UNDER WATER.

Mobile Encounters a Storm of Great Magnitude.

BUSINESS PART SUBMERGED

The City in Total Darkness and Telegraphic Communication Impeded—Lives Lost.

MOBILE, Oct. 2.—A strong gale broke here this morning about 4 o'clock, and the wind has been increasing ever since, and at this hour, 1 p.m., it is blowing at least forty miles an hour.

There is no possible chance of estimating the greatest damage. All the wholesale and a great portion of the retail district is some 5 feet under water, and thousands of dollars' worth of goods have been damaged.

The pilot boat Ida Low has been driven from the wharf at the foot of St. Francis street. The bay boat Heroine was driven from the wharf and almost totally wrecked. The Crescent City, another bay boat, left Point Clear at the same time the Heroine did this morning and has not been seen since. It is reported that three dredges working on the channel have been lost. It is also reported here that some fifty miles of the Louisville and Nashville railroad track along the coast is under water, and that the Biloxi bridge has been swept away by the gale. Nothing had been heard from the gardeners on the marshes east of the city, and the worst is feared.

Telegraphic communication is cut off in almost every direction, and from the present outlook Mobile will be entirely cut off from the outside world when darkness comes on. Street car traffic has been totally suspended because of the damage to the tracks. The city will be in darkness tonight, as the water is fast filling in on the electric light works.

It is given up by all to be the worst storm that has ever visited Mobile. The main part of the city presents a scene of wreckage as if it had been bombarded.

Dredge No. 5 turned over near the lighthouse and the seamen were thrown into the angry waves. With great peril to themselves the crew of the Captain Samuel steamed to the rescue and saved two of the men, the others being lost.

An unknown white man lost his footing while wading from the union depot at the foot of Government street and was swept under the bridge and drowned.

The storm reached its height about 1 p.m., when the wind reached a velocity of seventy-five miles an hour. From that hour the fury of the gale began to increase, and the wind gradually changed from southeast to west. The rain has falling in torrents the entire day, and tonight the city is in darkness, and there is not an electric light of any kind burning.

The bay steamer Crescent City dragged her anchor seven miles and went ashore on the beach between Arlington and Monroe park, about three miles below the city, on the western shore of the bay. Capt. Frank Lumsden and his crew and one passenger, a cotton broker named R. A. Lewis, donned life preservers and swam safely ashore through the angry waves. Nearly every bath house along the western shore was blown down, and at Morgan's an attendant named Graham was swept away with five bath houses and drowned. Magnolia and Cooley warehouses were blown down and two negroes drowned in the cotton yards. Magnificent oaks all over the city are laid low, and the earth is covered with the green leaves whipped from the trees by the fierce winds. Houses all over the city have been unroofed and fences blown down, and tonight it is simply impossible to give details.

Nothing has been heard from the eastern shore nor from the market gardeners in the marshes, where it is expected great damage to property and probably loss of life has occurred. The storm at this writing, 10 p.m., has abated and the waters have receded.

There is not a wire in the Western Union office affording intercourse with the outside world, and this is written to be sent several miles out of town, where it is hoped communication may be established.

Cleveland Bros., grain dealers, estimate their loss at between $5000 and $7000. One merchant lost 1000 barrels of cement, another 1000 sacks of salt, another a quantity of lime. A large quanity of grain has been lost. It will be several days before all the details can possibly be known.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—Nothing like a full report of the disaster of Monday has been obtained yet.

The destruction all along the coast from this city to Pensacola has been unparalelled and every hour adds to the awful character of the calamity.

It is impossible now to estimate the loss of life, and it will probably be a week before anything like the complete details will be known, but it is now believed that the number of lives lost will be fully 300 while the loss of property will go up into the millions.

MARRIED.

In Montgomery Wednesday night at 8 o'clock Rev. Dr. Rush united in marriage Hon. J. Craig Smith, State Treasurer, and Miss Eloise LeGrand, daughter of the late Dr. M. P. LeGrand. The wedding was a quiet one, and was attended only by members of the bride's family. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a visit to New York city. Their many friends throughout the state tender heartiest congratulations.

A SPLENDID SHOWING.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 30.—The physicians appointed by the press of this city to report on the public demonstration of the Amick treatment which has been in progress here for the past two months, state that of the ten consumptives one died, three are apparently cured, being now free from all symptoms of the disease, four show marked improvements and two a slight gain. The greatest increase in weight was three pounds in four days. The demonstration has not yet ended, although Dr. G.B. Sturgeon admitted tonight that the treatment had already accomplished more than the Cincinnati discoverer claimed it would. Thirty or more local physicians are testing the treatment with outfits of medicines such as Dr. Amick is distributing to doctors everywhere, but this is more to show their patients what the treatment will do for each of them. The majority of the profession interviewed evidently believe in Amick, but many of them accuse him of violating the code.

IS IT A THREAT?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The following in a poster form, eight by ten, in large black letters was placed on the desk of each senator and member of congress this morning.

"There is a time in the affairs of men when patience ceases to be a virtue. Down with the United States senate—the enemies of the people. DAVISON."

TEXAS COTTON CROP SHORT.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 2.—Reliable reports received from all parts of Southwestern Texas show that three-fourths of the cotton crop has been picked and about half already marketed. The crop has been gathered in a hurry during the last ten days. There will be no top crop. The crop will be 40 per cent short of last year's yield in southwest Texas.

SEVERAL THOUSAND SHORT.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ala., Oct. 2.—Tax Collector R. A. Tompkins, who was recently found to be several thousand dollars shorty is missing. He was arrested several days since for embezzlement, but the suits were withdrawn on certain conditions. It is thought that he has left for parts unknown, as he has not been seen for about ten days.

NO TARIFF TILL JUNE.

The Senate Will Have Too Much Other Business.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—It is now conceded by many leading democrats that unless the tariff bill can be brought before the senate for action ahead of the regular appropriation bills, which must be in law prior to June 30, there is but the slightest prospect of the measure getting into law this year, even though the minority is willing that there should be tariff legislation. If the tariff bill is adopted by the house in time for it to reach the senate finance committee by the middle of January, there is no prospect that it will get out of that committee, even with the most diligent labor, before April. According to the custom of congress, appropriation bills begin to arrive at the senate from the house about March. There are fourteen regular appropriation bills and usually a half dozen deficiency and special ones. The latter ones and probably three or four of the regular bills will be in the senate before the tariff bill is reported from the finance committee, even under the most favorable circumstances. As soon as appropriations begin to appear they invariably drive off the floor all other propositions being paramount to all others, as they provide for the running of the government. Without appropriations the wheels of the government will stop. The regular appropriation bills, nineteen years out of twenty, hold the floors of the two houses of congress to the exclusion of all other important matter, at the long session, between the months of April and July. It would thus appear that the senate, even though things go favorably, will not discuss the tariff till after next June, and so it will be an easy matter for the minority, with adjournment and the campaign and then another big lot of appropriations at the short session beginning in December, to defeat the adoption of any tariff measure.

A great deal of pressure is just now being brought upon members of the ways and means committee to increase the tax on whisky in the tariff bill which they are framing. The tax at present is 90 cents a gallon, and it is argued by many that it can be raised to $1.25, an increase of 35 cents a gallons, and the burden will never be noticed, while at the same time the revenues derived from the increase will be more than sufficient to meet the sugar bounty or many other expenses intended to help worthy enterprises. The demand for an increase of the whisky tax comes from two classes. The one is composed of whisky dealers who are loaded down with goods and would make a neat profit to the extent of the increase. The others class is of persons who would either increase the government's expenditures or continue some which it is proposed to cut off or curtail in the new tariff bill. Just how much the proposed increase of tax would augment the government's revenues is not known, but it would approximate $30,000,000. This would cover a great many enterprises, by enabling the present protective duties to be maintained, or if internal improvements or education, to keep up the expenditures. While members of the ways and means committee refuse to express opinions upon the subject, it is easy to ascertain that the proposition to increase the tax on whisky is not popular. It is argued by them that it would increase the temptation to avoid paying of any tax upon spirits, increase "moonshining" and bring condemnation from the consumers. If there is an increase it will likely be only slight, probably 10 cents a gallon.

GROVER IS FIRM.

He's Fully Convinced the People Want Repeal.

HENDERSON'S SENSATIONAL

Resolution in the House for an Investigation of the Sugar Trust.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The senators who have been most active in trying to effect a compromise on the repeal bill do not express themselves as discouraged by the outlook this morning. They say that nothing is likely to transpire in that direction during the present week, but express the opinion that the beginning of next week will see a change in the situation, by which time the senate will be more thoroughly impressed with the futility of the effort to pass the pending bill in its present shape, and that this further delay will have the general effect of convincing senators of the impossibility of any man getting just what he may want. The extreme men on both sides are still holding out stiffly, however, and if there is any improvement of the situation it does not appear on the surface.

Mr. Carlisle has consulted again with President Cleveland on the compromise terms but with no satisfactory results, say a morning paper. Mr. Cleveland is fully conscious that the attitude he has assumed is heartily indorsed by all the business interests of the east. It is understood that the reply that he has authorized Mr. Carlisle to give to the advocates of compromise is that he will listen to no compromise involving the further purchase of silver until a supreme effort has been made by the friends of unconditional repeal to avail themselves of their conceded strength as a majority of the senate and to force a vote. If the effort fails, then he may listen to compromise terms as the lesser of the two evils.

The silver senators assert that they are certain of support at the critical moment, and Senator Voorhees' failure to secure sufficient aid from his side to put down filibustering by forcing the filibusterers into continuous sessions from noon until midnight explains their otherwise inexplicable attitude of defiance.

THE SUGAR TRUST.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Representative Henderson, of Iowa, introduced in the house today the following resolution for the investigation of the sugar trust:

It is currently asserted and believed that the American Sugar Refining company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New Jersey, and otherwise known as "the sugar trust," has in violation of law and against public policy created a gigantic trust; and,

Whereas, It is so asserted and believed that the said corporation by the use of watered stock, by unfair competition and illegal combination, has crushed out legitimate competion to an extent which gives it the power to depress the price or the raw material and to advance the price of the manufactured articles at will, thus throttling the cane and beet agriculturists with one hand and grasping the purses of all holders and consumers of sugar with the other; therefore, be it

Resolved, That a special committee of five members of this house shall be appointed by the speaker of this house; one of whom shall be drawn from the committee on agriculture, one from the committee on commerce and one from the committee on the judiciary, which special committee shall have power to sit during the sessions of the house, to send for persons and papers and shall be charged with the duty of examining the circumstances attending the said sugar company and the methods by which it is conducted, its effects upon agriculture and commerce, as well as upon the enhanced cost of the necessaries of life.

The resolution further authorizes the committee to secure the aid of the department of justice in its investigation, and if the facts warrant it, to report a bill to annul the corporate existence of the trust.

HE CALLS THEM THIEVES.

Senator Voorhees Denounces the Bankers of New York.

"My full and complete opinion," said Senator Voorhees, "of that combine of impertinent robbers and thieves, the banks of New York, it would not be politic for you to print. You couldn't get the telegraph company to handle the message. My view of the New York banks and their methods and attitudes in this present debate in the senate are that they add insolence to robbery and slanderous lying to highwayism.

"I have been in congress thirty-two years. Call it success or what you please, its corner stone, at least, was what is my present opinion of these New York banks. I have ever found them plundering, marauding, and stealing the goods and hopes of the people, like so many cattle-lifting highland caterans. There is not an honest hair in all their heads, not a broad or patriotic motive in all their bosoms.

They are narrow, selfish, utterly mean, and dishonest. No honest man takes his eyes off them for a moment; they would pick his pocket if he did.

"If you turn your back they use the assassin's knife upon you like so many lurking, skulking, cowardly Corsicans of money. Go to your Bibles and read what the Savior said of the New York banks and every member of their tribe. He described them as whited sepulchers filled with dead men's bones, as the robber of the widow and the devourer of the orphan, as willing to barter God for money or negotiate a mortgage on their hopes of heaven, allow a foreclosure and stay away from the sale, and all for money.

"In the eagerness of their sharkish greed they abandon honor, and right, and justice, and decency, and fill and gorge their bellies on the best hopes of a world. They would make a boiled dinner of the brightest prospects of mankind. Never in my life have I been their friend, nor they mine. I make no concord, no alliance, with such criminal elements. When I took my position for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law purchasing clause I had neither thought nor care for the New York banks. Neither did I regard my position as being for gold and against silver. Gold and silver and their part in the finances of the country are not disposed of by passing the Voorhees or the Wilson bill. You repeal the silver purchase clause of the Sherman law, that's all you do; that's all you squeeze out of it. I am a silver man today, and a far better friend to silver than are those who obstruct public business in the senate.

"My position as chairman of the finance committee called me to lead this fight. I have led it honestly, fearlessly, courting no man's favor, and I shall lead it to the end. When the New York bankers impute or ascribe to me any hidden motive for silver, any treachery to the measures I am assuming to support, they are liars and foul slanderers whom I shall not hesitate to stigmatize as such. The fact that today both I and the New York banks desire the same thing—the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law—need confuse no one as to our relations. My attitude toward them is what it always was and what it always will be to that which is corrupt and utterly venal.

"It is not the first time these thieves have traveled the same road with honest men. So far as I am personally concerned they cut no more figure in my future than in my past. The yelping of any other pack of wolves would be as potential in my destinies. I come from the Wabash, not from the Hudson; from Indiana, not from New York. It is not necessary that I be cheek by jowl with the wolves of Wall street. I return when I leave here to my own people, not these pirates of the New York banks, and the fact that I do not suit in my leadership the larcenous, thievish tastes of that robbers' roost will gain me warmest welcome in Indiana which a man can receive."

Voorhees was hot. When the senate opened he paid his respects to those who had vilified him in New York. He said, too, that they had done the cause of Sherman law repeal in the senate incalculable harm.

"If the fight is lost," said Mr. Voorhees, "the New York banks can charge themselves with the responsibility for it.

He Roped Them In.

When the name of Jack Roper was called in the United States court this morning he arose and pleaded guilty to working in an illicit distillery.

With a number of others who did the same thing he was sent to one side to await sentence.

Working in an illicit distillery, is nothing but a misdemeanor; while operating a distillery is equal to a felony.

Roper evidently knew this and entered his plea to working in the distillery which was accepted.

"How long did you work in the distillery?" asked the judge when the man stood up for sentence.

"Oh, 'bout a week, I reckon."

"Whose distillery was it?"

"My own."

The judge looked puzzled, but all he could do was to give him a two months' sentence for working in an illicit distillery.—Atlanta Journal.

ECHOES OF A DOG FIGHT.

Queer Question Before the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Ought a man who witnesses a dog fight attempt to separate the dogs? That is a question that the full bench of the supreme court has been called upon to answer in a case argued last week. The plaintiff in the case argued last week. The plaintiff in the case saw two dogs fighting in the street. Being something of a humanitarian he stepped in on behalf of the under dog, who rewarded him by transferring his grip from his dog antagonist to his rescuer. The plaintiff was severely bitten and brought suit against the owner of the dog. To the surprise of the defendant the plaintiff recovered a verdict of over $300. The defendant asked for rulings, which the superior court refused to give, and the case went to the supreme court. The defendant says that the plaintiff was a trespasser from the very instant he took hold of the dogs and cannot under the correct rules of law recover.

BILLS TO BE REPORTED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—It was printed today that the majority of the committee on ways and means had decided to formally report bills doubling the internal revenue tax on beer and to impose a tax on legacies, etc. These propositions are before the committe in more or less formal shape, but Chairman Wilson is authority for the statement that a New York report imputing to the majority of the committee decisive action upon those matters or any other within the next two weeks have no foundation in fact. Mr. Wilson, in answer to a question as to whether or not the tariff bill would be reported to the house by the first of November recalls the fact that in the fifty-first congress the committee on ways and means, which was appointed early in December, did not report the McKinley bill until the middle of April, a period of four months.

Edward H. Taylor, nephew of ex-president Zachary Taylor, died in Birmingham on Tuesday, at the residence of his son Edward Taylor.

OUR SENATORS.

Morgan and Pugh Held in High Esteem.

PUGH'S VIEW ON THE LETTER

The End of the Silver Discussion is Not in Sight—Mr. Morgan Talks Some.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—"Will the unconditional measure pass the senate?" exclaimed Senator Pugh today. "No," he answered with emphasis, and his manner indicated such an assurance of the belief that there was no mistaking the situation of the Voorhees bill in the senate.

"I am glad the president wrote the Northern letter," chuckled Mr. Pugh. "It clearly defines his attitude toward silver, and knocks the props from under many senators who favor silver as money but who have made speeches here in favor of the president's policy of unconditional repeal, believing the president would at once urge some legislation favorable to silver. But, his letter is so clear and explicit that it leaves no doubt any longer, where he stands, and instead of strengthening his course as it was expected, it will loosen his hold upon many senators, at the same time solidifying and crystalyzing the opposition. It was the very thing we wanted and confirms, beyond the peradventure of a doubt, just what we have contended all along to be his position on the silver question."

Senator Pugh's views of the president's Northern letter, and its effect upon the senate seemed to be entertained by all senators, who may not have been committed to the letter and consulted about it before it was thrust upon an unexpectant people, and those always interested in the utterances of their chief executive on a question of such vital concerns as that of silver.

The letter was intended, as is generally conceded, to conciliate the silver men, and give them assurances that the president was not wholly without some consideration for silver, but this very consideration, expressed so vaguely and autocratically, has had the contrary effect; and the end of the fight is not yet, nor is that end in sight.

Alabamians will be gratified to know the high standing and the just esteem in which their senators are held here. Senator Morgan is a lovely character, a man of such wonderful learning and resources, and so gentle and dignified in manner, and magnetic in person. Everybody in Washington knows him and loves him. As to Senator Pugh, it is hardly necessary to say that he is a man of great force and influence in the senate, and he is looked upon as one of the ablest and most to be trusted friends of silver in the senate. He is forceful in speech, clear and logical in debate, and is admired and respected by all parties for his ability and honesty and constancy of purpose.

Some days ago, an impression got abroad that Senator Morgan was weakening in the silver cause because when it was charged by some senator that the administration was using patronage to overawe and influence the vote on the silver question, he arose in his seat and said that he was a great admirer of Mr. Cleveland's personal character, and that his relations with the president were most happy and cordial and while he differed with him in opinion in some public measures, there were no material differences between them but today Mr. Morgan removed any doubt on this question in a private conversation in which he declared that while he would deplore another panic precipitated or brought on from any cause, and sympathized with his people who must suffer from such panic, it would not cause him to relax a determination to prevent legislation that would be still more hurtful and dangerous.

The Republican.

W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, October 7, 1893.

Mr. Grant is still confined to his room, but convalescent. His sickness will account for the absence of editorial matter on current subjects last week as well as this, as well as the neglect of his personal correspondence. He has been too sick to reply to any letters addressed to him.

MORE HOT SHOT.

Commissioner Coker Fours Them Into Mr. Brewster With a Vengeance.

EDITOR HOT BLAST—Allow me space to reply to an article I saw in your paper of the 20th of September, over the signature of P. H. Brewster.

I wish to say at the outset that my mother taught me when a child to respect a preacher but when one makes a monkey of himself I will answer a fool according to his folly.

He starts his epistle about extravagant taxation. Let's see about that. Since I have been a member of the court we have reduced the tax from thirty to twenty cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property for county taxes and you know we have no control over the state tax.

The parson says that we have made an effort to raise the value on real estate. There is not a word of truth in the assertion only where there is an extremely low value on the property.—We only propose to keep the value as it was in previous assessments. We had to do so or raise the per cent. When we reduced the rate it was done with the understanding to keep the value the same. It takes so much money to meet the expenses of the county which will have to come through a certain value or a higher rate.

He further says that we are almost in perpetual session at a cost of $25 a day. Another falsehood. Dear me, Parson, you are guilty of the same crime that Ananias was struck dead for and that was for lying.

Now, parson, your last censure on the court is for, as you call it, a palatial home for the poor. We had the building of the poor house under consideration for about two years before we undertook the erection of a place to keep the poor. I known we were very careful in making the start. More than one grand jury recommended a suitable place for those unfortunate people. I think there has been two or three burned to death at the present site or place. One, I know since I have been commissioner, was so badly burned that she died from the effects. She was by the name of Thomas and came of a good family. She was not only a pauper financially but mentally. Her mind was gone. At the dead hours of night when the keeper of the poor house was awakened from sleep and ran to her rescue he found her looking at her clothes burn off of her person—not mind enough to realize her condition. She could not be admitted to the asylum as her case was incurable. If we had been prepared to take care of the poor as we are now all this could and would have been avoided. Now to think that a man that says he is a chosen vessel to preach Christ's gospel to object to building a house to take care of those poor unfortunate people who has no home, no food, not even a garment. He surely has forgotten the mission of the Messiah. My Bible tells me that he came to raise the fallen, cheer the faint and administer to the necessities of those that are in want. Since I have seen the parson's epistle the thought has been revolving in my mind that when he knocks at the gate of the beautiful city, will Old Mother Thomas meet him and say, "Mr. Brewster, in yonder's world you had your good things and a nice home in Piedmont and I had none not even so much as the exercise of my mind. This is my home that God prepared for me and all is well. You go down to Jacksonville to that old poor house. That is good enough for you."

Now, Parson, you seem to think you could run the affairs of the county extremely well and may be you could. It is a big job. But you will have to make a better race than you did five years ago or you will never get there. Eh, Mr. Brewster, you just howl on and keep howling for it is always the kicked dog that hollers.

Next, on the assessor to calculate what the new poor house cost Mr. Brewster. After a careful calculation according to his tax it will cost him sixty five cents. Now if he will pass his hat around at our next commissioners court we will make up the sixty five cents from our private means and a red stick of candy extra. Now, in conclusion, I wish to say that my acts as a commissioner have been what I thought for the best. I am willing to stand or fall on the building of the poor house either politically or spiritually, or any other way.

Respectfully, M. N. COKER,
Grayton, Ala., Oct. 2.

Beauty In Common Plants.

To the true lovers of nature the beautiful simplicity of natural growths appeals with a suggestiveness of reminiscence that is often wanting in the costlier occupant of the greenhouse or flower garden. It is the difference between the curio and the household relic, one rare and lovely and precious, but the other endeared by tenderest memories. To the child the delight of hunting for the canary wild flower far exceeds any riot in the well kept garden, while the boy's nutting expeditions are much more to his mind than the plucking of fruit in the richest orchard.

In after life all that recalls these lost delights is dear to the man's heart and has its own intimate and suggestive charm. A lesson in economy comes scarcely amiss, and since it is luxuries that must go first, when it is a question of giving up something, it is well to know that the living rooms need not suffer so long as there are woods and fields to draw upon for their floral decoration, while the exchange for tasteful simplicity is really a distinct gain, contrasted with the wasteful and inordinate use of flowers with too lavish and expensive profusion.—Garden and Forest.

An Interesting African People.

At the Berlin Anthropological society Mr. Merensky has given some curious particulars about the Kondeh people in the German district on Lake Nyassa. Their country is bordered on the north by the Livingstone mountains and on the south by the lake, and this favorable geographical position has enabled the people to develop in a peculiar manner and attain a relatively high state of civilization. Their affections are largely developed. Friendship is especially valued among them, and love between the sexes strong and firm, as well as the domestic affections.

"Suicide, caused by grief for the loss of a wife, a child, or even a favorite animal, is not infrequent. The favorite form of suicide is to enter the water and allow one's self to be devoured by a crocodile. In war-time all unnecessary cruelty is avoided, and women and children who have been made prisoners are set free again. The position of woman among the Kondehs is unusually high. Women are on a perfect equality with men in the eyes of the law, and offenses against women are even more severely punished than offenses against men."—St. James Gazette.

A Mexican Bunko Game.

It is said that a favorite method that Mexican rascals have of swindling American visitors is to watch for them at the railway station, and having selected a victim and having ascertained that he or she (preferably she) means to take a certain train, to approach just before train time and demand money, represented to be due as a board bill at such and such a hotel. The victim will deny owing the bill, but the sharper insists, threatening to call the police and to have the matter settled before a justice.

As the amount asked for is usually not more than $2 or $3, the victim commonly prefers to pay it rather than to have his journey delayed, especially if he understands the peculiarity of Mexican law, which always throws the burden of proof on the American. However barefaced the accusation, if it be urged by a native against an American, the chances are that the victim will have to spend some days in Belem prison before he can satisfy the authorities that he is innocent, and in the meantime the rascally accuser disappears.—New Orleans Picayune.

Various Capitals of the United States.

Apropos of the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the capitol cornerstone laying it may be interesting to note the different cities which have had the honor of being the capital of the United States as follows: At Philadelphia from Sept. 5, 1774, until December, 1776; at Baltimore from Dec. 20, 1776, to March, 1777; at Philadelphia from March 4, 1777, to September, 1777; at Lancaster, Pa., from Sept. 27, 1777, to Sept. 30, 1777; at York, Pa., from Sept. 30, 1777, to July, 1778; at Philadelphia from July 2, 1778, to June 30, 1783; at Princeton, N. J., from June 30, 1783, to Nov. 20, 1783; at Annapolis, from November, 1783, to November, 1784; at Trenton, from November, 1784, to January, 1785; at New York from Jan. 11, 1785, to 1790, when the seat of government was changed to Philadelphia, where it remained until 1800, since which time it has been at Washington.—Washington News.

Love and Marriage.

Yet, depend upon it, as you grow older you will see more and more instances and proofs of the reality and the depth of the love of husbands and wives for each other in the most ordinary, commonplace couples. I have heard of marriages where love has died out from some canker of selfishness or worldliness at its heart, but I have oftener seen unexpected proofs of a love stronger than death in all sorts of people in whom I had never before discovered any signs of sentiment or romance.—Sir Edward Strachey.

WHITE PLAINS.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT AT THAT PLACE.

At present, the business outlook in our town and community is encouraging.

Mr. Marion Whiteside has recently added extensive machinery to his mill, and has built a large new house for ginning and packing cotton.

Cotton is opening rapidly, and the pickers are trying to get it out pretty and white as fast as it opens, though recent rains has materially impeded the work.

Quite an unexpected marriage took place a few miles from town on Sunday last, the contract being confirmed between Mr. Eugene Lusk and Miss Katie Willis in the Nancy's Creek community—Rev. Brimer officiating. A long and happy life is the wish of their many friends.

The constant whiz of the cotton gins, the incessant clatter to and fro of wagons, the systematic ringing of the school bell, the busy throng of drummers, customers, and passing students, all play their parts in dispelling the idea of unprecedented "hard times" and seem to impress contentment among the people.

On Friday evening the 13th inst. the first of a series of monthly oratorical contests by the students of school for Demorest medals will be held in the auditorium of White Plains High School building at 7 o'clock. There will be a class of eight contestants—exercises interspersed with music. The public are invited to attend.

Mr. John C. Watson has his handsome new dwelling nearly completed, and expects to remove there soon. His wife who has been for several weeks visiting relatives in Atlanta, is expected to return on Thursday. Miss Annie Fleming will also return in company with Mrs. Watson, from a visit to relatives in Atlanta, and will soon be enlisted with the other students of White Plains High School.

A SUMMARY OF THE HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK.

O. W. Sharpe has accepted a position with the Bank of Piedmont.

Farmer Wm. Deuly moved from his Nance's Creek farm to his beautiful Ladiga street residence this week.

The Coosa Manufacturing Company continues spin larger quantities of yarn, which finds ready sale in eastern markets.

New forces have been added to the broom factory, and they are now turning out large numbers of brooms, which finds a ready market.

Mr. Robert Stewart died at the house of his father, Mr. A. M. Stewart, near town, on Tuesday, and was buried at Carmel Wednesday morning.

The remains of Mr. Arthur Bush, a young man formerly of this place, were brought from Birmingham Tuesday, and interred at Carmel Wednesday.

Considering the low price of cotton, and the reluctance of farmers to sell just now, a goodly number of bales have been received this week, and, as usual, brought more than the market price.

The Calhoun County Baptist Association convened with the Piedmont Baptist church on Thursday, and a large number of delegates and visitors from all parts of the county are in attendance. The session promises to be an unusually interesting and instructive one.

The first term of the Cumberland Presbyterian Seminary opened last Monday with something over eighty pupils. President Russell and assistants have been very busy organizing and arranging classes, and the school is progressing even better than was expected. The people of the town and the officers of the school are in hearty cooperation, each trying to do the most for the other.

NEW HUNTING GROUNDS.

The brave red men and woman of Calhoun county have shouldered their skillets and stolen away.

The Indians—afterwards discovered to be wandering Gypsies not of the Meg Merrilies type—who have been digging on Capt. Ross's place near here for the bushel and three pecks of silver which they said had been buried by their forefathers, went away on Sunday to friends, saying they would return in a few days and pay off the hands they had hired. That is the last that has been heard from them. Perhaps they have sought newer digging grounds—or perhaps bad men have kidnapped them and will hold them for a ransom of a bushelof silver.

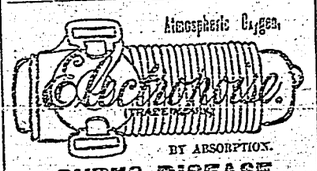

Meanwhile the colored gentlemen who were enticed to dig by the display of a bill wrapped round a handful of snuff coupons, will whistle for their money.

DR. SLAUGHTER INJURED.

Dr. T. G. Slaughter, the venerable presiding elder of this district of the North Alabama Methodist conference, was seriously injured near Iron City on Sunday last.

The carriage or hack in which he was riding from Davisville to Iron city came apart, throwing the doctor to the ground. One side of his head was bruised and his left shoulder sprained. He was taken to a residence nearby where his wounds were dressed.

The doctor is beloved throughout the entire district, and all will be glad to hear of his recovery.

A PHILOSOPHER AND HIS FAMILY.

His mind was in perpetual grasm
About the cause of protoplasm,
And when 'twas caused he longed to know
Jest what it was that made it grow.
He longed to know just what it was,
The cause behind the final cause.

Just what was chaos made of and
Upon what ground did chaos stand?
He wished to know what it could be
When in the shape of nebulæ,
And what was nature's aim in planning
Fore it began in the beginning.

He longed to know how it began,
The much debated fall of man?
What language Eden's old snake talked?
And if upon its tail it walked?
And if we'd landed high and dry
Had Eve's old apple hung too high?
He tried to find some one to tell
Of the "lost tribes of Israel."
And 'twas the problem of his life
To find out who was old Cain's wife
And just how much the world would gain
Had Abel lived, instead of Cain?

But his coarse neighbors wished to know
Just how his poor old wife could sew
Enough to buy him clothes and food
And feed seven children—hungry brood.
They were dull minded creatures, so
This simple thing they longed to know.

—Sam Walter Foss.

An Explanation.

As two men were about to meet on Champlain street a day or two ago one of them threw down his hat and pulled off his coat and shouted:

"I was a-looking for you! I want satisfaction!"

"Why, Thomas, what does this mean?" asked the other in great surprise.

"You've been talking against my wife!"

"Never!"

"But you have. You told the boys in the shop that she'd stop a clock."

"So I did, Thomas, but please understand"——

"That's an insult."

"It can't be, Thomas. You see we were talking about costly clocks and beautiful women, and I says to the men, says I:

"'Now, there's Tom Green's wife. If she had a $50 clock and was dusting the mantel off and shoved the hairbrush agin the pendulum, the beautiful and educated lady would cause the motion of said pendulum to become erratic and finally cease altogether.'

"That's what I said, Thomas, and I'll leave it to you if it wasn't a compliment?"

"Oh, that's the way you said it, eh? Well, come and take sumthin."

SAILED THE SEAS 38 YEARS.

One of His Experiences.

For thirty-eight years Capt. Loud followed the sea, most of that time as master of a vessel, and upon retiring from the water was appointed by the Secretary of the United States Treasury to superintend the seal fisheries in Alaska, which position he held five years. He relates one experience as follows:

"For several years I had been troubled with general nervousness and pain in the region of my heart. My greatest affliction was sleeplessness; it was almost impossible at any time to obtain rest and sleep. Having seen Dr. Miles' remedies advertised I began using Nervine. After taking a small quantity the benefit received was so great that I was positively alarmed, thinking the remedy contained opiates which would finally be injurious to me; but on being assured by the druggist that it was perfectly harmless, I continued it together with the Heart Cure. Today I can conscientiously say that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure did more for me than anything I had ever taken. I had been treated by eminent physicians in New York and San Francisco without benefit. I owe my present good health to the judicious use of these most valuable remedies, and heartily recommend them to all afflicted as I was."—Capt. A. P. Loud, Hampden, Me.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or by Dr. Miles' Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, express prepaid. They are free from all opiates and dangerous drugs.

Pimples AND Blotches

ARE EVIDENCE That the blood is full of impurities and that nature is endeavoring to throw off the impurities. Nothing is so beneficial in assisting nature as Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) It is a simple vegetable compound. Is harmless to the most delicate child, yet it forces the poison to the surface and eliminates it from the blood.

TESTIMONIAL.

I contracted a severe case of blood poison that unfitted me for business for four years. A few bottles of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) cured me. J. C. JONES, City Marshal, Fulton, Arkansas.

Stick to it!

Sometimes you may have to wait. The troubles that have been years in gathering can't always be cleared away in a day. For all the diseases and disorders peculiar to womanhood, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the surest and speediest remedy. You can depend upon that—but if your case is obstinate, give it reasonable time.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and a positive specific for female weaknesses and ailments. All functional disturbances, painful irregularities and derangements are corrected and cured by it. All unnatural discharges, bearing-down sensations, weak back, accompanied with faint spells and kindred symptoms, are corrected. In every case for which it's recommended, "Favorite Prescription," is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or the money is refunded. No other medicine for women is sold on such terms. That proves that nothing else offered by the dealer can be "just as good."

I WANT TO SPEAK TO YOU

I BELIEVE WE WILL SEE GREAT IMPROVEMENTS WITHIN THIRTY DAYS.

And that about as much will be realized from this crop as any for years, and after it has been marketed that the people will be nearer out of debt than they have ever been. My observation is that the people have lived close and worked harder than I have ever known and under these conditions prosperity will come.

HOLD FAST,

Make another cheap crop and you will be independent, and when you thrive I prosper, and build up my trade in every line. I want to see this country in condition to buy from me yearly Five Hundred One Thousand Wagons, Eleven Hundred Road-carts, Two Thousand Harrows, Five Hundred Mules and Houses. Grass seeds of all kinds to raise ten thousand tons of Hay, and all the supplies used on every Calhoun and every county adjoining it, and to be able to pay for all on the 1st of October each year. They certainly ought to. We've put our time and talent and goodness enough in them. We know that $15 and $18 doesn't sound very much, especially if you've been fooling with tailors prices. If what they charge $30 or $35 for will suit, our $15 and $18 grades are sure to be something of a saving, ain't it? You are not tied down to any style. You have more of a variety here than in a half dozen other stores. The cut of the garment is the latest SINGLE and DOUBLE BREASTED SACK SUITS and THREE and FOUR BUTTON CUTAWAY FROCKS.

By the way, have you thought about a business suit for the spring?

What's the matter with a Double breasted Sack?

There are going to be lots of them worn, and there are scores of neat effects among our stock, some light, some dark, of course betwixt and between shades. There is lots of style about them; lots of comfort and satisfaction in them

You see your spring suit and underwear will cost you less than the suit alone from a tailor.

CHEROKEE STRIP TALES.

A Tale With the Mayor of a New Town.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—One of the most enterprising of the Cherokee strip boomers, G. W. Milton, was at the interior department yesterday to make complaints about the management of the opening by the land office officials. Mr. Milton made the run from Colorado, was one of the first party to reach Woodward, and was elected mayor of the city thirty minutes after his arrival.

There was a railroad station of the Sante Fe line at Woodward with a roundhouse and 125 inhabitants before the strip was opened. Mayor Milton says that the special agent of the government, instead of locating his booth at Woodward, the natural site of the city, located it a mile west, establishing the government town there by a booth.

Although Woodward is twenty miles from the border with a country of hills and sand between, a claim to quarter section 30, on which the best part of the town stood, was entered twenty minutes after noon on the 16th, when the strip was opened. Forty-three minutes after, a man named Frank Morgan arrived on horseback and entered a claim to this same quarter section. Mr. Milton said that singularly enough the first claim disappeared from the books in Morgan's favor and his was entered. Not until an hour later did the main body of settlers arrive.

Mayor Milton makes no direct charges, but thinks that there must have been collusion to explain the location of the register's office a mile from the village, the fact that Morgan arrived so much sooner than any one else, and that his name was at once entered in place of the original entry.

Under the laws for opening the strip a party desiring to make a town site must file with the secretary of the interior a plat and evidence of his ability to perfect the title under the homestead laws, and deposit with the secretary of the interior $10 for each acre of the land.

Two days after the opening Morgan received his filings from the land officers. Meanwhile 500 people had settled there who thought they were entitled to the place and that his claim was fraudulent, so they sent the mayor to Washington. Yesterday Mayor Milton laid the case before Lamoreux, of the general land office, who promised to telegraph an order to Woodward suspending the homestead proceedings. The mayor found that Morgan's claim, with the deposit of $1600, had been brought before the secretary of the interior, but had not been passed on by the land office officials. The 160 acres in question already have $30,000 worth of improvements, with several stores and a hotel.

Special agent Womack, of the interior department, who had charge of some of the details of the opening, returned from the Cherokee strip yesterday. Speaking of the arrangements, he said: "The history of former openings discloses that many people have gone on the lands before the time fixed by law, securing a fraudulent advantage over the honest home seeker. To forestall frauds of this kind in opening the Cherokee strip the secretary of the interior adopted the plan of registration, which has proved a success."

The booths were opened for five days before the day of opening. Meanwhile the interior of the strip was patroled by soldiery so that all persons could be accounted for. While some succeeded in violating the law, nine-tenths of the mischief was prevented. The reports regarding the scarcity of water were exaggerated, as were the other stories of suffering from the crowding together of so many people.

Phenomenal Success of a Lecture.

"Yes," said the man with the appetite for rye, "it may seem a bit like a fairy story to you fellows, but I was once a temperance orator."

"Trying to work off that old gag about the horrible example, are you?" asked the seedy man suspiciously.

"Not a bit of it," replied the man with the appetite for rye warmly. "I was just what I said I was, a temperance orator, and I didn't have no truck with horrible examples at all."

"Where'd you lecture?" asked a member of the party.

"Oh, all over the country. I had some phenomenal successes too. Once I was out in a town in Illinois and lectured to an audience composed entirely of men. There were 200 there, and when I got through I had made such an impression that every last man took the pledge. That's what I call pretty good work."

"Pretty good," said the seedy man, "but how long did they keep it?"

"Keep it! Why, they are still keeping it. I have kept myself informed on that point and there hasn't a man touched a drop from that day to this."

"What town was this?" asked the seedy man.

"Joliet. I lectured before the life prisoners in the state prison, and the warden made them take the pledge."—Buffalo Express.

An interesting comparison of the literary output of 1892 with that of the year 1800, in proportion to the estimated number of readers then and now, is based on the computation that there are four times as many readers now as in 1800. On this basis the only really revolutionary change shown is in the number of new novels, though there has been an increase along other lines. There has been some increase in theology and sermons, and in history and biography. There has been considerable increase in books educational, classical, philological and still more in voyages and travels. Arts, sciences and illustrated works would seem to have diminished, while law, medicine and poetry have diminished to a far greater extent.

Novels, on the other hand, have multiplied enormously. The actual number of new novels in 1800 was 46. The number in 1892 was 1,147. The number of novels written and not published as shown by testimony from prominent publishing houses is startling. The judgment of the experts based on the number of works examined is that of amateur novelists only about three in every 100 manage to get their works printed.—Author.

Skeptical About This Wholesale Execution.

A well known New York artist tells this story of himself:

"While we were spending the summer at our country home, a little girl called to see my wife. As she was engaged, I attempted to entertain the child by showing her pictures of famous French women. The first was Charlotte Corday. I gave a brief account of her life and finished by saying they cut her head off! The child caught her breath, but said nothing. The next picture was that of Mme. Roland. I told about her, and finally said, 'And they cut her head off.'

"The child's face grew rather incredulous, but still she said nothing. The next face was Marie Antoinette's. 'Oh!' she exclaimed. 'What a beautiful lady! How lovely she is.' 'Yes,' I answered, 'she was perfectly lovely. But they cut her head off.'

"This was too much. The child arose and looking at me in the most indignant way said: 'Humph! What do you take me for? I ain't so green as I look!'"—New York Tribune.

STILL ANOTHER.

ROANOKE, Oct. 10—Campbell & Wright, who have an extensive ginnery in connection with their oil mill, received the following notice through the mail Sunday, mailed at Rock Mills:

"White Caps, No. 876. We have come at last, and when you read this you will see what you have to do: First, you must stop your ginnery or we will stop it for you. If you think it will pay you to run your gin, then go ahead; but you will be sure to lose it.

"Mr. Farmer, if you haul your cotton to a gin you will be sure to lose your cotton and corn crib. Ten cents for cotton must come."

As a result of this notice Campbell & Wright and the mayor of Roanoke ordered twenty-five Winchesters with a full supply of cartridges.

The mayor says he intends to protect the property of the town. Guards will be put at the warehouses and at the entrances of the streets leading in town.

The Times learned yesterday that the White Cappers had posted a Mr. Campbell's gin house in the northern part of the county. He says he intends to put a shot gun quarantine around his gin and go ahead as if nothing had ever occurred. He does not propose to be bulldozed by such a set of ruffians. —Selma Times.

LATER: Every gin from Museville, Perry county, to Randolph, in Bibb county, has been posted by the whitecappers.—Selma Times.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Oct. 7.—There can no longer exist any doubt as to the existence of some lawless organization in Madison county. So far no gins have been reported burned, but gins belonging to the following named, gentlemen have been posted: W. J. Chambress, steam gin in Maysville; H. P. Bone W. J. Nance, Kirby Derrick, Chas. Jordan, Farmer's Alliance gin, Bruce, Lawler, Eaton & Jones.

All of these gins are in Maysville precinct. There are doubtless other gins we have not yet mentioned which have received the attention of the lawless element.

Robert McKinney at Brownsboro has received the following notice:

"We will burn all cotton picked for 40c per hundred, and whip the man who does the picking."

We were told by a citizen yesterday, and in the presence of several that those notices were from Dr. Whitecap, Bull Run; Dr. Whitecap Chickamauga; Dr. Whitecap, Seven Pines.

The country is much stirred up.

COURTLAND, Lawrence Co., Ala., Oct. 9—At this hour (12:30 a.m.) the steam gin and grist mill at this place belonging to Bynum & Ashford was burned. The property is valued at $4000. Seventy-five bales of ginned cotton, fifteen bales of seed cotton and five tons of seed were burned. Fifteen bales of cotton and all the seed belonging to Bynum & Ashford, which will run their loss up to $5,000. The remaining seventy-five bales belong to small farmers, who lose from one to five bales each. The fire was discovered at 11 o'clock and was beyond control. The origin is incendiary. All is a total loss. No insurance.

A gentleman in town yesterday from Clay county informed the Home that about ten ginhouses in that county had been posted by the White Caps, and the people were greatly excited over the matter.—Talladega Home.

A Birmingham dispatch of the 10th to the Atlanta Constitution notes four gin houses and water mills burned in Lawrence county and says that not less than ten gin houses have been burned in the state in the last two weeks.

The Atlanta Constitution notes the spread of the lawless work to Georgia and calls for the vigorous prosecution of the offenders.

The year '93 began on Sunday, and it will end on Sunday, thus giving fifty-three Sundays to the year.

THE REPORT.

Of the County Supenintendent of Education.

HE TELLS OF THE INSTITUTES

Held in Calhoun County, during the School Year Ending September 30, 1893---Thanks the People for Their Co-operation.

For the REPUBLICAN.

Hon. J. G. Harris, State Supt. Education:

Dear Sir:—During the school year ending September 30th 1893. We have held three Institutes for whites and two for colored teachers in Calhoun county. The first for white was on the 12th and 13th January, and notwithstanding the extremely cold weather and snow it was attended by thirty teachers —nearly all from whom contracts had been received at that time. A number of topics of interests were discussed a regular program having been adopted and question box prepared on the first morning. Miss Bessie Haley of the State Normal school was elected Secretary, and her superior and carefully prepared minutes were subsequently published in the JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN, a copy of which was mailed to you.

Two important resolutions were unanimously adopted, one in favor of an uniform series of text books for the county, and the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to draft and forwarded to our representatives in the legislature a bill suitable for the purpose, J. W. Abercrombie, B. E. Jarratt and H. C. Gunnels.

The other resolution was in favor of a bill prepared and read by Prof. J. W. Abercrombie to be submitted to the General Assembly of Alabama, said bill requires civil government to be taught in all the public schools of the state.

Various practical topics were discussed by Profs. Dodson, Jarratt, Persons, Forney, Bynum, Gunnels and others.

The second institute for whites was held in the Court House in Jacksonville on the 7th and 8th of April. The weather was delightful and fifty-three teachers were present probably as large a number as ever attended a county institute in the State. Much enthusiasm was manifested by all in attendance and we hope that much good was accomplished. A program had been previously prepared by a committee appointed for the purpose with Prof. B. E. Jarratt as chairman, three hundred copies of which were published by the Educational Exchange of Montgomery and presented to the teachers of the county.

The following teachers were thus enabled to come prepared with able essays or speeches on different subjects assigned them: Profs. Jarratt, Persons, Bynum, Gunnels, Forney and Miss Haley.

The papers submitted by each of the above were of such superior merit that their authors were unanimously requested by the institute to furnish copies for publication in the county papers.

The third white institute was held in Anniston on the 29th and 30th of September, appointed by the County Superintendent for the last days of the month with the hope that he would be able to pay off teachers for the quarter as he had done during the previous institutes. Prof. H. C. Gunnels was made secretary.

Barring the disappointment of teachers that the money had not arrived, the occasion was a source of much enjoyment and instruction to the forty-two present.

The address of welcome by Prof. Abercrombie and the papers read by Misses Haley, Agee, Persons and Mrs. Mathis, also those by Pros. Eaddy, Persons, Gunnels, Stevenson and Dodson were all of eminent and it was a treat to hear them, and the discussions following presenting a literary feat rarely equaled. The last named, Prof. J. L. Dodson, the nestor of the teachers of Calhoun, has won the gratitude of the friends of education by his faithful labors in behalf of our institutes as a member of the County Board of Education for twenty years, besides his grand life work as founder and president of Oxford college.

I cannot close without expressing my grateful appreciation of the address of Hon. D. D. McLeod on the Huntley amendment on the evening of the 29th which was followed by recitation by Misses Gladden, Luttrell, and Bar, each of whom possesses elocutionary powers of a high order. My thanks are also due Prof. H. T. Persons for his admirable work as secretary of the County Board of Education.

The first colored institute which was held on the 31st March and day following greatly exceeded my expectations in the essays read and the discussions which demonstrated very clearly that many of the teachers are well qualified and also deeply interested in their work. Profs. Moses, Allen, Green, Albert, Hannah and McAlpine deserve especial mention for papers read. The second colored institute was opened by the county Superintendent on the August 24th and successfully conducted for three days by Prof. J. R. Savage, appointed for the purpose by you. By notifying the teachers to attend it as a county institute the presence of nearly or quite all the colored teachers was secured. My duties elsewhere called me away after the first day—having found Prof. Savage thoroughly equipped for his work by close observation for several hours. I hope you will send him around again next year. As less than ten colored schools are open except during the 2nd and 4th quarters, I deem it unwise to hold more than two institutes per year for their race.

In addition to the five institutes reported above, and five educational mass meetings a report of which was sent you a few weeks since, I have visited a considerable number of schools during their regular day work and have attended the closing exercises of several others, and have delivered talks of from 30 to 60 minutes upon each occasion. I use this opportunity for returning thanks to Hon. Wm. M. Hames, J. D. Hammond, J. M. Caldwell, Ben Micou, Rev. Hamilton and Brewster, Profs. Dodson, Forney, Abercrombie, Gunnels, Alexander, Bowling, Glass, Bynum, Representatives Williams of this county and McCall, of Etowah, for instructive and able addresses during our mass meetings, I also return thanks to the people of the respective communities for their presence, good attention and splendid dinners furnished and to the newspapers of the county which have won the gratitude of the friends of education by publishing free of charge the circulars you sent me and the various appointment notices and minutes of the meetings.

L. D. MILLER,

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

"The farmer's wife need never be ashamed of her position," writes a woman in a paper devoted to agricultural subjects. "Nobody lives a more independent life. It does not stand to reason that because she is a farmer's wife she must spend her whole life in the kitchen or dairy room. If she has any ingenuity she can make so many pretty things to decorate her home. She can have books and music, birds and flowers. Plants do not cost very much. Almost any neighbor will give away slips, which with very little care in a sunny window will more than pay for their trouble. I have my windows full of plants. You may say you have no windows fit for plants. I have had plants in a north window and had blossoms all winter. And besides if you have not a window you can spare to them go out in the woods and take up fern roots and pot them. They don't need the sun. A shady corner is the best for them and you will have green around you all the winter, and it will make your heart more happy and your home more homelike. Don't look down on your calling and think your are not just as good as anybody as long as you behave yourself, for you are."

DOUSCHKA.

A Glimpse at the Good Old Times of the Long Ago.

A PRETTY SOUTHERN STORY.

The Relation of Master and Slave Before the War---General Picken's Request at Death Carried out by His Faithful Servants.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—There is an interesting and pretty story that comes here from the south and is being told by southern people, a story of a scene in South Carolina, which will possibly never be witnessed again in the south, a tale of slave devotion and slaveholder's appreciation which sounds almost like fiction and deserves a place at least in newspaper literature.

At "Edgewood," the ancestral home of Governor Pickens, South Carolina, there lately died his daughter "Douschka," who was as well known in the South at her death as was her illustrious father at the close of his career. He was celebrated for two things before the war, being Minister to the court at St. Petersburg and possessing the most beautiful woman in the South as his wife. The daughter was known as the "child of the people" She was born in Russia, and the Duchess of Olga and the Duchess of Neva, whose names she bore, stood as godmothers to the little American. Her aristocratic names were soon lost sight of in the gay court circle, and to all she was "Douschka," the Russian for "darling."

She was several years old when her father was recalled, and on leaving the Empire she was the recipient of many valuable mementoes, but the one she valued most was the minature likeness of the old Czar, framed in gold and hung about her neck by the veteran Alexander himself. She brought to her beautiful Southern home her Russian name, and in the entire South there is, possibly, not a person who has not heard of Douschka Pickens. She was friendly with all; free to enter any household and welcome in all.

Before the close of the war Gen. Pickens died. Learning his approaching fate he summoned all his slaves at midnight from their cottages and, being lifted from his bed to the window around which they were gathered, the dying Governor called upon them to stand by their mistress and their "little missy Douschka," no matter what the war might bring about, or what temptations might cross their path to tempt them away. He died as the moon rose and the oldest of his slaves were his pall bearers. Since then not one of the men whom he addressed that night has left the service of his widow, and at the close of the civil strife, when negroes were hastening to seek work in towns and cities, the Pickens plantation almost alone remained inact.

It is almost the only plantation where the laborer is paid a bonus in addition to his salary according to the season or success of the crop. This plan of giving to the tiller his per centage of the fruit of his toil was instituted by Douschka at the age of eighteen. She was the pride of Edgefield county, and was renowned as both a good woman and a good farmer. In the fox chase she always took the lead and generally the fox, and some of her daring feats gave her the title of "Di Vernon." In the ball room she had her father's brilliancy coupled with her mother's beauty and courtly graces, and it was in the ballroom that she met the man she married, Dr. Dugas, of Augusta, Ga. At her marriage she received a silver tea service from the present Czar in token of his father's love for her and some of her handsomest wedding gifts came from her mother's friends in Russia.

She was buried from Edgewood and her funeral services were without a parallel in Southern history. As related by a prominent South Carolina lady, who was an eye witness of the services, it was a memorable scene. Her pall bearers were the ex-slaves of her father, some of whom had borne him to his grave over a score of years ago. The spectacle was striking in its antithises. The coffin was white velvet, profusely covered with white flowers, and around it in the palatial ball room of the homestead were grouped the white haired negroes. The scene was impressive enough in itself, but was almost startling in its solemnity when Mrs. Pickens, the courtly, beautiful mother stepped to the head of the casket and facing her faithful servants addressed them:

"I have sent for you to do you this honor because," and here there was a break in the voice, "I wish to make a public acknowledgement of your faithfulness and devotion, through all her sweet life, to this your young mistress. When your master died, you will remember, he sent for you and confided to your faithful care and protection his wife and his little child. You have been faithful to that trust. In all the dreadful times of riot and thieving you have stood by us and protected us, and I thank you now in the presence of all these friends for your loyalty and devotion. That sweet young life is now over, and you will carry from this room her precious body. Her spirit is with God; she is now an angel in heaven, and I now ask you to continue your faithful devotion and protection to your desolate mistress and to these little children of your young mistress, whom she loved better than her life."

It was a strange sight this little speech and appeal of a mistress to her ex-slaves at the casket of her daughter. The ex-slaves, weeping and awed, bore their young mistres to the family burying ground and laid her by the side of her father, whom they had buried thirty years before. The tombstone will bear the name by which she was known, "Douschka." She was the vice-regent of Mt. Vernon from South Carolina, and enthusiastic over the old home of Washington, always at the meetings and upon all her visits to this city has been received with marked social attention.

Elaborate preparations are being made in Savannah for the entertainment of the delegates to the National Farmers' Convention, which is to be held in that city on December 12 to 15. Gov. Northen will welcome the delegates to Georgia, while Mayor McDonough will extend them a cordial welcome to the city. President J. O. Waddell will welcome the delegates on behalf of the State Agricultural Society. There will be speakers on the list from South Carolina, Mississippi, Georgia, Kansas, Nebraska, Maine, Illinois and other States. The convention was held last year in Lincoln, Neb., and Vice-President Purse, after a hard fight, succeeded in securing it for Savannah this year. The resolution under which the convention was brought there included a guarantee that the expenses of the convention to an amount not to exceed $500 would be paid, and that the usual reduction in hotel rates would be secured, two things with which Savannah never has and never will find any difficulty in complying when a body like the National Farmers' Convention consents to pay them a visit.

There are some men whom printers like. When they meet you they give your hand a shake which is genuine and does you good. They never allow their subscription to run behind, rarely fail to give you the news and occasionally bring in a subscriber. They are always ready to speak a good word for their home paper, and in a hundred other ways render themselves indispensable to you.—Sumter Record

Theives got into the Russian section of the Manufacturer's Building at the World's Fair a day or two ago and stole $10,000 worth of furs. Winter is coming on apace and it is well to be provided with nice warm garments—so thought the thieves.

THE CALLOUSNESS

With Which the News of Terrible Disasters

ARE RECEIVED BY THE PEOPLE

Shows That We are Living at a Pace Never Before Equalled in the World's History---Swift People in a Swift Age.

It is old enough to be trite, to say that we are living in a fast age.

For twenty-five years the world has rushed along at a fearful pace, which has no countrepart in history. Formerly, the wheels of progress turned slowly and steadily, so that while the world moved, the movement was scarcely perceptible.

Now the wheels go round so fast that it makes one dizzy to look on.

Everything and everybody works on time and high pressure.

Nothing perhaps better illustrates the pace at which we are going than the callousness or indifference with which the public mind receives the news of the great events, or the great disasters of the day. Formerly a railroad accident in which a few people were killed, would absord the interest of the people all over the land. A sensational tragedy attracted attention on every hand; a conflagration in a distant city would appall the people and make them look closer to their homes. These and greater calamities would be talked of for many days and weeks, and where they occurred would be made landmarks for future reference.

More people, doubtless, read of of these calamities, for the reason that there are more people, and more of them read the papers. But they are less and less skocked by the awfulness, the ghastliness, or the magnitude of the occurrences, and read of them, if not with indifference, certainly without demonstration.

The great railroad disasters of the present year, in which so many lives have been lost, have hardly impressed the public mind. The Asiatic cholera, which began to get a foothold in Europe last year, and is now enlarging its territory, subjecting the port officers and the sanitary officials of this country to the most extreme care and vigilance, is hardly ever referred to by the people, and rarely by the press. The dreadful epidemic of yellow fever, that decimated and depopulated the prosperous and ambitious city of Brunswick, that has made the people destitute and the objects of the world's charity, does not alarm other cities and towns within reach, which a few years ago would have been utterly demoralized.

The great hurricane that recently devasted the sea islands and the coast of South Carolina, and did such damage on Tybee Island and the city of Savannah, the list of the numbering towards the 1,000, did not appall the country as it would have a few years ago. And more recently, the awful storm that has just swept the gulf country in the region of Mobile and Louisiana, where 2,000 people were drowned and but few left to tell the tale of horror; the public has already glanced over the appalling record of loss of life, comprehended surely the awfully calamity, and has practically dismissed it for their usual routine.

It cannot be that the people have less heart or humanity, for there has never been such outpouring of charity, and relief for the sick, the wounded, the unclad and starving, has been prompt and generous. But we are living too fast. We haven't the leisure to think and feel that we had formerly, and these calamities and national disasters crowd so thick and fast upon each other that we are becoming familiar with them, or we pass from one to another, each perhaps more frightful than the other, without the shock which years ago would have made the people turn pale and left them breathess and speechless.—Columbus Enquirer.

LAWLESSNESS.

We publish this week a few of the dispatches recording the burning of gin-houses and the attempt of lawless conspirators in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Arkansas to take charge of the affairs of the farmers and regulate the time of marketing the crops and the price of labor.

In this county this conspiracy has manifested itself in a different form. Some of the landowners between Jacksonville and Piedmont, have received written notices that they must cease to rent land to negroes or employ negro labor, on pain of having their houses and fences burned.

It is unnecessary to trace the source of this lawless manifestation.

There is always, in every community, both in town and country, a vicious and lawless element who fret continuously under the restraints of law, and who are consumed with jealousy at the good fortune of those who work steadily and prosper. These need, at any time, only a show of public sentiment behind them to manifest what is in their hearts. This public sentiment these misguided people have been led to believe is behind them, by a class of speakers who have been going about the country advocating violence as a remedy for imaginary wrongs and inculcating a contempt for the law-making power, the law and all constituted authority. But this is very far from being the truth. There is no public sentiment of consequence behind lawlessness and crime.

This is a land of law.

The overwhelming masses of the people, in all callings of life, realize that the law is the only protection they have for their lives, liberty and property, and they are for the maintainance of law.

Among these such outrages as we have recited will meet frowning condemnation and speedy punishment. The men who are doing and conspiring to do these lawless acts stand in the shadow of the penitentiary now, and, if their conspiracy marches to its logical result—murder as well as arson—soon the awful spectre of the gallows will face them. The law and the power of public opinion and the strength and boldness and determination of the law-abiding men of this country are too strong for any number of men who will engage in such desperate crime; and we warn, in all kindness, any misguided persons in Calhoun, who may have unthinkingly entered upon this fearful course of crime, to abandon it at once. Nothing can be accomplished by it, save the utter ruin of all who engage in it, and the injury of some good and hard-working farmers who may have their cotton burned or their credit ruined by reason of their inability to market their crops to meet their liabilities, which may be pressing. Such conduct cannot affect the price of cotton the millionth part of a cent.—Vast quantities are going forward from all parts of the South—enough to keep the mills of the world going for months—and mill owners can well afford to wait for that which may be held back by such desperate measures. It is better to let the laws of trade take their course. Let the farmers hold cotton, if they can and wish to do so. That is their right, and may be to their interest; but is is also their right to market their cotton whenever they may think their interests or their necessities demand it, and they also have right to employ such labor as they may choose.—To prevent them from doing this, by threats or force, is the very essence of tyranny, and tyranny cannot be tolerated for a moment in a free country.

We repeat that the men who have entered into this conspiracy have thrown themselves into the face of a fearful danger. Every instinct of self preservation should warn them to flee from it and abandon atonce and forever all idea that they can regulate things in a free country by force and violence.

The Tucker bill repealing the federal elections bill, which allowed U. S. inspectors of election and deputy marshals and soldiers at the polls, has been repealed by the House and is now in the Senate. The Republicans all voted against repeal and the Democrats and Populists all voted for repeal.

A WORD TO THE BUSINESS MEN OF JACKSONVILLE.

The live business men of Anniston take almost all the available advertising space of the REPUBLICAN this week. A stranger looking at the advertising columns of the paper alone, would suppose it was printed in Anniston rather than Jacksonville. The business men of Jacksonville should be better represented in the columns of their home paper. As it is, the impression is bound to be made abroad as well as at home that Jacksonville has no business interests of importance, or that her merchants care little for trade. This we all know is far from being the case. Jacksonville does an extensive business and her merchants are wide awake. The failure to advertise is more a matter of neglect than anything else. The REPUBLICAN does not ask the advertisements of Jacksonville's merchants as a matter of charity, but for their own interests and the interests of the town to which it has always been loyal. The paper brings more to the town than it makes out of it by far. The advertising accounts and the accounts for subscription of Jacksonville, if all paid promptly, would not pay the running expenses of the REPUBLICAN two months in the year. The paper brings money to the town and adds to its wealth. It ought to receive that liberal encouragement from the town that any other manufacturing enterprise would be promised if it should propose to come to Jacksonville. The paper has been more than a manufacturing enterprise in bringing money to the town. It has ever been the alert defender of the interests of the town and has sacrificed much for it. Dating from the first election of Judge Crook, when county issues were up affecting the interests of the town, the paper has repeatedly sacrificed the support of the men whom it has politically opposed in that interest; yet it has never flickered for an instant. For many years, beginning with and growing out of that memorable contest over the probate judgeship, it has had practically no support from the rich advertising fields of Anniston. It indeed gave up what it had there. The amount thus lost in the course of many years by loyalty to home interests has amounted to thousands of dollars. Happily now the feeling engendered in that contest, and kept alive since at intervals, has died out, and the business men of Anniston have come to recognize the REPUBLICAN for what it is—an honest paper, devoted to the interests of the people where it is published, but utterly fair to all interests in any and every part of the the county, and a valuable advertising medium because of its long publication in the county and its wide circulation among the best class of farmers, mechanics, professional and business men of the county, whose trade is worth something. At this juncture is it asking too much of the business men of Jacksonville when it requests as liberal a support of the town, as it is receiving at the hands of other towns in the county? We think not.

The bar of the county have signed an agreement that Judge Box shall hold no term for the trial of the civil docket at this season in the county. The grand jury will be empannelled and the jail cases will be tried and this will be all. Jurors and witnesses summoned for the civil week of court need not attend, as will be seen by notice of the sheriff published in this paper.

This action of the bar is commendable. The people are busy in their crops, times are hard and it is well to save witnesses and others the expense of attending a long term of the court at this time.

RESPECTFULLY DECLINED.

The State Executive Committee of the Democratic Party of Alabama meet in Montgomery the 12th inst., and declined to accept the Goodwyn proposition of surrender. The Committee cordially invite all democrats to return to the party, but say they have no power or authority to treat with Goodwyn Committee who represent a party hostile to the Democratic party. This ends all compromise talk in the future.

A Gadsden dispatch of the 8th inst. says that Coun Daugndrill, the man who murdered Armstrong Stewart, March 15 1892, has surrendered himself to the authorities in Seattle, Washington, and that Etowah officers have gone after him.

As a matter of consistency the REPUBLICAN is taking no hand in the controversy between Commissioner Coker and Mr. Brewster. The paper only publishes the matter on each side, because each requests it to publish. We hope the gentlemen will come to an amicable understanding. In the discussion of public affairs there ought to be no necessity for the employment of personalities.

The U. S. Senate has been filibustering all night and day continuously since Wednesday morning. A compromise is likely.

The St. Clair county Alliance, at its meeting at Eden Oct. 6th, passed resolutions denouncing in the strongest of terms the burning of gin-houses and pledge themselves to bring the authors to justice. The resolutions denounce such acts as "damnable outrages."

The Iowa State Farmers' Alliance at its meeting the 10th inst. voted down a resolution favoring free coinage of silver, and adopted a resolution that favors a sound and stable currency of sufficient volume for the business of the country.

The Blocton Courier, published in Bibb county, says:

"At a meeting of the Farmers' Alliance at Antioch, in this county, a proposition was made to petition Gov. Jones to call an extra session of the Legislature for the purpose of passing a law to prohibit the sale of any more cotton for less than ten cents."

Whitecaps have posted the gin houses in Crawford county, Ark., threatening to burn them if any more cotton is ginned before it reaches ten cents. There is great uneasiness among the farmers and some of them are resorting to shot guns and guards.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Louisa J. Skelton, Born November 3rd, 1837, died Oct. 9th, 1893.

"Ring the bell softly, there's crape on the door,
Some one has gone to heaven's glad shore."

The good-byes were said forever. The afternoon sunlight was fading and the grave tenderness of the "faraway mountain purple," was wrapping the earth in holy peace, when high over all sounded the angels' song of welcome to the newborn spirit.

The dear woman we knew and loved so well is safe in the eternal city, where "God shall wipe away all tears," and where there shall be "no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain."

The same hands whose fingertouch brought the flowers she loved so well, out of their seed-casket, and from their earth-grave has said; "I am the resurrection and the life." "Them that sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him."

Our tears drop like autumn rain, for those bereft of the devotion and love that had never failed them in her daily life, we mourn over those who weep for her, for him who will miss her face so sadly.

But no tears for her, oh! no, no tears for her. She is only a flower transplanted, where when we lay aside mortality and put on immortality, we will meet her again in the radiant beauty of angelhood, amid the victorious throng who have only gone before.

We need no written words to tell she was a Christian. To a friend she said, "The way has long been so full of pain, I feared my patience and my trust in God would fail, but now I feel the end is near, it is easier to bow beneath the rod," and the last conscious words were, "I will soon be in glory."

The large crowd that followed her to her last resting place, and numerous floral offerings showed the esteem and affection of her neighbors.

"True heart, we leave you now, for just a little time we say Good-Bye.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a call meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church, South, of Jacksonville, Ala., Oct. 12, 1893, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Whereas, in the order of Divine Providence, Mrs. Lou Skelton, who has long been a devoted member of the M. E. Church, South, and also a member of this society since its organization, has been taken from our midst by the hand of death and our hearts having thereby been deeply moved; therefore be it

Resolved, 1st, That in her death we have lost one of nature's noblewomen, a generous friend, a genial companion, a woman of true and honest purpose, of pure mind, of sound judgment, prompt in action faithful in all matters pertaining to the church, a most earnest Christian worker, and an ardent lover of all Christian people.

Resolved, 2nd, That we have lost one whose presence in memory we shall ever be proud to recall, for her blameless Christian life, her wise counsels, her faithful admonitions, and her zeal for the cause of Christ.

Resolved 3d, That from the manner of her life among us, and from the postive character of her Christian experience and testimony during her illness, we are fully persuaded that our loss is her eternal gain, and that while we are mourning on earth, she is rejoicing with the redeemed and blood-washed in heaven.

Resolved 4th, That we offer to the bereaved ones our sincere condolence, and for them our earnest prayer is that He who has promised not to leave his children comfortless, may afford them gracious consolation in this their hour of sore trial.

Resolved 5th, That a copy of these resolutions be tendered to the bereaved family of our deceased sister, that they be sent to the Republican and Alabama Christian Advocate for publication, and also that a copy be spread upon the minutes of this society.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS.

Caused by Carelessness.

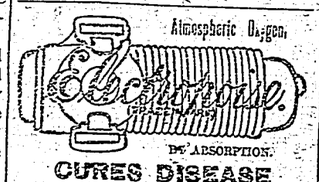

The majority of people die sooner than they should. Evidence of this fact is growing daily. Waring says: "Disease is not a consequence of life; it is due to unnatural conditions of living—neglect, abuse, want." Dr. Stephen Smith, on the same subject, "Man is born to health and long life; disease is unnatural, death, except from old age, is accidental, and both are preventable by human agencies." This is almost invariably true of death resulting from heart disease. Careless over-exertion, intemperate use of tea, coffee, tobacco, alcoholic or other stimulants are generally the causes of this difficulty, and indifference to its progress results in sudden death, or long sickness ending in death. By the newspapers it can be seen that many prominent and hundreds of persons in private life die from heart disease every day.

If you have any of the following symptoms: shortness of breath, palpitation, irregular pulse, fainting and smothering spells, pain in shoulder, side, or arm, swollen ankles, etc., begin treatment immediately for heart disease. If you delay, the consequences may be serious.

For over 20 years Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent specialist, has made a profound study of heart disease, its causes and cure, and many of the leading discoveries in that direction are due to him. His New Heart Cure is absolutely the only reliable remedy for the cure of heart disease, as is proved by thousands of testimonials from grateful persons who have used it.

James A. Fain, editor of the Corry, Pa., Leader, states: "After an apparent recovery from three months of la-grippe, I fell on the street unconscious from heart disease. In one month from that time I was unable to walk across my room, and my pulse beat from 85 to 116 times a minute. I then used Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and at once became stronger. After using six bottles I was able to work as usual and walk a mile every day, my pulse ranging from 68 to 80. Dr. Miles' remedy is not only a preventive but a cure."

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs. Dr. Miles' Pills, 25 cents. Free book at druggists, or by mail.

We regret to learn of the continued and serious illness of A. L. McKay, of the Anniston Hot Blast.

Ladies fine grain button shoes for only one dollar. The best bargain ever offered in shoes.—Crow Bros.

Col. Robt. McKee and Mr. J. C. Wickes, of Piedmont, were among their many friends here for a short time Tuesday.

The ice plant closed down for the season Friday, but there is enough ice on hand to supply the town for some time.

Mr. B. W. Duke, of Duke's, was in town Monday on business. While here he gave the REPUBLICAN office a pleasant call.

Great quantities of coal have been for weeks coming into the town and our people are now pretty well "heeled" for the winter.

The REPUBLICAN received six columns of new advertisements this week, late in the week, and this threw the paper too late for some of the mails Friday.

Mrs. S. D. G. Brothers, Mr. Sam Wyly, and the charming Miss Jennie Wyly drove down from Jacksonville on Monday and are in the city.—Hot Blast.

Mrs. J. C. Graham, of New York, who has been on a short visit to her son, Mr. Henry Graham, on South Main street, returned to her home on Tuesday.

The Baptist meeting closed Sunday night. Three persons were baptized. Though not many have joined the church great good has been accomplished by the meeting.

There will be a meeting of Hiram Lodge No. 42, F. & A. M., next Monday night. Business of importance to be transacted. Visiting brethren invited to be present. By order of—T. R. Ward, W. M.

Rev. Robert Listen, who has just recovered from a long illness, is gratefully appreciative of the many acts of courtesy and kindness shown him by the hospitable people of Jacksonville during his illness.

The mill pond at the Ross place, near the old Robt. Alexander place, was drawn off Monday. Quite a number of gentlemen went out from Jacksonville and took nets and seins, but got no fish, as the water did not fall low enough.

Tax Assessor McClelen says that he has assessed 2111 mules and 1687 horses in the county for taxes. The average price of the mules as given in for taxes is $60 and the horses $56.66. This is a pretty good showing as to the assessed value.

Ullman Brothers have now a full assortment of boys' suits from 4 to 14 years, from $1.50 to $7.50. Youths suits from 15 to 18 years, from $3.50 to $15. Men suits from $5 to $20. Latest styles, elegant quality and newest patterns at—Ullman Bros., Anniston.

This will be the best theatrical season that Anniston has ever known and many Jacksonville people will attend—in carriages, however, as the trains do not run with regard to our convenience. "After the Ball" and "Alabama" are the next attractions.

A cheap Piano. This fine piano originally cost $500. Within a year the inside works have been thoroughly overhauled by piano makers at a cost of $45 and are now as good as new. It will be put thoroughly in tune before delivery to buyer. Will be sold for $75 cash. There was never such a bargain offered. Good for family or school room. Apply to this office.

Rund's, the great dry goods, notions and shoe house, of Anniston, takes half a column this week to talk to buyers throughout the county. You can't help seeing his advertisement and you can't help being fascinated by the bargains if you see them. This is one of the solidest firms in Anniston and there is none more deserving of your patronage.

We take pleasure in announcing that we now have the finest line of fine and medium woolen dress goods from 10 cents to $1.25 per yard, cotton suitings from 7½ to 15 cents, beautiful new patterns. Ginghams from 5 cents up. prints from 4½ cents up. White and colored flannels and everything kept in a first class dry goods house, which we will sell at bottom prices. —Ullman Bros., Anniston.

Mr. A. G. Hester, who has been a resident of Jacksonville for several years past, has gone to Dalton where he will assume the management of the Dalton House. Mr. Hester formerly conducted the Tredegar Inn at this place successfully. Charlie Arnold accompanied him and will look after the guests at night. Their many friends here regret to part with them, but wish them much success.

For two months past the REPUBLICAN has been carrying a half page advertisement for Alf. Truitt. Now comes the Anniston Hardware Company and takes similar space to be heard from. Read their advertisement and the inducements they offer for trade. Everybody in the county knows the Sproull boys and know that they are hustling, honest and fair dealing men. Go and see their stock when you go to Anniston.

LISTEN TO THIS!

Will our subscribers give us the news of their neighborhoods? We hope so. The REPUBLICAN each week ought to be a mirror reflecting all the occurrences in the county each week. This can only be done through the kindness of subscribers in sending in the news. Each community should desire to have a place in the news happenings of the county and thus keep itself within the notice of the public. It does not matter whether you feel competent to write for the press or not—write. We will fix the matter up for you. All we want is the news and only news, not opinions. If anybody is seriously sick, or hurt, or dies, or marries in your neighborhood, write to us about it, as well as an account of church meetings, school meetings, society meetings or anything of interest in that line. In short write us of anything in the shape of news or information, such as the state of the crops, who has moved away, who has come in, and all things of that sort. We will appreciate it.

DEATH OF MRS. SKELTON.

Mrs. Lou J. Skelton, wife of Dr. W. A. Skelton of this place, died Monday, after a brief illness, and was buried in the cemetery here Tuesday, a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives following her remains to the grave.

Mrs. Skelton was a daughter of Hon. Asa Skelton, who once represented this county in the legislature and who will be remembered by the old inhabitants of Calhoun. She was a sister of Ex-County Treasurer James J. Skelton and County Commissioner Green B. Skelton, and had a very large circle of kindred in the county.

She was near fifty-six years of age at the time of her death and yet her venerable mother lived to attend her funeral.

Mrs. Skelton had been for many years a consistent member of the Methodist church and was a devout christian. She met her approaching end with christian calmness and resignation and confessed herself as fully ready to go.

She was a good woman in every sense of the word,—kind hearted, charitable, motherly, friendly. No one knew her but to esteem her and love her, and her death came as a personal bereavement to every one in the town.

All the people of the town attended the funeral at church or cemetery to testify their high regard and love for her, and none will visit the cemetery in future without leaving a flower or a tear on the grave of this good woman, who had nothing but love and charity in her heart for every human being.

WILL LAW TOGETHER.

Attention is directed to the law card of Stevenson & Agee in another column. Mr. Stevenson is well known thoughout the county as one of the old and trustworthy practitioners of the county bar. Mr. Agee is solicitor of the city court of Anniston and one of the brightest and most promising of the younger members of the bar of Calhoun. The firm is a strong and good one.

Mrs. G. W. Alexander and family are spending a few days in Cleburne county.

Miss Verge Chancellor, who has been visiting the family of C. A. Sharpe, returned to her home at Round Mountain Monday.

Thursday was a busy day with the merchants and the streets were lined with the fleecy staple.

BARGAINS IN FARMS.

Messrs. Stevenson, Martin and Grant offer the Miller farm of 400 acres acres in Alexandria valley, the Wyly farm on Ohatchie near the tunnel of the L. & N. R. R., between Anniston and Gadsden and the Estella Washburn farm near Piedmont for a small cash payment, balance on one, two, three, four and five years time. Here is a chance to get a good farm and work it out. Call on the above firm for prices and terms.

WHITE PLAINS.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT AT THAT PLACE.

The marriage of Mr. E. C. Watson and Miss Willie Little will take place in the Methodist church the 25th inst., at 3 o'clock.

The oratorical contest for the Demorest medal took place in the High School building. The High School is progressing finely.

Misses Fatima Coker and Fannie Hammond from Jacksonville attended church here Sunday.

Dr. B. S. Evans attended the Baptist association at Piedmont.

Dr. G. C. Williams and wife recently spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mosely and discovered that one of his boys is wonderfully dextrous in the use of tools. The lad has a shop regularly rigged out with tools.

WILL BE MARRIED.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. Ed. C. Watson, of Birmingham, and Miss Willie Lee Little, of White Plains, in this county, Oct. 25th, at the Methodist church. Mr. Watson is a Calhoun county boy who has made a success and a name as a hustling business man. The bride to be is widely known for her beauty and pleasing manners.

GET READY FOR HIM.

We are now making out the accounts of all in arrears for subscription to the REPUBLICAN and will put in hands of our collector in two or three weeks. This is to notify all parties in advance, so that they may have the money for him when he comes. We must collect subscriptions due this season.

ATTENTION CAMP MARTIN.

A meeting of the members of Camp Martin will be held at the Court house Saturday at 11 o'clock for the purpose of sending delegates to Birmingham to vote for a Major General of the order to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Gen'l Holtzclaw. A full attendance desired.

J. H. CALDWELL,

The Jefferson county Alliance has denounced the gin burners.

MR. BREWSTER COMES BACK.

He Writes Another Card and Tackles Commissioner Coker.

ED. HOT BLAST:—If yelping and howling is any evidence that some of the shot fired by me in a former article hit a cur, one M. N. Coker has certainly given ample proof that he is that dog; and I would forbear shooting him again if he had not attacked me in so furious a manner in your issue of the 4th inst. I think it is well to teach him that a man can be severe and truthful at the same time, and that he had better hereafter use soft words and hard arguments or say nothing.

I am sorry that circumstances make it necessary for me in self-defense, to use some severity in replying to his coarse personalities and abusive epithets, which any common black-guard can use. But I am told that he is not competent to write anything for publication, not even the miserable abortion referred to above, but that some one wrote it for him. The most of his allusions to me are too contemptible to deserve notice, and I shall waste but little time and space in replying to them.

I wrote the article that has so stirred up his bile, because I felt indignant at some things that have happened in the management of county affairs, especially by the grand jury and felt that it was my duty to give my views in regard to them as a private citizen who has some rights in common with others, if it is my misfootune to have less property than the "honorable" Coker and others, upon which to pay taxes.

It is too thin to say that the finances of the county are in a better condition than in years past and from the best information I can obtain, I think we will see after awhile that the taxes will have to be increased in order to pay the county's indebtedness; but if we say anything about extravagance on the part of the public officers, we call down upon our devoted heads the indignation and wrath of such men as M. N. Coker; and this pink of purity calls me hard names because I said that the commissioners court was almost in constant session at a cost of $25 a day to the county. I did not write what I did unadvisedly, for it was often remarked that the commissioners met often in Jacksonville and were riding about over the county on "official" business pretty generally. This may all have been necessary, but we have but little to show for their labors in this part of the county and as regards the pay of the court, an old citizen, who served as commissioner for several years, informed me that it was about $25 a day. That may not be too much and I don't know that a man should be censured for taking all that the law allows him. But, oh, how horrified is the saintly Coker over the statement that I made! and how flippantly can such creatures talk and write about a "parson," and still claim to have been well bred. It was so good and kind in him to build a stately mansion for the poor, black and white, all under one roof, where they can be protected against accidents by fire. But he says that confirmed lunatics are not admitted into the lunatic asylum. If the statement be true, the "Hon." M. N. Coker is certainly excluded from such an institution. He says that my part of the expenses for building "the pride of Calhoun county," is just 65 cents, and that the commissioners court intend to take up a collection and pay it back to me out of their private funds. All right! Proceed with the collection, hand it over and I will give you credit for so much conscience money. But I will let Mr. Coker keep the stick of candy to use when he occasionally lets go his county sugar teat. I will not notice his silly remarks about what will take place at the gates of heaven.

And now I hope I am done with him, and hope that he as well as others understand that I am able to distinguish the bray of an ass from the roar of a lion. As regards Judge Crook, I think that he is a nice and affable gentleman, and doubtless acts conscientiously in his official capacity; and for Commissioners DeArman, Skelton and Palmer, I have no cause to entertain any but the kindest feeling; and if I have said anything to offend them I ask their pardon. And after all while I and many others do not approve all their official acts we may censure them wrongfully, for we are all liable to make mistakes, and are more or less blinded by ignorance, prejudice and self-interest.

P. H. PREWSTER.

Pell City, Ala., Oct. 6th.

The New Sectionalism.

Memphis Scimitar.

The St. Louis Republic (free coinage crank) boasts of the "new sectionalism" which it claims has arisen out of the present financial situation. "It is the west and south against the east," exclaims this journalistic echo of Bland's bazoo, and then it goes on to speak of the natural affinity existing between the two former geographical divisions of the country and their community of interest in opposition to the latter.

This is all unadulterated rot. There is no common bond between the south and west and there never has been any. Their interests are not in any peculiar sense identical. Politically the west has been the bitterest enemy of the south. There are more bigoted south-haters in the western reserve of Ohio alone than in all New England. The word "rebel" never fails to open the flood-gates of malignity in the "trooly loil" patriots of Kansas and Iowa. The republican press of the west is notorious for its virulent abuse of everything and everybody that deserves the name of southern. It is the interest of the west for the south to keep itself poor by raising all cotton and buying all its provisions in western markets. The west buys comparatively little from us.

The east, on the contrary, is our best customer, and has always maintained friendly relations with us. It was the first section to extend to us the hand of friendship after the war and to give us credit. It is to New York we look for assistance in a financial strait, and when we can't get it there we know there is no use in looking elsewhere. It is eastern mills that consume our cotton and eastern exchange that is used in moving the crop. We don't know the west, except as a section that sells us stuff we ought to raise at home. The west is the birthplace of every wildcat idea, financial and industrial, while the south, like the east, is conservative.

Missouri may join hands with the Peffers and the Forakers and that ilk, but the south—the real south, begs to be excused.

A Roumelian Simple Simon.

"Chodja," said a person who wished to excite him to do some foolish act in anger against the children who followed him, "Chodja, the children do not seem at all afraid of you!" "If they do not fear me, neither do I fear them," said Nastradin quietly, and went on his way.

Once when Nastradin had been from home for a few days on business in a neighboring town, some persons from his village came and told him that his house had taken fire after he left and that many people, who came pretending to help to extinguish the fire, had carried many of his things away with them. "What a pity I was not there!" exclaimed the Chodja. "What a pity! I also might have stolen something."—Good Words.

It's a Way They Have.

Wash a baby up clean and dress him up pretty, and he will resist all advances with a most superlative crossness. But let him eat treacle and gingerbread and play round the coalbox for half an hour, and he will nestle his dear little dirty face close to your clean shirt front and be just the lovingest little rascal in all the world.—London Tit-Bits.

A Tragedy Averted.

Tenderfoot Tenor (just coming from the stage)—Ah, ha! I've made a hit. Just hear how loudly they're applauding out there. What shall I sing for an encore?

Opry House Bill (the manager of the house)—Better omit the onkore. That ain't applause. That's shooting.—Chicago Record.

The Iron Age denies that Krupp, at Essen, Germany, is the greatest producer of crucible steel in the world and gives that honor to a Pennsylvania concern, the annual product of the former being calculated at 23,750 tons, of the latter at 35,000 tons.

Good Blood IS ESSENTIAL TO HEALTH.

You cannot hope to be well if your BLOOD IS IMPURE.

If you are troubled with BOILS, ULCERS OR PIMPLES, SORES

your blood is bad. A few bottles of S. S. S. will thoroughly cleanse the system, remove all impurities and build you up. All manner of blemishes are CLEARED AWAY by its use. It is the best blood remedy on earth. Thousands who have used it say so.

"My blood was badly poisoned last year, which got my whole system out of order—ulcerated and became sore; lost my appetite, no enjoyment of life. Two bottles of S. S. S. brought me right out. There is no better remedy for blood disorders."—JOHN GAVIN, Dayton, Ohio.

"There's something behind it."

That's what you think, perhaps, when you read that the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer $500 reward for an incurable case of Catarrh. Rather unusual, you think, to find the makers of a medicine trying to prove that they believe in it. "There must be something back of it!"

But it's a plain, square offer, made in good faith. The only thing that's back of it is the Remedy. It cures Catarrh in the Head. To its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, the worst cases yield, no mattor how bad or of how long standing. It has a record that goes back for 25 years. It doesn't simply relieve—it perfectly and permanently cures. With a Remedy like this, the proprietors can make such an offer and mean it. To be sure there's risk in it, but it's so very small that they are willing to take it.

You've "never heard of anything like this offer?" True enough. But then you've never heard of anything like Dr. Sage's Remedy.

NOW RECEIVING THE FAMOUS.

We've Spread Ourselves.

No harm to look. It will pay you to. You might know that a house with the reputation at stake is not going to tell fairy stories in the papers. We want you to see our $15, $18 and $20 suits, because we are confident they will please you.

They certainly ought to. We've put our time and talent and goodness enough in them. We know that $15 and $18 doesn't sound very much, especially if you've been fooling with tailors prices. If what they charge $30 or $35 for will suit, our $15 and $18 grades are sure to be something of a saving, ain't it? You are not tied down to any style. You have more of a variety here than in a half dozen other stores. The cut of the garment is the latest. SINGLE and DOUBLE BREASTED SACK SUITS and THREE and FOUR BUTTON CUTAWAY FROCKS.

By the way, have you thought about a business suit for the spring?

What's the matter with a Double breasted Sack?

There are going to be lots of them worn, and there are scores of neat effects among our stock, some light, some dark, of course betwixt and between shades. There is lots of style about them; lots of comfort and satisfaction in them.

You see your spring suit and underwear will cost you less than the suit alone from a tailor.

Are you going to wear negligee shirts this summer? See our styles and prices. They will interest you.

Don't you think it is about time to get a spring Hat?

On Tuesday, Calhoun's efficient circuit clerk called a REPUBLICAN representative in his his office and showed him how well the vault of his office had been arranged. Instead of the bulky and unsafe wooden shelves and boxes, the walls are lined with steel shelves for the record books and steel boxes labeled, for the safe keeping of the papers of the office. As arranged now any book or paper can be instantly found and the vault is now perfectly safe from fire.

Tuesday all was calm and serene at the E. T. station. The express wagon and the big 'bus were backed up to the platform. Mr. Wilkerson was musing over prospective passengers, when all at once a terrible rumpety-bump-bump was heard and amid great confusion, wagons, horses and big 'buses sped at breakneck speed up Francis Avenue. The express wagon came to a glorious runaway-upside-down ending, where the avenue makes the turn. The 'bus horses were stopped by the weight of their own consciences and the picture of passengers footing it to town. Moral: Hold your horses.

In a copy of the Sunny South, of date of Aug. 31, 1852, recently given us by a friend, there is a notice from Wm. H. Forney, Adjutant General of the 8th Division of Alabama Militia, for a general muster of the 72nd, 73rd and 79th regiments of militia for parade and drill, at the court house of Benton (now Calhoun) county. This by order of Maj. Gen. R. G. Earle. In another copy of the paper, date of Nov. 16, 1852, we find a letter from H. S. McMichael to Wm. H. Fleming from Donneville, California, writing about the experiences of the Calhoun boys in the gold regions. He says: "Geo. and John Fleming and myself will stay together this winter near Nevada—Reinhart and Cole will leave this evening for Sacramento. We have been mining about three weeks, and have made $130. Wages are from $5 to $6 per day. Flour is worth $30 per 100 lbs., beef 30 cents per lb., potatoes 40 cents per lb. A good cow will bring $130."

ACCIDENTS.

Mr. Shelt Stevenson says that a combination of unfortunate circumstances caused him to feel very strangely on last Saturday evening:

He was out hunting with Floyd Henderson who stepped in a hole and sprained his foot badly. While helping Floyd home, a negro boy met him and told him his son, Preston, had fallen from a horse and was badly hurt. Hastening home he found that Preston had been trying to drive a cow home when the horse he was riding ran under a limb which struck him on the head. He was badly stunned and remained unconscious until the next morning.

He had hardly got his son attended to when the news came to him that a son of Mr. Mann Stevenson who lives some miles in the country had broken his arm in three places; also that Mr. Listen, his star boarder, had missed his train and could not meet his appointment at Piedmont.

AN EXCURSION.

Train leaves Talladega at 7:20 a. m.; Anniston 8:20; Jacksonville 9:09; Piedmont 9:40; Cave Springs 10:20; Rome 11:00. Arrive at Atlanta at 1:00 p. m. Train stops at all stations. Returning train leaves Atlanta at 5 p. m., October 26th.

THE REJECTION

Of the Goodwyn Compromise Proposition.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

The Democratic Papers All Over the State Discussing the Proposition---A Chapter of Very Interesting Reading.

The Selma Times says:

Elsewhere in today's issue is published the answer of the Democratic Executive Committee to the Populite propsition. It is dignified, manly, and to the point. The committee took exactly the ground the Times did, that is, they did not have the authority to accept any such proposition. This paper thinks they acted wisely and heartily commend their action. To all who want to be Democrats, the door is wide open. Come in at the right time and in the right way, brethren and make yourselves at home.

The Eufaula Times says:

The State Executive Committee courteously but firmly refused the Jeffersonian proposition. They said in the first place that a State Convention of the Democratic party last year provided for a State Convention and fixed the basis of representation and the executive committee could have no right to submit to a compromise which called for a primary. The committee gave notice that it would not accept the proposition if it were empowered to do so, saying in effect that the man who voted for Kolb in August, being Democrats previous to that time, were still Democrats and entitled to every Democratic privilege, but that a vote for Weaver placed the voter outside the party lines and he would have to be reinstated in the usual way.

The Huntsville Argus says:

The cry of the cheap demagogues that "we must compromise or we will perish" seems to have failed to find any dupes in our State Democratic Executive Committee. It takes the plain, natural and unavoidable position that Democrats must guide and direct the Democratic ship. We felt assured from the first that they would take this position. It is well!

If the little political charlatans, who have been calling themselves Democrats and demanding that the Democrats should let the Weaverites in on equal terms with themselves, will now close their pestiferous months, Alabama can have a few months of political peace. There is no need for any further agitation until next Spring. Everything is settled for the present.

The Birmingham News don't like the action of the State Democratic Committee, but like a loyal party paper it gracefully subordinates its judgment. It says:

Now that the Committee, the duly appointed representative of Democracy, has spoken, it behooves all good party men, whether approving the action of the Committee or not, to be getting on their fighting clothes, that the Democracy may overwhelmingly win the battle of 1894.

The Montgomery Advertiser says:

The Democratic State Executive Committee has again met and spoken. And its reply to the Populite Committee is substantially the same it made in the Spring.

It has rejected it unanimously. It frames a reply to Mr. Goodwyn which is very courteous and dignified, but none the less plain and firm. It is emphatically an ultimatum and will probably be accepted as such by the Kolbites.

The Democratic Committee takes two clear-cut positions. In the first place, it declares its lack of power to accept the terms proposed. In the second place, it argues their expediency and implies that it would not accept them it it could. The position is taken that an attempt to carry out the so-called Hewit plan would result only in increased bitterness and confusion.

The Committee does not mince words at all in its reply. It hits straight from the shoulder when it avers that the attitude of the Goodwyn Committee is not regarded as one of friendliness to the Democracy, but as an invitation from a hostile organization to surrender. There is no misunderstanding that language. It writes down the aiders of Weaver and the abetters of Harrison as unmistakable enemies of Democracy. It is an official declaration of an incontestible fact. It leaves no room for any real Democrat to indulge in any more euphemism or to practice any bootlicking towards Kolb and his sort.

The reply carries this view to its logical outcome by again proclaiming that only those who voted the National ticket last November are in good and regular Party standing, eligible to participation in Party councils. Those who went astray then and yet claim to be Democrats are warmly invited back to the fold, and are asked to step across the threshold by voting for the next State ticket. The Committee virtually says to Democrats what the Apostle James said to Christians of old, "Show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works."

This second decision of the highest existing Party authority should settle the issue between Democracy and its opponents finally and thoroughly. There has been some division of opinion as to the policy to be pursued towards the many misguided men who have been led astray, but there should be no longer. Every true Democrat should henceforth align himself with the State Committee by earnestly sustaining its action, and heartily falling into the line of march it has laid out. There should be nothing but unity and harmony in the method of dealing with the common foe.

The Montgomery Journal, which has been friendly to the idea of compromise, says:

The Journal knows that the committee did what it conscientiously believes was for the best interests of the party, and all democrats will stand by the action of the committee. As the Journal understands it, though its information is not official, the committee holds that any man who voted against the nominees of the party in the last state campaign, is within the party, provided he voted for Cleveland and Stevenson in the November election. A compromise was not necessary to provide a place at the party table for such democrats. Democrats who followed up their defection from party organization in August by alignment with the people's party in the fall campaign, and who voted for the congressional and electoral ticket of that party in November are the only people in Alabama to whom a compromise would apply, and the committee feels that these people should come back into the party fold, if they so desire, as freely and as voluntarily as they left it, but they must come through the regular channel and must prove their loyalty by active and earnest support of the party's nominees. These are, as the Journal understands it, the views of the committee. The effect of the reply to Mr. Goodwyn is to make it certain that Alabama will hereafter have two strong political parties, and to make it also certain that the next state campaign will be as vigorous and active and as bitter as the last.

The Gadsden Times-News says:

The committee has done just right, and every genuine democrat in Alabama will be glad to know that this treacherous scheme for joint primaries no longer threatens the safety and supremacy of the party in this state. We recognize, with the committee, that all who voted for Cleveland in 1892 are democrats, even though they voted for Kolb, and it is not necessary that time-honored convention plan should be abandoned for their sakes, as they are already in the party, and as for those who supported Weaver, the only way under heaven known among men whereby they may become democrats again, is the good old way of voting the democratic ticket when election day comes around. So there you have it, brethren. The democratic party is doing business at the old stand; walk right in, renew your your allegiance and make yourselves at home.

A dispatch from Heflin, Cleburne county, says that the White Caps have posted one gin near Arbacoochee and have notified the merchants of Heflin that they must not push for collections on pain of being burned out. The dispatch further says that the merchants are paying no attention to the notices.

Reports from Bibb, Dallas and Montgomery counties indicate that the People's party conventions in those counties last Saturday were very slimly attended.

Mr. W. H. Green died at his residence in Talladega on the 12th inst from the effects of an overdose of morphine.

THAT QUARREL.

Commissioner Coker Pays His Respects.

BOTH ARTICLES COMBINED.

Mr. Brewster Makes His Reply to Mr. Coker and Says It is to be Final, No More Forever---A Newspapers Comment.

ED. HOT BLAST:—I see in your paper of Oct. 7th that same old hound in Piedmont in the person of P. H. Brewster is still howling and scratching. I think he is surely in the last stage of the mange and unless there is an application of tar, red pepper and kerosene oil he will soon be a dead pup.

He calls me a cur. Well that gives me the supremacy over a half hound such as Parson Brewster with a bobtail, ring neck, and a fine reputation for sucking eggs and killing sheep. He says that he is sorry that he has to reply to me in self defense. A condescension to reply? What does he think I should have done when he wrote the first piece? I was not entitled to any self defense. He could say anything that he wished and I must pass it by. He has surely arrived at sinless perfection. He looks very much like one of those animals to a man up a tree.

He seems very much grieved about my coarse and abusive epithets which any common blackguard could use. The reason I used such as he accuses me of was because it was in reply to a full grown jackass in the form of a jackleg preacher. He seems to be very much grieved about my accusing him of telling a falsehood. I repeat it that he did so and still continues the same thing. He says we built the new poor house for white and black under the same roof. That is as false as the devil himself. The colored people are to stay at the same place and only the whites to be removed to the new building. He says that he was told by one of the old commissioners that the cost of the commissioner's court was twenty-five dollars a day. He must have been in company with the parson long enough to catch his disease of making false statements. The court previous to the present one was only entitled to two dollars and fifty cents per day. Well, four times that amount would be ten dollars and three dollars for the judge would make thirteen dollars. How is that for twenty-five dollars a day? He had better make some calculation before he turns loose his battery on an entirely innocent court, or his informant has been in company with old Tray. It is hard to tell whether the parson is a lunatic or a born idiot but I am rather of the opinion that it is the latter, and as that class will not be admitted into the asylum he will be sent to the poor house and I for one will object to his going into the new building for he would play Sampson and tear it down, so he will go to the old house with the darkies as he is so attached to that place.

Now, Parson, you had better stop making those false statements or you might wake up dead some day, then you would look nice in the judgment with a bundle of falsehoods on your shoulder as big as a bale of cotton, professing sanctification.

You wish it to be understood that you were the only one of the eighteen grand jurymen that was opposed to ratifying the building of the new poor house. You are like the juryman. You think the seventeen was the biggest set of fools you ever saw. From your acts, you have come to the conclusion that what you don't know is torn out and lost.

He says he has the best of feelings toward Crook, DeArman, Skelton and Palmer. Poor me! Left entirely out. Well I declare I am sorry for Judge Crook and the other three boys and especially for Judge Crook. As to a commissioner, it don't make any difference about those fellows, about a eulogy from that source. I am satisfied they will sue Brewster for slander.

You say you hope you are done with me. You could have avoided this if you had taken the precaution a Christian gentlemen should have done. You should not judge all the work of all the commissioners by what has been done in your district. You turned loose on the whole court unadvisedly. Now you can stop this if you like, if not just let her roll. This has not been a matter of choice with me but when a man jumps on me without a cause I will be sure to tell him to get off. While we have made mistakes it has not been intentionally. We would have been an exception to the rule if all our acts had been perfectly done.

Respectfully, M. N. COKER,
Grayton, Ala.

Oct. 9th, 1893.

GOOD-BYE COKER.

I have learned from both experience and observation that it is best not to come in contact with certain creatures, but let them pass unmolested. This course my friends advise me to pursue in regard to M. N. Coker, county commissioner, who continues, like a crippled buzzard, to spew his filth at me. I confess that I cannot afford to bandy epithets with an ignorant blackguard; and as I was informed by delegates to the late Baptist Association, which assembled at Piedmont, that what I had said concerning the extravagance of the Commissioners Court was heartily endorsed by the best citizens of the county, I can well afford to let the matter rest for the present, and leave such creatures as Coker to rot in their own filth.

P. H. BREWSTER,
Piedmont, Ala.

We are also requested to publish the following from Mr. Brewster's home paper, the Piedmont Inquirer:

"Rev. P. H. Brewster, of this place, and County Commissioner Coker, of Grayton, have become involved in a controversy that is supposed to relate to the acts of the commissioners' court, but that consists largely of hard words about each other. Undoubtedly the acts of the commissioners' court are proper subjects of criticism; and the commissioner who responds to such criticism with epithets of personal offense does not persuade the people that the criticism is unwarranted. Mr. Brewster is a very earnest man and his utterances on all subjects are very plain; but he is an honest man withal, a truthful and just man, who may fall into unintentional error. It is to be regretted that his complaints against the court have not had better tempered and more logical response"

A man named Henry Harris has been traveling through East Alabama pretending to cure hog cholera and other diseases. Mr. J. L. Wilkerson of Clopton used some of his medicine and lost sixteen out of twenty-three hogs, and now does not have much faith in the remedy.

Mr. James Fuller of Tallapoosa county lost one of his hands by getting it caught in a cotton gin.

Mr. C. H. Hammac of Escambia county killed four fine turkeys at three shots.

The gin house of Dr. Porter or Lawrence county was burned one day last last week.

Mr. J. M. Stumpe of Lauderdale county, on two-thirds of an acre of land, raised 225 bushels of potatoes.

Last Sunday night the gin house of Mr. G. N. Buchanan, at Laverne, together with one bale of cotton and several thousand bushels of cotton seed were burned. As there had been no fire about the building since Saturday after the inference is that it was the work of an incendiary.

There are several parties in the Huntsville jail on the charge of white capping.

PROPOSITION

Of the Jeffersonians Respectfully Declined

WHAT CHAIRMAN SMITH SAYS

In a Letter That Will Impress Itself Upon the Minds of all Democrats Throghout the State, Read What He Says.

MONTGOMERY, Oct. 12.

To Mr. A. T. Goodwyn, chairman, Etc.—

DEAR SIR:—Replying to your communication of September 7, 1893, conveying to the state executive committee of the democratic party of Alabama the proposition of your committee, I am instructed to say that the proposition submitted by you cannot be accepted. It is the sense of this committee, after due consideration, that is without power or authority to accept the proposition submitted on the part of your committee.

In addition to the entire lack of authority on the part of this committee to deal with you in an organized capacity as representing what you term the Jeffersonian democracy of Alabama in settling existing differences, it is the opinion of our committee that the course suggested by you would not lead to peace or a permanent solution of these troubles, but would tend to emphasize and perpetuate the unhappy condition of dissension and animosity, which by reason of the course adopted by the leaders of your party in August and November, 1892, has been produced among those who have for years contributed to the success and triumph of democratic principles. The interests of the whole people of this state are so dependent upon the continued supremacy of democratic rule that all good men have looked with regret upon the unhappy division which has been brought about by the withdrawal of a considerable part of our voters, and it is the sincere desire of the organized democracy of this state that these men should return to their allegiance to the party from which they withdrew.

The position assumed by you and your committee is not one of friendliness to the democracy, but as understood by us is an invitation from a hostile organization to combat and contest with you for political supremacy in this state.

This committee, recognizing that all who voted for Cleveland and Stevenson in 1892 are democrats and entitled to all the privileges of members of the party, is willing to invite and does invite every man who was a consistent democrat and supporter of democratic principles prior to the election of 1892, but who voted against the nominees of the democratic party in the November election, to renew his allegiance to the party and contribute by his vote and influence to the support of the nominees of the organized democracy of this state. But this committee cannot treat with you or accept a proposition from your committee in its organized capacity, the effect of which would be a more bitter and acrimonious contest and perpetuate the unfortunate condition of affairs produced by designing leaders and misguided followers, but would virtually be a practical surrender of the trust imposed upon us as the representatives of the democracy of Alabama and the abandonment of the principles and the time honored customs of the party. Very Respectfully,

A. G. SMITH.

During the trial of a case in court at Linden two lawyers became engaged in a fight which cost the belligerents $25 each.

The Canebrake Herald tells of a negro congregation in that neighborhood who were so much enthused as to get to shouting to such an extent as to cause the support of the building to collapse, and quite a number of the congregation were injured.

The Populites made a poor showing at their meeting held here last Saturday.—Talladega Home.

The State Auditor will send out State Warrants to disabled Confederate soldiers about the 1st of November. The amount apportioned to each one is $21.95.

W. W. Osburn's gin house near Hackleburg, with fifty bales of cotton, was burned Sunday night, it is supposed, by white caps. Loss six thousand dollars. A detective is at work on the case.

The Selma Times, after recording the shutting down of the Fowlkes gin at Marion on account of notice by white cappers, says that if the lawlessness goes on, the advancing merchants will, in self-defense, refuse to advance supplies to farmers next year.

The REPUBLICAN presents three columns and a half of new advertising matter from Anniston this week. This makes nine columns of advertisements the REPUBLICAN, now carries for Anniston merchants, with more to come. They like the paper and find it pays them to use it.

The United States Senate seems to be as far from a vote on the repeal of the Sherman act as at the beginning of the extra session. As the deadlock continues ill humor increases and there has been some very salty talk indulged in among the dignified old gentlemen who compose the body.

The farmers of Lawrence county are greatly exasperated at ginhouse burners in that county. A great many gins have closed down and others are running under guard. The farmers are being pressed for money and are afraid to carry their cotton to gins in order to get it. After a while the people will rise up and hang a few of the miscreants who are causing the trouble.

The official report of the peoples party convention held here last Saturday shows that only four beats of nineteen were represented. In other words in fifteen beats in the county no beat meetings were held. We submit that this is a poor showing for the new party. Come back to your old party, boys, and you won't feel so lonesome. The road is not a hard one to travel. You only have to vote for the Democratic nominees next August and all will be forgiven and forgotten.

The committee appointed at the last meeting of the Methodist District Conference to consider the establishment of a high school at some point in the district, held their first meeting at Anniston Monday night, Mr. J. J. Skelton represented the church at Jacksonville. Anniston, Alexandria and Spring Garden are said to be three principal competing points for the school. Each community is requested to submit to the committee at its next meeting what inducements it can offer. Anniston already has one or more high schools and a free public school system and should generously yield to Alexandria. That beautiful valley is an ideal place for a school of the character it is proposed to establish. Alexandria offers the excellent school building and grounds now there and would doubtless enlarge the building, if necessary.

There was a meeting of the members of Camp Martin, U. C. V. in Jacksonville Saturday last to name delegates to the State Convention to be held in Birmingham the Tuesday following to elect a Major-General to fill the vacancy caused by the death of General Holtzclaw. As no member of the camp could attend, Adjt-Gen. Harvy Jones was named as the delegate to cast the five votes of the camp. The meeting voted as to who the proxy should cast the five votes of the camp for. Gen'l Pettus and Gen'l Anderson were placed in nomination and Gen'l Pettus received the majority solely on the ground that a majority of those present thought a General who commanded Alabama troops should be named. The proxy was instructed to cast the vote of the camp for Gen'l Anderson, in event the name of Gen'l Pettus was not placed before the convention.

PEOPLE'S PARTY MEETING.

IN THE COURT HOUSE LAST SATURDAY.

Agreeable to request of the meeting of the People's Party held here last Saturday, we print the proceedings as follows:

The People's Party of Calhoun met according to appointment at Jacksonville, on the 14th, with a good attendance. The meeting was called to order promptly at 1 o'clock by Chairman B. G. McClelen for the purpose of organizing an Executive Committee. The following beats were represented:

Beat 2, 4 delegates.
Beat 6, 2 delegates, duly elected.
Beat 8, no legal delegates.
Beat 11, 2 delegates.
Beat 13, 2 delegates.

The following resolutions was adopted: Resolved that, as there are not a sufficient number of representatives from the respective precincts of the county to organize the county executive committee and elect the chairman of the county executive committee. The representatives who are not duly elected return to their precincts and call their beat meetings and elect their respective chairman and notify brother B. G. McClelen, of their action and who they have elected, and that brother B. G. McClelen be requested to write to at least one man in each beat, whom he knows to be a People's Party man to call meetings of the People's Party and elect their chairman and that if agreeable he will appoint a day for the respective chairman of the beats to meet and elect the chairman of the executive committee and transact any other business that may come before the body.

On motion of L. L. Allen, B. G. McClelen was elected as temporary chairman of the People's Party executive committee of Calhoun county for the purpose of perfecting the organization.

Resolved, That we the good citizens of Calhoun county assembled at the court house at Jacksonville, Ala., do hereby protest against White Capism or any unlawful acts to intimidate any citizen of our county from carrying on his legitimate business whatever nature of business he may be following and we are willing to support and give aid in putting the same down. Very respectfully submitted.

We request the publication of the meeting to be published in the JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN and in the Oxanna Journal.

There being no further business the motion prevailed to adjourn Sine Die."

B. G. McCLELEN, Chairman.
R. A. Ross, Acting Sec'y.

NOTICE.

Having been appointed temporary chairman of the People's party executive committee. I here call on those who are in sympathy with the people's cause to meet at their respective voting places on Saturday Oct. 28, 1893, at 2 p.m. and there select our delegates who will be the beat committeeman and who will meet at Jacksonville Saturday, Nov. 4, 1893, for the purpose of perfecting the organization of the executive committee and any other business necessary to be attended to.

B. G. McCLELEN,
Temporary Chairman.

IN MEMORIAM.

—From Texas Christian Advocate.

Mrs. Rose Anna Broyles, daughter of Daniel and Margaret Harper, was born in South Carolina, January 12, 1810, and died at her home, near Palestine, Texas, August 14, 1893. She professed religion and joined the Methodist church in her nineteenth year at Pleasant Grove camp ground, in Madison county, Ala. The same year she was happily married to Mr. Geo. Broyles. They were blessed with a family of ten children. Two of them preceded her to the glory world. Her husband died in the faith in 1854. Thus she was left to bring up and care for her large family all alone. Yet she was not alone for God was with her. So careful was she in the education and training of her children that her sons and daughters have filled important positions with credit to themselves and honor to their mother, both in the church and society. When the late war came on she sent her sons to the front, saying: "Your country calls you; go, God will watch over you and protect you, and I will, with God's help, take care of the home." She was of the grand old type of Southern womanhood. Her doors were ever open to the Southern soldier, and large were the numbers that received abundance of food from her bounteous hand. She loved her Southland, she loved her home, she loved her church. She was a woman of extraordinary will power and rare intellectual gifts. She had a warm, generous, liberal heart. Her home was the home of the preacher during the sixty-four years of her church membership. It has been said, and truly said that in her home, at camp meetings or protracted meetings, hundreds of preachers, first and last, have eaten at her table. I have the honor of being the last to enjoy her hospitality in this way.

Nine years ago she left the home of her youth and came to Texas to be with her children. And here, after much suffering, yet all the while patiently trusting in God, surrounded by those she loved most and who honored and loved her with true filial devotion, she sweetly fell on sleep.

My eldest brother, Rev. R. A. Timmons, of the North Alabama Conference, knew her well. In 1870 he first met her, when he was stationed at Gadsden, Ala. He writes in a private letter to the family, which I take the liberty of embodying in this tribute: "She impressed me from the first time I ever met her as a woman of sterling worth. The pivot upon which the character of some people turns is silver, others gold, but your mother's turned on diamond. If she had lived in this world a thousand years the pivot never would have worn out. She was pure, solid and true. She was a friend of all good people and an ardent advocate of right doing. But, above all, she had faith in God through our Lord Jesus Christ and was truly born of the Holy Spirit. Hers was not a mere profession, but a well founded and clearly defined experience of Divine grace. She could, therefore, discriminate as accurately between right and wrong as anyone with whom I ever conversed of her intelligence—and she was far superior to the average mind. Her motives were pure, her desires good,—and her aspirations heavenly. In her business life, her home life, she was a typical woman. She managed everything with a firm, intelligent and considerate mind. She was a woman of a strong, clear, broad mind, and it was well stored with practical knowledge, just such as is necessary to make life happy, useful and successful. Then, in addition to all this, how she loved her church! She loved the ministry, and always manifested an interest in and care and love for her own pastor. I believe she really loved and enjoyed giving of her means to support the institutions of her church. She was an elect lady, and has gone to the bright world above to rest forever. But you can not afford to murmer or repine, for she lived to a good old age, and has left to you all the odor of a good name, which is far better than all the wealth of earth." Thus writes one who knew her long and well.

The first time I met her, which was last March, I was so impressed with her religious character—though time had plonghed deep furrows in her face, and her health was then rapidly failing—I felt as if I wanted to gaze for hours into her Christian face. Her whole countenance bespoke the pure spirit within. Her eyes were brilliant with love and her face was radiant with peace. It was good to meet with her and talk of heaven, and sing of God's grace and commune by her bedside with God in prayer. Slowly the king of terrors approached this child of God He seemed to do so with reverence and awe—for she said in glad triumph: "O death, where is thy sting! O grave, where is thy victory!" When the supreme moment came she called her children that were with her to her bedside fondly embraced them, and urged them to be faithful until the end, and to meet her in heaven. She sent messages of love to her absent children; thanked her neighbors for their kindness to her during her long painful sickness, and exhorted them to press on to the goodly country. Then Sister Rosa Anna Broyles, after serving God in the Methodist church sixty-four years, died. Farewell dear sainted mother in Israel. We shall meet you again. You died peacefully and triumphantly. Sixty four years of love and devotion given to your home! Sixty-four years of consecration to God and the church—now eternal life at God's right hand! We miss you in the home, we miss you in the church; "but we know where to find you." Goodbye till the time of parting no more shall come.

D. F. C. TIMMONS.

vs.
Heirs Thos. A. Walker, dec'd.

In Probate Court Calhoun county, Special Term Oct. 10th 1893.

This day came H. L. Stevenson the administrator of the estate of Thos. A. Walker deceased, and presents to this Court his petition in writing and under oath, and in form required by law, praying for an order and decree of this Court, to sell certain real estate described in said petition, for the purpose of distribution and payment of debts, upon the grounds that the personal property is insufficient, which said petition is examined by this Court and placed on file for the inspection of all concerned. It is therefore ordered and decreed by the Court, that the 21st day of November 1893 be, and it is hereby, appointed as a day for the hearing and consideration of said petition, and that notice of the filing and nature of said petition, and the day set to hear and determine the same, be given by publication for three successive weeks in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper published in said county, notifying all persons interested, to be and appear before this Court on said 21st day of November 1893 then and there to show cause, if any, why said petition should not be granted.

TRUITT'S LETTER.

R. EDITOR:

I see in your paper that my competitors are trying to follow or "imitate" me. Well, I like this more reasons than one. FIRST: I want the REPUBLICAN to gather in the shekels, because you always give more n value received. SECOND: Because to follow me they must think I am doing well and I always like that. IN THIRD PLACE: If I think they are trying to follow, or are after me, I just GET ON MY METTLE and move up a few tton holes, and go right on.

NOW ONE BETTER

I have wagons, buggies, carts, and the best line of HARNESS, horse blankets and buggy robes for less money n anybody---part cash and the balance NEXT FALL, with eight per cent interest. I can show twenty CHARTER K STOVES now in use to any other manufacturer's one. I mean first class stoves.

Popular Gaines Roberts, of Ox ford, was in town Wednesday look ing after the interests of the excel lent Oxford firm of wholesalers he represents.

Mr. Milner, of Columbiana, a commercial traveler, who has made himself "solid" with the business men of Jacksonville, was in town Tuesday and Wednesday.

Rev. W. R. Kirk died suddenly and painlessly here Friday morn ing. In the next issue a fitting tribute will appear to this good man's memory.

Times have been hard and money scarce this year. We have done all in our power to accomodate our customers. We have been as in dulgent as it was possible to be and we hope our friends will remember us early this fall and enable us to meet our obligations promptly. —CROW BROS.

In the notice of the advertisement of the Anniston Hardware Co., last week the name of Mr. Cheney of the firm was inadvertantly left out. He is one of the most substantial and enterprising business men in Anniston, and a tower of strength to any firm he is connected with.

The ladies of the Methodist church will give an oyster, cream and cake supper at the Iron Queen hotel next Tuesday night. The oysters will be served in all styles and deliciously prepared. Every body is invited to attend and enjoy the festivities.

Mr. W. T. Willson, of Anniston, has a half column letter in the REPUBLICAN this week for the ladies of Jacksonville. They will be glad to hear from him, for they like him, and never go to Anniston without visiting his beautiful store, stocked full of attractive goods, at prices that please.

A cheap Piano. This fine piano originally cost $500. Within a year the inside works have been thoroughly overhauled by piano makers at a cost of $45 and are now as good as new. It will be put thoroughly in tune before delivery to buyer. Will be sold for $75 cash. There was never such a bargain offered. Good for family or school room. Apply at this office.

Alf Truitt takes two columns of space across the local page to tell the readers that he does not intend to be outdone when it comes to hustling for trade. He pays a deserved compliment to the REPUBLICAN as an advertising medium. This is cute. It will please the thousands of friends of the REPUBLICAN in the county and will predispose them to trade with him. Those who try him will be satisfied

W. M. Gammon & Co., of Anniston, take a column in the REPUBLICAN for the next few months to tell the readers of the paper what good bargains and attractive goods they show the fall and winter seasons. As we have heretofore said this is a sound and trustworthy firm and our readers may rely upon their representations. They are now doing a large business also in Rome, where they have merchandised for many years.

ANNISTON NEWS.

THE CREAM OF EVENTS IN THE CITY AND SUBURBS.

Four converts were baptised in Oxford Sunday last.

The meetings at Parker Memorial church are doing good.

A baby child of Mr. Lucius McKibbon of Oxford died a few days ago.

A horse swappers convention is to be held in Oxanna today (Saturday.)

Anniston has received eight thousand bales of cotton by wagons and rail.

Mr. Sam Ellis and Miss Emma Noble, of Anniston were married Wednesday.

The Anniston Hot Blast reports that Col. B. F. Sawyer will establish a paper at Anniston.

Mr. Tilman Turner and sons are opening up a wholesale and retail dry goods and grocery house in Oxford.

A Peoples party paper has been established at Oxanna. It is called the Oxanna Journal and is edited by R. A. Ross.

Mr. Henry Constantine and Miss Carrie Watkins were married on Tuesday at the residence of Major D. F. Constantine.

Col. B. F. Sawyer, of Oxanna, found a horse in a well on one of his lots a few days ago. He hired some men to take the animal out. Later a negro came up from Ragland and claimed the horse.

The Anniston Hot Blast says that the firm of LeGrand Bros., at Weaver's, have assigned. They were burned out last spring and a great many notes and accounts of the firm were destroyed. This, coupled with their failure to collect the insurance money on the store house and stock, is said to have caused the assignment.

The Anniston Hot Blast pitches into Mayor Hight without gloves because the Mayor maintains that the mass meeting recently held there, represented the majority of the people of Anniston in its endorsement of the course of Messrs. Morgan and Bugh. The Hot Blast asserts that a majority of the people of Anniston stand by Cleveland.

FROM PIEDMONT.

A SUMMARY OF THE HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK.

Charlie McCollister is slowly improving.

J. B. Smith, of Warners, was in town Tuesday.

R. F. Hughes was in Rome the first of the week.

T. P. Savage of Jacksonville, was in town this week.

Mrs. W. E. Williams visited Esom Hill this week.

J. T. A. Hughes has been absent from home several days.

J. H. Ledbetter, of Anniston, was in town Monday and Tuesday.

Capt. D. Monahon come over on a visit this week from Cedar Bluff.

Capt. Z. W. Woodruff left yesterday to be on the road a number of days.

Will Graham has been confined to his room several days with pneumonia.

Mrs. R. D. Crusoe is visiting friends in the city during Mr. Crusoe's stay here.

M. T. Borden, of Cedartown, is spending a few days in the city with relatives.

Rev. Geo. D. Harris, of Oxford, was in Piedmont on business Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Daisy Bailey accompanied by Miss Birdie Sharp returned to Rome last Saturday.

Prof. M. M. Russell returned from Gaylesville Monday, bringing with him his family.

Mrs. R. H. Garner, who has been visiting friends here, returned today to her home at Albertville, Ala.

Rev. W. B. Witherspoon occupied the chair during President Russell's absence from the Seminary.

Like many others who have left Piedmont, P. G. Wingo and family have returned to again make their home here.

R. D. Crusoe is looking after the interests of the Bank of Piedmont, during Cashier Ledbetter's stay at the World's Fair.

A number of young people met at the home of Electrician Waring Tuesday evening, and spent several happy hours in social amusement.

The verses sent in last week have not been published, because the name of the author did not accompany them. It is a rule of all newspaper offices to publish no matter unless the name of the author be furnished the office.

Mrs. Betsy Wilson died at the residence of her son, J. J. Wilson, Saturday at twelve o'clock, and was buried Sunday at the family graveyard four miles from town. She was sixty-six years of age, and had spent the larger part of her life in and around Piedmont, and by her death the community loses another of its old land-marks, which are fast disappearing. A very large number of friends and relatives attended the funeral services, which were conducted by Rev. W. P. Howell.

THE STATE NEWS.

GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES AND CONDENSED.

The cotton receipts of Talladega, are double that at the same time last year.

Vincent, in Shelby county has had a yellow fever scare, but the case turned out to be only malarial fever.

The cotton house of Mr. Geo. Hall, near Camden, was burned a few days ago. It was the work of an incendiary.

Mr. E. W. North, a prominent cotton merchant of Selma is critically ill at Montevallo, following a surgical operation.

The attendance at the Populist Convention in Shelby was slim. It is said that neither Longshore nor Pitts attended.

Wright Mills, of Conecuh county has been sentenced to two years imprisonment in the penitentiary for sending a challenge to fight a duel.

The canebrake Herald says that cotton receipts at that point are greater than was expected, and yet there is lots of cotton held back.

Dr. John Hampton of Courtland lost his gin house by fire last Sunday night. The loss on gin and cotton will amount to about $2,000.

The State Confederate Veterans have elected Fred S. Ferguson, of Birmingham, Major-General, to succeed Gen. Holtzclaw, deceased.

Mr. Walter McDavid, a brakeman on the Memphis & Charleston Road, fell between two moving cars at Limrock and was crushed to death.

Mr. James Massey of Sipsey Turnpike had one of his arms literally torn to pieces by getting it caught in a gin. It was amputated at the shoulder.

The gin house of D. G. Allen & Bros. at Lafayette was discovered to be on fire the 16th, about 2 o'clock in the morning, but was saved from destruction.

Mrs. D. L. Compton of Marshall county, was riding in a wagon with her young baby in her lap, when the horses became frightened and threw them out, badly bruising both of them.

Sam Kersh, the man arrested for the burning of Mrs. Moran's gin house, in Bibb county, is in jail in default of $1500 bail. Sensational developements are expected when all the facts are brought out.

Mr. Otto von Koenitz, a portrait painter of Huntsville, fell from his window some time during last Sunday night and died from the injuries received. He was insensible when found and never spoke.

Capt. A. P. Howison, of Randolph, was driving a pair of horses along the road, a tree fell across the buggy, crushing the top and breaking a front wheel. The well trained horses stopped immediately and stood perfectly still.

At the State convict farm in Elmore county, a stable was set fire to by an incendiary. The convicts worked heroically to put it out and by their efforts the crib containing 4000 bushels of corn was saved. None of them tried to escape.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d. N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

These remedies are sold by druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

The President of the Randolph Alliance writes a card to the Roanoke Herald in which he says: "The Alliance has nothing to do with this gin house posting business, and, as an organization and as individuals condemn it as unwise and subversive of law and order."

THE FAMOUS.

We've Spread Ourselves.

No harm to look. It will pay you to. You might know that a house with the reputation at stake is not going to tell fairy stories in the papers. We want you to see our $15, $18 and $20 suits, because we are confident they will please you.

They certainly ought to. We've put our time and talent and goodness enough in them. We know that $15 and $18 doesn't sound very much, especially if you've been fooling with tailors prices. If what they charge $30 or $35 for will suit, our $15 and $18 grades are sure to be something of a saving, ain't it? You are not tied down to any style. You have more of a variety here than in a half dozen other stores. The cut of the garment is the latest SINGLE and DOUBLE BREASTED SACK SUITS and THREE and FOUR BUTTON CUTAWAY FROCKS.

By the way, have you thought about a business suit for the spring?

What's the matter with a Double breasted Sack?

There are going to be lots of them worn, and there are scores of neat effects among our stock, some light, some dark, of course betwixt and between shades. There is lots of style about them; lots of comfort and satisfaction in them

You see your spring suit and underwear will cost you less than the suit alone from a tailor.

Are you going to wear negligee shirts this summer? See our styles and prices. They will interest you.

Don't you think it is about time to get a spring Hat?

ES WILL HAVE OPPOSITION

Governor. Probable Opposition the Nomination. The Coming paign Bound to be Hot. Inter- ng Mine Statistics.

RMINGHAM, Oct. 21.—The po- l pot continues to boil slowly every indication that it will over before very long.

has become manifest that Colo- Oates will have some strong op- tion for the Democratic nomi- on for governer, though it s to be largely the opinion he will win in the end. Capt. eph F. Johnston, however, of Alabama National Bank of this it is said, will be strongly ed by his friends, and he has ultitude of them, for the gov- rship. Captain Johnston was memorable race of 1890, and the second strongest man after b for the nomination at the e the strength of Johnston, Rich- son, Crook and Jones was pool- and the last named candi- e nominated.

t is stated that Capt. Johnston l soon retire from the banking siness, and many believe this ans that he will enter the politi- arena either for the governor- p or for congress. He is being ked of strongly for both offices, ough his warmest friends, it is d, would rather see him get the vernor's office.

It is said that the Tennessee Val- democrats will bring out Col el William Richardson again for e governship. He has strong cking in the northern tier of unties and is quite an able man. ith Col. Oates, Capt. Johnston nd Col. Richardson in the race the ontest would be a lively one. The rength of the two last named lies to a large extent in North Alabama, although Capt. Johnston has a strong following in the black belt counties.

Everybody who knows anything about the condition of affairs predicts the hottest campaign ever known in this state. It is an undisputed fact that the Kolbites are going to make a hard fight. It is very doubtful now that Kolb will receive the united support of all men opposed to the regular democracy. In fact, indications are that he will not, as he is looked upon by many leaders of the People's party as a political Jonah.

The Populists are organizing in every county, and will hold a big state convention here soon. They will doubtless determine then whether or not they will support Kolb or put out a brau new man of their own.—Columbus Enquirer-Sun.

Boston Transcript: A Massachusetts official who spent several years in Kentucky tells the story of a judge somewhat given to bibulosity. After a night with the boys, the judge was considerably how-come-you-so, and for a lark the mischief-lovers reversed the wheels on his honor's old cradle-shaped wagon, putting the fore wheels behind and the hind wheels in front, thus raising the fore part of the wagon to an unwonted eminence. When he reached home, near morning, his wife naturally wanted to know where he had been all night. He explained by saying in uncertain tones: "Maria, I've been in Louisville. I started in good season, but it was ten miles and up-hill all the way."

In this country 2,500 women are practicing medicine, 275 preaching the gospel, more than 6,000 managing postoffices, and over 3,000,000 earning independent incomes. Since 1880 the patent office has granted to women over 2,500 patents, and in New York city 27,000 women support their husbands.

BETTER THAN THEY ASKED.

A PIECE OF SOUND SENSE FROM THE SELMA TIMES.

When a man begins to whine about the State Democratic Executive Committee not offering fair, reasonable and honorable terms to those Democrats who followed Kolb off last year, just read to him the following action of the Executive Committee just before the presidential election. The Committee has taken no backward step since; but has invited even those who were so "bull headed" as to vote for the notorious Weaver to return to their party allegiance, by voting for the next democratic nominees. Read:

"Whereas, Many questions have arisen and are continually arising, touching the party status and standing of many who habitually sustained democratic principles, and have voted for and supported the nominees of the party, but who, by reason of unfortunate difference failed in the August election to support the democratic state ticket headed by Thomas G. Jones.

And Whereas, It is important in the interest of harmony, and the continued triumph of democracy so essential to the welfare of our people and the maintenance of good government, both state and federal that all party division be healed, so that it may present a united front against our adversaries.

And Whereas, It seems proper in the advancement of this purpose that this Committee should make some declaration indicating who will be entitled to participate in the the primaries and conventions of the party.

Now, therefore, be it Resolved, That, all persons who are in accord with the principles of the democratic party, and who propose to act in harmony with it and support its nominees in the approaching presidential and congressional election, are entitled to participate and vote in all primaries and conventions of the party, and are eligible for nomination for office."

This was done without asking and more than covers any plea for harmony in the two Goodwyn propositions, this year, which the Committee could not, with honor, accept. If you want unity and harmony, just come along in the good old democratic way. The door stands ajar.

The merchant who wants to sell his wares and who knows his business, figures his advertising bills as a necessary part of his expense, just as he does his clerk hire and store rent, and the merchant who dispenses with it rarely succeeds. If he wants trade beyond the limits of the locality in which his store is located, he must advertise, and he must study the best methods in the preparation of his advertising, if he would get the best results for his outlay.

The local newspaper bears on its face the surest index of the prosperity of its people, and of the town and community of its home. Its utterances are the token of the spirit of enterprise of the community—and in this sense, it owes a broad and philanthropic duty to the public, and should lead in every enterprise and good work, and it has the right to expect the appreciation and support of the public it serves.

Stand by and support your home papers, and they will increase the measure of your own prosperity.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

On last Sunday night the gin of Mr. James McClendon, of Cox's beat, in Wills valley, was "posted" by some unknown party, notifying him that if he ginned any more cotton before the price reached 10 cents a pound, his gin would be burned. The notice was signed "Whitecaps." Mr. McClendon stopped operations until Tuesday, when he commenced ginning again, and if the so-called whitecaps attempt to put their threat into operation, the public will no doubt learn who some of them are. Several gins have been posted in Marshall county also.—Gadsden Times.

OVER IN CLEBURNE.

The people of this county are becoming quite indignant over the posting of gin houses by some person or persons styling themselves white cappers, with instructions that they cease ginning until cotton went to ten cents per pound. Many of the gins have suspended operation, while others are running under guard. What the outcome will be we cannot tell.—Cleburne Plowboy.

TILLMAN'S TRADE MARK.

In District of Columbia circuit court number one, last week, Justice Bradley delivered an opinion in the case of state of South Carolina against the commissioner of patents, to require the latter to register the latter to register the liquor trade mark of the Palmetto state. The judge decided in favor of the state and ordered a peremptory writ of issue requiring the commissioner of patents to register the trade mark. The commissioner can appeal from the decision and carry the matter to the matter to the United States supreme court.

AN HEROIC WOMAN

Mrs. Van Dusen's Heroism Without a Parallel.

HOW A CHRISTIAN CAN DIE.

The Terrible Wreck Results in the Death of Twenty-six People—Such Disasters Caused from Carelessness Must End.

At Battle Creek, Michigan, the 20th inst., two passenger trains collided on the Grand Trunk railroad. The cars telescoped and the passengers in one car were jammed back into the end of the car in which the stove was situated. Twenty-six were killed outright or burned and twenty-seven badly injured escaped with life, some of them only to die afterwards. The narrative thus describes the heroic death of one of the lady passengers:

"The most awful experience of this terrible affair was that of Mrs. C. C. Vandusen, of Sproutbrook, N. Y., who was burned to death with her hands free and in full possession of her senses in spite of the utmost endeavors of the party of rescuers. Soon after the wreck occurred Mr. Vandusen was removed from beneath a pile of debris and taken to the hospital, where he died in a short time. He was conscious to the last. He left his business affairs in the hands of Rev. G. Culp, of this city, and died without knowing that his wife had met the most awful fate of all. Mrs. Vandusen was penned in the telescoped car and at first had no doubt of her rescue, as she looked out of the window and awaited her rescuers.

The alarm of fire was suddenly given. "Hurry up, please hurry up," she said, as the fear crossed her mind that perhaps she was in danger of burning. A minute later, while strong men were straining to extricate her the possibility became a probability that she would burn, and the flames crept up toward the imprisoned woman.

"You shant burn; we'll get you out," cried the men, heroically, as they wrestled frantically with the splintered timbers.

There was a lull for five minutes. The men had become giants in strength and madmen in desperation, and they struggled wildly with the tangled mass of wood and iron. The woman was silent and gazed imploringly and inquiringly into the faces of the firemen.

"My God! Oh, my God," suddenly burst from the lips of one of the heroic workers, and in the despairing cry, the helpless woman read her death warrant. She gave one agonizing wail and then her woman's weakness gave way to a martyr's strength.

"I can die, oh yes, I can die, if I must," said to the strong men who was weeping in their impotent strength.

Again they struggled breathlessly to rescue her, but the flames were encircling the party, and the blaze claimed the victims that the crash had spared.

"I AM A CHRISTIAN,"

she said, resignedly, and a moment later her voice was raised in prayer. The flames now completely encircled the helpless victim, and the firemen were driven away. As the blaze caught her arm, and as she fought to keep the flames from her face, she told her name and address and left messages of love to her husband and family. The closing minute was a pathetic struggle against the inevitable, but it was the flesh that fought and not the spirit.

Her lips moved in prayer. In the fury of the flames that wreathed her lips and blistered and curled the white flesh of her arms, she was powerless to utter a scream. Suddenly there was a crashing of timbers, and a wild groan burst simultaneously from the lips of the spectators, and strong men wept. Through their tears they saw the flames sweep around the face of the martyred woman and her hair burned wildly for a moment. Her head dropped to one side as the victim inhaled the flames, and the soul of Mrs. Vandusen had passed beyond the fury of the elements of earth. An hour later the husband, for whom she had left a loving message, joined her in the world to come.

The Republican.

J. W. GRANT, PUBLISHER.

SATURDAY OCTOBER 28, 1893.

Three gin-houses burning white caps have been arrested in Marion county.

White caps have been posting gin houses about Lincoln, in Talladega county.

Gov. Northen, of Georgia, has offered a reward of $200 for the arrest and conviction of men charged with posting gin-houses.

We learn that notices have been posted throughout Alexandria valley notifying farmers not to employ any more "public labor," meaning thereby, we suppose, men on public works and manufacturing enterprises which have shut down, and who have sought labor in the fields to provide themselves with bread.

The advertising columns of The Jacksonville Republican are certainly appreciated by the Anniston merchants.—Montgomery Advertiser.

—You are right. The merchants of Anniston know a good thing when they see it. This week the total space taken by them in the REPUBLICAN foots up eleven and a half columns, with others to hear from.

Now that the Democratic Senators, who were against unconditional repeal, have agreed to let the President have his way in the matter of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, it is to be hoped that Democratic newspapers will cease firing on them; and is to be equally desired that Democratic Senators and Representatives should cease their impugnment of the motives of the President. The family fight was an unseemly one, and much has been said on both sides that should never have been said. Much ammunition has been furnished the enemies of the Democratic party during the wrangle. Both sides to the controversy were no doubt equally honest and patriotic. It is not conceivable that either Mr. Cleveland or any of the Senators who opposed him desired any measure that would ruin the country.

It is likely that Jacksonville will soon have another paper to divide the patronage with the Republican, but this old established paper is likely to hold out many years to come. Every newspaper thrown on the troublous waves for political purposes doesn't win—Anniston Hot Blast.

This rumor has circulated before. It probably has grown out of the efforts of a committee of Populists to secure the removal of one of the county papers to this point, to become the organ of the new political movement. This committee have been agitating the subject for some time and have claimed to have financial backing among some gentlemen here who would promptly disclaim any sympathy with the Populist movement, if so charged. Nobody believes that any man, claiming to be a democrat and having anything politically at stake, would be fool enough to identify himself directly or indirectly with the establishment of a newspaper in this county not entirely friendly to the organized Democracy of this State. The people of Jacksonville do not encourage the establishment of such a paper. The REPUBLICAN, so far as its interests are concerned, is indifferent. This paper has been published here fifty-seven years, has out-lived numerous strong rivals, and expects to reach its one hundredth year. There is a fine crop of democratic boys coming on throughout the county who will support it as their fathers and grand fathers have done for over half a century.

The dispatches of Wednesday state that the Democratic Senators opposed to repeal of the Sherman act had a conference Tuesday and agreed not to filibuster further against the passage of the bill; and the recommendation of the President will be carried out. The repeal bill will pass at an early day. The following is the text of the bill:

"That so much of the act approved July 4, 1890, entitled "an act directing the purchase of silver bullion and issue of treasury notes thereon and for other purposes," as directs the secretary of the treasury to purchase from time to time silver bullion to the aggregate amount of 4,500,000 ounces, or so much thereof as may be offered in each month at the price thereof, not exceeding $1 for 371 25-100 grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment for such purchases treasury notes of the United States is hereby repealed.

And it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to continue the use of both gold and silver money of equal intrinsic exchangeable value, such equality to be secured through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as will insure the maintenance of the parity in value of the coins of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts.

And it is hereby further declared that the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such a safe system of bimetallism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets or in the payment of debts."

A Birmingham dispatch says that many gin houses in St. Clair county have been shut down on account of warnings from white caps. The merchants have also been warned not to buy cotton for less than 10 cents, and the farmers warned not to sell for less, on pain of being burned out. The Talladega Mountain Home says a gentleman of that place just from St. Clair confirms the dispatch. The farmers of St. Clair are in great trouble on account of these lawless acts.

Six hundred farmers and ginners met at Acworth, Ga., Wednesday to take action to suppress white caps in the counties of Cherokee, Bartow, Paulding and Cobb. White caps in those counties have been posting gin houses. Money was raised to employ detectives to discover and punish the white caps. They also recommend that all the gins be started up again.

White caps near Ouchita, La., attacked the house of a negro and broke down the door. The negro fired upon them and one man was shot down. The white caps fled and left their wounded companion to die.

Chairman Goodwyn, of the State Executive Committee of the "Jeffersonians" has called his committee to meet in Birmingham Nov. 16th for the purpose of fixing the time for a state convention and the transaction of other business.

LETTER FROM SAM SLIM.

OXFORD, ALA., Oct. 24, '93.

Oxford is all "O. K. Cotton is coming in every day and the money it brings is rolling out I guess, for it don't seem to be fooling around here much.

The health of our people, is good very little sickness of any kind. Much hay is being gathered and as there is so little demand for it in Anniston, since the shutting down of the furnaces, the stock in this community may put on a broad smile, at the prospect of a plentiful supply for the winter.

Mr. Editor, we were sorry to hear of your sickness, but are rejoiced to learn that you are up and out again. That makes a stand off.

And the People's party meeting in Jacksonville last week didn't even mention "Jeffersonian" democrat, but called the party by the right name. I've known from the very beginning that they were not democrats, though one of them almost wanted to fight me because I told him so, and intimated that a white head might be tolerated in utterances that a deeper coloring would not. I'm glad my head was white for I didn't want to whip him no how, I was sorry for him.

The Democrats have got the Populists to beat next August. Well, that won't be a big job, and especially since we will have the negroes to help us. For if it is not members of that party who are warning the land owners in some places not to employ negroes on their farms next year, who is it? They could approach a negro in a blackberry patch with poor grace and ask him to vote with them. And the negro's memory is not so short that he will forget who gave him the orders to abandon the farm, and seek his living by gathering berries, nuts and acorns. And many a poor white man whose cotton has been burned by white caps will lay the charge at the door of the peoples' party, and very justly so, too. I have it from what I consider good authority, that a very prominent member of that party in beat No. 2 of this county proposed to be one of fifty, who would post gin houses and forbid the ginning of any man's cotton till it was worth ten cents per pound.

The meeting recently held in Jacksonville denounced such proceedings. That was well, but a public denouncing and a private threatening will not shield the party from the responsibility. Now that they have dropped democracy from their name and come out in plain language and said who they are, many good men who have been deceived by thinking they were in the democratic party, will come back into the democratic fold and the peoples party won't be a hard child to nurse next August.

SAM SLIM.

We cannot agree with Sam Slim that the Peoples' Party in Calhoun are the authors of the lawless threats recently noticed in this county. The representatives of that party, in open convention, have denounced such acts. Moreover that party embraces within its ranks, in this county, many men who, while politically wrong, are law-abiding, peaceable, well-disposed men, and who would be as far as any men from doing injury to a neighbor. We do not think these lawless acts should be charged at the door of any party any more than we have heretofore believed it was right for northern Republicans to indict the whole people of the South because of lynchings here and there for an offense which provoked mob law in any part of the Union. The incendiary utterances of some of the Peoples' Party speakers and newspapers have doubtless had much to do with arousing a certain naturally lawless class to overt acts; but that the party as a party endorses the burning of gin houses and lawless interference in the business of the farmers, we do not believe any more than we believe the charge said to have been made against the Democrats by a speaker at the Populist meeting here, to-wit: that the Democrats were doing the "devilment" in order to lay it at the door of the Peoples Party.

Good men throughout the county, without regard to party, are down on the law-breakers. [Ed. Republican.

"How do I look?"

That depends, madam, upon how you feel. If you're suffering from functional disturbances, irregularities or weaknesses, you're sure to "look it." And Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the remedy. It builds up and invigorates the system, regulates and promotes the proper functions, and restores health and strength. It's a legitimate medicine, not a beverage; purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and made especially for woman's needs. In the cure of all "female complaints," it's guaranteed to give satisfaction, or the money is refunded. No other medicine for women is sold so. Think of that, when the dealer says something else (which pays him better) is "just as good."

"Times have changed." So have methods. The modern improvements in pills are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They help Nature, instead of fighting with her. Sick and nervous headache, biliousness, costiveness, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

The State Normal School offers to the youth of Alabama a fine opportunity to acquire a thorough education in the English Language, Mathematics and Elementary Sciences, and a professional Teacher's course which prepares them to teach successfully in the Public Schools of the State.

To enter the Normal Department of the school, pupils must be at least fifteen years of age, of good moral character and sound constitution, and be able to pass satisfactory examinations in the studies pursued by the Freshman class, viz: Arithmetic and Elementary Algebra, English Grammar and Composition, Physical Geography, Physiology and United States History. They must promise to obey the rules and regulations of the school and obligate themselves to teach two years in the public schools of the State, or pay regular collegiate rates of tuition.

Students may by paying tuition, take the regular collegiate studies and in place of the Normal course of study, pursue the language course in which are taught, Latin, Greek, French and German.

The Sulphur Springs and White Plains locals were crowded out last week by rush of new advertising. We hope the correspondents from those places will not cease writing on that account. It fre- quently happens that editorial matter is crowded out for the same reason.

Mr. John Pruitt, the present keeper of the poor farm was elected, and the compensation for board of inmates was raised from six to eight dollars per month.

TAXATION IN THE COUNTY.

Piedmont Inquirer.

The total assessed value of all the property in the county is $9,- 946,826, of which $1,722,656 is for lands, $4,481,471 is for town lots, and $3,742,699 is for personal prop- erty, on which the state and spe- cial taxes amount to $54,716.33.

The county taxes, for general purposes and public roads, amount to $34,813.87.

The total taxation, therefore, to be collected from the property of the county for state and county purposes is $89,530.87.

The total tax rate for general purposes is two-tenths of one per cent., or twenty cents on the hun- dred dollars, and for public roads is three-twentieths of one per cent., or fifteen cents on the hundred dol- lars—for all purposes, seven-twen- tieths of one per cent., or thirty- five cents on the hundred dollars.

For general county purposes, the real property in the county pays $12,408.25, and the personal property $7,485.39.

For the public roads, the realty in the county pays $9,306.19, and the personality $5,614.04.

Among the items assessed, in ad- dition to those heretofore given, the following will prove interesting:

Money hoarded, in owners hands or in bank, $43,583.

Moneyed capital, as defined in the statute, $291,961.

Shares of banks, banking compa- nies, or banking associations, $319- 689.

Capital stock of corporations not otherwise taxed, $14,876.

All investments in bonds except bonds of the United States, $200.

Telegraph lines, $14,840.

Railroads, $1,898,840.

GRAND JURORS.

The following is a list of the grand jurymen for this term of cir- cuit court:

W A Scarbrough, Foreman; Dave Cowden, W A Smith, H L Whiteside, J L Nunnelly, J R Arnold, G W Mulligan, J W Cun- ningham, E T Downing, T P Jang- ford, Jos Griffin, J N Dobbins, J M LeGrand, Joseph Browning, J H Christwell, W C Whiteside, T C Davenport, J A Weatherly.

Bailiff, Carter H Reaves.

POOR STEERS.

The Jacksonville Oil mill wish to buy several of the poorest steers to be found in each beat in the county, for the purpose of fattening them on cotton seed hulls and cotton seed meal, the purpose being to show the fattening quality of this food. These cattle will be kept in a pen at the mill where the farmers of the county can see them grow fat.

Social Etherwise.

The White Plains correspondent of the REPUBLICAN sends a splen- did report of the Watson-Little wedding which occurred at that place on Wednesday. We regret the fact that it was crowded out. It will appear next week.

The social organization known as the Lundi Club was given a new lease of life on Monday night at a meeting held at the home of Miss Emily Goodlett. The leader in the resuscitation, Mr. Williams, says that the Club will meet on Monday nights, and that the next meeting will be with Miss Marie Burke.

The oyster and ice cream supper given by the ladies of the Metho- dist church at the hotel Tuesday evening, was a success in every way—financially and socially.

All of Jacksonville's youth and beauty were there, and the old folks came and had a good time too. No more delightful place could be imagined than the Iron Queen on a beautiful Indian sum- mer night, with its halls and par- lors filled with gay throngs.

The diningroom tables were dec- orated with flowers, and each ta- ble presided over by a pretty white-aproned young lady, and it was bliss to sit there and consume the succulent oyster and snowy cream.

A neat sum was realized, and all those present wish that another such entertainment may soon be given—for the benefit of the church.

* * *

One day last week, Messrs. Geo. Clements and Ferdinand Glasser betook themselves afar off into the mountains to search for silver, it is said—whether for the bushel-and- a-peck hidden by the Indians, or just loose chunks, we know not— a day and a night passed and they did not return and their neighbors grew green with envy, thinking that scuds of the base metal had been found. The mystery was explained by the following commu- nication:

"BEAT 3, October 20, 1893.

ED. REPUBLICAN:

Messrs. Clements and Glasser went out Friday prospecting on the Jacksonville mountain. They lost their way and rambled until Sat- urday evening when Glasser gave out and George left him and came out of the mountain at the Skelton ranch and informed me that the old man was in the mountain thirs- ty and hungry. I at once took water and food and started out for the lost man and found him about fifty yards from Buzzard Spring. After giving him food and water we started home and got there about dark. I don't think he will start out again without a better pilot. My wife and I were glad to administer to his wants. When will there be another prospecting tour. J. W. ALLEN.

The drummer was looking so sad that it attracted the attention of the hotel clerk.

"What's the matter?" asked that functionary, "lost a friend or your job?"

"No, worse," responded the drummer.

"Lost two friends?" queried the sympathetic clerk.

"No; just thinking of a man I met I met out here in Adrian the other night at supper."

"What did he do to you? Beat you at Poker?"

"No; asked me a question and I answered him by asking him an- other."

"Give me the particulars."

"Well, it was this way"—and the drummer showed how badly he felt to bring it all up again— "we were at supper and I had been pretty smart and the man had been very quiet.

"'Did you ever notice,' he said as innocent and kindly as a school teacher, 'that over in Wisconsin the people shake the pepper box in this way, while those in Indiana hold it fast and pat it on the bot- tom this way?'

"I had noticed it and told him so.

"'I'm from Indiana,' he said, knocking some pepper on his pota- toes.

"'Yes,' said I, 'it shows on you.'

"'Do you know,' said he seri- ously, 'why they do it differently?'

"'No said I, 'why do they?'

"'To get the pepper out,' said he, earnestly, and then the gang at the table gave me the laugh in eighteen places and the man asked me how much salary I got for learning things."

A cheap Piano. This fine piano originally cost $500. Within a year the inside works have been thoroughly overhauled by piano makers at a cost of $45 and are now as good as new. It will be put thoroughly in tune before de- livery to buyer. Will be sold for $75 cash. There was never such a bargain offered. Good for family or school room. Apply at this office.

THE FAMOUS SALE.

Anniston continues to appreciate the REPUBLICAN as an excellent ad- vertising medium. This week the Famous favors us with a half page advertisement to tell our readers what wonderful bargains they offer. This firm has always had one price, and that as low as possible to leave fair profit on their goods. One- fourth off this price simply means great bargains for customers. The Hot Blast speaking of this dissolu- tion sale says:

"This 'one-fourth off' sale is no fake. The Famous has done business in Anniston for seven years past, making a reputation for squareness and straightforwardness second to none in the country and the people of Anniston and this section know who and what they are.

"The prices, which are in plain figures, have neither been marked down nor up. The figures remain as they are but when you select your goods the price is divided by four, you get your purchase for three-fourths and they lose the other fourth for the sake of making the trade."

HOW PROSPERITY COMES.

Prosperity will not come to the south through any socialistic or paternal system of legislation. No act of congress will ever abolish poverty, and the triumph of no po- litical party will ever supply peo- ply with money when they have nothing of value to exchange for it.

When permanent prosperity comes to this section it will as- sume the shape of diversified in- dustry. It will come, says Ingersoll, through the white and golden har- vest fields; leaping from the whirl- ing spindles and the turning wheels; flashing from the open furnace doors; darting out from the flam- ing forges; rushing by the chim- neys filled with eager fire—greeted and grasped by the countless sons of toil.

The factory will be the material salvation of the south. It will draw thousands of men from the mass of agriculturalists, and make them consume and pay good prices for the products of our farmers, while they in turn produce the ar- ticles of necessity needed in every farmers home.

If we would see our towns and cities built up we must let the fac- tory do its perfect work. Divide our people into only two classes— farmers and traders—and there will never be any real prosperity. Under such a system the farmers will simply bedevil the soil, while the traders bedevil them. Farmers raising one crop at a loss will grow poorer every year, and the traders grinding their uncertain profits out of such a class will build up noth- ing.

The factory is the thing. Its skilled workers drawing good wa- ges make the home market that is needed by the tillers of the soil. Their demands, backed by ready cash, will cause the agriculturists to diversify their crops and pro- duce everything that is wanted in the flourishing town that will clus- ter around the factory.

Every well managed factory will draw around it a circle of stores and beyond them will be a circle of happy homes, and then will come widening circles of market gardens, small farms and prosperous planta- tions.

The factory stimulates the ex- changes which are the very life- blood of both town and country. Atlanta is an illustration. As a commercial center our city would give employment to comparatively few. As an industrial center she gives employment to more than 15,000 workers. We must follow this line in order to reach our greatest development. Take care of the factory and the factory will take care of us.

Create the factory where none exists; enlarge it and help it when you have it, and when it stands off amidst unprofitable surroundings and looks longingly in this direc- tion, invite it to make its home here where cheaper labor and raw material and perfect distributing facilities will double and sometimes quadruple its dividends.

This is the winning policy for Atlanta and the South.—Constitu- tion.

BARGAINS IN FARMS.

Messrs. Stevenson, Martin and Grant offer the Miller farm of 400 acres acres in Alexandria valley, the Wyly farm on Ohatchie near the tunnel of the L. & N. R. R., between Anniston and Gadsden and the Estella Washburn farm near Piedmont for a small cash payment, balance on one, two, three, four and five years time. Here is a chance to get a good farm and work it out. Call on the above firm for prices and terms.

COMMITTED SUICIDE!

The Cause and Its Lesson.

Why did he commit suicide? Oh! for the same reason that thousands of others are on the verge of the same sin, or in immi- nent danger of insanity, paralysis, idiocy, or some other equally unfortunate result of any nervous affection. He knew he was afflicted with a nervous disorder, but was careless, apparently indifferent to the out- come; or he may have lessened his chances for recovery by treating with physicians who had little or no knowledge of such af- fections, or by deluging himself with worth- less so-called remedies. His case was a sad one, but no worse than that of any other nervous sufferer, who has nervous or sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, irritability, melancholy, failing memory, hot flashes, fainting, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, sexual debility, epilepsy, etc. The same or similar consequences are likely to result to any one who has any of these advance symptoms of an awful end. Do not hesitate to get rid of them by intelligent treat- ment. Dr. Franklin Miles, the celebrated specialist, has studied nervous diseases over 30 years, and has discovered the only re- liable remedy for them. Thousands of vol- untary testimonials prove the virtues of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

Alonzo Barker, of Clinton, N. Y., writes: "I was so afflicted with extreme nervousness that I was on the verge of insanity. My hands trem- bled so that I could scarcely feed myself. I used two bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and was cured. It is with pleasure I recommend this wonderful remedy for nervous troubles."

"I had been a great sufferer from chronic headache until I began, about six months ago, to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Pills, since which time I have not had a headache. Several of my friends are using Dr. Miles' Rem- edies, and find them, as I did, to be more than you claim for them."—Mrs. Mary Ritter, Los Angeles, Cal.

W. H. Capwell, editor Tribune, Plymouth, Pa., writes: "My wife was cured of sick headache of many years' standing by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. She has recommended it to her friends, and they all praise it highly."

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle. Six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs. Dr. Miles' Pills, 50 doses, 25 cents. Free book at druggists, or by mail.

TRUITT'S LETTER.

MR. EDITOR:—

I see in your paper that my competitors are trying to follow or "imitate" me. Well, I like this for more reasons than one. FIRST: I want the REPUBLICAN to gather in the shekels, because you always give more than value received. SECOND: Because to follow me they must think I am doing well and I always like that. IN THE THIRD PLACE: If I think they are trying to follow, or are after me, I just GET ON MY METTLE and move up a few button holes, and go right on.
