Jacksonville Republican

ESTABLISHED JAN. 21, 1837. JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY, NOV. 1, 1884. PRICE $2 A YEAR.

Don't fail to go out and vote the Democratic ticket next Tuesday.

The Legislature meets the 11th day of next month.

Considerable improvement has been made in that part of town near the depot by Mr. Woodruff and others.

Mr. J. L. Mattison has bought the residence of Maj. Stone, known as the Foster place. It is a most desirable place of residence.

The article from the Hayneville Examiner on the prominent members of the next lower House of the Legislature, is understood to be from the pen of Senator Brewer, formerly Auditor of this State.

Those candidates who have failed to settle up to date are affectionately invited to do so at once. We would dislike to have to put out a claim for collection against any man who so lately sought the support of the people for office. It would look bad for it to get out that any gentleman of the team had failed to settle up his election expenses.

This is a hard year, but every man can pay the small amount of his subscription, and we want all who are indebted to us to come up and pay. We pay cash for all that enters into making a paper for our readers each week, and we need their subscriptions to do this with. Don't neglect this thing because it is a small debt. Many of these small debts make a large sum to us. Don't wait to see us. Send the money along by mail. It will reach us safely.

The long drouth in this section has at last been broken by rains. There has been no suffering for water in this section, though some of the weaker streams have dried up. Take it all in all, this is one of the most favored spots in the South, both as to climate, soil and mineral wealth. While the drouth has literally ruined some parts of the country, it has done no great damage in this section, except to cut short the late corn crop and cause the cotton to shed more than usual.

The Last Desperate Move.

The Radicals have abandoned all hope of carrying New York and are concentrating their forces in Indiana, Connecticutt and New Jersey. They hope to carry two of these States by the infamous tactics adopted in Ohio. The contest from present appearances, will be extremely close and bitter in Indiana. Blaine has abandoned all talk of the tariff and is trying to stir up the passions of the people of the North by the most malignant misrepresentations of the people of the South. It is the last desperate resort of a desperate man, and, if he wins, he will do it by this appeal to sectional feeling. How any Southern man can support him, in the face of his infamous war upon the people of the South, we cannot conceive.

Ex Gov. Thos. H. Watts has written a letter to the Montgomery Advertiser, in which he argues that the Legislature cannot constitutionally hold longer than fifty days, Sundays included, and it looks as if his argument was unanswerable. Heretofore the Legislature has construed the clause in the Constitution limiting the session, to mean fifty working days, and the usual length of the session has consequently been about sixty days, including Sundays and legal holidays and a day of adjournment near the end of the session to allow the Clerks to catch up. It would be well for the Legislature to examine this question thoroughly at the beginning of the session and settle it at once. With a ten days shorter session than has been under the present Constitution, a great deal of legislation will be cut off; but better this than to have important acts passed on the heel of the session declared unconstitutional by reason of having been passed after the expiration of the constitutional session.

THE ELECTION.

Next Tuesday will tell whether the Radical party is to continue its reign of corruption, or whether the Democratic party will come into power to purify the Government. The contest looks like it will be a close one, but we believe the victory will be with the Democrats. Never since 1860 has there been so exciting a contest at the North, and accounts of bloodshed at the polls may be looked for at more places than one. In the South the feeling is practically all one way, and we have had but little, if any excitement. Let every Democrat in Calhoun county turn out and plant his vote for Cleveland and Hendricks and Gen. Forney, both for the purpose of making a certainty of Democratic triumph in the District and State, and, as we have before said, for the gratification that will follow, if Cleveland is elected, that his vote contributed to the grand result.

As we have said, we hope for a Democratic victory and we believe it will be won; but if it should not be, Democrats should not grow discouraged and fly the party. We need the party, compact and well organized, both in our State and county, to resist Radical domination with all that the term implies. The material prosperity of, and the purity of social life in, Alabama demand the continuance of the Democratic party in power, and this can only be maintained by close organization

The National Democratic Executive Committee has issued a stirring address, in which they set forth the outrages perpetrated by U. S. Deputy Marshals in Ohio, and the intention of the Republican party to repeat like outrages in Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticutt next Tuesday. The Committee define the duties of these Duputy Marshals under the law and show that they have no power to arrest voters going to the polls, and advise Democrats to forcibly resist and such attempts of these tools of a corrupt political party. The Committee further say that the Republicans have given up New York and will concentrate all their energies on the three States named; but they confidently predict for the Democratic party a glorious victory. Meantime let us of Calhoun do our duty by voting, so that it may be said Cleveland not only carried a majority of the electoral votes of the States, but a popular majority of the voters in the whole United States. Go to the polls.

Gov. Cleveland in Newark, N. J.

Gov. Cleveland visited Newark, New Jersey, Monday, and was received by the people of that city with the most flattering ovation that has been tendered any candidate since the campaign begun. Newark is Gov. Cleveland's birthplace, and this fact alone induced him to go out of the State of New York to attend the meeting. He made a most excellent speech, in which he placed himself on good ground as respects the tariff. He declared unequivocally that he was not in favor of laying any heavier import tax than was absolutely essential to meet the expenses of the Government economically administered. He is no protectionist for the sake of protection, but would protect American labor and American capital invested in manufactures, from foreign competition, so far as such an honest tariff would go. He is not in favor of robbing the great mass of the people, under guise of a high tariff, for the purpose of enriching further the manufacturers of the country. He is in short what the peny-a-liners of the Alabama high protective tariff papers would call a "free trader." Yet he is none the less the friend of the working man, whether in the foundry or the field.

Notice has been given through the Hot Blast, by some party or parties unknown, that the next Legislature will be asked to pass the court house removal bill, of which so much has said in this county.

Radical Deviltry.

It comes both from Nashville and Montgomery, from the most trust-worthy sources, that the Radicals are shipping arms in large quantities into Louisiana to the negroes, and that they will spare no pains to stir up bloodshed in that State on election day. Both Blaine and Logan have more than once hinted that the country ought not to suffer the Democratic party, backed by the solid South, to take control of the government; and we believe that the shipping of arms to Louisiana is a part of a well conceived plot to stir up bloodshed in that State between the races, and then, if the electoral vote of Louisiana will determine the result one way or the other, to resist its count, on the ground that the Democrats carried the State by force, and for this reason attempt to hold possession of the government in face of the popular will. This the Democratic party will never submit to, and the question will then resolve itself into one of which party has the most grit. Let us hope that a sufficiency of Northern States will go for Cleveland to avoid the possibility of any dispute as to who is elected.

Form of the Ticket.

If it so happens that any box in this county is without tickets on the day of election, the following, which is the correct Democratic presidential and congressional ticket, can be written on unruled white paper either with pen or pencil. The paper should not be more than 2½ or less than 2 inches wide, and not less than five nor more than ten inches long.

FOR ELECTORS FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT
OF THE UNITED STATES:
William H. Barnes,
Franklin W. Bowdon,
Sydney T. Prince,
Lewellyn A. Shaver,
Jesse M. Carmichael,
Gaston A. Robbins,
Felix L. Smith,
John J. Altman,
William H. Denson,
Robert A. McClellan.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE IN THE FORTY-NINTH CONGRESS, SEVENTH DISTRICT:
William H. Forney.

We direct attention to the large and attractive double column advertisement of A. Lesser & Co., of Anniston. These gentlemen contemplate a change in their business and will sell out at actual cost. From our dealings with these gentlemen we have been led to believe them entirely trust worthy and when they say they will sell at cost we believe they mean it. Doubtless good bargains can be had of them. Don't fail to go in and price their goods when you go to Anniston.

Mr. Hardaway, civil engineer of the Jacksonville and Gadsden Railroad, broke dirt Tuesday, with a force of hands, on the Mark Driskid place, two miles west of Jacksonville. He commences at this point because he says the work over the lowland there can be done in the present state of the weather at about half the cost of what same would be after the beginning of the rainy season.

The Tariff and the Demagogues.

Chicago Times.

The tariff, which is a curse to the people, is a blessing to the demagogues who promise to maintain it. The monopolists, whom it benefits, have contributed large sums to secure Blaine's election. The enormous corruption fund of the Republican party is drawn largely from the profits of a high tariff. Besides robbing the masses for the benefit of a few, the system of spoliation has become the mightiest instrument for the debasement of politics. Promising to perpetrate high tariff taxes, the party of monopoly can always obtain money from protection barons to corrupt voters and purchase elections. "Protection to home industry" has thus become another name for gigantic political corruption. If the Republican party should get another lease of power, no mortal can tell how long the American people would be at the mercy of the mercenary and despotic tariff lords that party has created.

Between swag and swagger there is a good deal of fourth century in nineteenth century politics.

A Distinguished Educator on Normal Schools.

Prof. E. Y. McMorries, one of the most distinguished teachers in the State, and who has been most prominently mentioned for State Superintendent of Education, in discussing the Blair educational bill, thus incidentally alludes to Normal Schools and their uses. As he says, if our State educational system ever amounts to anything worth speaking of, it will be through the instrumentality of these schools in supplying the country with trained teachers. The next Legislature should establish two or three more at different points in the State. The three white Normal schools now in existence cannot turn out teachers fast enough to supply the demand. At Florence, where the Normal School has been longest in existence in this State, the pupils are always engaged before graduation, and the demand is not near supplied. When the schools at Jacksonville and Livingston have been sufficiently long established to begin to turn out graduates, the situation will be somewhat better; but even all three institutions cannot supply the demand, when the educational appropriation becomes large enough to justify schools in every neighborhood in the State, as would be the case under the Blair educational bill. Prof. McMorries says:

"We think there are at least three things essential to the successful conduct of popular education, viz: good teachers, enough money, and a good system. If our State Superintendents and other officials of high authority on the school question are to be believed, our State possesses a very scant supply of all three of these essentials.

If Congress makes the appropriation, one difficulty will be removed. If the State will thus establish a system of education worthy of its greatness in other respects and worthy of the age in which we live, another obstacle will be out of the way. Still, the greatest difficulty of all will be to find a sufficient number of "competent and efficient teachers" to take charge of all these schools.

Admitting that we have ample funds to command the services of a first class teacher in every school in the State, and that the laws have been so framed, and the officials so vigilant and exacting as to render it impossible for any "incompetent and inefficient teacher" to secure a position in our public schools, the question comes up: Where will we get teachers to carry on our schools? We will not be able to get them from Georgia, South Carolina, nor indeed from any Southern State, for each of these States will be in exactly the same condition as ourselves—needing the services of more good teachers than they can find within their borders. Neither is it likely that we could recruit from the Eastern or Western States, as these, too, would all be on educational stretch.

Then, it appears inevitable to us that, however large the appropriation may be, it will be impossible to place our schools under the control of any other teachers than those now engaged in the State; and without improvement in our corps of teachers, there can possibly be no advancement made in the work of educating our people. A teacher who now teaches a free school for $20 per month of the public fund will be no more efficient when you pay him $50.

The framers of this bill appear to have understood our great need of good teachers, and have set apart a large portion of the appropriation for the establishment and support of Normal schools for the training of teachers. But it will take a Normal student three or four years to graduate, and as the period of this appropriation extends over only 7 years, that period will be half expired before the young Normal student can begin his work. Even then he is a tyro in the cause and lacks experience.

But, even the young, inexperienced Normal would be a "big improvement" on many old fossils now endeavoring to teach the "young ideas" in Alabama how to shoot. Just as we get a fine corps of Normal graduates somewhat experienced, our money gives out. What then?"

Mr. Blaine made a display of his sectionalism and demagoguism in his speech at Fort Wayne, Ind., in which he said that if the Democrats elected the President the South would contribute three-fourths of the votes and would have three fourths of the political power of the Government. Mr. Blaine proposed, instead of this, that the North shall elect him, giving him all its votes, and shall have all the political power.

The Romance of Life.

It is easier for the causal observer,—if he is a newspaper reader—to find more pure, unadulterated romance, in the occurring events of the day, than all the novels ever published. To satisfy our readers of the truth of this statement, we ask them to read the following articles which contain sufficient plot and incident for a half dozen stories. We will begin with the woman who

MARRIED TO PLEASE HER PARENTS.

A young lady, beautiful in person and attractive in manner, who resided in the immediate vicinity of Boston, was sought in marriage some years ago by two men. One of these was poor, and a mechanic; the other was rich, and not a mechanic. The woman loved the former; the family of the woman liked the latter. As is generally the case the woman married to please her friends. Having thus "sold herself" she ought to have been miserable, but she was not. Her husband's unaffected love subdued her heart, and his gold smoothed the rough places in the human path. Fortune, feeling that this couple were too happy, frowned, and the man's riches took wings and used them in flight. Thereupon the husband wound up his business, put his wife and children, of whom there were two, at a comfortable boarding house, and then departed for California, in search of money. Some letters and some remittances arrived from him at first, then nothing came, and there was a blank for several years. The wife thought herself deserted. The family, whose good opinion of the husband had not lately been so often published as formerly, told her that it was clearly a case for a divorce. When she had become accustomed to the sound of this unpleasant word, the disconsolate wife was thrown into the society of the mechanic lover, now prosperous, and still unmarried. The memory of her early, real love came upon her and, she believed with a secret joy that he had remained single for her sake. This thought nourished her affection, and at last she obtained a divorce from her husband, who had deserted her, and remained absent beyond the time allowed by the statute. This accomplished, there was no barrier between her and the mechanic of her youth. She informed him that she was his forever, when he should choose to claim her hand. Her feelings cannot have been pleasant to learn that, since his rejection by her and her marriage to another, the unromantic hewer of wood had drowned his passions for her in the waves of time, and that at the time of her handsome offer he no longer palpitated for her. In fact, Barkis was not willing. As if all this were not embarrassing enough, who should turn up but her husband, who made his appearance in the form of a letter, announcing that he had accumulated a dazzling pile of wealth, that he was on his way home, and that she was to meet him in New York. The letter also chid her for neglect in not writing to him for years, and it was learned that he had sent assurances of love and also material aid at intervals during his absence. Where these had gone nobody knows. Here then, was trouble. No husband, no lover. The one she had divorced; the other had refused her. Taking counsel to herself she packed her trunk, seeing that her wardrobe was unexceptionable, and came to the metropolis. She met the coming man on his arrival, and told him the whole story as correctly as she, naturally prejudiced in favor of the defendant, could tell it. The husband scowled, growled, looked at the charming face, and the becoming toilette, remembered California and its loneliness, and took her to his heart. A clergyman was summoned, a marriage was performed, and a new volume in her life's history was opened.

We will continue our Romance of Life with an incident of LOVE TRIUMPHANT.

Some thirty years ago there lived in the city of London an opulent Jewish banker of the name of R. As rich men usually have, the subject of the present sketch had a lovely daughter rejoicing in the scriptural name of Sarah. As Sarah reached the age of womanhood, her beauty, coupled with her father's wealth, drew to her feet many suitors; only one, however, could secure the prize, and that one was H., the son of a rich Polish nobleman. But when did the "course of true love run smooth." H. and his father became involved in one of the many revolutions that have occurred in Poland, their estates were confiscated, and they were obliged to flee for their lives. With the flight of H's. riches, R. discovered that his intended son-in-law would not do, and so told the young people. The lovers separated with vows of eternal constancy. H. emigrated to this country and Sarah remaining in London. But, as the copybook says: "Out of sight, out of my mind," and so in this case. The sea had rolled between the lovers for about a year, when a rich suitor paid his addresses to Sarah, who accepted and married him. He was almost distracted when he heard the news, but reflection came to his aid, and he consoled himself by also marrying.

Years passed on; the husband of Sarah died last year, leaving her a widow, penniless, and with eleven children. In the meantime, the wife of H. had died, leaving him eight children. When H. heard of the abject condition of his first love, all his old affection returned. He pictured his Sarah poor, and with a large family dependent upon her, which resulted in his sending for her and her children. After mutual reiterations of unchanged affection, the marriage day was fixed, and on Sunday last the parties were married by a Jewish Minister. They numbered one hundred and four years between them—the lady being fifty years of age, with traces of her former great beauty existing, and the husband being fifty-four years old. The newly married couple have a grown up family of nineteen olive branches to twine around their domestic hearthstone.

Our New Law-Makers.

Haynesville Examiner.

The legislature of our State just elected will contain several men of experience and talent in both houses; but is not an extraordinary body. The counties should require their ablest men to serve in the councils of the State, and in a few cases this has been done the present year.

In the lower house, which needs the better talent and experience, about a dozen members of the last legislature get back. Hale furnishes the ablest member in the person of Augustus A. Coleman, a circuit court Judge from 1858 to 1865, and colonel of the 49th Alabama; a lawyer who has few equals in the State. DeKalb sends her ablest and most distinguished citizen, Wm. J. Haralson, who was a circuit court Judge from 1862 to 1874, a circuit solicitor thirty years ago and that county will find that she has honored herself as Hale has done. Tuscaloosa, after keeping Andrew C. Hargrove in the senate from 1879 to 1884, now puts him in the House where he has sat as a member of constitutional convention in 1875; and Tuscaloosa maintains her proud roll of legislators. Merengo for the third time in succession delegates one of the most useful, sensible and practical men in the state in the person of Mims Walker, who has much of the force of his uncle, the late Robert Jemison, of Tuskaloosa. Montgomery puts a good foot foremost when she sends so able a lawyer as Wm. A. Gunter, and his colleague Thos. G. Jones is a man of superior talent, who served most capably as a reporter of the Supreme court for some years. Richard O. Picket, of Lauderdale, an able lawyer and refined man, served Lawrence in 1849, 1853, and 1857. Among the very brightest of the new men in the house is Milton Humes, of Madison, who comes equipped with rare attainments. Sumter Lee, of Dallas, is gifted with fine oratorical power, and was one of the framers of our preset voluminous State Constitution; while S. W. John, one of his colleagues, elected to a second term, not only has capacity but the courage of his convictions. Henry Brown of Tuscaloosa is elected to his fifth term, and his experience and genial manners will give him much influence as a member. Bullock returns her most prominent man in the person of Richard H. Powell, a field officer of the 3rd Alabama, who was state senator in 1865–67, a framer of the present constitution, and who is now chosen to a third successive term in a body his pleasant deportment will adorn. Perry re-elects Cyrus D. Hogue, a gentleman whose ability compares with his admirable modesty; and adds Wm. B. Modawell, who served Marengo in the House in 1863, and who has many fine qualities as a man and a lawyer. Lee has the good fortune to secure the services of H. C. Armstrong, the present state Superintendent of Education, a state senator in 1876—80 from Macon, and who will prove an active and influential member. Autauga does credit to herself in sending Thomas D. Cory, a man of high principles, who would at[illegible] Apollo for his silver bow. Lamar sends P. B. NeSmith for a second successive term, and he was a circuit court solicitor at one time. Russell does a kind and clever thing when she sends S. S. Scott, an amiable and cultivated man, who served Madison in the same body in 1857 and 1859, was commissioner of Indian affairs for our dead Confederacy, and who helped frame our present state constitution. M. Bullock comes back after a former service twelve years ago, and he will honor old Greene. And this leads us to speak of the good turn St. Clair has done in sending James T. Greene the efficient chief clerk in the educational office for four years, and who knows all about that business and more besides. J. A. Bilbro, of Macon; Ariosto A. Wiley, of Montgomery; Z. M. P. Inge, of Mobile; T. J. Carlisle and Frank Baltzell, of Pike; J. A. Curry, of Talladega; J. F. White, of Dallas; J. N. Suttle, of Bibb, and Elkanah Burson of Wilcox, and George Erwin, of Hale are new men and will be felt by varied but strong qualities. Hiram Hawkins, Clem. C. Shorter, and James Lang have all been re-elected by Barbour, John D. Burnett, by Conecuh, Isaack Grant, by Clarke, J. W. Bowling, by Dale, E. D. Willett, Jr., by Pickens, Chambers McAdory, by Jefferson; while Montgomery gives back W. H. Lawson, who was there in 1878, and Tallapoosa sends Jas. V. Ashurst, who was there from 1851 1861, except one session; J. H. Branch, of Lawrence, served in 1880; and the state is the gainer by the good sense of these counties in returning such men. All the other members are new and untried; so far as we can learn, and we dare say there is more or less worthiness among them. The forty we mention above will no doubt shape the legislation to a large degree in the house this winter.

OUR SENATOR.

Birmingham Chronicle.

The Chattanooga Times gives a full column of its editorial space to a rather foolish attack on Senator Morgan. The Times would do well to learn that a majority of the people of Alabama hold precisely the views on government taxes held by our senator. We should have one protection senator instead of giving the free traders both but there is apparently no effort being made for that purpose. One thing is certain, that a very large majority of our people would not hear of any effort to retire Morgan. The day may come when the state will be represented in the senate by a man who is in sympathy with the manufacturing interests, but the free trade wing of the party will always cleave to Morgan and when he dies, there will be mourning for a dead senator and not for a retired politician. He will die in the senate. His past political services, his devotion to them in the dark days, his earnest political sympathy with them now, have all been woven into a chain which will never be broken, but which will forever bind Morgan and his people. His votes will, every one, bear the closest scrutiny and his explanation of them is fair and honest. Even those who differ with the senator on tariff questions, will not read with any pleasure the intemperate article of the Times.

Gen. Beauregard's Mistake.

Mobile Register.

It is much to be regretted that General Beauregard, in an article on the battle of Manassas in the November Century, renews his old controversy with Mr. Davis. General Beauregard was a gallant and capable officer, but General Beauregard is a man with a grievance. We do not wish to enter upon the question whether Mr. Davis interferred too much with the Confederate commanders or not. On the one hand he seems to have not interfered with General Bee, while on the other hand we have never approved of the removal of General Joseph E. Johnston. But we are not prepared to admit the justice of General Beauregard's criticisms of the ex-President's course.

Nuts to Crack.

Caledonia (Minn.) Argus]

Wheat 55 cents and getting lower.

Iron furnace men agreeing to put out their fires, to lessen the product and keep up prices.

Nail mills shutting down for the same purpose.

Farmers actually rejoicing at a big grain yield.

Manufacturers lamenting too much production.

Farmers obliged to sell for what they can get.

Manufacturers enabled by the tariff to reduce the put out, and keep up the prices the farmer must pay.

Say, farmers aren't you getting sick of this one sided game?

A Hard Nut to Crack.

Birmingham Chronicle.

We did not agree with Senator Morgan entirely in his remarks last Friday night, but we give him credit for honesty of purpose and count him a pretty safe man. He certainly put in one bombshell when he referred to a certain class of people who were working convicts and then crying out to the general government for "protection to American labor." It's a hard nut to crack.

At the time when the laboring men are so industriously sought they should by careful inquiry, it seems to me, discover the party pledged to the protection of their interests, which recognizes in their labor something most valuable to the prosperity of the country, and primarily entitled to its care and protection. An intelligent examination will lead them to the exercise of the their privileges as citizens in furtherance of their interests and the welfare of their country. An unthinking performance of their duty at the ballot box will result in their injury and betrayal to party, and no candidate can have the cause to complain of the free and intelligent expression of the people's will. His expression will be free when uninfluenced by appeals to prejudice or senseless to the cry of danger selfishly raised by a party that seeks return of power and patronage, and it will be intelligent when based upon calm deliberation and full appreciation of good citizenship. [Cheers.] In the government of the people no political party gains to itself all the patriotism which the country contains. The perpetuity of our institutions and public welfare surely do not depend on changing party ascendency, but on the simple business like administration of affairs of the government, and appreciation by public officers that they are the people's servants, not their masters." (Applause.)

A PHARISEE REBUKED.

Another Exemplification of the Adage that Those Who Live in Glass Houses Should Not Throw Stones.

Willard Warner, an iron manufacturer of this State, and a Blaine and Logan Elector, made a speech at Birmingham, some days ago, in which he said there was no earthly prospect of Alabama giving its electoral vote to Blaine, because the "will of the people would not be fairly expressed at the polls." To this charge of fraud upon the Democratic party, the Montgomery Advertiser replies, and thus skins this slanderer of the good people of Alabama:

"How does the saintly Mr. Warner stand on the question of fraud? He is the creature of the vilest fraud ever practiced on any people. His first political entrance into the political arena in this State was in the carpet bag and negro reconstruction Legislature of 1868, as a member of the House from this county. Do our people remember how that body was created and forced on them? In February of 1868, an election was held lasting five days, at which a vote was taken on the adoption or rejection of the carpet bag constitution. It was expressly provided that the constitution was defeated and all the officers voted for at the time, unless a majority of the vote of the State was cast on the question of adoption or rejection of the constitution. The constitution thus submitted was defeated by 15,000 votes. Did the fraud hating Mr. Warner and his associates submit to this and refuse to become legislators? No, on the contrary, they met in this city on the 13th of July, 1868. One of the first acts was to install as Gov. Wm. H. Smith, who admitted that the constitution was defeated. Our people are not likely to forget that Federal soldiers took part in installing the first Republican Governor of Alabama. What did Mr. Warner's legislature do to protect the purity of the ballot box? They enacted a law allowing men to vote at any precinct in a county they chose, and with his support [illegible] it meant at every box in the county they could get to. What else did they do to prove their love of fair elections? A law was enacted by that very [illegible] body of men [illegible] It [illegible] crime [illegible] to [illegible] the vote of any man. Everybody remembers how under that law [illegible] in Mobile [illegible] for a Republican [illegible] parties in the [illegible] supreme court on a case brought before them decided that under the laws of Alabama no man could be punished for illegal voting. Yet Mr. Warner, one of the framers of that law, now talks about the free choice of the people of Alabama not being expressed. The same gang of free booters elected the pure minded Mr. Warner, one of the Senators from the State, his associate being the pure and spotless (?) Geo. E. Spencer. The Legislature that elected them was the basest of frauds, but Mr. Warner, who now stands up and slanders the Democrats of Alabama, did not hesitate to take the seat in the United States Senate which he secured under such circumstances.

Again when the legislature met in 1870, with a slight Democratic majority, the late Geo. Goldthwaite was elected to succeed Mr. Warner. Mr. Goldthwaite was deprived of his seat for many months by the objections of this same Mr. Warner. He was appeased by appointment to the office of collector of customs of the port of Mobile. [illegible] Mr. Warner was removed by Gen. Grant and then the saintly Warner came to the conclusion that Grant was a bad man and came out for Greely. In 1876, 1880 and 1884, however, he has been a warm supporter of the Republican candidates. Now under all circumstances it would be becoming in Mr. Warner, to keep his mouth closed on the subject of "the will of the people of Alabama not being fairly expressed at the ballot box."

Let Calhoun spread herself and see how many she can put in for the Democratic electoral ticket and Gen. Forney for Congress.

While Mr. Noble is voting his force for Blaine let the balance of the white people of Calhoun plant their votes in on the other side. Let it never be said that Calhoun has gone Radical.

Don't fail to go out and vote for the faithful and tried Forney for Congress. Don't miss this opportunity to vote for the next President and Vice President of the United States, Cleveland and Hendricks.

William M. Evarts, who helped to defraud Samuel J. Tilden of the office of President, to which he had been elected by the people, said of the present crisis in a speech the other day in Brooklyn:

You may say, as some people say now, a party should not always be in power; but in this country the party that is loyal always shall be in power. The party that raised its hand against the integrity, the honor, the safety of this country, so long as it maintains its front and cohesion, its sentiment, its passion, its purposes unchanged, shall never have possession of this government.

This is the same poorly concealed threat to which Blaine and Logan have given utterance. It is the bloody shirt and worse. It threatens a repetition of the fraud of 1876, because, forsooth, the democratic party of the south does not commit suicide. The long and short of it is, we of the south must vote for Blaine or be damned. These fellows might as well understand once for all that the southern people are never going to surrender their honest convictions because of any threats, defeat or no defeat.—Birmingham Age.

Let every Democrat be at his post Tuesday.

The scent of orange blossoms is in the air. More than one wedding is rumored to take place in Jacksonville in December. Don't ask us who, for we will not tell.

Mr. Frank Graham was in Jacksonville Tuesday evening, and reports that the street car line between Oxford and Anniston would be completed in about two weeks. He thought that the line would pay from the start and do better as the towns grow.

Here is an instance of the quick benefit from advertising in the Republican. Mr. J. L. Mattison threw in a short advertisement of his routes to Texas, and he quickly received five letters from parties desiring to go to Texas, all of whom mentioned they had seen the advertisement in the Republican; and he has just begun getting responses to that advertisement.

Dr. B. S. Evins, of White Plains, has associated with him in the practice of medicine, Dr. J. L. Baker, formerly of Marietta, Ga., but more lately of Oak Level, Ala. Dr. Evins is one of the oldest and best practitioners in this county and Dr. Baker is a young physician of fine accomplishments. The two united make a strong firm.

Mr. Evins is a son of Dr. B. S. Evins, of this county. We congratulate our young friend and wish for him and his fair bride a long and happy wedded life.

Kidney Complaint.

Aid From the Peabody Fund.

Mr. H. L. Stevenson, the treasurer of the Board of Directors of the State Normal School at Jacksonville, has received a remittance of several hundred dollars from the Trustees of the Peabody fund.

It is very creditable to this school that it has so quickly won recognition at the hands of the Trustees of the Peabody fund, all of whom are men of national reputation, and who only give of the fund when they are assured the money so spent will advance the cause of education. As we have before said, the time is not far off when this school will be universally recognized as of incalculable benefit to the educational interests of this section of the State, and more particularly to Calhoun county, where it is located. There are now one hundred and fifty pupils in regular attendance, and of this number some thirty will graduate as teachers in the course of the next two years, with increased numbers pressing on behind them to graduation. Among the Normal pupils are many very bright minds, who at graduation will not be merely good, but thorough, scholars. The standard at this school for graduation is high.

A Manure Pile.

Mr. A. G. McCinney, of Powder Springs Ga., tells the Farming World that a pit for home-made manure is very necessary on every farm. A basin located where the farmer can easily and conveniently cart the refuse straw; oak leaves, etc., at least once a month and oftener, if possible, to be trodden under foot by stock and afterward covered with an application of lime or acid phosphate, is very desirable and very profitable. If possible these pens should be located near your ground on which the manure is to be applied. 'Home made manure" should be the farmer's text. Lessen and cut off your acreage in cultivation; this will aid you in perfecting the best mode of accumulating home made manure. One of the chief sins existing in our present farming system is the habit of over-cropping. Another sin (of omission this time) is our failure to inform ourselves concerning the nature of our soil. No man can farm intelligently who is ignorant of the character of his land, and who does not know what kind of soil is best adapted to the different crops. We should manure at least twice a year, and raise two crops of cow-peas—one to be gathered for seed or cut and cured for hay, and the other to be turned under for the benefit of the ground.

There will be little excitement here election day.

Tuesday night the dispatches will begin to come in and we can tell something how the election is going.

We return thanks to those who have considerately come in and settled. Do thou likewise.

Washed-Out Hair.

There is a sort of pallid, chalky complexion which the novelists call a "washed-out complexion." It is ghastly enough, and no mistake. Washed-out, faded, discolored, or parti-colored hair is almost as repulsive and melancholy. Parker's Hair Balsam will restore your hair to its original color, whatever it was—brown auburn or black. Why wear moss on your head, when you may easily have lively, shining hair.

Nose Eaten Off.

A young man named John Naves, living near here, had an eating cancer on his face, which had eaten away his nose, part of his cheek, and extended up nearly to his eye. It was one of the most angry eating sores that I had ever seen. His throat finally became involved to such an extent that he could only swallow liquid food. After using all the remedies without checking the ravages of the eating cancer, his general health was broken down, he was confined to his bed, and thought it to be only a question of time about his death from the cancer. I put him on Swift's Specific as a last resort, and he began to improve with the first dose. His general health improved at once, and rapidly; his throat got well: the ravages of the cancer were soon stopped: it began to heal around the edges, and after a few months treatment with S. S. S. he has gotton entirely well. His face is all healed over with new flesh, and his general health is excellent. His recovery is wonderful.

Two Dangerous Seasons.

Spring and fall are times when so many people get sick. The changes in the weather are severe on feeble persons, and even those naturally strong are apt, as they say, "to be feeling miserable." Then they are just in condition to be struck down with some kind of fever. A bottle or two of Parker's Tonic will invigorate the digestion, put the liver, kidneys and blood in perfect order, and prevent more serious attacks. Why suffer, and perhaps die, when so simple a medicine will save you? Good for both sexes and all ages.

L. W. GRANT.

A Mother's Love—A Practical Illustration of Its Power.

A mother's love! What a potent thing it is! It will melt the heart of the most hardened criminal, when no other influence would be effectual. No one but a mother knows its full meaning, but every one can appreciate it if they will. It is known, though, that it means sleepless nights, care, inconvenience, and, if necessary, want, hardship and death. But the subject has been too eloquently treated by the sweetest poets and the ablest writers to furnish an essay for these columns. Too many practical illustrations occur in every day life for it to be dwelt upon, so that it is unnecessary to speak of the subject further in order to make the reader understand the full meaning of what is to follow.

Mrs. Henry Schualen, of Ashland, Ky., writes that her daughter has been cured of deafness which resulted from chronic catarrh. She tells how she had lost all hope of her daughter (her ideal) being cured, and how overjoyed she is at the result. After trying many remedies, she says PERUNA brought a cure, and that the daughter's hearing is restored. She concludes, by speaking in the most flattering terms of PERUNA, and then describes in the most lovely manner the happiness it has brought her, and reviews the distress she experienced while her daughter was afflicted.

Dr. A. R. Ong, Martins Ferry, O., writes: "I have a large trade on your PERUNA. Think it is a grand remedy."

Mr. Robert C. Hannah, Tolesborough, Lewis county, Ky., writes: "I write to inform you of the great benefit I received by the use of your medicines, PERUNA and MANALIN. I had been low spirited and very sick for about six months with a bad cough, and my friends thought I had consumption; tried a number of patent medicines, and most of the doctors in the vicinity (and we have some as good as you can find in the country), but they did me no good whatever. Our merchant, Mr. Gillespie, insisted upon me trying your remedies. I did so, but must say, I had little faith in them at first; before I had consumed my first bottle, I noticed a change for the better, and to-day I am entirely well, and as sound a man as there is in the vicinity. I credit my cure to your valuable remedies, PERUNA and MANALIN, and recommend them to all of my friends."

A TALE OF TWO CRUTCHES.

A Well Known Citizen of Atlanta Lays Down his Crutches.

I have only a few words to say, which are to state that I have been confined to my bed for two months with what was called Nervous Rheumatism or Sciatica. I was only enabled to hobble about occasionally by the use of crutches, and in this condition I commenced the use of B. B. B., four bottles of which enabled me to discard the use of my crutches and attend to business. I had previously used all well recommended medicines without relief. It has been over two months since using B. B. B., and I consider myself a permanently cured man.

FRIGHTFUL NASAL CATARRH.

Pieces of Bone.

For four years I have been afflicted with a very troublesome catarrh of the head. So terrible has its nature been that when I blew my nose small pieces of bones would frequently come out of my mouth and nose. The discharge was copious and at times exceedingly offensive. My blood became so impure that my general health was greatly impaired, with poor appetite and worse digestion.

Numerous medicines were used without relief, until I began the use of B. B. B., and three bottles acted almost like magic. Since their use not a symptom has returned, and I feel in every way quite restored to health. I am an old citizen of Atlanta, and refer to almost any one living on Butler street, and more particularly to Dr. L. M. Gillam, who knows of my case.

MRS. ELIZABETH KNOTT.

We will mail on application to anyone interested in blood and Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Kidney Troubles, etc., wonderful and unquestionable testimony of cures effected by the use of B. B. B., the quickest Blood Purifier ever known. Large bottles $1.00 or six for $5.00. Sold by all Druggists, or Expressed on receipt of price.

NOTICE.

FIRST AND LAST CALL

This is to call the attention of parties owing the Patapsco Guano Agency and under my control to the fact that the option to pay in cotton at 10 cents ceases if not paid at maturity, so I shall expect prompt delivery and shall only extend the option during the first week in November. Parties who procured Fertilizers at Jacksonville from Mr. D. Z. Goodlett, will settle with him. Those who received Fertilizers at Weavers Station, will settle with W. M. Elgin & Co., at Anniston, with Messrs. John E. Morris & Co., and W. J. Edmondson, at Leota (above Greensport,) with James Hogan. Still any who prefer to settle with me in person can do so at any time as I keep an inventory with me all the time of the notes and accounts. Small amounts will be settled for convenience in money at whatever cotton is worth. My business demands prompt settlement and I hope all will find it convenient to pay at maturity. All parties who did not settle their Guano notes for 1883, must settle without further indulgence. Times are too hard to have to pay cost, so come along one and all and shuck it out, and enjoy the peace of a good conscience toward your fellow man.

Very Respectfully,
W. P. COOPER,

Elegant House for Sale.

The heirs of the late Mrs. E. L. Grant will sell the family residence in Jacksonville at a bargain, for purpose of division.

The builing is of brick and contains eight rooms. It sits on an acre lot, about midway, facing South Main street, within a minute's walk of the public square, and has choice flower yard and shrubbery in front. The house is surrounded by fruit trees of the very finest varieties. The interior finish of the rooms is elegant, being furnished with marble mantles &c. All necessary outbuildings. It will be sold for less than the building itself cost. It would make a most desirable Summer residence, Jacksonville being the healthiest point in the State according to official report of the State Health Officer, and beautiful beyond description for its natural scenery. Sulphur, Chalybeate, Epsom, Freestone, Limestone, Magnesia and other mineral waters in the town or within a short drive of same. For further particulars address

A Sensible Farmer.

Mr. Samuel Morris writes to the Southern Cultivator: I beg to introduce myself as a farmer from Ohio, who has been traveling through the South for the last month, and is surprised at the evidences of growth and prosperity which I have everywhere seen, and which lead me to predict for this section a prosperity unparalleled in the history of this country. Your delightful and healthful climate, abundant coal and iron, abundant water power, and long days for labor are evidence enough that New England and the other colder sections will soon be out stripped in the race Already the iron and cotton manufacturing interests up here are seriously affected by Southern competition, and many of the mills are being closed up on account of it.

One thing I notice, however, is that your land is worn out and needs to be fertilized heavily if you want good crops, and I learn that immense quantities of money are spent every year for high prrced super-phosphates and chemical manures. Why don't your people do as we have begun to do in Ohio, that is, let every farmer make his own fertilizer? We have found that it is not necessary to pay the enormous price charged for high grade fertilizers. Let me give you a bit of my own experience in this matter for the benefit of any of your readers who may be using high grade fertilizers. I had been spending every year about $400 for fertilizers, when I heard other farmers were making their own fertilizers and I determined to do the same. I sent and got of a practical farmer a formula giving the exact proportions of the materials that enter into high grade fertilizers with directions how to make them without any machinery and with but little labor. I went to work (in the winter of 1881,) when I had little else to do, and soon made up enough to fully fertilize my farm, and it only cost me ten dollars a ton. I applied this on a field along side of some superphosphate for which I paid forty dollars a ton, and the crops produced by my fertilizer were the largest and best of the two. I have been making it ever since for my spring and fall crops and save annually over three hundred dollars. It requires no machinery, is easy to make, and would save thousands of dollars yearly to the farmers of the South. Can't you persuade them to take hold of the matter? I would like to see the South advance in agricultural as she is advancing in mechanical interests.

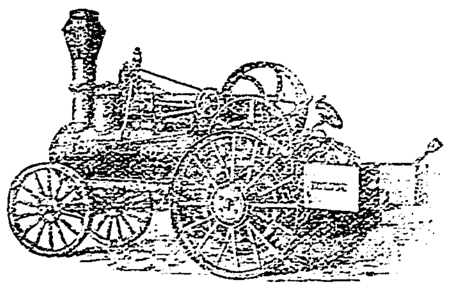
Horizontal "Eclipse" Engines for Calhoun County and all the World.



No one has ever bought an "ECLIPSE" without being pleased, and also convinced that it is the best Engine he ever used. This is a hard saying, when it is known that over 1,500 of these wonderful Engines are turned out from the shop without being able to supply the demand, and that in Georgia alone, over 600 have already been sold. A record which no other manufacturer can show elsewhere in the United States. If you wish to saw, grind or gin, the Eclipse Steam Engine is exactly what you need. It is simple, durable and safe. They have been manufactured for over thirty years, and thousands are now in use, without a Single Explosion Having Occurred.

If you want an Engine, either stationary, on sills, on wheels, or any other kind or of any size—up to 250-horse power—we can supply you on short notice and easy terms.

Do you need machinery of any kind—Saw Mills, Grist Mills, Cane Mills, Water Wheels, Emery Wheels, Gins Cotton Presses, Jet Pumps, Hancock Inspirators, Belting, Scales, Buggies, Wagons etc., please let us know what it is, and you will hear from us by first mail. Whosoever is wise let him get our prices and investigate the merits of our machinery before placing his orders elsewhere. Address

THE MAN AND THE MONKEY.

Once upon a time a man and a monkey chanced to meet on the highway.

"Hello, my long-tailed friend," asked the man, "whither art thou going?"

"Bound for de city," replied the monkey.

"Glad to hear it," replied the man.

"I am going there, too, and we will travel together and be of material benefit in case of danger."

The monkey grinned assent, and both wended their way.

"What ails you?" asked the man; "I see you are a sufferer and can scarcely get along."

"Oh, you see," replied the monkey, "my mudder, she had what you call scrofula, very much scrofula, and my farder, he had heap sores, some big, some little sores, long time. They both took much medicine, and when they died, that was all they left me."

"Yes, yes," replied the man, "I see how it is. Your mother inherited her disease, scrofula, and your father caught his on the wing, and you inherited or was born with both complaints. But why pine away and die when you can be cured?"

"I been done used over sixty bottles one drug store medicine, and it no good. Money all gone and sore here yet. Some doctors charge heap money, but no good."

"But, my friend," said the man, "you got hold of the wrong medicine. Go to the drug store and get one bottle of B. B. B., and before using all of it you will feel better. It is a quick cure. It will cure all sorts of Blood and Skin Diseases and Kidney Troubles."

"I be so thankful for your kindness, and go get B. B. B. to-day," replied the monkey.

COMFORT FROM THE DROUGHT.

The Year Succeeding Always Bountiful.

From the Augusta Chronicle.]

Prof. Puryear has written for the American Farmer a very learned and consoling article on Drouth.

After explaining how plants are composed largely of water and how they lose it by evaporation in a dry season, with much damage to themselves and inconvenience to mankind, the Professor considers remedies for these rude experiences.

His first counteraction is deep ploughing. He says:

"Deeply ploughed lands receive, when rains are abundant, into their substance all or nearly all the water that falls; none or little runs off from the surface. Such lands have therefore a large storehouse of water, from which plants may draw their supplies—crops will stand a drouth better for this reason. But the farther the water sinks into the substance of the soil, the smaller is the amount which the hot sun of summer will evaporate. Twelve inches beneath the surface the soil is many degrees cooler in summer than the surface, and hence if the soil be once saturated to that depth, much less water is dissipated and lost by solar heat. Deeply ploughed lands, therefore, not only receive into their substance more water, when rains are copious, but hold this water with greater grip and tenacity."

We believe this is also Mr. David Dickson's theory, and that he has saved many a crop by putting the idea into practice.

Pursuing this branch of the subject a little farther, the Professor says:

"When the atmosphere can descend deeply into the soil the cool soil deprives the aqueous vapor of heat, and so converts it into water and deposits it just where it is needed, about the rootlets of plants. In other words, in deeply ploughed lands dew is deposited in varying quantities all the time about the roots. Here is another reason why crops stand drouths better in deeply ploughed lands."

The deeper, therefore, you plough your land, the more moisture will be drawn up from below by capillary attraction.

These are some remedies. The advantages are philosophically stated.

The Professor believes that a drouth acts upon the earth pretty much as an enforced and lengthened abstinence from food, during some forms of fever, acts upon the human system. Its forces are collected. Its energies are rested. Its powers restored.

"Here is the Professor's scientific illustration:

If from a damp cellar we take a cube of cut sugar and touch a point to water, the water will strike slowly through the mass of sugar. But if we take a cube of cut sugar made perfectly dry by exposure to the hot sun, and touch it to water, the water in a moment flashes through the lump. The difference with which the two lumps receive water is striking and obvious The dry lump in a tenth of the time will receive ten times as much water into its substance as the moist lump. It is just so with the earth—the dry lump of sugar represents the earth in drouth: the drier the soil, the strnoger is the tendency of water to rise from below to the surface, where it is evaporated. But water never comes to the surface simply as water, it must come charged with all the soluble material which it has encountered in its ascent to the surface; it brings with it the nitrates, the sulphates, the alkaline salts and compounds, which have been exposed far below to its solvent action. When a solid is dissolved in water, it is no longer solid, but is as liquid as water, and must go wherever the water goes. It can part company with the water only at or near the surface, where the water changes its form and become vapor. But these salts lately dissolved in water becomes solid again when the water is lost by evaporation. The more severe and protrated the drouth, the greater the depth from the which the water will rise, and hence the greater its opportunity of meeting and dissolving solids and bringing them in solution to the surface, where they are deposited for the benefit of the ensuing crop. During a drouth, then, the mightiest power in the universe, that exhaustless source of all power, the great sun, is drawing up from the depths inaccessible to the spade and the plow, the soluble matter of the earth, and putting it where it is most useful to the farmer, in the surface soil. This water as it comes up brings what the farmer needs, and only what he needs. It brings up only soluble matter in the soil that can feed the growing plant. The substances that the plant derives from the soil are solids ordinarily; but they do not get into the plant as solids—all come into the vegetable circulation in solution.

Again, no mechanical reduction could put this material, brought up by water, in so comminuted a condition. It was better dissolved; more finely divided than could be effected by the boasted machinery of our day. When the water leaves it, it is therefore in the best possible condition for solutions. It is fully and freely available in consequence of its excessive comminution, far more so than if the same amount of fertilizing material had been ground and bolted by the most perfect machinery at our command.

All of which is summed up gloriously as follows: A year of hard drouth is sure to be followed by a year of plenty, "the crops get the benefit of all the soluble material drawn up and deposited near the surface during the drouth of the preceding year."

Wherefore, if it does not rain for some time yet, try to endure the drouth with patience, looking forward to a year of abundance, which will also be a year of happiness and prosperity, if Cleveland is elected.

THE CONFEDERATE CONGRESS.

Richmond Religious Herald.

In coming on here (to Washington, after we had talked of almost everything, Dr. Curry was asked some leading questions about the Confederate Congress, and about why Jefferson Davis was made President of the Confederacy. He replied (substantially): "There was nothing to develop great men in the Confederate Congress. Nearly all the legislation had reference to the war, and the debates were all in secret session, except such as were of no consequence. As to why we elected Mr. Davis President, there were several reasons. He had distinguished himself in the Mexican war, had been trained a soldier at West Point, and had been Secretary of War. We all felt that it was necessary to elect a man of military capacity and experience, acquainted with the officers who would come to us. Then, Mr. Davis had distinguished himself in the United States Senate as a Senator. He and Hunter and Benjamin and Toombs were the foremost men from the South in the Senate at that time. Mr. Davis was not an extreme man. He was a man of fine culture, and in all debates where scientific principles were involved he could take part with credit to himself. He was a man of stainless character, and his private life, as well as his public life, was blameless. The people who say that the choice of Mr. Davis for the Presidency was a bad one should remember that the field of selection was very restricted. Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee had not then joined the Confederacy. Mr. Stephens had been a strong Union man, and had recently made very strong Union speeches. Georgia presented him, and he was elected Vice-President, with the hope of conciliating the South and uniting the whole upon the great undertaking. I don't think there was much antagonism between Mr. Davis and Mr Stephens. Mr. Davis took very few persons into his confidence. In Washington you will always find the Vice-President has very little to do in aiding the President in the discharge of his duties. Mr. Benjamin was probably the greatest man we had, as a thinker and a speaker, while his capacity for work was simply wonderful. Howell Cobb was another great man. As President of the Provisional Congress (in Montgomery) he held himself admirably. He had been Speaker of the old Congress, and, added to his legislative experience, he was noted for his great ability and thorough integrity. In 1860, when there was great excitement in the South, looking to secession, Cobb was a Union man, and as such was elected Governor of Georgia. He was a Jackson Democrat in contradistinction from a Calhoun Democrat. He was Secretary of the Treasury under Buchanan and resigned and went home to plead for secession. He was one of the wisest of statesman, and many thought he would have made a better President than Davis. Howell Cobb was in many things very much like Senator Joseph E. Brown, whom I regard as a very able man. In the Provisional Congress Georgia had the strongest representation. It had Stephens, Toombs, the two Cobbs, Ben Hill, Frank Bartow (killed at Manassas), and Nisbet. Ben Hill was the ablest debater in the United States Senate, and his loss was irreparable. I repeat, there was nothing to develop statesmanship during the war and since the war, this race question has absorbed all questions and overshadowed everything else. No man, North, or South, seems to grasp it in all its bearings. The negro problem, more than any other in this country, or even in Europe, requires the highest order of statesmanship Thus only can it be settled justly for both races. Our people do not see, as they should; that the principle of Christainity must enter into statesmanship. In our protest against the union of Church and State we have fallen into the error of separating Christianity from these great principles. The most remarkable exhibit of the appliance of Christian principles is, of course, in Gladstone. He has the courage to stand up in the House of Commons and say that a certain course of action is wrong, because it is in opposition to Christianity. In that particular Senator Joseph E. Brown stands by Gladstone. He does in the United States Senate just that. He bases his action upon the Bible as the Work of God, and appeals to it not simply as authoritative, but as conclusive of the whole question. Although this is a Christian country (so called), very few of our public men have the courage or disposition to do as Gladstone and Brown do in this regard."

How to Spoil.

To spoil steak—fry it.

To spoil tea or coffee—boil it.

To spoil custard—bake it too long.

To spoil house plants—water them too much.

To spoil butter—do not work out all the milk.

To spoil a carpet—sweep it with a stiff, half-worn broom.

To spoil pancakes—bake them on a luke-warm griddle.

To spoil a breakfast—grumble all the while you are eating.

To spoil potatoes—let them lie and soak in water after boiling.

To spoil scissors—cut everything, from a sheet of paper to a bar of cast-iron.

To spoil a pair of garments in their making—cut them out carelessly and run all the seams.

To spoil children—humor them in everything they happen to think they want.

To spoil a school—change teachers every time some one in the district finds fault.

To spoil bread—use poor flour and sour yeast, and let it rise until too light and it runs over.

Where he Had Him.

"It came about in this way," he remarked, sitting up in bed burying his hands in his hair. "You see, I had a fall overcoat and my friend Charles had none, and to help him out I agreed to let him wear it on alternate days. See?"

"Yes."

"All right. I wore it the first day, let him have it the second, and went without any. See?"

"Yes."

"Good enough. Of course, I caught cold, and have been laid up for three weeks."

"Yes, yes. And Charles is still wearing the coat?"

"The same. But Nemesis has his address. You wait. I'll be out by the middle of December, and then he'll freeze to death. That thought is what is keeping me warm now.

And the sufferer rolled over and clawed chunks of consolation out of his reflections.

JUDGE CLOPTON.

Gov. O'Neal Makes a Popularly Favored Appointment.

Special to the Age.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., October 30.—Gov. O'Neal to-day appointed Hon. David Clopton associate justice of the supreme court. This is in accord with the almost unanimous wishes of the bar and the people of the state, for which the governor is very much applauded.

Are They?

The question is asked if really elaborate and expensive entertainments are desirable?

There is no desire to disparage any hospitable wish to welcome friends to handsome parlors and elegant tables. A cup of cold water offered with kindly affections and generous ideas and genial manner might make the receiving rooms attractive and the entertainment a feast. Others might be foolish and join the tribe of Gad, which, since the time of Moses, seems to have outgrown the large tribe of Judah and make the vulgar mistake of confounding expense and show with sociability, foolishly thinking that no hospitality can be given unless the house is illuminated and crowded like a theatre and a hugh table is spread with profusion, far more prolific with nightmare and dyspepsia than with genial conversation, balmy sleep and a healthful to-morrow.

Colors to Be Employed By Skillful Women.

When it is the fault of a face to contain too much red and blue, then purple is used.

Fair races are by contrast, but acted on by light colors, and dark faces by darker colors.

When it is the fault of a face to contain too much yellow and red, then orange is used.

When it is the fault of a face to contain too much blue and yellow, then green is used.

The linings of bonnets reflect their color on the face. Linings which reflect should be of the tain which is wanted in the face.

Objects which constitute a background to the face, or which, on the contrary, reflect their hues upon it, always either improve or injure the complexion.

When it is the fault of a face to contain too much red, then red around the face is used to remove the contrast, to cause the yellow and blue to predominate.

When it is the fault of a face to contain to much yellow, then yellow around the face is used to remove it by contrast, and to cause the red and blue to predominate.

When it is the fault of a face to contain too much blue, then blue around the face is used to remove it by contrast, and to cause the yellow and red to predominate,

Dark faces are best affected by darker colors, because they tend to render the complexion fairer and fair faces do not require dark colors, because the opposition would be too strong.

As a matter of course, paint is not meant, but there are forms and colors of dress which have a relation or bearing on the face. The Constitution may make some mistakes in this matter, but a "skillful woman" will discover them.

ELECTION IN ALABAMA.

MONTGOMERY, November 4.—The weather is fair. The vote promises not to be full. There is not much opposition in the state to the democratic electors. The principal contest is in the eighth congressional district, where Wheeler (democrat) is opposed by Day (republican.) No state or county officers are to be voted for. In the third district it is probable that W. C. Oates will be re-elected by a large majority.

MOBILE, Nov. 4.—The weather is fine. The election is progressing quietly and orderly. A fair vote is being polled.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 4.—Montgomery city gives 500 majority for Blaine. Scattering returns from different quarters of the state show that Cleveland will carry the state by a large majority. Jones, (democrat), for congress, in the first district; Herbert, democrat, in the second district; Oates, democrat, in the third; Lanier, democrat, in the fifth; Martin, democrat, in the sixth, and Forney, democrat, in the seventh, are all certainly elected. Small returns have been received from the fourth and eighth districts, but general indications are that Wheeler, democrat, will carry the latter. There has been no disturbance anywhere in the state.

Day, independent, for congress, in the 8th district of Alabama, beats Wheeler, democrat, in the latter's home county, by 319.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 4.—Returns from the fourth district indicate the election of Davidson, democrat. It is impossible to give the figures by all the returns show that Cleveland will have a large majority; that 8 congressmen elected will all be democrats.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., November 4.—[Special.]—A very quiet election with a light vote. Twenty-five per cent less than in the August election. The city gives Cleveland 125 majority. Jefferson county favors a high protective tariff, and gives the democrats 500 majority. All the iron furnaces are in full blast, and will continue so.

The election passed off very quietly at this box. The negroes as a rule voted the Republican ticket, and very little effort was made to influence their votes. The white people, almost to a man, voted the Democratic ticket.

No people here were happier over the news of Cleveland's election than the few colored men who voted the straight Democratic ticket.

The Republican.

NOVEMBER 8, 1884.

Shelby county goes Democratic by several hundred.

St. Clair county goes Democratic by a considerable majority.

Alabama elects all eight democratic condidates for congress.

The Legislature meets next Tuesday.

Democratic majority in Alabama is over 30,000.

The Chairman of the National Democratic Executive Committee says that there will be no counting out this time.

Old Cherokee rolled up a majority of something like a thousand votes for Cleveland, Hendricks and Forney and didn't half try.

Beat 8 cast nearly fifty Radical votes, but they came from the coalings. That vote should not be charged up to the rock-ribbed old Democeracy of beat 8.

Talladega, we are sorry to say, went Republican, through the activity of the Radicals and the apathy of the Democrats. This will probably teach our Talladega Democratic friends that it is their duty always to vote.

A democratic administration at Washington will strengthen the organized democracy in every county in this State. Very little will be heard of independent democrats for the next four years.

Iron men of the United States can probably get a bargain at Anniston in this county, as Mr. Noble has announced his intention of closing out, in event of Cleveland's election. We still think the iron works will pay there.

When the election of Cleveland and Hendricks is officially confirmed, let us jubilate and invite the whole country in. A bonfire on the mountain at White's view will light up this whole valley like day.

Etowah county gave Cleveland and Hendricks and Forney a majority of over four hundred. There was apathy among the Democrats from over-confidence while the Republicans were active. Dr. Ewing has been notified by the people of his county that he is not wanted at Washington.

Cleburne just spread herself in this election and went for Cleveland, Hendricks and Forney by a majority of several hundred more than she had ever before voted. The white Republicans of Cleburne would not vote for the Republican electoral ticket, because it had two negroes upon it. Blood is thicker than water.

Every box but one in Calhoun went Democratic by comfortable majorities. The Democrats of Anniston worked heroically to save it; but they could not stem the influence of Mr. Noble, who, with sadly mistaken views of the purposes of the Democratic party, imagined his interests as a manufacturer lay with the Republican party.

The news of the election was received here with deep but quiet satisfaction. When the dispatches would indicate the election of Cleveland, or with anxiety when they would indicate a different result. At this writing (Wednesday evening) the dispatches claim the election of Cleveland by 230 electoral votes, and there is consequently great joy in the old town; but even yet they fear to make a demonstration bet there may be some mistake about it.

Calhoun did not poll a full vote by 1000 to 1200, yet three thousand or more voters got to the polls and the Radicals went under by a majority of two to one. If they had thought there was any need for them, there were over a thousand Democrats who would have been found at the polls. We regret that every Democrat in the county did not vote.

RADICAL REVOLUTIONISTS MONKEYING WITH THE RETURNS.

There Will be no Counting out Allowed this Time.

The Democratic Party Showing a Good Healthy Backbone.

REPORTS CONFLICTING AND MUCH ANXIETY.

But All Right in the End.

All day Wednesday and Thursday the most conflicting dispatches were received here, private dispatches claiming the State of New York (on which the election depends) for Cleveland by a decisive majority, while the Western Union telegraph company, which is under the control of Jay Gould, a Blaine man, constantly gave accounts favorable to Blaine, and the associated press dispatches, under like influences, did the same. This state of suspense has continued up to the present time, (Friday noon.) The Democrats of the North are celebrating their grand and well earned victory by the firing of cannon, and declare in unmistakeable language that they will not submit to any counting out process this time, but will have a fair count or a free fight. Meanwhile Blaine has been telegraphed for by the Radical conspirators of New York, and the gravest apprehensions are felt that the fraud of 1876 will be again attempted. The wildest excitement prevails in New York city and Washington and the police force has been largely increased. It is reported, though not credited, that Jay Gould has been jailed, and that a raid has been made upon the Western Union telegraph office in Washington.

All the Southern States went for Cleveland, though Virginia was close. Indiana, Connecticutt, New Jersy, New York, Michigan and probably Illinois and Wisconsin have put a foot down on the bloody shirt, while many hitherto strong Republican States have gone for Blaine only by close shave. Most of our dispatches relate to N. Y., as that is the pivitol State. In conclusion we will say that we do not have a shadow of doubt but that Cleveland is elected and that he will take his seat as the next President of the United States. Exit Blaine and the bloody shirt. Enter a restored Union in fact and fraternal feeling. Peace and good will to men!

NEW YORK SAFE.

New York, November 5.—New York gives small plurality, but a safe one for Cleveland. New Jersey and Connecticut are both certainly democratic. Colonel Vilas telegraphs that Wisconsin is also for Cleveland.

THE WORLD.

BLAINE'S GAME OF BRAG.

New York, November 5, 8 p. m.—To The Constitution:—Carefully rectified returns give this state to Cleveland by very nearly five thousand plurality. Blaine is reported to be on his way to New York to figure out a favorable result. Jay Gould's agents cannot count Cleveland out, though they will probably try it.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

INDIANA RELIABLY DEMOCRATIC.

Indianapolis, November 5.—To The Constitution: It is impossible to estimate at this hour 7 p. m. Despite the Associate press reports we believe Indiana is democratic. Reliable private advices from over the state indicate this.

THE SENTINEL.

GROVER CLEVELAND'S FIGURES.

Albany, N. Y., November 6.—By Associated Press: The latest figures received by Grover Cleveland give the democrats a majority i the state of 2,766.

THE NEW YORK HERALD CLAIMS 4,000 MAJORITY FOR CLEVELAND.

New York, November 6.—2:30 a. m.—To The Constitution: We believe that Cleveland has 4,000 plurality.

The returns are being held back.

CHAIRMAN GORMAN ANNOUNCES THE RESULT TO THE COUNTRY.

New York, November 6, 2 a. m.—Senator Gorman, chairman of the National Democratic Executive Committee, says:

The vote of nearly every precinct in the State shows a small but safe majority for Cleveland and Hendricks. There will be no counting out this time. (Bully for you old boy! Stick!)

THE LATEST AND BEST.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov 7th.—The press bulletin from New York, at 8.40 a. m., gives Cleveland 1312 plurality in N. Y. State. Their own witnesses concede his election.

A Fine Machinist.

Our press got out of order the other day and we sent for Mr. Oscar Camp, of this place, who never fails on any sort of machinery. He put the press up when it was first bought, without instructions, and this time he fixed it without difficulty. He has not yet encountered any sort of machinery that he has not understood and been able to fix. We give this notice freely. He deserves it. He is the best machinist probably in this part of Alabama.

MARRIED—In Jacksonville, at the residence of Hon. A. Woods, father of the bride, by Rev. J. H. McLean, Miss Helen Woods and Dr. John L. McDaniel, of Tallapoosa, Ga.

The attendants were Mr. James Crow and Miss Jessie Woods, Mr. Robt. Arnold and Miss Fannie McDaniel, Mr. Will Woods and Miss Mattie Linder, and Mr. Walter Dean and Miss Ella Wyly.

The relatives of the bride and a few friends of the family witnessed the beautiful and interesting ceremony. At the conclusion of the service, the wedding party dined and at once took the train, the attendants and some others accompanying the bride and groom as far as Oxanna on their way home. The bride is very much beloved in Jacksonville and the REPUBLICAN joins her many friends here in wishing for her a long life of perfect wedded happiness. Dr. McDaniel is spoken of as a most worthy and successful gentleman, deserving of such a treasure as he has found.

Washed-Out Hair.

There is a sort of pallid, chalky complexion which the novelists call a "washed-out complexion." It is ghastly enough, and no mistake. Washed-out, faded, discolored, or parti-colored hair is almost as repulsive and melancholy. Parker's Hair Balsam will restore your hair to its original color, whatever it was; brown auburn or black. Why wear moss on your head, when you may easily have lively, shining hair.

AN AGED BAPTIST MINISTER.

Two More Important Cases.

Your agent being in Columbus, Ga., a few days ago, and meeting the venerable brother J. H. Campbell, we asked him for the news. His reply was, "I have two more important cures effected by Swift's Specific to report." This venerable man is known far and wide for his unremitting labors of love in the behalf of the poor of Columbus. It will be remembered that the Swift's Specific Co., has donated quite an amount of their famous medicine, to be distributed by Mr. Campbell among the poor of the city; hence his remark. He said:

"I have just seen a lady who has been greatly annoyed by a Tetter in one of her hands. It had given her much trouble and pain. She said she had been treated by several physicians during the past three or four years with the old remedies, but without giving any relief. I suggested Swift's Specific, and she took four bottles and is now apparently perfectly well. Her hand is smooth and not a single sign of the disease left. It is marvelous how this medicine renovates the system."

"What about the other case?"

"Well, that was a lady also. She had been affected with the eczema for four years. Her face, hands and arms, as well as her body, was covered over with sores and scabs. It was one of the worst cases of this terrible disease that I have ever seen. The suffering of the poor creature was beyond expression. She tried every remedy at command, including mercury and iodide of potash, but she only grew worse. She was in this condition when I first saw the case. I soon had her taking Swift's Specific, and she has now only taken two bottles, but every mark of the disease has almost entirely disappeared. Her strength and general health have greatly improved. It is one of the most remarkable cures that has come under my observation."

"Mr. Campbell, you have had a long and varied experience in mingling with men, and observing their afflictions and the remedies used—what is your opinion, as to the merits of Swift's Specific?"

"In a ministry of sixty years I have mingled with every class of society, and have observed closely the variety of diseases which afflict humanity. Blood diseases are the most numerous and the most difficult to remove. In my earlier life, Sands' Sarsaparilla was the great blood purifier. Many others have come to the surface, but it is my deliberate judgment that Swift's Specific is the grandest blood purifier ever discovered. There is nothing comparable to it. There is nothing too good to say about Swift's Specific.

Calhoun county will never consent to hand over her court house to a negro mob.—Oxanna Tribune.

Miss Nellie Kent,

Wellington, Lorain county, O, writes: "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O., Gentlemen: I have been a great sufferer from chronic catarrh, bronchitis and neuralgia of the face. I have been taking your PERUNA for one month. The neuralgia and catarrh is almost well, and the cough is much better. I like your PERUNA very much."

C. E. Dupler, aged thirty-four years, of Equality, Illinois, had been affected with a chronic catarrh which he first discovered six years ago. In succession he lost his smell, taste and hearing. The disease was so malignant that it not only attacked the softer parts, but destroyed the bony partition of the nose and seriously affected the external parts. He could only hear a watch ticking by holding it close to his ear. He suffered intense pain in the nose, from which green, dry clots of offensive odor fell. In this condition he presented himself to Dr. Hartman several months ago. He can now hear a watch eight inches from his right and six inches from his left ear. His taste and smell are again returning, and the external part of the nose is quite well. Few more grateful patients ever left a physician's office than Mr. Dupler. He said, "Why in the world was PERUNA not prescribed for me long ago?"

Cramps of the Stomach.

We have the privilege of reporting the following case. Those similarly affected can get the name and address of Dr. Hartman. The lady does not want her name in the papers. For a year, or years, (the writer does not remember the length of time,) this lady had cramps, the most fearful, of the stomach, every day and night, "which would be followed by that terrible weakness, which was something wonderful." The suffering and distress of this lady was indescribable and almost unendurable. After all the physicians and medicines had failed, and all hope had almost fled, Dr. Hartman was consulted, and from the first day of taking his PERUNA, the cramps and all bad feeling left her, and now for over a month has been entirely free from every symptom. A more thankful patient no doctor ever had.

Mr. Boggs, druggist, Charlestown, Kanawha Co., W. Va., writes: "PERUNA sells well here and gives good satisfaction. Customers speak well of it."

Dr. J. Anderson, Coshocton, Ohio, writes: "Your PERUNA sells well and gives good satisfaction, I consider it a splendid medicine."

NOTICE.

FIRST AND LAST CALL

This is to call the attention of parties owing the Potapsco Guano Agency and under my control to the fact that the option to pay in cotton at 10 cents ceases if not paid at maturity, so I shall expect prompt delivery and shall only extend the option during the first week in November. Parties who procured Fertilizers at Jacksonville from Mr. D. Z. Goodlett, will settle with him. Those who received Fertilizers at Weavers Station, will settle with W. M. Elgin & Co., at Anniston, with Messrs. John E. Morris & Co., and W. J. Edmondson, at Leota (above Greensport,) with James Hogan. Still any who prefer to settle with me in person can do so at any time as I keep an inventory with me all the time of the notes and accounts. Small amounts will be settled for convenience in money at whatever cotton is worth. My business demands prompt settlement and I hope all will find it convenient to pay at maturity. All parties who did not settle their Guano notes for 1883, must settle without further indulgence. Times are too hard to have to pay cost, so come along one and all and shuck it out, and enjoy the peace of a good conscience toward your fellow man.

Very Respectfully,
W. P. COOPER,
Alexandria, Ala., Oct. 20th 1884.

Made of the choicest material. Floor surface 10 acres, 800 to 1,000 men employed. Wages paid per month over $30,000, $100,000 invested. Over 300 labor saving machines. Every item passes through inspection 3 to 5 times. Read the following testimonials, and write to the parties. All work warranted for one year and if you desire it, will guarantee for 5 years.

OXFORD, ALA Sept. 20 1884

CLARK SNOW —I have a Columbus Buggy Co., Buggy, that has been in use eight years, I have only paid out 25 cents for repairs, it is a good buggy to-day.

Respectfully,
GEORGE W. FICHELBERGER.

CHOCCOLOCCO, Sept 17, 1884

CLARK SNOW Esq.—The buggy bought of you six years ago made by the Columbus Buggy Co., has given entire satisfaction. The only expense it has been was to cut the tires one time. If it had shaft rubbers on it, it would hardly rattle to-day.

A. H. BOLERS.

OXFORD, ALA., Sept. 13, 1884

CLARK SNOW —The Columbus Buggy bought of you two and a half years ago has given entire satisfaction, haven't had to spend a nickle on it for repairs.

Respectfully,
E. G. ROBERTSON.

OXFORD, ALA., Sept. 13, 1884.

CLARK SNOW.—The Columbus Buggy bought of you about four years ago has given entire satisfaction. I have used it a great deal and have not spent a nickle for repairs yet and think that it will give me good service for three or four years yet with very little repair.

Yours Respectfully,
L. L. ALLEN

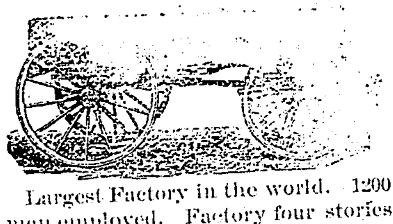
ALEXANDRIA, ALA., Sept. 13, '84.

MR. CLARK SNOW.—The Columbus Buggy bought of you four years ago last June, has given me satisfaction. I have spent on it about $1.50 in the four years

Yours Respectfully,
J. P. WAKEFIELD

In addition to the Columbus Buggy Company work, I can sell you the Gale Lightning Jump Seat, Gainesford and Davis work, all of which is as good work as can be found for the money. When you want anything on wheels, call and see me! and if I haven't got it, I will order at once and guarantee it to be as represented. Trusting to receive a liberal share of your trade I am yours truly

CLARK SNOW.



Largest Factory in the world. 1200 men employed. Factory four stories high. Floor surface 45 acres. Buildings, yards, lumber sheds &c., covers 80 acres. Timber seasoned from 3 to 5 years. Over half a million of people use STUDEBAKER work. Last year's work amounted 30,000 vehicles. On which are used our Patent Truss Axle, Patent Round Edge Tire, Slope Shoulder Spoke, and Axle Boxes Pressed in Hubs by Hydraulic Pressure—no wedges. All Gears Saturated in Boiling Oil.

Call on or write for prices if you want the best to Clark Snow Oxford, Ala.

Owing to the long depression in money matters, and dull trade, I have decided to offer my entire stock of Saddles, Bridles, Collars, Single and Double Buggy, Carriage and Wagon harnesses &c., at prices that cannot be duplicated by any one, for the cash down. If my work should rip before it wears out, I will repair it for nothing. Remember this when you buy my harness.

CLARK SNOW.
JACKSONVILLE, ALA.,

MR. CLARK SNOW,
OXFORD, ALA.,

I have been running a Studebaker wagon on my farm for the last ten years without any cost or repairs. I find it superior to any wagon I ever used, both as to durability and easy run.

I regard its merit superior to any wagon on the market.

Respectfully,

Elegant House for Sale.

The heirs of the late Mrs. E. L. Grant will sell the family residence in Jacksonville at a bargain, for purpose of division.

The builing is of brick and contains eight rooms. It sits on an acre lot, about midway, facing South Main street, within a minute's walk of the public square, and has choice flower yard and shrubbery in front. The house is surrounded by fruit trees of the very finest varieties. The interior finish of the rooms is elegant, being furnished with marble mantles &c. All necessary outbuildings. It will be sold for less than the building itself cost. It would make a most desirable Summer residence, Jacksonville being the healthiest point in the State according to official report of the State Health Officer, and beautiful beyond description for its natural scenery. Sulphur, Chalybeate, Epsom, Freestone, Limestone, Magnesia and other mineral waters in the town or within a short drive of same. For further particulars address

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of SPERMATORRHŒA or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, induced by self-indulgence, or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a 30 years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

THE ELECTION.

CEEVELAND AND HENDRICKS

STILL IN THE LEAD.

What May be Expected—A Word In Season—Comments of Leading Papers.

The World: We predict for President Cleveland an administration which will in all directions foster American industries, which will protect the American people against all wrongs and enroachments upon their rights at home and abroad, which will prohibit and punish all crime, which will protect the growing power of our rich criminal classes and monopolies, and which will restore both prosperity and honor to the nation. As Grover Cleveland has proved his fidelity in the loftier station to which the voice of the people has called him, as he leaves the Governor's chair with new honors on his head, so will he leave the President's chair, and the people, although they can give him no higher office, will install him in their lasting honor and respect.

The Times: The form of Jay Gould's congratulation to Gov. Cleveland was as impudent as the impulse to its composition was timorous. Put it into english it would read: "I heartily congratulate you upon the failure of my continuous efforts during the last three days to count you out of the office to which you have been elected."

The Tribune: The Republican national committee has done the wise and prudent thing in engaging the best counsel in every county in the State to see that the rights of the Republicans are protected and frauds not permitted. There is already ample evidence of the need for this, and we rest in confidence that it will be effective. The right will prevail through fair, open, legal means. Brag and bluster will do for the party that began with claiming 90,000 and are now boasting of little over one sixteenth as much and telling how they will fight for it. There will be no fighting except on paper; the fair vote will be fairly counted, legal means will enforce the just result, and we still believe that Blaine and Logan will receive the electoral votes of New York.

The Herald: Many interpretations will be put upon Gould's cringing and fawning dispatch to Governor Cleveland, pretending to congratulate him upon his election to the Presidency, but two facts in regard to it are clear. First: it is an admission that Gould himself was a vital point in the opposition—the main instrument in the endeavor, by the misuse of the telegraph, to falsify the return and fill the country with the opinion that Blaine was elected. Unless Gould's dispatch is interpreted in that way as the recognition of an arch conspirator, it has no significance, for there is no special reason aside from that why he should appear in the case. Next, it is the plainest admission that the attempt is a failure and that the game is up. Gould knows when he is beaten.

New York Sun says: "The people have determined that Grover Cleveland shall be President of the United States. They have so decided not because they like Cleveland, but because they believe he will be safer than Blaine. They have done it resolutely, deliberately, knowing all about both men. Thanks to the press on both sides, religious, and political, the controlling facts in the character and history of each have been pretty clearly brought before the public eye so that the popular judgment in the case may be described as intelligent and well considered. The people have voted, and their voting is to be respected. While we have done our duty in earnest endeavors to prevent such a decision as has finally been rendered and can not be expected to cherish any sanguine expectations of good to result from the installation of the elected President, we yet submit to the peoples will in the hope that the event may turn out better than our fears have led us to anticipate. At least, Mr. Cleveland must have a fair chance to show what he can do. Though by a very narrow plurality, he is yet legally and indisputably elected. His acts, both of commission and omission, that have been so ardently condemned by his opponents and so steadily justified by his friends, have now been condoned and wiped off the record by his election. He starts once more a clean, or rather a cleansed man, cleansed by those voters who have chosen him to the most powerful political office among men. Henceforth, until his administration is developed, whatever criticism is bestowed upon Mr. Cleveland should be directed toward his new and not his old performances. There are those who promise that he will prove himself quite equal to the responsibilities of the Presidency. Let us hope for the country's sake that this promise may be realized, and we undertake to say that if it should be so the fact will not anywhere be more creditably recognized than among those intelligent and high minded men who have so earnestly contended against his election.

Cincinnati Times-Star (Rep): There is good ground for saying that if Cleveland is elected his administration will be an eminently conservative one— that business will receive no farther shock than is unavoidable in a change of Government from one party to the other and there will be nothing of the "clean sweep" and "general crash" which many enthusiastic Democrats have been looking for. A gentleman in this city who will be very close to the administration says: "Cleveland will bring about him wise counselors, and his administration will be careful, conservative and safe. He may not be a man of great ability, but he is a hater of radicalism on any question, and therefore an eminently safe man."

St. Louis Republican (Dem): It is not probable the Independents will ask any reward for their work. They are not Democrats. They still call themselves Republicans. Their object was to punish their own party for nominating an obnoxious candidate and protect the Presidential office from personal contamination, and having effected this, they will be content without claiming a participation in the substantial fruits of the Democratic victory.

They may claim the right to counsel the new administration in behalf of reform in the civil service, reduction in the revenues and moderation and conservatism in its domestic policy. If so, they will be entitled to a most respectful hearing, for the Democratic party is pledged to all these, and the President elect is a recognized reformer, a recognized advocate of revenue reduction, and, above all, a recognized conservative statesman, and it will be the constant purpose of his administration to strengthen the Democracy in the North by a wise, moderate and thoroughly national foreign and domestic policy.

Philadelphia Ledger (Rep.): It is not through lack of folly, or of reckless statements, or intemperate appeals by party committee men and headlong party organs, that some of our American cities have escaped violence and riot within the last thirty-six hours. Incitement to serious breaches of the peace, coming from such people and such organs, have been abundant on both sides and only the good sense, as well as good temper, of the great body of the people, have averted an outbreak, and the probable serious disorders towards which all such outbreaks inevitably tend. The people have learned to measure the small title to consideration all such persons and papers have. It is only men predisposed to tumult and riot that they affect in a dangerous way. There is an exception, however, in the case of the proclaimation issued over the signature of the Chairman of the National Republican Committee— because that coming as it did from the authorized spokesman of one of the two great political organizations of the country, could not be classed with the small fry of committee-men or reckless party newspapers. The issue of the proclamation was a most ill-advised proceeding, for it might have been the initial step to very serious results. It is plain that some cooler head is needed at a time like this in that committee room, or headquarters, or whatever is its official designation. Outcries of "fraud," belligerent pronunciamentos about resisting the "counting in" or "counting out" of either candidate for the Presidency, which are heard all around the compass from excitable politicians who have lost their heads, and better be postponed for the present—if not indefinitely. They bear testimony it is true to the readiness of their authors to take part in a fight for their parties, and also to their utter emptiness of everything like the commonest of common sense. Thus far there is not one shred of evidence that the official returns have been tampered with in any one of the three thousand election divisions of New York State; though we regret to say there is reason to suspect that methodical attempts have been made to give plausible false coloring to some of the unofficial reports for the newspaper press.

Louisville Courier-Journal (Henry Watterson): In my judgment, the election of Cleveland, and the change of parties it involves has secured us for at least a hundred years to come against civil discord, and domestic strife nay, more, it will speedily obliterate all sectional lines. The terms North and South like those of East and West will stand simply for points of the compass. We shall have more mathematical and less geographical in our politics; we shall certainly have a better system of book-keeping. We shall have a man in executive office, a man who can tell the truth, even when it hurts himself. I am glad for my part that he is not a magnetic man, or a showy man but that he is made of tough stuff, good goods, honest homespun, that will wear and can stand the racket.

Nashville World (Dem.): The colored people should not feel depressed at the election of Cleveland. The Democrats will not do a thing to harm them, but will conduct the Government so that its blessing will fall on all alike.

What May Be Expected.

The election of Grover Cleveland means something more important and significant than a mere change of parties, or a transmission of offices from Republicans to Democrats. To turn out one party merely to give place to another with the same methods and the same purposes would be a matter of little significance. If no improvement is to be expected from the change, then the grand struggle made by the Democracy has been in vain, and all the trouble, turmoil and expense might have been saved to the people and the country.

Those who have kept themselves informed in the history of this government for the past twenty years must look almost with apprehension at the magnitude of the task awaiting a new administration by a new party. When the Republican party went out of power in Alabama ten years ago, after having held the government but a few years, many sanguine Democrats thought nothing was needed but to install a Democratic government, and that all the evil wrought by the Republicans would at once be remedied. Yet, after ten years of economy and care in the administration of our affairs, the state has not yet recovered from the effects of radicalism.

The task devolving on Cleveland is one to call forth all that is in him, and all the talent and honesty that he can call to his assistance. His election means that the administration of the government must be turned back into the channels of honesty and integrity and economy that marked it in the earlier and better days. No such officials as Robeson and Chandler and Brady and Dorsey can have a voice in public affairs. No place on the Supreme Court bench can be bought by Gould's millions, nor can that high tribunal be packed with judges who will be pledged to decide an important question in the interest of money changers and stock jobbers. If vacancies occur—as they will—in that body, they will be filled by men qualified and fitted for the high duties devolving on them.

The election of Cleveland means an administration Democratic in policy, as well as in name. A government that oppresses instead of protecting the people is not Democratic, and we may hope to have seen the end of it. A government that is a harbor and a refuge for adventurers and peculators, which is run in the interest of corrupt officials, and devoted to the personal fortunes of unprincipled tricksters is not what the country expects. That has existed long enough, and will be changed. But the country does expect honesty in high places, economy in financial affairs, integrity and capacity in all branches of the government. It expects a balancing of accounts, a righting of wrong, a reversal of methods and revolution of policy. In short, the country expects Reform, and we predict that it will not be disappointed.

A Word In Season.

The state is full of negroes who are laboring under vague but distressing delusions— the result of a long series of teachings and preachings poured into open ears by their republican friends and leaders. Out of selfish reasons they have been kept in a state of alarm, and now when a change of party is about to take place, they think the stories of their leaders are about to crystalize. Ridiculous as their delusion may seem to intelligent people, it is still very real to them. For this very reason great care should be taken during the next fifteen days to remove their foolish fears. Any rash actions or words on the part of the thoughtless would increase the alarm in the country districts, and the cotton fields would soon be deserted in this fine weather. If every white citizen would recall the peculiar circumstances of the case the sudden leap to freedom and the nature of the men who have ever since plied them with falsehoods—they will see the need of prudence and of kind words at this time. The negro will stand to the white man if he can be sure of protection and peace. At present he is nervous. He is alarmed over a situation that he does not understand because it is new and sudden. He is in a thick fog, and is cast down. It is both our duty and our interest to see that he is quickly assured of safety and protection, including, of course, all his war created rights. If every good citizen will take hold of this matter at once, in a week every darkey will be made happy and he will go to work to earn a living and to lend a hand toward carrying on the great industries of the south. We cannot afford to have idle hands about us at this season of the year, and the leading men in each community should endeavor at once to restrain the thoughtless of the white race and to reassure the ignorant and deluded victims of partizan cunning.—Atlanta Constitution.

London Times on the Result of Our Election.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Times this morning in its leader, devoted to the American Presidential contest, says it is unlikely that there will be any serious attempt to contest the result of the election. Blaine is a man of great gifts and is an accomplished speaker, but he has unhappily identified himself with speculative schemes and monied interests. Cleveland has few brilliant qualities. His public career has been comparatively brief and modest, but he has shown a high sense of public duty and will faithfully discharge his trust, without favoring either the magnates of Wall street or demagogues. It is to be hoped that Mr. Bayard will accept office under Cleveland. Bayard is a man of the highest integrity and ability, and will not discredit the best traditions of American diplomacy. The Democrats must now show that they are true to the principles of political purity and administrative reform. The recent electoral conduct, especially on the Republican side, has disclosed the existence of widespread corruption, which has alarmed honorable men in all parties.

Governor Cleveland to be Married.

INDIANAPOLIS, November, 9.—Rev. James McLeod, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of this city, and who formerly occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Buffalo, N. Y., says he has it on good authority that Governor Cleveland will shortly be united in marriage with a young lady of Buffalo.

We have just received a copy of the Jacksonville (Ala) Republican. It is entering upon its fiftieth year. For a half century it has been standing sentinel upon the watchtower of the people's liberties. When war spread desolation and sorrow throughout the land, its aged editor sent his only boy a youth of seventeen out to the battle fields of his country, and when the star of a nations hope began to wane, the grand old Roman now passed into eternal rest, laid down the pen and though the frosts of many winters had silvered his hair and weakened his arm, donned the sword and buckler to do battle for his country's cause. No journal in the land has a nobler record and we waft it our heartfelt wishes for its continued welfare and prosperity.—Cleburne Texas Telegram.

Poisoned by a Nurse.

Some eight years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. The little child lingered along until it was about two years old, when its little life was yielded up to the fearful poison. For six long years I have suffered untold misery. I was covered with sores and ulcers from head to foot, and in my great extremity I prayed to die. No language can express my feelings of woe during those long six years. I had the best medical treatment. Several physicians successively treated me, but all to no purpose. The Mercury and Potash seemed to add fuel to the awful flame which was devouring me. About three months ago I was advised by friends who had seen wonderful cures made by it, to take Swift's Specific. Wo got two bottles, and I felt hope again revive in my breast—hope for health and happiness again. But alas! we had spent so much for medical treatment that we were too poor to buy. Oh! the agony of that moment! Health and happiness within your reach, but too poor to grasp it. I applied, however, to those who were able willing to help me, and I have taken Swift's Specific, and am now sound and well once more. Swift's Specific is the best blood purifier in the world, and is the greatest blessing of the age.

The Republican.

NOVEMBER 15, 1884.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 11, 1884.
DEAR REPUBLICAN:

Both houses of the General Assembly met to day and, after the enrollment of members, adjourned until tomorrow, when they will be fully organized by the election of officers. The Senate caucus elected Thos. Seay, of Hale county President, and all its old officers, including Ex-Senator Howell, of Cleburne, who offered for his old place of enrolling and engrossing clerk. Chancellor McSpadden was Mr. Seay's opponent for the Presidency of the Senate. The race between these two distinguished gentlemen was conducted with the greatest good humor. Chancellor McSpadden will doubtless be made chairman of the Judiciary Committee, a position of little less honor than the Presidency of the Senate.

The Senate caucus admitted the Independent Senator from Mobile to the priviledge of the caucus: but the House retired the Independent members from Mobile, from the caucus by an overwhelming vote. The vote in the Senate caucus on the admission of the Mobile Senator was so close that there was only the difference of one vote. The action of both houses in this matter is variously regarded here. The Mobile men made out a pretty fair case for themselves, and those who voted for them did it on their statement of the case. Others regarded the preservation of party lines as above everything, and while they sympathize with the Mobile members to a degree, voted for their exclusion from the caucuses of the Democratic party.

Messrs. Armstrong, of Lee, Brown, of Tuscaloosa and Johns, of Selma, were candidates for Speaker of the House. Mr. Armstrong was elected on the second ballot by the House caucus. Messrs McIver, of Macon, Garrett, of Calhoun, Pope of Etowah, and Jemison of Chambers, were candidates for Clerk of the House. McIver was elected on the third ballot. Horrace Hood, of Monroe, was elected Assistant Clerk of the House without opposition, by acclamation. Richard Baugh, of Jefferson was elected engrossing Clerk. E. C. Elmore, of Montgomery, Enroling Clerk, Robt. Hasson, of Etowah, Door Keeper. Hasson was formerly elected from Calhoun, but has since moved to Etowah. He had three opponents, who got fifteen votes between them. Bob, it will be remembered, lost a leg in the Confederate army. One of his badly beaten opponents remarked: when the result of the ballot was announced, that if he ever ran for office again, he would go out and break a leg off first.

Dorris' circus was here to day and the city was litterly jammed and packed with negroes from the country. The election of a Democratic President has not depressed them to an extent that will keep them away from a show of this character.

The Democrata of Montgomery have made elaborate arrangements to celebrate the Democratic victory in the national contest tomorrow night. It will no doubt be a big thing, more especially if the official count in New York is ascertained to be certainly in favor of Clevelond before that time. The Democrats here are perfectly confident that Cleveland will be seated, despite the evident efforts of the Radicals to again steal the Presidency.

I omitted to say in the first part of this letter that Mr. Clay, of Madison, was made Secretary of the Senate. Mr. Clarke of Montgomery, Assistant Secretary and Mr. Padgett, of Jackson, Door Keeper.

Masters Lothair Brooks, of Tuskegee, and Eddie Woodward of Calhoun, were appointed pages of the Senate.

All these gentlemen served last session and were most efficient and faithful officers. The Legislature will get down to work by Thursday, when I will write you again, though it will not reach you, probably, in time for this week's issue.

BRIGHTER.

CLEVELAND'S PLURALITY GROWING.

No Fraud Yet Discovered in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The result of the official count so far in this State has been entirely satisfactory to the Democrats, and only confirms Cleveland's election. Fifty of the sixty counties in the State have officially reported, and the result is unchanged, leaving Cleveland a plurality in New York of 1200 to 1300. Among the counties yet to report are New York and Kings counties. The entire interest centers in New York, it being now conceded that the figures already reported from the outside counties will not be changed by the official count.

In every county in the State, with the exception of New York and Kings counties, the ballots are burned so soon as the votes are computed by the Inspectors of the Election, so that in the interior of the State there is nothing for the canvassers to do but to scrutinize the inspectors' reports and see that no clerical errors have been made. In New York and Kings counties, however, all the ballots cast have to be recounted, which is four or five day's task. The Canvassing Board in New York consists of 24 Aldermen, sixten of whom are Democrats. The vote in New York has been carefully canvassed by experts and no errors were discovered, and it is not thought that any will be found in the official canvass. The result in Kings county so far shows a gain for Cleveland. No fraud has yet been discovered in New York, nor is it at all likely that at the most will 100 votes be thrown out. Cleveland can easily spare 1,000 and still have a safe majority of 200 to 300.

THE COUNT IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—The Courier-Journal correspondent telegraphs as follows:

The Republicans confess tonight that the official returns from the interior Republican counties in the State reported today are disappointing. They now pin their faith, if they have any left, upon the count in this city and Brooklyn. Their only hope now is to get up a racket over the vote in these two large cities. They will find, however, that the New York City and Brooklyn Democrats will be equal to any emergency that may arise: they will not lose a single trick. Your correspondent will not be in the least surprised that when the official count is concluded, Mr. Cleveland has over 1,700 plurality. I think he will gain 50 votes a day from now on until the close of the canvass.

It was said at National Democratic headquarters last night that the election of Alderman Waite, Republican, as Chairman of the Board of County Canvassers in New York county, has no bearing upon the Presidential count, but only upon the canvass for local officers in which the County Democracy and Tammany had opposing candidates, both of which polled more votes than Republican candidates on national matters. The Democrats act together. Tammany and the County Democracy Aldermen are to be respectfully chairmen of the two canvassing committees—that on protests and that on corrected returns.

After a thorough examination of the vote of New York City the Republican counsel have agreed upon the canvass of the figures already accepted and announced by the Democrats, so that there will be no contest on the Presidential count.

John Kelly stated to-night that he would answer for his men who are on the County Board of Canvassers. "I will be present myself and will watch the count like a cat watches a rat," was his remark.

One Republican Thief Pleads Insanity.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Application was made to-day to the District Commissioners by friends of J. O. P. Burnside for the commitment of Burnside to the Government Insane Asylum. Burnside is under indictment and on bail charged with embezzlement of a large amount while Superintendent of the Postoffice Department building. The application is made through the police department in the regular form used in cases of indigent insane. It is signed by two physicians in good standing, Drs. Lincoln and Murphy, and Bishop elect Paret. As Burnside is under criminal indictment the Commissioners have no power to act, and action will have to be taken through the Court.

WILL CLEVELAND MARRY?

The Ladies of the White House Under the New Administration.

ALBANY, Nov. 6:—Here it is regarded as settled that Gov. Cleveland is the next President, and already the gossips are busy with conjectures as to who will be the lady of the White House. There is a well defined belief among his friends that there is a young lady in Western New York who will soon be led to the altar by the President elect. Others who have known him long and well say that he will never marry and that this talk simply come of the fact that he has shown this young woman some slight attentions since he was elected Governor. Early in life his hopes and ambitions for a wife were crushed by the hand of death, and his affection for the lost one has kept him treading the wine press of life atone. If the reports that he is to marry are not true then his own immediate family will furnish the lady to do the social honors of his administration.

It is generally believed by those who know him best that there will be less festivities during his term of office than there have been for many years past. He has been a hard-working Governor and will probably continue his industrious habits as President. Bachelor as he is, the White House will, however, have a most creditable mistress. There are four ladies in his immediate family, either of whom can well do the honors of the household. His eldest sister in this country, Mrs. W. E. Hoyt, of Fayettsville, would fill any position with credit. She is a middle-aged lady, of pleasing address, who has spent a good deal of time at the Executive Mansion here since her brother has been Governor. She has made many friends here in the capital of the State and will doubtlesss do the same in Washington, where she will probably go the 4th of next March, Miss. R. E. Cleveland is the maiden sister. She still resides in the little cottage at Holland's Patent, just above Utica. A good public speaker, a quick conversationalist and generally a plain woman of intellectual force, she would do her share in entertaining her brother's guests at the National Capital. Mr. Cleveland has a sister who for twenty years has been a missionary at Ceylon. She has two charming young lady daughters, Mary and Carrie Hastings, whom the Governor has been for years educating in this country. He has given them every advantage and they have improved them. They will no doubt be a part of their uncle's family circle at Washington, as they have been at times here.

With Mrs. Hoyt or any one of the three other ladies spoken of the social end of the first Democratic administration for a quarter of a century will be well sustained, even should the President-elect continue a bachelor.

Drowning men catch at a straw. Don't be surprised if the corruption conspirators voiced by The New York Tribune continue to claim Blaine's election, even after the work of the county boards yesterday. Gould, Blaine, Elkins & Co., are apt to keep on claiming New York, though the county and State canvassing boards show completely the fallacy of their claims. They have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars out of their own pockets, and have been guilty of incalculable wickedness and rascality to defeat Cleveland, and they will cling to the last thread of hope that their efforts may not be futile and their rascality exposed.—Selma Times

It is alleged that Blains is playing his present game to pose as a Republican martyr four years hence. He wants to say he was cheated out of the Presidency in order to run again. But he won't be able to play the Tilden role. The cause don't exist, if reports are true. Tilden in decrepitude refused the honor: Blaine in his grave won't have the chance.—Selma Times.

In Butler's cup of bitterness there is a single sweet drop. His candidacy saved Massachusetts to Blaine. In 1880 General Garfield's plurality was 53,245. According to the latest returns of Tuesday's contest Blaine's plurality will not much exceed 10,000. Butler drew off 23,000 democratic votes, which added to the democratic column, would have given the state to Cleveland.

The expense of holding a general election in New York is quite an item. The bill which the city will have to pay this year amounts to $156,640, including pay of poll clerks and inspectors, rents, repairs, stationary and printing.

"Turn the rascals out"—the new set of rascals at the helm of the Republican party. The old ones stole the people's money, the new ones are trying to steal the people themselves.—Selma Times.

Just 117 days to the inauguration of President Cleveland.

The legislation sold for Blaine campaign funds cannot be delivered.

The probability is that Mr. Arthur and Mr. Conkling are not losing sleep over the presidential doubt.

An Exploded Boom.

A long, lean and chronic Anti-Potash Boom met the new, fat and saucy AtlantaBig Bold Boom, on a hot, sultry day "Who are you?" asked the B. B. B. Boom. "I am the Anti-Potash Boom," was the sad reply, as the perspiration rolled down, and it leaned heavily on the B. B. B. Boom for support.

"Don't lean on me," said the B B B Boom. "I may look strong, but I am quite young only 14 months old, and am growing rapidly, and am mighty weak in the knees. I am doing the work which you have failed to do, although you are fifty years old. You are old, and tough, and rich, and don't require a support. But what causes you to look so thin of late?"

"Well I hardly know," replied the Anti-Potash Boom. "My physician tells me that my abilities have been over-rated, and that while trying to whip out all opposition by boast and brag, that I have only proven my inability to cope with what he calls my superiors. Old age is also creeping on me—having fought near fifty years before any one knew I was living—and now I am unable to perform feats that others are doing. I am collapsed; my friends have turned against me and call me names, and oh Lordy, how sick I become at the very sight of B B B Hold my head while I die."

ATLANTA June 5.

BLOOD BALM COMPANY:

I take pleasure in making the following statement. For four years I have been a great sufferer from Malarial Blood Poison, and for six months have had Rheumatism to such an extent, that I was forced to use crutches a portion of the time and could not raise my left arm to my head. I used all the leading Blood remedies of the day, besides the attention of several first-class physicians, all without benefit.

I became quite feeble and emaciated, having very little appetite and poor digestion.

Calling at your office one day, I secured two bottles of B. B. B., and commenced its use at once, and before one bottle had been used, I felt a most wonderful change. Two bottles have given me almost entire relief. Rheumatism relieved and can use my arm as good as ever, cured the neuralgia in my head and all malarial poison is being rapidly relieved, and I feel better than I have for six years. To tell you the truth I have never used such a wonderful medicine in all my life, as the effects have been magical. It has acted as a splendid tonic, gave a good appetite and imparted quiet slumbers. I cheerfully recommend it as a quick remedy.

A Painful Accident.

While engaged in firing salutes in honor of the Democratic victory, Mr. Elston Morgan, son of Major Samuel Morgan, had his right arm blown off. POLITICAL NOTES.

It was expected that the spoilsmen would let go reluctantly; but they will let go, all the same.

Cleveland and Hendricks have been elected. Stand aside, and allow them to pass up to the white house.

It is said that all the presidents of the United States have had blue eyes except General Harrison, and he did not live long.

Dr. Burchard and Mr. Blaine are alike in one respect. The former wishes he hadn't made that speech; the latter wishes he hadn't written those letters.

The alliterative Blaine parson may derive what comfort he can from the knowledge that the "party of Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" is now the rooster that now Rules the Roost.

The defeat of Henry Cabot Lodge for Congress by 787 majority ought to be a lesson to him that the "Scholar in politics" should at least be honest. He had no business supporting Blaine.

Nervousness.

The moment there is danger of impairment of the mind from excessive nervous exhaustion, or where there exists forebodings of evil, a desire for solitude, shunning and avoiding company, vertigo and nervous debility, or when insanity has already taken place, Peruna and Manalin should be implicitly relied on. But it is never well to wait so long before treatment is commenced. The early symptoms are loss of strength, softness of the muscles, dim or weak sight, peculiar expression of the face and eyes, coated tongue, with impaired digestion; or in others, certain powers only are lost while they are otherwise enjoying comparatively good health. In all these Peruna and Manalin should at once be taken.

Mrs. S. Smith, Hillsville, Lawrence County, Pa., writes: "Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co., Columbus, O.: I have been a great sufferer for ten years. It seemed as though every organ in my body was diseased at one time or another. I had about given up all hopes, when I commenced taking Peruna and Manalin. I immediately began to improve, the soreness and pain disappeared, strength gradually returned, and now I am as well as ever in my life, and I owe it all to your Peruna and Manalin. I recommended it to my friends and it gives better satisfaction than any other medicine I ever heard of."

Miss Maria Roderick, Warren, Ohio, writes: "It is with pleasure and many thanks that I write to you to tell you of the great benefit I have derived from the use of the Peruna. I have used several bottles of your Peruna, and can safely say it has done me a great deal of good. I have improved ever since I commenced its use."

Mr. T. J. Webber, Plymouth, O., writes: "I am selling your Peruna, and having a good trade on it. It gives excellent satisfaction."

Mr. Thomas Acton, Brooklyn Village, Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I received a severe wound in my foot by tramping on a spike. It inflamed and was painful and swollen. I had every reason to fear lockjaw. Your simple suggestions as to local applications and the taking of your Peruna and Manalin were followed to the letter, and, thanks to you, my foot is entirely well, and I am happy."

Two Dangerous Seasons.

Spring and fall are times when so many people get sick. The changes in the weather are severe on feeble persons, and even those naturally strong are apt, as they say, "to be feeling miserable." Then they are just in condition to be struck down with some kind of fever. A bottle or two of Parker's Tonic will invigorate the digestion, put the liver, kidneys and blood in perfect order, and prevent more serious attacks. Why suffer, and perhaps die, when so simple a medicine will save you? Good for both sexes and all ages.

NOTICE.

FIRST AND LAST CALL

This is to call the attention of parties owing the Potapsco Guano Agency and under my control to the fact that the option to pay in cotton at 10 cents ceases if not paid at maturity, so I shall expect prompt delivery and shall only extend the option during the first week in November. Parties who procured Fertilizers at Jacksonville from Mr. D. Z. Goodlett, will settle with him. Those who received Fertilizers at Weavers Station, will settle with W. M. Elgin & Co., at Anniston, with Messrs. John E. Morris & Co., and W. J. Edmondson, at Leota (above Greensport,) with James Hogan. Still any who prefer to settle with me in person can do so at any time as I keep an inventory with me all the time of the notes and accounts. Small amounts will be settled for convenience in money at whatever cotton is worth. My business demands prompt settlement and I hope all will find it convenient to pay at maturity. All parties who did not settle their Guano notes for 1883, must settle without further indulgence. Times are too hard to have to pay cost, so come along one and all and shuck it out, and enjoy the peace of a good conscience toward your fellow man.

Very Respectfully,

Every item passes through inspection 3 to 5 times. Read the following testimonials, and write to the parties. All work warranted for one year and if you desire it, will guarantee for 5 years.

Oxford, Ala., Sept 29 1884.

Clark Snow.—I have a Columbus Buggy Co. Buggy, that has been in use eight years, I have only paid out 25 cents for repairs, it is a good buggy to-day. Respectfully,

George W. Fichelberger.

Choccolocco, Sept 17, 1884.

Clark Snow Esq.—The buggy bought of you six years ago made by the Columbus Buggy Co. has given entire satisfaction. The only expense it has been was to cut the tires one time. If it had shaft rubbers on it, it would hardly rattle to-day.

A. H. Bolers.

OXFORD, ALA., Sept. 13, 1884.

CLARK SNOW—The Columbus Buggy bought of you two and a half years ago has given entire satisfaction, haven't had to spend a nickle on it for repairs. Respectfully,

Elegant House for Sale.

The heirs of the late Mrs. E. L. Grant will sell the family residence in Jacksonville at a bargain, for purpose of division.

The builing is of brick and contains eight rooms. It sits on an acre lot, about midway, facing South Main street, within a minute's walk of the public square, and has choice flower yard and shrubbery in front. The house is surrounded by fruit trees of the very finest varieties. The interior finish of the rooms is elegant, being furnished with marble mantles &c. All necessary outbuildings. It will be sold for less than the building itself cost. It would make a most desirable Summer residence, Jacksonville being the healthiest point in the State according to official report of the State Health Officer, and beautiful beyond description for its natural scenery. Sulphur, Chalybeate, Epsom, Freestone, Limestone, Magnesia and other mineral waters in the town or within a short drive of same. For further particulars address

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a 30 years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

A LAKESIDE MUSING.

THE NINETEENTH CENTURY GIRL WHO WAS UP TO SNUFF.

"With a Mocking Laugh He Turns to Go"—"Her Face Lights Up with a Weird, Baleful Smile."

Chicago Tribune.]

"I forgive you, Hetty."

Thomas Turnstile turned away with a heart whose load of sorrow was almost too great to be borne, and walked slowly down the shady lane which led to his mother's humble cottage at the foot of Huckleberry hill. Young, hopeful, and with spirits as buoyant as health and a clear conscience could make them, he had fallen in one instant from the sun-kissed heights of contentment and happiness to the black depths of desolation and despair. And why? Because a girl—a haughty beauty whose father's wealth had placed her far above Thomas Turnstile in the social scales—had, after luring him on and on with all the arts which woman know so well and practice so skillfully, haughtily refused the love that he offered her—the love of a true, honest heart—a love of which any woman no matter how exalted her station, might well have been proud.

And she bad told him plainly that she had been toying with his heart—told him this in the same low, dulcet tones that had so often witched him in the days gone by when they had wandered together through mossy glade and bosky dell, through the silent woods in which the rustling of the zephyr-kissed leaves was the only sound that came to them. She had said the cruel words that severed their lives forever, softly enough, but on the beautiful face that had for years haunted his memory and been the beacon-star of his endeavor, there was a cold, haughty, rough-on-rats expression that told him only too truly that each syllable was uttered in earnest, and that to hope for a revocation of the sentence this girl had pronounced were indeed foolish. And yet, despite this fact, he loved her with a mad, consuming, chloride-of-lime-on-an-old-shirt passion that was schorching his very soul, every beat of his great, manly heart seeming only the knell of a life that was soon to be quenched forever.

* * * * * * *

One year had passed. On all sides one hears talk of the wonderful success that has crowned the efforts of Thos. Turnstile as a speculator. His daring operation of buying all the poker decks in Chicago just previous to the assembling of a national convention had made him a millionaire and to none was this news of more interest than Hetty Hollowheart, the proud beauty of Horse Fly Villa. Judge of her surprise when one day there came a note from Thos. Turnstile asking permission to call on her. It was at once given and the evening of the following day appointed for the interview. At 8 o'clock a carriage rolled up to the door and Thomas Trunstile was ushered into the parlor, where Hetty waited to receive him. In the soft mellow light of the $3 per thousand gas she looked more radiantly beautiful than ever and there was a tremulous tinge of admiration in the young man's tones as he spoke to her.

"A year ago," he said, "I offered you my hand in marriage and you refused it because of my poverty. I am now rich and repeat that offer. Do you accept it?

"I do," she answered.

"Ha! false woman," he cries, "at last my revenge is accomplished. Know, then, that I do not love you, and that my only object in coming here to night was to humiliate you!" and with a hollow mocking laugh he turns to go.

"Stop!" says the girl in an imperious manner, and as she speaks Thomas Turnstiles sees two men, one a lawyer, and the other a stenographer, come from behind a Japaneese screen which stands near an Etruscan cuspidor. Hetty's face lights up with a weird, baleful smile.

"What does this mean?" he asks. "Why have my words been taken down!"

"It means," she answered, "that I am loaded for bear."

Only a Tramp.

A few evenings since as we were walking by one of the most beautiful residences in the city, we heard the low, sweet strains of that incomparable song "Home, Sweet Home," stealing in restful echoes through the deepening shadows of twilight and filling the air with a soft, subdued melody. The parlors were brilliantly illuminated, and through the open window we could catch a glimpse of pictures suspended from the decorated walls, which breathed through canvass the inspiration of an artist's soul. It was a woman's voice upon which floated the divine music of that song which unbolts the door of every heart and lets the sunshine of heaven stream in. A fair, beautiful woman. Aye, in form and feature the very incarnation of magnificent Womanhood. Even where we stood we could see the lightning of her eye and the sunlight of her smile, more glorious than the streaming light of the chandeliers. This was life's sunshine. As the last note mingled with the sighing zephyrs of evening, we turned to leave and just then a hand was laid upon our shoulder. It was a withered and emaciated hand. Its pressure was like the timid grasp of a child. A man stood before us and in accents so piteous that our heart was touched to its deepest depths, begged for alms. Only a tramp, we muttered. Yes. Only a tramp, he murmured in a voice which was burdened with a hearts untold agony. We looked more closely. An empty sleeve hung by the left side. He pointed to a shriveled limb which had been torn by a grape shot over yonder upon the heights of Gettysburg. Yet he was only a tramp. What though a once proud form stood in the front rank of battle, with the wild storm of death sweeping around him. What though a brave and chivalrous soldier, who had left the glory of his manhood and the hope of his life, buried forever upon the battle-fields of his country. He was only a tramp. He came to the great cities seeking work. They told him to move on. No room for vagrants. Houseless, homeless, penniless, he moved on with the shadow of a great sorrow resting upon his heart, and the grave of a thousand disappointed hopes beneath his feet. He moved from the battle-field into the city begging for work, and when they thrust him from their gates, he tottered onward toward that abiding place which alone offered him rest and peace. No temple for him, only tears and tombs. No summer before him, only winter storm. This was lifes shadow. We wondered as we walked away, about that land, christians call heaven. We were glad to believe that he will be welcomed there by one who was once a wanderer himself, and in that beautiful city, his tired limbs may rest forever, and no command to move on will ever disturb him more.

How often is it that those we treat as only tramps, are sick and weary wanderers, without home or hope.—Cleburne (Tex.) Telegram.

Horizontal "Eclipse" Engines for Calhoun County and all the World.

No one has ever bought an "ECLIPSE" without being pleased, and also convinced that it is the best Engine he ever used. This is a hard saying, when it is known that over 1,300 of these wonderful Engines are turned out from the shop without being able to supply the demand, and that in Georgia alone, over 600 have already been sold. A record which no other manufacturer can show elsewhere in the United States. If you wish to saw, grind or gin, the Eclipse Steam Engine is exactly what you need. It is simple, durable and safe. They have been manufactured for over thirty years, and thousands are now in use, without a

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of SPERMATORRHŒA or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, induced by self-indulgence, or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a 30 years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., NOV. 13, 1884.

DEAR REPUBLICAN:—

Last night witnessed the grandest jollification that Montgomery has perhaps ever had. Two hundred guns were fired in honor of the election of Cleveland and Hendricks. The illumination and display of bunting and fireworks was very fine, and the occasion was one altogether calculated to thrill the hearts of true Democrats. The Advertiser estimates the crowd present at twenty-five thousand people. The Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, Col. H. N. R. Dawson, presided at the great meeting in Court Square and introduced the distinguished gentlemen from different parts of the State who addressed the vast crowd surrounding the stand. It may not be amiss here to say that this admirable man and staunch Democrat and patriot has won most unstinted praise all over the State for the splendid manner in which he has conducted the canvass both in the State and Federal elections. His work proves him to be a man of fine executive ability, and peculiarly qualified for the position to which his ambition has pointed.

While the white Radicals here look sour and gloomy over the prospect, there si no noticable change in the negroes, except that they are a shade more polite than heretofore. They do not seem the least alarmed over the prospect of having to live under a Democratic administration, and it was a notable fact that many of them participated in the demonstration last night and seemed to be as happy over the result as any of the white people. When the colored people realize fully that the Democratic party means no harm to them they will become Democrats, and it is the part of wisdom now for our own people, by kind treatment, to lead them into the Democratic ranks. When they once vote with that party, they will not leave it, and the main reliance of the Independents in the white counties will be knocked from under them. Speaking of Independents, the present House has forever settled their status in the Democratic party. If ever Independents were justified in opposing party nomination, it appears, from their own statement of the case, that the Mobile men, to whom I referred in a former letter, had good grounds for such action; yet the House refused to allow them to enter the Democratic caucus and the Senate has reconsidered its action in admitting the Senator from Mobile and referred his case to a committee. It is said here that the Mobile members have determined, if the House does not reverse its action, to resign and return to their constituents. They claim to be as good Democrats as any other members of the House, and perhaps they are; but if Democrats are permitted to break party lines whenever they are displeased with the action of party conventions, it will be readily seen that the party has surrendered the only ground on which it can maintain its organization.

Mr. Armstrong has resigned his position of State Superintendent of Education, in order to take his seat as a member of the Legislature, and Mr. Palmer has entered upon the discharge of the duties of his office. He is a conscientious and capable man, thoroughly awake to the educational interests of the State, and will no doubt make his administration a great success. If the Blair bill passes Congress this winter, he will have abundant funds and thus be afforded a finer opportunity than any of his predecessors have had. Mr. Greene, of St. Clair, will most likely be chairman of the committee on Education. This committee has been advanced to the place on the list of committees that its importance deserves. The committees will very likely be read out to-morrow in both houses. The flood of bills has opened up in both houses.

Mr. Hamill, the Senator from Blount, introduced thirteen to-day on the call of his district. Many of the bills so far introduced are local measures. An effort was made in the House to pass resolutions requiring the revenue bill to be passed before recess and prohibiting the introduction of any local measures after the first thirty days of the session, but both were voted down. Mr. Hargrove, of Tuscaloosa, introduced a bill to-day increasing the salary of the Governor to five thousand dollars. I was speaking to the Governor to-day about this bill, and he remarked that he did not wish to make any money out of the office, but that he thought it reasonable that the State should pay at least the board of the Governor and family during his term of office, since the law requires him to reside at the capital. He said he had offered to-day to the proprietor of the Exchange hotel his entire salary to board himself, wife and two children, and that the offer had been declined. When it is remembered that this would have left him nothing for clothes for himself and family and other necessary expenses, to say nothing of the constant drafts being made on all State officers for everything from a Democratic demonstration or a campaign fund to a church fair, it can be readily seen that no poor man can afford to take the office at the present salary. The State should not cling to any policy that will exclude any citizen from places of honor because they are poor. The State is able to pay its Governor a respectable salary, and it is the impression here that the present Legislature will take this view of it.

An effort will be made the present session to appropriate ten thousand dollars to a display of the resources of the State at the New Orleans cotton exposition, but it is thought it will fail.

Mr. Whiteside introduced a bill to-day to submit a constitutional amendment to allow the reduction of the area of the counties to four hundred square miles. It remains to be seen what fate the bill will meet at the hands of the Legislature. It will take two thirds of each house to pass the bill, and then it will have to be submitted to the people at the next State election, two years hence.

Mr. Alexander has impressed members of the Senate most favorably, and he will, no doubt, be influential for good to his constituency both in Calhoun and Cleburne.

Mr. Barker, of Clebure, is rapidly becoming accustomed to legislative harness and I predict he will make a most useful member. The same may be said of other new members from the counties adjoining Calhoun.

Since I have been here, I have talked with the Governor and influential members of both houses upon the subject of such a change in our registration law as will put an end to the portable voter, and thus prevent in future the outrage of having the will of the legal and qualified voters of any county nullified by a horde of rascally floaters from other counties that can spare them. The suggestion, so far as made, has met with universal favor, and I have hopes that the present Legislature will pass such a bill.

There is a much greater number of old men in the present Legislature than in any previous one for years, and the body is altogether an abler one than the State has had for some time. Good results are looked for from it, and the people will be much disappointed if they are not forthcoming.

The wild hunt for office has begun, in prospect of Cleveland's election, and, from the beginning that has been made, the scramble promises to become disgraceful by the time the President elect takes his seat. Petitions are already being circulated by interested ones for this, that and the other office. The chief attraction with office seekers here seems to be the office of U. S. Marshal.

It is understood that Mr. Bankhead does not desire to be reappointed Warden of the Penitentiary, and there are several applicants for that place. Among them is Mr. John W. Perkins, of Marshal county, the present circuit clerk, and the lamented Boyd's legitimate successor as the leader of the Marshal county democracy. He is a most worthy and capable gentleman, a true blue "organized" Democrat, and was one among the best Confederate soldiers that ever went from Alabama. He has strong support for the office, and should the Governor nominate him, the Senate will confirm him with unanimity.

So far six gentlemen, outside the present members, are candidates for Railroad Commissioners. The Governer is making no promises, but his natural affability gives hope to all, and they are happy in the expectation of good fortune to come. If he should send them all in, it is almost sad to reflect that six of these nine good men are doomed to bitter disappointment; but such is the lot of the great majority of men who seek political preferment, and thus it will ever be. It is the most unfortunate period in the lives of most men when they consent to ask for office at the hands of either the people or the appointing power. Where one succeeds, a thousand fail, while the same assiduity and industry that is practiced by the politician would lead all to certain success in some of the various vocations of life.

I will leave here the latter part of this week or the first of next, to return later in the session, when work is farther advanced; but I am so cosily situated at the Windsor that it is hard to break away. It is a comparatively new hotel, presided over by Mr. Watts, formerly of the Exchange, and is a perfect model in its way. It is as clean as a new pin, the bill of fare is exquisite and the cookery perfect. It would be hard to find another so good this side of New York city. The Exchange is being thoroughly remodeled, and, under its new management, promises to be as popular as ever.

The growth of Montgomery is steady and rapid, far surpassing that of many towns that have been "booming" and making a great fuss over their growth. The Shillinger pavement is being put down on all the principal streets in the business portion of the town, and another patent pavement is being laid up Market street, on both sides as far as the capitol. This beautiful street is being handsomely graded and both sides of it have been lined with shade trees. In a few years it will be as handsome as the shaded streets of Augusta or Tuscaloosa. It is confidently predicted by knowing ones that Montgomery will have her sixty thousand inhabitants in ten years. She amply deserves such good fortune.

Everybody here are happy over the upward turn of the market. Cotton went up to-day with a jump and other things in proportion. A gentleman remarked to me this morning on Commerce street that he was worth seven thousand dollars more than yesterday. He will probably lose this much to-morrow. He is a speculator in cotton. But he is happy to-day. The prospect of Clevelands' election has not depressed the markets, as Radicals predicted. What liars they be.

L. W. G.

Mr. George I. Turnley, who went from this place to Texas some years ago, received the nomination for Representative in the Texas Legislature from his District, composed of two counties, and beat his opponet, an Independent, about 1000 votes in the late election. His many friends here will rejoice at his success. Our correspondent informs us that he was nominated by acclamation, and received every vote at his home box. We look for him to make a fine record in the Texas Legislature and be heard of in the future in Texas politics.

Married Nov. 16th at the residence of Mr. Henry H. and W. P. Duggan by B. G. McClelen Esq., Mr. W. W. Dillard and Miss Clarissa Duggan. All of Calhoun county.

A LOVE MATCH.

It was a chilly November night when the train got into Hampden.

Hampden was one of those new unfinished places which require the brighest of sunlight, the greenest frame of quivering leaves to make them at all presentable. And in the gray, uncompromising medium of the November dark Hampden looked dreary enough, with the dark chimney of the new silk mill rising out of the hemlock woods, the staring Queen Anne depot, the church, which bore a strong family resemblance to a child's wooden toy, and the stone quarry to the left, which reminded the thoughtful looker-on of a gigantic fortification in an unfinished state.

"Humph!" said Mrs. Nedley, as she looked around her. "A queer place."

Her niece Phœbe was there to meet her with a box wagon and a white-nosed old horse.

"Folk can't always choose where they're to live," said Phœbe, who was always in a state of antagonism to Mrs. Nedley, "and Hampden is good enough for me."

"How is Philip?" said Mrs. Nedley.

"Philip is well," said Phœbe, as she helped the depot boy to hoist Aunt Nedley's trunk into the wagon.

Phillip Barrow was Mrs. Nedley's favorite nephew. She had paid his bills at school, superintened his fortunes and finally purchased for him a share in the new silk mills.

"He's all I've got," said Mrs. Nedley, "except Phœbe, and Phœbe and I never did hitch horses together. And I want him to succeed in the world."

But within a few days a new claimant had arisen to Aunt Nedley's protection and tender consideration.

"To be sure she is no relation to me," said Mrs. Nedley. "But her mother was my dearest friend, and I think I will adopt her for my sake."

And it was scarcely an hour from the time in which she learned that Silvia Gray was an orphan that she wrote a kind letter to the girl, inviting her to come to the East for a visit.

"If you like it, my dear, there need be no occasion for your going back," she wrote. "We are both alone. Let us be companions to one another."

She had waited and waited, and no reply had arrived: and while she waited a plan had developed itself in her mind.

"If she is her mother's daughter she can't help being pretty," said Mrs. Nedley. "Phil is a handsome lad. She shall marry Phil!"

And this explains Mrs. Nedley's presence at Hampden.

"I suppose you are still keeping house for Phillip?" said she to Phœbe, as they drove along in the chill twilight.

"No," said Phœbe, skilfully guiding the old horse down a steep place in the road.

"He boards, eh?" said Mrs. Nedley.

"No, he don't board," answered Phœbe; "his wife keeps house for him."

"What?" said Mrs. Nedley.

"He is married," announced Phœbe, very much in the tone in which she might have said, "It is a cold evening," or, "the train is late."

"Phillip married!" repeated the old lady—"married! Stop, Phœbe; don't drive a step further! Turn around at once. Take me back to the station. I'll return to Concord."

"Ain't you going to see Phillip?" asked Phœbe.

"Not if he's married," answered Mrs. Nedley, in a choked voice.

"He's got a proper, nice wife," pleaded Phœbe. "You'll like her."

"No, I shan't!" said Mrs. Nedley. "Phillip—married. Phœbe, if you don't turn around I'll get out and walk!"

Mrs. Nedley's will was adamant, and Phœbe Barrow was forced to succumb to it.

And so it happened that Phœbe and the white-nosed pony arrived, solitary and alone, at the little cottage of the mill superintendent half an hour afterward.

Phil came out into the porch, carrying a lamp in his hand.

Mrs. Phil ran after him with a pink apron tied around her trim waist and her brown fringe of hair blowing back from her forehead.

"Where's my aunt?" said Phil, as Phœbe jumped out. "Didn't she come?"

"She came," said Phœbe curtly; "but she's gone back again."

"Gone back again?"

"Yes. She didn't like it because you've got married, so she's gone back by the 8:06 train."

"Oh, Phil!" cried Mrs. Barrow, who was a round, cherry faced little woman, with soft, hazel eyes and a mouth like a red rose-bud. "What shall we do? Why didn't you consult her before you married me?"

Phil Barrow broke into a great laugh.

"My dear," said he, "it wasn't her consent I wanted; it was yours."

"Oh! But, Phil, she has done so much for you.

"She's a good soul, but she's eccentric," said the mill superintendent. "Go in, Phœbe, and get your tea."

"I'm sure I can't eat a mouthful," said Mrs. Phil, despairingly. "And the buiscuits I mixed myself; and the fried chicken; and the White Mountain cake—oh, Phil! oh, Phil!"

"Don't fret, dear," said Phil "my Aunt Nedley has missed a very good supper: that I can tell her."

"But I've blighted your fortune!" said Mrs. Barrow, tragically seizing the sugar tongs

"We'll go to Concord to-morrow and see the old lady," soothed Phil. "She must surrender if she sees you, wifey."

Phœbe chuckled grimly.

"That's all very well," said she, "but you forget that an old lady and a young man don't look at a girl with the same eyes."

"Hold your tongue, Phœbe," said the mill superintendent. "Where's the use of always croaking?"

And then Mrs. Phil began to laugh, and Phœbe, who, after her crabbed fashion, was fond of her pretty young sister-in-law, laughed also; and, after all, the dainty little supper was eaten and enjoyed, even though Aunt Nedley's face was steadfastly turned toward Concord.

Her own fireside had never seemed so solitary and dreary as it did upon that November night.

The maids, gossiping in the kitchen, were called upon to rekindle the dead fire. The tea, smoky and half cold, was served, and Mrs. Nedley was just resolving to go to bed, when Betsy brought a letter.

"Postman, mum, he left it a week ago," said she. "It had fell down back of the letter box."

"Ah," said Mrs. Nedley, fitting on her spectacles and scrutinizing the seal and directions, "from Silvia Gray! Now I shall have some one to love in Phillip's place!"

But she had not read three lines before she flung the letter indignantly on the sulking fire.

"Married!" she exclaimed. "That child! Is everybody crazy to get married, I wonder. And she hopes I'll excuse her, but her husband think—Folly and nonsense! What is her husband to me! Betsy, my chamber candle!"

"Bless me, ma'am!" said Betsy. "What has happened?"

"Everything," said Mrs. Nedley. Don't let me be called before 8 o'clock to-morrow morning. I almost wish that I could go to sleep and sleep forever."

And Mrs. Nedley, in the silence and solitude of her own room, fell to thinking to what charitable institution she could leave her money.

With the Psalmist of old, she could earnestly have cried: "Vanity of vanities, all is vanity!"

"I loved Phillip," she said, "and I had set my heart on Silvia Gray—and such a match as it would have been!"

She was sitting at her luncheon the next day, with the cockatoo on one side of her and the poodle on the other, when Betsy opened the door.

"Please, ma'am," said Betsy, "company."

"Betsy," said Mrs. Nedley, severely, "I told you I was not at home to anybody to-day!"

"Please ma'am," giggled Betsy, "he would come in!"

"Who would come in?" said Mrs. Nedley.

"It's me, Aunt Nedley," said Phillip Barrow, "and my wife. Don't be vexed!"

The tall young mill superintendent came in, with his pretty wife leaning on his arm.

"Won't you kiss me, Aunt Nedley," said Mrs. Phil, putting up the rosebud lips—"for my mother's sake?"

"Eh?" said Mrs. Nedley.

"Didn't you get my letter?" said Phillip's wife.

"Letter!"

Mrs. Nedley was more convinced than ever now that she was asleep and dreaming.

"I wrote you all about it," said Mrs. Phil. "Don't you know? I am Silvia Gray. I met Phillip when he came out to Denver to look at the mill machinery, and he would be married immediately. He said he was sure you would forgive him, Aunt Nedley?"

"Yes, my dear, I will," said Mrs. Nedley, her face brightening up like the full moon peeping through mist wreaths. "But why didn't they tell me you were Silvia Gray?"

"Phillip wanted to surprise you," said Silvia, hanging down her head.

"Well, he has surprised me," said Mrs. Nedley.

She went back to Hampden with the mill superintendent and his wife, and slept in the pretty pink and white bed-room which Silvia had prepared for her with so much pains: and she praised Silvia's chicken salid and prune pies, and she even condescended to approve of Phœbe's half completed silk counterpane; for life was all couleur de rose for her now.

It is a great thing for a woman of Mrs. Nedley's age to have her own way.

Blaine said at his home last Friday that no imputation of fraud has ever been seriously uttered against the Republican party. What a whopper! It reminded us, as Lincoln would have said, of a dialogue between a white man and an Indian. The white man had killed the Indian's brother, but insisted that when he shot him he took him to be a turkey. "You took my brother to be a turkey," grunted the Indian. "Well, if you took my brother up a tree with red leggins on to be a turkey, I'm off."

The loss of New Jersey has soured the once happy relations existing between Blaine and Mr. Walter Phelps. Blaine was confident of carrying the State, and he charges its loss to Phelps, who paid more attention to his own race for Congress than to the canvass of the party leader.

David Davis jumped off the fence at the wrong time. The Illinois Legislature seems to be a tie, and Uncle David might have been the sort of a compromise to fill Logan's Senatorial toga.

At Edinburg, Hidalgo county, Texas, in a row over the counting of the vote, two men were killed outright and several wounded. Hostilities have been temporarily suspended, but are likely to be resumed at any time.

The Commercial Gazette ought to wipe the foam off its mouth.

The Republican.

NOVEMBER 22, 1884.

Blaine has sounded the key note for negro disfranchisement. The ballot of the negro, he says, gives the Confederate soldier twice the weight in the electoral college that the Union Soldier has, and such a state of things he declares must not be permitted. It is very sad, but we don't see how Mr. Blaine is to help himself. The South is not responsible for this state of things. The Republican party, headed by Mr. Blaine, Thad Stevens and others brought it about by act of Congress. They expected a different result, but that does not alter the fact. It is their own chickens come home to roost. They were fools for supposing that the dominant race of the South would ever be controlled by a race inferior in education, intellect and courage. While Mr. Blaine's party held bayonets at their throats the bottom rail was on top, and the negroes gave the electoral votes of the South to the Radical party. Mr. Blaine did not then point to the voiceless ballot of the white men of the South and tell the Union soldiers of the North that a Southern negro had twice the weight in the electoral college that one of them had. Oh, no. That was all right, so long as the Radical party was the beneficiary. But when the white man of the South got on his feet again and asserted his old time race supremacy, and the electoral vote of the South went to defeat Mr. Blaine, he raises the bloody shirt and endeavors to kindle anew the animosities of war. How poor a patriot he is! Contrast his language and bearing with that of Gen. Lee when he submitted to defeat and left behind him the buried hopes of a "storm cradled nation that fell."

See what a false and hollow man he is. Smarting under his deserved defeat, he turns hypocritically to the negro, and while beslavering him with pity, directs the minds of Radical voters to his disfranchisement. But here again the South will meet him and defeat him. We understand the negro and the negro understands us. We know well enough that when one democratic administration of the Federal Government has removed from his mind the fear of hostile legislation from the Democratic party, he will vote with us in federal elections as he does now in State elections, and we have no idea of allowing Mr. Blaine and his sort to disfranchise him. He is valuable to us for additional congressmen and electors his ballot gives us, and we intend to preserve that ballot to him. Mr. Blaine may fret under this condition of things, but he cannot remedy it without revolution. Negro suffrage is his own black chicken, and it will roost with him, like Poe's raven, to depart "nevermore."

The Montgomery Advertiser has shown commendable regard for its readers in the publication of "Legislative Notes" each day, explaining the most important bills introduced in both houses of the Legislature. It is much more satisfactory than the proceedings of the Legislature, which that paper also daily publishes. If you want to know what the Legislature is doing, suscribe for the Advertiser.

Now don't let us have a disgraceful scramble for office in the South and thus put Southern Representatives and Senators to shame.— There are places that will rightfully come to Southern men, if they can wait with dignity and patience. Let us show that the South has been solid for something higher than the offices.

Blaine's speech at Augusta, Maine, Tuesday night, marks him as a man of narrow prejudicies, a demagogue of the lowest sort, and a man utterly unworthy to fill the high office to which he aspired. Happy for the country it is that this rascally small politician was defeated.

As predicted in letter from the Capital, the committee appointed to consider the appropriation of ten thousand dollars to a display of the State's resources at the New Orleans cotton exposition, has been reported upon adversely by the committee.

President elect Cleveland will resign as Governor of N. Y. in January, and go to Washington in February to prepare for his inauguration the 4th of March.

On revising the count in one box in Illinois, a democratic Senator who it was thought was defeated, has been found to have been elected. This gives the Democrats a majority of one in the legislature, on joint ballot, and insures the election of a Democrat to the U. S. Senate and the defeat of Logan.— Poor Black Jack! He must think that misfortunes never come singly but by battallions.

The count in New York is over: Cleveland and Hendicks are elected without dispute and everybody is happy, except Blaine.

Gen. Forney's majority over Dr. Ewing was near six thousand.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

From the Montgomery Advertiser.

The bill of Mr. Suttle, of Bibb, to punish the mutilation or destruction of church records imposes a fine of not more than $500.

The bill of Mr. Walker, of Shelby, to provide for the better keeping of the State's funds constitutes the Governor, Auditor and Treasurer a committee to count the exact amount in the Treasury on the 1st of January, 1885, and every four months thereafter, and whenever the surplus over and above the amounts already appropriated shall exceed $30,000, the excess shall be invested in class A bonds.

Mr. John's bill to prohibit gambling contracts provides that any pledge of money deposited to secure a contract for the future delivery of any stocks, bonds, merchandise, &c., shall be sufficient evidence that the party contracting did not bona fide contemplate actual delivery. Actual subsequent delivery operates as proof that the contract was bona fide. Farmers and manufacturers contracting to deliver goods or crops made by them are exempt from the penalty, which is that the loser on a gambling contract, his heirs or executors may recover such loss by suit within one year.

Mr. Willett's bill to change the time of meeting of the General Assembly fixes the Tuesday after the first Monday in January, 1886, and biennially on the same day thereafter.

Mr. Wiley's bill for the better enforcement of contracts makes it a misdemeanor for a laborer under a written contract for not more than twelve months to violate such contract without sufficient cause, and the penalty is fixed at not less than five dollars. The same law and penalty are applied to the employer who violates his written contract with a laborer. Jurisdiction in such cases is given justices of the peace.

Mr. Suttle of Bibb, has introduced a bill requiring the warden of the penitentiary to pay over to the clerks of courts so much of the fund arising from the hire of State convicts, as will pay the cost and fees of prosecution, and requires the clerk of such court to pay the money to the parties entitled to it. The rest of the fund goes to the treasury.

The bill of Mr. Green, of Jefferson, to prohibit the hiring or working of convicts in mines, does not apply to existing contracts. It fixes the penalty at not less than $50 or more than $500, and hard labor for the county for not longer than six months.

The bills introduced by Mr. Brown, of Tuskaloosa, to provide for the assessment and collection of taxes, and the levy of taxes, are identical with the revenue code passed by the last legislature and declared void by the Supreme Court because of an error in the enrollment.

The bill of Mr. Bullock, of Franklin, for the relief of maimed or disabled soldiers, appropriates $15,000 to be divided pro rata among the applicants.

Mr. Gunter has introduced a bill to fix the salaries of supreme judges at $5,000, chancellors at $4,000 and circuit judges at $3,000.

Mr. Shorter has introduced a bill to make the stealing of any part of an out standing crop of corn or cotton petit larceny, unless its value is over $25, and fixes the penalty at not exceeding 18 months hard labor or imprisonment, and a fine of not more than $300.

Mr. Shorter's bill to prohibit bonded State officers from dealing in futures, fixes the penalty at imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than five years.

Mr. Dowling's bill reducing the tax rate fixes it at 50 cents on the $100.

Mr. Jones' bill to compel private corporations hereafter organized to pay a bonus to the State, fixes the bonus or tax of manufacturing, mining, immigration and industrial business corporations at $30; railroad, telegraph, steamship or free banking corporations, $50; for macadenized, turn-pike and plank roads, street railroads, life insurance, mutual aid and building and loan associations, and associations for any lawful purpose, $25.

The tax rate bill of Mr. Bullock, of Greene, fixes the tax rate at six mills, and that of Mr. Walker, of Shelby, at five mills.

Mr. White's bill for codifying the laws provides for the appointment of three commissioners, who shall codify the laws and report to the Governor, who shall report to the next General Assembly the result of their labors.

Mr. John yesterday introduced seven bills in relation to the railroads, the bills embodying recommendations made by the Railroad Commission.

Mr. John's bill to prevent the sale of cotton samples, punishes the person convicted as if he had stolen such samples.

Mr. John's bill to amend section 1413 of the Code, prohibits warehousemen from charging for storage on cotton or damage to bagging and ties unless such cotton was actually put under cover for the time for which such damage or storage is charged. This is to prevent the storage of cotton in the streets and open yards.

Mr. Dowling's bill to exempt one gun of each tax-payer from taxation will, if passed, reduce the figures on firearms that have made the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazett's hair so red.

Among the bills to increase the revenues is that of Mr. Grant to assess a tax of three dollars in every case in the circuit courts, to be paid by the party against whom costs shall be adjudged in civil cases and against the defendant charged with costs in criminal cases.

Mr. Holland, through a bill, wants to compel every man who carries arms to wear on his person, conspicuously displayed, a card or breast plate bearing the inscription in plain letters, "I am armed." To have the pistol or knife displayed, does not excuse the absence of a breast plate. A walking arsenal not placarded, will be fined not less than $100 nor more than $500.

The bill of Mr. Foster to prohibit public drunkenness, makes it a misdemeanor, with a fine not exceeding $100.

Mr. Foster's bill to alter solicitor's fees gives them a salary of $3,000 a year out of the State Treasury. Their present fees are to be collected by the clerks of courts and paid to the State Treasury. The bill is to take effect after the expiration of the present solicitor's terms.

Mr. Coleman's bill to punish fraudulent contracts by laborers, punishes any person who obtains money or property from another by entering into a written contract with him and with intent to defraud, the same as if he had stolen it.

Mr. Harralson's bill to alter the mode of capital executions substitutes the administering of chloroform by the sheriff in the presence of two surgeons and the officers now required by law to be present.

A great many bills on the public road question will go before the the committee on public roads, and highways. The committee will consider them and probably cull the good features of all and give us a road law that will make every highway a track fit for Maud S.' dainty hoofs.

Among these bills is one by Mr. Foster, introduced in the Senate. It provides that the commissioners' courts of the several counties shall elect a County Road Master, who shall be also County Surveyor, and who shall receive compensation for the services rendered by him as Road Master and sworn to, at the rate of $2.50 per day while performing such services. He shall inspect all public roads and shall have them so altered as to place the road bed where reason and common sense dictate. If compelled to take private property for a roadway he shall purchase the same, or if not, then the magistrate of the district shall appoint a jury of three to condemn the property. If the court of commissioners do not choose to accept the valuation of the jury, they must go themselves and assess it.

The Road Master, in laying off the roads and directing what work shall be done, must have no grade steeper than one foot in sixteen, or if not possible to avoid it, may go one in twelve.

The road master must also look to bridges and river banks at ferries. He shall direct any cutting down of banks necessary to the safety of the public, and if the owner of the ferry refuse to do such work it shall be let to lowest bidder and the owner's property levied on to pay for it.

Liberal charters shall be granted to establish ferries across sloughs filled with back water during high tides. Approaches to bridges must also made fordable during the highest waters, and posts shall be erected as guides to the bridge.

All persons not exempt between the ages of 17 and 48 inclusive, shall be subject to 10 day's work on roads as now, and the fine for failure to work shall be $2.50 a day. A day's work shall be eight hours during November, December, January and February, and nine hours during the balance of the year.

There shall be one apportioner for each road district, who shall serve four years and be exempt four years. He shall select overseers who shall serve four years and be exempt four years. The apportioner shall be exofficio J. P. so far as the road laws are concerned, and the overseer shall be ex-officio bailiff to the same extent.

Every three years the Commissioners Court shall call together the wise men of the county to apportion the labor.

A State tax of not less than one nor more than two and a half mills shall be levied and collected for a road fund, to pay the road master for tools, &c.

The whole matter is given over in charge to the Commissioners' Court.

This synopsis of the bill is given because of the many good points it contains. There is a wide spread sentiment in favor of a property tax to equalize the burden which now falls exclusively on labor. Also, in favor of the employment of an officer who shall be charged with the supervision of the roads of the county.

The bill of Mr. Foster does not contemplate the employment of a paid force of laborers or the county convicts, in favor of which there is also some good opinion. The suggestions of the bill will be valuable aids in making a law on which, if general, the black belt will seek to engraft some amendments and alterations.

Mr. Burnett, of Cherokee, has introduced a bill looking in a very proper direction. It punishes tax assessors for failing to require persons assessing property to list exempt property. No punishment is provided for the tax payers who fails to give in such exempt property.

Mr. Burnett, of Conecuh, wants to allow husband and wife to make statements of facts in one another's behalf in criminal cases, and has introduced a bill to that effect.

The House did a good thing in defeating the bill which was introduced by Mr. Shorter to repeal the law making stealing of outstanding corn and cotton a felony without regard to its value. This law was a genuine blessing to the whole Black Belt, and hurt nobody anywhere, and its repeal would have been a public calamity.

Mr. Graham has introduced a bill to repeal the crop lien law. This is the second effort to repeal this law, and it is going to be a vigorous one this time. Every organization of farmers, including the State convention, has declared its repeal a vital necessity.

The bill which passed the Senate to secure insane persons in their postal rights in the first fruits of Mrs. Packard's work. She procured its introduction in both houses

Mr. Fowlkes' bill to tax dogs requires a license of $1 for each dog, to be levied and collected by the constables who shall destroy all dogs on which the tax is not paid. The constables fee is two and one-half cents a dog.

Mr. Foster's bill to pay Probate Judges salaries divides the judges into four classes according to the business of their counties. First-class will get $4,000, second class $3,000, third class $2,000 and fourth class $1,000. The thousand dollar judges will be in the majority.

Mr. Gunter's bill to decrease the rate of interest by diminishing the risks incident to loans, simply repeals all usury laws. The use of money is worth what it will bring in the market just as the use of a mule is.

Among the numerous bills to prevent dealing in cotton futures is one by Senator McSpadden. It punishes either party to a future contract where no actual delivery is made or contemplated, or any broker or factor or agent in the making of such contracts, by a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $1,000 for the first offense, between $1000 and $5,000 for the second, and for the third between $5,000 and $10,000 to which may be added imprisonment in the penitentiary for not more than five years. A failure of actual delivery is prima facie evidence of the gambling nature of the contract. They are after the future fellows with a red hot poker.

The general appropriation bill of Mr. Walker, of Marengo, aggregates $543,180. This does not include the pay of penitentiary officials and the Railroad Commission, nor the $100,000 extra for the common schools given by the last Legislature.

These sums are provided for in special acts.

A DEAD SURE THING.

[Macon Telegraph.]

The safest bet made on the election was that of a young man and woman out West. If Blaine won then the young man was to marry the young girl; if Cleveland, then the young girl was to marry the young man. They took the chances on St. John, Butler and Belva.

THE TAIL STILL WIGGLES.

[New York Graphic]

It is too much to expect that Blaineism will die easily or willingly. The head of it was removed several days since, but the tail will continue to wiggle several days yet. "He's dead," said Paddy, and just then the corpse stirred. "He's dead," added Paddy, "but he isn't sensible of it."

An Exploded Boom.

A long, lean and chronic Anti-Potash Boom met the new, fat and saucy Atlanta Big Bold Boom, on a hot, sultry day. "Who are you?" asked the B. B. B. Boom. "I am the Anti-Potash Boom," was the sad reply, as the perspiration rolled down, and it leaned heavily on the B. B. B. Boom for support.

"Don't lean on me," said the B B B Boom. "I may look strong, but I am quite young only 14 months old, and am growing rapidly, and am mighty weak in the knees. I am doing the work which you have failed to do, although you are fifty years old. You are old, and tough, and rich, and don't require a support. But what causes you to look so thin of late?"

"Well I hardly know," replied the Anti-Potash Boom. "My physician tells me that my abilities have been over-rated, and that while trying to whip out all opposition by boast and brag, that I have only proven my inability to cope with what he calls my superiors. Old age is also creeping on me—having fought near fifty years before any one knew I was living—and now I am unable to perform feats that others are doing. I am collapsed; my friends have turned against me and call me names, and oh Lordy, how sick I become at the very sight of B B B. Hold my head while I die."

BLOOD BALM COMPANY:

I take pleasure in making the following statement. For four years I have been a great sufferer from Malarial Blood Poison, and for six months have had Rheumatism to such an extent, that I was forced to use crutches a portion of the time and could not raise my left arm to my head. I used all the leading Blood remedies of the day, besides the attention of several first-class physicians, all without benefit.

I became quite feeble and emaciated, having very little appetite and poor digestion.

Calling at your office one day, I secured two bottles of B. B. B., and commenced its use at once, and before one bottle had been used, I felt a most wonderful change. Two bottles have given me almost entire relief. Rheumatism relieved and can use my arm as good as ever, cured the neuralgia in my head and all malarial poison is being rapidly relieved, and I feel better than I have for six years. To tell you the truth I have never used such a wonderful medicine in all my life, as the effects have been magical. It has acted as a splendid tonic, gave a good appetite and imparted quiet slumbers. I cheerfully recommend it as a quick remedy.

The Republican.

Rev Mr. Dobbs will preach in the M. E. church here the fifth Sunday in this month.

The editor returned from Montgomery this week, probably to go back later in the session.

Our faithful Representative in Congress, Gen. Forney, will leave for Washington next week.

There will be divine service in the Episcopal church in this place on Thursday the 27th inst., thanksgiving day.

Mrs. R. E. W. McAdams, well known and respected here, was brought here Thursday for interment.

We yield much of our space this week to "Legislative Notes" from the Montgomery Advertiser, to the exclusion of other interesting matter, news from the Legislature being just now in most demand.

Three negroes were convicted in the county court here Thursday and fined for beating another negro who had voted the Democratic ticket, in the late presidential election. The attention of the late Jas. G. Blaine is called to this little circumstance.

Fruit Trees.

Mr. Oscar S. Crook will deliver, at Jacksonville, fruit trees bought of Franklin, Davis & Co., Richmond Nursery, and collect for same. Trees now at Jacksonville ready for delivery.

An Editor.

I have been almost entirely cured of nasal catarrh of several years standing, by 3 bottles of B. B. B. I have tried many other remedies, but none equal B. B. B. It is a quick cure, while others are slow.

J. J. Hardy.
Editor "News," Toccoa, Ga.
Nov 1st–1m

It is too late to go into an extensive notice of the democratic jollification here Friday night, a week past. There was a liberal display of fireworks, the houses, public and private, were brilliantly illuminated and this democratic old stronghold generally spread herself.—The crowd from the surrounding country and adjoining towns was large. Speeches were made by distinguished gentlemen from Anniston, Cross Plains, Jacksonville and the country, and the enthusiasm was unbounded. The Cross Plains band furnished music for the occasion.

Wednesday night the alarm of fire was given. When it was found to be in the rear of the hotel there was much excitement, as the burning of this large building would have involved the loss of much other property. The fire originated from the careless placing of a box of ashes by a servant. The fire was happily discovered before it had made much headway and was easily extinguished; but not before our gallant fire company had got out their hose reel, ready for service.

This is the second alarm of fire within ten days. Everybody should be exceedingly cautious at this season.

Kidney Complaint.

For over six years I have been a terrible sufferer from a troublesome kidney complaint, for the relief of which I have spent over $250 without benefit; the most noted so-called remedies proving failures. The use of one single bottle of B. B. B. has been marvelous, giving more relief than all other treatment combined. It is a quick cure, while others, if they cure at all, are in the distant future.

Washed-Out Hair.

There is a sort of pallid, chalky complexion which the novelists call a "washed-out complexion." It is ghastly enough, and no mistake. Washed-out, faded, discolored, or parti-colored hair is almost as repulsive and melancholy. Parker's Hair Balsam will restore your hair to its original color, whatever it was; brown auburn or black. Why wear moss on your head, when you may easily have lively, shining hair.

Our friends on the E. & W. Railroad may rest assured that we shall spare no trouble to get their paper to them each Saturday.

The Republican of last week was mailed to Cross Plains. We do not know why it did not reach there. We send a duplicate package there this week.

Catarrh.

The China and Queensware House of McBride & Co., Atlanta, is perhaps the largest in the south. Mr. A. J. McBride of this firm has been cured of catarrh of the nose of 16 years standing by the use of B. B. B., after every known remedy and treatment has failed. B. B. B. cures catarrh in a few weeks, after slothful stuff has failed for years. Write to him and learn all the facts.

A Lady's Opinion.

Mrs. Geo. Gilbert, Bryan, Ohio, writes: "Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co., Columbus, Ohio: I commenced on the fifth bottle of your Peruna this morning, and should just as soon think of doing without my meals as without my medicine. I have been doctoring for about four years, and kept getting worse all the time, and was just giving up in despair when I got one of your books, 'The Ills of Life.' I was in bed at the time. I read and re-read your book and felt like trying your medicine. My folks thought there was no use in trying anything more, I was too far gone, and might as well make up my mind to die. I told them Peruna was the medicine I needed, and I intended to try a bottle. It proved a success in breaking the chills, and if it had not done one thing more, I would have been satisfied. But it has done more, and I feel like another person. Everybody that sees me is surprised to see me looking so well, as they all thought I was dying with consumption, and now my own folks have as much to say for the Peruna as I. I recommend it to everybody I see. There were two of our neighbors in yesterday inquiring about the Peruna. I gave the one my book to read; told her to bring it back, as I prized it very highly. The other got the name of the Peruna to send to his son in Chicago. He is a telegraph operator. My disease is something similar to Mrs. Milo Ingram's, though nothing compared to being so bad. There was a lump raised on my collar bone, and it was a long time before it looked like opening. The doctor said he would have to lance it in a few days, but I thought I would attend to that myself, so I put a little fly blister on it and it opened; then I put a poultice on and then salve, and kept the salve on all the time. It got so bad and spread upon my left shoulder, and one place under my left breast. Then there were two places on my head, one near the temple and one back of my ear that was just dreadful. No tongue can tell what I suffered. My head felt so strange sometimes, I thought I was going crazy. Since I have used the Peruna (I don't use the salve any more) my sores healed up right away. And oh, what a relief it is to get around without chilling and having to suffer with my sores. I feel like letting everybody know."

[illegible] Galitzin, Pa., writes: "Your Peruna is a good medicine, and we sell lots of it. Will you please send us some more 'Ills of Life' with a few German."

Two Dangerous Seasons.

Spring and fall are times when so many people get sick. The changes in the weather are severe on feeble persons, and even those naturally strong are apt, as they say, "to be feeling miserable." Then they are just in condition to be struck down with some kind of fever. A bottle or two of Parker's Tonic will invigorate the digestion, put the liver, kidneys and blood in perfect order, and prevent more serious attacks. Why suffer, and perhaps die, when so simple a medicine will save you? Good for both sexes and all ages.

NOTICE.

FIRST AND LAST CALL

This is to call the attention of parties owing the Patapsco Guano Agency and under my control to the fact that the option to pay in cotton at 10 cents ceases if not paid at maturity, so I shall expect prompt delivery and shall only extend the option during the first week in November. Parties who procured Fertilizers at Jacksonville from Mr. D. Z. Goodlett, will settle with him. Those who received Fertilizers at Weavers Station, will settle with W. M. Elgin & Co., at Anniston, with Messrs. John E. Morris & Co., and W. J. Edmondson, at Leota (above Greensport,) with James Hogan. Still any who prefer to settle with me in person can do so at any time as I keep an inventory with me all the time of the notes and accounts. Small amounts will be settled for convenience in money at whatever cotton is worth. My business demands prompt settlement and I hope all will find it convenient to pay at maturity. All parties who did not settle their Guano notes for 1883, must settle without further indulgence. Times are too hard to have to pay cost, so come along one and all and shuck it out and enjoy the peace of a good conscience toward your fellow man.

Very Respectfully,

Every item passes through inspection 3 to 5 times. Read the following testimonials, and write to the parties. All work warranted for one year and if you desire it, will guarantee for 5 years.

Oxford, Ala., Sept. 20 1884.

Clark Snow.—I have a Columbus Buggy Co., Buggy, that has been in use eight years. I have only paid out 25 cents for repairs, it is a good buggy to-day. Respectfully,

George W. Eichelberger.

Chocolocco, Sept 17, 1884.

Clark Snow Esq.—The buggy bought of you six years ago made by the Columbus Buggy Co. has given entire satisfaction. The only expense it has been was to cut the tires one time. If it had shaft rubbers on it, it would hardly rattle to-day.

A. H. Bollins.

Oxford, Ala., Sept. 13, 1884.

CLARK SNOW—The Columbus Buggy bought of you two and a half years ago has given entire satisfaction, haven't had to spend a nickle on it for repairs. Respectfully,

E. G. ROBERTSON.

OXFORD, ALA., Sept. 13, 1884.

CLARK SNOW.—The Columbus Buggy bought of you about four years ago has given entire satisfation. I have used it a great deal and have not spent a nickle for repairs yet and that it will give me good service for three or four years yet with very little repair. Yours Respectfully,

L. L. ALLEN.

Alexandria, Ala., Sept. 13, '84.

MR. CLARK SNOW.—The Columbus Buggy bought of you four years ago last June, has given me satisfaction. I have spent on it about $1.50 in the four years.

Yours Respectfully,
J. P. WAKEFIELD.

In addition to the Columbus Buggy Company work, I can sell you the Gale Lightning Jump Seat, Gainesford and Davis work, all of which is as good work as can be found for the money. The Republican.

NOVEMBER 22, 1884.

Blaine has sounded the key note for negro disfranchisement. The ballot of the negro, he says, gives the Confederate soldier twice the weight in the electoral college that the Union Soldier has, and such a state of things he declares must not be permitted. It is very sad, but we don't see how Mr. Blaine is to help himself. The South is not responsible for this state of things. The Republican party, headed by Mr. Blaine, Thad Stevens and others brought it about by act of Congress. They expected a different result, but that does not alter the fact. It is their own chickens come home to roost. They were fools for supposing that the dominant race of the South would ever be controlled by a race inferior in education, intellect and courage. While Mr. Blaine's party held bayonets at their throats the bottom rail was on top, and the negroes gave the electoral votes of the South to the Radical party. Mr. Blaine did not then point to the voiceless ballot of the white men of the South and tell the Union soldiers of the North that a Southern negro had twice the weight in the electoral college that one of them had. Oh, no. That was all right, so long as the Radical party was the beneficiary. But when the white man of the South got on his feet again and asserted his old time race supremacy, and the electoral vote of the South went to defeat Mr. Blaine, he raises the bloody shirt and endeavors to kindle anew the animosities of war. How poor a patriot he is! Contrast his language and bearing with that of Gen. Lee when he submitted to defeat and left behind him the buried hopes of a "storm cradled nation that fell."

See what a false and hollow man he is. Smarting under his deserved defeat, he turns hypocritically to the negro, and while beslavering him with pity, directs the minds of Radical voters to his disfranchisement. But here again the South will meet him and defeat him. We understand the negro and the negro understands us. We know well enough that when one democratic administration of the Federal Government has removed from his mind the fear of hostile legislation from the Democratic party, he will vote with us in federal elections as he does now in State elections, and we have no idea of allowing Mr. Blaine and his sort to disfranchise him. He is valuable to us for additional congressmen and electors his ballot gives us, and we intend to preserve that ballot to him. Mr. Blaine may fret under this condition of things, but he cannot remedy it without revolution. Negro suffrage is his own black chicken, and it will roost with him, like Poe's raven, to depart "nevermore."

The Montgomery Advertiser has shown commendable regard for its readers in the publication of "Legislative Notes" each day, explaining the most important bills introduced in both houses of the Legislature. It is much more satisfactory than the proceedings of the Legislature, which that paper also daily publishes. If you want to know what the Legislature is doing, suscribe for the Advertiser.

Now don't let us have a disgraceful scramble for office in the South and thus put Southern Representatives and Senators to shame.—There are places that will rightfully come to Southern men, if they can wait with dignity and patience. Let us show that the South has been solid for something higher than the offices.

Blaine's speech at Augusta, Maine, Tuesday night, marks him as a man of narrow prejudicies, a demagogue of the lowest sort, and a man utterly unworthy to fill the high office to which he aspired. Happy for the country it is that this rascally small politician was defeated.

As predicted in letter from the Capital, the committee appointed to consider the appropriation of ten thousand dollars to a display of the State's resources at the New Orleans cotton exposition, has been reported upon adversely by the committee.

President elect Cleveland will resign as Governor of N. Y. in January, and go to Washington in February to prepare for his inauguration the 4th of March.

On revising the count in one box in Illinois, a democratic Senator who it was thought was defeated, has been found to have been elected. This gives the Democrats a majority of one in the legislature, on joint ballot, and insures the election of a Democrat to the U. S. Senate and the defeat of Logan.—Poor Black Jack! He must think that misfortunes never come singly but by battallions.

The count in New York is over; Cleveland and Hendicks are elected without dispute and everybody is happy, except Blaine.

Gen. Forney's majority over Dr. Ewing was near six thousand.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

From the Montgomery Advertiser.

The bill of Mr. Suttle, of Bibb, to punish the mutilation or destruction of church records imposes a fine of not more than $500.

The bill of Mr. Walker, of Shelby, to provide for the better keeping of the State's funds constitutes the Governor, Auditor and Treasurer a committee to count the exact amount in the Treasury on the 1st of January, 1885, and every four months thereafter, and whenever the surplus over and above the amounts already appropriated shall exceed $30,000, the excess shall be invested in class A bonds.

Mr. John's bill to prohibit gambling contracts provides that any pledge of money deposited to secure a contract for the future delivery of any stocks, bonds, merchandise, &c., shall be sufficient evidence that the party contracting did not bona fide contemplate actual delivery. Actual subsequent delivery operates as proof that the contract was bona fide. Farmers and manufacturers contracting to deliver goods or crops made by them are exempt from the penalty, which is that the loser on a gambling contract, his heirs or executors may recover such loss by suit within one year.

Mr. Willett's bill to change the time of meeting of the General Assembly fixes the Tuesday after the first Monday in January, 1886, and biennially on the same day thereafter.

Mr. Wiley's bill for the better enforcement of contracts makes it a misdemeanor for a laborer under a written contract for not more than twelve months to violate such contract without sufficient cause, and the penalty is fixed at not less than five dollars. The same law and penalty are applied to the employer who violates his written contract with a laborer. Jurisdiction in such cases is given justices of the peace.

Mr. Suttle of Bibb, has introduced a bill requiring the warden of the penitentiary to pay over to the clerks of courts so much of the fund arising from the hire of State convicts, as will pay the cost and fees of prosecution, and requires the clerk of such court to pay the money to the parties entitled to it. The rest of the fund goes to the treasury.

The bill of Mr. Green, of Jefferson, to prohibit the hiring or working of convicts in mines, does not apply to existing contracts. It fixes the penalty at not less than $50 or more than $500, and hard labor for the county for not longer than six months.

The bills introduced by Mr. Brown, of Tuskaloosa, to provide for the assessment and collection of taxes, and the levy of taxes, are identical with the revenue code passed by the last legislature and declared void by the Supreme Court because of an error in the enrollment.

The bill of Mr. Bullock, of Franklin, for the relief of maimed or disabled soldiers, appropriates $15,000 to be divided pro rata among the applicants.

Mr. Gunter has introduced a bill to fix the salaries of supreme judges at $5,000, chancellors at $4,000 and circuit judges at $3,000.

Mr. Shorter has introduced a bill to make the stealing of any part of an out standing crop of corn or cotton petit larceny, unless its value is over $25, and fixes the penalty at not exceeding 18 months hard labor or imprisonment, and a fine of not more than $300.

Mr. Shorter's bill to prohibit bonded State officers from dealing in futures, fixes the penalty at imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than five years.

Mr. Dowling's bill reducing the tax rate fixes it at 50 cents on the $100.

Mr. Jones' bill to compel private corporations hereafter organized to pay a bonus to the State, fixes the bonus or tax of manufacturing, mining, immigration and industrial business corporations at $30; railroad, telegraph, steamship or free banking corporations, $50; for macademized, turn-pike and plank roads, street railroads, life insurance, mutual aid and building and loan associations, and associations for any lawful purpose, $25.

The tax rate bill of Mr. Bullock, of Greene, fixes the tax rate at six mills, and that of Mr. Walker, of Shelby, at five mills.

Mr. White's bill for codifying the laws provides for the appointment of three commissioners, who shall codify the laws and report to the Governor, who shall report to the next General Assembly the result of their labors.

Mr. John yesterday introduced seven bills in relation to the railroads, the bills embodying recommendations made by the Railroad Commission.

Mr. John's bill to prevent the sale of cotton samples, punishes the person convicted as if he had stolen such samples.

Mr. John's bill to amend section 1413 of the Code, prohibits warehousemen from charging for storage on cotton or damage to bagging and ties unless such cotton was actually put under cover for the time for which such damage or storage is charged. This is to prevent the storage of cotton in the streets and open yards.

Mr. Dowling's bill to exempt one gun of each tax-payer from taxation will, if passed, reduce the figures on firearms that have made the Cincinnatti Commercial-Gazett's hair so red.

Among the bills to increase the revenues is that of Mr. Grant to assess a tax of three dollars in every case in the circuit courts, to be paid by the party against whom costs shall be adjudged in civil cases and against the defendant charged with costs in criminal cases.

Mr. Holland, through a bill, wants to compel every man who carries arms to wear on his person, conspicuously displayed, a card or breast plate bearing the inscription in plain letters, "I am armed." To have the pistol or knife displayed, does not excuse the absence of a breast plate. A walking arsenal not placarded, will be fined not less than $100 nor more than $500.

The bill of Mr. Foster to prohibit public drunkenness, makes it a misdemeanor, with a fine not exceeding $100.

Mr. Foster's bill to alter solicitor's fees gives them a salary of $3,000 a year out of the State Treasury. Their present fees are to be collected by the clerks of courts and paid to the State Treasury. The bill is to take effect after the expiration of the present solicitor's terms.

Mr. Coleman's bill to punish fraudulent contracts by laborers, punishes any person who obtains money or property from another by entering into a written contract with him and with intent to defraud, the same as if he had stolen it.

Mr. Harralson's bill to alter the mode of capital executions substitutes the administering of chloroform by the sheriff in the presence of two surgeons and the officers now required by law to be present.

A great many bills on the public road question will go before the committee on public roads, and highways. The committee will consider them and probably cull the good features of all and give us a road law that will make every highway a track fit for Maud S.' dainty hoofs.

Among these bills is one by Mr. Foster, introduced in the Senate. It provides that the commissioners' courts of the several counties shall elect a County Road Master, who shall be also County Surveyor, and who shall receive compensation for the services rendered by him as Road Master and sworn to, at the rate of $2.50 per day while performing such services. He shall inspect all public roads and shall have them so altered as to place the road bed where reason and common sense dictate. If compelled to take private property for a roadway he shall purchase the same, or if not, then the magistrate of the district shall appoint a jury of three to condemn the property. If the court of commissioners do not choose to accept the valuation of the jury, they must go themselves and assess it.

The Road Master, in laying off the roads and directing what work shall be done, must have no grade steeper than one foot in sixteen, or if not possible to avoid it, may go one in twelve.

The road master must also look to bridges and river banks at ferries. He shall direct any cutting down of banks necessary to the safety of the public, and if the owner of the ferry refuse to do such work it shall be let to lowest bidder and the owner's property levied on to pay for it.

Liberal charters shall be granted to establish ferries across sloughs filled with back water during high tides. Approaches to bridges must also made fordable during the highest waters, and posts shall be erected as guides to the bridge.

All persons not exempt between the ages of 17 and 48 inclusive, shall be subject to 10 day's work on roads as now, and the fine for failure to work shall be $2.50 a day. A day's work shall be eight hours during November, December, January and February, and nine hours during the balance of the year.

There shall be one apportioner for each road district, who shall serve four years and be exempt four years. He shall select overseers who shall serve four years and be exempt four years. The apportioner shall be exofficio J. P. so far as the road laws are concerned, and the overseer shall be ex-officio bailiff to the same extent.

Every three years the Commissioners Court shall call together the wise men of the county to apportion the labor.

A State tax of not less than one nor more than two and a half mills shall be levied and collected for a road fund, to pay the road master for tools, &c.

The whole matter is given over in charge to the Commissioners' Court.

This synopsis of the bill is given because of the many good points it contains. There is a wide spread sentiment in favor of a property tax to equalize the burden which now falls exclusively on labor. Also, in favor of the employment of an officer who shall be charged with the supervision of the roads of the county.

The bill of Mr. Foster does not contemplate the employment of a paid force of laborers or the county convicts, in favor of which there is also some good opinion. The suggestions of the bill will be valuable aids in making a law on which, if general, the black belt will seek to engraft some amendments and alterations.

Mr. Burnett, of Cherokee, has introduced a bill looking in a very proper direction. It punishes tax assessors for failing to require persons assessing property to list exempt property. No punishment is provided for the tax payers who fails to give in such exempt property.

Mr. Burnett, of Conecuh, wants to allow husband and wife to make statements of facts in one another's behalf in criminal cases, and has introduced a bill to that effect.

The House did a good thing in defeating the bill which was introduced by Mr. Shorter to repeal the law making stealing of outstanding corn and cotton a felony without regard to its value. This law was a genuine blessing to the whole Black Belt, and hurt nobody anywhere, and its repeal would have been a public calamity.

Mr. Graham has introduced a bill to repeal the crop lien law. This is the second effort to repeal this law, and it is going to be a vigorous one this time. Every organization of farmers, including the State convention, has declared its repeal a vital neccessity.

The bill which passed the Senate to secure insane persons in their postal rights in the first fruits of Mrs. Packard's work. She procured its introduction in both houses

Mr. Fowlkes' bill to tax dogs requires a license of $1 for each dog, to be levied and collected by the constables who shall destroy all dogs on which the tax is not paid. The constables fee is two and one-half cents a dog.

Mr. Foster's bill to pay Probate Judges salaries divides the judges into four classes according to the business of their counties. First-class will get $4,000, second class $3,000, third class $2,000 and fourth class $1,000. The thousand dollar judges will be in the majority.

Mr. Gunter's bill to decrease the rate of interest by diminishing the risks incident to loans, simply repeals all usury laws. The use of money is worth what it will bring in the market just as the use of a mule is.

Among the numerous bills to prevent dealing in cotton futures is one by Senator McSpadden. It punishes either party to a future contract where no actual delivery is made or contemplated, or any broker or factor or agent in the making of such contracts, by a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $1,000 for the first offense, between $1000 and $5,000 for the second, and for the third between $5,000 and $10,000 to which may be added imprisonment in the penitentiary for not more than five years. A failure of actual delivery is prima facie evidence of the gambling nature of the contract. They are after the future fellows with a red hot poker.

The general appropriation bill of Mr. Walker, of Marengo, aggregates $843,180. This does not include the pay of penitentiary officials and the Railroad Commission, nor the $100,000 extra for the common schools given by the last Legislature.

These sums are provided for in special acts.

An Exploded Boom.

A long, lean and chronic Anti-Potash Boom met the new, fat and saucy Atlanta Big Bold Boom, on a hot, sultry day 'Who are you?' asked the B. B. B. Boom. "I am the Anti-Potash Boom," was the sad reply, as the perspiration rolled down, and it leaned heavily on the B. B. B. Boom for support.

"Don't lean on me," said the B B B Boom. "I may look strong, but I am quite young only 14 months old, and am growing rapidly, and am mighty weak in the knees. I am doing the work which you have failed to do, although you are fifty years old. You are old, and tough, and rich, and don't require a support. But what causes you to look so thin of late?"

"Well I hardly know," replied the Anti-Potash Boom. "My physician tells me that my abilities have been over-rated, and that while trying to whip out all opposition by boast and brag, that I have only proven my inability to cope with what he calls my superiors. Old age is also creeping on me—having fought near fifty years before any one knew I was living—and now I am unable to perform feats that others are doing. BLOOD BALM COMPANY:

I take pleasure in making the following statement. For four years I have been a great sufferer from Malarial Blood Poison, and for six months have had Rheumatism to such an extent, that I was forced to use crutches a portion of the time and could not raise my left arm to my head. I used all the leading Blood remedies of the day, besides the attention of several first-class physicians, all without benefit.

I became quite feeble and emaciated, having very little appetite and poor digestion.

Calling at your office one day, I secured two bottles of B. B. B., and commenced its use at once, and before one bottle had been used, I felt a most wonderful change. Two bottles have given me almost entire relief. Rheumatism relieved and can use my arm as good as ever, cured the neuralgia in my head and all malarial poison is being rapidly relieved, and I feel better than I have for six years. To tell you the truth I have never used such a wonderful medicine in all my life, as the effects have been magical. It has acted as a splendid tonic, gave a good appetite and imparted quiet slumbers. I cheerfully recommend it as a quick remedy.

NOTICE NO. 3322.

LAND OFFICE, MONTGOMERY, ALA.}
Sept. 2, 1884.}

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before Judge Probate Court at Jacksonville on Oct 18, 1884, viz: Bartley Strickland, Homestead [illegible], for the S E¼, Sec. 4, T. 16 South, R. 9, East.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz: William E. Laney, Henry H. Stokes, Pinkney Montgomery, and Thomas H. McKinney, all of Cane Creek, Alabama.

Sept6-6t THOMAS J. SCOTT,
Register.

WANTED TO SELL.

Or give away 270 acres of land, all or which I will sell to one man or I will divide to suit purchasers, say in lots of 120, 80, 50 or 30 acres each, for further particulars apply to,

J. D. McCORMICK,
Jacksonville, Ala.

The Republican.

Rev Mr. Dobbs will preach in the M. E. church here the fifth Sunday in this month.

The editor returned from Montgomery this week, probably to go back later in the session.

Our faithful Representative in Congress, Gen. Forney, will leave for Washington next week.

There will be divine service in the Episcopal church in this place on Thursday the 27th inst., thanksgiving day.

Mrs. R. E. W. McAdams, well known and respected here, was brought here Thursday for interment.

We yield much of our space this week to "Legislative Notes" from the Montgomery Advertiser, to the exclusion of other interesting matter, news from the Legislature being just now in most demand.

Three negroes were convicted in the county court here Thursday and fined for beating another negro who had voted the Democratic ticket, in the late presidential election. The attention of the late Jas. G. Blaine is called to this little circumstance.

Fruit Trees.

Mr. Oscar S. Crook will deliver, at Jacksonville, fruit trees bought of Franklin, Davis & Co., Richmond Nursery, and collect for same. Trees now at Jacksonville ready for delivery.

Jos. A. Daniel,

An Editor.

I have been almost entirely cured of nasal catarrh of several years standing, by 3 bottles of B. B. B. I have tried many other remedies, but none equal B. B. B. It is a quick cure, while others are slow.

J. J. Hardy,
Editor "News," Toccoa, Ga.
Nov 1st–1m

It is too late to go into an extensive notice of the democratic jollification here Friday night, a week past. There was a liberal display of fireworks, the houses, public and private, were brilliantly illuminated and this democratic old stronghold generally spread herself.—The crowd from the surrounding country and adjoining towns was large. Speeches were made by distinguished gentlemen from Anniston, Cross Plains, Jacksonville and the country, and the enthusiasm was unbounded. The Cross Plains band furnished music for the occasion.

Wednesday night the alarm of fire was given. When it was found to be in the rear of the hotel there was much excitement, as the burning of this large building would have involved the loss of much other property. The fire originated from the careless placing of a box of ashes by a servant. The fire was happily discovered before it had made much headway and was easily extinguished; but not before our gallant fire company had got out their hose reel, ready for service.

This is the second alarm of fire within ten days. Everybody should be exceedingly cautious at this season.

Kidney Complaint.

For over six years I have been a terrible sufferer from a troublesome kidney complaint, for the relief of which I have spent over $250 without benefit; the most noted so-called remedies proving failures. The use of one single bottle of B. B. B. has been marvelous, giving more relief than all other treatment combined. It is a quick cure, while others, if they cure at all, are in the distant future.

Washed-Out Hair.

There is a sort of pallid, chalky complexion which the novelists call a "washed-out complexion." It is ghastly enough, and no mistake. Washed-out, faded, discolored, or parti-colored hair is almost as repulsive and melancholy. Parker's Hair Balsam will restore your hair to its original color, whatever it was; brown auburn or black. Why wear moss on your head, when you may easily have lively, shining hair.

Our friends on the E. & W. Railroad may rest assured that we shall spare no trouble to get their paper to them each Saturday.

The Republican of last week was mailed to Cross Plains. We do not know why it did not reach there. We send a duplicate package there this week.

Ho! For Texas.

Any person or family that contemplates going to Texas or California points will find it to be decidedly to their interest to write to the undersigned who will save them time and money for special rates and information. Write to J. L. Mattison, 36 Wall st., traveling Passenger Agent, Atlanta, Ga.

Catarrh.

The China and Queensware House of McBride & Co., Atlanta, is perhaps the largest in the south. Mr. A. J. McBride of this firm has been cured of catarrh of the nose of 16 years standing by the use of B. B. B., after every known remedy and treatment has failed. B. B. B. cures catarrh in a few weeks, after slothful stuff has failed for years. Write to him and learn all the facts.

A Lady's Opinion.

Mrs. Geo. Gilbert, Bryan, Ohio, writes: "Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co., Columbus, Ohio: I commenced on the fifth bottle of your Peruna this morning, and should just as soon think of doing without my meals as without my medicine. I have been doctoring for about four years, and kept getting worse all the time and was just giving up in despair when I got one of your books, "The Ills of Life." I was in bed at the time. I read and re-read your book and felt like trying your medicine. My folks thought there was no use in trying anything more. I was too far gone, and might as well make up my mind to die. I told them Peruna was the medicine I needed, and I intended to try a bottle. It proved a success in breaking the chills, and if it had not done one thing more, I would have been satisfied. But it has done more, and I feel like another person. Everybody that sees me is surprised to see me looking so well, as they all thought I was dying with consumption, and now my own folks have as much to say for the Peruna as I. I recommend it to everybody I see. There were two of our neighbors in yesterday inquiring about the Peruna. I gave the one my book to read; told her to bring it back, as I prized it very highly. The other got the name of the Peruna to send to his son in Chicago. He is a telegraph operator. My disease is something similar to Mrs. Milo Ingram's, though nothing compared to being so bad. There was a lump raised on my collar bone, and it was a long time before it looked like opening. The doctor said he would have to lance it in a few days, but I thought I would attend to that myself, so I put a little fly blister on it and it opened; then I put a poultice on and then salve, and kept the salve on all the time. It got so bad and spread upon my left shoulder, and one place under my left breast. Then there were two places on my head, one near the temple and one back of my ear that was just dreadful. No tongue can tell what I suffered. My head was so strange sometimes, I thought I was going crazy. Since I have used the Peruna (I don't use the salve any more) my sores healed up right away. And oh, what a relief it is to get around without chilling and having to suffer with my sores. I feel like letting everybody know all about it."

John Fenstamaker, Gallitzin, Pa., writes: "Your Peruna is a good medicine, and we sell lots of it. Will you please send us some more 'Ills of Life,' with a few German."

Two Dangerous Seasons.

Spring and fall are times when so many people get sick. The changes in the weather are severe on feeble persons, and even those naturally strong are apt, as they say, "to be feeling miserable." Then they are just in condition to be struck down with some kind of fever. A bottle or two of Parker's Tonic will invigorate the digestion, put the liver, kidneys and blood in perfect order, and prevent more serious attacks. Why suffer, and perhaps die, when so simple a medicine will save you? Good for both sexes and all ages.

NOTICE.
FIRST AND LAST CALL

This is to call the attention of parties owing the Patapsco Guano Agency and under my control to the fact that the option to pay in cotton at 10 cents ceases if not paid at maturity, so I shall expect prompt delivery and shall only extend the option during the first week in November. Parties who procured Fertilizers at Jacksonville from Mr. D. Z. Goodlett, will settle with him. Those who received Fertilizers at Weavers Station, will settle with W. M. Elgin & Co., at Anniston, with Messrs. John E. Morris & Co., and W. J. Edmondson, at Leota (above Greensport,) with James Hogan. Still any who prefer to settle with me in person can do so at any time as I keep an inventory with me all the time of the notes and accounts. Small amounts will be settled for convenience in money at whatever cotton is worth. My business demands prompt settlement and I hope all will find it convenient to pay at maturity. All parties who did not settle their Guano notes for 1883, must settle without further indulgence. Times are too hard to have to pay cost, so come along one and all and shuck it out and enjoy the peace of a good conscience toward your fellow man.

Very Respectfully,

Every item passes through inspection 3 to 5 times. Read the following testimonials, and write to the parties. All work warranted for one year and if you desire it, will guarantee for 5 years.

Oxford, Ala., Sept. 23 1884.

Clark Snow:—I have a Columbus Buggy Co., Buggy, that has been in use eight years, I have only paid out 25 cents for repairs, it is a good buggy to-day. Respectfully,

George W. Fichelberger.

Choccolocco, Sept 17, 1884.

Clark Snow Esq.—The buggy bought of you six years ago made by the Columbus Buggy Co. has given entire satisfaction. The only expense it has been was to cut the tires one time. If it had had rubbers on it it would hardly rattle to-day.

A. H. Bolens.

Oxford, Ala., Sept. 13, 1884.

Clark Snow—The Columbus Buggy bought of you two and a half years ago has given entire satisfaction, haven't had to spend a nickle on it for repairs. Respectfully,

E. G. ROBERTSON.

Oxford, Ala., Sept. 13, 1884.

Clark Snow—The Columbus Buggy bought of you about four years ago has given entire satisfation. I have used it a great deal and have not spent a nickle for repairs yet and that it will give me good service for three or four years yet with very little repair. Yours Respectfully,

L. L. ALLEN.

Alexandria, Ala., Sept. 15, '84.

Mr. Clark Snow.—The Columbus Buggy bought of you four years ago last June, has given me satisfaction, I have spent on it about $1.50 in the four years.

Yours Respectfully,
J. P. WAKEFIELD.

In addition to the Columbus Buggy Company work, I can sell you the Gale Lightning Jump Seat, Gainesford and Davis work, all of which is as good work as can be found for the money. When you want anything on wheels, call and see me! and if I haven't got it, I will order at once and guarantee it to be as represented. Trusting to receive a liberal share of your trade I am yours truly,

CLARK SNOW.

A NEW RAILROAD.

The Projectors of the Chattanooga & Anniston Railroad to hold a Conference with the Business Mentoday.

Chattanooga Times.

Today at 2. m. an important meeting will be held in the rooms of the Iron, Coal and Manufacturers, important not only to our business men, but to all manufacturers and every one having an interest in our city's welfare. It will be a conference of the projectors of the Chattanooga & Anniston railroad with the citizens of Chattanooga, to consult as the most feasible plan of carrying forward the enterprise.

Col. Allgood, President of the Trion factory, Hon. C. C. Cleghorn, of Georgia, and Col. Sam Noble, an extensive manufacturer, of Anniston, will be in the city to meet with our citizens in reference to this enterprise, and it is to be hoped that as many as can possibly spare the time will come out.

The project is to build a railroad from Chattanooga to Anniston. It will run via. Crawfish, Lafayette, Summerville and then down the Coosa Valley to Anniston. The distance is about seventy-five miles. It is understood that a company is prepared to lay the tracks and equip the line, if the road is granted.

The importance of today's conference is manifest and there should be a good meeting.

[Owing to the absence of some of the gentlemen named, the meeting was post-pond.]

The waves on Salt River are said to be rather "choppy" this year.

Ha! Ha! Ha! An exchange remarks that "he laughs best who laughs both first and last" Ha! Ha! Ha!

Ben. Butler's birthday came around on November 6, but, owing to the election excitement, Mr. Blaine neglected to send the old man a present.

The Rev. Dr. Alabaster, of Indiapolis, says: "Small clouds are rising, gleams of fire run along the sky, and rumbling sounds are heard." Dr. Alabaster voted for Blaine.

Mr. Blaine's firm conviction is that it was Bill Phelps who placed the pin in his chair. It will be a long time before Mr. Blaine again puts his trust in a man with a bang.

What has become of those omnipotent little scribblers who carried West Virginia and Indiana for the Republicans?

"The prime cause of the Republican defeat was a lack of funds." [Laughter.]

In the frenzy and despair of the last week the Republican press have forgotten to make the usual annual allusion to the great Salt River excursion. Now that they are calmer they may correct this oversight, and grow humorous as of yore!

The Republican managers are very much shocked at the conduct of Ex-Senator Conkling. Probably Mr. Conkling is very much shocked at the conduct of the Republican managers.

Burchard, the man who roared about "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion," is described as a speaker who emphasizes by raising on his toes and then coming down on his heels with a suddenness that is threatening to the rear elevation of the church.

Now that there is a tie in the Illinois Legislature, a number of candidates for United States Senator have loomed up. Among the Democrats named are F. H. Winston, W. C. Gaudy and M. W. Fuller. C. H. Farwell, a wealthy Republican, is also mentioned.

"Why, Pat, I thought you killed that turtle last night," remarked a lady to her coachman, on observing the reptile slowly meandering away from the block on which, according to instructions, his head had been amputated the night before.

"Faith, missis, and I did," was the reply.

"But don't you see he's alive?"

"No, missis, he's not alive, he's dead, but he doesn't realize it."

The Republican party was subjected to the amputation experience one week ago. It is now ready for the same tribute that Pat paid to his headless turtle.

LEGISLATIVE.

The Senate on Thursday the 20th passed the bill increasing the salary of the Governor from $3000 to $4000, by a vote of 18 yeas to 12 nays.

Both the Senate and House passed a joint resolution declaring it to be the sense of those houses that there be established in this State ten Circuit Judges and four Chancellors, an increase of two circuits and one chancery divisions. Bills to this effect will, of course pass, if there is not a change of sentiment in the Legislature.

The House judiciary committee reported favorably on a bill to fix the salaries of judges of the Supreme and Circuit Courts and Chancellors at the amount fixed by the code of 1867. Under that code Supreme Court Judges received $4000, Circuit Judges $3000 and Chancellors $3000. After long debate the bill was postponed and made special order for a future day. A young squab of a fellow named Branch, who sits as an Independent from one of the counties of the Tennessee valley, sprung a resolution on the House to the effect that the amounts heretofore appropriated to the University and Normal schools was grossly disproportionate to the amount appropriated to the common schools, and that these appropriations should be decreased and the common school fund increased. This kind of cheap demagogism has long been the stock and trade of the Radicals and Independents of the Tennessee valley. Last session they came loaded with such as this. Mr. Branch's resolution was referred to the committee on Education, where it will doubtless receive that consideration its merits deserve.

The present Legislature has lost two members by death. Col. R. H. Powell died before the session began, and Mr. J. A. Vaughn died after the opening of the session and in the city of Montgomery.

The people of some of the Cumberland mountain counties in Virginia and Kentucky have been dying like sheep from the rot by drinking water from the springs run low by the long drougth and from ponds left by dried up creeks.

The Legislature is still engaged on one of the several bills introduced to make the breaking of a contract a criminal offense. These bills are similar in character to others that have been presented every session of the Legislature for the last six years. The design is to better regulate labor in the "black belt," but in trying to do this there is great danger of going too far and placing labor in a condition of almost peonage—a measure that will inevitably arouse the wrath of the white laborers and tenantry of the white counties and be attended by most serious consequences to the Democratic party. If any measure of this sort is to be passed great care should be taken first, that it does not come in conflict with the Constitution, where it says there shall be no imprisonment for debt in this State, and, second, that the law bear equally upon employer and employee. In other words, that the law be scrupulously just both to rich and poor. Our Middle Alabama friends should not forget that while their labor needs heroic remedies for its reputation, perhaps, the laboring men for the most part of this and other sections of the State are scrupulously honest ank honorable white men, who need no statutes filled with pains and penalties to make them stand up to their contracts.

Rev. Mr. Sox will hold in the Presbyterian church, in Jacksonville, a meeting of the catechism class, Saturday evening before the 4th Sunday in December. Sunday morning following he will lecture on the commandments at 10 o'clock and he will preach at 11 o'clock.

Hon. Wm. H. Forney, went to Washington, by way of Montgomery, where he will stop over a day or two Tuesday.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

From the Montgomery Advertiser.

The Senate has been engaged largely with a class of bills of a legal nature whose general importance is none the less of interest to the general reader. Next Tuesday, however, there will be a lively time over the crop lien. There is a very small sprinkling of farmers in the upper house but that is no reason why the Senate should not understand the needs of the agriculture of the State for the repeal of this law.

On Monday there will likely be an interesting discussion on a bill adversely reported to fix exemptions within constitional limits at $1,000 of personal property and 80 acres of land.

Mr. Evington's bill to prevent draw bridge owners from interfering with navigation, fixes the penal at $500.

The judiciary committee of the Senate has reported favorably a bill to make owner of a building in which gambling is carried on liable to the man who loses any money in his building. The owner must, of course, know that such gambling is being carried on in his house. It gives the loser the right to recover by suit against the owner, both what he lost and 10 per cent a month on the amount lost. The same bill was passed by the Senate two years ago and was favorably reported in the House but was not reached. It is a good bill and will stop some holy people from furnishing to gamblers a sheltering place.

Mr. Troy's bill to do away with the two grades of murder and two of manslaughter and fix only two grades of homicide—murder and manslaughter—passed the Senate yesterday and will stand a fine chance of becoming a law.

Mr. Foster is very much interested in the bill he introduced in the Senate, which provides for the better care of the paupers. It embodies a plan which, in its general outline, was highly recommended by Superintendent Bryce, of the Insane Hospital, in his last biennial report to the Board of Trustees. It looks to the creation of seventeen pauper districts composed in the main four counties each. A proper asylum for paupers, idiots and harmless insane persons shall be erected at some central point in the district at the expense of counties thereof in proportion to their taxable property, and by the aid of $1,000 to each county from the state treasury. The asylum is to be maintained by the counties in proportion to the inmates they furnish. The time is near at hand when Alabama must furnish better accommodations for the three classes of persons mentioned.

The bill of Mr. McSpadden fixing the terms of holding the Circuit courts in this judicial circuit gives three weeks each term of court to Calhoun county.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate to repeal the law requiring hard labor for costs.

The bill to require persons carrying weapons to wear a placard, "I am armed" was laid on the table in the House the 22nd inst.

A Foolish Threat Shown Up.

Philadelphia Record.

One of the large woolen goods mills in this city which was to have been shut down in the event of Cleveland's election, is running as usual, and its proprietor has instructed his agents at Liverpool to purchase 200,000 pounds of wool at next week's auction sales of East India wool in that market. This does not look like a permanent suspension of work. It proves, on the contrary, what was generally believed—that the threat of cessation was foolish and insincere.

This is one of the elections when the popular vote and the electoral vote go together. Cleveland received a popular majority of about 100,000, and will receive a majority of 37 electoral votes. They do not by any means go together. Time and again the popular vote has been given for one man and the electoral majority for another.

On Thursday, Hon. S. K. McSpadden was unanimously confirmed by the Senate of Alabama as a trustee of the State Deaf and Dumb and Blind Asylum, in place of G. T. McAfee deceased.

SOLID SENSE.

A Talk With Cleveland.

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—In the course of an interview with a representative of the Globe to-day, President-elect Cleveland, in speaking of the business and manufacturing interests of the country and the effect of a change in the administration on those interests, said:

"It goes without saying that the Democratic party is made up of merchants, business and workmen, and everybody in it certainly desires good times and realizes that all the people must be prosperous to secure that result. We have fifty-five millions of people, almost boundless resources, hundreds of the strongest financial institutions in the world, thousands of enterprising merchants, the most successful manufacturers, and the most intelligent farmers and workingmen on the face of the earth. Now, surely a country with these charactersistics has every qualification for solid prosperity. It will be my aim, and the aim of all associated with me in the conduct of affairs at Washingten, to give the people of the United States a safe, economical and conservative government. The fact that so many business men and manufacturers and workingmen voted with the Democratic party in this election shows that they were not afraid of a change in the administration. The Democratic party, in its Chicago platform, meant what it said and said what it meant, and will carry the provisions of that platform which relate to the business interests of the country into effect. The most important thing is the restoration of confidence and a determination to forget partisan heat and excitement and to devote our lives to things which tend to the substantial welfare of the country and all of its people. In this event every man should feel that he has a part to perform."

After Suffering Eleven Years.

DAWSON, GA., August 30, 1884.—I suffered with tetter for eleven years. It was on my face and body, and gave me untold trouble and pain. I tried the virtue of many remedies, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but found no relief, and had almost despaired of my life. I was induced to try S. S. S. as a last resort. After taking six bottles the tetter was removed and my skin smoothed off, and I am perfectly well. I feel like a new man. Swift's Specific is undoubtedly the best blood purifier in the world, and I recommend it to suffering humanity everywhere.

Cured with Two Bottles.

JERSEYVILLE, ILL., Aug. 2, 1884.—For over two years I was afflicted with a ring worm on my neck, which would peel off, and burn like fire. Calling on an M. D., he pronounced it a cutaneous eruption of the cuticle. This frightened me, and after trying everything in the market, including Fowler's solution of arsenic, without success. I was advised to try S. S. S., which I did, and after taking two small bottles a permanent cure was effected.

A Child.

TALBOTTON, GA., Sept. 12, 1884.—My little son, now seven years old, broke out when a babe three weeks with what the doctors called excema, beginning on the head and gradually spreading over his whole body. He was treated for five years or more by various physicians without relief, and the little boy's health was completely broken down. About a year ago I was induced to use on him Swift's Specific, and two bottles cured him sound and well, and there has been no sign of a return of the disease.

CLEVELAND SPEAKS

ON THE RIGHTS OF THE COLORED PEOPLE.

He Assures Them That Their Rights are Protected By the Constitution, and That it Will Be the Aim of the Democracy to Improve Instead of Disturbing the Country.

ALBANY, N. Y., November 20.—Governor Cleveland was asked by an associated press reporter today if he was aware of the delusion existing among the colored people of the south that a change in the administration would unfavorably affect their condition, to which he replied: "Yes, I have been astonished at the statement that there was apprehension existing among the colored people that in some way their rights, now secured to them under the laws and constitution of the United States, were in danger from the election of a democratic president. I am even told that some of them are led to suppose that the result of the recent election means that they may again be made slaves. All of this has appeared to me to be so absurd—and I have been so sure that the slightest intelligent reflection would dislodge such foolish fears—that I can hardly deem any notice of them necessary. But there is not the slightest objection to calling the attention of all who are in the least uneasy or uncertain upon this subject to the fact that the title of the colored people to freedom and all the rights of citizenship cannot be disturbed except by a change in the constitution, which it would be absolutely impossible to make. Besides the present condition or status of these people has been so fully accepted by the entire country, that no one should have the slightest idea that any attempt will be made to change it, if there was any possibility of the accomplishing such a thing. So far as the new administration is related to this subject, the whole country can be sure that the lawful power and jurisdiction of the executive will be so exercised that the rights of all citizens, white or black, under the constitution and laws, will be preserved and protected, and all advantages to which they are entitled by reason of their citizenship, will be secured to them. There need be no fear that either the democratic party, or its newly elected administration, proposes to oppress or enslave any part of our population, nor to destroy the business interests of the country. We hope, on the other hand, to do something to benefit the people. It seems to me that one effort in that direction would be aided, if mischievous croaking and dark imaginings should give place to an honest endeavor to inspire confidence and to make universal the cheerful hope for the future."

"IT IS ALL BOSH."

So Henry C. C. Atwood, a Prominent Southern Colored Republican, Says of Blaine's Charge of Race Intimidation.

Special to The Courier-Journal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Henry C. C. Atwood, United States Consul to San Domingo, a colored Republican politician of Louisiana, one of Kellogg's workers, is at the Ebbitt House. He talks freely of the condition of the colored people in the South. He says he took the stump and spent money for Blaine in his State, not because he liked Blaine, but as a party man. The colored men in the South, he says, do not like Blaine on account of his opposition to the Force Bill, and it was impossible to get up any enthusiasm for him.

"The colored people in the South," he said, "have been deserted by the party since 1876, and they are not depressed by Blaine's defeat. They think, on the contrary, that the election of Cleveland is going to prove a benefit to them. You see, there are two factions in the Democratic party in the South—the ring Democrats, or Bourbons, and the silk-stockings, who are the business men and best citizens in the South. These will be thrown further apart by Cleveland's election. They will form two parties, and they will be the only parties in the South. The colored people will divide, some following the Bourbons and some the silk-stockings. There won't be any race lines. There will be two white parties, each with a colored following, which will greatly improve the condition of the colored people. The ring men expect to be recognized by Cleveland, but judging from Mr. Cleveland's action as Governor of New York, I should say they will be disappointed. The silk stockings will come to the front, and the best elements in the South will reign."

"Have you read Mr. Blaine's speech?" asked the reporter.

"Yes; that's all bosh. Why didn't he think of all that when he voted against the Force Bill? If he had, probably he would not have been defeated. No; the statement that the colored people in the South were not allowed to vote is not true. There is some intimidation in the country districts in the South, but very little in the cities. Certainly Mr. Blaine has no cause to complain. In the Third Louisiana district he got 5,000 majority, while Kellogg was defeated. The colored people vote as they please. Look at Bisbee's district in Florida for instance. Bisbee was defeated by Republican votes. We form fusions in the South and make trades. The colored people are not generally coerced. In some of the districts, where the white people are as ignorant as the colored—you have no idea how ignorant they are in some places—there are conflicts, but it grows out of the ignorance on both sides. No sir, the South was not made solid by the Democrats this time. Blaine lost every Southern State because the colored people are Stalwarts and supporters of Conkling, Grant and Arthur. We are nearly all Conkling men, and the slaughter of Folger hurt Blaine as much in the South as it did in New York. The colored people in the South are going to try to have Arthur and Lincoln nominated in 1888. Then some of the Southern States will go Republican. If Cleveland, as President, acts as he did while Governor, he will have the support in 1888 of most of the Northern States, but the Southern Democracy will be against him."

POLITICAL NOTES.

Benjamin H. Bristow is now talked of as the mugwump representative in the cabinet.

Vice President-Elect Hendricks: "Have I read Blaine's speech? Of course I have. It made me—well, I am tired anyway. Good night."

"Mr. Blaine bows to the verdict of the American people!" "Ish your poy Hans reconciled, Mr. Gottermann?" "You pet he ish reconciled He hat to be reconciled."

M. M. Estee, who was a candidate for the governorship of California in 1882, writes that he will be a candidate for the United States senatorship from that state. Senator Miller in an interview suggests Governor Perkins or ex-Senator Sargent for the position.

It is said that Mr. Edward H. Butler, proprietor of the Buffalo Evening and Sunday News, will be one of the earliest diplomatic appointees that President Cleveland will make. He will be appointed minister to Austria, in place of Mr. John M. Francis. The Austrian mission was generally filled before the war with Georgians.

New York has furnished two presidents by accident. Millard Fillmore and Chester A. Arthur, but only one president by election before, Martin Van Buren, elected 48 years ago. No governor has resigned since Van Buren resigned to go into Jackson's first cabinet, 55 years ago. The etiquet and constitutional position of the lieutenant-governor acting as governor are a little rusty.

The Jonathan Chase who is mentioned for the dead Anthony's seat in the United States senate, was noted as being the only Quaker in the last house. He declined re-election to the new one. He is a quiet honest mill owner, whose barrel recommended him to the consideration of the Rhode Island politician.

The doctrine that the president of the senate has the power to count the electoral votes has been thoroughly exploded by the election of Mr. Hendricks. Is that not so esteemed republican contemporaries?

It would be like the wreck of a battle if Ochiltree and Belford, Calamity Weller and John D. White, Horr and Richelieu Robinson should fail at once. But they, with their fellows, will sport themselves through the coming short session as though fully alive, and then during the long recess they will fade gradually from Washington memories.

Governor Tom Waller, of Connecticut, was the John Maynard of the campaign. He stood gallently by the helm until the ship of state safely landed her passengers in the democratic presidential port and lost his own political life in the noble effort. But "the little giant of Connecticut" will be heard from in President Cleveland's administration.

James Russell Lowell, it is announced, will take up his residence at Oxford, England, when relieved of his duties as minister. It is to be hoped that Mr. Lowell will be sent in due time, to represent Great Britain's interests at Washington—by way of giving full play to his English proclivities.

The supreme court of Iowa has decided that reading the Bible and singing sacred songs in the common schools are not prohibited by the clause in the state constitution forbidding a levy of taxes to support places of worship While admitting that such exercises in schoolhouses are in a certain sense worship, the court denies that they add anything to the burden of taxation.

THE TARIFF AS AN ISSUE.

The Country Opposed to a Protective Tariff.

St. Louis Republican.

The only region of the country where the tariff was made a fair issue and debated before the people on its merits was the Eighteenth Congressional District, Illinois, and the sturdy manner in which the author of the Morrison bill maintained himself, and secured a re-election at the hands of his constituency, shows what can be done with that question when handled.

The question of Mr. Blaine's personal honesty forced the tariff out of the national canvass so far as the Democrats were concerned. The Independent Republicans insisted on making the personal conduct of the Republican nominee the sole issue, and the Democrats have let them have their way about it. The tariff was not debated in the North and East

EXCEPT ON ONE SIDE.

The Republican press kept it before the people, but the Democratic press and Democratic speakers said little about it. And yet the author of the Morrison bill is triumphantly re-elected in his district; five of the States, New York, New Jersey, Indiana, West Virginia and Connecticut, where Mr. Blaine and the Republican press presented the argument on the side of protection in its strongest shape, have given majorities for Cleveland, and four other States, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Massachusetts, have reduced their Republican majorities one-half. It is fair to conclude, therefore, that the country is opposed to the Republican policy of high protective duties, and ripe for tariff reduction. Had Mr. Blaine been a personally unobjectionable candidate, this would have been the chief issue—and Cleveland could and would have been elected on it.

The Buffalo Courier thinks "there is hardly a parallel in our history for so rapid a promotion" as Cleveland's, and the Courier is right. Four years ago he was a private citizen. From that common post he was promoted to the mayorality of Buffalo. That he had to resign to become governor. And now he will have to resign the governorship to become President. Cleveland's luck is something phenomenal. He is the first candidate elected to the presidency whose name begins with the letter "C." Clinton, Crawford, Calhoun, Clay and Cass were all beaten. On the other hand, the James' have been lucky until Blaine came along. Madison, Monroe, Polk, Buchanan and Garfield were all successful, but the Plumed Knight is left.

The Republican.

NOVEMBER 29, 1884.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 26 '84.

DEAR REPUBLICAN:—

Pursuant to caucus nomination, both houses ballotted on Senator Pugh yesterday for re-election to the United States Senate and to-day both houses will meet in joint convention to elect him in form. There was no opposition to him. He has already been of great service to the State and reflected much credit upon it in the United States Senate, and it was fitting that he should have the flattering endorsement that he has just received.

The House yesterday passed the bill repealing the crop lien law by a vote of 72 to 26. The following is the way members voted.

Ayes: The Speaker, Messrs. Alberson, Archer, Baltzell, Barker, Bilbro, Bishop, Burnett of Cherokee, Burns, Burson, Brown of Jackson, Brown of Marion, Brown of Tuscaloosa, Collier, Carlisle, Coleman, Cory, Dane, Dunman, Finley, Fowlkes, Gibson of Lowndes, Grant, Graham, Greene of St. Clair, Haralson, Hargrove, Hart, Hawkins, Hill of Talladega, Holland, Inge, Ingram, John, Jones, Lea, Modawell, Moody, McDonald, McQueen, O'Bannon, Pelham, Pickett, Reynolds Richardson, Sullivan, Suttle of Coosa, Shields, Stevens, Taylor, Talliaferro, Toler, Walker of Marengo, Watson, Wood, White and Whiteside.

Noes: Ashurst, Bogart, Burnett of Conecuh, Branch, Curry, Dowling, Erwin, Foster, Gibson of Lawrence, Greene of Jefferson, Hill of Limestone, Hogue, Hundley, Judge, Lang, Larkin, Lawson, McWhorter, NeSmith, Newman, Paschal, Patterson, Suttle of Bibb, Shorter, Walker of Shelby, and Willett.

The bill will have more trouble in passing the Senate, that body being almost equally divided upon the question, but the overwhelming vote by which it passed the House may determine the Senate in its favor.

The House to-day is engaged on the Revenue bill. It is the one passed by the Legislature two years ago and which was set aside by the Supreme Court on account of a clerical error. It will pass substantially as reported by the committee and is a better revenue bill than the one we now have. It will bring in more revenue, without an increase of the rate of taxation or even with a slight decrease in the rate, for it embraces subjects of taxation not now touched, such as capital employed in this State by foreign corporations, such as loan companies &c. While I was in the House this morning, Mr. Burnett, of Cherokee, was making a gallant fight to get one horse exempted. I do not know at this writing his success, as I left during the debate. There was opposition to it on the ground that it would reduce the revenue too much—to the extent of $12,000 or $13,000 it was said.

The temper of the Legislature is averse to appropriations for the increase of salaries or for immigration schemes involving the expenditure of money, though the bill to raise the salary of the Governor which has passed the Senate may get through, by a tight squeeze, in the House. It is more than probable that $25,000 may be appropriated to build another wing to the capitol, as there seems to be an absolute necessity for it.

It having been decided that the bill appropriating $100,000 additional to the common school fund by the last Legislature did not reach beyond the present session, Mr. Greene, chairman of the House Educational Committee, has introduced a bill to make the appropriation anew. It may meet with some opposition on the part of members who would like to apply this amount in different directions, but the opposition will hardly be sufficient to defeat it.

Senator Alexander and Representative Barker, of Cleburne, take advantage of the holiday on Thanksgiving to run up home, and will start to-night.

Railroad Commissioner Crook will also go up home to-night for a few days.

Gen. Forney is here, for a day or two, on his way to Washington, shaking hands with his numerous acquaintances throughout the State. He is as popular throughout the State as at home, and this is saying a great deal.

Col. Ellis, of Jacksonville, is here also looking after some cases in the Supreme court.

The Virginia and Kentucky Scourge.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 26.—The Courier Journal recently sent a staff correspondent to investigate the reported ravages of the dread disease in eastern Kentucky and western Virginia. The correspondent sends the following from Williamburg, Ky:

W. C. Lester, a prominent attorney of this place, has just returned from Mt. Pleasant, the county seat of Harlan, where he has been for two weeks past at court as prosecuting attorney. Mr. Lester has information of the prevailing plague principally from Harlan, Letcher, Perry, Leslie and Bell counties. He says that in Harlan it appears worst. It is more fatal and prevails to a greater extent up about the headwaters of Poor Fork and Clover Creek in the mountains, about twenty-five miles from Mt. Pleasant. This large territory is being terribly afflicted. People are dying very rapidly. In one neighborhood twelve persons died in a single day in the latter part of last week, and there were scarcely well people enough to make them coffins and bury them. On Brown's creek, which rises in Harlan and empties into Cumberland river in Bell county, the disease is raging with frightful fatality, and there is no means of keeping a record. All along the banks of the stream people are sick and physicians and medicins outside of herbs and roots with whose curative properties the natives are acquainted are unknown and unobtainable. The epidemic is rapidly spreading in Harlan county. In a district covering the southern portion of Letcher and Perry, the whole of Leslie and the northwest portion of Bell counties, the plague has obtained a foothold, but reports as to its violence are very conflicting. Lester thinks that deaths run up into the hundreds while number of those attacked cannot be estimated. The disease does not prevail at Mount Pleasant. Lester further says that no one seemed to know the exact nature of the pestilence. Most of the people call it "flux," and it is probably a very aggravated form of that disease. It begins with griping pains in the stomach followed by debilitating diarrhoea and swelling of the throat, and if not fatal in three or four days the patient as a rule recovers. All reports agree as to the cause of the epidemic, it being attributed to the use of impure water by the natives.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 26—The proposed reduction in the Bolton Mills at Woonsocket takes place December 1st, and will be seven per cent. less than the operates now receive. The Eagle Mills at Woonsocket, this morning posted a notice of reduction of wages to take effect December 8th.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

From the Montgomery Advertiser.

The failure on Monday to reconsider the bill to increase the Auditor's salary to $2,250, which was tabled on Saturday, indicates that no bill to increase salaries will get through at this session. This is the opinion of some men of very sound judgment who would like to see some of the salaries raised.

The distinction between courts of law and Chancery is slowly disappearing. Oral examinations in the latter, as provided by a bill which has passed the House, is a step in this direction.

Lee county, having reached a settlement of her debts, asked to be let out of the law regulating the strangulated counties.

Mr. Hamill's bill in the Senate to require applications for liquor license to be signed by a majority of the freeholders and householders of the precinct where the liquor is to be sold, will not come to a vote in that shape. If passed, however, it would bring prohibition squarely to an issue in the cities with a likelihood that half the men of property and family would refuse to endorse the rum shops.

Every legislature decides that railroads may run freight trains on Sunday if they choose so to do.

The temperance committee have decided to report favorably the bill to prohibit the sale of liquor in Dallas county outside the city of Selma.

One of the most interesting questions that will come up during the whole session was the bill to repeal the crop lien law, which passed the House yesterday by a vote of 58 to 28, the ayes being more than twice the noes. The bill was reported favorably by chairman Hawkins, of the agricultural committee, who made a speech in favor of the repeal. Speeches were also made by Messrs. Cory, of Autauga; Taliaferro, of Madison; Graham and John, of Dallas. Speeches were made against by Messrs. Foster, of Henry; Bogart, of Jackson, and Shorter, of Barbour.

An effort was made to postpone action, but the House set aside another special order and went on to a vote.

The vote on both sides was distributed through the State, thus disposing forever of the charge that that the movement to repeal the law was in the interest of large black belt land owners. Among the affirmatives stood the members from Marion, Blount, Cherokee, Clay, Cleburne, Coffee, Coosa, Covington, Crenshaw, DeKalb, Escambia, Etowah, Fayette, Geneva, Pike, Randolph, St. Clair, Tuscaloosa, Walker and Washington, all white counties whose agriculturists are largely of the small farmer class. The only white counties which have not a large negro population which voted "no" were Bibb, Conecuh, Dale, Henry, Lamar and Lawrence. The counties of Barbour, Perry, Montgomery, Talladega and Tallapoosa divided their vote. Dallas and Mobile gave four votes each for the bill. The Black Belt gave eight of the twenty-eight votes in the negative.

The vote analyzed shows that the demand for this repeal came from all over a great State that feels and knows itself to be weighted with a bad law. The popular voice appeals to the Senate.

When the question of the crop lien was up in the Senate yesterday Mr. Gardner made a strong speech in favor of its repeal. Mr Jones, of Wilcox, announced in positive terms his opposition to the law as it stands. A bill to repeal the law was reported adversely by the committee on revision of laws. The very unusual course was then adopted of referring it to another committee indicates that the Senate is disposed to repeal the law and wants it up on a favorable committee report. The Senate will hardly act on the matter further until the House bill comes up in regular order

The hearts of the Houston county folks were made glad yesterday by the reception of a petition from a large number of the merchants and business men of Selma asking the Legislature to establish the proposed county of Houston. If it were not for the two-thirds vote required to make a new county Houston would have been a county long ago.

The cotton men are active on the subject of legislation on dealing in "futures." Both the Selma Eufaula cotton exchanges have met and passed resolutions urging on the Legislature not to pass any law that would operate injuriously on the cotton business. Col. W. H. Gardner, President of the National Cotton Exchange, and representing the Mobile Cotton Exchange and Merchants Exchange, is in the city to go before the committees of the two houses and set the cotton future question before them in its business light as viewed by dealers in cotton.

Washed-Out Hair.

There is a sort of pallid, chalky complexion which the novelists call a "washed-out complexion." It is ghastly enough, and no mistake. Washed-out, faded, discolored, or parti-colored hair is almost as repulsive and melancholy. Parker's Hair Balsam will restore your hair to its original color, whatever it was; brown auburn or black. Why wear moss on your head, when you may easily have lively, shining hair.

STATE OF ALABAMA,}
Calhoun County.}

In Probate Court for said county, special term Nov. 14, 1884.

This day came Mrs. D. H. Tinsley, late the widow of David E. Hawkins dec'd, and files her petition in writing and under oath, representing that one S. W. Bobo, was heretofore appointed administrator of the estate of said D. E. Hawkins dec'd, by this Court, and that he has removed from this state, and she asks that he be removed from the administration of said estate and his letters revoked.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that the 15th day of Dec. 1884, be and is hereby appointed the day upon which to hear and determine said petition, and that notice of the filing of said petition, and the nature thereof and the day set for hearing, be given to said S. W. Bobo who is now a nonresident by publication for three successive weeks in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper published in said county of Calhoun, notifying said Bobo to appear in said court at the court house in the town of Jacksonville, Calhoun county, Alabama on said 15th of Dec. 1884, and show cause, if any he has, why his letters of Administration aforesaid should not be revoked, and he removed from the administration of said estate of D. E. Hawkins deceased.

An Exploded Boom.

A long, lean and chronic Anti-Potash Boom met the new, fat and saucy Atlanta Big Bold Boom, on a hot, sultry day 'Who are you?' asked the B. B. B. Boom. "I am the Anti-Potash Boom," was the sad reply, as the perspiration rolled down, and it leaned heavily on the B. B. B. Boom for support.

"Don't lean on me," said the B B B Boom. "I may look strong, but I am quite young only 14 months old, and am growing rapidly, and am mighty weak in the knees. I am doing the work which you have failed to do, although you are fifty years old. You are old, and tough, and rich, and don't require a support. But what causes you to look so thin of late?"

"Well I hardly know," replied the Anti-Potash Boom. "My physician tells me that my abilities have been over-rated, and that while trying to whip out all opposition by boast and brag, that I have only proven my inability to cope with what he calls my superiors. Old age is also creeping on me—having fought near fifty years before any one knew I was living—and now I am unable to perform feats that others are doing. I am collapsed; my friends have turned against me and call me names, and oh Lordy, how sick I become at the very sight of B B B Hold my head while I die."

ATLANTA June 5.

BLOOD BALM COMPANY:

I take pleasure in making the following statement. For four years I have been a great sufferer from Malarial Blood Poison, and for six months have had Rheumatism to such an extent, that I was forced to use crutches a portion of the time and could not raise my left arm to my head. I used all the leading Blood remedies of the day, besides the attention of several first-class physicians, all without benefit.

I became quite feeble and emaciated, having very little appetite and poor digestion.

Calling at your office one day, I secured two bottles of B. B. B., and commenced its use at once, and before one bottle had been used, I felt a most wonderful change. Two bottles have given me almost entire relief Rheumatism relieved and can use my arm as good as ever, cured the neuralgia in my head and all malarial poison is being rapidly relieved, and I feel better than I have for six years. To tell you the truth I have never used such a wonderful medicine in all my life, as the effects have been magical. It has acted as a splendid tonic, gave a good appetite and imparted quiet slumbers. I cheerfully recommend it as a quick remedy.

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of SPERMATORRHOEA or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, induced by self-indulgence, or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a 30 years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

Elegant House for Sale.

The heirs of the late Mrs. E. L. Grant will sell the family residence in Jacksonville at a bargain, for purpose of division.

The building is of brick and contains eight rooms. It sits on an acre lot, about midway, facing South Main street, within a minute's walk of the public square, and has choice flower yard and shrubbery in front. The house is surrounded by fruit trees of the very finest varieties. The interior finish of the rooms is elegant, being furnished with marble mantles &c. All necessary outbuildings. It will be sold for less than the building itself cost. It would make a most desirable Summer residence, Jacksonville being the healthiest point in the State according to official report of the State Health Officer, and beautiful beyond description for its natural scenery. Sulphur, Chalybeate, Epsom, Freestone, Limestone, Magnesia and other mineral waters in the town or within a short drive of same. For further particulars address

MONEY TO LEND.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Stevenson & Grant in another column. They now negotiate loans direct with New York and in much quicker time than formerly. In all cases they have to supply an abstract of title to lender, running back 25 years. Where parties apply for loans, they should bring the deeds to the land they wish to offer as security running back 25 years and farther if they can. Where the owners of the land does not have the old deeds, he should get them from the person who last sold the land, if possible. They will be returned as soon as abstract is made. By complying with this simple requirement, much trouble will be saved.

HYMENEAL.

On Tuesday evening 25th inst. Mr. Oscar S. Crook and Miss Annie Lula Hammond were united in the holy bonds of wedlock, at the Methodist church, by Rev. C. L. Dobbs, pastor in charge.

The evening was inclement, yet the church was filled with eagar, anxious spectators. 'Twas an impressive scene. The manliness of the groom, and the sadly sweet face of the bride presented a picture long to be remembered. The groom, Mr. Crook, is one of our most enterprising and prosperous young business men, whose career for twelve months past has called forth the greatest admiration and approbation of the citizenship of Jacksonville. The bride is of the House of Hammond, which speaks volumes alone for her. Winning in manners, graceful in form, accomplished in all the elements that go to make up true womanhood, she presents to view the embodiment of wife. Smooth waters and fair sailing to you, young friends, and, when done with time, may you wander together still in the blissful fields of Aiden!

BARON SEEMAN.

Last night the Court house was packed with the elite of our city, who came for the purpose of witnessing the wonderful illusory performances of Baron Seeman, the rival of the world-renowned Heller.

Having witnessed many such exhibitions, we are free to confess that this is the equal, if not superior, to any. "The Baron" clothes all his acts with the utmost refinement of manner and language. As is peculiar with Frenchmen, he is the embodiment of suavity and bon hommie. His feats were entirely new and novel, and rendered with such subtle adroitness as to utterly defy detection, almost convincing one of the existence of magical powers.

The Electra act, in which Miss Marie lies suspended in mid air, with only a slender prop under one elbow, must be seen to be realized. Is it mesmerism, Monsieur le Baron?

To sum up—all that Seeman promises he performs–to the letter, and it will pay any man, woman or child to invest in his tickets.

He actually gives away nightly many useful and costly presents—not the shoddy nickel plate and pinchback articles usually given out—but hams, flour, toilet and table articles.

He shows to-night and Saturday night. Let everybody turn out, and our word for it you'll get your money's worth.

IN MEMORIAM.

At the residence of J. L. Mattison, in this place, Miss Carrie Spruill, after a lingering illness, fell sweetly asleep in Jesus.

"She is not dead," but sleeping
With silent shaded eyes;
Her soul, while we are weeping,
Is singing in the skies.

She is not dead, but living
In that celestial zone,
Where friend meets friend with greeting,
And partings are unknown.

Not dead, but watching ever
The loved ones left behind;
Knowing God's precious silver
Hath need to be refined."

No, our loved ones cannot die! They are immortal: not only in the deathless world beyond, but in the very sanctuary of our hearts they are enshrined forever.

Miss Carrie had been for many years a member of the Presbyterian Church, and a faithful teacher in the Sabbath School. Quiet and unobtrusive in her bearing, her piety was exhibited in deeds rather than words, for she seldom spoke of her faith or her hope; but by a consistent walk and conscientious regard to duty, she beautifully adorned the doctrines she professed.

In all the relations of life, as daughter, sister, aunt and friend, she endeavored cheerfully and faithfully to discharge her whole duty.

When the hand of affliction was laid upon her, she submitted without a murmur and quickly passed under the chastening rod. For many long, weary weeks she was a patient sufferer, though often unable to speak, her peaceful countenance bore evidence of her true submission to the will of God. No doubts or fears clouded her spiritual vision and she expressed herself as willing to go, but for the children, her sister's children, so dear to her, that even the strong hand of death could not sever the tie that bound her to them. But when the trying hour came resigned to her Heavenly Father's will she passed peacefully away into "the better land."

May we hold in affectionate remembrance her many christian virtues, and try to realize the blessed promise "that all things work together for good to them that love God," and that we shall meet our loved ones again in the beautiful home beyond."

"O how sweet it will be in that beautiful land,
So free from all sorrow and pain,
With songs on our lips, and with harps in our hands,
To meet one another again."

No Worse.

A MAN WHO SUFFERED MENTAL AND PHYSICAL AGONY EIGHT YEARS PROCLAIMS HIS HAPPINESS.

Mental agony is dreadful, but when that and physical ailment combine, it is simply terrible. Such was the condition of Geo. W. Frampton, of Huntingdon, W. Va., for eight years. He was a sufferer of necrosis—that is, the leg bone at the ankle was inflamed and mortified, which caused running sores. He says: "Pieces of bone the size of a silver three cent piece came out of the sores on my leg. The discharge from the sores was almost continual, and I was unable to walk. For eight years I have been doctoring. I had been under the treatment of a physician at Newport, Ky., for a year; another at Burlington, O., attended me for three years, and a doctor here at Huntingdon worked with me for a long time. None of them did me any good, and they all finally said my case was hopeless. A few months ago I commenced trying PERUNA, and now I am well. I can walk as good as anybody, and have perfect use of my limbs."

Mr. Alf. Lusk, Wooster, Ohio, writes: "DR. HARTMAN, Columbus, O. I have been a great sufferer from that dreaded disease, chronic catarrh of the stomach. I have thoroughly tried your MANALIN, and it has done me more good ten-fold than all the doctors' prescriptions, and I have used legions of them.

Mr. Edgar Hurte, Smeltzer P. O., Elk county, Pa., writes: "I have bought several bottles of your PERUNA, and find it to be of great benefit. I also gave it to some of my friends; they experienced the same result."

Mr. L. R. Wollen, 45 and 47 Ross street, Pittsburgh, Pa., writes: "I am taking PERUNA with good results, and can highly recommend it to all. I have applied at the different drug stores for one of your books. They claim they have none on hand at present. Please do me the favor to send me one."

W. W. Russell, druggist, Greensburg, Pa., writes: I handle your PERUNA. I have sold immense quantities of it, and consider it a [illegible] have a great many customers [illegible] there is no medicine like it for [illegible] building up the system. I recommend it as a safe and reliable remedy.

Callista Fishel, Malvern, Ohio, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending the use of your remedy MANALIN to any one afflicted with any form of lung or bronchial trouble. I have been for some time afflicted with a very troublesome cough, but a few bottles of PERUNA entirely cured me."

Two Dangerous Seasons.

Spring and fall are times when so many people get sick. The changes in the weather are severe on feeble persons, and even those naturally strong are apt, as they say, "to be feeling miserable." Then they are just in condition to be struck down with some kind of fever. A bottle or two of Parker's Tonic will invigorate the digestion, put the liver, kidneys and blood in perfect order, and prevent more serious attacks. Why suffer, and perhaps die, when so simple a medicine will save you? Good for both sexes and all ages.

NOTICE.

FIRST AND LAST CALL.

This is to call the attention of parties owing the Potapsco Guano Agency and under my control to the fact that the option to pay in cotton at 10 cents ceases if not paid at maturity, so I shall expect prompt delivery and shall only extend the option during the first week in November. Parties who procured Fertilizers at Jacksonville from Mr. D. Z. Goodlett, will settle with him. Those who received Fertilizers at Weavers Station, will settle with W. M. Elgin & Co., at Anniston, with Messrs. John R. Morris & Co., and W. J. Edmondson, at Leota (above Greensport,) with James Hogan. Still any who prefer to settle with me in person can do so at any time as I keep an inventory with me all the time of the notes and accounts. Small amounts will be settled for convenience in money at whatever cotton is worth. My business demands prompt settlement and [illegible] will find it convenient to pay at maturity. All parties who did not settle their Guano notes for [illegible] must settle without further indulgence. Times are too hard to have to pay cost. So come along one and all and settle up and enjoy the peace of a good conscience toward your fellow man.

Very Respectfully,
W. P. COOPER,

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Miss Francis Willard advocates abstinence from too rich food, as well as from strong drinks.

Rev. Dr. Dumbell is preaching in Chattanooga. He is a man of mettle and his sermons have the true ring.

Of the Anglican bishops six are widowers, five are married for the second time, and one is living with his third wife.

The photograph of the hour in Berlin windows depicts the three chancellors—Bismarck, Kalnoky, and Von Giers—at Skiernivice.

General Beauregard has paid $400,000 for a twenty-year lease of the Ouachita coal mines. Late developments show an ample coalfield.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor and Miss Catherine Wolfe are co-operating in an effort for the establishment of a college in Florence, where American women can pursue any branch of art.

Mrs. Hayes' portrait, which is again in the green parlor at the White House, is thought by some of her friends to look much better in its new gilt frame than it did in the heavily carved wooden one.

Prince Victor Napoelon is said to be leading the life of a model young man in Paris, avoiding all places of public resort, including the theater, and devoting his time to political studies. He has cut all his father's friends because they did not treat him with sufficient consideration.

M. Paul Bert is striving to secure for women doctors the privlege of walking the hospitals of Paris. He is warmly opposed by some of the most eminent physicians—men who believe that women doctors may become of great benefit to the world, but not as the responsible heads of hospitals for both sexes.

Mr. W. W. Astor is credited with having recently purchased while in Paris a set of ebony and gold furniture that was once in the boudoir of the Empress Eugenie. There are thirty pieces, and the price paid is said to have been $2,500. Mrs. Astor is the wife of the Ameican minister at Rome and daughter-in-law of Mrs. John Jacob Astor. She was a Miss Paul of Philadelphia.

Besides his rage for cutting down trees, Gladstone has a mania for wearing baggy trousers and abnormally high collars, which indicate his approach long before his features are discernable. Lord Salisbury wears the shabbiest hats of any man in London. Sir Stafford Northcote always wears loose, ill-fitting coats with long sleeves, inside which he hides his hands. Mr. Childers always appears in light kid gloves, and is supposed to sleep in them.

The miserable young woman in the next house to me, wrote the genial Thomas Carlyle, spends all her young, bright days, not in learning to darn stockings, sew shirts, bake pastry, or any art, mystery or business that will profit herself or others—not even in amusing herself or skipping on the grass plot with laughter of her mates—but simply and solely in raging from dawn to dark, to night and midnight, on a hapless piano, which it is evident she will never in this world render more musical than a pair of barn-clappers! The miserable young female!

The resignation of John A. Logan, Jr., from West Point following closely upon his father's defeat for the vice presidency is widely commented upon. In some quarters it is said he was forced to resign when his father's election was no longer among the probabilities by those in authority, who were desirous of getting him out of the academy. It is a well known fact among army officers that he with his room-mate of the first class was court-martialed for leaving the academy at night and returning with liquor in their possession. They both pleaded guilty and were sentenced to dismissal, but were allowed to resign. So far from being persecuted, the fact that they were allowed to resign is regarded as an act of mercy. Young Logan's resignation was made with the consent of his father. The offense and the court-martial both occurred before anything was known about the election.

Republicans who are finding comfort in the reduction of Cleveland's tidal wave majority in New York of nearly 200,000 in 1882 to a bare plurality of 1,000 in 1884, may require to be reminded that his vote this year exceed that obtained in 1882 by over 25,000. Two years ago he received 535,247 votes for governor; the democratic electoral ticket, this year, gets 563,073 votes.
