice,
We give honest votes and made a wise choice.

By S. H. Likens, Esq. As honorable as this day has been celebrated, may the present administration so end.

By J. H. George. Science and Liberty—May it ever be the motto of America.

By Dr. John Crutchfield. Martin Van Buren—He has undertaken to carry out the administration of Andrew Jackson; may he do it successfully for eight years.

By Daniel Hoke, jr. Robert Strange, U. S. Senator from North Carolina—A classic scholar, a profound jurist and a patriotic statesman.

By E. S. Jones, Esq. The Veto of the bank bill—May the democracy of the country, from one end of the continent to the other sustain the measure, and trample under foot every attempt at unconstitutional monopoly.

By G. H. Stiner. John C. Calhoun, that able defender of the people's rights and protector of the Constitution—May the day not be far distant when he will rise and let his light shine for a more elevated station.

By G. B. Douthit, Esq.
May the 26 States be united and as firm
as marble pillars stand,
And the American star-spangled banner ever wave o'er our peaceful land.

By Martin Crouch, Esq. To the Farmers of Benton County—they are mudsills of banks and commerce, and may the plough continue long to run and the mattock to be used.

By Henry Burridge Esq. Amos Kendall—the able and laborious Post Master General—May his usefulness to his country long be retained.

By Mr. Crush. The memory of Roger Sherman, one of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence.

By A. Yoe. Washington and Franklin, Pressman and compositor of the work of the American Revolution—the former worked off the enemies of Independence, the latter aided in composing those lines which form the basis of the liberty we enjoy. Their works shall never be erased from our memory.

By Wm. Dotbard, Esq. Irishmen in America—Ever read to defend the institutions of their adopted country, yet never forgetting "Erin mavournen, Erin go braugh."

The Mysterious Organist.

At a grand cathedral overlooking the Rhine, there appeared a distinguished organist. The great composer who had played the organ so much had suddenly died, and every body, from the king to the peasant, was wondering who could be found to fill his place, when one bright sabbath morning as the sexton entered the church he saw a stranger sitting at the crape-shrouded organ. He was a tall graceful man, with a pale but strikingly handsome face, great black, melancholy eyes, and hair like the ravens wing for gloss and color, sweeping in dark waves over his shoulders. He did not seem to notice the sexton, but went on playing, and such music as he drew from the instrument, no words of mine can describe. The astonished listener declared that the organ seemed to grow human—that it wailed and sighed and clamored as if its tortured human heart were throbbing through its pipes.

When the music at length ceased, the sexton hastened to the stranger and asked:

"Pray, sir, who are you?"

"Do not ask my name," he replied; "I have heard that you were in want of an organist, and I have come here on trial.

"You'll be sure to get the place," exclaimed the sexton; "why you surpass him that's dead and gone."

"No, no, you overrate me," said the stranger with a smile; then, as if disinclined to conversation, he turned from old Hans, and began to play again, and now the music changed from a sorrowful stream to a grand old pæan, and the mysterious old organist

Looking upward full of grace
Playing still from a happy place—
Gods glory smote him in the face and his countenance seemed not unlike that of St. Michael, as portrayed by Guido.

Lost in the melodies which swelled around him, he sat with his "far-seeing" eyes fixed on the distant sky, a glimpse of which he caught through an open window, when there was a stir about the church door, and a royal party came sweeping in. Among them might be seen a bright young girl, with a wealth of golden hair, eyes like the violet's hue, and lips like wild cherries. This was the Princess Elizabeth, and all eyes were turned towards her as she seated herself in the velvet cushioned pew appropriated to the court. The mysterious organist fixed his eyes upon her and went to playing. No sooner had the music reached her ears than she started as if a ghost had crossed her path. The blood faded from her crimson cheek, her lips quivered, and her whole frame grew tremulous. At last her eyes met those of the organist in a long yearning look, and the melody lost its joyous notes, and once more wailed and sighed and clamored.

"By faith," whispered the King to his daughter, "this organist has a master hand. Hark ye, he shall play at your wedding."

The pale lips of the princess parted but she could not speak—she was dumb with grief. Like one in a painful dream, she saw the pale man at the organ and heard the melody which filled the vast edifice. Ay, full well she knew who it was and why the instrument seemed breathing out the agony of a tortured heart.

When the services were over, and the royal party had left the cathedral, he stole away as mysteriously as he had come. He was not seen again till the vesper hour, and then he appeared in the organ loft and commenced his task.—When he played, a veiled figure glided in, and knelt near a shrine. There she remained until the worshippers disappeared when the sexton touched her on the shounlder, and said:

"Madame, everybody has gone but you and me, and I wish to close the door."

"I am not ready to go yet," was the reply; leave me—leave me!"

The sexton drew back into a shady niche, and watched and listened. The mysterious organist still kept his post, and his head was bowed upon the instrument, and he could not see the lone devotee. At length she rose from the aisle, and moving to the organ loft, paused beside the organist.

"Bertram!" she murmured.

Quick as thought the organist raised his head. There with the light of the lamp suspended to the arch above falling full upon her, stood the Princess, who had graced the royal pew that day. The court dress of velvet with its ermine trimmings, the tiara, the necklace, the bracelets, had been exchanged for a gray serge robe and a long thick veil which was now pushed back from the fair girlish face.

"Why are you here, Bertram?" asked the Princess.

"I came to bid you farewell; and as I dared not venture into the palace, I gained access to the cathedral by bribing the bell ringer, and having taken the seat of the dead organist, let my music breathe out the adieu I could not trust my lips to utter."

A low moan was the only answer and he continued:

"You are to be married on the morrow?"

"Yes," sobbed the girl. "Oh! Bertram, what a trial it will be to stand at yonder alter, and take upon me the vows which will doom me to a living death."

"Think of me," rejoined the organist. "Your royal father has requested me to play at the wedding, and I have promised to be there. If I were your equal I could be the bridegroom instead of the organist, but a poor musician must give you up."

"It is like rending my soul and body asunder to part with you," said the girl. "To-night I may tell you this—tell you how fondly I love you, but in a few hours it will be a sin! Go, go, God bless you!"

She waved him from her, as if she would banish him while she had the power to do so, and he—how was it with him! He arose to leave her, then came back, held her to his heart in a long embrace with a half—smothered farewell, left her.

The next morning dawned in cloudless splendor. At an early hour the cathedral was thrown open and the sexton began to prepare for the wedding. Flame-colored flowers nodded by the wayside—flame-colored leaves came dashing down the trees and lay in heaps upon the ground; and the ripe wheat waved like a golden sea, and berries drooped in red and purple clusters over the rocks along the Rhine.

At length the palace gates were opened and the royal party appeared, escorting the princess Elizabeth to the cathedral, where the marriage ceremony was to be solemnized.

It was a bright pageant—far brighter than the entwined foliage and blossoms where the tufts of plumes which floated from stately heads and festal robes that streamed down over the housings of the superb steeds. But the Princess, mounted on a snowy palfrey, and clad in snow—white velvet, looked pale and sad; and when on nearing the church, she heard a gush of organ music, which, though jubilant in sound, struck on her ear like a funeral knell—she trembled and would have fallen to the earth, had not a page supported her. A few minutes afterwards she entered the cathedral. There with his retinue stood the royal bridegroom, whom she had never before seen. But her glance roved from him to the organ loft, where she had expected that mysterious organist. He was gone, and she was obliged to return the graceful bow of the King, to whom she had been betrothed from motives of policy. Mechanically she knelt at his side on the alter stone; mechanically listened to the service and made the responses.

Then her husband drew her to him in a convulsive embrace, and whispered:

"Elizabeth, my queen, my wife, look up!"

Trembling in every limb, she obeyed. Why did those eyes thrill her so? Why did that smile bring a glow on her cheeks? Ah! though the King wore the royal purple and many a jeweled order glittered on his breast, he seemed the humble person, who had been employed to teach organ music, and had taught her the "Elizabeth," murmured the monarch, Bertram Hoffman, the mysterious organist, and King Oscar (the Royal Free Mason) are one. Forgive my stratagem. I wished to marry you, but I would not drag to the alter an unwilling bride. Your father was in the secret."

While tears of joy rained from her blue eyes, the new made queen returned her husband's fond kisses, and for once two hearts were made happy by a royal marriage.

A debating club in Hannibal have under discussion the question which is the but end of a goat?"—Missouri Dem crat (Rad.)

We can tell you which is the butt end of a jackass; it's the end that swallows all these stories about Southern outrages, and then brays "Ku-klux! Ku-klux!"

"Say Smith where have you been for a week back?" "I havn't been any where for it. I havn't got a weak back."

Louis Napolean pays his debts like a man. He has intimated to certain Parisian traodesmen, at whose debt he is for some 800,000 francs, that if they will present their little bills at Chiselhurg they will be paid promptly. Worth, the man-milliner, is probably include among these creditors.

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, MAY 20, 1871.

"Good will to all men that pay promptly. Devoted to news and making money."

The above is the motto of a Western paper. It is refreshing for its honesty. The editor is no doubt a good card. We would like to form his acquaintance. He hates a sneaking, non-paying subscriber as bad as Simon Suggs hateb "Yaller legs." He is no hypocrite. He does not attempt to disguise the fact that he has no good feeling for those who do not "pay promptly." In this he differs from some of us poor demagoguical devils who will "smile and smile" in the face of some careless specimen of humanity, who has been keeping us out of the enjoyment of the fruits of three or four year's honest toil; and who will pretend that we think as much of him as we do of those hearty, solid, honest old prompt-paying fellows—the salt of the earth! But we don't do it. Go to our bottom and you will find we don't do it. Whenever an editor finds out that a man wants his labor for nothing, and discovers him making as many quirks and turns to avoid the payment of an honest debt of $2 or $3, as would gain an ordinary lawsuit, he is bound to despise him, and does do it. Why we know men who will go around to the merchants every year regularly and settle off their bill of hundreds of dollars; and then come whining around the editor, the fruits of whose labors they have enjoyed all the year, with a, "I will try and square up that little matter between us soon." It is always a "little" matter with these sort of men; but yet they take as much trouble to avoid the settlement of that "little matter" as if thousands were at stake. The fact is, some men, we know, have a chronic aversion to paying for a newspaper. Why we cannot tell. It is not because they are stingy; for we have known them to come into town and "treat" away twice the amount of their bill with the printer, and then make excuse for not paying, on the score of tight times. They seem to have an idea that the printer don't need money—that his business just runs itself, that he can carry it on, puff them, puff their section, labor, sweat, blow, without pay, and yet they are the most exacting men on the books of the printer. Everything has to come up just right, or they make complaint. Thy seem to enjoy, falling in occasionally, just to ask the editor to "look at the amount of my bill," and then after the poor eager, delighted devil, has found it and with a smile that is bland, states the amount, to tune off with "Oh, its smaller than I thought. Well I'll call in some day and settle it off." They think an editor should not be so sordid as to think for a moment of accumulating the filthy lucre. They think he should find his highest employment in bragging on Smith's cow, or Jones' pig, while his own household goes to grass. These are the kind of men who would starve a minister until hunger compelled the poor fellow to ask a modicum of his wages, and then accuse him of being worldly minded. They are the great clogs on all enterprises. They are the rubbish that dam up the stream of commerce, and stop the healthy flow of money. They are annoyances. They are in the way. They are a curse to the business of the society in which they move. We intend to lop off a great many of them from the books of the REPUBLICAN.

Meeting of Co. "G."—Reunion.

On last Monday, agreeable to a call made in the Jacksonville Republican, Co. "G." 10th Alabama, Regiment met in Jacksonville.

On motion, Gen. Wm H. Forney was called to the chair and Adjutant L. W. Grant was requested to act as Secretary. After taking the chair, the General, in a brief but eloquent little speech, explained the object of the meeting.

It was determined to call the preliminary Regimental meeting of delegates from the companies, to be held in Jacksonville, for the 3rd day of June. On motion the following named members of Co. "G." were appointed as delegates to attend such meeting at that time:

A. P. Carruth, Pete Thompson, Jno D. Walker, N. J. Stephens, Thomas B. Neighbors, Sam'l McCollum, Thomas Gault, Wm Littlejohn, Sam'l Hodges, Benj. Hodges, James M. Moragne, Wm Neeld, A. J. West, Hardy Smith, Tom. Jeff. Walker, John A. Cobb, J. M. Renfro, G. I. Turnley, L. W. Grant, R. D. Williams, Henry A. Earns, E. A. Hall, John Hall, N. J. Belton, Wm J. Belton, J. W. Mackey, Slater Crawford, H. F. Vernon, John Latta, John Bonds, Ransom Wyly, H. W. Luttrell, Isaac Swan.

On motion of Capt. James B. Farmer, the chairman was added to the list of delegates.

It was the unanimously expressed wish of the meeting that Gen. Jno H. Forney be present and preside at the preliminary meeting of the Regiment to be held in Jacksonville, June 3rd,

After a few well timed and touching remarks from Capt. J. M. Renfro, the meeting adjourned.

Gen. Wm. H. FORNEY, Ch'n
L. W. GRANT, Sec'y.

E. Johnson & Co., of Selma, are sending goods to this place, and those who have purchased of them are well pleased both with the price and quality. One of our ladies received a bill of one hundred dollars worth, some days ago. Our friend John Woodward is with them, ready to fill orders from Calhoun customers.

"Brick" Pomeroys Divorce.

"Beast" Butler wrote a letter to the New York Herald not long ago, in which he said that Mrs. M. M. Pomeroy desired to engage his services as counsel in her divorce suit against her husband, and that he should have charged her no fee if he could not have made it out of "Brick" in person. The impudent old thief went on to say.

"I am glad to be informed that, the fact of my employment having become known to her husband, he has, concluded to make a settlement with her, giving her $20,000 in cash, as you inform me and paying $600 a year towards the education of their child.

The "Beast" claims that Mr. Pomeroy, being rich should pay him something, but consoles with himself with the reflection that if his employment has caused "Brick" to take the money that ought to go to him and apply it in providing for the divorced lady, he shall have the satisfaction of knowing that while "Brick" has abused him, he is in fact supporting "Brick's" family—to all of which Pomeroy says in reply.

Mrs. Pomeroy never applied to B. F. Butler as above stated; never retained him as counsel for any suit; never asked his advice in any matter. On learning that the writer of this and the lady in question had lived apart since 1861, he wrote to her offering his services to act as counsel in any matters she would retain him for. To this letter from him no attention was paid, the more as there was no necessity for his aid or counsel, as there is no truth in the statement that the persons were in distress or need.

They have lived apart, he says, since 1861, and a final separation has been agreed upon and a settlement of $20,000 made for her benefit.

Without the aid, influence or assistance or B. F. Butler or any other meddler in the affairs of a most estimable lady, who neither needs nor asks the friendship of such a person, or financial assistance from any quarter.

The statement of Mr. Pomeroy is verified by Mr. C. E. Fritcher, of Union Square. Mr. Wm. G. Bussey, of Wall street, to whom Beast Butler's letter was addressed, says:

The facts as published are correct, but I deem it may professional duty to state in addition that the application for divorce was solely on the ground of desertion and that there has been no imputation of immoral conduct on the part of Mr. Pomeroy; neither has there been in the defense any charge of any kind brought against Mrs. Pomeroy, questioning her character as a wife, or lady.

The New York Democrat, which is supposed to have intimate relations with Mrs. Pomeroy, has the following on the same subject:

The telegraph announces that a decree of divorce between Mark M. ("Brick") Pomeroy and his wife Anna, has been granted in the circuit court Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Pomeroy is charged with no crime no abuse of his wife, no failure to properly provide for his family, but there was an incompatibility of temper that rendered the lives of both unhappy, a want of sympathy that all effort has failed to restore. For ten years they have not lived together, but during all that time Mrs. Pomeroy has never known the want of any comfort it was in the power of her husband to provide. He has been prosperous, but in his prosperity the wife and daughter, though absent, have never been forgotton or neglected. Few have ever suffered as has Mark Pomeroy in all these years; he has been under the ban of society that would not and could not understand him, but which was always too ready to pass its judgment.—The whole course of his life was changed, and the most radical points of his nature broght out.—He has known little of happiness, save that he had in triumph over the world.

Heat it Hot Sam.

Colonel McHatten went from Virginia to Illinois, in the early settlement of the country, when roadside inns were unknown, and every dweller in the wilderness kept a sort of traveler's home.—The Colonel, by a lucky investment in wild land, had become in time a rich man—but he kept up his habits of hospitality, and if the guest was well to do in the world, he didn't object to turning an honest penny in that way.

One cold blustering winter evening, a horseman drew up at the house and asked accomodation for the night. A half grown lad answered in the affirmative and ushured him into the sitting room, where the great wood fire of itself grave a cordial welcome.. After supper the landlord made his appearance for the first time. He was hearty and hale, and as rosy as any boniface should be, but he was bent and cripple in his gait. He explained by saying that he had taken cold which had settled in his back.

"I don't mind the pain so much," he continued, "but it is so inconvienent. I have been recommended to try a poor man's plaster, and if you will excuse me, I will put it on. Sam! Samuel! Sammuel McHatten!"

"Here father" said the lad above mentioned, hastily swallowing a large piece of mince pie which he had been quietly enjoying.

"Here, Sam, my boy, heat this plaster for me, and put it on my back. Heat it hot, Sam."

Saying which he handed the plaster to his son and seating himself astride the chair, with his back to the fire, threw his suspenders back and his shirt over his head. "Now, Sam," said the Colonel, "if the poor man's plaster is hot you may put it on; but you may wait a little while; I'm afraid its not hot enough. Heat it hot, Sam—heat it hot. Can you tell," he continued to the traveller, who was seated in the corner—can you tell me why this is the poor man's friend, hey? Give it up?"—laughing to himself—"because it sticketh closer than a brother! eh?"

Poor Sam, who had been watching his chance to speak without interrupting his father now ventured to say;

"I guess it is hot enough now, father.,

"What do you know about it?" said the old man testily.

"I say heat it hot, Sam—heat it hot."

Sam whose face was at a red heat had held the plaster to the fire until it ran and dripped down on the hearth and had made no reply.

"Well," said the old man looking around, "maybe it will do now, Sam, clap it on."

Sam, armed with the plaster approached him: and if my word can be taken, did clap it on. The man gave one yell like a wild Indian, and jumped clear off the chair kicking his oldfashioned britches off his feet and dancing around with pain. The traveler laughed until he cried, and the more mine host roared the more he laughed. When the first agony was over, the Colonel began to swear, and our traveller thought it would be prudent to retire, lest he should share his wrath with Sam, who, he observed, was making good his distance."

The next morning, when leaving, he handed the Colonel five dollars, saying with a sly twinkle of the eye, "I don't want any change. It is cheap at that."

"Jones."

The following little story, with its moral, though written for the Macon (Georgia) Telegraph is quite too good to be enjoyed by the farmers of georgia alone,

I knew a man and he lived in Jones—
Which Jones is a county of red hills and stones.—
And he lived pretty much by getting of loans
And his mules were nothing but skin and bones.
And his hogs were flat as his corn-bread pones.
And he had 'bout a thousand acres of land.

This man—and his name was also Jones—
He swore that he'd leave them old red hills and stones
For he couldn't make nothin' but yellowish cotton,
And little of that for his fences were rotten,
And what little cotton he had, that was boughten,
And he couldn't get a living from the land

And the longer he swore the madder he got,
And he rose and he walked to the stable lot,
And he hallooed to Tom to come there and hitch
For to emigrate somewhere where the land was rich,
And to quit raising cockburrs, thistles, and sich,
And wasting their time on barren land.

So him and Tom they hitched up their mules
Protesting the folks were mighty fools
That 'ud stay in Georgia their life time out,
Just scratching a living, when all of them mought
Get places in Texas where cotton would sprout
By the time you could plant it in the land.

And he drove by a house where a man named Brown
Was living not far from the edge of the town
And he bantered Brown to buy his place,
And said that seeing as money was skace,
And seeing as sheriffs were hard to face,
Two dollars an acre would get the land.

They closed at a dollar and fifty cents
And Jones he bought him a wagon and tents,
And loaded his corn and his women and truck,
And moved to Texas, which it took
His entire pile, with the best of luck
To get there and get him a little land.

But Brown moved out on the old Jones farm,
And he rolled up his breeches and bared his arm,
And he picked all the rocks from off on the ground,
And he rooted it up and ploughed it down,
And sowed his corn and wheat in the land.

Five years glid by, and Brown one day
(Who got so fat that he wouldent weigh)
Was sitting down sorter lazily,
To the bulliest dinner you ever see,
When one of the children jumped on his knee
And says "Yan's Jones, which you bought his land."

And there was Jones, standing out at the fence
And he hadn't no wagon nor mules, nor tents,
For he had left Texas a foot and come
To Georgia to see if he couldn't get some Employment, and he was looking as humble as if he had never owned any land.

But Brown he asked him in, and he sot
Him down to his victuals smoking hot.
And when he had filled himself and the floor,
Brown looked at him sharp and arose and swore,
That "whether man's land was rich or poor,
There was more in the man than there was in the land."

—It would seem that Gen. Grant's highest ambition is to retire at the end of a second term with "plenty of money and no poor kin."

CONSUMPTION,

BY J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

MANY a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invaid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy needs no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Seawood Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathizing" with the stomack. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

OCNSUMPTION,

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND,"

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seawood Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chilification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exasceration of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! the rotten throne it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or the womanhood that was,

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost imposible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in the section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the apdetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough fever, pain and night sweats began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looked like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a curer of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a propylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seawood Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

Proceedings of the Council.

JACKSONVILLE ALA.

MONDAY MAY 1, 1871.

Council Chamber.

Present.—

Wm. Dean, J. D. Privett, L. W. Grant, Ed L. Woodward, and Joe S. Montgomery, Councilmen.

The Intendent being absent, W. H. Dean was called to the chair.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

On motion, the Mars'ial was instructed to replace the fence blown on College street, caused by too close grading of said street.

On motion, a committee was appointed to wait on Messrs. Woodward & Driskell, in regard to re-opening a street from 'College' to 'Depot' street.

Accounts allowed, W. C. McFarlan $9,50; Henry McElrath 40c; N. A. T. Wright $3,00.

Resolved, that the thanks of this body be tendered to Mrs. Thos. A. Walker, for a delicious, and bountiful treat of straw berries and cream with cake, so generously furnished the Council on yesterday afternoon.

On motion Council adjourned until next regular meeting.

JOE S. MONTGOMERY, Sec'y. Pro-tem.

MARRIED, in Springfield Limestone county Texas, on the 1st inst., by Rev. Robt. Kink Dr. J. H. McCain, formerly of Calhoun county Ala., and Miss Ada Pendergast of Springfield Texas.

We learn from people who live in that neighborhood, that for some nights past, a body of men have been amusing themselves by throwing rocks upon and into the residence of Mr. George Leach and others living in his immediate section. They sometimes continue this sport for hours, it is said. No cause is assigned. It is not known that Leach or any of the men "rocked" have any enemies living in that neighborhood.

We would advise Mr. Leach and all others similarly afflicted, to treat all such to a good dose of blue pills from the mouth of a double barrelled shot gun. One dose of such medicine well administered, will generally cure all such cowards.

Grady of the Rome Commercial has by the purchase of the Rome Daily, come into possession of State printing, said to amount to about five thousand dollars a year. He thinks it is not really worth more than about eignt hundred dollars a year, and will not accept more than that amount. The ballance of say four thousand two hundred will be returned to the State Treasury or applied to charitable purposes as Judge Perry, in whose hands the matter is left, may direct.

While we admire Grady's pluck, we can't help but condemn his judgment, in a financial point of view.

We have been asked which is the best paying Post Office on our books.

It is nothing but justice to say that White Plains is by a long shot the best paying Post Office we have on our books. They generally keep up and a year ahead. Alexandria is perhaps next, though that office is due us probably $50 00. Cross Plains falls in debt on casting up the books some $90 00, while Oxford falls short something like $130 00. A great many men at all these Post offices pay well and ahead, but at the same time many fall behind and thus bring reproach upon their section. These offices we have taken out as probably the best paying offices in the county. We give the figures of indebtedness to show how much the "little amount" of each man would benefit us, should every Post office in the county make a square and prompt settlement. It may be proper to state that Cross Plains is a fraction larger than Alexandria, and that our Oxford package is as large as both of them put together. White Plains is the next largest package to Oxford, and is by far ahead of any other P O. in the county in prompt payment. That office owes scarcely nothing. The people of White Plains deserve great credit. It is a pleasure to labor for such people.

All those who do not avail themselves of our late offer and pay up back subscriptions within the next two weeks, will not be allowed to settle off at $2 a year, as many of our patrons have done. By a settlement within the next two weeks, subscribers will save 33⅓ per cent of their indebtedness. Fair warning.

Last week, after about half of our edition had been worked off, it was discovered that the announcement of Alfred M. Morgan for the office of Tax Assessor, had been left out in the "make up" of our paper. We had the press stopped and the announcement inserted. Hence it appears in some of the papers and not in others scattered throughout the county, We can assure our young friend Morgan that the omission was not intentional, for we could not possibly have a desire to kill off so good a candidate for the office he aspires to. He is competent to to make a good Tax Assessor and we wish him all the success, in the race, that he may meet with. Though, gentlemen don't understand us as taking sides, Without something extraordinary transpires, we shall play "hands off" in this fight, being as it is confined entirely, so far, to Democrats. Should the Radical party put candidates into the field, however, we will rise "with a sigh" and as in duty bound, go for them in way that will be painful to see.

Those of our lady friends who desire to subscribe for any fashion Magazine, should apply to Mr. Joe Goode, as he is the agent of several, and can save them the trouble, risk and expense of sending for one themselves. He presents subscribers the premiums offered by the Magazines to subscribers.

We wish it distinctly understood that we want those owing this office for subscription, to come forward at once and pay up. Fair notice has been given.

We understand that Othello will soon be put upon the boards in Jacksonville. Two of our distinguished lawyers will personate Othello and Iago. Our amateur Democratic Corps have already a supply of real fine scenery. The play will be a decided success.

We met with quite a pleasing surprise yesterday. Our friend Mungie, who sometimes wears a red rose in his hat to improve his appearence drove around with his team and told us to get in. We soon found from some stray and hungry observations that he made that we were being carried to where something good to eat was being dispensed. As guessed, when we arrived at the Chalybeate spring, Mrs. Mollie Anderson's School was in the midst of the enjoyment of an elegant pic-nic dinner. Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Woods were overlooking the little fellows, and they were having a magnificent time. At any other time we might have stopped to moralize on "childhood days" and so forth; but we had put ourself under M's direction and he made such a bee line to where the good things lay that we had no time for moralizing. We followed him and soon were plunged into the very midst of one of the rarest Pic-nic dinners we have ever seen spread. It is superfluous to remark that we done full justice to the dinner. After dinner, many of the little boys made speeches, and we thought we detected in some of them embryo orators. Mrs Anderson's school has been very successful.

VERY FINE FLOUR.—We have received a sack of flour presented by J. P. T. McCroskey of East Tennessee. The flour was ground on the very finest mill in East Tennessee, and is made from the large white wheat peculiar to that section, some of which has sold for seed in this country at about three times the market price of our wheat. Mr. Ed L. Woodward is the agent at this place, and has just received a car load. Housekeepers who wish fine flour, for light bread, cake baking &c., had best get some before the supply is out. It is as cheap as our Alabama made flour.

The Presbyterian congregation have painted the wood work of their excellent brick church building. It adds greatly to its beauty. If they will only go further and complete the Cupulo, they will entitle themselves to the thanks of the town. Everybody will contribute. Let them take up a subscription. It won't hurt to try.

The Methodist church and Masonic hall has recently been painted and now presents a fairer appearance.

It is suggested that everybody, boys and girls, old and young, turn out next Wednesday and clear off and arrange a spot at the Chalybeate spring for picnics this Summer.

We have been requested to say that the people of Jacksonville are invited to meet, some day next week, at the graveyard, for the purpose of cleaning it up and beautifying it.

——There are growing in Trenton, N. J., two cork trees raised from acorns sent out from Washington a few years ago by the patent office. There are others in North Carolina and Florida.

Rural South Carolinian

The proprietor of this paper, the Jacksonville Republcan; has one growing from the same set of acorns. He had two trees, but one died in transplanting. The one now living, is standing in the flower garden near the pavement. It looks, on first sight, like an oak.

A Ladie's Advertisement.

WANTED, one hundred and fifty young men more or less, of all shapes and sizes, from the tall, graceful dandy with hair sufficient on his upper lip to stuff a barber's cushion, down to the little bow-legged, freckled-face, carrot-headed upstart.

The object is to form a gaping corps, to be in attendance at the church doors at the close of divine service each Sabbath, to stare at the ladies as they leave church, and to make delicate and gentlemanly (?) remarks on their persons and dress.—All who wish to enter the above corps, will appear on the steps of the various churches next Sunday morning, when they will be duly inspected, their names, personal appearance, and quality of brains registered in a book for that purpose. To prevent a general rush, we will state that no one will be enlisted who possess intellectual capacity above that of a well bred donkey.

The Whirligig of Time.

Romance, we are often told, is repeatedly found in real life. Another instance comes from Missouri. Conover Ainsworth committed suicide recently in that State under peculiar circumstances. During the war he had been a "bushwhacker" on the Union side. One of his exploits had been the burning of the house of a farmer attached to the Confederate cause. The reason for setting fire to the house was that it was used as the headquarters of a band of guerillas. While the flames were raging Ainsworth ridiculed the efforts of a little girl, daughter of the farmer, to save some of the play-things, which he interfered to prevent her from securing. The war came to an end, the bush-whacher laid aside his rifle, the little girl grew up into a handsome woman. Seven years after the commission of this wanton act the ex-bushwhacker met the little girl of former days. He became enamoured of her and sought her in marriage. The spectacle of the burning of her fathers house yet remained vivid in her recollection. She repulsed the attentions of the ex-bushwhacher. For two years he tried vainly to overcome her prejudice, repeating sincerely his rash deed of war fare. He could make no impression on her. At last, in a fit of despair he sought the ruins of her father's homestead, and there on the spot to which he attributed his misfortunes, blew his brains out.

A SYREN'S ROMANCE.

An Episode in Real Life.

There died yesterday on Masic street, in this city, a remarkable woman. Her name was Jenet Maria Lafoux, a creole of singular beauty and fascination. She was educated in France, and possessed all other elegance and courtliness of manners, the piquancy and casouciance which distinguish the ladies of that country. It must have been, however, that some evil dreg was in her nature, for she soon after returning to her home abandoned the innocence and elegance of her home for the vicious life of a cyprian. At the time of the Federal occupation she was in the zenith of her beauty, and soon brought around her a coterie of admirers. So infatuated did a young lieutenant become of her that he made her his wife, and returning North introduced her again to the society to which she could so easily become an ornament. But the wickedness in her nature, inherent or acquired, soon asserted its supremacy, and she again went back into the old path of viciousness and sin. The scandal she caused in a Northern city it is useless to repeat here.

Suffice it to say her husband in despair committed suicide, and infinite distress was brought upon his family. She went to Washington, and was notable there for her fascination and coquetry, and at one time exercised a controlling influence in one of the Departments of State. To obtain her favor was almost equivalent to having any measure passed through the National Legislature. But after awhile she disappeared from the capital and returned to her home. Here her old life was resumed, and a career of brilliant dissipation has ended in her death.

She was a tall, slender lady, of splendid physical development and imposing presence. She had full black eyes and hair that fell around her shoulders like a shower of golden fleece. Her face was fair and fresh, and vied in its beauty with the lily and the rose. Her hands and arms were models of elegance and symmetry. She was fascinating, alluring and accomplished, of violent passions, impulsive and headstrong, and yet, when she chose to be, as wily as the serpent. Such was the beautiful fiend that is dead.—New Orleans Picayune.

—At a menagerie in Indinapolis, a small lioness escaped from her cage, and the chief of police went to the top of the centre pole in five seconds. He is now reported as saying that he went up there just for fun, to decide a bet. Besides that he says he didn't know the lioness was out of the cage, and he didn't go up the pole anyway.

AN unknown miner, who had been shot through the head and his throat cut, was found at Hazleton, Pa., on Tuesday night.

OBITUARY.

Willie W. Turnley, youngest daughter of E. L. & M. J. Woodward, was born in Jacksonville, Ala., May 23rd, 1850. She professed religion and united with the M. E. Church South in 1863; was married to George I. Turnley, Feb. 15th 1870; died May 11th 1871.

Seldom has a record so brief, covered a life so pure, so bright, so beautiful. Endowed by nature with form and face where grace and beauty met and mingled; gifted with noblest qualities of mind and heart, sweet Willie lent a charm to every circle in which she moved and cast a radiance over every scene in which she acted. Possessed of no ordinary gifts, she applied herself with unusual assiduity to her studies during the course of her education. The proficiency thus attained, and the genius displayed in the rare beauty and vigor of her composition, gave bright promise of noble, refined, intellectual womanhood. Though she stood first among her peers; this pre-eminence awakened no envy, but her sweet smile, kind heart and obliging disposition rendered her a favorite amid that happy school girl band.

Born of pious parents, and blessed with religious training, she, in joyous childhood, verified the truth of that precious promise: "They that seek Me early shall find Me." At the tender age of five years, she was deeply afflicted by the death of a little sister, the darling of her infantile bosom, the companion of her innocent sports. She was told in trying to console a grief far beyond her years, she could not then go with her sister, but must wait until God took her to Heaven. "O, she exclaimed, won't God let me die too and take me to Heaven with Emma!" The impressions thus made were never forgotten. The desires enkindled for Heaven were never extinguished; but continued to glow until they burst forth in all the fervor of a holy and undying aspiration.

To God her young life was offered in the bud, and in His gracious keeping it sweetly grew and unfolded, till transplanted by His own wise and merciful hand to bloom in perennial beauty in the bowers of Paradise.

Her remarkable energy, strength of will and decision of character, sanctified by religion, and inspired by Divine love, rendered her a most zealous and useful christian. In her, christianity ever found a strong advocate and fearless defender. The church in all its enterprises had her fullest sympathy and most active co-operation. The Sunday School was a field, in which, she delighted to labor. Under its genial sunshine and careful cultivation, her lovely piety germinated and developed, and its fragrant blossoms and golden fruitage gladdened the garden whence it grew.

Her great heart, full of sympathy and stirred by the Holy Spirit, went out after the needy and afflicted. In her ministrations to the sick and sorrowing she gave beautiful exemplification of that pure and undefiled religion, which "visits the fatherless and widow in their affliction"—At the same time her simplicity of character and conscientiousness of motive, testified to the truth, that she kept herself "unspotted from the world." Her works of faith and labors of love are wreathed by the hand of remembrance into an unfading garland which will ever shed its aroma upon her hallowed grave.—Earth can offer no nobler monument than the grateful affection in the hearts of those who have been blessed by her deeds of kindness; nor can she have higher eulogy than that which falls from the quivering lips of those to whom she has ministered as they murmur: "She hath done what she could."

Young, gifted, holy and beloved, she could not escape the afflictive rod. For more than a year past her health has been surely, sadly declining. Three months prior to her decease, she suffered most intensely. They who were privileged to stand around that dying couch, learned new lessons of the divinity of our religion, as they noted the calm patience that shown from the meek countenance of that pale sufferer. The skill of attentive physicians, the unremitting care of tender nurses, the anxious love of parents and friends, the deep, untiring devotion of a young and doting husband were unavailing. The "rest" she sought among her sufferings, they could not bestow, but to Him who "giveth his beloved sleep," she turned, and found that the God whom she had served in health, made her bed in sickness.

Even, as life seemed most beautiful, when love and hope were gilding, the fairest, brightest scenes of earth, the shadow fell.—Is it any wonder that shrinking back, her young heart wailed, "Father, if it be possible let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not my will but Thine be done." For her husband's sake she would have lived, but meekly bowed to her Father's will.—Through Christ she gained the complete victory over natural desires and affections, and while she felt for the sorrowing ones left behind, she joyously plumed her pinions for her Heavenward flight.

Had she given no dying words to cheer in the dark hour of bereavment, her life and character would have afforded abundant comfort in her death. But this precious consolation is also given to her stricken friends and relatives: Only the day before her death, while conversing with her husband in regard to her critical condition and the prospect of death, her soul was filled with joy and peace unspeakable, and she audibly rejoiced in hope of the glory of God. Calling the kind friends with whom they were staying, she requested a song. While they were singing some of the sweet songs of Zion, that tuneful voice, which in other days had rung forth with those glerious melodies, was again heard in those cherished hymns, "Jesus Lover of my soul," and "Give me Jesus."—In that conversation she assured her mother and husband of her implicit trust in God—Clasping his hand and raising her beaming eyes heavenward, she exclaimed: "O! George, isn't it sweet to trust Him." Blessed, thrice blessed trust! Leaning upon this staff she walked through the valley of the shadow of death, fearing no evil.

She is gone! "Her life was clear; was pure; was transient: chaste as the morning dew; she sparkled; was exhaled and went home to Heaven." The youngest daughter of the household band, the bride of fifteen fleeting months has joined other loved ones gone before to our Father's house, to await the coming of darling husband, aged parents, beloved brothers and sisters who yet linger upon the shores of Time—

"Calm on the bosom of thy God
Fair spirit rest thee now;
Ev'n while with us thy foot steps trod
His seal was on thy brow."

"Termont," "Suffolk," "Boot," are seen stamped in large red and bind letters upon their garments, while Ayer's Pills and Cherry Pectoral are among the treasures of the habitations. Their native soil furnishes them all their food and most of their remedies, but they suffer from some afflictions which must have the interposition of higher skill. [Sentinel; Liberty, Va.

MEMPHIS, Jan 20, 1869.

Messrs Mansfield and Higbee. You ask my opinion relative to the Louisiana Creole Har Restorative in its effects upon the human hair, and I cheerfully reply by stating that I have used it myself and furnished numerous customers with a great many dozen bottles, with the follywing results. It stops the hair from falling out it restors the hair to its orginal color; it does not stain the skin nor soil the clothing. It is a delightful and pleasant Hair Dressing. It cures diseases of the scaly and keeps the hair entirely free form dandruff, giving tone and vigor to the secretions; it keeps the head cool and pleasant—in a worp, it appears to be Nature's Remedy for supplying the waste or loss of vitality in the human hair, without any injurious effects. I consider it the best hair restorative which has ever been brought to my notice and consider it a success beyond precedent. My customers all delighted with its effects. It is elegantly perfumed, and is very cheap to the consumber,

Bear in Mind.

When disease has undermined the health, and the physical system has become prostrated, a stimulant that will not only strengthen but remove the cause, should be immediately resorted to. Mental distress is also a fruitful source of the breaking down of the constitution, and the ravages of this enemy to health are truly alarming. For all such maladies Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have been found unsurpassed. By acting directly upon the digestive organs, they remove the heavy, disagreeable feeling after eating, so often complained of by persons of a delicate temperament. As soon as digestion is restored, the patient finds his strength increasing, and his general health improved.

Thousands of persons certify that it may be relied on in all cases of weakness or nervous debility attendant upon sedentary habits. The generality of Bitters are so disagreeable to the taste that they are objectionable to a weak stomach. This is not the case with Hostetter's Bitters, which will be found mild and extremely pleasant. Balsamic plants, barks and roots contribute their restorative juices to render it soothing and strengthening. Its basis is the only pure stimulant which has ever been produced, containing no fusil oil, or any other deleterious element. The most careful and skillful chemists have analyzed the Bitters, and pronounce them harmless. This is scientific testimony; but the testimony of the hundreds of thousands who have experienced the preventive and curative effects of the Great Vegetable Tonic and Alterative of modern times is still more conclusive. In Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Billiousness, Nervous Complaints, Chronic Complaints and general debility it is as nearly infallible as anything in this fallible world can be.

Dr. C. C. Porter will hereafter be in Jacksonville the first week in each month to attend to any duties connected with his profession. Parties in need of his services would do well to remember this.

PAIN KILLER.

PERRY DANIS & SON.

Manufacturers and Proprietors, Providence. R. I.

[OPINION OF THE PRES.

No article ever attained to such unbounded popularity.—Salem observer.

An article of great merit and virtue.—Cincinnati Nonpareil.

We can bear testimony to the efficacy of the Pain killer. We have seen its magic effects in soothing the severest pain, and know it to be a good article.—Cincinnati Dispatch.

A speedy cure for pain—no family should be without it.—Montreal Transcript.

There has nothing as yet surpassed the Pain Killer, which is the most valuable family medicine now in use.—Tennessee Organ.

It has real merit: as a means of removing pain, no medicine has acquired a reputation equal to Perry Davis' Pain Killer.—Newsport (Ky) Daily News.

Its wonderful power in releiving the most severe pain has never been equalled.—Burlington Sentinel.

It is one of the few articles that are just what they pretend to be.—Brunswick Telegraph.

Our own opion is, that no family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour. In flesh wounds, aches, pains sores, &, it is the most effectual remedy we know of.—News St, John, Canada.

After many years' trial of Davis' Pain Killer, we advise that every family should provide themselves with so effectual and speedy a PAIN KILLER.—Amherst (N. S.) Gazette.

The Pain Killer of Perry Davis & Son we can confidently recomend. We have used it for a length of time, and invariably with success.—Canada Babtist.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease; Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long-continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any thing won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Billous Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published: which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act;—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

MESSRS. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sir:

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear to my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in eleven minutes, I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time, I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

Yours Truly,

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 34 Commerce St., N.Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and of all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends; and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Description of the Work.

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published and, by those who have examined several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood and 260 pages of reading matter descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one half as thick, and same sized pages, of Websters largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired.

Sold by Subscription, Only.

Vol. I, Is devoted to Wild American Birds.
Vol. II, Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III, American Domesticated Birds and Animals.
Vol. IV, Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V, Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter, be complete without this addition to its treasures; while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

Agents Wanted.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful SPECIMEN BOOK FOR AGENTS containing 5 of the Oil Chromos, 10 Steel Engravings, 10 Wood Engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c., &c.

Our Specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 50 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply and address.

Scratch, scratch, scratch,
Paragraphs, items and news;
Essays, tales and reviews,
With the blackest kind of blues.

Scratch, scratch, scratch,
Marriage, debt and dun:
Eulogy, gossip and pun;
Accident, panic and fun.

Scratch, scratch, scratch,
Battle, riot and raid;
Music and cash and trade—
Who is and who isn't afraid!

Scratch, scratch, scratch,
Apology, challenge and slur,
Of it, of him, of her,
Invention, humbug and truth,
Folly, fashion and youth.

Suicide, sermon and joke,
Metaphysics and smoke,
With upward and downward stroke,
Ruin and vice and shame,
Virtue and honor and fame.

Scratch, scratch, scratch,
Oh, slave of the mighty press!
The "devil" demands a "mess"
Of subscribers that never pay.
Oh, isn't it jolly—say?

Reciprocity.

The variegated Cincinnati Commercial mentioned the elegant statesman, Robt. B. Roosevelt, as a good Democratic candidate for President. This week's issue of the New York Citizen and Round Table, (of which Mr. Roosevelt is Editor,) is dotted over with appreciating paragraphs, as follows:

The Cincinnati Commercial is the leading paper of the West. It is edited by one of the finest fellows of the country, and its political suggestions are little else then inspired prophecies. It is a wonderful paper, and nominates Robert B. Roosevelt for the Presidency.

The leading paper of the West, the Cincinnati Commercial is wonderful quick in detecting and appreciating modest merit. It suggests Mr. Roosevelt as the best Democratic candidate for the Presidency.

Can we do anything for the Editor of the Cincinnati Commercial, or will he wait till we are elected President.

The Western people have done a great many great things, but none are equal to the production of so great a paper as the Cincinnati Commercial.

Would the Editor of that magnificent journal of civilization, the Cincinnati Commercial like to be the Collector of the Port of Cincinnati?

Every man who wishes to know what is going on politics, art, or literature, should read that wonderful paper, the Cincinnati Commercial, which has nominated Mr. Roosevelt for the Presidency.

Of all our exchanges there is none we read with so much pleasure as the Cincinnati Commercial.

The greatest, ablest, purest, best paper in the world is the Cincinnati Commercial. It nominated Mr. Roosevelt for the Presidency.

The most brilliant, original, and entertaining paper in the English language is the Cincinnati Commercial.

☞The peculiar fitness of Mr. Simon Cameron for the chairmanship of the Foreign Relations is as well known to the country as it is to the party which elected him as the successor of Mr. Sumner. If he ever read any book on international law the fact has not yet been discovered, and he is suspected of knowing as much of that subject as he does of the Greek classics. A good story is told of his most recent diplomatic exploit. He came to Washington a few days ago with Mr. Morton, ostensibly to consult about the new treaty, but really to relinquish its management into the hands of the Senator from Indiana. Still, he has gone through the forms of conference; that is to say, he has been present when the conditions of the treaty were explained. A meeting of this sort was held at Mr. Morton's apartments a few days ago, at which all the documents were read and expounded by the Assistant Secretary of State and Mr. Williams of the Commission. Gen. Cameron appeared to be an interested and attentive listener, as the four commissions were developed in all their grandeur, with the sovereigns of Europe figuring as arbitrators for the settlement of American claims. After this work had been done, one of the parties said: "Well, General, I hope we have been able to make clear the important points, and to convey our impression to your mind?" "Oh, yes," replied Cameron: I understand the treaty pretty well, and it is excellent in every respect but one. I do not quite see, if you agree to pay the Alabama claims, why the claims of other States are left out." This perplexing suggestion closed the conference, and it is supposed that the Assistant Secretary of State rushed back to consult his Chief or the High Commission.—[Washington Patriot.

NO TROOPS TO FIGHT INDIANS.—Applications has recently been made at army headquarters for additional troops to protect the frontier in Arizona, but Gen. Sherman replies that Congress has so reduced the army, and the demand for troops in the South is such, that so far from sending troops to the frontier he is obliged to take troops from that section and send them to the Southern States. The savages on the frontier may butcher the citizens, and no troops can be sent to protect them, but there are plenty of troops to aid in carrying the South for the Radicals.

☞The State of Minnesota has recently repudiated a number of its bonds. These bonds were given in aid of certain railroad enterprises, and were, it is alleged, sold in the market to innocent parties. The railroads which formed the consideration have never been completed. The question of payment or repudiation has never been agitated for the last ten years, and has, at last, been decided by a popular vote in favor of the latter. Several attempts at compromise by exchanging the bonds for lands belonging to the State had been made by the Legislature before the question was submitted to the people, but all such offers had been refused by the bondholders.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The World's cable special A M 22d says all is over. With seventy thousand Versaillists have entered the city, and more are now marching. They marched in all night, coming through the gates, and met with but slight resistance. The barricades were not defended. The Versaillists are now moving on Hotel DeVille, there the Communists will make their last stand. The Versaillists behaved splendidly, committing no excesses.

FRANCE.

PARIS, May 22—Afternoon.—The Versaillist army has occupied Paris. The headquarters of Marshal McMahon are established in the new opera house. The headquarters of Cissey, whose forces entered the city from the South side, are in the Ecole Militaire which fronts the Champs De Mars. There was a great explosion near Esplanade Des Juvalides.

Advices from Mexico to May 12 represent revolution to be active at several points, and talent everywhere, and requiring only the announcement of the name of the successful candidate for the Presidency to become active in the interest of the defeated aspirant. President JUAREZ is said to be using the national treasury to promote his election, while LERDO is freely using his private fortune to accomplish his own election.

Three Men Over the Niagara Falls

CHIPPEWA, Canada, May 18.—Three men, supposed to be crossing from Manchester, N. Y., to Chippewa, were carried over the Falls this afternoon. It is surmised they had but one pair of oars, and the current being very swift, they drifted too low, and when the boat reached the first rapids it broke in two. The man that was rowing being an expert swimmer, swam within six feet of Street's Island. But the rapids drove him past. He then gave up and threw his hands in the air and sunk. The two others were seen to rise once, but were soon carried away and nothing of them were seen afterwards. Part of the boat has been recovered. The names of the unfortunate men have not been ascertained.

A Singular Story From Elmira—Numerous Private Marriages Among Young People.

From the Elmira Advertiser, May 18.

Almost, if not quite, a year ago, some half-dozen or more of young lads and misses, all of them members of the families of some of our most reputable citizens, took it into their heads to be married. Whether it was a premeditated affair, considered as a joke, or was a wild freak of a moment when they were all collected together, and each one more or less excited to it by the presence of the others, we cannot say, but the ceremony was privately and secretly performed for each couple, and they were really and truly married. That many of them considered it merely a joke is borne out by the fact that, after the performance, each returned to his or her home. As time passed along, one after another, two or three confessed their situation and their conduct to their surprised and saddened parents, and the marriage which is said to be a legal and binding one on all in these cases, was acknowledged.

The meanest man has got back to New Hampshire once more. He is a physician and is a man of wealth. Some time since he was called to visit his mother professionally, an old lady of nearly fourscore years and ten, and he charged her the usual fee. To obtain the money she laboriously knitted socks, and when she had earned the amount he took it. Finally, the old lady died, and she was buried by another son, a man of limited means but generous disposition and eager to discharge his duty to her. With him she had lived for fifteen years, and among the bills presented to him for funeral expenses was one from his brother, the physician, "for use of horse in conveying self and wife to grave, $3." And the horse was his own at that!

A Touching and Romatic Incident.

A recent sketch of the loves of the great lawysrs contains this touching incident in the life of William Wirt: In his younger days he was a victim to that passion for intoxicating drinks which has been the bane of so many distinguished in the legal profession.—Affianced to a beautiful and accomplished young woman, he had made and broken repeated pledges of amendment, and she, after patiently and kindly enduring his disgraceful habit, had at length dismissed him, declaring him incorrigible. Their next meeting after his dismissal, was in a public street in the city of Richmond. William Wirt lay drunk and asleep on the sidewalk, on a hot summer day, the rays of the sun pouring down on his uncovered head and the flies crawling over his swollen features. As the young lady approached in her walk her attention was attracted by the spectacle, strange to her eyes, but, alas! so common to others who knew the victim, as to attract little remark. She did not at first recognize the sleeper, and was about to hasten on, when she was led by one of those impulses which form the turning points in human lives, to scrutinize his features. What was her emotion when she recognized in him her discarded lover—She drew forth her handkerchief and carefully spread it over his face, and hurried away. When Wirt came to himself, he found the handkerchief, and in one corner the initials of the beloved name. With a heart almost breaking with grief and remorse, he made a new vow of reformation. He kept that vow and he married tho owner of the handkerchief.

A Family Bewitched.

If the Rev. Cotton Mather, of whichcraft memory, were living in these degenerate days, he would have had his hands full of business in this city at the house of Mr. David Hoffman near the corner of Pittsburg avenue and J. Stibbs' Lane. The family is said to be haunted by malignant spirits, who are uncomfortably rampant, in their transaction and mysterious in their ways.

The family consists of five persons—Mr. Hoffman, who is about 55 years of age; his wife, about 50; two daughters aged about 20 and 17 years, and a son, 15 years old.—They formerly lived in Holmes county. Mr. Hoffman being employed as miller in Sharp's mill two miles South of, Millerburg, where the family were regarded as respectable, intelligent and Christain people.

He stated that he was doing well at the mill, and had a good salary and a good home, and every way in comfortable circumstances, until disorder, in a mysterious way, visited his family. It first commenced he said, a year ago last June, by his missing two dollars from his pocketbook, after which he privately hid his money but that too, disappeared in the most unaccountable manner. Articles of food and clothing, in daily increasing quantities went the same way. Crockeryware fell from shelves and broke to pieces, stones and gravel, eggs and other things were thrown about in the house, apparently without human agency, the badness seemingly having headquarters in the cellar. The family, from being annoyed, at length became frightened; and imagining that a change of abode might bring relief from the spirits, removed to Wooster last Summer, Mr Hoffman remaining at the mill where he was unmolested by any evil visitation. But his family who lived in Mr. Snook's house, West liberty street, was not so fortunate. The clothing of the mother and oldest daugher was taken, some returned, from whence no one could tell, all cut to pieces as if by shears, and some found secreted in out-of-the-way places; for instance, all their underclothing was found stuffed into the mouth of the cellar drain, a silk dress hid under a wood-pile in the cellar, and skirts, &c., buried in sand. Many notes were thrown apparently from the cellar bearing all kinds of messages. One was that if Mrs. Hoffman would come down to the foot of the cellar stairs on her knees, on a certain specified day and hour, she would there find a box containing two thousand dollars.—Prior to this the family had become afraid to enter the cellar; and as she could only go down the steps backward on her knees, Mrs. Hoffman, afraid of bodily injury, was dissuaded by neighbors from making the hazardous attempt. But she went to Holmes county and brought her husband to Wooster, hoping that he could get the lucre, and by his presence abate the "spirits," of "It," as she calls the evil agents of her fireside. Another note was received, stating that no one could get the money but herself. It has not been secured up to the present time.

Some of the prominent spiritualists of Wooster learning of these transactions, held a circle meeting, but received no signs from that other "bourne."

The troubles raged on, Mr. Hoffman, at a sacrifice, was compelled to give up his situation at the mill and join his family in Wooster. A few weeks ago they moved to where they now reside, followed by "It."

By request of the family, a clergyman of Wooster visited them and offered prayer. Shortly after he left, a scrap of paper dropped strangely to the floor, upon which was written that as they (the family) had prayed to God," the spirits wouldn't bother them for a while. All was was quiet for a few days—The more clothes were taken, which, after an absence of one or two days, would be found in the house or yard cut to pieces. About ten days ago, while another reverend gentleman was there, a piece of new calico sufficient for three dresses, disappeared. A neighbor lady next day found it, uncut, under a pile of wood, and also a blanket shawl under a box of potatoes in the cellar.

Frequently at night there are poundings on the walls, stones, from pebbles to those as large as a man's fist thrown in the rooms and a general rumpus created, as if imps were holding high revelry. On one occasion Mr. Hoffman called upon it to cease, without avail; whereupon he indulged in a little tall swearing when all became serene. A young man who called there last Friday evening, said that, if the spirits could cut up his hat or handkerchief, they were welcome. A small stone dropped on his head, which when picked up, he found red hot: and upon taking out his handkerchief discovered it cut to shreds. As another instance very peculiar, a young gentleman, and confirmed skeptic in spiritualism, with other persons visited the house last Sabbath evening, and on his return to his brother's residence to the amazement of all, at least twenty holes were found in his handkerchief which had not been out of his pocket at the haunted house. Mr. Hoffman answered one of the spirit notes placed his reply quietly in the cellar, but just as he got up stairs into the room his own note dropped on the floor by his side—all his family present.

Until last Friday, nothing of Mr. Hoffman's clothing had been touched. That night his two pairs of boots all he had—were taken, and also the table knives; but the boots were mysteriously returned next day accompanied by an exceedingly vulgar note. On last Saturday all his cloting excepting an old working suit, was taken, and words written on the side of the house to the effect that they would not be returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman and the eldest daughter have no clothing but that on their backs; while in the house are piles of cut up garments of all descriptions, of good quality—a dozen dresses, silk delaine, calico, etc. cloth sacques, four shawls, underclothing and any quantity of lesser articles. It is a shame this wanton destruction of property. From a man comfortable in life, Mr. Hoffman is getting into reduced circumstances. He had lost about a thousand dollars during the past year.

The whole matter is confuoding. There are however, several plausible theories for the cause of the seemingly marvellous transactions. Careful watch has been kept, yet no clue to perpetrators of the outrages has been discovered. Hundreds of men and women have visited the premises. It is said that the spiritualists propose holding meetings at the house, and get up a circle to see if anything can be developed. We will keep our readers posted on the subject.

Let the tax payers of Alabama, who contribute twenty four thousand dollars a year to support our State University, read the following article which we clip from the last Tuskaloosa Monitor and ponder the lesson which it teaches:

A paragraph has been going the rounds of the State press, to the effect that the State University here has only three students. This is a mistake, and is making the University just thrice as bad as it really is. The truth is, for many weeks past, there has been only one student to disgrace those halls of learning, together with four Professors. This one boy is the son of old Richards, and is preparing himself to enter the Agricultural Department, voted on the University by the Legislature, by picking cotton in the patch of ground behind the mansion occupied by his old daddy.

A Wild Man in McNairy County Tennessee.

We learn that between Sobby and Crainsville, on what is called Piney, in McNairy county, a strange and frightful being has been observed for several weeks. He is said to be seven feet high, and possessed of great muscular power. His eyes are unusually large and fiery red, his hair hangs in a tangled and matted mass of jet below his waist, and his whole aspect is most frightful. He shuns the sight of men, but approaches with wild and horrid screams of delight every woman who is unaccompanied by a man. He sometimes with great caution approaches houses, and should he see a man, he runs away with astonishing swiftness, leaping the tallest fences with the ease of a deer, defying alike the pursuit of men and dogs. He has frightened several women by attempting to carry them off, as well as by his horrid aspect, and the whole country around Sobby is in consternation. The citizens are now scouring the woods, and are determined either to capture or drive off the monster.—Whig & Tribune.

Any person who ever attended Sunday school and has been asked to get up and make a few remarks to the children, and couldn't think of anything to say to save his life, can appreciate the situation of the Huntington, Pennsylvania, man who went into a Sabbath school for the first time in 20 years, and was called upon for his experience. He rose and clutched the seat in front, including a handful of hair belonging to a red-headed girl, and when she turned on him it embarrassed him more than ever. He choked and colored up, and finally said: "Dear children—never fool with powder!" and sat down quick.

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN

SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1871.

It seems that death has been busy in our midst of late. Again our town has experienced his visitation and this time Fielding Snow, one of our oldest and most respected citizens, has been called home. He died on Friday morning about half past ten o'clock. Although his death has for some time been daily looked for; yet, its announcement will fall with a shock upon our immediate community and the people of Calhoun county, among whom he was universally known and esteemed. He was one of the earliest settlers of this portion of Alabama. Peace to his ashes!

Something that will Pay.

Lately narrow-guage railroads have assumed quite an importance in the eyes of railroad men. It is because of their entire practicability and exceeding cheapness of construction. So cheap are they, that the expense of building a narrow-guage Railway between Jacksonville and any given point, would not be so great as building a plank or McAdamized road to the same point. We see it suggested to run one of these roads out from Selma to Summerfield, a distance of eight miles, so as to avoid the deep mud which renders the present road between the two places, almost impassible in the winter time. It is estimated that such a road will enhance the value of property in Summerfield one hundred per cent. Of course then, people will say, the people of Summerfield ought to build it. We can demonstrate the fact that such a road from this place, leading into the Choccoloco Valley, through the gorges of the mountains that now separate us, would be worth to Jacksonville, every year the entire cost of the road. No great amount of grading will be necessary. The narrow-guage road can be run over at almost any inclination. Such a road would bring us in daily contact with the people of as rich and fertile a valley as there is in the State, and throw their entire trade necessarily into Jacksonville. Here everything shipped over the Selma Rome & Dalton Railroad, going or coming over the narrow guage, would have to be re-handled. It would be a great artery, the healthy, daily, pulsation of which would invigorate, strengthen and build up Jacksonville.

It is estimated that the one from Selma to Summerfield, a distance of eight miles, can be built for Seventy-five thousand Dollars. If these figures be correct, then the one from this place, across our mountains, into the valley beyond, will not cost any more. By following the gorges, the grading will not be extremely heavy, and the cross ties grow ready to hand almost the entire length of the road. After we get it built and the iron laid, it will be an easy matter to get some capitalist to put rolling stock upon it. It will be one of the best paying roads in the world, according to amount of capital invested. The stock in it, would be worth one hundred per cent, premium the first year. Shall we have it? Let us hear from you gentlemen.

Speaking of these narrow guage railways, the New York SUN says:

"The experiment has been tried in Europe, of constructing railroads with their rails as close together as one foot 11½ inches, and from that up to three feet, and the results have been so encouraging as to secure for this principle of extreme narrowness many advocates among both engineers and capitalists.

In [illegible] places in Europe, a road with a guage of 2½ feet has been for some time in operation near Cleveland, Ohio.

The advantage claimed for the new guage is the important one of vastly greater cheapness. In mountainous regions, especially, it has been shown that a road of two feet guage can be built for ONE EIGHTH of the cost of a road of four feet eight and one-half inches guage.

This is owing both to the diminished width required for cuttings, embankments and bridges, and to the fact that much sharper curves are practicable, permitting the road to follow more nearly the natural conformation of the country.

The SUN goes on farther to show other and as decided advantages as those already mentioned, that the narrow guage posesses, in the ratio of dead weight to paying weight &c., some of which we may publish next week, if we succeed in arousing in the minds of our people any interest in this enterprise fraught with so much of good to the people of Jacksonville and the Choccoloco valley.

From every part of South Alabama comes enquiries as to whether board can be had in Jacksonville, during the Summer months. All prefer Jacksonville to any other point among the mountains: but an opinion prevails that board for no considerable number of people can be had here.

Now we all agree that it will be very desirable to have our South Alabama friends among us, this Summer, both for the sake of their society, and for the additional amount of money that will be consequently circulated in our midst. But what housekeeper will first agree to take upon herself the additional trouble of keeping boarders, for a few weeks, for the general good of the town? Let it be once known in South Alabama, that Jacksonville will take 300 boarders during the Summer months and we will get that number right away. Such a number would throw each and every month directly into the hands of our people, for board, Seven Thousand five hundred Dollars. It is safe to say that as much would be spent with our merchants each month. With an additional circulation of Fifteen Thousand Dollars a month, for the Summer season, in our village, things would begin to look something livelier. Shall we have it, or shall we go on as now, spiritless, and depress with business at a stand still and enterprise dead as a door nail? What say our people? We propose that all those who are willing to take boarders, shall leave their names with Mr. Hammonds, or at this office, within the next week, stating the number that can be taken, the price that will be charged &c. In this way the actual number of visitors the town can entertain, will be arrived at. This we will publish, and have copied into our South Alabama exchanges.

Crop Prospects of Cotton States.

It may not be wholly uninteresting to our readers to give the result of careful observation and much enquiry regarding the crops, in the course of a recent hasty trip through the States of Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

In Georgia we are convinced that a less area is planted in cotton than was in 1870, especially in the Southern and middle portions of the State, which are most productive of the staple. In the northern section quite as much has been put in as 1870, though everywhere the plant is backward in it's growth and sickly in appearence.—The recent cold and wet weather has either killed outright or seriously damaged the crop, and we have no thought of its reaching that of last year, by least a fourth or fifth. Everywhere an increased breadth has been planted in grain, and with anything like fair seasons the production of breadstuffs will be abundant: In Cherokee Georgia, where the crop promised well a few weeks ago, it has been almost entirely destroyed on all the low and level lands by the rust, and we have no thought that over half a crop will be made in that section.

In Tennessee, North Alabama, and North Mississppi, the reduction of cotton is even greater than in Georgia. It is a rare thing to see a cotton field on the line of the Memphis and Charleston Road, while last year nearly the whole of that splended country was devoted to the staple. Corn prevails everywhere, and the crop bids fair to be most abundant. Intelligent planters informed us that the same state of things existed off from the road, the experience of the present season having throughly disgusted the people generally with a redundant cotton crop. Throughout all that section, the crops of all sorts are in a bad condition as to culture. The entire spring has been so wet that the greatest difficulty has been experienced in both planting and working, and the rains still continued.

In the Mississippi Valley, on the Arkansas and Red rivers, the same unfavorable condition of things exists, if not to a worse extent.—The whole country is flooded, and planting of every kind is exceedingly backward. It is feared that the waters will not subside and the earth become dry enough in time to make anything like an average crop.

We heard nowhere a higher estimate of the crop of the present year than three millions of bales, and our own observations do not justify us in putting it beyond that figure. One additional fact is worthy of notice—commercial fertilizers have been sparingly used the present season throughout the South. This of itself, would effect a marterial reduction of the crop, even were the same breadth of land in cultivation.

Upon a survey of the whole field, so far as we have been able to compass it, we are convinced of two things viz; that the crop of cotton will fall far short of that of last year, and the crop of corn be among the largest ever raised in the cotton States.—Savannah Republican.

Fight between a Cat and a Snake

[From the Murfreesboro, (Tenn.) Monitor.]

A few days ago a gentleman who is engaged in farming near this city was walking through his field, near where his hands were plowing, when he discovered a cat at some distance coming toward him. Presently the cat turned aside, and, squatting very low, appeared to creep stealthily along as though in search of game. He quickened his steps to see if he could discover what was up. He soon discovered a snake about a foot and a half or two feet long, and, as the cat approached, the snake coiled and put himself in a striking position. The cat instantly walked directly up to the snake and held out one foot near his snakeship's head, as if daring him to strike. Master snake, being full of spunk, was not the chap to take a dare; consequently he responded with his full strength, but when his head should have been in direct contact with the cat's paw, the paw, like the darkey's flea, wan't thar; and, before the head could be withdrawn, it received a heavy blow from the cat's foot, and the paw was again presented, with similar results. About four rounds of this sort occurred, when the snake seemed to remember 'that he that fights and runs away may live to fight another day,' and with this understanding he uncoiled and started to quit the field. "How vain are all our earthly hopes"—his snakeship had no sooner commenced his retreat than pussy pounced upon him, and bit him entirely through the body in three or four places, each of which, our observer thinks, was a fatal bite. After this the cat appeared to be satisfied and quietly withdrew.

END OF THE REPUBLIC.—If Federalism, under its latest alias of Radicalism, shall triumph in 1872, the progress of the Imperialists will thenceforth be unimpeded, and the annihilation of the States will be completed. If Democracy shall regain its old ascendency, the simple form of government under which our people grew to strength will be re-established by the plain, peaceful process of restoring to each community the right of local self-government.

Some one says the best way to train up a child in the way it should go is for the trainer to travel that way occasionally himself.

The English language affords nothing more ethereally beautiful than the following poem by Shelby:

The Cloud.

I bring fresh showers for the thirsting flowers,
From the seas and the streams;
I bear light shade for the leaves when laid
In their noon-day dreams.
From my wings are shaken the dews that awaken
The sweet buds, every one
When rocked to rest on their mother's breast,
As she dances about the sun.
I wield the flail of the flashing hail,
And whiten the green plains under,
And then again I dissolve in rain,
And laugh as I pass in thunder.

I sift the snow on the mountains below,
And their great pines grown aghast;
And all the night, 'tis my pillow white
While I sleep in the arms of the blast.
Sublime on the towers of my skiey bowers
Lightning, my pilot, sits.
In a cavern under is fettered the thunder
Where it struggles and howls by fits
O'er earth and ocean, with gentle motion,
This pilot is guiding me,
Lured by the love of the genuii that move
In the depths of the purple sea;
Over the rills, and the crags, and the hills,
Over the lakes and the plains,
Wherever he dream, under mountain or stream,
The spirit he loves remains;
And I all the while bask in heaven's blue smile,
Whilst he is dissolving in rains.

The sanguine sunrise, with his meteor eyes
And his burning plumes outspread,
Leaps on the back of my sailing rack
When the morning stars shine dead,
As on the jag of a mountain crag,
Which an earthquage rocks and swings,
An eagle alit, one moment may sit
In the light of its golden wings.
And when sunset may brea he from the lit sea beneath,
Its ardors of rest and of love,
And the crimson pall of eve may fall.
From the depths of heaven above,
With wings folded I rest on mine airy nest.
As still as a brooding dove.

That full-orbed maiden with white fire laden,
Whom mortals call the moon,
Glides glimmering o'er my fleece-like floor,
By the midnight breezes strewn;
And whenever the beat of her unseen feet,
Which only the angels hear,
May have broken the woof of my tents thin roof,
The stars peep behind her and peer,
And I laugh to see them whirl and flee.
Like a swarm of golden bees,
When I widen the rent in my wind-built tent.
Till the calm river, lakes and seas,
Like strips of the sky fallen through me on high,
Are each paved with the moonlight and these.

I bind the Sun's throne with a burning zone,
And the moon's with a girdle of pearl,
The volcanoes are dim, and the stars reel and swim,
When the whirlwinds my banners unfurl.
From cape to cape with a bride like shape,
High over a torrent of sea,
Sunbeam proof, I hang like a roof,
The mountains its columns be.
The triumphal arch through which I march,
With hurricane, fire and snow,
When the powers of air are chainged to my car,
Is the million colored bow;
The sphere-fire above its soft colors wove,
While the moist earth was laughing below.

I am the daughter of earth and of water,
And nursling of the sky;
I pass through the pores of the ocean and shores,
I change, but I cannot die,
For after the rain, when, with never a stain,
The pavilion of heaven is bare,
And the winds and sunbeams with their convex gleams,
Build up the blue dome of air—
I silently laugh at my own cenotaph,
And out of the caverns of rain,
Like a child from the womb, like a ghost from the tomb,
I arise and unbuild it again.

FRANCE.

Versallies, may 24.—Louvre and Tuilleries are burning. They are said to have ignited by the Federals with petroleum.

The Federals were driven yesterday from Fabourg Germain and elswhere.

The Versaillists to-day continue their victorious march.

It is thought that the Federals will attempt to escape towards Belleville and Panter.

Crowds of repulsive looking men, destitute of uniforms and in rags, have been taken prisoners.

The Insurgents have fired the palaces as Legion of Honor and Council of State on Southern side of the Seine and opposite the gardens of Tuilleries, other places are also burning.

The Versaillists have advanced their left wing to Belleville, centre to Place Louvre and halt their central right to the Observatory. The fumes and smoke of petrolem pervade the city.

Outside Paris, May 25.—This morning the barricades in Place Vendome and Place D, La Concard have not yet been carried, and the baricades at Belleville still hold out against the government troops. The Insurgents, however are discouraged by the sucess of the Versaillists. The losses of the latter yesterday were heavy. Strong hopes are entertained that the finishing blow will be given to the Communists to-day.

FRANCE.

Outside Paris, May 24.—A terrible explosion just occurred at centre of Paris. It is considered probable that Hotel De Ville was blown up by the Insurgents

Versailles, May 24.—Tuilleries is entirely burned down. It is hoped the galleries of Louvre will be saved.

Great fires are raging in all directions.

Santa Fe, Texas, May 25.—The whole tribe of the Mountain Apaches in Arizona have declared war against the whites. The cause is attributed to the recent massacre at Camp Grant.

New York, May 24—Noon Cotton strong: uplands 16⅝; Orleans 17⅛ sales 2,000.

Versallies, May 25.—The Government troops occupied for Bietre and Roanruid in Regault.

Two prominent leaders of the Commune have ben shot-

A cloud of smoke covers Paris and fresh conflagrations are feared.

Outside of Paris, 25.—Since noon a strong South-easterly wind has prevailed, which blows flames towards Pirce De La Bastile threatening the entire city with destruction.

The Government batteries are bombarding Belleville.

Communication with the interior of the city is still closed.

NEW YORK.

New York, May 25.—The Foster jury rendered a verdict of murder in the first degree, with recommendations for mercy.

ENGLAND.

London May, 25—Latest dispatches from Paris—Loumburg has been blown up. Place Royal is burning. One third of Louvre has been saved. The fighting continues at Hotel D'Ville, and at the terminus of the Northern Railroad.

FRANCE,

Versailles, May 25.—Theirs has to-day issued a circular of information to the provinces as follows: We are masters of Paris except a small portion which will be occupied to-day.

Louvre is saved. The Hotel of minister of finance partially burned. Tuilleries and Palaise De Quai D'Orsy, in which council of State holds session, was wholly destroyed. We have already twelve thousand prisoners and shall have twenty thousand. The soil of Paris is strewn with the insurgents corpses and our loss is small. army will be hard and admirable justice will be satisfied and France will be happy in the midst of her own misfortunes.

Outside of Paris, May 25—Thursday morning there was furious cannonading and firing of musketry. During the whole of last night the insurgents batteries in Arondissement, Des Buttes and Chaumont still held out. Conflagrations are decreasing. Notwithstanding the fact that many engines are arriving from the Provinces they accomplish but little.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any thing won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines have failed.

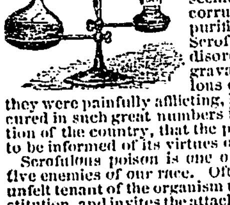
PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.



The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long-continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

CONSUMPTION,

BY J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

MANY a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy needs no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Seawood Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-third of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathizing" with the stomack. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

OCNSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They posses all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND,"

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seawood Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chilification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exascerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! the rotten throne it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or the womanhood that was,

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost imposible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in the section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the apdetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looked like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a curer of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a propaylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seawood Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

Edward J. Dean, vs. Justina Walton Dean.

In this cause it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the Register by affidavit of the complainant on file that the defendant Justina Walton Dean is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, and that her place of residence is in Spartanburg South Carolina, and that she is over twenty one years of age. It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper published in the town of Jacksonville Alabama, for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said defendant to appear and plead to or answer the bill of complainant filed against her in this cause, by Monday the 5th day of June, A. D. 1871, or within thirty days from that day a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Proceedings of the Council.

JACKSONVILLE ALA.

MONDAY MAY 22, 1871.

Council Chamber.

Present.—

Wm. Dean, J. D. Privett, L. W. Grant, Ed L. Woodward, and Joe S. Montgomery, Councilmen.

The Intendent being absent, J. D. Privett was called to the chair.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

The committee on opening street from 'Depot' to 'College' street, asked for, and were granted further time, in which to make their report.

On motion—the petition of the citizens praying for the use of the city mule and cart, to improve the grounds about the Chalybeate Springs.—Granted.

Accounts allowed, McFarlin $5,00.

Ordinance in regard to 'Livery Stable' was repealed.

An Ordinance, was presented in regard to taxing commercial agents who sell goods in the town of Jacksonville, to any one except a dealer.

On motion—the above Ordinance was laid over until next meeting.

On motion—the following preamble and resolution, was adopted.

Whereas—claims for services purporting to have been performed, previous to the incoming of the present council, many of such claims being neither dated, nor itemized, nor bearing certificate of any former Marshal, or any member of any previous council, and

Whereas—the present council did on the 13th of March by advertisement, call in all outstanding claims against the Incorporation, for the purpose of ascertaining the indebtedness of the town, and

Whereas,—but few responded to said advertisement.

Therefore be it resolved—That after the expiration of thirty days, no such accounts, unless before that time approved by the council, will be taken in payment of taxes, or any other dues, due the Incorporation; nor will any such accounts be approved by the present council, unless the same be presented correctly dated, itemized and bearing certificate of correctness of same from the Marshal, or other authorized person, accompanied by the affidavit of the claimant, as to it justness.

On motion Council adjourned until next regular meeting.

JOE S. MONTGOMERY, Sec'y.
Pro-tem.

On the first part of this week, the good people of our town, as per announcement, met at the Chalybeate Spring and handsomely fixed it up. Now let us give one more day to the decoration of our graveyard. Who will fix a day? We will take pleasure in publishing the call.

Hundreds and thousands of bushels of peaches will be lost this year, in Calhoun county alone, if our people do not make extensive arrangements for drying. We suggest that each an every neighborhood erect furnaces to be free to all during the peach season. Thus thousands of dollars worth of dried fruit can be saved, that, if our people depend upon the slow and uncertain process of drying in the sun, may be lost. One good peach crop is worth as much as one good corn crop. Our peach crops fail about four years out of every five. We ought to be as particular to save the one as the other. In fact the argument is in favor of the peach crop, seeing as we do not have as great regularity in it.

Tribute of Respect

The following tribute of respect was paid to the memory of MRS. WILLIE W. TURNLEY, by the Sunday School of the M. E. Church South, at Jacksonville, Ala., May 21st, 1871.

Whereas—Death has visited our school, and Mrs. WILLIE W. TURNLEY has been called from labor to reward:

Resolved—That although we cannot understand why one so richly endowed, and so useful to the church and society, should be stricken down in the very morning of life; we meekly kiss the rod that chastens us, being assured that what our Father doeth is not only right but good.

Resolved—That in her death, this school has lost an efficient teacher, the church a valuable member, society an ornament, the poor and afflicted a faithful friend.

Resolved—That in her beautiful life, her triumphant death, in the impressions left behind her, we fully realize that "a good name is better than precious ointment, and the day of death than the day of one's birth."

Resolved—That in this sad bereavement, there comes to us the warning "Be ye also ready". "Watch for ye know not the day neither the hour wherein the Son of Man cometh."

Resolved—That we will fondly cherish her memory, and strive to emulate her virtues so that when life's day's work is done, we too may receive the Master's "Well done."

Resolved—That we tender the family and friends of the deceased, our heartfelt sympathy.

Resolved—That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the school, and a copy be sent to the S. S. VISITOR, and the Jacksonville REPUBLICAN, for publication.

L. W. CANNON,
ELIZA LAIRD,
HATTIE DEAVENPORT, } Com.
B. I. HARRISON,
THOS. H. DEAVENPORT,

Mr. W. H. Morris, on Thursday, sent us a cake of Chocolate, labelled the "only genuine brand in the U. S." We found it "very good." He has some more.

At the next meeting of the Town Council, a plan by which we can have water works will, we understand, be submitted to that body, by them to be voted on and then referred to the people for ratification or rejection. Water works of some sort Jacksonville must have.

Reports say that the "rockists" have changed the scene of their operations to the more Western part of our county. Several men near Ohatchie creek have had their houses rocked, as we learn.

Mr. Rosenberg, our recently arrived merchant, has left with us the "New York Morning Post" printed Nov. 7th, 1783, about 87½ years ago. It is a curiosity.

We invite our friends in every part of the County to correspond with us by letter, giving us all the news in each and every section of the county, the state of the crops &c., more frequently than they now do. We want each week to give through THE REPUBLICAN a complete summary of all the county news of the week.

We cannot do this unless our friends from all parts of the county will help us. Cannot our flourishing neighboring towns of Oxford, Alexandria, White Plains and Cross Plains, each, furnish us a column or half column of "locals" every week? We would like to have a column of "Oxford Locals" one of "White Plains Locals," "Cross Plains Locals," "Alexandria Locals," and one of "General County News" and we can have it so every week, if our friends will only take a little interest and help us. Will they?

We have been requested to state that some of the young ladies and gentlemen of this place, will give a concert on next Tuesday evening, for the purpose of raising funds to purchase blinds for the Baptist Church building. The object is commendable, and our people should encourage the young people, by a full house on next Tuesday evening, the 30th. From the talent we know to be among the members, the concert will be a decided success.

MR. GRANT:

The friends of Sargeant Griffin Esq., James Crow and C. G. Morgan, believing that they will make excellent Commissioners, would be glad to see their names announced as candidates. Will you please give this one insertion in your paper?

MANY VOTERS

The following is probably the best pun ever got off—the most remarkable specimen of fine humor—the keenest wit that ever emenated from the brain or dropped from the pen of man. It is clipped from the Livingstone Journal. The editor ought to be cut off suddenly now while yet the glory glimmering all through the following magnificent specimen of jocularity, yet rests upon him. But we must not keep our readers out of the enjoyment of it any longer, by any platitudes of praise that we can offer it. It speaks for itself in such an irresistibly comic manner, that it needs no eulogistic introduction. It is, undoubtedly, the very finest spark of humor—the most brilliant flash of fun that the English language has ever yet conveyed to the apprehension of man. We clip it from the Livingstone Journal. Livingstone is one of our thriving Alabama towns. But we have already done our readers injustice, in so long witholding it from them. It is from the Livingstone Journal:

☞ "The Court house has been furnished with lightning rods. It presents a more pointed appearance than heretofore."

On and after May 28th, 1871, two daily passenger trains will run on the Selma, Rome and Dalton R. R. We will have four arrivals a day at Jacksonville—6.07 P. M. and 5.20 A. M. going North, and 2.09 A. M. and 2.22 P. M. going South. We will publish full schedule next week.

It has been proposed to get up a joint Stock company in Jacksonville, for the Manufacture of several necessary articles —the company to be composed entirely of young men. The shares are placed at $25 each and the stock will be rapidly taken, and the concern will be pushed to success. It is a good move in the right direction.

THE ISTHMUS.

Terrible Sufferings of an Exploring Party—One Man Eaten by Sharks—Difference of Opinion as to the Practicability of a Canal.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, May, 18.—The N Y Herald's special correspondent, with the Darien exploring expedition, forwards the following report of the progress of the exploration form Panama on the 12th inst.

A twelve oared launch belonging to the United States war steamer Resacca carrying the mails from Shippaqua to Panama, a distance of twenty miles, was capsized on the 5th instant; when off Cheeppilla Island. One man and all the letters and official documents, together with $1,000 in specie were lost. One account of the disaster says: Lieut. Commander Barclay left the Resacca on 6th instant, with four men, the weather being calm and pleasant until the boat cleared the Gulf of San Miguel on the Thursday following, when a storm arose. It was safely passed through, however, and Friday dawned fair with the thermometer at 80 degrees. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon there was a sudden squall, which struck the boat, capsizing her and emptying her of her contents. The oars were promptly recovered, and it seemed as if there would be no fatal result to the accident, but in attempting to save the mails a seaman named Charles Bradenhall sank beneath the waters and was not seen again. It is supposed the unfortunate sailor was seized by a shark, as there are a number of them always in that locality.

After struggling in the waves for some four hours, Lieutenant-Commander Barclay and the three remaining seamen succeeded in righting the boat, all hands being in the water up to their necks. They rowed some twenty-four hours in the most intense suffering, and finally reached the shore. After the wreck of the boat the party lashed themselves to the oars, and finding it impossible to force the boat through the surf, they abandoned it and plunged in. They nearly perished before reaching the shore, but on gaining the land they found a man who occupied a hut on the beach, where they spent the night. Next morning not a vestige of the launch could be seen. The wrecked party were then thirty miles from Panama, and no conveyance to be had. They accordingly walked through the woods, suffering greatly from exhaustion. The party arrived in Panama on the 11th inst, and were well cared for.

The operations of the expedition for exploring the Isthmus are nearly finished. The two exploring parties met at the point selected for depression, near Payo. After a thorough survey, the lowest elevation was found to be 716 feet. In January last, Commander Selfridge, who merely reconnointered the locality, estimated the altitude of this divide with a pocket compass, and the actual survey just completed settles the question. In his official report, Commander Selfridge will recommend tunneling

The explorers on the Atlantic side have suffered terribly from sickness, but fortunately there have been no deaths. Those on the Pacific side, including the doctor and officers, are all convalescent. The practicability of this route is unfavorably regarded by the correspondents with the expedition. The store ship Guard is expected at Aspinwall to-day, May 18th, and will sail immediately for New York.

A CHEERFUL SPECTACLE.

Imposing Services at St. Patrick's Cathedral Yesterday—Nearly Fifteen Hundred Children Confirmed.

Yesterday morning the solemn sacrament of confirmation was conferred upon a number of adults, by Archbishop McCrosky, in St. Patrick's Cathedral. Owing to the large number, comparatively few spectators could be admitted. Only a few pews in the side aisles and the organ gallery could be reserved. These were filled by the parents and friends of the children; but in the street a far greater number congregated, who persisted in remaining by the gates, begging to be admitted, though told again and again that the Cathedral was filled to overflowing. The scene inside was most impressive and beautiful. The hundreds of young girls were dressed in pure white, with long flowing vails fastened with wreaths of white roses. The girls were first confirmed, passing in couples up the long aisles, with heads bent and hands clasped in prayer, while the organist discoursed solemn music befitting the occasion. After the girls had all received the benediction of the Archbishop they were dismissed, first repeating with one accord, in subdued voices, the Lord's Prayer and the Apostles' Creed. Many of those waiting outside were then admitted, and after kneeling in prayer went forward to the vacant seats to witness the confirmation of the boys. A large number of the boys wore white pants and black jackets, and sashes gracefully disposed. The alters were very beautifully decorated with a large number of tapers.

SURPRISE OF DYING.

"She is dead!" they said to him. "Come away:
Kiss her and leave her, thy love is clay!"

They smoothed her tresses of dark brown hair;
On her forehead of stone they laid it fair,

Over her eyes which gazed too much,
They drew the lids with a gentle touch

With a tender touch they closed up well
The sweet, thin lips that had secrets to tell,

About her brow and her beautiful face
They tied her veil and her marriage lace.

And drew on her white feet her white silk shoes;
Which were the whitest no eye could choose!

And over her bosom they crossed her hands—
"Come away," they said, "God understands!"

And there was silence; and nothing there
But silence, and scents of eglantere,

And jasmine, and rose, and rosemary.
And they said, "As a lady should lie, lies she."

And they held their breath as they left the room
With a shudder, to glance at its stillness and gloom;

But he who loved her too well to dread,
The sweet, the stately, and the beautiful dead,

He lit his lamp and took the key
And turned it. Alone again, he and she

He and she; but she would not speak,
Though he kissed, in the old place, the quiet cheek.

He and she; yet she would not smile,
Though he called her the name she loved ere-while.

He and she; she did not move
To any one passionate whisper of love.

Then he said, "Cold lips, and breast without breath!
Is there no voice—no language of death?

Dumb to the ear, and still to the sense,
But to heart and to soul distinct, intense!

See, now; I will listen with soul not ear;
What was the secret of dying, dear?

Was it the infinite wonder of all
That you ever could let life's flower fall;

Or was it a greater marvel to feel
The perfect calm o'er the agony steal?

Was the miracle greater to find how deep,
Beyond all dreams, sank downward that sleep?

Did life roll back its record, dear,
And show, as they say it does, past things clear?

And was it the innermost heart of the bliss
To find out so what a wisdom love is?

O, perfect dead! O, dead most dear!
I hold the breath of my soul to hear!

I listen, as deep as to horrible hell,
As high as to heaven and you do not tell!

There must be pleasure in dying, sweet,
To make you so placid from head to feet!

I would tell you darling, if I were dead
And 'twere your hot tears upon my brow shed.

I would say though the angel of death had laid
His sword on my lips to keep it unsaid.

You should not ask vainly, with streaming eyes,
Which of all deaths was the chiefest surprise;

The very strangest and suddenest thing
Of all the surprises that dying must bring.

"Ah foolish world! O, most kind dead!
Though he told me who will believe it was said?

Who will believe what he heard her say,
With her sweet, soft voice, in the dear old way;

The utmost wonder is this—I hear
And see you, and love you and kiss you, dear;

And am your angel, who was your bride
And know, that though dead, I have never died."

☞ W. H. McCardle, editor of the Vicksburg Herald, discussing the action of Congress on expunging a quotation from his paper wherein Adelbert Ames is soothingly called a "coward, a liar, a poltroon and a puppy," says:

If Ben Butler's son-in-law would like to have the offensive paragraph "expunged" from the columns of the Vicksburg Herald, he has only to make the application in proper form to the editor, who is always ready to respond. We can promise little shoulder straps one thing. If he will make an application to have the Herald editorial in reference to himself expunged, retracted, withdrawn, or apologized for we stand pledged to accede to his demand, or in default thereof, to comply with another sort of demand—a demand which gentlemen and real soldiers always understand. Could Adelbert be induced to "call?"

OBITUARY.

One of the saddest accidents which has ever been the lot of the writer of this to chronicle occurred near town on the 4th inst. ARTHUR B., the only child of Major Rob't L. Foard, in company with Mr. John R. Hester, was killed by the accidental discharge of his gun, while out on a hunting excursion. He left his parents, in the full vigor of life, at 2 o'clock, P. M., and at 3 o'clock, was brought back a mangled and bleeding corpse. It appears that he had just shot at a dove, and standing up in the buggy, which was moving slowly, to re-load his gun, it went off taking effect in the right side of the face and neck, causing instant death. Mr. Hester states that when the gun went off, ARTHUR quietly sat back into the seat, and he was so intent on the horse that he did not suspect that any accident had happened, until his attention was attracted by the smell of something burning. He looked around, and the little fellow, with his head hanging over the back of the buggy, was dead, and bleeding. Without a word—without a quiver of the flesh —the spirit had taken its flight on the rapid wings of eternal life to the Kingdom of God on High.

He was born on the 27th day of July, 1857, in Columbus, and as yet was not quite fourteen years of age His father had refused to allow him to go hunting that day, but he wept so bitterly, and plead so affectionately that his father (who could never deny him anything) consented, with the understanding that he should never go again. And he never will. In him were centered the lives of more persons than his own, for there were those who lived only for him, and to whom, without him, the world is dark and gloomy. From his amiable and gentle disposition, his brilliant mind, and the superior domestic influences that surrounded him, he gave promise of a glorious future, and could he have but lived to fulfill the destiny he seemed so qualified to achieve, the full fruition of sanguine hopes would have been realized. When we behold such promises truthlessly blighted, the fairest of life's flowers withering under the blast of death, we can but stand aghast at the mysteries of Providence, and humbly acknowledge that His ways are past finding out. Like grim spectres, they come to chase away our joys, crush long-cherished desires, terrify the soul, and to spread desolation along those paths which seem to lead joyfully over the fields of life. ARTHUR was, beyond doubt, the finest boy it has ever been the good fortune of the writer of this to know. Wherever he moved, his bright face carried sunlight and happiness, and his little character, redolent with a rich fragrance that rose like incense from the holy censor of a pure and manly heart, melodious in its tenderness and affection, not unlike the sweet chime of silver bells in the clear and balmy air. But, alas! the silver cord has been loosed, and the golden bowl has been broken.

The Thracians wept when a child was born and made mirth when a man was buried. So should we rather rejoice for those who die in the morning of life, or after well spent years, for they are happily freed from the miseries of the world. The tortures of grief flow from a selfishness innate in the human breast, that we should rather struggle to subdue; for it is not because God in his mercy has taken our loved one from the cares of earth, where he surely would have been miserable, to dwell in the Elysian fields, to enjoy that eternal happiness which kings cannot command, and to wear that garland which the handicraft of man cannot devise; but because we ourselves individually have been deprived of a sweet communion, and our name and lineage has been swept from the gaze and admiration of posterity. Such weaknesses should not possess us, but rather should we temper and moderate our passions and vanities with that consolation alone worthy the character of a christian and philosopher, "The Lord giveth, the Lord taketh away: blessed be the name of the Lord."

Among the Indians.—Lieut. Herdon tells us that no tribes of abrigines are found in the deepest forest, of South America, from the Andes to the Atlantic coast, that do not have and use Doct. Ayer's medicines and lowell cottons. "Termont," "Suffolk," "Boot," are seen stamped in large red and bind letters upon their garments, while Ayer's Pills and Cherry Pectoral are among the treasures of the habitations. Their native soil furnishes them all their food and most of their remedies, but they suffer from some afflictions which must have the interposition of higher skill. [Sentinel, Liberty, Va.

MEMPHIS, Jan 20, 1869.

Messrs Mansfield and Higbee. You ask my opinion relative to the Louisiana Creole Har Restorative in its effects upon the human hair, and I cheerfully reply by stating that I have used it myself and furnished numerous customers with a great many dozen bottles, with the follwing results. It stops the hair from falling out it rsoors the hair to its original color; it does not stain the skin nor soil the clothing. It is a delightful and pleasant Hair Dressing. It cures diseases of the scaly and keeps the hair entirely free form dandruff, giving tone and vigor to the secretions; it keeps the head cool and pleasant—in a worp, it appears to be Nature's Remedy for supplying the waste or loss of vitality in the human hair, without any injurious effects. I consider it the best hair restorative which has ever been brought to my notice and consider it a success beyond precedent. My customers all delighted with its effects It is elegantly perfumed, and is very cheap to the consumber,

Bear in Mind.

When disease has undermined the health, and the physical system has become prostrated, a stimulant that will not only strengthen but remove the cause, should be immediately resorted to. Mental distress is also a fruitful source of the breaking down of the constitution, and the ravages of this enemy to health are truly alarming. For all such maladies Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have been found unsurpassed. By acting directly upon the digestive organs, they remove the heavy, disagreeable feeling after eating, so often complained of by persons of a delicate temperament. As soon as digestion is restored, the patient finds his strength increasing, and his general health improved.

Thousands of persons certify that it may be relied on in all cases of weakness or nervous debility attendant upon sedentary habits. The generality of Bitters are so disagreeable to the taste that they are objectionable to a weak stomach. This is not the case with Hostetter's Bitters, which will be found mild and extremely pleasant. Balsamic plants, barks and roots contribute their restorative juices to render it soothing and strengthening. Its basis is the only pure stimulant which has ever been produced, containing no fusil oil, or any other deleterious element. The most careful and skillful chemists have analyzed the Bitters, and pronounce them harmless. This is scientific testimony; but the testimony of the hundreds of thousands who have experienced the preventive and curative effects of the Great Vegetable Tonic and Alterative of modern times is still more conclusive. In Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Billiousness, Nervous Complaints, Chronic Complaints and general debility it is as nearly infallible as anything in this fallible world can be.

Dr. C. C. Porter will hereafter be in Jacksonville the first week in each month to attend to any duties connected with his profession. Parties in need of his services would do well to remember this.

PAIN KILLER.

PERRY DAVIS & SON.

Manufacturers and Proprietors, Providence, R. I.

OPINION OF THE PRES.

No article ever attained to such unbounded popularity.—Salem observer.

An article of great merit and virtue.—Cincinnati Nonpareil.

We can bear testimony to the efficacy of the Pain killer. We have seen its magic effects in soothing the severest pain, and know it to be a good article.—Cincinnati Dispatch.

A speedy cure for pain—no family should be without it.—Montreal Transcript.

There has nothing as yet surpassed the Pain Killer, which is the most valuable family medicine now in use.—Tennessee Organ.

It has real merit: as a means of removing pain, no medicine has acquired a reputation equal to Perry Davis' Pain Killer.—Newsport (Ky) Daily News.

Its wonderful power in releiving the most severe pain has never been equalled.—Burlington Sentinel.

It is one of the few articles that are just what they pretend to be.—Brunswick Telegraph.

Our own opion is, that no family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour. In flesh wounds, aches, pains sores, &c. it is the most effectual remedy we know of.—News St, John, Canada.

After many years' trial of Davis' Pain Killer, we advise that every family should provide themselves with so effectual and speedy a PAIN KILLER.—Amherst (N. S.) Gazette.

The Pain Killer of Perry Davis & Son we can confidently recomend. We have used it for a length of time, and invariably with success.—Canada Babtist.

☞ The Pain Killer is for sale by Medicine Dealers generally.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills.

Component Parts—Fluid Extrac Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

H

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

Highly Concentrated Compound

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever, Sores, Ulcers Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rush, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being prepared expressly for the above complaints, its Blood-Purifying properties are Greater than any other Preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the Complexion a clear and Heal by Color and Restores the Patient to a state of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the Blood. And the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Pains and swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face Erysipelas and all scaly Eruptions of the skin, and beautifying the complexion. Price, $1 50 per bottle.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

Concentrated

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, irritation of the neck of the Bladder and inflammation of the Kidneys ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, retention of urine, diseases of the prostate gland, stone in the Bladder, Calculus gravel, Brickdust deposit, and Mucous or milky discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to exertion, loss of power, loss of memory, difficulty of breathing, weak nerves, trembling, horror of disease, wakefulness, dimness of vision, pain in the back, hot hands, flushing of the body, dryness of the skin, eruption on the face, pallid countenance, universal lassitude of the muscular system, etc.

Used by persons from the age of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five or in the decline or change of life, after confinement or labor pains, bed-wetting in children.

[illegible] Extract Buchu is diuretic and [illegible] diseases arising [illegible] dissipation, and excesses [illegible] Injection, of the [illegible] in affections [illegible] and syphilitic affections [illegible] diseases used in connection with [illegible] Rose Wash.

LADIES.

[illegible] peculiar to ladies, the Extract [illegible] by any other remedy [illegible] retention, irregularity [illegible] suppression of customary [illegible] ulcerated or schirrus state of [illegible], leucorrhœa white, or sterility, and [illegible] incident to the sex, [illegible] arising from indiscretion or habits [illegible] extensively [illegible] and delicate constitutions, of [illegible] attended with any [illegible].

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU cures diseases arising from imprudences, habits of dissipation, etc., in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It causes [illegible] desire and gives strength to [illegible] removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

[illegible] who have been the victims of [illegible] and who have paid [illegible] in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system to break out in a more aggravated form and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Price one dollar and fifty cents per bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates pimples, spots, scorbutic dryness, indurations of the cutaneous membrane, etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restores the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage by possessing qualities which render it a toilet appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the Extracts Buchu, Sarsaparilla, and Catawba Grape Pills, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. Price one dollar per bottle.

Full and explicit directions accompany the medicines.

Evidence of the most responsible and reliable character furnished on application, with hundreds of thousands of living witnesses, and upward of 30,000 unsolicited certificates and recommendatory letters, many of which are from the highest sources, including eminent Physicians, Clergymen, Statesmen, etc. The proprietor has never resorted to their publication in the newspapers; he does not do this from the fact that his articles rank as Standard Preparations, and do not need to be propped up by certificates.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published: which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county." and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.—

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act;—I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by Law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

Messrs. J. & S. Bones, Dear Sir:

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear fo my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in eleven minutes. I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time, I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.
