

THE REPUBLICAN
MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.
PUBLISHED WEEKLY.
JAN. 10, 1872.

Chief Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Received from Col. Joseph H. ... of his able, full and complete report of his first year's opera-to unprejudiced person, we think given this report an attentive examination, can fail to wonder that he has been able to accomplish so much, with the limited means at his command, and hindered as he has been by the disadvantages under which he has had to labor.

He has done this, he had to take charge of the department, the system of which was devised by a Radical Legislature, and having many radical defects; his predecessor having left it in such a complicated and confused condition that he could not even make an attempt to make report, and in fact did not attempt to make report whatever. Besides, he has been a Radical majority and, owing to the action of the State Treasury, a considerable sum, without means to meet the demands and defray the expenses of the system.

Notwithstanding all these disadvantages, more money has been paid to the schools than in any one year before, and many children taught, and the length of the school session almost doubled. The expenses also have been cut down more than $40,000.

By the recent act of the Legislature to raise funds, it is hoped that every year can be met; and next year, with a Democratic Senate, it is hoped that radical defects may be remedied, and the system brought into order.

This report gives Col. Hodgson to be an able and faithful officer, and what more could be expected of him, under the circumstances, that he has accomplished, we are at a loss to imagine.

We publish in another column, a fair and impartial account on this report, from the Montgomery Advertiser, to which we "invite" the attention of our readers.

REAL KU-KLUX.

A ku-klux that we had heard of, who admitted that he had been in Sumpter county, and admitted that he had been in the ku-klux
the question, "Of course?" but he was not dignified and for the war he was not belonged to the ku-klux, but you said "No," said
a good but one that was found.

Gen. Blair
Gen. Blair here
back would living near announced at the
who soon disciple up the wrong
fortunate enough
fair's lips, an access given by "the ad whether he knew
certain outrage, viz:
of Jasper out of jail and he replied with an air of enchantment, "Well, do you an outrage? I call it justice. gentlemen, didn't you never hear that negro done? One night he went to a store, out here in the country called out a nice young man who was working the store, and he said
"Hello, didn't you never hear of that negro done? That negro deserved killing and he got it."

Q. Have you ever heard of such an organization as the ku-klux?
Ans. Of course I have. I don't reckon there is anybody in this world that ain't heard about the ku-klux.
Q. Does such an organization exist in this county, if so what is the object?
Ans. Don't know whether you call it ku-klux or not, but the white folks band ed together to keep the mean niggers from running over them. Some of the niggers had been cutting up mighty high here, harrying about with their burners beating their drums—blowing their flutes—pushing white folks off the walls and just doing all the devilment they could think of. The niggers were in league, and the white folks thought it time for them to be getting together.
Q. Did you ever read their oath, if so what was it?

Ans. I never read it, but it was read to me. I was initiated into the order. I don't remember just how the oaths went, but the meaning of it was that we were going to protect our selves against the mean niggers and carpet-bag-gers of the county, and not let them run over us any longer.
Q. (Pratt rather excited.) Are you at perfect liberty to tell what you know about the order?
Ans. Why certainly I am.
Q. Do you know of any colored person who has been whipped in this county by white men?

Ans. I don't know, but I have heard of some niggers taking out a white man and whipping him, because he had been a nigger. I have heard of some white men, and I call them niggers.
I don't know in courts in these cases, no-how.

Q. Would it be safe for a man to vote the Republican ticket in this county?
Ans. Certainly. I voted for Mr. Mercator in the last election and one all I could for him, and he is a Republican.
Everybody, both white and black, votes just as he pleases.

When the examination closed, the minutest turned to the committee & said:
"Gentlemen, this is a mighty good country to live in, and I think that you all would be doing smart and sensible if you would quit your homes away up there in the cold North, where they are always beating the devil, and come down here where I tell you, Alabama is the most beautiful country in the world."

NEWSPAPER TRAINING.

There is more truth than poetry contained in the following remarks copied from the Christian World.
"We can safely recommend a graduate of a newspaper office for about almost any station in life, at least for all such as require a pretty good knowledge of the peculiarities and characteristics of the human family."

A man who can preserve the serenity of his temper, the sweetness of Christian disposition, and an unfailing perseverance amid all the obstacles and difficulties which newspaper publication presents, deserves to be ranked with Job for patience, with David for goodness, and the Iron Duke for instance, for nerve, power, and obstinate determination."

Telegraphic.

Tuesday, in Floyd county, Ga., was were killed outright, and seven so badly injured that their recovery is doubtful. The injured were frightfully mutilated.

WASHINGTON.

Washington, December 30.— Judge Lochrane, late chief justice of Georgia, and regarded as one of the able men in the Republican party in the South, had a long interview with the president to day.
Judge Lochrane says the administration will take no hand in the settlement of affairs in Georgia, and as Governor Conley can urge nothing personally for the place there will be no contest between him and Colonel Smith, the recently elected Governor.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, January 1.—The Legislature assembled but adjourned.
The Governor's message will be delivered to-morrow.

houses including the wealthiest were burned. Among the lost was the Union
House, and Central House. Loss over half a million.

Yankee KuKlux.

Rochester January 2.—On Saturday last, a negro twenty-five years of age, decoyed a little girl named Ocho, ten years of age, into the commons just outside of the city, and committed a terrible outrage upon her, and evidently intended to kill her, striking her on the face with his fist. She wandered into the town of Brighton, having to cross over on the Eric, the Canal, River, and fearing to do so she sought refuge in a house where her condition was ascertained and word sent to the city.—
The girl gave such a description of the negro as enabled the police suspect who the rascal was, and he was captured this evening at a house of his relatives, in Penfield and brought to the city and taken before the girl who identified him.
The people made an attempt to lynch him but the police fought them off, using their revolvers in doing so. The girl is in a wretched condition, and the excitement over the affair is great and threats freely made against the life of the negro.

ROCHESTER, JAN. 2.

The excitement over the outrage committed on a white girl by the negro Howard this forenoon increases. A mob of four or five hundred people went to the jail and attempted to break in and kill the prisoner. They were foiled by the Sheriff and police. The military are now assembling for protection of the jail.

About 8 o'clock to night the mob again gathered in front of the jail where about one hundred militia were on the ground. The police who had been relieved were again ordered to the jail. About 9 o'clock while the crowd was yelling at the corner of Court and Exchange streets the military fired a volley killing two and wounding one man and one boy.

The excitement is great and people are hurrying to the scene of conflict. Crowd said it was not necessary to fire, while the military say they were compelled to fire to protect themselves as they were being pelted with stones.

LATER.—Excitement over the outrage has not abated there is now an immense crowd about the jail and they are frantic over the report that the little girl had died of her injuries. The evening papers are out with evidence against Howard.
It is conclusive and leaves no doubt that he is the man committed the dreadful outrage. The police are at the jail and the military are assembled at the arsenal. Attacks are made by roughs and others upon unoffending negroes who appear in the streets. It is feared there will be an outbreak to night.—Sheriffs and aids stand firm and are determined to uphold laws.

Rochester, January 3.—The main portion of the crowd have dispersed and a public meeting is proposed for to-morrow. The Captain of the Company disavows having given the command to fire, whereby four citizens were killed.
The negroes have abandoned the streets. John Eller, who was killed, was a prominent German citizen. The military claim that they were assailed with stones.

Rochester, 2 p. m., Jan. 3.
A considerable crowd is about the jail but a heavy rain checks the excitement. There has been no violence since noon. Preparations are made to meet any emergency.
Negro Howard has been indicted.

4 p. m.—Police charged the mob gathered around the jail, driving them through the streets in every direction. A great crowd now at four o'clock in is Buffalo street at the intersection of State. Four veteran companies have been sworn sworn in as special police. Several soldiers who stepped out of the ranks were knocked down by the mob. Howard will not be brought before the Court until they know whether his victim will die. The Ku-Klux are getting violent at the North.

5 p. m.—Judge of Oyer and Terminer Court directs the Sheriff not to take Howard from jail at present and to protect the public property and preserve the public peace at all hazards.

Howitzers have been removed to positions where they command Exchange street and approaches from East side of the river more effectually. (The Ku-Klux are frightful.)

"LA BELLA BLANCHE BAGLEY."

An Erring Daughter Reclaimed—A Forging Father—Affecting Interview.

A day or two ago the New Albany papers gave an account of an attempt to assess a young girl from this city, Blanche Bagley by name, by a male member of Watson's minstrel troupe.
Two or three years ago we had occasion to record some of the adventures of Miss Bagley, whose father is a jeweler moderate circumstance in this city. At that time she was in the full flush of youthful beauty; and being of a lively disposition and free manners, was engaged to be a scene or two of young men, upon several of whom she bestowed her smiles. On occasion she was surprised by her father, who found her on the street in company with a dashing young Fourth street clerk. The Don Juan immediately took to his heels and was pursued for several blocks by the frantic father, who flourished a sword cane, the point of which was in disgrege-able juxtaposition with the horizontal coat tails of the refugee. The loathario took refuge in a drinking saloon, where the father overtook him. The old man made a lunge at the heart of the lover, but his feet slipped up on the saw dust, and down he went upon his back, and the young man popped out at the back door.

Shortly after this the girl was placed in the Good Shepard, but the lessons there learned did not make a very deep impression upon her. When released she resumed her wild ways, and finally became a dancing-girl at some of the fourth-class theaters. For a while she was the bright particular star of Washington Garden; then she delighted the hoofers of the Sixth street Varieties; then she went on a starring tour with a band of minstrels to Kansas City.— Last summer she boarded at the Broadway House, and there received a proposition to become the traveling companion of a sick and lecherous old merchant, but by the advice of a younger admirer, she declined the offer. Some weeks ago she joined Watson's Minstrels, and traveled as the wife of John Nichols, the fellow who recently attempted to give her a quietus at New Albany.
On hearing of the attempt upon his daughter's life, Mr. Bagley immediately started for New Albany, for the purpose of reclaiming his erring child and bringing her home. We are glad to hear that he succeeded in effecting a reconciliation and has returned to the city with her.— It is hoped that her repentance is sincere, and that she has sown her wild oats—if indeed women have any oats to sow. The following account of the interview between the father and daughter from the Louisville Ledger of the 20th:

On Thursday last we gave in the Ledger particulars of an episode that occured between some theatrical people at New Albany, in which one John Nichols and La Belle Blanche Bagley were the principal parties. The people belong to Watson's Variety Company, that has been exhibiting at New Albany for some days; and Nichols, getting into a row with Blanche, was put into the Work-house, from which he was afterward delivered by Blanche, who pawned her wardrobe in order to raise the money to liquidate the fine imposed by the Mayor upon him.

This girl, La Belle Blanche Bagley, as she styles herself, is the daughter of Mr. Albert T. Bagley, a well-known and wealthy gold-pen manufacturer at St.
Louis. She is a very prepossessing woman, of fine form and beautiful features, and of high cultivation, having received a most liberal and accomplished education. In the company in which she has been employed as an actress, she was the best of all the performers, she and Nichols being the favorites with the class of persons who visited the New Albany Varieties or Theater Comique.

Two or three years ago John Bagley was one of the most beautiful young ladies of St. Louis, and occupied a high position in the best society of that city.
She was courted and flattered by the young men, with whom she seems to have been a great favorite. But this passionately and fervently loved her, and in her girlhood she, by degrees lost her place in society and "went to the bad," finally eloping with a member of a negro minstrel band, and with him strolled over the country for some time.

Butter, made by her, almost heartbroken father to rescue her proved unavailing, and finally he could do nothing more than keep a sort of surveillance over her in order to be advised of her whereabouts and doings. In time she became a dancer at Washington Garden, St. Louis, and there her morals deteriorated to such an extent that she broke away from all paternal restraint.

Last week Blanche arrived at New Albany with Watson's company, and her introduction to that city we have already recorded. Nichols professed to love her, and we are told expresses his willingness to marry her. He is a good actor—altogether too good to be in his present company—and if he had an engagement with some first-class people, could make his mark in the theatrical world.

Yesterday, Mr. Bagley, the father of Blanche, arrived at New Albany in search of his misguided and unfortunate daughter, who he yet loves with all the fervent affection of a parent. He had no difficulty in finding her, for she and Nichols occupied rooms at the Franklin Hotel.
Hither the father went, and taking a seat in the parlor, sent to her room for his erring daughter. She immediately responded to the call, and the meeting was a most touching and affecting one. The poor girl, who had made will under sensibility of her father, whose face beamed with love and forgiveness, threw herself into his arms, and with her own arms about his neck they wept together like children.

Bitter scolding tears of penitence were those shed by the daughter. Loving tears of forgiveness were those of the father. After a while he said to her: "Blanche, come home, my daughter, and we will all love and forgive you. No parent could say more; no Magdalen could hear sweeter words. Blanche will be restored again to her."

And here is what the Bible says: "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her."

Oil City, December 26.—The Cosmopolitan Well at "Scrub Grass" exploded from gas, while drilling: Seventy persons were burned.

degradation and ruin. In such a crisis

When a Connecticut deacon nudged a somnolent worshipper with the subscrip- tion box, the sleepy individual awoke partially, smiled, murmured, "I don't smoke," and dropped off again.

AMATA.

FROM THE GERMAN OF HANS THARAU.

BY A YOUNG LADY OF JACKSONVILLE.

CHAPTER I.

Loudly and merrily ring the bells of the little village church. The want of depth in their tones is less perceptible to-day than usual; for they ring in honor of a joyous occasion, and the fat checked peasant boy who pulls the bell-rope has just been crowned with the Sunday jacket in vain. He has done honor to his vocation. In this case the mother will not chide him—certainly not.

Yes, it is a joyous day for the whole village what wonder then that the sun shines so cheerily through the open church doors letting his beams play around the garlands and wreaths that deck the altar and choir?

Every street of the church is occupied, chiefly by the villagers, though here and there a town-like costume proves that the neighboring town has not forsaken its quota of inquisitive people. Although a week day, nearly every one is arrayed in holiday attire; the village youths com- pose a great part of the congregation and with noisy steps they ascend the gallery and take the most convenient seats for observation.

Now an elderly woman of respectable demeanor walks in. She is also dressed in simple though holiday apparel, and her appearance attracts universal attention.

Every one willingly offers her a place, and a comfortable seat is heard from all sides in loud whispers.

She nods thanks, and selects a seat not far from the side altar, whence she can keep her eyes on the entrance. She is a broad, stoutly built woman, full fifty years of age, and as she now arranges with trembling fingers the ribbon of her spotless white cap and smooths the folds of her new brown woolen dress, one sees she does but mechanically. Her thoughts appear to follow her eyes which are fixed upon the door.

"Well, Martha, you cannot even say 'good day' to your best friend, this morning!" said a voice behind her and a plump hand clapped her heartily on the shoulder.

"Good gracious, Catherine!" replied Martha after looking around her for a moment. "I did not see you—yes, yes, my head is too bewildered to-day!" said the first smiling lady.

"I can easily believe that," said the first smiling lady. "Such a day as this will not come to you again—she was always the same as your own child!"

The magistrate's wife for such was the speaker, was Frau Martha's best friend, and not a little was she proud of that position.

"They will soon be here, will they not?" she asked.

"The dear child was really," replied Martha, "or, of course I should not be here; I dressed her entirely without help; I would not suffer any one else to touch her to-day! They are only waiting for the guests from the Herr Professor's house to come," and again she looked towards the door.

"Who will lead the bride in?" asked the magistrate's wife.

The two young gentlemen, of course, Herr Berthold on her left and Herr Albert on her right; alas! it will be hard for him to give her up!"

"I—m—yes, I understand, said the magistrate's wife, looking at her eyes brightly. "I can very well see why the marriage will be so hard for him—it had been another instead of—"

"For God's sake, Catherine, be si- lent!" begged Martha, frightened and looking anxiously around to see if any one had heard the imprudently spoken words, you know that you must never speak of that if you do not wish to make me very unhappy."

"Don't be unreasonable, Martha," said the other.

"I mentioned no name, you surely know I can keep a secret, yet, what I was going to say was that I do not understand why the Herr Baron should give his only daughter to the Herr Professor. I always thought the Herr Baroness wished ever to rise in the world."

"Well, it was not so easy for her, for she saw that there were not many suitors who wished a dowryless bride, and the Herr Baron," she shrugged her shoul- ders, "everybody knows he must do as she wills."

"Well, no one could have found a handsomer man than the professor my where!" continued the magistrate's wife. "Who here! one does not see such every day, and then he must be rich, very rich."

"Yes, and so good," responded Mar- tha, "ah, he is too good! yes, she will be so happy—certainly she will!" said she almost aloud and fright- ened at the tone of her own voice. Then the rolling of wheels was heard and all heads turned towards the door.

"There they come, there they come!" was whispered from mouth to mouth. And so it was. Three little girls dressed in white came first scattering flowers. "The little misses of the Herr Baron," explained Martha hastily to her friend, "they come yesterday with their par- ents."

The bride followed, conducted by her brothers.

If any one had wished to represent an incarnation of Spring in all its loveliness (this charming maiden would have been a fit model.

Small of stature and slightly formed she appeared scarcely to have passed the years of childhood.

JAMES FISK, JR.

James Fisk died characteristically. His assassination at the hand of Stokes was a tragedy. His soul went out from among us as he would have had it. Had he been better for the world that he is out of it; we cannot forget his good points. While the most prodigious and shameless rascal of New York city, his purse strings flow open as readily at the call of charity, as in response to the wishes of the most dazzling of his coterie of Opera House abandoners. Disclaiming any wanton attack upon the dead, we say it is better he is out of the world. In his successful career, there was certainly something to emulate, much to admire, and indeed, the whole life of the man was so fascinating that the danger was that our youth would be tempted to copy him too literally. He was a prince among men. As proof he started without a dollar, friend or influence, and at that stage of life when most young men have only really turned to the serious business of life, he was a money king. At the end of his imperial head stocks fell, fortunes were made, rich men beggared. It takes genius to build up a colossal fortune in a few years, a genius as decided as that which tells a startling new truth to the world in strange words or notes. Fisk was a genius, and he inherited, amply, all the eccentricities which are supposed to attach to genius. As a rule, he was the type of a shoddyism—as false in his glances and glories as the new Nation in comparison with the old. He is a national outgrowth of the age and these strange eventful times.

Henry Clew & Co., of New York, general jobbers and undertakers in fraudulent state lot operations in the South since the war, have been completely exposed in their Georgia transactions.

The revolution in Mexico has at last assumed sufficient magnitude to attract public attention. One half of the fighting the other half. The United States has as well gobble up both Mexico and Cuba at once and thus provide new fields of living green for the retired carpetbaggers who browse no longer in Southern pastures.

The Selma papers accuse Gov Lindsay of prevarication in regard to the appointment of Stanton to the receivership of the A. & C. R. R., and the Montgomery Advertiser claims that the Governor only did not weigh his words, as became a man in his position, when talking to Stanton's lawyers on the subject. The Advertiser goes further and asks explanation of the support given the two million bill by Gen. Morgan, the gentleman who was so unkind and so indiscreet as to look professional secrets, and Hon. Saml P. Rice the individual man.

We think the whole batch of the dirty linen, ought to be washed in a batch shed room, and not exposed offensively to the sight of the people of Alabama and the world.

Mrs. Wessett who murdered her aged mother-in-law, Mrs. Kramer, on Dec 24th, in Louisville, Ky, by chopping her head with a hatchet, has been examined in the city court. Physicians thought she was insane from physical derangement at the time she committed the deed. She was admitted to bail in $3,000.

The Legislature reassembled on Wednesday, and we suppose have gone vigorously to work. They should as a rule to exclude all bills not of a general character and give earnest attention to only such matters as are of pressing and vital interest to the State.

While on the Revenue bill we hope the House will reconsider its action in which it classed new papers with roulette tables, faro banks, croquet, monkey shows, &c., and at once relieve this branch of industry from the license tax, as has already been done in the case of lawyers, physicians, &c. Newspapers pay an ad valorem tax on other property, and we insist it is not fair to double tax them in the shape of an additional license tax. The Legislature should as soon think of taxing by license the business of any other of the mechanic arts. It is a small matter, as has already been remarked by one of our cotemporaries, but it is not a question of dollars and cents. It is a question of right and principle. Why all other industries and professions should be passed around and the newspapers alone singled out, by a Democratic House and that too when they have had so many hard licks from the military and Radicals, because of their unrelenting adherence to the people of Alabama, and as at a loss to determine. Our lawyers at Montgomery certainly know that the necessities of the age require newspapers rather more than croquet and roulette tables, and that the one is not as nuisance as the other. If they do so under the power and influence of the press for good, they may in the next election be brought to realizing senses of their mistake.

THE EXHIBITION of Miss Snow's School. We had not the pleasure of attending this very attractive exhibition, but we are assured from parties who were present that it was a great success. The little girls in all the dialogues, choruses, &c., acquitted themselves with the highest credit, and their singing was perfectly delightful. Their voices, no doubt, have been well cultivated this term under Miss Snow's system. Constant attendance on a school in which this feature is kept up, cannot fail to leave a pupil with highly cultivated vocal powers, worth the tuition fee.

We cannot begin to give the programme, nor indeed do justice to all where all acquitted themselves so well, in a notice of this length. We will therefore only mention a few of the prominent points of the Exhibition.

Of course the song of Mrs. Amelia Wyly, the teacher of music was the last thing of the evening. We only take the word of old music teachers when we declare it was most splendidly sung. The song by the school was good. The Blacksmith recitation, by Eppie Turnley was good. The song of the shirts, by Annie Wyly was very good. The Christian Graces, by Misses Hoke, Forney & Woods was extra. The recitation by Miss Paula Whitley was very fine and presented well. The Team Tableau with little boys was very amusing. "Peace and Prosperity" was very fine.

The whole reflects a large measure of credit upon Miss Snow and Mrs. Anderson, her most efficient Assistant, and Mrs. John M. Wyly, the accomplished teacher of music, as well as the bright little girls who appeared as the prime actors in the exhibition.

The Sunday School Celebration at the College building during the Christmas holidays was a splendid success. The exercises opened with a very impressive prayer after which the schools sang two or three songs in a highly creditable manner. Then came the address of the venerable and respected Superintendent of the S. S. Mr. E. L. Woodward, repeated with line sentiment and good advice to the young. His theme was Christian charity. As Christ was so he would have men. The orator himself became visibly affected before the close of his excellent address, and those who were in the center of it most feelingly and eloquently to the respected Superintendent. At the close of the addresses two silver cups were presented by two beautiful little children in neat and happy addresses to the Superintendent and the Pastor of the M. E. Church respectively.

After all this came a splendid supper, spread by the good ladies of the town in the lower rooms, to which the little ones were conducted. After then came the old people who (we say it) wished to see the children in the highest enjoyment. When a well-to-do little one was engaged in their innocent play, and soft ripples of childish laughter and glees mixed with the rougher laugh of some tender old heart with a young heart, was the fairest picture of life we all live to have many more Christmas gatherings.

The Christmas Festivities at the St. Lukes Episcopal church passed off as does everything that congregations undertake, nicely. We arrived in the church too late to witness the presentation of banners, with suitable inscriptions, but not too late to hear the impressive and interesting address of Rev. Mr. Smith the minister in charge, thereon. The Christmas tree was the most beautiful we have ever seen, and the presentation of presents was a very interesting sight. After the address of the minister, the school children and teachers moved up the aisle singing an appropriate hymn and grouped themselves about the tree from whence the presents were distributed. The church building was beautifully decorated with evergreens and the affair went off most pleasantly and satisfactorily.

Telegraphic.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. Tombs and Mansfield's is heavily guarded by police. Stokes friend says he was monomaniac on the subject of troubles with Fisks. Constant apprehension is feared of murder by Fisk retainers. Many physicians condemn probing the bowels for the bullet and assert that it hastened and probably caused death.

The Herald's special from Matamoros, Tex., says: Trevino with one thousand and Hinangosa with hundred men are moving on Matamoros. Jurists claim to have recaptured satillo.

Fisk's death is the chief topic on change. Erie declined half. Thousands of shares changed hands, flooding the market and depressed them to thirty six and a half. Erie board passed laundry resolutions regarding Fisk's body was attended by vast crowds. Members of Ninth Regiment say they will hang Stokes.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. Fisk's funeral this afternoon. The procession was long with military display which proceeded from Grand Opera House to the New Heaven depot. The remains will be interred in Brattleboro, Vt. The coroner's inquest was held this afternoon. Graham, Stokes counsel, was present and protested that the proceedings were irregular and said he wanted to know if Fisk was entirely unprotected at the time he was shot in order to see if he was a pacific man as represented. The coroner overruled Graham and proceeded.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. Fisk gives his sister, Mrs. Hoke $100,000, his father and mother $3,000 a year, sister in law, each $2,000 a year, 9 regiment $11,000. His wife gets the balance. To Jay Gould for whom he entertained the warmest and most disinterested friendship he left his personal effects and entrusted to him "the labor of love" (so it is called in the will) of carrying out all his Fisk's projects in regard to public improvement. Mrs. Fisk's interest is all her husband's shares in the Erie railway.

Sorrow for Fisk among the employees of the various industries wherewith he was identified is touching. The Opera House is draped.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. Stokes weapon with which he shot Fisk was a four barreled Colt revolver bearing a rifle ball. At midnight Fisk thought he would get over it. He walked up stairs after he was wounded. Stokes and his attorney 'fore the shooting had a talk. The attorney assured Stokes they had "broken down" and the case would be dismissed. Stokes said in an excited tone "is there no way to beat that man," Stokes then went to Miss Munns fields and thence to the scene of the tragedy. At midnight Fisk slept tranquilly. The doctors considered the symptoms favorable. The ball is found but not extracted. Fisk gave a lucid account of the jury. Mansfield visited Stokes in jail and told the reporter that "Ned" Stokes must have been crazy.

James Fisk, Tr., died at 10:45 A. M., at the Grand Central Hotel in presence of his wife, his father in law Mr. Morse, Jay Gould and a large number of intimate friends. There was a change in the symptoms at six A. M.; at seven it was evident death was approaching. He continued rapidly to decline up to his death. His agony was mitigated by injections of morphia and he retained partial consciousness until ten o'clock when he recognized his friends and thanked several visitors.

He thanked his friends for calling. Mrs. Fisk was greatly agitated and Mr. Gould when informed that death was certain burst into tears.

Edward S. Stokes was removed the Tombs this morning. He says he did the deed in a state of frenzy.

The employees of the Erie Railroad of all grades crowded the corridors during the morning. Jay Gould was in constant attendance while Fisk lived. Gould's face wore an unusual calm expression. When Fisk expired his fortune gave way. Gould's grief found vent in tears. No unkind word was heard of the dead from the vast crowd. Many tongues recounted his acts of kindness.

David Dudley Field wrote Fisk's will last night. Fisk's statement was to the effect that he had come to the Hotel, made enquiries as to whether Miss Moses was in, and being answered in the affirmative proceeded up stairs. He had no suspicion that any one intended to harm him. When about on the first landing he saw a flash and felt something strike him upon the abdomen. Before falling he recognized Stokes as his assassin. He did not again see Stokes until he was brought before him to identify him. Evidence of the boys in the hallway confirm this statement.

ATLANTA, Jan. 11. Governor Canby, in his message to day says he will yield to the decision of the Legislature who is Governor.

Both branches of the Legislature met and declared Hon. J. M. Smith Governor, and fixed 12 M. to-morrow for inauguration. LONDON, Jan. 11. Explosion and destruction of life and property occurred yesterday in Oakwork Colliery, Wales. Eleven dead have already been taken out. Flames followed the explosion. Extensive works and machinery are destroyed.

A lady says the first time she was kissed she felt like a tub of roses swimming in honey, cologne, nutmeg and cran berries. She felt as if something was running through her nerves on feet of diamonds, escorted by several little cupids in chariots drawn by angels shaded by hussies, and the whole spread with molten rainbows.

IN CHANCERY. Johnathan Phillips & S. D. McClellan, Administrators.

vs. Jossee F. Crook, et al. In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by affidavit of James Sayago, Esq., one of Complainants' solicitors, that the said Jossee F. Crook is a nonresident of this State, and that his particular place of residence is Cedar Town, Georgia; and further, that in the belief of Affiant the Defendant is over twenty one years of age.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that published in the Jacksonville Republican a newspaper published in the town of Jacksonville for four successive weeks requiring him the said Jossee F. Crook to answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the first Monday in March 1872 or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office this 10th day of Jan 1872 WM. M. HANES, Register.

THE EXERCISOR CLASS.—For the accommodation of any who may wish to pursue a higher course of study, without becoming regular pupils, an Excelsior Class has been formed. This class gives a fair finish on an education already completed in the ordinary curriculum of study. Young ladies whose leisure will admit of it, will find this an invaluable aid to higher usefulness.

THE NORMAL DEPARTMENT is established to furnish those desiring to teach, the means to prepare themselves more thoroughly for that laudable work. It is now becoming a popular idea to train men and women for teaching, and their respective professions. Extra attention will be given this class in the government and discipline of schools and the most successful modes of imparting instruction.

The most scrupulous regard will be given to the culture of manners and morals of pupils. Indeed nothing will be omitted by Teachers or Trustees to make the Jacksonville Female Academy what it deserves to be—one of the noblest institutions of learning in the State. In locality, healthfulness and accessibility it is unsurpassed.

Parents and guardians are especially invited to consider the advantages of the Academy before deciding to send their daughters to fashionable boarding schools.

Further particulars will be furnished, with pleasure, by the Principal, or by E. L. Woodward, President of the Board of Trustees.

Our correspondents are requested to send in no more advertisements, through their local, either direct or indirect, of any merchant, school or any other business whatsoever, unless ten cents a line are paid for the advertisement. We are not to be held responsible for any advertisement sent in without the above mentioned fee. We will not accept any advertisement for less than ten cents a line. We will not accept any advertisement for less than ten cents a line. We will not accept any advertisement for less than ten cents a line.

Hereafter we shall charge 50 cents for the insertion of each marriage notice.

Some local and editorial notices that we had prepared for last week, were crowded out by the new advertisements which came in very late in the week. We give them now even though they may be something stale.

Last week we had the pleasure of meeting at home our friend Walter Caldwell of the great establishment of LeGrand & Co., Montgomery. Walter is another of the representatives of young Jacksonville abroad, that we home people are proud of. He most justly enjoys the high esteem of his employers, who rank him among the best business men of the State, and according to the Montgomery Advance he is the handsomest young man the editor meets in a long time. Now when a young man combines with fine business qualifications the attraction the Advance man dwells on, we may be proud of him—as girls especially.

THE MONTGOMERY ADVANCE.—This valuable paper has recently changed hands, and is now under the management of Maj. Jos. H. Francis and Col. Jos. Hodgson, who are the joint proprietors and editors of it.

Col. Hodgson is the former gifted and brilliant editor of the Montgomery Mail. Maj. Francis is known to the people of this Congressional District as a young lawyer of great promise and lately editor of the Gadsden Times.

Both are comparatively young men; yet both have State reputation, the one as Sup't of Public Instruction, the other as an efficient member of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Both were born to wear the editorial harness, and we predict for the Advance, under their direction, a most brilliant and successful career.

The following was received too late for publication last week. It may yet reach some interested, in time, by publication now.

L. W. GRANT.—Will you please notify the teachers that I will be in Jacksonville, on next Saturday, the 20th inst., and will pay school claims up to the 31st of Sep't., 1871.

Respectfully Yours,
J. C. McALEY.

MARRIED, on the 11th of January, 1872 at the residence of John Hill by the Hon. Alexander Woods, Willis Vaughan to Mrs. C. J. Driskill.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES!
Ladies Dress Goods, Trimmings, Opera Glasses, and a nice lot of Glove Kid Shoes, at greatly reduced prices, at Rosenberg's.

ERRATA.—Our proof was not very good last week. In the notice of the exhibition of Miss Clem Snow's School where we wrote the song of Mrs. Amelia Wyle was the best thing of the evening, the printers made us say the last thing of the evening. In the notice of the Sunday School celebration at the College building, the line which we wrote "The rougher bars of some tender old heart" with a young heart—most utter nonsense. Other errors in other parts of the paper appeared, which cannot be helped now. We shall certainly take the trouble to prevent a recurrence of such a thing in the future.

The paper is delayed some hours, owing to the fact that an important legal notice was handed in this morning, and its insertion could not be delayed.

We extract the following from the minutes of the last meeting of the Council, and beg to add that Jacksonville will lose in Mr. Montgomery a most estimable citizen and most of us a firm and tried friend. Mr. Montgomery tendered his resignation as member of the Council, on the ground that he was to remove his residence from among us, and therefore could no longer serve in this capacity. It was regrettably accepted by the Council, and the following resolution was ordered to be spread upon the minutes:

Resolved, That this Council accept with regret the resignation of our friend and faithful fellow member, Joe S. Montgomery, who is about to remove from our city to a larger field of action.

Resolved, That in losing him, the Council not only loses its most faithful and efficient member, but that our city loses in him one of her best citizens and most upright merchants; and that he carries with him, not only the best wishes of this Council but of a majority of the citizens of Jacksonville, who have known and esteemed him.

After the resignation of Mr. Montgomery was tendered and accepted, the Council proceeded to ballot for a new member, and the result was the unanimous election of Tommy Martin, a brilliant young lawyer and one of the rising young men of the State. Tommy appears to bear the honor easily and gracefully.

We acknowledge receipt of a courteous invitation to attend the celebration of the completion of their Water Works, by our Roman neighbors on the 25th inst. The Romans never do things half way, and we know it will pass off magnificently. If business will admit we shall certainly be there.

We invite attention to the double column advertisement of Col. L. J. PARR, in another column. He has recently bought the handsome establishment of Montgomery Bros., and asks the patronage of the public. If we mistake not the Col. has been before a merchant. At any rate he is a liberal, generous and fair gentleman and will no doubt attract to himself a large custom. Go and see him.

We are indebted to H. C. Whitely, Chief of the U. S. Secret Service, for his explanation of the system adopted by him, in the detection of criminals, with special reference, and to a list of summary of the case of Joshua D. Minor, an alleged counterfeiter, who was tried and acquitted it seems, mainly under a charge given by U. S. Judge Bandier of New York, that the testimony of detectives, owing to their continual life of deceit, and being engaged in the manufacture of this, that and the other story, was not entitled to the same weight as that of men taken from the ordinary good classes of society. We may notice the letter fully at some future day.

On Monday, Calhoun College opened, under most favorable auspices, with Col. Fouché as Principal, and Messrs. Mayne and Stephenson as Assistants.

The reputation for worth of Col. F. is too well established in this community to need comment at our hands.

Prof. Mayne has not heretofore been with us. He was educated at the University of Virginia, and is from the famed Mayo Heights, near Fredericksburg Va., and comes among us highly recommended.

Prof. Stephenson is from Georgia, but more recently from the Oxford College, where he taught successfully. Both are young men of more than ordinary talent and promise. Under the supervision of Col. F. and with the assistance of these young men, the College will go on prospering until it becomes the most popular Institution of learning in North East Alabama.

The new Post Office boxes will be ready about the 20th inst. Persons wishing good lock boxes with reliable locks and keys, would do well to secure it now as only a limited number will be made and every business man should have one. The charge will be a mere trifle.

W. T. ALEXANDER.

We are compelled to leave over until next week, our Corn Grove, Ladiga and Alexandria Locals. The Alexandria locals published this week were sent in last week.

NANCY'S CREEK LOCALS.

Christmas holidays were comparatively dull in our valley—no "to-do's" except one quilling party at neighbor George R's where, I presume, the youngsters both male and female enjoyed themselves.

LADIGA LOCAL.—Yes, I'm gone into my winter quarters, but you will draw me out now and then. Look here. Let us make a compromise to let me be a supernumerary. Our supernumeraries didn't have much to do in the time of war, maybe you belonged to the cavalry. If so, you know they were pretty near all supernumeraries.

Billy Henderson went out a few days ago and killed a magnificent buck. He dearly loves venison.

Our valley is wonderfully blessed with game. We have from a deer and wolf down to a seed tick and "chigger."

There are efforts being made to get up two schools in this valley, one to be taught by a male and the other by a female.

The Baptist church at Nancy's Creek is now without a pastor, and would be much better satisfied to have one of the ensuing year.

SUPERNUMERARY.

OXFORD LOCALS.

Oxford is certainly looking up. There is scarcely a week passes by but there is some improvement started up. You can scarcely look in any direction but you see signs of improvement, new business houses, handsome dwellings, public improvements &c. Go on the streets, into the business houses and you find men busy from morning till night. The streets crowded all day with wagons loaded with all kinds of produce, for which our liberal merchants pay them the highest market price, and then if they want any kind of merchandise they sell them to them, as a Dutchman would say, "So cheap as never was."

The firm of Gunnells & Robertson has been dissolved by mutual consent, Messrs William Draper & D. P. Gunnells have formed a copartnership and intend doing business, we believe, in the firm name of D. P. Gunnells & Co. These men are well and favorably known to this community, and will doubtless do a large business.

Robertson, we believe, intends going into the Drug business with his brother, Dr. Robertson, in the McCarty building. We bespeak for this firm, also a liberal share of patronage.

MARRIED.—Smyth—Gunn.—At the Baptist church by Rev. Mr. Renfro, Mr. J. A. Smyth and Miss Minnie L. Gunn, all of Oxford. R. P. Y. M. P.

J. T. Pearce wants to see his old friends at NORTH, NOTES & CO'S.

Cotton a little dull for the last day or two, and about one cent under last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. We quote to-day (Wednesday) 18 1/2 @ 19 1/2. The three days of last week mentioned above it brought readily 19 1/2 @ 20.

Our school opens with a large number of students, we believe a little larger than at any time heretofore. When we take into consideration the stringency of money matters, we certainly have cause to congratulate ourselves on the further prospect of the institution. We hope to see their number of pupils in attendance through the Summer season up to something near two hundred.

Go to NORTH, NOTES & CO., if you want any thing in the Grocery line, cheap as the cheapest.

The balance of the machinery for the Pine Turkey Mining Co. left here for the mines yesterday, we believe. It is thought by those professing to know, that these mines will prove to be very rich.

The weather for the last few days has been very cold—yet not very unpleasant.

A fine lot of Virginia Salt Cheap at NORTH, NOTES & CO'S.

Messrs. Wilson & Shropshire have their new business house in a condition to be finished in a few days, when they will open a general stock of merchandise.

The citizens of Oxford and vicinity will hold a Railroad meeting in the town of Oxford, Saturday, January 27th, 1872, when Col. Pennington, the President of the East Alabama & Cincinnati Railroad, will be present and address our people on the subject of Railroads. All are invited to be present who feel an interest in the matter. "BUICK."

SHENCK'S SULPHUR SPRING LOCALS.

Relentless business, pleasures littered, in all its multiplied forms of satisfying and availing delight, furnishing such, &c. &c. has stormed and broken up Christmas quarters and revelry and mirth have ceased. Various incidents have occurred, and every variety of party has been given and well attended, during the holidays.

There was Miss J. E. G. no, old wasn't it delicious. Such a fine appetizer for Aunt Rachel's bountiful dinner of Turkey and other good things essential to digestion which Big Sis and others prided and enjoyed so much. The nog in the party for us.

Next was Aunt Rose's conversational (not sedate but animated) enjoyed to perfection from its varied contributions of talent, from the strengthening and exhilarating influence of Miss Mollie's Turkish, well and variously prepared from the deliciousness and flavor of Miss Lizzy's excellent cake, from the magic and enlivening power of Miss Maggie's wit and humor and last but not least from the inimitable and well-timed pleasantries. Old but was a brilliant party.

What do you say Col., you and Major Bill! Isn't it so? Many thanks to our much esteemed and amiable hostess, and only one additional favor to ask—again, if you please.

Then there was Bill Johnson's "Shin Die," Jack and Wood both say it was a splendid affair. Such a clatter of feet, straws and strings, it made the doors, floor and windows ring. We and Jake were there and Bob and Charlie too. Harry Bill gave the young folks a social too, at which Doc, was initiated into the mystery of "There's a whistle in this ring," very much to the amusement of his associates. The time of Elijah the Prophet, has returned, for the girls that once worshipped "Baal" (Bail) and "Astarte" (Ailsup) with the lips of course.)

Wonderful.—A lady 50 years of age, living in this section, presented her husband with a babe, on Christmas morning that could be conveniently covered in a pint cup. How is that for love?

EDUCATIONAL.—Miss Bettie Stewart opened her school near the Sulphur Spring, on the 8th inst., with a flattering prospect of success. Mr. J. D. Drayton opened his school at Cedar Spring Academy on the same date. We regard the patrons of that school as very fortunate in securing Mr. Broughton's services. J. A. Fleming will open his school at Union church on the 1st Monday in February next.

Slumbering Muse! awake! awake!
An aged Muse! begs thee take Thy harp, attuned to softest lays,
To sing, as when in ancient days,
Minstrel sang in lady's praise.

'Tis a grateful task to repeat in song,
The deeds, unmingled with the vulgar throng,
Of one whose lineage boasts ancestral sires,
Descendants of Earls and Dukes and learned Squires,
The flower and pride of Scotia's better days;

Unmolested by Sir Walter's classic lays,
No Muse! with crude untried strings,
Should a rude and vulgar offering bring;
The Muse, that tunes the harp aright,
Should least its training, on Pegasus height.

Where the sacred Nine their homage pay
To those whose praise, deserves a Minstrel's lay.
Awake, my Muse! the task we will attempt;

Though the temerity, we may sore repent,
'Tis homage to merit impels the task:
Wholly unexpected; and is understand, by her, who conscious of her own just claims,
Seeks not applause, which she herself disdains.

To brunt abroad generous acts and kind,
In secret done, intended to be, alone,
confined,
To the giver, and to whom her aims were given.

Expecting her reward, to be alone from Heaven—
And many a fervent prayer ascends,
From orphan lips and widowed friends,
Whose wants, have long by her relieved,
With charities, as freely given as received.

As telegrams, these prayers to Heaven extend;
And approving Angels may their praises beings sing,
In joyous anthems, that this world is blessed.

With souls in sympathy with earth's distress'd,
Benevolence is not, by her, to gifts confined,
Her generous heart, by Christian's love refined.

Makes her beloved by all who know her worth;
Not because of wealth, or show, or high or birth;
But, because of her innate cleanness of
heart,

Which can praise, or censure, yet leave no smart
To worry or perplex an estim'd and worthy friend,
Although, perchance, they may, casually, contend
In matters of duty, of pleasure, or of taste.

Slow to see a fault, but ever in cheerful haste,
When duty prompts, or innocence appeals,
Or, when frail humanity, tottering, resists
Under cruel pressures, of unfeeling blame.

And kindness may, a wayward child resist;
By kind and gentle counsel, she will roll
The heavy burden off the troubled soul.
As a wife, in her, the husband's truth is told.

She, greeting to all his guests,
Meets, with graceful ease, commands respect,
Meanwhile, her cheerful smiles and wit reflect
A happy influence o'er ceremonious receptions.

Two oft, the etiquette of mere strategic Rites,
Her entertainments, gotten up with style and taste.

In rich-laden banquets, no sign of waste,
Her tables groan beneath a load of feasts.

Invitingly prepared to tempt the greed
Of Epicure. Even the dyspeptic host,
The whole
The dreaded sequence, should his appetite resist.

To give, indulgence to his inordinate desire,
Which the contest of "mine host and hostess" conspire
To stimulate, and thus regardless of expense,
He, too late, regrets he had not kept his fast.

From repast to repast, she leads his guest
And entertains with music, discourse grave, or jest.

With graceful ease, from guest to guests
she glides,
Imparting interest, by her queries asked,
or by replies.

In jocund laugh, or tale a tale, she acts her part.
And cheerful wit and sparkling wit, devoid of smart,
A joyous impress make upon each social heart;

And if, as often is the case, some "friendly peevish"
Be mingled in the group, the pleasure's light increased
Well versed in Christian lore, and of pious train.

She doth the subject change with grace
full mien,
And from gay to grave, and from religious to profane,
suited to the taste of each and will still maintain

That lively interest, which imparts to mirth its zest,
And sends a glow of gladness o'er all her guests.

The feast is over & the entertainment's closed.
The guests have all retired, and it is, by us proposed,
To take notice of her pantry, wherein she's seen

With sleeves loop'd up, and blouse and apron ease,
Adjusting, with that same elegance, taste and ease.

As when performing in the parlor, the happy art to please.
School'd in the useful, as in the ornamental art,
She can in the one, as in the other, act down.

And by example as well as by precept show,
Good housewives should every duty know;
And by such example, doth honor and lustre shed.

Upon the memory of respected Mother
dear!
Whose training early taught the culinary art,
With other domestic duties which impart.

A happy influence, to body, mind and heart;
Giving stamina and strength to body and to mind,
Which if properly employed, no vicious thought can find.

A lodgment in the breast. Hence, in youthful training lies
The germ, to blossom but to perish, or reap for the skies.
Suspend! kind Muse, thy labor now is done.
I know not, whether praise or censure we have won.

Return to thy native haunts, and in thy gratuitous rest.
Thy motives all were good, if thy effort be unblest
Let all the blame be mine, no blame attach to you.
The grateful Muse, was mine, to worth and merit due.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Living Furnace.

The living body is a regulated furnace. The human organism is all more or less combustible, but not equally so. The blood, that is to say the food in its transformed state, may be compared to the fuel, and the more stable tissues formed from the blood, to the iron stove which contains the fuel. Just in proportion to the energy and celerity with which life is carried on, does this combustion proceed; and just in proportion as the combustion proceeds is fresh fuel, that is to say fresh blood, required. But in order to obtain a supply of fresh blood, food must be present and not only food, but the power of converting the food into blood, that is, digestive energy, or in the appetite which accompanies it, stimulants of various descriptions are frequently had recourse to, but their effect is transient, and if heaped upon too long and too exclusively, they tend to derange the digestive functions and to take away the natural desire for food, which is the only true life supporter. But let Dr. Fitch's Bitters be used perseveringly and in the prescribed quantities, in conjunction with the daily meals, and their tonic qualities will gradually strengthen the digestive organs and create at the same time a sufficient and healthy appetite. And when an abundance of wholesome food, (which we are thus enabled to take,) is duly digested and assimilated, it will give a fullness of vitality which will take away any desire for the improper use of alcoholic stimulants.

GENTLY DOES IT, without pain or irritation, Dr. WALKER'S VIGORATING BERRIES renews the exhausted vitality, at the same time so thoroughly tones their inner membrane and restores their mechanical action, that it seems as if they had been reorganized on an improved plan. The result is a strictly due to nature, reinforced and sustained by the best Vegetable Astringent and Tonic that ever existed the lips of the sick and suffering.

FRAGRANT BREATH and Pearly Teeth are easily attained, and those who fail to avail themselves of the means, should not complain when accused of gross neglect. The Sodalium, which specially eradicates the cause of bad breath, heightening and preserving the teeth to latest age.

MANY HOUSEKEEPERS are not aware of the deception practiced in the manufacture of Flavouring Extracts for culinary use. Many of these are deleterious and impure. "Barnett's Standard Extracts" are made from the finest specimens of the fruits and spices they represent, and are perfectly pure.

FRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.—Not the cheap, but the best and most illuminating Oil for use ever made. Burns in the ordinary lamp, without smoke, and does not explode if the lamp is upset and broken. Sold at Dr. Fitch's Dispensary, 100 Park Place, New York.

CRISTIANO'S HAIR DYE.—If all his hairs were lives, Othello said, "my But revenge shall live for them all." The hair that is grey or sandy, white or red, the hair that has no stomach for at all. Use Cristiano's Dye and the evil is remedied. Man-ufactured, 63 Maiden Lane, New York.

THE PUREST and sweetest Cod Liver Oil in the world is Hazard & Caswell's made by Caswell, Hazard & Co. New York. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have awarded it superior to any of the other oils in the market.

JOHN'S INDOLENT Kid Glove Cleaner, restores soiled Gloves again to new. For sale by Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers. Price 25 cents per bottle. F. C. Gills & Co., New York.

Woman's Rights.—One who has long studied this absorbing subject now presents to the woman of our country the result of his investigations. He is happy to say that he has at last discovered "Woman's Best Friend." It is adapted especially to those cases where the woman is disordered, and will cure any irregularity of the "menstrues." Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator acts like a charm in "whites," or in a sudden check of the "monthly courses," from cold, or from the discharge in every instance. So also in chronic cases its action is prompt and decisive, and saves the constitution from countless evils and premature decay. This valuable preparation is for sale at $1.50 per bottle by all respectable Druggists in the land. Prepared and sold by L. H. Bradfield, Druggist, Atlanta, Ga. A thousand women testify to its merits. October 7 Am.

These locals came in last week, but were crowded out by advertisements and other matter that came in earlier. It will be observed that "Capt. Bentley" had already discovered that we were doing a great deal of gratuitous advertising, a thing we have now stopped.

Corn Grove and Frog Level and Teague's Cross Roads and Davisville Locals.

DEAR LON:—I have waited patiently for some one more competent than myself to furnish you local news from this part of the county, but as none have appeared and you are so kind as to open your columns to the different localities, I venture one more.

The Jacksonville Republican is the cheapest advertising paper in the South, that I am acquainted with. I was offered twenty-five cents to day to have you insert an advertisement, to the following effect:

STRAYER—Two Brindes, supposed to be in the neighborhood of Frog Level. Description—One has a hole in the head; the other has no flesh marks visible, but any one seeing him will know him by the advertisement.

I know you will not charge the quarter. I told him you would do it for nothing. The last heard of the Brindes, they were "haunting of a pass." They are supposed to have been induced, tampered with and enticed away from a man who has them under contract for the present year, by other brindes bearing similar flesh marks, "cut in the hole in the head."

Our locality has still that same old disease, cotton on the brain. A good deal yet remains around the gin houses. About one third remains unsold, I should say.

Frog Level has organized a band. The instruments consist of three or four bells, two or three horns, clogs and snare drums. The Frog Level Cordellians are a great annoyance to well-disposed, orderly citizens. (I told the fellows you would not charge to this advertise the band, as advertising in this way don't cost anything.)

Our esteemed friend, Robert A. Ragan has left Davisville and located at Alexander's. We did not like him up. Alexander got a good man.

It is a common thing to hear of weddings in this section, but it is a rare one to have to travel.

The Commissioner of Court entertained the petition for a road across the mountains, and the reviewers will make a report to the next Court, I understand. The reason it was not done at the last sitting of the Court was that the parties were sick and absent and could not get together; but they have appointed a day, and will attend to it. The road will be a good thing.

My young friend, J. B. Mallory, who was elected one of the Justices of the Peace, holds his Court at the old Corn Grove Store, near the property of N. J. Ross. I am sorry that John Ross would not qualify, as the other Justice elected. He would have made an excellent officer. We are fortunate to have such an officer as Mallory, quality—worthy respect &c.

A friend of mine wants to announce (and I tell the fellow you won't not charge), he has two horses, high Scotch and English, male and female, and that when the latter has puppies, anybody can get one as long as they last, after about twenty-five pounds have been complied with. Pedigree—Shipped, none of your imported dogs.

Respectfully,

CAPT. BENTLEY.

ALEXANDRIA LOCALS.

ASSENT.—Capt. F. Woodruff left on the 16th for Ozark, Arkansas where he will remain until sometime in March buying Cotton. We are requested to say that his books accounts &c are in the hands of Messrs Green & Leitcher, who will attend to that part of his business during his absence.

Rev. R. G. Ragan of our town has been quite sick the last few days, but he is improving. We hope to be able to report next week, his entire recovery.

SABBATH SCHOOL.—Morrisville has a Sabbath School which numbers about fifty regular students. With Alexandria could boast of one half so large. Will not our citizens try?

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's Father, Mr. G. W. Humphries, on the 17th, by Rev. D. P. Williams, Mr. O. P. Allen and Miss Bettie Fowler. All of Calhoun.

Mr. Henderson opened his school at the Academy in this place, on Monday last with a goodly number of students.

NEW THING.—Mr A. B. Calder has opened a Photograph Gallery in Alexandria.

SUCCESSOR.

AMATA.

FROM THE GERMAN OF HANS THRAU.

BY A YOUNG LADY OF HANS THRAU.

CHAPTER II.

"I have been kept out unusually long to-day," said Professor Gregorius, entering with hasty steps his wife's sitting room. It was the morning of a raw November day and drops of rain hung on his beard and fell from his hair.

"When my lectures were finished and I wished to hasten home, Counselor Wiemann seized me and detained me with an excuse which I was at last obliged to trust myself almost rudely away. Has time lagged with you in your loneliness, my Amata?" the strong form bent over her, and with an almost sad, inquiring look, in which shone at the same time the earnestness and the light of the lamp falling brightly on her sweet child-face.

"She looked at him kindly, as a daughter looks on a father whom she honors, or a sister on a brother who is her pride and her protector.

"Oh no," she said simply; "the afternoon passed very quickly with me. First Berthold came, and then Papi came for him with the carriage—and we had much to talk about that Berthold and his wife.

"Yes! I am delighted to hear that, for your sake," said the Professor; but he involuntarily sighed and passed his hands slowly over his eyes.

Six months had elapsed since their marriage, and Berthold's passionate love was unchanged—nay, perhaps it was even increased since that day when she had become his own. Every where the handsome girl appeared one remarked to one's self how young she seemed, and what a lovely creature she was.

—and it certainly was, in many respects a most happy marriage. Professor Gregorius was devoted to his wife and she appeared to find her entire happiness in him. She was contented with her lot, and the cheerful attention which he ever paid her was received by her with gratitude and that modesty which gave her an indescribable charm.

One would willingly have seen the young man and woman, and their less timid and dependent, but she was so young and inexperienced that it was no wonder that her grave, earnest husband should have been somewhat impatient to her, as he was twenty years his senior, and added to that, a highly learned man, and her little worldly understanding was on the same level with his great mind as his little heart was to his great intellect.

The husband and wife found a picture of happiest contentment as they sat at the pleasant tea-table. Amata, preparing the refreshing beverage with her tender hand.

LADIES LOCALS.
Business lively in our town; every man at his post, and no idlers to be seen lurking around 'on our streets. 'Work' seems to be the motto of every man. So far as politics are concerned, we are united; but when it comes to money making, every man for himself. Go where we may, we will find it the case. Alas, sir, our people are not sleeping and slumbering. Too late, sister city, in warning us to look out! The material has arrived—our lights are trimmed and burning; and when we look out from our little village and view the beautiful, fertile valley that surrounds us, with the backbone and snow in our midst, we are not made to wonder that our light shines brighter and brighter, sister city, whilst clouds and darkness hang 'round about your borders.

There is an old white-faced ox roving about our town. I am informed that he belongs to a citizen of Cross Plains. The owner would do well to look after him, as he is not long for this world, unless rations are issued to him soon.

I find from close observation that the lawyers in our town are excellent muses; but they give a man's corn crib fits when the corn comes gratis.

"Good news and glad tidings."—The brick-kiln is covered at last. No more will be said, unless the cover blows off.

There should be a regular hotel kept at this place, for the accommodation of stock drivers, as old Rock is tired of having his horse lot used as a livery stable; particularly in wet weather.

OXFORD LOCALS.
The location of the "Agricultural and Mechanical College," at this place, is claiming the attention of our citizens. We claim all the advantages that any other point, does, or can claim. "This as healthy as any section, as good farming country—abundance of the best timber; and will be in a short time we think, as accessible a point, by rail, as there is in the State. These are a few of the many advantages which Oxford claims for the location of this institution.

A large lot of Syrup, Sugar, and Coffee, just received, and will be sold cheap at NORTH, NOTES & CO'S.

We present also, from Montgomery, this week an attractive advertisement from J. B. Trimble, Dealer in Dry Goods, corner of Bibb & Commerce Sts. These gentlemen are Merchants of long experience, in business in Montgomery and other places, and have uniformly conducted their business so as to secure a very large patronage, success, and the confidence and esteem of all their customers. At present, they have a very extensive stock, and they offer inducements in prices that it will be hard for our readers to resist. For some of the articles enumerated in the advertisement, send to Messrs. Trimble an order and see how quickly and satisfactorily they will fill it.

For House Cleaning, washing dishes, floors, oil cloths, tables, cleaning windows, painting, and polishing tin, brass and all metals, use Knott Morgan's Sons' Sapolio. It is cheaper and better than soap. Get it from your grocer, or at 211 Washington street, N. Y. For sale by E. L. WOODWARD'S SON.

Attention is directed to the new advertisement of the new firm of Carroll & McCain. Both of these gentlemen are well known to all of our community as upright, straightforward, generous men, and therefore need no further introduction at our hands. Their stock is a carefully selected and large one, and their prices are so low that the closest buyer cannot object to them. Give them a trial.

RESOLUTIONS.
At a meeting of Cross Plains Sabbath School Dec. 24, on motion of Mr. A. D. Valley, Rev. W. C. Rowland being in the chair, the undersigned committee was appointed to prepare the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

Resolved 1st, That the officers, teachers, and pupils of this Sabbath School, both as a school and individually, deeply regret the necessity which forces us to part with our most esteemed friend and beloved superintendent, Dr. George W. Monroe.

Resolved 2nd, That we severally unite in tendering him our sincere thanks for the untiring energy, and zealous attention he has so universally manifested in promoting the interests of the school, and the earnest efforts he has continually made, both by precept and example, to inculcate those great moral and religious truths, which tend to bring the youth of the community nearer to our Blessed Redeemer.

Resolved 3rd, That we humbly petition a Throne of Grace for his protection wherever he goes, and for success in whatever he undertakes, earnestly desiring that he may be soon returned to us, and allowed to resume his career of usefulness in our midst.

The Appropriation bill as it passed the House provided for 283 members. Amendments have been proposed by the Senate Judiciary Committee designed to keep the number as at present, with a ratio of representation at 157,109. Divided by this ratio the States would have 226 representatives, but the full number would be made up by the addition of 17 representatives from those States having the largest fraction over, one half the ratio. In these seventeen States are included, Tennessee, Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia, Louisiana and Georgia.

ANNAPOLIS, January 24.—Mrs. Wharton has been acquitted.
