COOSA VALLEY DISTRICT.

News from Surrounding Counties.

TALLADEGA COUNTY.

The Advance has a spicy and well written letter on Jacksonville which we publish in part this week.

Lincoln has been made a polling place.

M. A. Ponder and family have moved to Lee county.

The Advance wants Judge Henderson to have the solid support of Talladega in the judicial convention.

James A. Huey is announced as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of Circuit Clerk.

The Talladega Sunday Home, an adjunct of the Mountain Home, has been enlarged.

The flood did great damage in Talladega county. Several houses and corn cribs were washed away. The Coosa river at Childersburg was higher than ever before know. The Sunday Home reports the following losses among many smaller ones:

Briebe's Mill Bridge over Choccolocco.

Two spans of Schmidt's Mill Bridge over Choccolocco.

Eighty feet of the eastern approach to the Tallassahatchie Bridge gone.

Riddle's Mill Bridge over Talladega Creek all gone.

C. H. Simmons' Mill on Choccolocco washed away.

Bernard Schimidt's fine gin house and the machinery in it washed entirely away, and his mill moved a few inches.

In Clay county, Dison's Mills and several thousand feet of lumber.

From Coosa county, Big Hatchet Bridge.

It is reported that Haney's Mills and machinery at Childersburg were washed away together with a large lot of shingles and lumber.

Carter Bros., at Childersburg, also sustained a heavy loss.

Two spans of the Bridge on Talladega creek at Kymulga were washed away.

The Anniston and Atlantic railroad had 220 feet of its bridge over Choccolocco washed away.

All plantations on the streams were more or less damaged, and fencing destroyed will prove a great damage at this season of the year.

Talladega will observe Decoration Day the 26th. Capt Morgan Smith will deliver the address.

CLEBURNE COUNTY.

The Standard says:

The County Convention should be composed of the best and ablest Democrats of the county.

Chancery Court in Edwardsville April 15.

Large quantities of guano sold in Cleburne this year.

The Standard complains that the people of Edwardsville do not keep the only church building in the town neat, and that the cemetery is neglected. Our neigbors should remember that strangers judge a town more by its churches and cemetery than anything else.

Messrs. Newton and Isaac Wheeler are going to put up a summer boarding house near the mineral springs at Borden's Springs.

Not a word or clue has been heard of Isaac Richmond's little boy who ran away from his home near Berden's Springs over a month ago.

The Borden's Springs correspondent of the Edwardsville Standard says:

We have some right severe cases of mineral fever in our midst. Some took it, convalesced, relapsed, recovered and took it again. Wm. Henderson, Sr., has had it until his is a chronic case. T. D. Treadaway has it pretty bad. W. J. Alexander has it in the manganese form.

Messrs. Leak and Ledbetter of Cedartown, Georgia, have been working the Glover mines lately, and carried off a wagon load of riches. Mr. Devany is excited over the finding of white cubic crystals.

Mr. Buck is considerably excited and taken altogether we surely will be the richest people on the face of the globe. We think it but reasonable, as our mountains are fit for nothing else, that they should be crammed, jammed full of mineral wealth.

CHEROKEE COUNTY.

Owing to high waters witnesses, jurors and parties were not required to attend Court at Centre the past week.

The celebrated case of the State vs. Hall, for murder, has been again continued by the State. The News says this makes the forty-second term of court Hall has attended during this trial.

J. L. Burnett promises to give the people a definite assurance in the course of a few weeks as to whether he will or will not offer for re-election to the Legislature. He made a good member and the people of Cherokee would do well to insist on returning him.

The river was higher at Centre than ever before known.

The abutments of the new bridge over Terrapin were washed away, but the bridge stood. Hence the wisdom of having iron bridges.

The Gaylesville bridge on the Chattooga is washed away, and all low lands under water.

The Cedar Bluff bridge has been damaged by the high-waters. The abutments are gone and the bridge is swagged some six or eight inches in the middle.

Mr. J. A. Culpepper and Miss Victoria Conaway were married recently.

Cherokee county convention is called for May 22nd.

ABSENCE.

For the REPUBLICAN.]

What shall I do with all these days and hours
That must be counted ere I see thy face?
How shall I charm the interval that lowers
Between this time and that sweet time of grace?

Shall I in slumber steep each weary sense—
Weary with longing? Shall I flee away,
Into past days, and with some fond pretence
Cheat myself to forget the present day?

Shall love for thee lay on my soul the sin
Of casting from me God's great gift divine?
Shall I, these mists of memory locked within,
Leave and forget life's purposes sublime?

Oh, how or what measure may I contrive
To bring the hour that brings thee back more near;
How may I teach my drooping hopes to live
Until that blessed time when thou art here?

I'll tell thee; for thy sake I'll lay hold
Of good aims, and consecrate to thee,
In worthy deeds each moment that told
While thou, beloved one, art far from me.

For thee I will arouse my thoughts to try
All heavenward flights, all high and holy strain,
For thy dear sake I will walk patiently
Through these long hours, nor call their minutes pain.

So may this doomed time build up in me
A thousand graces, which shall thus be thine;
So may my love and longing hallowed be
And thy dear thought an influence divine.

I will this dreary blank of absence make
A noble task time: and will therein strive
To follow excellency, and to o'ertake
More good than I have won since yet I lived.

The Chattanooga Commercial (Republican paper) claims that the editors of some of the so-called Democratic papers of Tennessee are "Republicans at heart," because, it says, "they are in favor of a protective tariff—a Republican doctrine." We shall not dispute its claim.—Rome Courier.

ALABAMA NEWS ITEMS.

FROM ALL PARTS OF ALABAMA.

The Guntersville Democrat has changed hands.

Ex-Governor Moren died recently. He was a man of unquestionable ability and made a good Governor.

Birmingham is have a new union depot. The foundation has already been laid and the brick work has begun.

There has been more murders in the State in the last few weeks than ever known before. The crime annals are awful.

A patent medicine man was killed near Wilsonville, Ala., by unknown parties last Sunday evening. The murderous work was done for robbery.

Two negroes near Guerryton, Ala., were struck by lightning last Saturday evening. One was killed instantly and the other was severely burned.

A freight box on a moving train near Huntsville, Ala., caught fire and was burned to the track last week. Travel was delayed a short while.

Moody and Sankey are holding prayer meetings in Mobile.

The Eutaw Whig says Greene county will cast its vote for Thomas Seay for governor.

Mr. E. H. Rolfe has purchased the Hartsell Index, and becomes sole proprietor and editor.

The Eufaula Times has been served with a notice that it is to be the defendant in a suit for $10,000 damages.

The body of a man having the appearance of having been in the water about two weeks was found in Mobile bay on Wednesday.

Dr. Bryson, of Huntsville, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon of the commencement of the university exercise in June next. Dr. Bryson is an eloquent and distinguished divine.

The Troy Messenger says: "We learn that Judge Hilliard and the commissioners court are anxious to have Examiner Lapsey unravel the accounts of Ex-treasurer Tyler, and that an effort will be made to secure his services."

The old days of Methodism were revived upon our streets on last Tuesday when the presiding elder of this district, the Rev. Dr. Erquhart, passed down Broad street on his way to one of his country quarterly conferences on horseback, with the historical saddle bags behind him. The heroic days of the Methodist church are a part of her glory.—Eufaula Mail.

According to the statement of a cotemporary, recent statistics gathered in Alabama show that deaths from consumption are nearly four times as great among the blacks as among the whites, and these from meningitis and Brights disease are twice as numerous among the former as among the latter. The percentage of deaths from all causes was fifteen in every thousand of the whites and nearly twenty-nine in every thousand of the blacks.

Speaking of John M. McKleroy's visit to Mobile, the Register says: "It is a fortunate thing for Mobile that the various gubernatorial candidates have all visited her and become personally acquainted with her wants and resources. We appreciate these visits and are rejoiced that the competing gentlemen are all worthy of the high office of governor. Whoever wins the prize will be satisfactory to this section of the state, and will receive the undivided support of the democracy."

So far the Whig and Observer has taken no stock in the congressional question, but it is friendly to both aspirants now in the field for the position. Capt. Martin is making us a fine representative and we believe Col. Bankhead would also represent the district faithfully and well. But our choice for the position is our worthy and accomplished citizen, Maj. Enoch Morgan. Years ago we urged his nomination for the place and we still insist that the district could not get a better member of congress.— Eutaw Whig.

Not far from Sterling, Alabama, is situated what is called the Scraper mountain. A few nights ago the people in its immediate vicinity, and for ten miles away, were suddenly awakened from their slumbers by a fearful noise and a terrible shaking of their houses, as if the father of all the earthquakes had visited that locality. People were frightened out of their wits and ran from their houses to escape some impending danger. When morning came it was discovered that an immense portion of Scraper mountain had broke loose from it position and tumbled to the valley below, completely daming up the river, and creating the noise and shaking of the earth. No lives reported lost by this big tumble of real estate.

The Mugwump.

Senator Vance is a violent opponent of the civil service law.

In the course of his speech Senator Vance aroused the ire of the mugwumps by the following allusion:

Said Horace Walpole:

"I have a maxim—that the extinction of party is the origin of faction."

And Horace Walpole ought to have known. In my honest opinion no more unmistakable sign of the decay of public virtue in politics has been furnished by American history than the rise, if indeed it can be said to have arisen, of that maudlin political sentiment which we recognize, for want of a better, under the name of "mugwumpism," a kind of sickly, sentimental, Sunday school, "goody two-shoes" party which appears desirous of ruling the world not as God has made it, but as they would have it. Under the fair guise of liberty, moderation, and public integrity, its tendency, if not its purpose, is to destroy the manhood, the outspoken courage of bluff Anglo-Saxon statesmanship, and seeks to substitute therefor a hybrid system of Pecksniffian sniyol, which is to be in our politics what cant is to true religion, what Pharisaism is to the divine virtue of humility, and which will ultimately prove, like all other hybrids, simply an unhappy mixture of the more ignoble qualities of each parent. Men who fall in love with this diluted form of political ethics forget that with all the evils attending extreme partisanship we have also the candor, the courage, the outspoken sentiment, the manly defiance of opposition, the eager and zealous defense of principle which has infused, with all its roughness, a spirit of chivalry into our political warfare. We know each other. We know where we may expect to find ourselves and our opponents. We can calculate of each other that, whatever of evil there may be, there will be no deception, no hypocrisy, no pretense.

AN ARKANSAS TORNADO.

Great Damage Done at and Around Helena.

HELENA, ARK., March 30.—A tornado of unusual velocity swept through this section last evening, doing considerable damage. In this city quite a number of buildings were blown down and turned over. The Atlantic beer garden was blown over on the roof of a one-story frame house adjoining, crushing through the roof and setting fire to it from a stove. By a great effort the fire was extinguished before it had time to spread. The walls of the Helena opera house and other large buildings, remnant of the late fire was swept out into the river and distress signals of boats added to the confusion. The county court house was unroofed and stripped of its window blinds. Glass doors and windows were smashed in like egg shells. The direction of the tornado was from the west to the east. From parties who have come to the city since the tornado it is learned that west of the hills which act as barriers to the city it was more violent than here, leveling houses before it. It is impossible to travel on many of the roads leading from the city west and northwest, except on foot, owing to the trees blown across them. No serious damage to life was done that can be learned. Owing to the losses being scattered it is impossible to estimate them.

A barber shop exclusively for dogs and puppies, where any good, respectable canine who has the money can get a shave or a shampoo, or a hair-cut, is about to be opened in this city. Just where it will be located is an unsettled question as yet.

Perhaps it is not known outside of the trade that dog "clipping" or hair cutting, is getting to be an important branch of the barber business. Fashionable dames have their pet poodles regularly shampooed and combed every day, and the swell owners of expensive pugs or skye terriers are regular patrons. Very few dogs allow bay rum to be used in shaving them, and they are poor customers for "our never-failing hair enticer for baldnesss," or "the world-renowned elixir for encouraging over-modest mustaches." The most artistic bowwows have their own cups with their names in German text and a private brush.—Philadelphia News.

It is said that Chaplain Milburn has spent his life oscillating between the Methodist Episcopal and the Protestant Episcopal denominations. A man who has not seen him since breakfast finds it rather hard to place him.

JACKSONVILLE.

A TRIP TO THE COUNTY SEAT OF CALHOUN.

Jacksonville and the State Normal School.

Editorial Cor. Talladega Advance.

JACKSONVILLE, March, 20, '86.—Thirty years ago, next to Talladega, Jacksonville was the most important city of Northeast Alabama. Here was the home of the typical southerner. It was a center of wealth, education and refinement. Her population consisted mainly of wealthy slave-holders, who owned large plantations and who lived together in order to enjoy each other's society and establish that high order of hospitality and refinement which came and faded with the era of slavery. A walk around this old old town involuntarily brings some sad thoughts to mind. Here we see large and elegant mansions, the former home of wealth, slowly decaying with the inevitable march of time. The streets, the old and antiquated residences, the public square, suggest the memory of a former, but departed grandeur. The hour of her ancient wealth and hospitality is indeed past, but the time is at hand when the old town has shaken off the fetters of indolence and old fogyism, and has caught on to the spirit of push and enterprise which is sending a thrill of new life through every portion of our southern land. Her merchants are live and active men. Her business is now on a more solid basis than ever before in her history. New enterprises are looming up and business is increasing. She is growing more and more prosperous every day.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL

is the pride of Jacksonville. In consideration of an appropriation by the state her citizens have displayed a liberality and spirit of public enterprise which Talladega would do well to imitate. She has donated to this school large and commodious grounds, with buildings costing from $15,000 to $17,000. Three hundred scholars attend this school daily and its beneficent influence is felt in every home in Jacksonville. J. Harris Chappell is president. Professor Corlie B. Gibson, his chief assistant, was, I think, in 1882 a graduate from the University of Alabama with highest honors. This school is well equipped with a faculty of seven teachers. It combines the normal system with the common school system. Normal scholars are taught free of charge, but must sign a pledge to teach school for two years at least after graduating. The tuition in the common school department is from 75 cents to $2 per month. It embraces five grades and includes a classical course. It costs about $5,000 per annum to keep this school up, the State furnishing $2,500 and the patrons the balance. This combination of the normal and common school system is a good idea and contributes more than anything else to the success which it has attained.

Letter From Texas.

DOUBLE SPRINGS, TEX.,

ED. REPUBLICAN:—Being solicited by numerous friends of old Calhoun to write and give information as to what I have experienced of Texas, I ask permission through your paper to comply. I reached Double Springs the 17th day of July 1884. Found everything lovely. They were threshing wheat when I landed here. The thresher man told me that the crop was averaging 18 bushels per acre. I made a crop last year, my wheat made 16 bushels per acre, oats 35 bushels, corn 25 bushels, cotton ½ of a bale. The worms struck our cotton bad. I have money can get a shave or a shampoo, or a hair-cut, is about to be rented a farm this year. We have in 55 acres in wheat and oats, 35 to cultivate. Land is high here though 100 miles west of this place unimproved land can be bought for $3.00 per acre. As for society it is good. I have traveled through six counties and have never met with a more sociable class of people in my life. As for schools and churches they are flourishing. As for general health it is good. I am in the prarie, the water is good and plentiful. I have my wood to haul six miles. Stock and grain is cheap. We have plenty of hog and hominy in Texas, and I will say to the boys of old Calhoun who are tired of clearing out fence corners and cutting sprouts and hauling guano, to roll out for Texas. Success to the paper.

Rhodes' Brigade.

Below will be found a piece which will doubtless give pleasure to some of our readers:

CHARGE AT SEVEN PINES.

Down by the valley 'mid thunder and lightning,
Down by the valley 'mid jettings of light,
Down by the deep crimsoned valley of Richmond,
The twenty-five hundred moved on to the fight,
Onward, still onward, to the portals of glory,
To the sepulchred chambers, yet never dismayed,
Down by the deep crimsoned valley of Richmond,
Marched the bold soldiers of Rhode's brigade.

See ye the fires and flashes still leaping,
Hear ye the pelting and beating of storm;
See ye the banners of proud Alabama
In front of her columns move steadily on?
Hear the music that gladdens each comrade
As it floats through the air amid the torrent of sounds,
Hear ye! booming adown the red valley,
Carter unbuckles his swarthy old hounds.

Twelfth Mississippi, I saw your brave columns,
Rush through the channel of living and dead;
Twelfth Alabama, why weep your old war-horse?
He died as he wished in the gear at your head.

Seven Pine, ye will tell on the pages of glory
How the blood of the South ebbed away 'neath the shade;
How the lads of Virginia fought in the red vally,
And fell in the columns of Rhodes' brigade.

Father and mothers, ye weep for your jewels,
Sisters, ye weep for your brothers in vain,
Maidens ye weep for your sunny-eyed lovers,
Weep, for they never will come back again!
Weep ye, but know what a halo of glory
Encircles each chamber of death newly made;
And know ye that victory, the shrine of the mighty,
Stands forth on the banners of Rodes' brigade.

Daughters of Southland, come bring ye bright flowers,
Weave ye a chaplet for the brow of the brave,
Bring ye some emblem of freedom and victory,
Bring ye some emblem of death and the grave;
Bring ye some motto befitting a hero,
Bring ye exotics that never will fade,
Come to the deep crimsoned vally of Richmond,
And crown the young chieftan who led his brigade.

Blood Poison.

Three years ago I contracted blood poison. I took mercury and potash for six months without any benefit. I then took Swifts Specific, and it soon drove away every symptom of the disease. I recommend S. S. S. on every occasion, as it is really a boon to humanity, and every one suffering with blood poison can take it with great confidence.

Eczema.

I have had salt rheum for a long time, and have suffered much from the effects of the mercury which I have taken for its relief. I have traveled all over the United States and Europe, and have never found anything to benefit me as S. S. S. has done. My mercurial rheumatism is all gone, and my salt rheum is nearly so. I was also affected with maleria, and S. S. S. has relieved me of it, after having tried quinine and everything else I could hear of with no permanent benefit. S. E. KELSEY,

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga. New York, 157 W. 23d St.

A correspondent tells a good story of a young, but gritty, pastor of the First Baptist church at Pittsfield, Mass., bearing on the old notion that when a lady marries a minister she practically marries his whole congregation. It seems that a short time ago he married a vivacious young lady whose family was of the Episcopal church, and this gave occasion to some of the tattlers of the husband's church. But the climax was reached a few weeks later, when the young wife attended a social given by the Business-Men's Association, and joined in the waltzes and quadrilles, just like other ladies present. Then the tongues of the gossips of the husband's congregation wagged at double-quick; and, the facts coming to his ears, the next Sunday he shot a little gospel truth at the gossips saying among other things the following: "My wife came to you in a position involving no responsibility. She is neither the property of the church nor my property in that sense, having views religiously, socially and domestically which are entirely her own. She is not to be criticised by you. She is accountable only to her God, and the church is not her keeper. She is not a co-worker with me as far as church affairs go, and you have no authority to gossip about her. St. Paul says if church members have a grievance against a brother they shall go to him with two or three, and then if he declines to hear to cite him to the church. I want you to come to me if you have any to find and not talk to third parties. My wife shall do as she pleases, and she shall not be accountable to you in any sense. You would better let her alone."

The following story of a youthful prank of Hannibal Hamlin is told by the Norway, Me., Advertiser: When the ex-vice-president was a boy in Paris, seven persons were baptised in a stream north of Paris hill. Hamlin was one of a party of boys who, hearing of the approaching ceremony, smuggled an old cannon and seven cartridges into the woods near the stream. As the dripping converts one by one, were led out of the stream, one by one, the cartridges boomed in the old cannon. The unholy salute caused great consternation and anger, bnt the mischievous boys were not caught.

Judicial Convention!

Notice is hereby given that the Democratic and Conservative party of the Seventh Judicial Circuit, composed of the counties of Calhoun, Clay, Cleburne, Jefferson, Shelby, St. Clair and Talladega, will hold their Convention at Anniston, Wednesday, June 9th, 1886, at 12 o'clock, M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit.

The counties will be entitled to the following representation:

Calhoun	21
Clay	8
Cleburne	6
Jefferson	18
Shelby	12
St. Clair	8
Talladega	10

By authority of the Judicial Executive Committee.

T. S. PLOWMAN,
Chairman.

Remember the least said soonest mended.

The House has passed the bill to pension soldiers of the Mexican war and it will, no doubt, pass the Senate. Some of the Southern Congressmen voted against it because it gave those who served both in the Mexican war and the Union army a double pension. The pension is fixed at $8 per month.

The action of Gould and Hoxie in playing fast and loose with the Representatives of the Knights of Labor, thereby getting an advantage is very reprehensible. Since they refuse to arbitrate they should be left to defend their own property as best they can. The blood of no man should flow in defense of the property interests of such men.

A motion has been made in the Supreme Court for a rehearing in the Talladega prohibition case, which involves this county also, under present ruling. Hence the friends of the prohibitory law are taking all legal means to delay matters until it can be ascertained whether the Supreme Court will grant or refuse the motion.

The House Committee on Education pigeon-holed the Blair bill as it came from the Senate, for the purpose of defeating it. The friends of the bill did not like this, and a bill identical with the Senate bill was introduced in the House and referred to the Committee on Labor which is friendly to the bill and will report it. This is regarded as a triumph of the friends of the bill and indicates that it will pass the House whenever reported. All the Alabama members voted for the reference of the bill to the Labor Committee, except Mr. Oates, who was absent.

The Montgomery Dispatch tells of a candidate in Montgomery county who during the flood espied a man clinging to a tree for dear life.

"Hello," says he, "there's a voter."

Taking a skiff he rowed over to the man.

"Help me," said the almost drowning man.

"What county do you live in?" replied the cautious candidate.

"Autauga," answered the man up a tree.

"Can't do anything for you," said the candidate, turning away. "Autauga must take care of her own voters."

This is probably a fancy sketch from the fertile brain of Horace Hood, but it is illustrative, nevertheless.

Alabama since its organization as a State has not perhaps witnessed such a flood. The loss will amount to millions of dollars and many persons have perished. Thousands of people have been thrown upon the charity of the world by the disaster and outside help has been appealed to by Selma, Montgomery and other points. Congressman Herbert has introduced a joint resolution appropriating $300,000 to the sufferers in Alabama. In some places the Alabama river was from ten to fifteen miles wide and vast areas of country were submerged until the housetops were not visible above the waters. To attempt to give anything like particulars would occupy several newspapers the size of the REPUBLICAN.

The "Bosses" in Caucus.

She will not caucus and secretly agree on a ticket to beat out the balance of the county.

A paragraph from the last issue of the Jacksonville Republican. Will the Republican tell the people about the caucus held on Monday, March, 29th., in the back room of a certain law office in Jacksonville, "made up" of an ex-Railroad Commissioner and bond signer for the court house contractor, an ex-county official and at present bonded money manipulator for the state, a county official, and a public 'papsucker' of the state and county to the tune of several hundred dollars each quarter as the county treasurer's report will show. Do tell about your caucus but don't say "bah!"—Anniston Watchman.

We will tell about it most cheerfully. The meeting was called at the special request of the Executive Committee representing citizens of Anniston for the purpose of appointing an executive committee to co-operate with Anniston and Oxford to keep liquor out of the county by all legal means. It was not at all secret and the court house question or the county canvass was not mentioned. This is the only meeting that has been held here. There was no such meeting on Monday the 29th ult., and the Watchman must have made a mistake as to date.

Labor's Grasp on New England.

The labor-trouble is striking deeper in New England than in Texas. There is no collision as in the southwest, but there is a terrible strain.

The city of Lynn, Mass., the largest shoe making centre in the world, is simply paralyzed. Business is suspended, and 3,000 workmen who averaged $15 a week have been idle for two weeks. This stoppage of $45,000 a week in wages has put an end to trading. Many of the leading manufacturers have moved to small and remote villages where they have a rural reserve to draw new hands from. Many of the older workmen have quit the knights and gone with the manufacturers into their new fields. A boycotted manufacturer cannot buy a morsel to eat in Lynn. He cannot have a horse shod. The Transfer men will not haul his baggage. He has had to go to Boston or starve. The city is simply throttled, and is as helpless as if it were dead. The manufactures print detailed statements showing that at present prices a pair of shoes they sell for 75 cents costs 71 cents; and a pair sold at $1.50 costs $1.44 cents. But labor will not loosen its grip and the city is being deserted by all who can leave it.

In Wilmington, Del., a decisive treatment of a boycott is described. The News, of that city, had a fuss with the union printers eight months ago and discharged them. The union demanded a few days ago that the non-union men be discharged. The News refused to discharge the men, who had come to it when it needed men, or to take back the men who had deserted it. Other labor troubles arose in the city, and one ship-building concern announced that it had refused $200,000 worth of work in the past month because it was uncertain as to whether it would be allowed to finish it. Pending the agitations the News was boycotted. The business men at once organized to protect the News. A few days after the boycott was declared, a three-inch blank space occurred with these words in the centre: "This space was vacated by P. Plunkett and is now occupied and paid for by the business men's committee." The committee then announced that it would pay for every contract forfeited and would rigidly search out, publish and boycott every man who had withdrawn his patronage from the paper, and patronize exclusively those who advertised in it.

In every town and city in New England the forces are marshalling for a bitter and prolonged conflict. Up to this time the organization has been almost wholly with labor. Now capital is organizing. The lines of division are deepning and the outlook is threatning.—Atlanta Constitution

ALABAMA NEWS ITEMS.

FROM ALL PARTS OF ALABAMA.

The soldiers' monument fund last Wednesday night amounted to $9,666,20.

Butler County Democratic Convention has been called to meet in Greenville on the first of May.

A furnace company of Birmingham has sold 4,000 tons of iron in the last few days at an advance of fifty cents a ton.

The Fort Payne Journal thinks the contest for governor has somewhat changed, and that the race is between McKleroy and Seay.

The Governor issued two pardons recently, one to Rachel Minafee, in Lee county, and the other to Henry Culpepper, in Wilcox county.

F. M. Johnson has received notification of his appointment as railway postal clerk between Opelika, Ala., and Macon, Ga., vice Alf. Hendricks, removed.

The bridge across the Coosa river at Wetumpka, fell in and was washed away recently. It was just about such a structure as the city bridge at Eufaula.

The political pot is boiling over in Dallas county, and the negro police are condemned and will, in all probability, be removed from the force at an early day.

The total proceeds of the sale of damaged cotton, by the late fire in Montgomery, amounted to $23,000. The sale took place Wednesday and was largely attended.

The time for putting up cattle in Bullock county is at hand—that being a nofence county—and many people who have no pastures are selling their cattle at low figures.

Opelika was visited by a terrible thunder, rain and hail storm recently, considerable damage was done to fencing, bridges and sewers. The lightning killed a Jersey cow.

Tuscaloosa is flaring up and seems determined to get on a boom "whether or no." The presence of some twenty or thirty Michiganders in the place, seeking investment of capital, is at the bottom of this boom.

The Richard murder case continues to be the absorbing topic, in Mobile. Richard Naylor was examined Wednesday morning in the recorder's court, and put under a $1 000 bond. The fact that Shaeffer is on trial on the same charge makes a great diversity of opinion, and little else is talked of but the evidence and theories of the case.

The Federal court at Huntsville, which is to meet April 5th, is entirely without funds. There are 111 cases brought to terms on the criminal docket, and unless Congress provides for the defiency by immediate action, the large number of witnesses and the grand and petit juries will have an embarrising wait for their mileage and per diem.

The Advertiser's Selma correspondent says that the negro police question is still being agitated, and some of our best citizens have stated publicly that they will never again vote for a man for the council who favors the retention of negro police.

The Advertiser says that when Mr. Davis visits Montgomery the biggest crowd that ever assembled in this city will be here to see him. People are coming from all over the country, and as to Alabamians they will be here by the thousands.

The Talladega Mountain Home questions the accuracy of the Advertiser's statement that Ward was the first man hung for murder in Alabama since the war, and instances the three white men who were hung last year in Scottsboro. The gallant trio in High Jackson were strung up for arson.

The Grand jury at Marion last week reported only sixty-two true bills, the smallest number of indictments since the war. A novel feature of their report was that they found stored in the lower part of the jail eighteen barrels of apple brandy, two cases of cigars and a billiard table, the property of the sheriff.

Ex-Tax Collector Stutts, of Lauderdale, has paid over to James K. Powers, county superintendent of education, $600 in settlement of the claim which the school fund had against him on account of improper payments to Weems, the defaulting superintendent. The present collector some time since paid over a like amount.

The Governor has firmly refused to offer a reward for the capture of Oliver Jackson, the negro suspected of murdering M. L. Cosby and burning his store at the forks of Woodley and Norman Bridge roads some weeks ago. The Solicitor gave it as his opinion that the negro could not be convicted without some stronger evidence than that which has been adduced, and on the grennd the Governor refused to offer a reward for his capture.

Friday night the barn and stables of Mr. Thomas Countess, who lives about seven miles south of Tuscaloosa, burned under circumstauces indicative of incendiarism. Countess went immediately after a trained blood hound owned by a neighbor, Mr. Reuben Garner. The dog soon struck a trail and followed it three or four miles to the house of Silas Brown, a negro. The door was opened and the blood hound, after sniffing around other members of the family finally went to the bed on which Silas was lying and seized him by the leg. The examination of the tracks next day showed that they corresponded to his shoes, and he was taken to Tuscaloosa and lodged in jail.

A motion is made before the people of Alabama and Florida, to annex West Florida to Alabama. It is believed that public sentiment in both States strongly favors the annexation. All Florida east of the Chattahoochee, with the possible exception of Tallahassee, is perfectly willing for us to have that part of their State west of the Chattahoochee. The Advertiser says that the remaining question is, what will Florida charge us for that part of herself which geographically belongs to us? Mr. Chas. H. Jones, editor of the Jacksonville Times Union, says we can have it for nothing. If the rest of his people are of the same way of thinking, we will take it on these terms. But can we get it without paying for it? that is the question.

Alabama can not go in debt and if it should take either cash or bonds the question would be flatly answered already. But the possibility and even probability that the public sentiment of Florida will demand no payment at all, renders it Alabama's duty to officially investigate the matter.

The question of the policy or impolicy of the granting of license to sell liquor in the town of Jacksonville is one on which citizens of the town may well afford to disagree without feeling. It is not to be expected and should not be expected that all will look at the question alike. Moreover, this is a free country in which every man has a right to his opinion on all questions effecting the community in which he lives.

Our readers cannot fail to note the large advertisement of Ullman Bros., of Anniston. When in that city Saturday we visited their mammoth establishment and were much pleased with the fine display made. They are very courteous and sell goods at genuine bargains. Due notice will be given of their grand spring opening though these columns, which will not be no longer off than two weeks, when it is expected that the ladies of Jacksonville and other places in the county will crowd their spacious store rooms and enjoy the treat of looking over their select and very handsome stock of goods.

A large number of gentlemen from Oxford and Anniston were in Jacksonville Monday to resist the issuance of license to sell liquor in either of those towns. It is understood that license cannot issue for Anniston, Oxford, Weavers or Cross Plains. This leaves Jacksonville as the point along the railroad where license can properly be granted. Public opinion here is strongly against having this place made the liquor depot for the entire county, and the application for license here has been and will be strenously resisted. Judge Woods decides finally to-day (Saturday.)

Rev. Z. A. Parker will preach in the Methodist church at this place Sunday; and will set forth the claims of the American Bible House for the consideration of all christian people.

The town council of Jacksonville passed an ordinance Wednesday night totally prohibiting the sale of liquor within the corporate limits of the town, as it had the power to do under the new charter of the town granted by the last Legislature. This action was taken in response to a very large petition of the citizens of the town. There seems to be no fear that bar rooms will be put up on the outskirts of the town, owing to the difficulty that will be experienced in getting the twenty signers competent under law to recommend for license, within the three miles limit prescribed by the law, it being understood that no one living within the incorporation is competent to recommend for license to sell outside the town—

It being understood that local prohibitory laws covered Oxford, Anniston, Weavers and Cross Plains, and that no license could be granted for the sale of liquors in those towns, Jacksonville could have had a monopoly of the business in the county, but her people have put away from them the hope of gain in this direction in deference to the prohibition sentiment of the county as shown in the prohibition election. If a monopoly of the sale of whisky would have have given her any advantage over sister towns in a commercial point of view, she has proven herself superior to the temptation, and her people have reason to congratulate themselves on the fact.

Notice to Students Normal School.

The fourth quarter of the State Normal School begins Monday, April 12th. Pupils are requested to procure tickets to-day, (Saturday.) H. L. STEVENSON, Treasurer.

"The drones of a community—the men who get all they can out of it and contribute nothing in return, are invariably the ones who want to run the town, truthfully remarks the little "Breeze" of Brunswick. The Advertiser of the same place hits the nail on the head when it says: "There are two distinct classes of people in every town—one half lends a helping hand to everything that tends to build up a town; the other class makes all they can, get all they can, get all the good out of a place they can, enjoy every privilege the place affords, but persistently refuse to spend a cent pro bono publico."

Medical Society.

The Calhoun County Medical Society met in regular session yesterday morning in the office of J. L. Wikle's drug store. Dr. T. W. Ayers, a recent graduate of the Baltimore Col. of Physicians and Surgeons, was elected to membership. Dr. T. C. Hill of Oxford and Dr. C. R. Sexton of Anniston were appointed as delegates to represent the Society in the State Medical Association which convenes in this city the 13th inst., Dr. J. Y. Nisbet, of Jacksonville, and D. J. L. Hughes, of Cross Plains, alternates, Dr. J. C. LeGrand of Anniston, was appointed as a delegate to the American Medical Association which meets in Cincinnati next month.

The next meeting of the Society will be held in Jacksonville first Tuesday in July.—Anniston Watchman.

MORRISVILLE.

The farmers in this settlement are badly afflicted with the blues, caused by the recent flood and so much rain that they cannot do any work on their farms, but those whose farms lie on the creeks have a good job splitting rails and rebuilding their fences that the creek washed away.

Cane Creek at this place lacked fully three feet being as high as it was two years ago, but did a great deal of damage. The abutment of the bridge here on one eide was carried away, but is being put back better than it was before. The abutments of the bridge at the old iron works was damaged some but have been repaired. The creek washed all the upper part of Mr. Morris' shop dam away, but did not injure the machinery any and did not stop their works at all.

A correspondent from Peaceburg wants Bro. G. W. Loyd to be county commissioner. I think his suggestion rather premature, bnt if he will wait two years he can get a great deal of help to gratify his wishes.

Some gentleman wants Dr. Davis, of Choccolocco to be our next Representative. I do not think that we could do much if any better. The Doctor is an able and honest man and it would be an honor to the people of this county to elect him.

We are glad to see the sun shine once more.

The washing rains has considerably damaged our farmers.

The Ohacthee has been booming for the last two weeks. It is said to have been higher than ever before.

Prof. Dowda gave a vacation last Monday until July the 1st. Will go to school at Weavers Station during his vacation.

Your correspondent failed to write any locals last week, as there was not any train. We would like to hear from our Duke correspondent again.

W. W. Corley spent last week in Cross Plains.

Prof. Alexander's school was out last Wednesday week.

The high waters wsshed away a of fences on Ohatchee.

The farmers say the oat crop is considerably damaged by the big rains.

Mr. E. B. Dickinson has been very ill, but are glad to learn that he is on the mend.

Messrs. Graves Tumblin & Co's. hands made a strike last Saturday. We did not know we had the Knights of Labor so close to us.

JENKINS.

JENKINS, April 6th.—We had a big rain last week as other portions of the county did which washed our lands and fencing away and it seems that the farmers have taken a sensible view of it and submitted to Him that "doeth all things well" without a murmur.

Some fears are entertained about the fruit crop but all are hopeful that Jack Frost will leave a few unharmed.

Our farmers have learned after a long and bitter experience that guano does not pay and are leaving it off to a great extent, and are planting more corn than usual. The wheat crop is backward and has been killed out badly in the low lands. Oats are bidding fair for a good crop.

We have two flourishing schools in our community, one taught by Mr. R. B. Duncan of Centre, the other by Prof. J. F. M. Thomas, of North Carolina, both have a good attendance.

Our new postmaster, Mr. A. B. Mosely, takes a pride in attending to his business properly.

Mr. Jno. Henderson lost an infant babe last Sunday.

Mr. T. H. Arnett has his new dwelling completed and has moved into it.

CROSS PLAINS.

After several days of cold, windy weather, we had a killing frost on the morning of the 8th instant.

Mrs. S. B. Hudson died on the 3rd instant after a lingering illness. We tend to the bereaved husband and family our warmest sympathies.

Mrs. Jno. F. Johnson is still very sick.

Mr. T. W. Wilkerson has moved into his new residence on South Main Street.

It will be some time yet before trains on the East & West road will run in Cross Plains. This road was badly damaged all along its entire line, by the late freshet.

The experience of the last week caused our people to properly appreciate the great advantages of a daily mail. We were deprived of all mail facilities for a week, and were no better off, in this respect, than people living in the most remote places.

On account of the bad weather locals are very scarce this week. Very few people come to town and consequently we are having dull times.

Application for Decree to Sell Land.

STATE OF ALABBMA,
Calhoun County,

In Probate Court for said County, Special Term Feb. 23rd, 1886.

This day came Samuel Brothers Administrator of the estate of W. P. Crook deceased and filed in court his application in writing and under oath praying for an order and decree to sell certain lands of said estate, in said application described, for the payment of the debts of said estate, upon the ground that the personal property is insufficient therefor.

It is therefore ordered by the court that the 12th day of April 1886 be and is hereby appointed the day upon which to hear and determine said application; and that notice thereof be given for three successive weeks in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper printed and published in said county, as a notice to all persons interested to be and appear at the office of the Probate Judge in the court house in Jacksonville Calhoun county, Alabama on said 12th day of April 1886 and contest said application if they think proper.

A Lady's Opinion.

Mrs. Geo. Gilbert, Bryan, Ohio, writes: "Dr. J. C. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O.: I commenced on the fifth bottle of your PERUNA this morning, and should just as soon think of doing without my meals as without my medicine. I have been doctoring for about four years, and kept getting worse all the time, and was just giving up in despair when I got one of your books, 'The Ills of Life.' I was in bed at the time. I read and re-read your book and felt like trying your medicine. My folks thought there was no use in trying anything more. I was too far gone, and might as well make up my mind to die. I told them PERUNA was the medicine I needed, and I intended to try a bottle. It proved a success in breaking the chills, and if it had not done one thing more, I would have been satisfied. But it has done more, and I feel like another person. Everybody that sees me is surprised to see me looking so well, as they all thought I was dying with consumption, and I now have as much to say for the PERUNA as I can. I recommend it to everybody. There were two of our neighbors inquiring about the PERUNA yesterday inquiring about the PERUNA. I gave the one my book to read, to bring it back, as I prized it very highly. The other got the name of the PERUNA to send to his son in Chicago. He is a telegraph operator. My disease is something similar to Mrs. Milo Ingram's, though nothing compared to being so bad. There was a lump raised on my collar bone, and it was a long time before it looked like opening. The doctor said he would have to lance it in a few days, but I thought I would attend to that myself, so I put a little fly blister on it and, it opened; then I put a poultice on and then salve, and kept the salve on all the time. It got so bad and spread upon my left shoulder, and one place under my left breast. Then there were two places on my head, one near the temple and one back of my ear that was just dreadful. No tongue can tell what I suffered. My head felt so strange sometimes, I thought I was going crazy. Since I have used the PERUNA (I don't use the salve any more) my sores healed up right away. And oh, what a relief it is to get around without chilling and having to suffer with my sores. I feel like letting everybody know all about it."

John Ferguson, Gallitzin, Pa., writes: "Your PERUNA is a good medicine, and we sell lots of it. Will you please send us some more 'Ills of Life,' with a few German."

TIRED OUT. The distressing feeling of weariness, of exhaustion without effort, which makes life a burden to so many people, is due to the fact that the blood is poor, and the vitality consequently feeble. If you are suffering from such feelings,

FINAL SETTLEMENT.

State of Alabama, Calhoun County.

In Probate Court for said County, Special Term March 3rd, 1886.

This day came R. M. Hanna, who, having resigned the office of Administrator of the estate of W. R. Hanna, deceased, has this day filed in court his account, vouchers, evidence, and statement of the heirs of said deceased, according to law, for the purpose of making a final settlement of his administration of said estate.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that the 29th day of March 1886 be and is hereby appointed the day upon which to audit and pass upon said account and make said settlement; and that notice thereof be given for three successive weeks in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper printed and published in said county, as a notice to all persons concerned, to be and appear before me, at my office in the Court House of said county, on said 29th day of March 1886 and contest said settlement if they think proper.

The Night you Quoted Burns to me.

The winds of early Autum blew
Across the midnight. Overhead
A wild moon up the heavens fled,
And cut the sable vault in two;
We heard the river lap and flow,
We turned our poet fancies free—
My heart did all its cares forego,
The night you quoted Burns to me.

A gray owl from a blasted limb,
Dropped down the dark, and blundered by
As if a fiend with flaming eye
Fast followed in pursuit of him;
Ah, then you crooned beneath the moon,
A ditty weired as weired could be—
And Tam O'Shanter crossed the Doon,
The night you quoted Burns to me.

We praise the "Lass o Ballochmyle,"
We talked of Mary, loved and lost,
Until our spirits touched and crossed,
And melted into tears, the while;
We drank to "Nell," and "Bonnie Jean,"
To "Chloris," and the "Banks o' Cree"—
Blest hour!—I keep thy mem'ry green,
The night you quoted Burns to me.

The Wabash hills their heads low hung,
As floating up their winding ways
They caught the sound of "Logan Braes,"
And heard "Sweet Afton's" glory sung;
And loud the Wabash did deplore
That no brave poet voice had she,
To lend her fame, forevermore,
The night you quoted Burns to me.

O dear, delightful Autumn night,
Forever gone beyond recall!
Comrade, the clouds are over all,
And you—you've vanished from my sight:
Still flows the river as of yore,
The owl still haunts the lonely tree—
And I'll forget, ah, nevermore,
The night you quoted Burns to me.

—The Current.

The Republican Executive Committee of Alabama, have called a State convention of their party, to meet in Montgomery on the 23d of June. They no doubt hope that the Democrats will be so demoralized by office-seeking factions as to give them a chance of at least partial success.

An old maid in Brooklyn has just been committed to the lunatic asylum. Her delusion is that President Cleveland and his cabinet have formed a conspiracy to get possession of her property, which amounts to about $1,100. The matter should be looked into.

Saved His Life.

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., says he was, for many years, badly afflicted with Phthisic, also Diabetes; the pains were almost unendurable and would sometimes almost throw him into convulsions. He tried Electric Bitters and got relief from first bottle and after taking six bottles, was entirely cured and had gained in flesh eighteen pounds. Says he positively believes he would have died, had it not been for the relief afforded by Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by W. M. Nisbet. No6

J. T. Riley, Deft.
J. A. Stevenson, Gar.

Before J. D. Arnold, a Justice of the Peace for said county.

Before me, as said Justice of the Peace, this the 2rd day of March 1886, came the plaintiff in the above entitled cause; and it appearing that the said J. A. Stevenson who is indebted to, or has in his possession, or under his control, property belonging to said defendent, has been summoned as garnishee in the above entitled cause, by virtue of an attachment issued from my office returnable the 5th day of April 1886, and that said defendent is a non-resident of this State; it is therefore ordered that notice of said attachment and the return day thereof, be given to said J. T. Riley by publication once a week for three successive weeks, before said 5th day of April 1886, in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper published in said county, and a copy thereof be mailed to said defendent at his place of residence, when known. Given under my hand, this the 3rd day of March, 1886.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c. per box by W. M. Nisbet. No5

ST. CLAIR COUNTY

The Ashville Aegis advocates the nomination of Col. Dawson for Governor.

Jas. Harden, aged 60, died near Odenville, recently.

Mrs. Thos. Casey, aged 70, died near Odenville recently.

Ashville recently escaped a serious conflagration, by the prompt extinguishment of a fire which originated on Dr. Bass' smoke house.

New subscribers to the Ashville Aegis can get back numbers containing from the beginning all the chapters of "Naiene," Mr. Cather's latest story, now running in that paper.

The flood on Canoe creek was far greater than ever before known.

The recent Democratic Convention in St. Clair county nominated Hon. James T. Green for Probate Judge, T. V. B, Moor for Circuit Clerk and J. R. Vandegrift for the Legislature—good nominations all. The ticket will be elected without any trouble. The Convention was harmonious.

CHEROKEE COUNTY.

The Democratic county convention of Cherokee will meet in Centre Saturday the 22nd day of May, and will contain 129 delegates. The Committee fixed the 15th day of May as the time for holding the beat meetings.

The Cherokee Advertiser says: The recent flood was the most damaging to all farms lying on the creeks and rivers ever known in this county. The soil has been washed off, miles of fencing and thousands of bushels of corn swept away, cattle, hogs and sheep drowned. The outlook is not a cheering one.

The Grand Jury of Cherokee found 48 true bills.

Judge Ackin broke court short off and took the steamer Marable for home, that being the first boat that passed Centre from Rome to Gadsden in a week.

John T. Arrington has been appointed Justice of the Peace in beat 3.

A colored man has opened a business house in Centre. Dick Shook is the name of the capitalist.

—Chattooga river was from three to four feet higher than ever before known, during the recent flood. The Cherokee Advertiser says:

A dwelling house, a table and a wash-stand, a large trunk, a cow and a mule all floated down by the Centre wharf a few days ago.

The freshet washed up on Mr. J. J. Scroggins' place near the Terrapin creek bridge, human bones and a large stone pipe. On the pipe the figures 1443 were carved, indicating the pipe to be 443 years old. Mr. Scroggins was offered $25.00 for it and refused the offer.

Filborn Bearfield, the negro who was seriously stabbed by another negro who was running away with his daughter, died from his wounds.

ETOWAH COUNTY.

Mr. Long of Gadsden has moved the stock of goods he bought of Ike Adler to Anniston.

C. E. Adler of Gadsden will move to Birmingham and go into business.

Judge Hamlin has announced his name as a candidate for Probate Judge of Etowah county.

In February seven people were born and three died in Gadsden. In Etowah county forty-seven were born and ten died.

A Young Man's Christian Association has been formed in Gadsden and the membership is very large.

During the freshet Coosa river spread all over Coat's bend and several families had to move out.

Col. Kyle secured his warehouse by tying it with ropes and letting it float.

J. E. Marable and a darkey came near being drowned in the Coosa at Gadsden a few days ago by their boat capsizing.

Mr. J. R. Hughes is a candidate for re-election to the office of Circuit Clerk of Etowah County.

The meeting of the Grand Lodge I. O. G. T., in Gadsden has been changed from April 13th to April 27th.

Speaking of the freshet the Gadsden News says:

It is impossible to estimate the damage to our county and section. In Etowah county alone our best informed men estimate that half the open lands in the county are under water. The five feet rise over all previous freshets causes the river to cut across the bends in rapid currents, sweeping off the soil and washing out large holes, in some places ruining the farmers. All the rails have been swept off, large quantities of corn and forage carried away, hogs and horses drowned; in fact, it is impossible to give any estimate of the damage to the county.

TALLADEGA COUNTY.

The business men of Talladega have formed a chamber of commerce.

Talladega county suffered greatly from the flood. The waters of dry creek were higher than ever before known.

W. H. & J. A. Matson had 25 acres of freshly plowed land completely washed away.

Mr. B. F. Wilson has been elected captain of the Talladega Rifles.

Talladega is to have a telephone exchange.

The Avance and the Reporter support McKleroy, while the Mountain Home supports Dawson for Governor.

J. M. Thornton, Cecil Brown and J. K. Elliott are all called out for the Legislature in the Talladega Home.

"ALABAMA."

Not "Here We Rest."

Tuscaloosa Times.

We are really gratified at the late publication, by the press throughout the State of Alabama, of the fact that Alabama does not mean "Here We Rest," as has long been supposed.

Dr. Wm. S. Wyman, the acting President of the university of Alabama, is entitled to the credit of exploding the false idea that Alabama, the name that represents the greatest and grandest State, naturally, of all States in this great confederation of States, means nothing more than a place of "rest."

"Here we rest" is a significant and inviting motto; but Alabama is a State, designed by the Creator, as a great field of labor, enterprise, and development; and industry, energy and perseverance are what should characterize the people who inhabit such a State.

"Mulbery Town," Dr. Wyman says, is the true definition of the name "Alabama," and we think that meaning much more suggestive and appropriate than "here we rest."

The mulberry is a tree remarkable for its rapid and luxurious growth, and its dense and rich foliage is no less a characteristic of the tree. And, then, the mulberry tree is generally loaded with a large and well matured crop of fruit. So Alabama, as a State, is susceptible of rapid and prosperous development, and her borders may be made to bring forth a rich harvest of happiness, honor and wealth for her sons and daughters.

So "here we rest" is no longer the favorite motto of our grand and progressive State; but here we labor, toil and strive, to develop the vast resources God has given us, that we may bless the world of mankind, is rather the watchword of the enterprising Alabamian.

An old gentleman who has lived in this county 35 years came to town last week for the first time. He is 78 years old and never saw a court house until Friday, when he went before the grand jury to report his daughter's husband for abusing her.—Fayette Journal.

One day last week, near Cullman, two old cows were killed by the train, and the night following some hungry persons skinned them and carried most of the meet off.

Two children of Circuit Clerk Ellis, of Blountsville, were bitten by a mad dog. A madstone was applied and the poison was withdrawn.

John Hawkins was arrested by the sheriff of Lamar county recently on charge of a murder committed thirteen years ago.

"GOULD, A GIANT FIEND."

KNIGHTS OF LABOR APPEAL TO THEIR BRETHREN OF THE WORLD

To Assist Them in Overthrowing the Great Monopolist—A Graphic Pen Picture of the Juggernaut of Soulless Corporations—A Stirring Address by St. Louis Assemblies.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—The Joint Executive Board of Assemblies 101, 93 and 17, Knights of Labor, this afternoon issued the following address:

To the Workingmen of the World:

FRIENDS AND BROTHERS—Hear us for we plead for our rights! Men of equity, look upon us, for we struggle against the giants of wrong! Mad with the frenzy of pride and self-adulation, begotten, as it is, of success, of outrage and infamy, there stands before us the giant of aggregated and incorporated wealth, every dollar of which is built on blood, injustice and outrage! That giant of corporate wealth has centralized its powers in and is impersonated in the eager fiend who gloats as he grinds the life out of his fellow men, and grimaces and dances as they writhe on his instrument of torture. O, ye workingmen of America, who love your liberty and your native land! Ye great creators of wealth, who stand as the foundation of all national good, look on your brothers today!

GOULD, THE GIANT FIEND,

Gould, the money monarch is dancing as he claims over the grave of our order; over the ruins of our homes and the blight of our lives. Before him the world has smiled in beauty, but his wake is a graveyard of hopes, a cyclone's path of devastation and death. Our strong arms have grown weary in building a tower of strength, yet he bids us build or die. Our young lives have grown gray too soon beneath the strain of the required constant toil; our loved ones at homes are hollow cheeked and pale with long and weary waiting for better days to come; nay, more than this, the graveyards are hiding his victims from our longing eyes.

Brother workmen, this monster fiend has compelled us to toil in the cold and rain for five and fifty cents a day; others have been compelled to yield their time to him for seventeen and thirty-seven weary hours for a pittance of nine hours pay; others who have dared to assert their manhood and rebel against his tyrrany are blacklisted and boycotted all over the land. He has made solemn compacts with the highest authority in our order and then has basely refused to fulfill his pledge, he lives under and enjoys all the benefits of the Republican form of Government, and yet advocates and perpetuates more debasing form of white slavery; he robs the rich and the poor, the high and the low with a ruthless hand and then appeals to corrupt and purchased courts to help him take our little homes away. He breaks our limbs and maims our bodies and then demands we shall release him from every claim for damage or be blacklisted for ever; he goes to our grocers and persuades them not to give us credit, because we refuse to be ground in his human mill; he turns upon us a horde of lawless beings who shoot among our wives and children with deadly intent, and then he howls for the Government's help when he gets his pay in coin alike. Fellow workmen!

GOULD MUST BE OVERTHROWN!

his giant power must be broken or you and I must be slaves forever. The Knights of Labor alone, have dared to be the David to this Goliah. The battle is not for today: the battle is not for tomorrow, but for trooping generations in the coming ages of the world; for our children and our children's children. 'Tis the great question of the age: Shall we in coming ages be a nation of freemen or a nation of slaves? The question must be decided now. The chains are already formed that are to bind us; shall we wait till they are riveted on our limbs! Nay, God forbid!

Workmen of the world! marshal yourselves on the battle field! workmen of every trade and clime, into the fray! Gould and his monopolies must go down or your children must be slaves. Think of the little olive plants around your hearth stone that will be blighted by his course; think of the wife from whose eyes he has wrung floods of tears, and from whose heart he has tortured drops of blood. Who can look calmly upon his perfidy, his outrage and his crime? For he has sought to incite felony among our rank and files; he has bought the perfidy of vile men to entrap the unwary that he might stain our fair name and gloat over our misfortunes.

Once for all, fellow workmen, let every hand that toils be lifted to heaven and swear by Him that lives forever that these outrages must cease; let every heart and brow be turned toward our common foe and let no man grow weary until, like Goliah, our giant is dead at our feet.

EXECUTINE BOARDS DISTRICT ASSEMBLIES 101, 93 AND 17.

A RELIGIOUS PACK OF CARDS.

How They Served as Bible, Almanac, and Book of Common Prayer to a Soldier---An Ingenious Plea.

A soldier by the name of Richard Lee was taken before the magistrates of Glasgow for playing cards during divine service. The account of it is thus given:

Sergeant commanded the soldiers at the church, and when the parson had read the prayers, he took the text. Those who had a Bible, took it out; but this soldier had neither Bible nor Common Prayer book; but pulling out a pack of cards, he spread them out before him. He looked first at one card and then at another. The sergeant saw him and said:

"Richard, put up the cards; this is no place for them."

"Never mind that," said Richard.

When the service was over the constable took Richard a prisoner and brought him before the mayor.

"Well, what have you brought the soldier here for?" says the mayor.

"For playing cards in church."

"Well, soldier, what have you to say for yourself?"

"Much, sir, I hope."

"Very good; if not, I will punish you more than ever man was puished."

"I have been," said the soldier, "about six weeks on the march, I have no Bible nor Common Prayer book; I have nothing but a pack of cards, and I hope to satisfy your worship of the purity of my intentions."

Then spreading the cards before the mayor, he began with the ace.

When I see the ace it reminds that that there is but one God. When I see the deuce, it reminds me of Father and Son. When I see the three, it reminds me of Father, Son and Holy Ghost. When I see the four, it reminds me of the four evangelists that preached—Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. When I see the five, it reminds me of the five wise virgins that trimmed the lamps. There were ten, but five were foolish and were shut out. When I see the six, it reminds me that in six days the Lord made heaven and earth. When I see the seven, it reminds me that on the seventh day God rested from the great work he had made, and hallowed it. When I see the eight it reminds me of the eight righteous persons that were saved when God destroyed the world, viz:

Noah and his wife, his three sons and their wives.

When I see the nine, it reminds me of the nine lepers that were cleansed by our Saviour. There were nine out of the ten that never returned thanks. When I see the ten it reminds me of the ten commandments which God handed down to Moses on the table of stone. When I see the king it reminds me of the Great King of heaven, which is God Almighty. When I see the queen, it reminds me of the Queen of Sheba, who visited Solomon, for she was as wise a woman as he was a man. She brought with her fifty boys and fifty girls, all dressed in boys' apparel, for King Solomon to tell which were boys and which were girls. King Solomon sent for water for them to wash; the girls washed to the elbows and the boys to the wrist, so he told by that."

"Well," said the mayor, "you have given a description of all the cards in the pack except one."

"What is that?"

"The knave," said the mayor.

"I will give your honor a description of that, too, if you will not be angry," replied the soldier.

"I will not," said the mayor, "if you do not term me the knave."

"Well," said the soldier, "the greatest knave I know is the constable that brought me here."

"I don't know," said the mayor, "if he is the greatest knave, but know he is the greatest fool."

"When I count how many spots in a pack of cards, I find 365--as many as there are days in the year. When I count the number of cards in the pack I find there are four suits—the number of weeks in a month. I find there are twelve picture cards in a pack, representing the number of months in a year; and on counting the number of tricks I find thirteen, the number of weeks in a quarter. So you see, sir, a pack of cards serves for a Bible, Almanac and Common Prayer Book."

An excursion will be run from Selma to Montgomery on the day that Hon. Jefferson Davis will lecture in that city. Let the grand old veteran be honored by a general outpouring of the people of Alabama.

Report on the Wheat Crop.

By United Press to the Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The agricultural department reports that the official statistical investigation for April makes a reduction of winter wheat sown of 3,500,000 acres from the breadth seeded two years ago and 5 per cent. reduction from the area seeded a year ago. On the Atlantic coast there has been a very slight reduction, and none on the Pacific coast. The largest decrease is in Illinois, Kansas, and Missouri. Comparative areas seeded in the principal states are: New York, 96; Pennsylvania, 98; Ohio, 99; Kentucky, 95; Michigan, 99; Indiana, 95; Illinois, 85; Missouri, 92; Kansas, 84; California, 99; Oregon, 103.

In comparison with the bread harvested last year there is an increase. A moderate degree of protection by snow has been enjoyed, though the covering has neither been heavy or continuous; winds have laid bare exposed surfaces and covered valleys deeper. Winter killing in patches is therefore reported to some extent, while it is generally found that brown and apparently lifeless plants have roots uninjured.

The general average of condition is 92½, against 76 last year, the lowest ever reported, and 94 two years ago. The average of 1883 was 80, and that of 1881 was 88.

The average of states is as follows: New York, 98, Pennsylvania 99, Ohio 94, Michigan 93, Indiana 96, Illinois 86, Mississippi 94, Kansas 88, California 100.

The condition of the soil for autumn seeding was favorable in four-fifths of all the counties.

The exceptions are more frequently in districts of small production. In the Ohio valley and in the middle states the seed bed was in good condition in nine-tenths of the area.

In Missouri and Kansas there was a larger portion of dry area, and one-fifth of the reports were unfavorable.

In Virginia and the Carolinas one-sixth of the area seeded was not in good condition; in Georgia, one-third; in Texas, three-tenths.

In at least five-sixths of the entire breadth of winter wheat the condition of soil was favorable for seeding, germination and early growth.

Damage to wheat by the Hessian fly is indicated in scarcely one county. In winter wheat its presence is deemed worty of mention in sixteen counties of Indiana and eight of Illinois. In Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, and also in Pennsylvania and New York it is respectively reported in four to six counties, and the damage has not been serious.

The returns of the condition of farms show an increase of prevalance of hog cholera, and a loss of 6,000,000 of swine from all causes, or 14 per cent. The losses of sheep are reported at 7 per cent.; of cattle 4 per cent. The losses of horses are small, amounting to seven-tenths of one per cent. Losses of cattle are heaviest in the southern states and on the ranges, from 4 to 8 per cent., while in the farm regions, where shelter is provided, the loss is only 2 per cent.

FROM ALL PARTS OF ALABAMA.

Two white men were struck by lightning near Hurtsboro a few days ago. One was seriously injured and the other has since died.

Miss Florida Roper, of Covington, was burned to death recently. Her clothing caught in the usual manner while standing before a fire.

Judge Wm. M. Brooks, of Selma, in a temperence lecture last week, said that out of the seven hundred inmates of the Alabama insane asylum, two thirds were from the effects of whiskey.

TO STOCK AN OSTRICH FARM.

The Strange Tropical Cargo of a Norwegian Schooner.

A Galveston dispatch says: The Norwegian schooner Parecis Stavange arrived at the wharf here last evening, after two months' voyage from Africa. She brought a strange cargo to the new world, consisting of ostriches, monkeys, parrots, tropical birds, and last but not least, among her curiosities are five natives of Madras, India, including one female.

The entire outfit is destined for California, and belongs to Dr. C. J. Sketchley, of Los Angeles, the well known ostrich farmer. Dr. Sketchley sailed from Port Hatal, Africa, on Jan. 24th. He had sixty-five full grown ostriches when he started, but only thirty-six survived the passage.

While on the African coast, between Natal and Cape Town, the Stavange encountered three days of pretty rough weather, and the giant birds all became very sick from the motion of the vessel and two-thirds of the loss occurred during the first ten days of the voyage. The doctor says after the ostriches got their sea legs no more deaths occurred. The ostriches are the finest lot ever taken from Africa, as each bird has a pedigree, which enhances its value among ostrich breeders, just as the pedigrees of race horses or cows enhance their value. Sketchley says they are the best breed of ostriches known to the natives.

The birds range from eight to ten feet high, and are about ten years old, having just attained their full growth. They are not wild. While unloading them from the vessel to-day, one unusually big ostrich became frightened as he was drawn up the hatchway, and when a couple of sailors approached to move him from the box he gave each one of them a gentle kick on the breast that hurled them against the side of the vessel as though every bone in their bodies would break.

The Malay in immediate charge of the birds said that if the ostrich had struck the men with the full swing of its leg it would have killed them sure. The native spoke to the bird and visibly calmed its excitement, very much as we control a horse.

The ostriches will be given a rest here in the park for several days, then loaded on cars specially prepared and taken to Sketchley's ostrich farm, four miles from Los Angeles.

The Hindus were greatly excited when they came in sight of Galveston, the city being visible thirty miles off. The captain says they ran from one end of the vessel to the other, carried away with the sight of land again.

The woman has a man's brass scarf pin neatly hooked through the right lobe of her nose. A red glass gem ornaments the pin and her nose. Her hair is coal black and hangs below her waist when down. Her features are clear cut and irregular.

The men wear white turbans, and were the centre of attraction to-day for several thousand people, who gathered to watch the unloading of the ostriches. The Madrasees will accompany Sketchley to California and reside permanently with him.

A Matter of Gratitude.

Months ago I had occasion to publicly testify to the rare curative properties of Swift's Specific in the treatment of rheumatism, from which I had suffered for several years. I am again constrained to bear testimony to the virtue of this famous medicine in the treatment of another and quite a different disease.

During my late visit to the north I was stricken down with malarial fever, and at times my recovery was extremely doubtful. At this period of my sickness, however, a copy of an Atlanta paper came to hand in which was a certificate from some person who had used with success Swift's Specific in a similar case. Having a bottle with me I immediately commenced taking it, and I am proud to say that good results followed at once. I then procured a few bottles from Boston, and continued to take three doses daily until I recovered my health perfectly, a result largely due to that valuable preparation, S. S. S. Gratefully,

A WOMAN'S BRAVE ACT.

An Incident of the Strike---She Holds a Mob at Bay.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mrs. S. J. Duffy of DeSoto, the lady who so gallantly held the mob at bay and saved the life of Yardmaster Tod, who was pursued by the infuriated crowd to her house, is receiving unstinted praise at the hands of the people of De Soto, who have detertermined to reward her brave act in a substantial manner. A purse has been started and a handsome sum already secured, which will be largely augmented and presented to the heroine with appropriate thanks and commendation for her daring and timely act of unselfish heroism.

She is described as a petite brunette, quiet and retiring in disposition, good-looking, and the wife of a locomotive engineer on the Iron Mountain. Her husband, S. J. Duffy, had been guarding the company's property at the round house, and a short time before the excitement had arrived at home and was asleep. Before retiring he had placed his revolver on the dressing case, and as Mrs. Duffy went to meet the mob she saw it and carried it with her to the door.

The pursued man was breathless with fear and exertion as he rubbed past her into the house. He hurriedly and briefly told the story, and the lady was quick to understand and prompt in her action. Her appearance, revolver in hand, had an electrical effect on the crowd.

"Stop where you are!" she cried, raising her weapon. "I will kill the first one who attempts to enter this house."

The mob, astonished and awed, was virtually conquered.

"We want that scab," said a venturesome leader.

"If you mean Mr. Tod, you cannot touch him. He belongs in my house and I will not permit you to enter it."

There was no evidence of bravado in her manner. With flashing eyes and up lifted arm, her weapon pointed directly at the mob. She stood her ground and held it at bay until the mayor of the town arrived and urged the people to disperse. They did so, and the little woman had triumphed.

A Wonderful Quilt.

St. Louis Spectator.

There are to be seen in this city at present two wonderful historical quilts. One of them, made by Mrs. M. D. Montgomery, of Montgomery, Ala., is a marvel of patient work, taste and artistic talent. It is composed of several hundred bits of silk, ribbons and velvet, put together with every stitch known to the embroiderer; besides these there are seventy-seven pictures, beautifully painted in water colors on satin, of the heroes, the events, and depicting the battle-fields of the late war. In the center is a picture of the inauguration of Jefferson Davis as President of the Confederate States, and in one corner is a white star cut from the flag which floated over him when he took the oath. About the pictures of the battle-fields are grouped the Generals of both sides who took part—excellent likenesses, cabinet size, skillfully painted by her brush. In the border is set panels, bearing pictures of the most prominent actors in the war. This marvelous piece of work has been accomplished in the short space of three months' time, and was sent this week to the Exposition at New Orleans.

The other historical quilt is of extraordinary interest. It is a treasure upon which no adequate value can be set, for it is made entirely of bits of material from garments worn by many of the most distinguished people of the world. Authors, artists, actors, divines, judges, generals, and even royalty itself, has contributed to this valuable collection. Each piece bears the signature of the person sending it, and accompanying each piece is an autograph letter of great value, making the collection of autograh letters one of the largest in this country. The fortunate possessor of this valuable souvenir quilt is Mrs. Robert M. Yost. She conceived the idea of making it several years ago, and since that time has been busily collecting the material.

Judicial Convention!

Notice is hereby given that the Democratic and Conservative party of the Seventh Judicial Circuit, composed of the counties of Calhoun, Clay, Cleburne, Jefferson, Shelby, St. Clair and Talladega, will hold their Convention at Anniston, Wednesday, June 9th, 1886, at 12 o'clock, M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit.

The counties will be entitled to the following representation:

Calhoun	21
Clay	8
Cleburne	6
Jefferson	18
Shelby	12
St. Clair	8
Talladega	10

By authority of the Judicial Executive Committee.

T. S. PLOWMAN,
Chairman.

The Probate Judge of Winston who was to have been impeached for appropriating license money belonging to the state has fled.

Dr. Ford of Escambia county, has mysteriously disappeared with over $2,000, school funds. His friends think he has been murdered for the money.

Several county superintendents have lately defaulted and there is great activity at the educational department of the State to find out just how all the superintendents stand.

The Talladega Home tells of some farmers who discovered a hay stack floating down the Coosa during the recent flood that had seventeen fat hogs on it. They landed the cargo and killed ten of the hogs and turned seven of them loose for later use.

It has been intimated in a newspaper in the county that Jacksonville has quarrelled over the question of license or no license. It becomes our pleasant duty to inform all parties who may be interested in the matter that such is not the fact. The slight excitement which prevailed when the question was first raised has entirely subsided, and whatever feeling may have been engendered in the wet and dry contest is a thing of the past. The best of feeling now prevails all around. Each side accords to the other a motive looking solely to the good of the town and recognize the fact that men may differ on a matter of policy without personal feeling. It is only small minded people who quarrel about such things. Jacksonville is broad gauge.

The small politicians who have been writing communications to the newspapers of the southern end of the county about the county convention have shown very great capacity for making asses of themselves. Their productions brim with inconsistencies. They denounce the convention called by the Democratic executive committee and at the same time urge people to attend a one horse thing they have set for the 24th at Oxford to nominate a candidate for Probate Judge. They claim that the county is with them on the court house matter, but are afraid to go into a convention when Anniston and Oxford will have twenty-six delegates to Jacksonville's eight, to start with. In professing to believe that one man in the county can control the delegations from the beats, they confess themselves without influence. The fact is they squirm because the county convention may block a little game they once played and want to play again.

In order that our readers may know something of the feeling engendered by the strike on the Gould system of roads, we print the adress of the Knights of Labor. It reads like the language of desperate men. Following it, fires were started on railroad property in East St. Louis and much loss to the roads was the result. Only the presence of a strong military force prevented a general conflagration and sack and pillage. The strikers remained determined, but are cowed by the presence of the military.

The duplicity of Gould toward the working men was a policy as short sighted as it was dishonest. It has resulted in setting rampant a spirit that is the essence of lawlessness. By it and through it the whole country suffers, capital has been made timid and the wheels of progress set back no little. Gould should have accepted the offer of arbitration. When he refused it he deliberately became responsible for the result. It is a poor cause that rejects so fair an offer as that of arbitration. When one side to a controversy refuses it, the presumption is that that side is in the wrong. As the matter stands, the country, while it cannot approve the incendiarism and lawlessness that has prevailed in St. Louis, will hold Gould responsible for the loss of life and property which has followd his haughty rejection of a fair proposition to arbitrate.

Among the deputies who fired on the strikers in St. Louis some days ago appear the names of Thos. Hewlett and W. F. Laird. Hewlett is well known in this country as a former U. S. Marshal. W. F. Laird it is thought is Frank Laird a young man raised in Jacksonville and who was a close friend of Hewlett's when he (Hewlett) operated in this country. The deputies killed several of the strikers and themselves narrowly escaped with their lives. They surrendered to the authorities of St. Louis and at last accounts were in prison awaiting an investigation of the affair. The deputies claim that they were stoned and shot at before they opened fire. The testimony taken at the coroner's inquest showed that they fired without just provocation—that the strikers did nothing more than jeer at them. Several men and one woman were killed in the fray.

There is such a thing as intemperate temperance, and the cause of temperance has most to fear from its over zealous friends. Good men who may be opposed to bar rooms will "quit the drive" when it comes to a crusade which seeks to interfere with the social privileges of people.

Madison county has instructed for Dawson. First Franklin instructed for McKleroy; then Barbor instructed for Clayton and now Madison has instructed for Dawson. So honors are easy all around. Meantime geinal and capable Tom Seay has friends in every county and is the second choice of the friends of all the candidates.

THE DOCTORS PUZZLED.

The Preachers Ask Them Not to Drink Wine.

ANNISTON, Ala., April 14.—The State Medical association discussed the question of vital statistics last night. This forenoon Drs. Love and Taliaferro were introduced to the body, and invited to seats with them. Dr. Love complimented the Alabama as one of the leading associations of the states. The ministers of Anniston, through Rev. Wallace Carnahan, requested the association to forego the use of wine at a banquet to be tendered them tomorrow night by the committee of arrangements, which request provoked considerable discussion, as it placed the association in the dilemma of being discourteous to the ministers of a dry county, which is endeavoring by legal steps to prevent the obtainment of license to sell liquors, or discourtesy to the committee of arrangements, who have been appealed to in vain by a large majority of citizens to leave the wine off the bill of fare. The association decided first to refer to a committee, with instruction to report favorably which action was afterward rescinded. A motion was then made and passed to answer the appeal favorably at once. This was reconsidered and tabled. Finally it was referred back to the committee of arrangements, who rejected it. The association, at its afternoon session, appointed a committee to write a courteous reply to the ministers.

THE NEWS OF IT.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

One of the most irritating features of the prohibition controversy now raiging throughout the land is the wide and irreconcilable differences of opinion among good men as to the duty of Christians in the premises.

When the problem is viewed from a strictly Christain standpoint, the fight waxes hotter. When pious men and learned men honestly differ upon a question of moral reform there is no limit to their fanaticism, bitterness and misdirected zeal.

These reflections have been suggested by the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbot's exposition, in the Christain Union of the International Sunday school lesson for April 18, on the miracle of the marriage feast at Cana. Many persons believe, of course, that our Saviour used wine as a beverage. They believe, also, that he turned water into wine at the marriage feast, but they have been informed, by writers who have studied the subject deeply, that the wine referred to was unfermented. What are ignorant laymen to believe when this view is flatly contradicted by Christain teachers who are just as honest and just as well informed as those who take the other side of the question. To return to Dr. Abbott's article. The doctor brings out the fact that in the time of Christ there were not only advocates of total abstinence, but even supporters of a prohibition policy. It is alleged that neither movement received the slightest indorsement from Jesus. Yet there must have been drunkenness in those days. In Rome at that time there was a modified prohibitory law forbidding women to drink wine. Then, there were the Essenes, pledged to total abstinence, to say nothing of John the Baptist, who was a total abstainer under the vow of the Nazarite. All this brings out in strong contrast the policy of our Saviour, which Dr. Abbott thus summarizes:

"This was not the method of Jesus. He lived in an age of total abstinence society, and did not join them. He empasized the distinction between his method and that of John the Baptist by saying that John came neither eating or drinking; the Son of Man came eating and drinking. He condemned drunkenness, but never in a single instance lifted up his voice in condemnation of drinking. On the contrary, he commenced his public ministry by making, by a miracle, wine in considerable quantity, and this apparently only to add to the joyous festivities of a wedding. He apparently used wine customarily if not habitually, and before all the world, and he left as a legacy and example for his followers a sacred use of wine in the most solumn service of His Church."

If such expositions are to accompany our Sunday school lessons, it goes without saying that teachers and pupils will not be very strongly confirmed in the prohibition faith. It is due, however, to Dr. Abbot to say that while he holds that "fermented liquors cannot be treated as a product of the devil, to be tabooed and driven out of existence, nor the making and drinking of pure wine as a sin to be prohibited and condemned at all times under all circumstances," he at the same time believes that the laws of Christian love seems to require of Christians a general abstinence from wine-drinking as a means of social entertainment or personal luxury. Still, he modifies even this position, by holding it a question for each individual to decide for himself, no one else having a right to pass judgment upon that decision. He looks forward, he says, to the time when pure wine will be used by society with no more evil results than follow the use of tea and coffee.

(From the address of Dr. F. M. Peterson, President of the Alabama State Medical Association, read in Anniston April 13th, 1886.)

"I formulate the following propositions as the result of my professional experience:

Alcoholic liquors are never necessary in health; they are always injurious in health in any dose. They are never necessary as a food for men, any more than they are for lower animals. They do not warm and give strength to the body, but diminish both. They do not increase the powers of resistance and the endurance of mental and physical torture. They do not increase mental vigor. They do not give tone to the heart, but the accelerated action, which is always temporary, is followed by a reduction of tanecidi. They may for a short time, increase the new extension, but are followed by relaxation and debility, and the nervous system is more quickly worn out under their influence. They build up no tissue in the body, but in some cases they cause a deposition of adipose tissue, which is a source of weakness and destruction to the heart and to all other muscles. They are specially harmful to the brain workers who take but little exercise. They produce a tendency to apoplexy and paralysis. They are never necessary nor in the least beneficial in a psycological condition of the system in any quantity, either large or small, but are often beneficial in disease, in which they should be prescribed by an expert. As medicine, they are often very important, while every possible restriction should be thrown around their improper sale and use, physicians should be able to obtain them as readily and easily as quinine or other leading articles of the materia medica."

OF

JACKSONVILLE.

This property, know as the old Stevenson Mill, has recently been thoughly overhauled and renewed, is now prepared to serve the public. Good out-turn of excellent flour and corn meal.

In connection with the Mill a cotton gin house has been erected, furnished with new and excellent Improved Taylor Gin. Cotton ginned for the twentieth.

The undersigned has ten years experience as a miller in some of the best mills of the State and will guarantee satisfaction to patrons. Give the new mill and gin a trial.

A team will be run between Jacksonville and the Mill, and for every 56 lbs of corn 48 lbs of meal will be returned.

CROW BROS.

From all indications all four gentlemen in the race for Governor will receive some support from Calhoun. Who will get the highest number of delegates is a matter of considerable doubt and will very much depend upon the temper of the Convention.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee has two scars on his person—one won in the service of the United States, the other in Confederate States service. He has two servants—one is named Abraham Lincoln, the other Jefferson Davis. Can his loyalty be doubted?

If the Knights of Labor had listened to the wise counsels of Grand Master Powderly there would have been no riot and bloodshed at Fort Worth and no deaths and incendiary fires at East St. Louis. He has acted with wisdom moderation and justice. It would be better for the country if all large organizations had as wise men at their head. He is worth a million of the low demagogues who will seek to gain favor with an excited body of men by appealing to their passions and urging them to violations of law, which lead at least to the taking of life and destruction of property.—Montgomery Advettiser

OBITUARY.

On the 7th of April Mrs. McRenolds passed into the sleep of death without one struggle. It had for many days before the final hour been her earnest prayer that this mercy should be granted her. It was in such a signal manner that her friends rejoice at the recollection of it. For the informa tion of her large circle of devoted friends it is well to record some of the incidents of her dying bed. For weeks Mrs. McRenolds had warned her friends the end was very near, and for hours would talk with her usual eloquence and profound philosophy of death and wondrous future. Physically she said she found act of passing out of life rather pleasent in the sensation she experienced. The pain was in the spiritual struggle, in the commotion of ideas, in the want of perfect assurance and repose. Mrs. McRenolds' last moments in the sublime christian faith, and heroism that distinguished, must cause the heart of the believer to glow with renewed ferver and hope, and the heart of the doubter to look to its supports. We speak of these manifestations in preference to the mention of other things, which all will remember when our dear friend's name is mentioned. Now in the hour of bereavement she has left many relatives and friends to mourn her death. But, by her pious life and triumphant death she points all "to the lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." Mrs. McRenolds was at her death 93 years 7 months of age.

The Senatorial canvention for the counties of Jackson, Marshal and DeKalb was held at Scottsboro on Saturday last and Hon. J. L. Sheffield was unanimously nominated to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator Foster. In times past Col. Sheffield was a tower of strength to the Democratic party in Alabama, and in spite of his straying off a few years ago to Independentism his Democratic home county, Marshall, always gave him a warm support. He is now back in the fold and has been for some time, and no man will do more to cure disaffection in the mountain counties than he will.—Montgomery Advertiser.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.

CROSS PLAINS.

Rev. Z. A. Parker of the North Alabama Conference, lectured on temperance at the Methodist church last Monday night.

We are having beautiful weather again and the farmers stay closely at home improving every moment to the best advantage. Times are dull in town.

Our townsman, Mr. John H. Hall, who has lately been over the county, reports the political pot hot and boiling over in some localities. So far as our immediate section is concerned, everything is calm and serene. Our people don't fuss and squabble much, but they always vote right. This much can be said to their credit.

The Presbytery of this district convenes at the Cumberland Presbyterian church here to-day. We understand that quite a number of delegates are expected.

Senator Alexander was in town last Tuesday.

Trains on the E. & W. road came through for the first time since the freshet, last Tuesday.

Hon. Murdock McBride and family of Buchanan, Ga., are visiting relatives in town.

Dr. J. L. Baker, of White Plains, was in town last Wednesday.

The town marshal has a force on the streets and is filling up the gulleys caused by the late freshet.

After lingering with us a long while, old winter has departed for a season. The trees are putting forth their beautiful green foliage and the birds are warbling their melodies all the day. We feel thankful that the long, cold winter is over.

OHATCHIE.

OHATCHIE, April 14.—It is now sixteen days since we had a mail. We know nothing of the outside world, only an occasional rumor, that some other section has suffered more than we with flood and overflow. In '84 we thought that the high water mark would hardly be reached again in a decade or two, but '86 has reached up 3 feet 5 inches above, and we have come to the conclusion that there is no high water mark.

While we have had a good deal of fencing to wash down, we have certainly had a fine coat of settlings, say from 3 to 8 inches deep, which will add to the productiveness of the already rich bottoms of Tallasahatchie and Ohatchie creeks. Of course the oat and wheat crop on the bottoms are a failure. But the farmer is not only suffering. The E. & W. R. R. is considerably damaged. Trestles washed out, track washed up, spans of bridges gone, etc. But this will all be replaced in a few days and we hope our communications with the world will not be cut off again soon.

Our county bridges are all gone or in a crippled condition. We hope that our Commissioners have the mettle to repair where they can and build new ones where they are needed. A great many of us favor an iron bridge at the junction of Tallasahatchie and Ohatchie creeks. In the end it would be economy. There has been money enough spent there building and repairing that bridge to have put in an iron one, that would have been good to-day and many years hence.

Good news, a telegram tells us we will have a mail to-day.

MERRELTON.

April's here with its smiles and showers,
Lovely birds and fragrant flowers;
The cow bells tones and the plow boys songs,
Are floating on the breezes all along.

We are just recovering from the ravages of the freshet. Corn is coming up nicely, and cotton seed are now being planted. Oats, good stand and looking well, wheat sorry.

Uncle Ben Nabors and Dr. E. J. Read leave to-day for Texas. Uncle Ben, on a visit, the Doctor for Fort Worth, to practice medicine.

Capt. E. F. Crook called to see us this week, gave your reporter a hearty shake, of course he did. Capt. L. D. Miller is a wide awake democrat, and would make the people a good representative. He could stand on a platform that would represent the entire county.

We hope to see Judge Box nominated and re-elected.

I want to tell you something, and its not a fish tale nor a rat tale, neither is it a Georgia snake tale. We saw here the other day a peculiar shaped egg, it was about two and a half inches long and rounded at the ends. The size of a turkey egg in circumference. It was broken in our presence and found to contain a white and yolk as common, and in addition it contained another perfectly shaped egg, with shell, white and yolk, and about the size of an ordinary pullet egg. Thus we have a hen laying two perfect eggs at the same time. Mrs. R., killed that fifty dollar hen because she said it was a sign of bad luck to the family. I certainly would have kept that hen. She had laid four or five of the same kind of eggs.

The Democrats of Pennsylvania talk of running Mr. Powderly, Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, for Governor. The fusion might elect him, and the Democratic is undoubtedly the party most in sympathy with labor, but it is at least doubtful whether the making of a political party organization out of the Order would not be detrimental to it in the end.—Rome Courier.

Heno Tea for sale at Bondurant's.

The saloon keepers of Greensboro are talking about refusing drinks to the supporters of prohibition in the late election. But we imagine that as they obtained a license to serve the public, they have no more right to refuse a drink to a prohibitionist who offers money to pay for it, and to whom the law does not prohibit them to sell, than a railroad company have to refuse to carry a passenger who offers pay for his fare. We make this suggestion for the comfort of the thirsty prohibitionists of Greensboro.—Rome Courier.

No Woman.

A MAN WHO SUFFERED MENTAL AND PHYSICAL AGONY EIGHT YEARS PROCLAIMS HIS HAPPINESS.

Mental agony is dreadful, but when that and physical ailment combine, it is simply terrible. Such was the condition of Geo. W. Frampton, of Huntingdon, W. Va., for eight years. He was a sufferer of necroses—that is, the leg bone at the ankle was inflamed and mortified, which caused running sores. He says: "Pieces of bone the size of a silver three cent piece came out of the sores on my leg. The discharge from the sores was almost continual, and I was unable to walk. For eight years I have been doctoring. I had been under the treatment of a physician at Newport, Ky., for a year; another at Burlington, O., attended me for three years, and a doctor here at Huntingdon worked with me for a long time. None of them did me any good, and they all finally said my case was hopeless. A few months ago I commenced trying PERUNA, and now I am well. I can walk as good as anybody, and have perfect use of my limbs."

Mr. Alf. Lusk, Wooster, Ohio, writes: "DR. HARTMAN, Columbus, O. I have been a great sufferer from that dreaded disease, chronic catarrh of the stomach. I have thoroughly tried your MANALIN, and it has done me more good ten-fold than all the doctors' prescriptions, and I have used legions of them.

Mr. Edgar Harte, Smeltzer P. O., Elk county, Pa., writes: "I have bought several bottles of your PERUNA, and find it to be of great benefit. I also gave it to some of my friends; they experienced the same result."

Mr. L. R. Wollen, 45 and 47 Ross street, Pittsburgh, Pa, writes: "I am taking PERUNA with good results, and can highly recommend it to all. I have applied at the different drug stores for one of your books. They claim they have none on hand at present. Please do me the favor to send me one."

W. W. Russell, druggist, Canonsburg, Pa., writes: I handle your medicine, PERUNA. I have sold imme[illegible] of it, and consider it a staple [illegible] have a great many customers [illegible] there is no medicine like it for a [illegible] for building up the system. I recommend it as a safe and reliable remedy."

Calista Fishel, Malvern, Ohio, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending the use of PERUNA and MANALIN to any one afflicted with any form of lung or bronchial trouble. I have been for some time afflicted with a very troublesome cough, but a few bottles of PERUNA entirely cured me"

A CLEAR HEAD.

"One year ago I was induced to try AYER'S PILLS as a remedy for Indigestion, Constipation, and Headache, from which I had long been a great sufferer. Commencing with a dose of five Pills, I found their action easy, and obtained prompt relief. In continuing their use, a single Pill taken after dinner, daily, has been all the medicine I have required. AYER'S PILLS have kept my system regular and my head clear, and benefited me more than all the medicines ever before tried. Every person similarly afflicted should know their value.

BY LOVE RECALLED.

"I am giving you a treasure, my son. Why do you hesitate? Surely you have no other love?"

The sick man lifted himself on his pillow and looked eargerly, fearfully, in the face above him.

It was a haughty yet frank countenance—a face which mingled strength of will with pride, and tenderness with truth, yet had enough poetic fire in it to make the request his father made of Clarence Livingstone a very hard one for him to grant.

For Elmar Livingstone, dying, remembered the wrongs done by him "in the days of nature," and, recalling a lucky venture, which by enriching him had beggared another asked his son to take that other's orphan daughter for his wife.

Clarence knew nothing of the hour of temptation which saw his father's fall—knew of no reason more powerful than Christian charity which had induced his father to adopt the penniless girl when she was left alone in the world; and, full of fair dreams for his future, he shrank from a marriage with one whom he had rarely seen, in his years of study and travel, and who was to him only a shy, awkward child—no more.

"I have no love," he answered. "Why do you ask this of me, dear father? Make any provisions you wish for Miss Monroe; dower her as richly as you choose; but leave her, as I pray you to leave me—free. I have no love for her nor she for me; we are strangers. Let us remain so, lest in mating us as you would, you do both lives injury."

"Stoop down, Clarence. She loves you; you have been her hero, her idol, for years. I have fostered her idolatry, for I have wished to atone for the wrong I did her; and there is but one way—to make her the wife of my only son. My boy, you will not refuse to make my last hour easier?"

"Father, I would purchase your peace with my life, were it possible. But there is surely some other way than this, and I will find it. What is the wrong of which you speak? I must know it since I am to atone; and trust me, dear father, though it take my life, I will not fail to make the atonement a complete one."

"There is no other way," moaned the sick man; "and since you bid me unseal my lips, I will tell you how I gained my wealth, and planted my life with aloes of remorse, my son. My cordial! The story is not long, but very hard to tell—very hard, my boy—for it will make you blush for your father."

And, while the summer night closed in grey and spectral, Clarence Livingstone, listened to his father's story of a credulous friend betrayed and wealth snatched from a too-trusting hand, bent his young head in a humiliation wholly new and wholly intolerable to him.

Without, in the clustering shadows of the veranda, drooping like a lily on its stem, stood Lena Monroe, drinking in the tale, with pulses beating as strongly as those in the breast of her Clarance, in her own girlish bosom pain as keen, regret as bitter; for she had loved Elmar Livingstone as a second father, and felt the sin of the dying as keenly as the wrong done the dead.

Besides, another pang was hers for Clarence had begged his father not to ask him to be more than a stranger to her!

The story was told, and the old man lay panting on his pillow, his face damp with dews of coming death: and the girl peering into the chamber with wide pain-darkened eyes, saw Clarence on his knees beside the couch.

"Forgive me, my son; I did the wrong for you," came hoarsely to her from the drawn lips of the dying. "Make her your wife, and all will be well. She has grown dear to me as a daughter; and, my boy, she loves you!"

A hot flush crept into her face at the low broken words, but it died instantly, for Clarence was replying, and she bent her face to her hands as she listened.

"She may be all you say," came in the clear tones of the young man, "but she is no more to me than a flower which I have no wish to gather. If she loves me it is with a childish love, which will not linger. Rest content, father, she shall not suffer through your—your regard for me. I will give back all the ill-gotten wealth. But I will keep my freedom; I cannot sell it, father."

"What do you mean?"

"That I will make over to Miss Monroe every acre that you leave me—every farthing that is due her. Nay, not one dissenting word," as the old man strove to speak. "Let me keep my honesty, and make my own way with clean hands, if empty ones. I would not offer my hand to your ward now, even though I loved her, which I do not."

"Clarence, my son!"

"Father, say no more, but trust to me, now you shall sleep."

The girl, shaken by hushed sobs, turned from the silvery night, and glided into the house like a shadow.

Ere morning dawned, the soul of Elmar Livingston had gone where human eye could not follow its flight, free of the clogging clay, to its judgment.

And, as untraceable, it would seem, as the spirit of the man who had wronged her, yet guarded her youth, Lena Monroe had also gone with with the night, leaving no token behind her, bidding no farewell.

* * * * * *

Six years later the accident occurred on the midnight train which filled the hospital at G——— with moaning life, or crushed and shapeless bodies in which was left scarcely strength to sigh.

The nures went from pallet to pallet, holding bandages, aiding to bind up great gaping wounds, shrinking from the sight of severed arms, but putting personal feeling away before the great needs that met them.

One nurse, with sweet blue eyes, tender and pitiful, gave a low cry at last as the surgeon, whose assistant she was, paused beside a cot on which a young man lay unconscious.

"You know him?" the surgeon asked her, regarding her blanched face curiously.

She bent her head in silence, a sob bursting from her lips.

Half an hour later, he lay there under her eyes, cold and still, with strips of linen across his bosom, a broken, bandaged arm, and court-plaster holding together the red edges of a gash that ran perilously near the temple, and she knelt beside the cot, with an ashen pain in her young face, as she stroked back the hair from his forehead.

"After six years!" she whispered softly. "Oh, my love, after six years, during which I have striven to forget your face, to see it so cold and white! But you shall be more tenderly cared for than though you had a sister near you; and when you are well enough to know me, we part again."

For the crushed and wounded man was Clarence Livingston, the kneeling nurse the girl to whom he had refused his dying father to make offer of his hand—Lena Monroe.

Long days and nights followed each other, and Clarence waked up from his stupor to mad delerium, in which he told his patient nurse of which she already knew, and much besides—told her of the wealth he had vowed never to touch, lying in his solicitor's hands for the girl he could not trace; of struggle and trial he had gone through, which made her blue eyes dim.

But he said no word to any woman whose love was his guerdon, and she was glad that was spared her.

Once in a midnight hour, when the ward was silent and the lights low about them, he suddenly put forth his injured hand and took one of hers, his eyes, brilliant with fever, were fastened on her face.

"My father loved you as a daughter," he said softly, "and told me you loved me; but I did not believe, and I wanted him to leave me free. Child, why do you fly from me? Do you fear I would learn to love you?"

She bent her face, and tears flowed gently down her cheeks.

It was delirium, she knew; but she, who had been unable to forget, remembered that long hour in the early night too vividly not to again feel some of its pain as she heard.

It was weeks later when, after a long sleep, he wakened to full consiousness one morning at day dawn.

The lights were low, the scenes were spectral, as his languid eyes turned from object to object.

At last they rested on the quiet figure of his nurse, asleep in her chair, and there they lingered.

How sweet and girlish the weary face was, under the stiff cap! and sad, too, as though this life was not such as her heart yearned for. And the hands lying idle in her lap were so fair and white and slender, dainty enough to be decked with gems, fair enough to be kissed, but too frail and white for tearing of linen and lifting of dying hands, he told himself.

Then a sort of memory came to him of those soft fingers on his brow when it had seemed burning; of that sweet face bent over him in his delirium, when he had taken it for the face of an angel.

It was midday when he waked again and found her bending over him, and this time he recognized her.

"Lena!" he cried trying to put out his hand.

"You know me?" she said softly, turning paler.

"I know you, and I want to tell you." he whispered faintly but with a warm glow in his eyes, "you are an an heiress; there is no need for you to do this work. My father——"

"I know it all," she broke in; "and that was why I left Lynn as I did. Did you think I would beggar you? And your father had been kind to me. I will not go back; I will not take a farthing of that money; it is yours."

"Then share it with me," he said softly. "I would not ask you once, because I did not love you. I do now, because love has grown in my heart for you in an hour. Lena, you hve nursed me back to life from what must have been nearly death. Will you learn to care enough for me to share my future?"

"You love me?" she said incredulously. "When did you learn that lesson?"

"At day-dawn, while I watched you asleep in your chair, ere I knew who you were. Lena, do not doubt me!"

"I do not." She knelt at the cot and put back his hair as he had dreamed she did while he was unconscious. "And I will own to you, Clarence, that I have loved you always—since I first saw you. That was why I fled from Lynn."

"And now you will come back?"

"For the same reason," she smiled, although her lips were tremulous. "Love sent me forth then; love recalls me now; and I will share the possession with you which were neither honestly yours or mine, but can belong fairly to us together. Yes, Clarence I will go back."

Rev. S. L. Russell has a confused idea that he was snubbed by the august Senator, and may be he was. The temptation to summarily dismiss a gentleman who should announce himself on hand to "study up the government" would be great to any Congressman who had any business on hand that needed attending to.

"One day last week Engineer Frawley was running his engine in advance of a passenger train. At Carthage, on the A. G. S. road, a trestle over a small stream had been washed away. The engine plunged over and was buried under the waters of the swollen stream. The firemen jumped and swam out. Frawley jumped and was carried rapidly down the stream. He grasped a signal flag as he jumped and held it in his teeth while he was swimming. He pulled ashore and ran exhausted some distance to save the passenger train. He could not make a light, the matches in his pockets were wet. He collected a lot of sticks and rocks and threw them at the engine. The thunder and roar of water drowned his voice. He succeeded, however, in making the engineer understand, and the train was saved from a disastrous wreck."

TALLADEGA COUNTY.

Hon. Cecil Browne declines for reason of business to become a candidate for the Legislature.

The Talladega Home is apparently elated over the outcome of the Barbour county convention.

Mr. J. K. Elliott will not run for the Legislature in Talladega. His beat will present J. M. Thornton to the convention.

The Talladega Advance is in no way cast down by the "Barbour calamity" but thus carols:

We've given the bounce to Dawson,
And Seay we've started back,
Clayton hangs his head in woe
And Bragg is off the track:
And if any one should ask you
Why we're full of so much joy,
You can tell him our next Governor
Will be John M. McKleroy.

The Talladega Home has a fine cabinet of Indian relics. The late flood washed up many and added largely to the cabinet. Among the articles presented to the Home is a ten gallon pot, almost perfect, once used by the Creeks for cooking "sophky" in.

TALLADEGA, April 18.—A careful painstaking estimate reduces the county's losses by the recent flood at least one-half. The land was not washed so badly as at first thought, and the farmers have gone to work with a will to repair damages.

POLITICAL POINTS.

The Democratic Executive Committee of Shelby county, which met last Saturday, adopted the primary election plan for selecting delegates to the County Convention, and to vote for nominees of the party. Whenever a candidate gets a majority of the votes cast, the County Convention merely ratifies the prefrence of the voters, but in the event no candidate receives a majority, then the convention nominates. The campaign in Shelby promises to be a lively one. The primary elections is fixed for the 22d of May and the County Convention May 28th.

TEXT OF THE BILL.

By Which Ireland is to be Governed.

LONDON, April 15.—The House of Commons having voted permission to Gladstone to introduce his bill for the better government of Ireland, the official text of the measure was to-day made public. It debars the proposed Irish Parliament from legislation concerning the status, dignity or succession of the crown; from passing laws affecting peace or war, the army or navy, militia or volunteers, or defense of the realms, and from taking any action concerning the foreign or colonial relations of the empire. Among other subjects placed beyond the power of the Irish government to deal with are dignities, titles and honors, the prizes and booties of war, offenses against the law of nations, copyright, patents, mails, telegraphs, coinage, weights and measures. The bill further forbids Ireland from doing anything to establish or endow any religion and to disturb or confer any privileges on account of religious belief, and also forbids it to impose custom or excise duties.

The Queen is given the same prerogative to prorogue and dissolve the Parliament as she has with respect to the Imperial Parliament. To Her Majesty also is reserved the power to erect forts, arsenals, magazines, and dockyards. The Irish legislature is permitted to impose taxes to be paid into the consolidated fund to defray the expenses of the public service in Ireland, subject to the provisions of the Irish land purchase bill, but is not to either raise or appropriate revenues without the Queen's recommendation, made through the Lord Lieutenant. Church property in Ireland is to be the property of the Irish people subject to existing charges. The executive government of Ireland is vested by the Queen in the Lord Lieutenant, who will govern with the aid of such officers and council as she may appoint, and will give or withhold the Queen's assent to such bills as the Irish legislature may pass.

It is the Best.

The Journal, published at Lanesboro, Minn., has the following editorial in its columns on January 1, 1886:

Our readers will have notice in our columns the advertisements of the Swift Specific Co., of Atlanta, Ga. We are exceedingly chary of committing ourselves in recommendation of any patent medicine but we do not hesitate to state our belief that this medicine has proved itself to be one of the most valuable blood purifiers and tonics known. It is now manufactured by an organized company and on an immense scale. Messrs. Lamar, Rankin & Lamar, Atlanta, Macon, and Albany Georgia., who brought it before the public and are still the principal owners, are wholesale and retail druggists of the highest character and standing. We know them well by reputation, and when in that city the pleasure of personal acquaintance with Mr. Lamar, the Macon member of the firm. If the fact that it is guaranteed by men of the highest personal and professional character, that it has had a wonderful rapid introduction and sale, and that it has the confidence and firm support of thousands who have used it count for something, Swift's Specific offers those assurances of its value.

STONEWALL JACKSON.

How the Confederate Hero's Life Went Out.

About daylight upon the Sunday of his death, Mrs. Jackson informed him that his recovery was very doubtful, and that it was better that he should be prepared for the worst. He was silent for a moment and then said:

"It will be infinite gain to be translated to Heaven." He advised his wife, in the event of his death, to return to her father's house, and added:

"You have a kind and good father, but there is no one so kind and good as your Heavenly Father."

He still expressed a hope that he would recover, but requested his wife, in case he should die, to have him buried in Lexington, in the Valley of Virginia. His exhaustion increased so rapidly that at 11 o'clock Mrs. Jackson knelt by his bed and told him that before the sun went down he would be with his Saviour.

He replied: "O no! You are frightened, my child. Death is not so near. I may get well."

She fell upon the bed weeping bitterly, and again told him, amid her tears and sobs, that the physicians declared that there was no longer any hope of his recovery. After a moment's pause he asked her to call the family physician.

"Doctor," said he, as the physician entered the room. "Anna informs me that you told her I am to die to-day. Is it so?"

When he was answered in the affirmative, he turned his sunken eyes toward the ceiling and gazed for a moment or two as if in intense thought, then looked at the friends about him and said softly:

"Very good.—very good; it is all right."

Then turning to his heart-broken wife he tried to comfort her. He told her there was much he desired to tell, but he was too weak for the undertaking.

Col. Pemberton came into the room about 1 o'clock. General Jackson asked him:

"Who is preaching at the headquarters to-day.

When told in reply that the whole army was praying for him, he replied:

"Thank God! they are very kind." Then he added: "It is the Lord's day, my wish is fulfilled. I have always desired to die on Sunday.

Slowly his mind began to fail and wander, and he frequently talked in his delirium as if in command of his army on the field of battle. He would give orders to his aids in his old way, and then the scene was changed. He was at the mess table in conversation with members of his staff; now with his wife and child; now at prayers with his military family. Occasional lucid intervals of his mind would occur, and during one of them the physician offered the dying man some brandy and water, but he declined it, saying:

"It will only delay my departure and do no good; I want to preserve my mind to the last, if possible."

A few moments before the end arrived the dying warrior cried out in his delirium:

"Order A. P. Hill to prepare for action!" "Pass the infantry to the front rapidly." "Tell Major Hawks———" then his voice was silent and the sentence remained unfinished.

An instant later a smile of ineffable sweetness and purity spread over his calm, pale face, and then looking upward and slightly raising his hands he said quietly and with an expression of relief:

"Let us cross the river and rest under the shade of the trees."

And then without a sign of struggle or pain his spirit passed away. Was death ever so sweet and peaceful?—Was ever rest so anticipated, or Heaven so revealed? —Detroit Free Press.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Judicial Convention!

Notice is hereby given that the Democratic and Conservative party of the Seventh Judicial Circuit, composed of the counties of Calhoun, Clay, Cleburne, Jefferson, Shelby, St. Clair and Talladega, will hold their Convention at Anniston, Wednesday, June 9th, 1886, at 12 o'clock, M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit.

The counties will be entitled to the following representation:

Calhoun	21
Clay	8
Cleburne	6
Jefferson	18
Shelby	12
St. Clair	8
Talladega	10

By authority of the Judicial Executive Committee.

T. S. PLOWMAN,
Chairman.

The strike continues in the North and West. One is no sooner over with than another begins. The restlessness of labor all over the country is a manifestation that prudent men should not disregard. The greatest danger that threatens this government is the coming struggle of the classes.

In the election Monday every citizen should lay down a partisan spirit and ambition to beat one man or one ticket with another, and vote alone with reference as to what is for the best and highest interest of his town and his neighbors. The ballot is a sacred trust to be employed by men for the benefit of their country.

Saturday parties in Oxford will hold their mass meeting to nominate a Probate Judge to beat out the balance of the county and to pass resolutions upon that subject of ancient history once called the court house question. If the mass-meeting could take a peep into the future and see the returns of the August election, it would no doubt be a blue mass meeting.

The idea that a lot of fourth rate bar rooms for the sale of health-destroying concoctions which pass for wine, brandies and whiskies mark a town as progressive, is altogether out of date. Atlanta, notably the most progressive town in the South, abolished bar rooms by popular vote, and now as we write Richmond, Lynchburg, Petersburg, and other cities in Virginia are making preparation to follow the example of Atlanta, and but a few days ago Rhode Island abolished bar-rooms by constitutional amendment. In a few years it will be the surest mark of a little back woods town to find a dirty bar room stuck up in it.

The prospects are that the coming Democratic county convention will be the largest and most numerously attended convention the county has had for many years. The beat meetings will be well attended and the people will send up good men to represent them. The way to avoid trickery in the convention and the control of a few is for the people to turn out at the beat meetings and send men who will represent their views. Nobody wants to take any advantage of the people in this matter. The convention was called in order to give the people control of their county affairs and enable them to put up against combinations men of who sought to profit by their confusion and a dissipation of the strength among many candidates. The people have absolute control of the convention and can shape its action as they may wish.

The election of a town council for Jacksonville does not near settle the question as to whether liquor can or cannot be sold in the town. Therefore we deem it not for the interest of the town to make it an issue in the town election Monday.

It would be rather bad on the town to go "wet" and incur all the moral effects of such action as it would affect out school and other interests and then miss the supposed material benefit arising from the opening of bar rooms. Let us not cross the bridge until we get to it. When whisky comes into the county under the law, will be time enough to decide as to what Jacksonville should do under the circumstances.

The same line of reason will apply to the other side. There is no good reason why the town should be bound to a policy of prohibition, irrespective of what other towns may do or what outlying territory about Jacksonville may do.

Let us elect a good council from all the names offered and leave them to deal with the whole question. The town has other and higher interests than that single one.

There is not a man in town but who will acknowledge that the State Normal School here has been of incalculable benefit to the town. Its best advertisement abroad has been the fact that it was located in a town and county in which no bar rooms existed. People abroad send their children here the more freely because we have no bar rooms to entice and mislead the boys. To vote liquor into the town will be a direct and almost crushing blow to the institution, and will furnish the enemies of Jacksonville a good argument why the State should remove the school to another locality.

What a swap it would be to exchange this State institution for a dirty bar room!

The result of the election, under the local option law, in Choccolocco, don't show very much that the prohibition sentiment in Calhoun is weakening. The bar room is almost a thing of the past. This thing of the State licensing men to deal out adulterated liquors which destroy health is incompatible with the strong practical sense of the present day. People will doubtless always have liquors in this country, but a future day will see it furnished them by men directly responsible to the government, and the spirits they deal out under restrictions will bear the seal of the Government as to its purity.

Local Option Election.

When the decision of the Supreme Court in the Talladega prohibition case became known and the prospect was that liquor would be sold in Calhoun, application was made under the local option law, by citizens of Choccolocco and adjacent country for an election on the question of prohibition or no prohibition. The election was held the 20th and resulted in fifty-four for prohibition to ten against prohibition. The result of this election disproves the oft made assertion that prohibition has been losing ground in this county. Over five to one for temperance is a pretty good showing for that cause.

Jacksonville has been sorely pressed by enemies for the past two years. She is just beginning to see daylight ahead. Do not let us give our enemies an advantage over us by rushing into the arms of the bartender even before it becomes a certainty that the county will be forced to take liquor. Sufficient for the day is the evil thereof. We can elect a council unpledged and leave the matter with them to do what is best under the circumstances.

The Probate Judge of Lee county refused to issue license for the sale of whisky in Opelika. The parties who had applied for license resorted to mandamus proceedings to compel him to do so. The case was tried before Judge Cobb and Judge Cobb refused to order the Probate Judge to issue license. The case has gone to the Supreme Court.

The Chambers Tribune closes a rasping criticism of State Superintendent Palmer, for his "expensive zeal" in telegraphing for reports from Commissioners Courts as to the accounts of county superintendents seven days before the law compelled them to be made in this expressive way:

"And yet his name is Solomon!"

It is a great mistake to suppose that the sale of liquor in a town helps its trade. The depression in business in the towns of Calhoun springs from the panic and will continue until another crop is made and applies to all towns in the South both where it is and is not sold. The facts brought out in the Atlanta election showed that those towns in Georgia where liquor was not sold had stood the panic best. The money spent for liquor is just that much withdrawn from the regular avenues of trade. The whisky traffic never did and never can create a dollar of wealth. Its tendency is to create thriftlessness and it is destructive of habits of industry by which wealth is created. Money is only made by work. Money spent for bread and meat is well spent, because bread and meat sustain the man who works. Every cent spent for whisky is worse than lost, because it leaves that much less to be spent for food to sustain labor by which wealth is created.

The idea that men will come long distances here to trade because they can get a drink of whisky is all stuff. Less trouble and expense would get them plenty of liquor from a distance laid down at their houses. On the contrary ladies who can come here now from the country alone to make their purchases would not do so if liquor was sold here. Looked at from every standpoint, moral, material and social, we can see no good result to follow the introduction of bar rooms.

Thos. Ellis, who gained an unenviable notoriety about Birmingham as editor of the Hornet, a new sensational paper recently started there, created a genuine sensation Wednesday by killing his mistress in a disreputable house and afterwards trying to kill himself, or pretending that he wanted to kill himself. He once before attempted suicide, and is doubtless a crank with homicidal tendencies whose "removal" would be beneficial to society.

If there be gentlemen in Calhoun who think the short cut to office is by the whisky route, they may learn some valuable facts by studying the returns of the Choccolocco election. Five to one against whisky will not be very encouraging to them.

The State Convention will meet on the 9th of June. This being the day fixed for the meeting of the Judicial Convention of this circuit, we think it would be well to change the date of the judicial convention. People in all the counties of the circuit would like to attend both conventions.

AN UNPLEDGED TICKET.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—The following named gentlemen have consented to the use of their names for Mayor and Council, on the idea that they go into office unpledged as to what their official action will be in relation to granting whisky license and other measures affecting the interests of the town:

For Mayor:
H. L. STEVENSON.

For Councilmen:
C. D. MARTIN.
J. D. HAMMOND,
T. R. WARD,
Wm. H. DEAN,
J. F. CROW.

This is a good ticket whom the people of the town may well risk to do what may be for the best interests of the town under all circumstances. To pledge them to prohibition would be to prevent them from repealing the ordinance now in force and bringing whisky in under police supervision, in event license should be granted in the county and deadfalls were set up on the borders of the town. There is good reason why the voters of the town should refuse at present to commit the town to liquor license, and equally good reason exists why the council should be left free to act as above indicated, as might seem best to them under the circumstances. In event we should find that deadfalls were about to be planted about the town outside the corporate limits and could not be prevented, then the council should be left free to counteract the evil by issuing license and supervising the sale of it in the town where it can be regulated and restrained—if necessary fix the license so low as to utterly break up any deadfall on the border.

Let us elect the above named body of good and enterprising citizens, who have the interests of the town at heart, and leave the whole question with them. The people can well afford to risk them to do right.

MANY VOTERS.

Mr. Powderly was before a congressional committee a few days ago undergoing examination as to the labor strikes. Members of the committee vied with each other as to who could be most obsequious. If Mr. Powderly was not a man of too strong common sense to be vain, it would have been a proud day for him.

Our subscribers along the line of the E. & W. R. R. have complained recently of not getting the REPUBLICAN in reasonable time after publication. This must have been caused by the stoppage of trains by the flood. We know that the paper goes out of this office Friday evenings to the post-office here, and our accommodating post-master takes all trouble to have the mail in that direction go out promptly. We will have the matter investigated and if the trouble is with any route agent have him reported.

Echoes of the Flood.

The following was sent us during the flood but has been delayed:

CANE CREEK, April 6th.—We are having a tremendous flood in the streams down here. Coosa river is seven or eight feet higher than it has been since I have known it, now more than twenty-six years. Two gentlemen have told me they knew it to be within about two and a half or three feet of as high as it is now thirty-five years ago, which was in 1851. After the rains which fell last Monday and Tuesday the river rose up until Wednesday night when it turned downward and run down about three feet. Friday evening it came to a halt and appeared to be on a stand, but Saturday morning revealed the fact of its having taken a second rise and it is now about eighteen to twenty inches higher than the first rise. Some of your readers know how high the banks are at Francis' Ferry (the Miller old Ferry). That they may understand how high the water is, I will say the water is nearly to the top of the highest of it and out at Mrs. Whiteside's branch, a half mile from the Ferry. The back water will swin a horse near fifty yards and the back water extends up above the church. The people along the river fear that great damage is done the lands by washing. It will likely be several days yet before they can see what damage is done in that way. Some parties who have been up to the Railroad bridge say the men who are there trying to save it have loosed the rails about the middle of the bridge in hope of its swinging around to each bank, in case it breaks. The parties also stated that there was a considerable drift lodged against the bridge, and the prospect good for it to be pushed off the pillows by it.

The bridge across Cane Creek below Francis' Mill was swept away down into Mr. England's field, from thence down into the mouth of the Creek. A great deal of fencing has been taken away.

The health of our community is very good, have heard of but one or two severe cases of pneumonia. Mr. Elias Whiteside's daughter nine years old, died of pneumonia last Friday night. Mrs. Martha Whiteside, (widow of Leander,) has been very low with pneumonia but is convalescing. Mr. F. P. England, who has been ill is now able to work some. We haven't seen but one caudidate down in these parts yet. Come on boys, we like to shake hands with such friendly persons.

Mr. Jona Whiteside has in his possession a nice poplar base ball club painted yeliow with a gold gilted leaf in which is the inscription Pomeroy Co. Where did it come from?

A Knotty Point in Theology.

There is a story told of Drs. Chalmers and Stewart, who argued on the street corner on some knotty points of theology, with Scotish pertinacity, until it was time to separate, when one of them remarked: "You will find my views very well put in a certain tract," of which he gave the title. Upon which, to his surprise, his antagonist replied: "Why I wrote that tract myself."—The Argonaut.

We regret to see that the Montgomery Advertiser of Sunday, in mentioning candidates for Secretary of State, in language which indicates that they are the only candidates for that office, failed to mention Mr. Thomas Reynolds, of this county. Mr. Reynolds is in the field, worthy and well qualified, and is quite hopeful of success. Let us have fair play. That is the suggestion of the Advertiser, and that is all Mr. Reynolds claims and all his friends ask.—Mountain Home.

The Southern Baptist Theological Institution, located at Louisville, has recently received a gift of $60,000 from some wealthy Northern people. Citizens of Louisville have paid off the debt score $27,000, and the lot on which the building is to be erected. One hundred and twenty-five ministers are now attending the institution.

TWO ALABAMIANS

Insiead of One Took Part In the East St. Louis Riot.

It comes to light now that two Alabamians werea mong the deputies who fired upon the strikers and opened the riot at East St. Louis a few days ago. One was Thomas G. Hewlett, and the other was W. F. Laird. The latter is a native of Calhoun county and was at one time marshal of Jacksonville. While acting as marshal he had a difficulty and shot the other man. After that he went West, and for several years has been employed as advance agent of Cole's circus. He travels for the show during the fall and winter seasons and makes St. Louis headquarters during the time that he is not on the road.

Laird and Hewlett were close friends when they lived in Alabama and the old-time attachment continues yet. When Hewlett was a deputy United States marshal and Laird was marshal of Jacksonville, they were constant companions.

Hewlett was the only marshal that ever arrested Bennefield, the notorious moonshiner and desperado. He went on horseback to Bennefield's quarters in the mountains, arrested the moonshiner and both rode the same horse to Huntsville, where Bennefield was lodged in prison. Hewlett got all the glory, but it is stated on good authority that he was accompanied by Laird and did not make the arrest alone. They both led a lively row in Alabama, and it seems that they continue the same wild way. —Montgomery Advertiser.

Gen. W. C. Whitthorne has been appointed by Gov. Bate to fill the unexpired term of Sentor Jackson. Whitthorne was two miles in the country when the news of his appointment reached Columbia. There was a hard race on horseback between the telegraph messenger and some of Whitthorne's friends to see who should reach him first with the intelligence. The messenger boy won.

Thousands of people suffer with back ache, not knowing that in most cases it is a symptom of diseased kidneys and liver, which plasters and lotions cannot heal, the best and safest remedy is D. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. $1.00 per bottle. Apr24-3m

ORDINANCE.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and town council of Jacksonville, Ala., that all persons liable to road duty under the laws of Alabama, shall pay a tax of three dollars and fifty cents within ten days after demand for the same by the Marshal or road overseer. Said tax shall be collected by the Marshal or road overseer, payment of which exempts the person paying, from working on the streets and highways of the town of Jacksonville, and all persons so refusing or failing to pay said tax within ten days after demand made shall upon conviction be find not more than five dollars and may be imprisoned in the town or county jail for not more than ten days, and shall be compelled to work out said fine upon the streets of Jacksonville at the rate of one dollar per day. Provided that any person may work five days in lieu of three dollars and fifty cents.

To My Patrons.

I am burned out. My all is gone, save what rests in you in claims. You can help me in some way, lumber, shingles, nails, or other material. You can give me orders to merchants who will surely honor them in my distress. Money I want, but if you cant get that, let all do something. If we all pull together I can get a shelter over me again. Without your aid I cannot. Come up now, please! I need your aid! Provisions and feed are needed, also. Help me!

Tickets of admission to the "Jeff Davis Reception" at Montgomery have have been placed in the hands of Mr. Bondurant, depot agent at Jacksonville. The price is 50 cents per ticket and entitles the holder to entrance to the Fair Grounds, should he go to Montgomery the 28th. Otherwise the money will be forwarded all the same to Montgomery by Mr. Bondurant for the benefit of the Confederate monument. Let every body in Jacksonville take a ticket and thus contribute 50 cents to this noble cause. Send to Mr. Bondurant by the hacks if you cannot find time to go down and see him.

PERSONAL.

Dr. C. H. Montgomery attended the grand lodge of the Knights of Honor at Mobile. On the morning of his return his home burned down.

Miss Sallie Marion returned last week after a protracted visit to a sister in Talladega county.

Miss Katie Dill of Talladega county entered the State Normal school here a few days ago.

Maj. Thos. Reynolds, of Talladega, candidate for Secretary of State was in Jacksonville Wednesday. He will likely get the Calhoun delegation in the State Convention.

Dr. J. F. M. Davis of Choccolocco was in town Thursday.

Mr. Wilkins and wife (nee Linder) are here from South Carolina visiting Dr. Linder and family.

Ed. Nisbet, of Atlanta, is here on a visit.

Persons who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment, it will banish pain and subdue inflamation.
Apr24-3m

The lesson of the fire which destroyed Dr. Montgomery's residence is that the hose reel should always be carried to the fire plug nearest the fire, even when the burning building cannot be reached by the hose. With plenty of water and the hook and ladder company promptly on hand with ladders and buckets, the building could have been saved. The hose would have reached to Mr. Driskoll's, near the scene of the fire, and an abundance of water could have thus been had. By the way, what has become of the hook and and ladder company. It is never on parade. If the fire companies are exempted from local street tax, they should be required to keep up a live organization and parade at least once a month for practice.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—Please tender to the good people of Jacksonville the thanks of my family for their sympathy and aid in our distress. Our hearts are bowed; but when we think of the kindness, the noble daring and courage in the rescue of our effects from the grasping greed of the fire-fiend, we are stirred to the depths with love and gratitude—gratitude that we know not how to express, save in the prayer "God bless you!"
Respecfully,
C. H. MONTGOMERY.

MARSHALL.

The grave yard cleaning at Union church will come off the first Saturday in May. We would like for everybody to come out especially those who are interested.

The Rev. G. W. Harris preached a very able sermon at Mt. Zion church last Sunday.

Mr. Lindsay Livingston and Miss Nannie Sims were married on the 8th inst,

Mr. G. W. Phillips has been confined to his bed sick for some time; hope he may soon recover.

Cotton planting is the order of the day with the farmers.

The country people are all going to attend the county convention and we are going to nominate men from the country, too.

CROSS PLAINS.

Judge J. W. Inzer of Ashville, Col. D. S. Printup of Rome, Mr. J. H. Browning of New York and Col. John H. Caldwell of Jacksonville, were in town last Wednesday on business connected with the East & West railroad.

Mr. Russ. C. Johnson and his sister, Mrs. A. J. McBride of Atlanta, arrived here last Monday, in answer to summons to the bedside of Mrs. John F. Johnson who is very low.

Mr. Winter of Centre has moved to Cross Plains.

Mr. Armstrong Stewart is now running on the East & West railroad.

Mrs. A. N. McBride is still quite sick.

Fishing is all the rage now but the boys don't meet with much success.

The Presbytery adjourned Sunday after a very pleasant session.

Rev. S. L. Russell of Gaylesville preached morning and evening at the Cumberland Presbyterian church last Sunday.

The weather continues beautiful and everybody is at work. Business is dull in town and locals very scarce.

DAVISVILLE.

DAVISVILLE, April 21.—High waters have washed lands and hopes away.

Mrs. W. F. Wells died on the 5th inst.

It is said that a distiller in this county is borrowing corn to still.

Our roads are in a bad condition. The wooden bridges on the big creek here are good ones and stand floods.

There will be about 70 bales of cotton in this neighborhood to pay next fall for guano. How is a man to do who rents land, buys meat, corn, guano, plows, hoes &c., bagging and ties, pays commission for selling and pays rent. When all this comes out where is the pay for making and selling?

Mr. Gwin the revenue officer who is here once and awhile is one of the best men in the service.

Tell the candidates not to be scared, as the offices of this county must be filled.

I hope you will have a time of quiet for awhile.

RANDALL.

ED. REPUBLICAN: I see a convention is spoken of. Beat 16 (Ladiga) is for a convention. I would be a for convention if every man in the county was a Democrat. It is best to have nominations. Ladiga Beat will have a delegation on hand representing a rousing beat meeting.

POWDERLY'S ...

(the classes ... stitution of the Knights of Labor, and just now, when attention has been attracted to his ideas and opinions by the publication of his views and expressions upon that subject, are being extensively referred to and quoted by the Knights.

In his last address made to the general convention of Knights of Labor Mr. Powderly said:

"The temperance question is an important one, and I sometimes think it is the main issue. The large number of applications during the past year to grant dispensations to allow the initiation of rum-sellers was alarming. I have persistently refused them, and will enjoin my successor, if he values the future success of the order, to shut the doors with triple bars against the admission of the liquor dealer. His path and that of the honest industrious workingman lie in opposite directions.

"The rumseller who seeks admission into a labor society does so with the object that he may entice its members into his saloon after the meetings close.

No question of interest to labor has ever been satisfactorily settled over a bar in a rum hole. No labor society ever admitted a rum-seller that did not die a drunkard's death. No workingman ever drank a glass of rum who did not rob his family of the price of it, and in so doing committed a double crime, murder and theft. He murders the intellect with which the Maker hath endowed him. He steals from his family the means of sustenance he has earned for them.

Turn to the annals of every dead labor society, and you will see whole pages blurred and destroyed by the accursed footprints of rum.

Scan the records of a meeting at which a disturbance took place, and you will hear echoing through the hall the maudlin, fiendish grunt of the drunken brute who disturbed the

HARMONY OF THE MEETING.

In the whole English language I can find no word that strikes more terror to my soul than the one word, "Rum." It was born in hell ere the fiat of 'no redemption' had gone forth. Its life on earth has been one of ruin to the hopes of youth and the peace of old age. It has robbed childhood of its delights. It has stolen the laugh from the lips of innocence, the bloom from the cheeks of manhood. It has touched the heart of old age like the tip of a poisoned arrow. Its sound, as it gurgles from the neck of a bottle, echoes through many a desolate household as the hissing of a thousand serpents. You may deem me too radical on this point. Yet I never interfere with the rights of a man to drink if he elects. I hold I have a right to and do shun rum as I would an enraged tiger, neither meddling with it nor allowing it to meddle with me. So long as it keeps its distance I am content to leave it alone but the moment it attempts to interfere with my rights by coming into the Knights of Labor, then my soul rises in arms against it, and I can find no words too bitter, no denunciation too scathing to hurl against it."

Anatomical.

The murderers have discovered some astonishing vulnerable parts of the human anatomy of late. From a paper this morning we learn that a Ga. colonel was "shot in the ticket office;" the other day a man was fatally shot "through his door," and not long ago another received a fatal wound "in his window."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Oregon's State election, which occurs June 7, will be the first election of the year that will excite popular interest. Rhode Island has choson her State officers, but the result was a foregone conclusion. In Oregon, however, there is a margin for uncertainty. In 1884 the Republicans elected their candidate for Congress in June, and gave Mr. Blaine in November a plurality of 2,257. This year a full State ticket, a legislature and a member of Congress are to be chosen in June. As there is a great probability of a Republican faction fight, the Democrats enter the fight with splendid chances of winning. Senator Mitchell's election has been a serious blow to the Republican party, and will have a decided effect upon the coming election.—Montgomery Advertiser

A Rumor of War.

LONDON, April 12.—A rumor is current at Manchester that a Greek firm in that city has receiv- information that Greece has declared war against Turkey. The Greek embassy in London has no ...firmation of the rumor.

... of the ... The report of these instances come in quick succession upon each other, and one has scarcely recovered from the horror occasioned by the recital of one experience before another is told more sickening than the former. A dispatch reporter was told yesterday of an instance which, with the attendant circumstances surrounding it, makes a terrible picture in the scenes of this flood. The incident as related is:

Frank Young, a negro man, was living with his wife and three children on the Jones place, over the river, a locality which had heretofore been beyond the highest rise known.

When the river began rising last Tuesday week nothing was thought of it by him or his family, except there would probably be quite a rise in the river, never dreaming that the waters would rush into the little cabin which was their home. Thoughtless of any danger, they retired Tuesday night.

Some time during the night they were awakened by the sound of the water rushing around them, and getting up they found their house flooded. For safety they left the house, and wading through the water they reached a tree into which the wife and the two elder children climbed, followed by Frank, who held in his arms the youngest child, an infant.

In this tree, above the seething waters the poor creatures sat waiting and watching for some help to remove them from their perilous position, but this help, it seemed, would never come, and one by one that unfortunate man saw his wife and two older children give up from sheer exhaustion, lose their hold on the tree, and drop into the death pit beneath. He could not save them—being unable to swim, and having the youngest child in his arms. All he could do was to see their last looks before they sank into their death in the water's bosom. From Tuesday night until Friday, without food, exposed to the cold wind that rushed over that vast body of water, this unfortunate man clung to his perch, clasping his babe fast to his breast, but, alas! when relief did come, it came too late for the child; exposure, hunger and cold had done their work well, and the relief boat that took Frank Young from the tree where he sought refuge, took the dead body of the child which was passionately embraced by the raving father.

Bloody-Minded Men.

NEW YORK, April 18.—What is known of Workingmen's Rifle Corps to-day filled a hall on second avenue. They were addressed by editor Schewitch, of Volkes Zeitung, upon the labor question. He advised his hearers to provide themselves with guns as rapidly as possible and prepare for future troubles; the rifles could be had for six dollars each and ammunation was cheap. The crowd cheered these sentiments.

The New York World says: "The eminent poulterer, R. B. Hayes, of Ohio, has promised to write for a popular magazine an article on 'Education at the South,' but it will be incomplete wihout the story of how the Returning Board of Louisiana and Florida were instructed to vote for a fraud for a high office to which he was never elected.

Blackie Holcomb, an old citizen, was fatally murdered near Wilsonvile. Robbery is supposed to have been the motive, as he was a quiet and inoffensive citizen.

The great demand for Shriner's Indian Vermifuge is solely due to its intrinsic value. Thousands use it to-day in preference to any other, and say that it destroyes and expels worms effectualty.

The Executive committee of the Thirty-seventh Alabama Regiment of ex-Confederate soldiers has been called to meet in Montgomery the 28th of this month, (April.)

T. V. Powderly, the Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, is a Pennsylvanian, more than forty years of age—a machinist and engineer.

At Greenville the other day an old negro named Green Parmer went down in a well to clean it out. He died very suddenly before the job was finished.

The first bricks were laid one day last week for the foundation of the electric light building at Selma.

In connection with the Normal Department, and as auxiliary to it, a thorough course of primary and academic instruction is open to all. Music, both Vocal and Instrumental, and Art, will be taught by first-class instructors. The Faculty is:

J. HARRIS CHAPPELL, A. M., President, Normal Studies, English Branches and Natural Science.

PROF. CARLIE B. GIBSON, A. B., Mathematics, Latin, Greek, and German.

REV. O. R. BOURNE, Normal Studies and Free Hand Drawing.

MISS LETTIE R. DOWDELL, French, Elocution, and Grammar School Studies.

MRS. IDA J. WOODWARD, Principal Primary Department.

MISS JESSIE WOODS, Teacher of Music.

MRS. J. HARRIS CHAPPELL, Teacher of Art.

Classes No. 2 and No. 3	1.50	" "
Primary Department	75	" "

Tuition to children of licensed ministers of the gospel, FREE.

TERMS:—Quarterly in advance. In no instance will a pupil's name be entered upon the rolls until the tuition for ensuing quarter has been paid. This rule will be rigidly carried out.

BOARD:—Students can obtain good board with the best families in Jacksonville at from $8.00 to $12.50 per month, according to accommodations required. By messing together, living may be brought down even below these figures. Young men who wish to try this plan will be furnished with excellent quarters free of charge.

ATTENDANCE:—The attendance on the school during the past session was upwards of two hundred pupils. It is confidently expected that it will be much larger next session.
