"ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY."

ESTABLISHED 1837. JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1894. VOLUME 58.

A SKETCH OF COL. OATES.

Montgomery Advertiser.

Hon. Wm. C. Oates was born in Pike, now Bullock County, Alabama, and hence represents in Congress the district of his birth. He is six feet, two inches tall, weighs 220 pounds, and though now fifty-eight years old, is as strong and active as many men twenty years his junior. His parents were from the Carolinas. His father was an industrious farmer, but a poor man and unable to give his son any advantages except to send him to three-months country schools in the fall of the year, after the crops were laid by, altogether not aggregating more than a year and a half. The country was thinly populated and there were no public schools then.

Col. Oates was raised to plow and hoe and do other farm labor until he was 18 years old, when he took to the world to make a living for himself. He worked at mechanical trades in Florida, Louisiana and Texas for two years. He was all the time of studious habits and at the expiration of this taught a country school for six months in the southern part of Henry county. He then went to school at the Lawrenceville Academy for a like period; then returned and taught another school, and on the proceeds earned he again went to the Lawrenceville School until he became a good English scholar, could read Latin very well and had advanced in mathematics through geometry. He then went to Eufaula and read law in the office of Pugh, Bullock & Buford, studying sixteen hours in every twenty-four until at the end of four months he underwent a highly creditable examination and was admitted to the bar. This was in November, 1858. He then located at Abbeville, in Henry County, to practice law, and edited a weekly Democratic newspaper until the breaking out of the war. He then raised a company of young men, 120 strong, which was mustered into the Fifteenth Alabama Regiment, to serve for three years, or during the war. The Regiment was sent to Virginia and placed in the command of Stonewall Jackson, and participated in all the battles he fought up to the time of his death in May, 1863. Col. Oates was the seventh Captain in rank in the Regiment. He was very much respected and beloved by his men, for he participated in all the hard service with them and cared for and protected them to the best of his ability. When he was second captain in rank, in consequence of the absence of his superiors, he commanded the regiment for six or seven months, through many hard marches and several battles, in all of which he handled it with consummate skill and courage. About the 1st of June, 1863, just before Lee's army went to Gettysburg, Gen. Hood caused Oates to be appointed a Colonel in the provisional army, under a law of the Confederate Congress, for valor and skill displayed on the field, and assigned him to the command of his old regiment, which he commanded through the terrible battle of Gettysburg, in which he held the extreme right of our lines on the second and third days of July, 1863, and with his own and the Forty seventh Alabama, turned the Federal left and doubled it up on "Little Round Top," his fire killing Gen. Vincent, the commander at that point and came very near driving the Federals from it, which would have turned the scales of that great battle in favor of the Confederates. He lost two-thirds of his regiment, a brother of his being among the killed. His regiment was in Hood's division, which was transferred with Longstreet's command to the West, and fought both days in the hard battle of Chickamauga, he commanding the brigade on Saturday evening. When the Confederate Army moved up around Chattanooga, Col. Oates was put in command of the upper part of Lookout Valley and held that position, blockading the wagon road on the opposite side of the Tennessee, until the morning of the 27th of October, when Grant threw across the river an invading force under Gen. Hazen of 2,200 men, which Col. Oates met and fought with 200 men and the section of a battery, until severely wounded; and then succeeded in withdrawing his command and saving them from capture. He did not recover from this wound until the following February, when he rejoined his regiment in East Tennessee and that spring went in command of it back to Longsteet in Virginia, participating in all the battles between Lee and Grant from May 5th until August 16th, 1864, at which time he had his right arm shot off on the Darbytown Road on the north side of the James River. He came very near dying from secondary hemorrhage two weeks after he had lost his arm, and had not fairly recovered at the time of the surrender. He was recommended for it and would have been made a Brigadier General soon after Hood took command of the Army of the Tennessee had it not been for the loss of his arm and his disability caused thereby. Hood wanted him with him because he knew what sort of a fighter he was and that he would always obey orders promptly. Col. Oates was wounded four times slightly and twice severely during the war and was engaged in twenty-seven battles.

After the close of the war Col. Oates had nothing in the world but a one-eyed horse he captured from the Yankees and a Confederate uniform. He had to learn to write with his left hand, which he soon did, and resumed the practice of law, in which he had but a slight experience when the war begun. He soon became very successful in his profession and up to 1880, when he entered Congress, had made more money than any other lawyer in Southeastern Alabama. Immediately after the war he was a member of the State Executive Committee, and labored vigorously with Gen. Jim Clanton to resuscitate the Democratic Party. He was a delegate to the National Convention which nominated Seymour in 1868, and canvassed and spoke against both Judge Minnis and Buckley through Southeast Alabama. He fought the carpet-baggers fearlessly and was arrested by military order and held under bond of $10,000 to keep the peace towards them. No man did more to reorganize the Democratic Party in Alabama after the war than he.

In 1870 he received a respectable vote in the nominating convention for Governor, although he was not a candidate, at the time when Gov. Lindsay was nominated. In the fall of the same year he was nominated for the Legislature by the Democratic Convention of Henry county without his being a candidate or asking for it, and elected. He was a very active member of the Legislature at the session of 1870-71, and 1871-72. He was the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and a member of the Judiciary Committee, and had a very conspicuous part in the legislation of the House. In 1875 he was elected from the Thirty-third Senatorial District a member of the Constitutional Convention, which framed our present constitution. He was the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee and a very active and useful member of that body. In 1872 he was a candidate for the nomination for Governor and of the five candidates in nomination he ran next to Thos. H. Herndon, who was nominated. He was nominated for Congress by the Democrats in the Montgomery District, to strengthen the State ticket, for it was well known that the District had 6,000 Republican majority Oates made an active canvass of the District and ran ahead of the State ticket in every county thereof and in every ward in the city of Montgomery, but was beaten by Rapier, the negro nominee. Herndon was defeated. He having been a member of the secession convention a great many believed that if Oates had been the nominee he would have carried the State on account of his very conservative and conciliatory speeches which he made to his audiences, in which there were Union men. In 1878 he was a candidate for the nomination for Congress in the third District. The Convention met at Eufaula and continued for five days. After Oates had received the votes of four counties 750 times, he requested his friends to withdraw his name and make a nomination of some one else. Samford was nominated and elected. In 1880 Oates was a candidate again, and was elected, and has been a member of Congress ever since, having been nominated by acclamation seven times, and has always been elected by a very fair majority. In 1892, when he was nominated it was believed by nearly all his friends that he would be defeated, as Kolb had carried nearly all the counties of his district the August before in his race for Governor, but Col. Oates inaugurated a vigorous campaign all over his district, speaking himself altogether 148 hours, and expending a considerable sum of money. The organization was perfected in accordance with his suggestions and he won a glorious victory, carrying all eight of the counties in his district by a majority of 7,000. His own county, Henry, gave Kolb in August 1,500 majority. Oates won that back and carried it by 1,400 majority in November. He determined before his last election that he would not be a candidate for Congress again, that he had received as much honor from his district as was reasonable for him to ask, in serving them fourteen years continuously in the House of Representatives. He so informed them when he was nominated, and that he did not know that he would be a candidate for any other office unless sometime he should be a candidate for United States Senator.

In legislation Col. Oates has originated, introduced and pressed to a consideration a greater number of bills intended for the relief of his people from hard conditions than any other member from the Southern States. Of course he was unsuccessful in many of these. Among other things he has pressed all the time, and with all his ability, a refund of the $68,000,000 of cotton tax wrongfully and unjustly taken from the Southern people.

While he is firm and persistent in urging his views and the consideration of measures he is a conservative man. He never abuses personally those who differ with him in matters of legislation. He does not hesitate to denounce measures which he thinks wrong, but does not go beyond that boundary. He never indulges in personal denunciations nor says anything intended to give offense, although he is always earnest and outspoken in favor of or in opposition to measures according to his honest beliefs. While he is the soundest kind of a State's rights Democrat he never sticks in the back and if he cannot get what he desires, and if by making concessions can get one-half, he will take that as the best policy. The old Republican members of the House greatly esteem him personally and are always willing to help him in any matter non-political, because they say he is always fair and honest and treats them respectfully. The old and leading Democratic members who have served so long with him have frequently testified their great respect for his character and ability. If the South had more such conservative, reasonable and fearless men in Congress we would obtain much more beneficial legislation than we do.

In his domestic relations Col. Oates is a very kind and indulgent husband and father and has done very much for his relatives since the war. He educated his brother, Jas. Wyatt Oates who is now a prominent lawyer of California, and also two nephews and two nieces, and four or five people who are no kin to him. One of the latter is now a distinguished Baptist minister. His mother and widowed sister have lived with him and been provided for by him for more than twenty-five years. There is not a man in Alabama who has done more kind deeds for his poor relatives and expended more money to put them up in the world than he has. A greater number of poor white people and of negroes within the circle of his acquaintance vote for him when he is a candidate than for any other man, for the reason that he has always been their friend and when in his employ, as many of them have been, at his mills and on his plantation, he has always dealt fairly with them and given them full satisfaction. In hundreds of cases he has loaned them money and helped them on in the world, and they kindly remember it.

This is the manner of man who is to lead the Alabama Democracy. He is a typical Southern man, who has made his way to the front in the face of many adverse circumstances. Our people have cause to be proud of such men. They give to the world assurance that in this country the road to position is wide open for those who are worthy and capable. He has been loyal to his convictions, his duty, his party and his country. Every Democrat should enthusiastically rally to his standard.

Col. Oates' Speech of Acceptance.

After his nomination Col. Oates was escorted to the stand by a committee and spoke as follows before the Convention:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Convention:

This is an occasion on which and a compliment of which any man may indeed feel proud. But with me I feel that it is the very acme of all my achievements, and an honor unrivaled by any ever conferred upon me. The campaign through which I have passed has been an extraordiary one, as between me and my distinguished competitor. There has been upon my part, and I presume upon his, feelings of the utmost kindness. We are both Democrats, and have had a personal acquaintance with each other for more than a quarter of a century, during all of which we have been good friends. In none of the speeches I have made have I spoken of my distinguished competitor otherwise than in the kindest manner. (Cries of "Louder, louder.") The differences between us are such as may often be found to exist between Democrats; matters of policy and such as should always be treated with marked kindness and settled by appeals to reason. I feel that I ought to be congratulated upon achieving a success in the nomination over Capt. Johnston, whom I regard as one of the finest organizers and one of the best workers that Alabama ever produced. (Applause.)

With reference to the matters of difference, I only wish to say upon this occasion, that though of vast importance they are not at all irreconcilable; they are easily harmonized, and I hope that when your body comes to consider the question of a platform that you will declare in that instrument such sensible and practical principles in accordance with our national platform and with what we all ultimately aim at, as to have no practical differences among us. All that I have aimed to accomplish in this campaign I can assure you, my friends, is perfectly consistent and dictated by the very best principles of Democracy; and in order that our party may continue to be successful, we must always adhere to the fundamental principles of Democracy, and, while in their application there may be differences among us, as to matters of detail, all these can be harmonized. My effort has been, and will continue to be, to allay all differences among Democrats and to unite the party. Some differences have been disturbing elements and all these should be put aside to procure the greatest amount of harmony in our ranks, and thus insure our success. The maintainance of these principles which have in the past and will continue to contribute the greatest measure of happiness and prosperity to our people, is often of the highest importance.

I feel that while this contest for the nomination for the high office of Governor of our great State has come to an end, the conflict before us is no small matter, and is one that calls for our united and harmonious efforts for its proper solution, and a glorious triumph to our party in August next is the blessing which awaits us. As for myself, I shall do all I can to that end. I believe in conducting the campaign upon perfectly sound principles which shall be made known in the plainest manner to all our people and at the same time appeal to their reason and the reason of those who differ with us, rather than to passion, for the purpose of securing harmony and the greatest acquisitions to our ranks. I expect to pursue that course and to advise it in others and I hope that all of our people will unite in such efforts. I scarcely doubt that such will be the case. The intelligence of the Democracy of Alabama is fully equal to any such occasion, and while we have differed in the past and some have left the ranks for what they conceived to be a just cause, I think that a large number of them are finding and will soon be convinced that they were in error and will return to the ranks of the Democracy, so that by proper efforts on our part we will soon find a reunited Democracy as strong in numbers and as fixed in purpose as it was before the dissentions and differences which were brought into it unhappily something over four years ago. I want to say to you that so far as I am concerned, it has not been a matter so much of personal ambition as it has been an intense desire upon my part to secure harmony among the Democrats of my native State. I know that if we act harmoniously it will not only have a grand effect upon us here in our State, but it will be an example to the Democrats in our sister States which will weigh very considerably and contribute much to like happy results among them. I could not ask or hope for any higher honor than you have conferred upon me and I hope to prove worthy of it. It is not the first time that my name has been brought before a convention by my fellow citizens for this high position. Twenty-four years ago, when I was comparatively a young man, and when material out of which to nominate a Governor was rather scarce in consequence of the disfranchisement of a large number of our elder citizens, who were men of experience, my name was presented to a Democratic convention for Governor of Alabama.

Lindsay was nominated and I received a very respectable vote, though I was not an avowed candidate; and two years latter—twenty-two years ago—I was a candidate for the nomination, and received a very good vote, in fact, when of the five candidates all had dropped out but myself and the late lamented Colonel Thomas Herndon, he beat me for the nomination, but I was not in the least soured by the disappointment. I at once, under the direction of the State Executive Committee, took the stump and canvassed North Alabama for him. At this time no Democrat could be found to take the nomination for Congress in this district. There being a Republican majority of 15,000 no Democrat could hope to be elected. I agreed to take the nomination in order to all our State ticket. I made thirty odd speeches and did all in my power to elect the ticket headed by the gentleman who defeated me for the nomination. I felt it to be quite as much my duty as though I had succeeded, to do all I could for the ticket, because with me Democracy with the blessings it bestows upon the people who observe its principles is infinitely more important than any self aggrandizement. (Applause.)

And on this occasion, proud as I am of the honor conferred, I would rather, if the one were put against the other, to see the success of my Democratic friends, to see them triumphant, than to be thus honored—I place it above all price politically. (Applause.)

I call the attention of my distinguished competitor to the fact, that although I have succeeded in getting the nomination on this occasion, he has progessed as nearly toward the high honor as I prior to the present occasion. I believe my friend's name was before a convention for the nomination once before, so it has been twice mentioned in that connection in terms of high praise and with quite a strong vote. Mine has been mentioned before and the third time it seems I am successful. So he need not despair of the future. (Applause.)

As long as we have the approbation of our fellow men, we should be encouraged even if the full measure of our ambition is not realized.

Gentlemen, I can scarcely find words in which to thank you for this honor. I am aware that it is not my personal merits, but that it is because a majority of you have thought that I was a better candidate for the party at this time than my distinguished competitor and that I am the advocate of unadulterated Democracy. I never feel like rejoicing over my friend when I have been successful; I am inclined rather to extend sympathy and brotherly love to my friend than to rejoice over him in consequence of my success.

I want to say to you (though it may seem a little egotistic) that I see a gentleman in this audience whose presence reminds me of what transitions in life from one condition to another may occur in this country of ours. When I came home from the war, in which I had borne an honorable part, I had nothing in the world but a one-eyed sorrel horse which I had captured from the Yankees and a Confederate uniform. I had to learn to write with my one hand. I had gotten a law license just before I went to the army. The first court that I attended was in Troy, not far distant from where I was born. I went down there to attend that court in the hope of being employed in some case. I didn't have money to pay my bill at a hotel. I hitched my horse out, and received invitations from some of my soldier friends to go into the country and stay over night, and thus I remained for a week waiting for a case. I knew my friends would have invited me to the hotel if they had known of my destitute condition. I did not despair. On Monday, I returned, and while sitting around the court house, some parties who had been indicted were brought in to be tried, and I see a gentleman,—a delegate in this convention, my friend Hon. J. D. Murphree, of Troy, and he stepped over to me and said. "You don't seem to have anything to do; I will give you $25 to aid the solicitor in prosecuting these men." I replied that I certainly would accept it. They were convicted and I then had enough money to go to a hotel which I did. That was the first money that I made. I was pretty low down then, but I continued to hope for better times, and by the friendship extended to me by many of my old comrades and others with whom I came in contact, I have gradually climbed up and on and have been honored by my people till I have reached the climax in being nominated for the highest office in the gift of the people, Governor of my native State. (Applause.)

I have no doubt of being elected (Applause) I expect to contribute all I can to that end and I expect such a large number of able and eloquent men to aid in the campaign that in the August election we will achieve a glorious triumph, and we will cease to hear any more of the genial Reuben or his party.

(From the audience, "That is the stuff.")

The Party in Alabama.

The nomination of Colonel Oates as the democratic candidate for governor of Alabama ought to be the signal for complete harmony in the party. There has been a good deal of unnecessary rancor dispalyed in the preliminary campaign by some of those who set themselves up as special partisans of Colonel Oates, but his own canvass showed that he did not sympathize with the proscriptive methods adopted. If party harmony depended on this element, it would be flung to the winds in Alabama and in every other state.

But party harmony depends now as always on the people who are true to democratic principles, and who feel and know that these principles can only be put into operation as the result of democratic unity. It is this feeling and this knowledge which impels sensible and conservative men to subordinate minor differences and mere questions of policy to the larger and more important considerations that belong to party harmony.

The chief of these considerations is this: that if men permit differences on minor points to divide them they cannot carry to a successful issue the principles that are vital and essential; that if a party cannot put into operation all its policies, it can at least carry out some of them—whereas, if there be division and demoralization, the malcontents and factionists merely play into the hands of the republicans.

The prediction has been freely made that if Colonel Oates, representing the rancorous faction in Montgomery, should receive the nomination, the platform democrats would desert their colors and swell the ranks of the Kolb men. This is wild nonsense. When Colonel Oates received the votes of a majority of the democratic convention, he became the democratic candidate and this was made unmistakable when the convention gave him its unanimous endorsement. If he ever had been the candidate of a rancorous faction, he ceased to be that when the democratic convention gave him its endorsement. He became at once the candidate of the democratic party and all democrats who care anything about the success of the principles of their party will give him their hearty support.

They will give him their support whether they agree with all his personal or political views or not, and for the very good reason that he represents the material and imposing fact of democracy—the vital force that stands for popular government. It was this consideration that impelled the supporters of Johnston in the convention to declare themselves for Oates when he had received the votes of a majority of the delegates.

In Alabama, in Georgia, in every state where the democratic party has vitality, considerations of party unity and harmony must be held to be of paramount importance. There is no remedy for the evils of republican legislation outside the democratic organization. There is no hope whatever in any movement outside the democratic party. Whatever weakens the organization hurts the people's cause and helps the republicans.

Democratic voters may not relish the financial policy thus far developed by congress and the administration. They may resent the officiousness of the small but devoted band of hand-fed patriots who are trying to take take the affairs of the party in charge. But beyond and above these things is the necessity of party harmony, the necessity of presenting a solid front to republican aggression, the necessity that impels thoughtful men to look beyond faction fights and individual selfishness to the welfare of the people and to the final complete success of democratic principles.—Atlanta Constitution.

EDITOR HOT BLAST:—The card published in The Hot Blast of the 29th inst., signed by us, touching the management of the primary election at this place the 12th inst., was not intended by us as any attack upon The Jacksonville Republican or any person whomsoever, and was not given to aid any side in controversy.

We gave the statement to the executive committeeman of this precinct, at his request, to exculpate him from any charge of unfairness in his instructions to the managers, that might be made against him at any time.

In the light of events we do not regard any statement of The Republican touching the late primary as any intended reflection upon us as managers of the election.

T. R. WARD,
Managers Primary.

Following the primary election in this precinct the REPUBLICAN made a statement that Jeffersonians and Populites voted in the primary and that it was the opinion of the paper that but for that vote results would have been different. Whatever may have been the difference of opinion then as to whether or not the vote of these men changed the result, there was none as to the fact that men not democrats voted in the primary at the invitation and under the personal direction of men claiming to be democrats. As a democratic paper the REPUBLICAN rebuked this conduct; but was careful to say that the mass of supporters of Capt. Johnston were not responsible for it; that it was the work of three or four men; and that they had been enabled to do the dirty political act because of a failure of the supporters of Col. Oates to get an agreement with the other side to challenge voters as to their intention to support the nominees of the State Convention. We state now what was not then stated that the most solemn promises were given the democrats supporting Col. Oates that no outside parties would be voted in the democratic primary; and that there was a gross breach of good faith.

Since the publication of the fact, the three or four men at the bottom of it have been squirming under the public censure of their undemocratic procedure. Angry at the REPUBLICAN for "talking out in meeting," these men—well known in this community and spotted—have been seeking by every artifice to divert attention from the main point at issue by involving the REPUBLICAN in a quarrel with the man who has worked him—the editor of the Hot Blast who if set up from the plow handles to the most prominent place in our State politics, better as they know more of him. He is one of them and sympathises with them.

The registration in Anniston reached thirteen hundred and eighty-five.

In Jacksonville the registration reached four hundred and seventeen, about one hundred short.

Polkville beat did better than Jacksonville. There there registered one hundred and fifty—about the full vote of the beat. It is said that only eight men failed to register. Of those registered in Polkville 142 were white and 8 were negroes. Of the registered voters 15 are said to be for Kolb, 15 on the fence and the balance for Oates.

We shall be glad to hear from other beats as to the relative standing of the voters.

Col. Dan'l S. Troy, a leading lawyer of the State has given a written opinion on the election law. Discussing the registration he says:

"If an assistant registrar returns to the judge of probate a registration list containing fictitious names or names written by him, or by his permission or direction, not of persons in fact registered by him, he is guilty of forgery in the second degree. This offense is punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than two nor more than ten years."

He also says if an assistant registrar presents a bill of three cents for each name not legally registered, he is guilty of getting money on false pretense and can be indicted.

The managers were conscious of innocence of wrong doing and objected to being made parties defendant to a controversy which did not affect them.

They controvert in their last card the statement that their first card, published in the Hot Blast was "voluntary." On the contrary they say it was solicited. They further say they did not give it to aid either side to this controversy, and that they do not regard the strictures of the REPUBLICAN as intended for them. In neither of the two cards published by them, do they touch the point at issue, and that is whether or not Populists and Jeffersonians voted in the primary. The managers are right in supposing the REPUBLICAN had no reference to them.

Altogether the matter is too small to have commanded the attention it has. The REPUBLICAN made its statement in the interest of truth and party honor, and not because either ticket was beaten. And it will stand by its statements always. It does not lie and it will not suffer men to controvert its assertions by clever juggle of words or mystification of issues. Populists and Jeffersonians did vote in the primary and many of them have been heard to say since then that they would support Kolb, and that they felt free to do so, since they were not pledged to the support of the democratic nominees in the primary.

The charge that the editor of the REPUBLICAN was irritated because the ticket of delegates to which his name belonged was beaten is too silly for notice. It was a contest between Oates and Johnston. The men on the two tickets were mere figure-heads and did not count for anything. If any man on either delegation regarded it as HIS fight he was a fool, as every man, woman and child in the town can readily see.

The fact noticed by the REPUBLICAN (tewit: that Jeffersonians and Populites voted in the primary) involved a principle and went directly to the honor, welfare and organization of the party. It was done solely in the interest of the party. Men who go outside of party lines to invite men into democratic primaries ought to be rebuked and the Democracy of Calhoun ought to congratulate themselves that they have one newspaper in the county not afraid to do it.

The REPUBLICAN has no quarrel with the managers of the primary, who did their duty, under their instructions. It has no quarrel with the bulk of men who differed with its editor as to the proper man to nominate for governor. It has no quarrel with the Hot Blast, which knows nothing of the matter and is only a cats paw. But it does have a quarrel with the men who bring men of other parties into democratic primaries and do other undemocratic acts, not as yet adverted to; and, if they will only come out from under cover, it will be very glad to pay its compliments to them in a manner not entirely enjoyable to them or conducive to their future political interests.

We print this week an admirable sketch of the life of Col. Wm. C. Oates from the Montgomery Advertiser. Next week we shall print sketches of the other nominees on the State Democratic ticket. We also print the speech of acceptance of Col. Oates. It is admirable. It breathes a true spirit of conservatism and love of country rarely found in the effusions or utterances of the latter day politician. There is nothing of the straddler or demagogue in Oates. He is a square, truthful man. What he says he means and may be relied on. The people will like

OATES ON CLEVELAND.

Views of the Alabamian in Regard to the President's Policy.

ATLANTA, May 26.—In an interview given out by Congressman W. C. Oates, Democratic nominee for governor of Alabama, the following opinions were expressed by him in regard to Mr. Cleveland, and his financial policy:

"Yes, I did say that the money power had the government by the leg, and I say it again; but the responsibility for that state of affairs belongs to the Republican party, not to Mr. Cleveland. Yes," he continued, "I did say it; and while the words were not Mr. Cleveland's—I have been quoted as saying they were—the sentiment was his.

"I have talked a good deal with Mr. Cleveland," continued Colonel Oates, "and in discussing the financial situation and the condition of the treasury, he has gone so far as to say, in the strong language that is characteristic of the man, that the New York banks have such control of the situation that he, the president, didn't know what to do.

"I do not agree with Mr. Cleveland on all phases of the money question. He is in favor of bimetallism only after international agreement. I disagree with him there, for I believe that we can have the free coinage of both gold and silver, maintaining the two dollars at a parity, independent of the rest of the world. I wrote the silver plank in the platform we adopted at Montgomery which says: "While there are differences of opinion among us in matters of detail, we all believe in the free coinage of silver whenever it can be done consistently with the maintenance of a sound and safe currency."

"I believe as I have always said' continued Colonel Oates, "that Mr. Cleveland is a friend of silver. I know he is, for he has told me so. The mistake he has made is that he has not let the people know just where he has stood and where he now stands, I don't think he should have vetoed the seigniorage bill. and I voted to pass that bill over his veto; not that I considered that the bill would make much difference in the money situation, but because I believed its passage and approval by the president would have gone a long way towards reconciliating the differences in our party at the south.

He has said that he favored international agreement, but in my opinion has not gone sufficiently into details concerning his position on the financial question to suit the people, and therein lies a good deal of the opposition to him. What is or is not good for his party has no influence whatever on him; he does just as he thinks is right, and lets no other consideration affect his actions."

PARTY UNITY.

Letter of Senator Walthall.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29.—The Picayune's Jackson, Miss., correspondent sends the text of a letter from Senator E. C. Walthall to the editor of The Jackson Clarion-Ledger, in reply to a request that he give his views upon current issues of the day. Senator Walthall says:

"I am unable to appreciate the distinction which is supposed to exist between administration and anti-administration Democrats in Mississippi; nor do I believe there is any occasion for it, or any true basis upon which it can be defined. There is no principle to justify it, and its manifest expediency should forbid the drawing of such a line. I am sure there is no sentiment in the body of the party favoring any such needless and hurtful division in this State. Mississippa Democrats know the value of party unity and deprecate all illiberality and intolerance which tend to breed dissensions. In former years they had some bitter experience, when their party was out of power, and this they will not soon forget. They subordinate individual aspirations and interests to the general good which they believe can be best subserved by the continued ascendency of the Democratic Party. If they do not enjoy all the benefits expected from the Democratic rule they know they are escaping many wrongs and burdens which they endured under Republican rule. Those who agree with Mr. Cleveland in his financial views, equally with those who differ from him, have too much staked upon Democratic supremacy to subject their party's organization or integrity to any unnecessary strain on account of any matter of detail involved in the so-called silver question. They are generally bi-metallists, and the signs of the times encourage most of them to hope that the demand for silver coinage on reasonable terms cannot much longer be resisted, but they consider the unity and success of their party of paramount importance to the triumph of any particular views as to the terms on which silver coinage is to be resumed, for they do not believe it will be resumed at all if the Republicans are restored to power.

"They re-elected Mr. Lamar to the Senate, unanimously, after he had voted against a silver bill, in violation of instructions, and some of his warmest supporters, myself among them, were the open advocates of free coinage of silver. We found no more reason for dividing our party on such an issue than we do now. The friends of silver in Mississippi honored and trusted their great Senator, despite the single difference then existing between him and them. They stood by him because they had faith in him, and the same men for a like reason, are standing by Mr. Cleveland now, between whom and themselves there is much the same difference now that there was at one time between them and Mr. Lamar. The difference was and is important, but Democratic unity is vital now, as then.

"I believe a large majority of the Democrats in Mississippi are in favor of the free coinage of silver at the present ratio, but not one of them whose views have been given to the public, so far as I am informed, has authorized anybody to class him as an anti-administration Democrat. It is well known, if I may refer to my own position in this connection, that I am a free silver man, open and decided, but known as well that I am a party man and have always urged unity as a party duty, though it may involve concessions.

"I was a loyal supporter of the President in the Senate on all except financial propositions, and like other silver Democrats in that body, was willing when the bill to repeal the purchase clause of the Sherman law was under discussion, to concede much for the sake of party harmony. In that debate, after stating my individual position, I made the following declarations.

"Still, sir, as a Democrat, believing the general good can best be subserved by a united Democracy, I am ready, as I have before declared, to make reasonable concessions and meet the single-stand ard advocates, or others from whom I differ in my party, at any point of agreement where a bimetallic policy can be established according to the pledges we have given.'

"I introduce this extract here as an utterance in harmony with what I have said before and since, believing the willingness it expresses to make concessions for the sake of party unity represents the feeling of a majority of the people whose supposed opinions I am now discussing.

"I do not believe that the people will agree that their public men shall be classed without their consent, as opponents of the administration simply because, while standing by the President generally on other subjects, they did as he did on the silver question—stood by their convictions and what they believed to be the best interests of the people. If such a test of orthodoxy is to be applied, no man from Mississippi now serving in either house of Congress, or who has done so since Mr. Cleveland's first term began, can meet its exactions, if, indeed, any can who seek to do so now. The fact that the entire Mississippi delegation differ from Mr. Cleveland on the silver question is shown by their votes in favor of the seigniorage bill, emphasized by the action in the House on the proposition to pass that bill over the President's veto, which was supported by every member of the delegation, including one who had previously voted against the rest on a kindred question.

"If such a test should be applied in other Southern States, one effect will be to strip such distinguished Democrats as Senators Mills, Gordon and Ransom, and Mr. Speaker Crisp, Mr. Patterson of Tennessee, Mr. Oates of Alabama and others in the House of much of their prestige as administration Democrats as they arrayed themselves against the President in their votes for the seigniorage bill, and the above-named members of the House deliberately united with the Mississippi delegation and other Southern Democrats in the effort to override the President's veto of that bill.

"I do not believe the Democrats of Mississippi will will approve such a test as that referred to, and in this they are not singular. The fact Mr. Oates, called an administration Democrat, and Sentor Morgan, known to be an extreme silver man, have been both recently endorsed by the Democrats of Alabama, shows that Democrats in that State look upon this subject much as I think they do in this State; and when Mr. Blanchard, a pronounced free silver man, is elected a Senator in Louisiana by the same Legislature that elected Mr. Caffery, who stands squarely by the President on financial questions, we have another proof that Southern Democrats look with no favor on the proposition to weaken their party by dividing on financial issues."

It's flying in the face of Nature to take the ordinary pill. Just consider how it acts. There's too much bulk and bustle, and not enough real good. And think how it leaves you when it's all over!

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets act naturally. They help Nature to do her own work. They cleanse and renovate, mildly but thoroughly, the whole system. Regulate it, too. The help that they give, lasts.

They're purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, the smallest, easiest, and best to take. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet for a gentle laxative—three for a cathartic.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

You pay only for the good you get.

This is true only of Dr. Pierce's medicines.

The Democracy of President Cleveland is not questioned save by disappointed politicians and disfigured soreheads who are ready to flop over into the Populite party at a moment's notice, and we are confident that time will demonstrate the wisdom, far-sightedness and patriotism of his administration.—Natchez (Miss) Democrat.

Colonel Oates' middle name is Calvin, and he seems predestined to get anything he wants—Birmingham Age-Herald.

ELECTROPOISE CURES CANCER.

Keysville, Fla., April 17, 1894.

Messrs. Dubois & Webb, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sirs: "About eleven months ago I bought from you an Electropoise for the purpose of treating cancer. I had one of about ten years' standing, and it had reached a stage where it was making rapid progress, being about the size of a silver dollar. I knew that I had to do something or my time was about up, and you being the only party that I corresponded with that would give me any assurance of a cure, got my patronage. I am now happy to inform you that the cancer is no more, the Electropoise arrested the progress of the cancer perceptibly in about thirty-six to forty-eight hours and gradually and slowly grew less until now there is a place about the size of a pin head that is not quite healed but gradually closing up. You can use this or any part of it as a testimonial if you wish. Very truly yours, M. M. Lillibridge."

D. A. Bryant, Hackneyville:—I was badly crippled with Rheumatism, also had a bad kidney trouble, I was helpless and could do no work. The Electropoise cured me and enabled me to work regularly."

Rev. W. C. Hearn, Talladega—"For producing calm refreshing sleep and curing sciatic rheumatism the Electropoise can not be equaled."

Joseph Williams, Stevenson—"I can walk all over town and even run, whereas a few weeks ago I was a helping cripple, the Electropoise did it."

Mrs. W. P. Nelson, Sunshine—"My recovery was wonderful. I have also tried the Electropoise on several of my neighbors, for various ailments, nausea, kidney trouble of the worst form, all with the most gratifying results."

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best Cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free at all Drug Stores. Regular size 50c, and $1.00 3

The new State Executive Committee has adopted a rule that only those who vote for the Democratic nominee for Governor can participate in the Congressional primaries, which occur after the State election.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d. N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

Ten men of the Jacksonville detachment of the Woodstock Guards left for Birmingham last Saturday the 26th to go into encampment with the second Regiment at Ensly city, in Jefferson county. The following are the names of those who went:

T. M. Alexander, Sergeant.

Gen. Joseph W. Burke returned yesterday from New York. Regarding the business situation and prospects, Gen. Burke stated to a reporter that he found much that is encouraging.

"The idea that the south is going wrong on the money question," said he, "is fast being dissipated in New York by the firm stand the Chattanooga Times and other leading southern dailies have taken for sound money. On that and other accounts there is a growing confidence in the south. In fact," continued the general, "great things are expected of the south, and I believe now for legitimate enterprises all the money that is desired can be secured."—Chattanooga Times.

The families who went from Jacksonville to Washington and Idaho States last year are pleased with their new homes, as evidenced by letters to friends here. They are doing well financially and have greatly improved in health. We have heretofore noted the fact that Miss Cora Crow had a school at or near Kendrick, Idaho. We learn that Miss Mamie has also secured a school. Of Mrs. Woodward's family, Miss Ida first secured a school in the country. After one term she was employed as teacher in the city school of Colfax, Washington, at good salary. She gave entire satisfaction and has been retained by the trustees for another term. Miss Willie Woodward has a school some miles from Colfax. Miss Bessie Woodward has profitable employment in the office of the county treasurer as accountant. The States of Washington and Idaho pay the salaries of teachers and the pay is from $40 to $70 per month. So it will be seen these worthy young ladies of the two families are doing well. Their friends here are gratified at their good fortune and admire their spirit. They have made many friends among the Western people among who they live.

ATTENTION, STOCK MEN!

Having consummated arrangements with Mr. J. H. Vivion, of Cartersville, Ga., for the use of his Kentucky bred stallion, Decree Chief, I respectfully and earnestly tender to the citizens of Calhoun county and the adjoining country, who have good mares, an opportunity of breeding to one of the most superbly bred trotting stallions in America, and probably the only Dictator Stallion in the South, and of thereby embracing a chance to secure a first-class roadster, if not a race horse.

DECREE CHIEF

Will make the season of 1894 at the Model City stables in Anniston, Ala., upon the following terms: Twenty dollars for the season, due when mare is first bred, with the privilege of returning her until season closes. If she fails to get in foal by the first service. Twenty-five dollars for insurance, due when mare is known to be in foal, or is parted with. If mare fails to get in foal, and party still owns her, she may be bred back next season, if the money has been paid and stallion living and I keep him. Respectfully, L. G. JONES

Let me say to our people that in the pedigree, which can be seen at my stables, of Decree, the sire of Decree Chief, embracing the blood of Dictator, Harold and Pilot, Jr., there is combined more extreme speed than in the pedigree of any stallion living or dead, unless bred like him. Here are a few that have the same blood lines.

Nancy Hanks	2:04	dam by Dictator
Direct	2:05¼	by Director, son of Dictator.
Directum	2:05¼	by Director, son of Dictator.
Jay Eye See	2:06¼	by Dictator.
Robt. J.	2:03¼	by Hartford, son of Harold.
Cremalin	2:03¾	by Lord Russell, son of Harold.
Alex. (inbred to Harold)	2:07¾	by Patronage, Gr. son of Harold
Maud S.	2:08¾	by Harold.
8	16:51½

2:06 13 32 average of eight animals

Where could there be such a record shown in the history of trotting contests? Then when you combine the blood of these two great sons of old Hambletonian and of the great Pilot, Jr., with that of the Mambrino Chief family, as is done in Decree Chief, and also picked up by the best strains of the roughbred blood all the way back to old Imported Messenger, you certainly have breeding that should satisfy the most exacting.

If Decree Chief, who is not yet grown, had not met with the misfortune to get one hind leg almost cut off when he was but two years old, he would have been trained, and would doubtless have had before this time a very low mark to his credit, for he has a splendid trotting gait. He is the same size, style, color, and the same kin to Dictator (grandson) that Directum is, who is beyond dispute, the grandest trotting horse now living, or that the world has ever produced, and he reached that lofty pinnacle at four years of age.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

HE COMMITTED SUICIDE!

The Cause and Its Lesson.

Why, did he commit suicide? Oh! for the same reason that thousands of others are on the verge of the same sin, or in immediate danger of insanity, paralysis, idiocy, or some other equally unfortunate result of any nervous affection. He knew he was afflicted with a nervous disorder, but was careless, apparently indifferent to the come; or he may have lessened his chance for recovery by treating with physicians who had little or no knowledge of such affections, or by deluging himself with worthless so-called remedies. His case was a sad one, but no worse than that of any other nervous sufferer, who has nervous or sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, irritability, melancholy, failing memory, hot flashes, fainting, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, sexual debility, epilepsy, etc. The same or similar consequences are likely to result to any one who has any of these advance symptoms of an awful end. Do not neglect getting rid of them by intelligent treatment. Dr. Franklin Miles, the celebrated specialist, has studied nervous diseases over 20 years, and has discovered the only reliable remedy for them. Thousands of voluntary testimonials prove the virtues of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

Alonzo Barker, of Clinton, N. Y., writes: "I was so afflicted with extreme nervousness that I was on the verge of insanity. My hands trembled so that I could scarcely feed myself. I used twelve bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and was cured. It is with pleasure I recommend this wonderful remedy for nervous troubles."

"I had been a great sufferer from chronic headache until I began, about four months ago, to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Pills, since which time I have not had a headache. Several of my friends are using Dr. Miles' Remedies, and find them, as I did, to be more than you claim for them."—Mrs. Mary Kister, Los Angeles, Cal.

W. H. Capwell, Shop Tribune, Epworth, Pa., writes: "My wife was cured of sick headache of many years standing by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. She has recommended it to her friends, and they all praise it highly."

E. E. FORBES,

ANNISTON, ALABAMA.

They are having hot times in Breckinridge's district in Kentucky but it looks as if he will be nominated.

In West Virginia, Illinois and other points east and west striking miners have been stopping coal trains, destroying property at coal mines and burning up railroad bridges.

This paper has more respect for either a Republican or Populite, who is such from sincere conviction than it has for a straddling Democrat who plays on both sides as it may suit his interests.

The Second Regiment of Alabama State troops have broken encampment in Jefferson county and the First Regiment has taken its place. After ten days, the third Regiment will go into encampment at the same place.

There has been a split in the democratic party in the Senatorial district composed of the counties of Hale and Green. The senatorial delegates from Hale county held a convention and nominated Dr. Wm. M. Browder, and the Greene county delegates held another convention and nominated Ed. W. DeGraffenreid.

Fighting has been going on between striking miners at Cripple Creek, Colorado, and deputy sheriffs, Blood has been spilled on both sides. The miners are fortified and court a battle. Arms and ammunition in large quanities have been going into the state from Chicago and other points, and at this writing (Wednesday) it looks as is a general battle and much bloodshed will follow. The miners have possession of several towns and are fortified on Bull Hill and are commanded by a man who has attended the military academy at West Point. The populite governor of the state seems to be utterly inefficient to command the peace.

One of the most cheering pieces of information the south has had in a long time is that a million dollar steel plant is to be built at Bessemer, in Jefferson county. This means more to Alabama than all the talk of the politicians or all the acts of congress.

Those people at Bessemer have gotten tired of waiting for third rate politicians in Congress to make records and have gone to work on their own account. It would be well for the business men and farmers all over the state to follow their example. Every man is the architect of his own fortune. The man who waits to get rich by congressional enactment or the wild promises of professional politicians will be badly left.

The Senate of the United States has been in session over six months and the country has heard nothing but talk, talk, talk. The country is fast coming to the conclusion that it would be better to abolish that fossilized body of punctilious old bucks, who live thousands of miles from their constituents and appear to know nothing and care very little about them.

They don't feel the hard times; because they get fat salaries, provide places for all their poor kin and dabble in stocks as occasion may offer If they are pressed by public opinion to investigate their own short comings, they proceed at once to vote a fat appropriation for the purpose out of the pockets of the people, close doors and begin business. Nothing comes of it, as a matter of course. The sugar trust scandal has already cost the people ten thousand dollars.

GRAVE YARD CLEANING.

Mink, Ala., June 3, 1894.

There was a large crowd attended the grave yard cleaning at Mt. Gilead, June 2nd. After the cemetery was put in nice condition the crowd met in the church at 11 o'clock and had a good sermon by Eld. Ed. Smith, the pastor. 12 o'clock was the most interesting part of the day when the sustenance of life was spread out before us in abundance and was partaken of in a most hearty manner.

READ THIS BOYS.

A San Francisco physician makes the following statement: "A man that smokes 100 cigarettes a day, inhaling them, takes 120 grains of opium; if he smokes fifty cigarettes a day, he takes sixty grains of opium. There is no question about it. Analysis has proved it. In addition to the poison of the nicotine, he takes in each cigarette the deadly narcotic, opium. No cigarette that I have ever heard of is free from opium. That is where the soothing effect from the inhalation comes in. Beyond question, the boy that smokes cigarettes stunts his growth, wrecks his nerves, weakens his heart and kidneys long before he reaches manhood."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

The cigarette habit is widespread among the boys. We believe it is one of the great evils of the day, and calls for a remedy. We hope our next legislature will prohibit the sale in the state of Alabama. Let parents exercise their authority in suppressing the ruinous habit. If a boy must smoke, let him smoke a pipe, or cigar. No one can tell what the future harvest will be from this pernicious habit so prevalent among our boys.—Christian Enterprise.

James K. Jackson.

Alabama in making up her Democratic ticket of nominees to be elected in August next, has honored Mr. James Kirkman Jackson with the high office of Secretary of State. He received the nomination on the first ballot, but before the result of the ballot was announced his nomination was made unanimous. Mr. Jackson will possibly be the youngest Secretary of State in the United States. He was born in Florence, Lauderdale county, a county that has given many able and patriotic men to the public service of Alabama.

In 1880 Mr. Jackson came to Montgomery as a stenographer in the service of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. In March, 1883, the Railroad Commission had need for a clerk, who was not only competent in every other respect but who possessed familiarity with the railroad business and skill in the art of stenography. Mr. Jackson was recommended to them in the highest terms and was elected. A few weeks satisfied that they had the right man in the right place. When a new Commission was elected in 1885, he was unanimously continued by them and on the most flattering recommendation of the old commission.

When Governor Seay came into office in November, 1886, he immediately began to cast about for a private Secretary. This is a high and responsible office. The incumbent is the confidant of the Governor and must be trustworthy. The duties are confidential and require fidelity. They are onerous and require industry. They are complicated and difficult and require intelligence. The incumbent must meet and receive at the Capitol of the State the people of the State, and his address and manners must uphold the dignity of the State. He must also be a Democrat.

The Governor found Mr. Jackson up to the full measure of every requirement and appointed him to this responsible office, never before filled by so young a man.

When Governor Thos. G. Jones succeeded Gov. Seay in 1890, he appointed Mr. Jackson his Private Secretary. Since that time Mr. Jackson has ably discharged the duties of the office.

Hon. Hector D. Lane.

In the renomination of Mr. Hector D. Lane for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture of Alabama the people of the State have evidenced their recognition of his efficiency and ability to fill the office by Governor Jones to fill out an interregnum in the office. Mr. Lane was nominated by the next convention in 1892 and has conducted the office with credit both to himself and the State.

Hector D. Lane was born in Huntsville, Ala., April 17th, 1852. He is the second son of Geo. W. and Martha N. Lane, whose names are familiar both in the State and nation, his father having been for sixteen years upon the Circuit bench of one of the judicial districts of North Alabama, and subsequently Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Alabama.

Mr. Lane is a grandson of the late Hon. Nicholas Davis of Limestone county, who served many years as President of the Senate of Alabama, and is remembered as one of the most distinguished orators and statesmen of his time.

Being educated for the law, Mr. Lane began the practice of his profession while yet young, but soon engaged himself in agriculture, abandoning the practice of law entirely.

During the fifteen years spent in agricultural pursuits he has inaugurated a system of improvement in farm work that bids fair to revolutionize the present methods of farming in Alabama and place that calling in its proper station—the most independent, and remunerative vocation to which man can aspire. While yet a young man, Mr. Lane, was united in marriage to Madge, the eldest daughter of Dr. J. G. Mason, a prominent farmer and physician of Giles county, Tenn. Since his marriage, Mr. Lane has lived on his farm in Limestone county until about three years ago, when he built his present residence one mile south of Athens.

A more thoroughly domesticated man could hardly be imagined, he seeming happiest when surrounded by his family, which consists of two sons and two daughters and his aged mother, to whom he and his wife are especially devoted.

Mr. Lane has always been temperate in all things, scrupulously honest and unswerving in his fidelity to his friends and the political party of which he is a valued member.

Hon. J. Craig Smith.

Hon. J. Craig Smith was renominated for the office of State Treasurer without opposition. Mr. Smith was born September 30th, 1859, and reared at Orrville, Dallas County. The late Hon. Fred H. Smith of Dallas County, who faithfully served the people of Alabama as State Treasurer was Mr. Smith's father. Mr. Smith was educated at the State University of Alabama and Vanderbilt University of Tennessee. After finishing college he returned to his home at Orrville and engaged in planting and later on went to Selma and engaged in the brokerage business. On the appointment of his father, Hon. Fred H. Smith, to the State Treasury, succeeding Isaac H. Vincent, he was appointed Chief Clerk in the Treasurer's office. He served in that position from February, 1883 to December, 1888. He was a candidate for nomination to the office of Treasurer in 1888, but was defeated, though making a very close race. Mr. Smith then returned to Selma, and was afterwards elected by a very large vote to represent Dallas county in the Legislature. In 1892 he again offered for State Treasurer and received the nomination and was elected by an overwhelming majority. His re-nomination is evidence of his ability as the financial agent of Alabama. Last winter Mr. Smith married Miss Eloise LeGrand, daughter of the late Dr. L. P. LeGrand of this city.

Mr. Smith is a true and tried Democrat and a faithful official.

John Purifoy.

This gentleman, renominated by acclamation for State Auditor, was born in Dallas County, Alabama, March 21st, 1842. His father, Francis Marion Purifoy, was a descendant of Nicholas Purifoy, one of the early settlers of North Carolina. His mother, Lucinda Thigpen, was also a descendant of North Carolina ancestry. In infancy his parents moved into the adjoining county of Wilcox, where the subject of this sketch has since resided.

His boyhood life was spent on his father's cotton farm, on which he worked himself. After he was twelve years old he often had the supervision and management of the farm, utilizing, such advantages as were offered by the neighborhood school, working on the farm and attending school alternately.

In September, 1860, he entered the Tennessee University at Knoxville, Tenn., with the purpose of obtaining a collegiate education. During his brief stay here, Lincoln was elected President. The Confederate war followed. Upon the commencement of hostilities he resigned as a student of the University of Tennessee, and returning to his native State, joined the Jeff Davis Light Artillery as a private. In this company he served throughout the entire war, in the Army of Northern Virginia. Reaching Virginia a few days after the first battle of Manassas, the company participated in nearly all the important battles, and many of the minor skirmishes, from the battle of Seven Pines to the last charge at Appomattox, where the company and subject of this sketch surrendered with the remnant of Lee's Army. In all the battles in which his company was engaged, he was never absent with or without leave. His company, on reaching Virginia, became a part of D. H. Hill's division, afterwards commanded by Rodes. This division, upon the organization of the Army of Northern Virginia into corps, became a part of the Second Corps, commanded by "Stonewall" Jackson, until his death. At the same time the artillery was organized into battallions, and the Jeff Davis Artillery became a part of the famous battallion commanded by Col. Thos. H. Carter. The subject of this sketch, though wounded several times slightly, never left the field of battle.

After the surrender of Lee's Army at Appomattox, the railroads being torn, up he walked almost the entire distance from that point to his home in Wilcox County.

His small property, which consisted wholly of salves and Confederate money, was swept away by the results of the war. After teaching the village school at his old home for a year of two, he engaged in farming. Success attended his farming operations, and he was highly esteemed by his friends and neighbors.

At the first August election in 1880 he was elected Probate Judge of Wilcox County, being the first Democrat elected to that position after the reconstruction period. This place he filled acceptably to his constituency, as was evidenced by the unanimity with which he was nominated by his party, in the primaries, for a place on the ticket as Representative from his county in the House of the General Assembly of Alabama in the session of 1890-91. In the election which followed in August he had no opposition. As a member of the Legislature he was active, looking carefully after the best interests of the State. With the members of both Senate and House, he created a favorable impression, and made many warm friends.

The Democratic State Convention nominated him to fill the place of State Auditor on its ticket on the 10th of June, 1892, and he was elected at the succeeding August election. There being a vacancy in the position of State Auditor at the time of his nomination caused by the death of Hon. C. D. Hogue, which had occured only a few days prior to the convention, he was appointed by Governor Thos. G. Jones to fill it. He qualified and entered upon the discharge of his duties on the day of his nomination and appointment.

Having served one-term he received the unanimous endorsement of his constituency, through the Democratic State Convention, for election to a second term as State Auditor.

Wm. C. Fitts.

The candidate nominated for Attorney-General of Alabama—Mr. Wm. C. Fitts—was born in the town of Tuscaloosa, Tuscaloosa county, on January 29th, 1866. He is the eldest son of Rev. Phillip A. Fitts, formerly of Tuscaloosa, who is well known throughout Alabama. Mr. Fitts was educated at the Southwestern Presbyterian University at Clarksville, Tenn., where he graduated with high honors in 1884. After graduating he went to Birmingham the same year and began the study of law in the office of Hon. R. H. Pearson of that city. While there he gained the friendship of many of the prominent men of the State, whose friendship he still retains. In May, 1886, Mr. Fitts was admitted to the bar and was immediately invited to a partnership with Judge Wm. G. Cochrane of Tuscaloosa, which he accepted and removing to Tuscaloosa he began the practice of law, which he has since continued at that place.

Mr. Fitts has never offered for an office before, but has been an active Democrat in his section, working for the party. In the Democratic campaigns of 1890-92 he took an active part, stumping the county for Governor Jones and the Democratic tickets. As a lawyer, Mr. Fitts has been very successful as shown by his large practice in Tuscaloosa and surrounding counties. His nomination was the desire of the counties composing the section of Middle and North Alabama, as was evidenced by the votes of the counties in the convention. He will prove especially strong in the counties of Tuscaloosa, Pickens, Jefferson, Blount, Talladega and Calhoun and will secure many votes for the party.

Mr. Turner.

Mr. J. O. Turner, the gentleman who was nominated for the office of Superintendent of Education, is a citizen of St. Clair county. The Advertiser regrets that by reason of the press of journalistic work it has not been able to present a sketch of the nominee's life. The Advertiser warmly endorses the nomination of this gentleman. He has been for years identified with the cause of education and the duties he will be called upon to perform will demonstrate his eminent fitness for this most important office.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Colonel Oates has been engaged in writing for some months past a "History of the Fifteenth Alabama Regiment," his old command, and has the manuscript now ready for the press. It will be a volume of about 1000 pages, and will be as thrilling as the dangers through which the gallant command so bravely passed. The Colonel has said that he will make each surviving member of his old regiment a present of a copy of the work.—Age Herald.

There was a bloody riot at McKeesport, Pa., the 5th inst. between striking miners and non-union workingmen.

The Republican party has swept the elections in Oregon. The fusion between the Democrats and Populists was badly beaten all along the line.

The democratic majority in Congress, large as it is, seem to be utterly incompetent to legislate the promises of the democratic party into law.

The war at Cripple Creek, Colorado is over. The miners on Bull Hill laid down their arms and abandoned their fortifications. An agreement was reached between the miners and mine owners which prevented further bloodshed.

All the indications point to the nomination of Atkinson for Governor of Georgia and the defeat of Gen. Evans, the candidate of the Atlanta Constitution. Had the Constitution paid more attention to Georgia politics and less to Alabama affairs, its candidate might now be in better position.

Secretary Herbert came from Washington to Alabama to register, so as to qualify himself to vote in the August and November elections. Such men as he not only recognize the importance of preserving to themselves the right of franchise; but also the duty upon every good citizen to vote in the interest of good government.

Some of the so-called democrats in the lower house of Congress are more than willing to pass a law relieving the banks of the ten per cent tax on their issue of clearing house certificates during the panic; but are unwilling to carry out a plain mandate of the national democratic platform by a repeal of the law taxing state banks of issue ten per cent. Such men ought to be kicked out of public life.

In Jefferson county joint debates are being held by the county democratic nominees for the legislature and the opposition. This is an excellent idea, and we hope to see it adopted in Calhoun. By this means both the adherents of Oates and Kolb will be brought out to the speakings and hear both sides of the argument. We presume, of course, that neither Messrs Kelly and Scarbrough on the one hand, nor Messrs. Greer and Stephens on the other will be afraid of such an arrangement.

The Sayre Election Law.

The Jeffersonians everywhere have been and are still cursing and condemning the Sayre Election Law. They go so far as to devote one plank in their platform to conform as follows:

"We denounce the iniquitous Sayre election law as the vicious embodiment of all that is objectionable in the Australian ballot system with none of its redeeming features, which taken in connection with the law passed for contests for county officers by the last legislature, effectually substitutes fraud and usurpation for the will of the people.

Mr. Skagg, the chairman of their campaign committee, not being satisfied, he employed Col. D. S. Troy to write him a legal opinion on the law, for the purpose of scattering it broadcast over the State. Col. Troy furnished the opinion. In a letter to the Advertiser in speaking of the opinion, he says:

"The obvious purpose of the Sayre election law was to secure the purity of election; and honest democrats throughout the state will be as much gratified as I was to find upon a careful analysis of the statute and of the general saatutes bearing on the subject that the law is far more efficent to accomplish the purpose than has been generally supposed."

It is not presumed that they will scatter much. That is not the kind of literuture Mr. Skaggs was looking for.—Greenville Advocate.

Dragged to her Death.

Anniston, Ala., June 4.—Dora, the 9-year-old daughter of W. L. Swofford, assistant warden at the city hall, met a violent death this morning. She was sent to drive the milch cow to the house. The cow had a rope tied to her horns and the little girl picked up the other end. In some way she got it tied around her hand. When near the house, the cow became frightened and ran, dragging the child after her for about 400 yards before she stopped. The little girl's head was beat into a jelly by rocks over which she passed, and her body and limbs were fearfully mangled. Neighbors saw the awful scene, but when they reached the child she was dead and the cow was peacefully grazing again.

There's a wide difference between the help that's talked of and the help that's guaranteed.

Which do you want, when you're buying medicine?

If you're satisfied with words, you get them with every blood-purifier but one. That one is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. With that, you get a guarantee. If it doesn't help you, you have your money back. On this plan, a medicine that promises help is pretty sure to give it.

But it's because the medicine is different, that it's sold differently. It's not like the sarsaparillas, which are said to be good for the blood in March, April, and May. At all seasons and in all cases, it cures permanently, as nothing else can, all the diseases arising from a torpid liver or from impure blood.

It's the best blood-purifier, and it's the cheapest, no matter how many doses are offered for a dollar.

With this, you pay only for the good you get.

Can you ask more?

ELECTROPOISE

CURES

CANCER.

Keysville, Fla., April 17, 1894.

Messrs. Dubois & Webb, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sirs: "About eleven months ago I bought from you an Electropoise for the purpose of freating cancer. I had one of about ten years' standing, and it had reached a stage where it was making rapid progress, being about the size of a silver dollar. I knew that I had to do something or my time was about up, and you being the only party that I corresponded with that would give me any assurance of a cure, got my patronage. I am now happy to inform you that the cancer is no more, the Electropoise arrested the progress of the cancer perceptibly in about thirty-six to forty-eight hours and gradually and slowly grew less until now there is a place about the size of a pin head that is not quite healed but gradually closing up. You can use this or any part of it as a testimonial if you wish. Very truly yours, M. M. Lillibridge."

D. A. Bryant, Hackneyville:—I was badly crippled with Rheumatism, also had a bad kidney trouble, I was helpless and could do no work. The Electropoise cured me and enabled me to work regularly."

Rev. W. C. Hearn, Talladega—"For producing calm refreshing sleep and curing sciatic rheumatism the Electropoise can not be equaled."

Joseph Williams, Stevenson—,I can walk all over town and even run, whereas a few weeks ago I was a helping cripple, the Electropoise did it."

Mrs. W. P. Nelson, Sunshine—"My recovery was wonderful. I have also tried the Electropoise on several of my neighbors, for various ailments, nausea, kidney trouble of the worst form, all with the most gratifying results."

JAMES ALDRIDGE.

Local & Personal.

Miss Goldie Ayers is visiting friends in Anniston.

Col. R. P. Thomason, of Oxford, was in the city Thursday.

Misses Hattie and Lillie Weems visited Anniston Wednesday.

The new awnings add greatly to the appearance of the business portion of our town.

Woodson Martin is an active worker in promoting the organization of the Alumni organization.

Ben Frank, one of our best boys, spent several days of the week in Birmingham.

Mr. B. H. Denman has returned from a trip to Lineville and Ashland Ala.

Miss Emma Francis has been visiting relatives in Anniston and Atlanta.

Misses Undine and Louise Lane came home from Shorter College, Rome, yesterday.

Several Jacksonville families will spend the summer months at Sulphur Springs.

Mrs. G. P. Cason has returned to her home in Anniston after a several days visit to her parents in this City.

The usual service will be held tomorrow night (10th) in the Presbyterian church, everybody cordially asked to come.

We would like to print all the nice things said about our boys at Birmingham, but it would take up entirely too much space.

Everybody in the city should go to the Episcopal church tomorrow and hear the commencement sermon preached by Mr. Millichampe.

Chive Woodruff was one of the most popular soldiers at Camp Forney, and won the praises of his comrades and superior officers.

Sam Swan answered the call to go to Birmingham as a true soldier should, and conducted himself as such all through the encampment.

Misses Marie Burke, Dollie Lane, and Ida Crook, three charming Jacksonville young ladies attended the commencement exercises of Shorter college this week.

Walter Montgomery bakes delicious cake for his own bachelor table. No cook in town can beat specimens he has shown this writer.

Parties who may want fine work on shoe repairing would do well to apply to Mr. Winburn, west side of the public square. He does fine work at reasonable price.

The table at Camp Forney was furnished with everything the Birmingham market afforded, and the only fault that could be found was with the cookery.

All the business houses in Jacksonville now close promptly at 6 o'clock, and the clerks are thus allowed several hours of daylight for recreation and outdoor exercise.

Volume 1, No. 1, of the Watchman and Signs of Our Times, a semi-monthly printed at Birmingham and issued from Oxanna, with J. W. Clardy as editor, is on our desk.

The Jacksonville Detachment of the Woodstock Guards are profuse in their praises of Capt. McKleroy. The handsome Captain is held in high esteem by every man in his command.

Captain Forney's new uniform is a thing of beauty, embellished with the double bars of a captain, broad white stripes, and a profusion of braid. He looks every inch the soldier.

Of the eleven men who went from Jacksonville to Ensley City, two were sent home sick or disabled, the remaining nine would have stuck all summer without a murmur if the Governor had so decreed.

The new uniforms for the Jacksonville Detachment have arrived and the boys are happy in the possession of brass buttons and all the fascinating paraphernalia of soldier clothes. The boys drill almost every afternoon, and without doubt are as well drilled as any company in the State.

The Veteran Journalist Col. Robt. McKee, once an honored resident at Jacksonville, and lately of Piedmont is now employed in the office of District Attorney O'Neil, at Birmingham, Col. McKee was O'Neil's private secretary when that gentleman occupied the gubernatoral chair.

ATTENTION, STOCK MEN!

Having consumated arrangements with Mr. J. H. Vivion, of Cartersville, Ga., for the use of his Kentucky bred stallion, Decree Chief, I respectfully and earnestly tender to the citizens of Calhoun county and the adjoining country, who have good mares, an opportunity of breeding to one of the most superbly bred trotting stallions in America, and probably the only Dictator Stallion in the South, and of thereby embracing a chance to secure a first-class roadster, if not a race horse.

DECREE CHIEF

Will make the season of 1894 at the Model City stables in Anniston, Ala., upon the following terms: Twenty dollars for the season, due when mare is first bred, with the privilege of returning her until season closes, if she fails to get in foal by the first service. Twenty-five dollars for insurance, due when mare is known to be in foal, or is parted with. If mare fails to get in foal, and party still owns her, she may be bred back next season, if the money has been paid and stallion living and I keep him. Respectfully, L. G. JONES

Let me say to our people that in the pedigree, which can be seen at my stables, of Decree, the sire of Decree Chief, embracing the blood of Dictator, Harold and Pilot, Jr., there is combined more extreme speed than in the pedigree of any stallion living or dead, unless bred like him. Here are a few that have the same blood lines.

Nancy Hanks	2:04	dam by Dictator
Direct	2:05¼	by Director, son of Dictator.
Directum	2:05¼	by Director, son of Dictator.
Jay Eye See	2:06¼	by Dictator.
Robt J	2:05¾	by Hartford, son of Harold
Kremlin	2:07¼	by Lord Russell, son of Harold.
Alex. (inbred to Harold)	2:07¾	by Patronage, Gr. son of Harold
Maud S	2:08¾	by Harold.
	8 | 16:51¼

2:06 13 32 average of eight animals

Where could there be such a record shown in the history of trotting contests? Then when you combine the blood of these two great sons of old Hambletonian and of the great Pilot, Jr., with that of the Mambrino Chief family, as is done in Decree Chief, and also backed up by the best strains of the roughbred blood all the way back to old Imported Messenger, you certainly have breeding that should satisfy the most exacting.

If Decree Chief, who is not yet grown, had not met with the misfortune to get one hind leg almost cut off when he was but two years old, he would have been trained, and would doubtless have had before this time a very low mark to his credit, for he has a splendid trotting gait. He is the same size, style, color, and the same kin to Dictator (grandson) that Directum is, who is beyond dispute, the grandest trotting horse now living, or that the world has ever produced, and he reached that lofty pinacle at four years of age.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 130½. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr, Pottsville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

OATES ON EDUCATION.

DECLARES HIMSELF ON THE FREE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

An Answer To His Enemies.

On Monday last in the house of representatives Col. W. C. Oates the democratic nominee for governor of Alabama, obtained the floor and spoke as follows:

Mr. Speaker, each state of the union has its own system of public school education. The United States has none.

In 1886 and 1887 a bill introduced in the senate by Mr. Blair of New Hampshire was very elaborately discussed in that body and also in the house of representatives but it was ultimately defeated in the senate and never came to a vote in the house.

The bill proposed that through a period of ten years about 880,000,000 from the federal treasury should be distributed among the states according to their illiterate population, but that no state should receive its share unless it should raise by taxation of its people and expend on its public schools the preceding year as much as its share on the population basis would entitle it to; and failing therein, it should receive nothing, or only a proportionate amount. This was intended to force states to tax their people, and in the case of Alabama it would have required a taxation of more than $5,000,000 for the state to have obtained her share.

The states were also required by the bill to make reports to the secretary of the interior of all of their public schools, their operations, acts and doings before such state should be allowed its quota of the money, and the federal government, through such secretary, was made the judge of whether it had complied.

The measure was objectionable to me because of its centralizing provisions and tendency to destroy the sovereignty and independence of the states and make their public school systems subservient to the dictation of the federal government. The states had already been shorn of a considerable part of their reserved or rightful powers by the legislation of congress.

The bill under discussion here today to repeal the tax of 10 per cent on state bank circulation illustrates plainly what I say. That law is a usurpation of the rights of the states to have a system of banking of their own or not, as they choose, and which, if now in existence, would prevent the cry of distress from the scarcity of money in some of the states of the union.

Another objection I had to the Blair bill was that it was unconstitutional, which of itself was a sufficient reason for any honest man to have voted against it.

I have always been in favor of a liberal state public school system, but no state within my knowledge ever maintained a system in which was taught branches of education higher than the primaries, which embrace spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, and geography. The Blair bill proposed to compel the states—by denying to them any share in the appropriation if they did not comply—to extend their systems up into the classics, and hence the pertinency of my remarks upon that subject.

I never was opposed to the higher education, and always believed that if farmers or other people desired to educate their children above a good English education, which is obtainable in our public schools, they should pay for it themselves, and not require the people at large to be taxed for that purpose. The taxes of the people are heavy enough without imposing such an additional burden for the benefit of individuals. People should not expect from the public schools of the state more that a fair English education for their children. When they seek a higher one, let the good old democratic doctrine apply, of every tub standing on its own bottom.

On the 26th day of February, 1887, the bill to establish agricultural experiment stations in the several states for the benefit of the farmers was on its passage, and I submitted some remarks in favor of the bill. Some senators and representatives contended that if the Blair bill was unconstitutional, that the one under consideration was open to the same objection. To meet that, I made a distinction between the two cases and hence discussed the constitutional question at considerable length.

When speaking of the Blair bill and as incidental thereto I indulged in a remark which during the late contest in my state for the democratic nomination for governor some newspapers, which were highly prejudiced against me, in order to accomplish my defeat, quoted and misconstrued, so as to make it appear that I meant just what I never intended to say. Since my nomination the same newspapers are advocating my election, which shows that they did not consider the remark so serious an objection as their former commentaries thereon indicated.

Now, the populists and supporters of Captain Kolb for governor are distributing throughout the state a circular upon the same subject, with a villainously false construction of my language and meaning, for the purpose of misleading the farmers and voters, so as to predujice them against me and make them vote for Kolb. It is a favorite scheme of the demagogue to undertake to deceive the farmers and laboring men, because he thinks they are too ignorant to catch him at it; but in this he is very much mistaken. They are too intelligent to be thus imposed upon by the demagogue, however artful he may be. They will soon learn the facts, and that is all I desire. I have the utmost confidence in the people arriving at a correct conclusion when they know the facts in any given case.

It is claimed in the circular that I "put the farmer's son and the negro boy on the same plane." This is also intended to mislead and prejudice the reader. Under our state constitution and laws the same benefits were when that speech was made and are now, extended to the children within the educational age without regard to color, except that separate schools shall be provided for the races. Under these laws the negro boy is entitled to the same benefit from the state treasury that the white boy receives, except that a negro boy must attend a school of his own color.

The circular also says that when I made that speech "there was no proposition to tax the people of the state millions of dollars, as he would he would have them believe." This statement is absolutely false, as everyone at all familiar with the Blair bill knows, and as I have already explained. This is in keeping with the general purpose of the circular. It assumes that because I opposed the Blair bill and gave expression to some plain facts by way of argument and illustration of my position as to the extent to which the people should be taxed to maintain the public schools of the state, that I was therefore opposed to the education of the farmers' sons, when I never said anything of the kind.

My argument plainly was that the Blair bill should not be passed because it would double the taxes of the people in Alabama to furnish a plethora of money to give a classical education to all the white and black children of the state, and that, too, at the expense of state autonomy and a violated constitution.

The remark quoted and complained of is as follows:

"It is not the duty nor is it to the interest of the state to educate its entire population beyond the primaries. That is quite as far as 90 per cent of the negro children are capable of going. Universal experience teaches that if a boy, without regard to his color, be educated beyond this point he declines ever to work another day in the sun. A higher education may do for New England, whose laboring people are chiefly engaged in manufacturing, but how would it work in Alabama, where 75 per cent of the people are engaged in agriculture?"

Now, why did they not quote the next sentence in the speech, which is as follows:

"Sir, in my state, and I believe in all the other states of the union, there is a system of public schools open from three to five months each year to all the children; in which everyone can learn to read and write and obtain a sufficient knowledge of arithmetic and grammar for the ordinary pursuits of life."

I never advocated any restriction upon the parent from educating his son or daughter in Latin, Greek and the higher mathematics, but I maintain that the state should not tax the people to educate all the children beyond the primary branches of reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar and geography, and no state of the union has ever gone further than this.

I said that when a boy, white or black, is educated beyond these branches, he would not work in the sun another day, but I never denied the right of his parent to educate him beyond this point, but maintained that he should do so, if he saw proper, out of his own private means, and not tax the people therefor. Whoever saw a young man who was a Latin and Greek scholar, and well up in the higher mathematics, laboring in the fields under a burning summer's sun? No man has ever seen it, and never will. The boy will try some other business, and that is his right. But should all the people of the state be taxed to give him this classical education?

No. I say give the poor and rich alike a good primary education at public expense, and if parents want their children to have a classical education, let them pay for that themselves. In New England many people educated above the primaries work in the factories, and if their states see proper by general taxation of their own people to give the children classical educations, I have no objection. That is their business, and I believe that every state should control its system of public schools.

I never advocated any appropriation by congress for such purpose, though an effort has been made to make it so appear. Such an inference is ridiculous. Alabama is not prepared, in the present circumstances of the people, if the policy were admissible, to more largely increase their burdens for public schools than is warranted in the declaration of the democratic platform adopted at Montgomery on the 23d day of last month, which I heartily support, and which is as follows:

"We pledge our party to the maintenance of a system of free public schools, and to increase the appropriations for that purpose whenever the financial condition of the state will permit."

I had the speech from which the quotation was made printed in pamphlet and distributed it among the voters of my district. Since that time I have been nominated by the democratic convention of my district three times by acclamation, and elected to congress by the people, and notwithstanding the general distribution of this speech no one found any fault with it until this year, when those who opposed me searched the records for weeks with magnifying glasses to try to discover something in my thirteen years' record in the house amenable to criticism.

It seems that all they found in all my acts and speeches during this length of time which they thought could be used to my injury was this one paragraph which I have referred to. The people of the district I represent in congress are as intelligent as those of any other district in the state, and they are as soundly democratic. It is not passing strange that if I were guilty of the wrong alleged that none of them discovered it? Captain Kolb, the nominee of the so-called Jeffersonian and populite organizations, and who is my competitor for governor, was one of my constituents.

I sent him directly a copy of the speech, and in the election the next year he was my supporter. If he now disapproves of that speech or anything in it, it is entirely attributable to present circumstances, and not that he found fault with it at that time, as he was then silent upon the subject. The use made of the extract is a small, unmanly, contemptible and demagogical one, as every intelligent person can at once see.

BUSY AT WORK.

Alabama Democrats Prepared for a Vigorous Campaign.

Montgomery, Ala., June 10.—Since the return from Washington of Chairman H. C. Tompkins, of the state executive committee, and since the meeting of the committee on Thursday the secretary, Mr. Tom Clark, has had his stenographers keep two or three type writers clicking. A fine lot of speakers have already volunteered, but the committee is preparing to draft numerous others into the service, so that the dwellers even in the remotest counties may be given a chance to hear explained the doctrine of true democracy.

The canvass will be begun about the 20th of this month, with everything in excellent trim for a successful campaign. The first guns have already been fired in certain sections of the State, but the fight will not open in earnest until about the 20th. The Alabama representatives in congress will not enter the campaign until early in July, but they will all come loaded to the guards with democratic gospel. The welkin will be made to ring all over Alabama and the principles of old-fashioned democracy will be echoed through the hills and valleys of the State. Captain Johnston, the defeated candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, will be found in the midst of the fray with his coat off, rallying his followers to the banner of the "one-armed hero." Democracy is determined to win in this race, and, although the democrats have formidable allied forces to battle with, they have confidence in the strength and integrity of their leaders and the men in their ranks. The campaign promises to be a lively one.

A Pair of Donkeys.

The Rev. Mr. Cave, of St. Louis, made almost as big a fool of himself as did General Rosser at the recent Reunion of Confederate Veterans at Richmond.

Both these hot-headed warriors showed a disposition to fight the war over and both said many things which the people of the South do not approve.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says of these two silly speeches:

"The soldiers of the South need no apologists or defenders. Their record speaks for them. They were brave. They were sincere. Whether they were right or not is a point about which there will probably always be much difference of opinion. That they believed they were right none can doubt who know the Southern character and is acquainted with the devoted courage displayed against great odds on Southern battlefields. They fought for four years to enforce their view of the points in dispute between the sections. They submitted to the arbitrament of arms and they lost. The decision did not necessarily prove them wrong, but it ended the controversy, and made it worse than useless for the Reverend Cave, of St. Louis, to bring up again the old dispute in this latter day of good feeling, or for General Rosser to indulge in wild talk about more Yankee armies marching through the South to pull down Confederate monuments. To accept the decision in good faith, to look upon the issue of the war as a case adjudged and closed, to be unwilling to wrangle over questions that cannot be reopened, does no dishonor to the memory and casts no reproach upon the motives or the judgement of those who offered their lives in support of their convictions. It is an affront to them to them to assume that, after all their sacrifices, their sincerity should stand in need of heated defense."

Rosser and Cave did not speak for the South. They do not represent the opinions and feelings of this section any more than a few rabid South-haters represent the people of the North. The ranters and railers in both sections should be put together and made to fight it out.—Atlanta Journal.

Grain and Fruit Crops.

Washington, June 9.—The report of June 1, consolidated from the returns of the correspondents of the agricultural department, makes the acreage of winter wheat sown, compared with that which was harvested last year, 99 per cent., being a decrease of 1 point. There is an increase of acreage as compared with 1893 in but ten states, the principal part of which was made in the states of Kansas and Illinois. The percentage of winter wheat acreage of the principal states are: Ohio, 95; Michigan, 85: Indiana, 91; Illinois, 122; Kansas, 126; California, 103.

The percentage of spring wheat for the whole country is 81.8 per cent., being a reduction from last year's average of 12.2 points. The percentage of spring wheat acreage of the principal states are: Minnesota, 87; Nebraska, 81; South Dakota, 85; North Dakota, 90.

The average percentage of acreage for both spring and winter wheat for the whole country is 95.3, making a total in round numbers of 33,000,000 acres.

The condition of winter wheat has improved since last report a little less than 2 points, being 83.2 per cent. against 81.4 on May 1. The percentages of the principal states are as follows: Ohio, 96; Michigan, 89; Indiana, 93; Illinois, 84; Missouri, 82; Kansas, 57; California, 60.

The condition of spring wheat presents an average for the entire country of 88 per cent., and for the principal spring wheat states as follows: Wisconsin, 96: Minnesota, 99; Iowa, 90; Nebraska, 44; South Dakota, 79; North Dakota, 97; Washington, 89; Oregon, 96.

The preliminary report places the acreage of oats at nearly 1 point less than last year. The general average for the whole country is 99.1. The returns show the condition to be 97.0 against 89.9, last June. The preliminary return of acreage make the breadth devoted to barley 98.5 per cent. of that of last year. The average condition of June 1 was 82.2 against 88.3 on the same date last year, and 92.1 in 1892. The acreage in rice is 95.3 per cent. of that of last year: average condition June 1, 93.2.

A very decided decrease in the acreage of rice is shown by June returns. The breadth seeded in 1894 is but 76.4 per cent. of last year's acreage. The average condition is 97.1.

The peach crop, commercially considered, is practically a failure. The condition of apples is rather better than that of peaches. Conditions are higher in northern districts, but relate principally to bloom.

No fruit is expected in Piedmont and Ohio valley districts, and but little in the Missouri belt. Prospects are brighter in the mountain and Pacific states.

The Advancement of Woman.

"Will you," he asked in a trembling, hopeful tone, "be mine?"

"Hardly," she responded, in a rich, bass voice.

"You have given me hope that you would," he pleaded.

"How?"

"By almost promising that you would not reject me."

"That is another thing," she said, in a softer tone. It gave him great hope.

"Ah, then, you will be my wife!" he exclaimed, with a brighter light in his face.

"Hardly that, I think," she told him, with the chill again in her voice.

This made him almost desperate.

"Why do you treat me so?" he implored. "What would you have me do?"

She drew herself up proudly, almost defiantly.

"Do?" she exclaimed. "Do! Ask me if you may be my husband."

And he loved her so that he obeyed her ever after.—Detroit Free Press.

Free and full discussion and after that a fair election is the demand of the State press, and honest people of all parties say "amen."

The following young gentlemen of the Jacksonville military went to Jefferson county with the Anniston Rifles to go into encampment with the Third Regiment:

T. M. Boberts, S. L. Nesbitt, C. A. Wilkerson, W. H. Boyd, E. O. McCormick, J. D. Weir, S. M. Driskill, J. N. Hames and R. C. Adams.

The Jeffersonians have made appointments for their local ticket in Calhoun, and have invited the democratic candidates to joint discussion. The complaint has heretofore been that the Jeffersonians and Populites would not come out to hear democratic speakers. If our county democratic candidates accept the challenge thus thrown down, (and we take it for granted they will,) that complaint cannot longer be heard. Immense crowds from all the parties will attend the speakings and the democrats will have an opportunity to reach by argument men who have, for years, refused to listen to any message from the democratic party by any of its speakers. In several counties of the State these joint discussions have already been arranged, and the democratic press, without exception, favor them.

The Alliance Herald, which has been abusing the Sayre election law is now fearful that the Supreme court may declare it unconstitutional. Hear it:

"The black belt managers are so fearfully perplexed over Cuffee's failure to register, that they are actually threatening to have the Sayre law declared unconstitutional. They talk about it just as if the supreme court was a political machine to do their bidding."

The Kolb party employed Col. D. S. Troy, a prominent lawyer of Montgomery to write an opinion of the law, for the purpose, no doubt, of using his opinion as an indictment of the law. But Col. Troy showed that it threw safeguards around the ballot, and in an article published in the Advertiser said he believed it was passed for the purpose of securing fair elections. The Kolbites are finding that Col. Troy's opinion was correct, and now their chief organ is afraid it will be set aside by the Supreme Court. They had better take the denunciation of the law out of their platform.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

Awful Act of P. G. Bowman, a Birmingham Lawyer.

Eugene Jeffers, a Young Son of the Ex-Mayor of the City.

Birmingham, Ala., June 12.—Shortly after 8 o'clock to-night P. G. Bowman, a lawyer and the leading advocate of Reuben Kolb, for Governor, shot and almost instantly killed Eugene Jeffers, the 18-year-old son of Thomas Jeffers, ex-mayor of this city, in a barroom.

Early in the evening Bowman and Thomas Jeffers had a dispute, and Bowman, who is about six feet tall and weighs about 200 pounds, hit Jeffers, who is about feet, an old man, and weighs about 105 pounds, twice in the face. Young Jeffers, hearing of the occurrence, went to see Bowman to ask for an explanation.

Those who witnessed the tragedy refuse to talk, and if any words passed it was impossible to get particulars.

Excitement is very high. Bowman was first taken to the city prison, but is now in the county jail.

SKETCH OF THE SLAYER.

A Special to the Chattanooga Times says:

Peyton G. Bowman, who tonight shot and killed Eugene Jeffers, an 18-year-old boy, is as well known as any man in Alabama. He came here about eight years ago from South Carolina, and first gained notoriety as an anti-railroad lawyer, prosecuting many damage suits against railroads. An effort that was made to disbar him from practice on account of his alleged shady methods failed.

Bowman allied himself with the Kolb movement from the beginning, and in every campaign has not only been on the stump constantly for Kolb, but has been manager of his campaign as well. He is today the closest man to Kolb.

Bowman's influence among the farmers and laborers has been great because he appealed more to their prejudices and passions than to their reason. He is an orator of ability and is regarded as a most dangerous man. It is said he always went armed, and with two pistols. Kolb's followers have looked upon him as their greatest champion and would follow wherever he would lead.

In appearance Bowman is a tall, handsome man, and when drinking is frequently very overbearing in his disposition, being regarded as a bulldozer. In Sumter, S. C., where he was reared, he was involved in trouble more than once, and it is said was engaged in an impromptu duel in a justice court room, the result of which was that Justice Haineswrth was killed, but whether by Bowman or one of the other persons engaged in the shooting was never known.

Not a single expression of sympathy is heard for Bowman tonight. On the contrary, the greatest indignation is felt, and the murder is pronounced as a cold-blooded affair.

Bowman has been transferred from the city prison to the county jail for safe keeping. The murder will prove disastrous to Kolb's campaign.

LATER.—The Birmingham Age-Herald of Thursday says excitement is unabated over the murder of the boy by Bowman. It appears that Bowman first insulted Jeffers, who is an old and feeble man, and then knocked him down. When the boy, who was less than nineteen years old and small for his age, appeared upon the scene, he was seized by a brother of Bowman and partly thrown down. While in this position Bowman shot him. The physicians who examined the wound say from the range of the ball downward the lad must have been in this position. It looks bad for Bowman. Kolb called on Bowman in jail Wednesday.

The Atlanta Constitution avers that, with free coinage, cotton would be worth 12 cents a pound. We think the Constitution is too modest. With 50 cent dollars—and we should have no other kind now under free coinage—cotton should be "worth" double it is now or nearly 16 cents a pound in New York. But all else would be as much higher. The cotton grower's cotton cloth, that costs him 5 to 8 cents a yard now, would be 12 to 20 cents on the silver basis. But on what ground of fact does the Constitution rest its assertion that with free coinage cotton would be worth 12 cents a pound? It never, for any ten years previous to 1861, averaged 12 cents in New York. In the ten years 1840-49 the low average price of spot upland cotton, in New York, was 5.8 cents. The low average price, for the ten preceding years was, in New York, 9.5 cents. In those decades there was what the silveroous call free coinage, that is, both metals were coined without the slightest discrimination. Yet in one year, 1844, cotton went down to 4 cents, and never rose above 9 cents. The highest average from 1841 to 1849 was 8.5 cents. The Constitution's imagination (Remus has a lively one) may "go" among people who don't know anything in particular. It doesn't go for much with men of sense, who have studied the history of currency and commerce—Chattanooga Times.

HEED THIS LAW.

Facts That Illustrate the Immense Force of Habit.

The warden of one of our state penitentiaries said to a visitor that almost the first expression of dissatisfaction on the part of a new prisoner was called forth by the routine and monotony of prison life.

Some men show intense feeling against it for the first few weeks of their confinement; but after two or three years it seems, in some cases, as if they could not do without it. The warden had known discharged prisoners to return and ask for work inside, just to get back to the regularity of prison life."

Captains of sea-going vessels and officers of the army observe the same trait of human nature. The discipline, the inflexible routine, which are irksome to the raw recruit and to the sailor in his earlier voyages, obtain so firm a hold on their minds and habits that they prefer not to live outside of them. Jack goes back to his ship and the soldier re-enlists until each grows gray, or death takes them.

Some of Bonaparte's marshals, men of low birth, had learned in their youth vulgar tricks of the eye, the hand, grimaces and foolish laughter. Even the emperor and his brothers and sisters were not guiltless of such habits. He could not rid them of these signs of childish vulgarity. They could not rid themselves of them. He could make them kings and queens, and they could handle their scepters right royally; but old habits ruled them still.

A century ago, John Vaux, a young man making "the grand tour," wrote: "I was impatient to plunge into the dissipation of Paris. I had not, however, counted on the hold which old habits had upon me. They had been cleanly. Every act, word, or familiar custom of my pure English life at home held me now like an iron cord. I could not plunge into the foul depths. I wished to do it, but I could not."

There are few young men who do not wish to make their lives solid and enduring. Let them remember that this inexorable natural law is equally strong in good as in bad habits.

Every high, pure aim in his father or mother; every honest, modest custom of a young man's home; the cleanly life of his boyhood; the prayers he learned; the habits of reverence, of kind, unselfish action—these are as so many stones in the rampart which shall defend him in middle age from storm and ruin.—Youth's Companion.

Often the Christian's Fault.

Why is it that God's truths when preached do not have more influence with the unsaved? Can we not find the cause in our own hearts and lives? Does not the church member often put the lie to the preached word, thus limiting the power of Christ to save and work good in the earth.—Lewis L. Thomas, in Ram's Horn.

FIGS AND THISTLES.

Truths Briefly and Tersely Sketched by the Ram's Horn.

When a good man goes wrong, God loses a witness.

The world is full of religion that did not come from Christ.

Every man who leads men, ought to be a follower of Christ.

The fetters of sin are riveted in fire, and burn as well as bind.

Nothing but sin makes a man get mad when the truth hits him.

Every spark of mercy in us comes from fire that God has kindled.

Every good man is a monument to the fact that Christ has lived.

If we hinder God's work in our own hearts, we rob the whole world.

Those who trust most in God are the easiest people to please on earth.

The strongest people in spiritual life are those who praise God most.

The meeting is very often shut the tightest, just as the leader declares it open.

Everybody knows that a snarling church member is a stranger to Jesus Christ.

A man's size in Heaven depends upon how much he weighs for God on earth.

God's rewards to us will depend upon the amount of heart we put into our work.

Difficulties may discourage, but they can not overcome the man who trusts in God.

Don't think that God has forsaken you, just because things do not appear to be going right.

No Christian ever has an anxious thought while he is believing that God is always good.

What the flock of Christ needs is not clerical sign-posts that only point the way, but tender shepherds who will lead and guide as we travel heavenward.

The man who pleases God will always have considerable trouble with men.

The cause of God is hardly ever helped much by what a long-faced man has to say in church.

The preacher who gets the biggest salary is not always the one who opens the Bible the widest.

When you pray for the Lord to bless other people, don't insist that it shall be done your way.

If God puts mountains before us, it is that we may obtain nearer views of Heaven from their summits.

The shadows that fill your life, if you're a feeble, suffering woman, can be taken out of it. The chronic weaknesses, functional derangements, and painful disorders peculiar to your sex, can be taken away. The one unfailing remedy for them is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It corrects, cures, and builds you up. It improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep and restores health and strength. For periodical pains, internal inflammation and ulceration, weak back, leucorrhea, and all kindred ailments, it's a positive specific—one that is guaranteed. If it fails to give satisfaction, in any case, the money paid for it is returned.

The great, griping, old-fashioned pills make trouble. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets prevent it. Their's is the natural way. Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Indigestion, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are prevented, relieved and cured. Smallest, cheapest, easiest to take.

—"They must have good parents," was the remark concerning certain children, who attracted the attention of some strangers by their becoming deportment. So we glorify our Father in Heaven by Christian living.—United Presbyterian.

—In the midst of our sense of utter helplessnefs we are led to see that God loves us still, that His arms are around us, that He can forgive to the uttermost all our folly; and in that sight we begin a new life.

—Great is the power of a life which knows that its highest experiences are its truest experiences, that it is most itself when it is at its best. When a piece of the man was, for that shining instant, it is the duty of the whole man to be always.—Phillips Brooks.

CURES

CANCER.

Keysville, Fla., April 17, 1894.

Messrs. Dubois & Webb, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sirs: "About eleven months ago I bought from you an Electropoise for the purpose of treating cancer. I had one of about ten years' standing, and it had reached a stage where it was making rapid progress, being about the size of a silver dollar. I knew that I had to do something or my time was about up, and you being the only party that I corresponded with that would give me any assurance of a cure, got my patronage. I am now happy to inform you that the cancer is no more, the Electropoise arrested the progress of the cancer perceptibly in about thirty-six to forty-eight hours and gradually and slowly grew less until now there is a place about the size of a pin head that is not quite healed but gradually closing up. You can use this or any part of it as a testimonial if you wish. Very truly yours, M. M. Lillibridge."

D. A. Bryant, Hackneyville:—I was badly crippled with Rheumatism, also had a bad kidney trouble, I was helpless and could do no work. The Electropoise cured me and enabled me to work regularly."

Rev. W. C. Hearn, Talladega—"For producing calm refreshing sleep and curing sciatic rheumatism the Electropoise can not be equaled."

Joseph Williams, Stevenson—,,I can walk all over town and even run, whereas a few weeks ago I was a helping cripple, the Electropoise did it."

Mrs. W. P. Nelson, Sunshine—"My recovery was wonderful. I have also tried the Electropoise on several of my neighbors, for various ailments, nausea, kidney trouble of the worst form, all with the most gratifying results."

Electropoise for rent or sale, standard and pocket sizes, DuBois & Webb, Birmingham, Ala.

There will be a meeting of Hiram Lodge No. 42 next Monday night, 18th inst.

Miss Magie Wilkerson gave a pic-nic at Sulphur Springs Friday to about fifteen of her young friends.

Rev. W. L. Millichampe of St. Luke's Episcopal church preached an excellent commencement sermon for the State Normal school last Sunday.

Mr. Sol Moore of Jenkins shot a rattle-snake last week which had 14 rattles and a button, was about 5 feet long and three inches in diameter. His snake ship looked so large that he was cut open and a full grown grey squirrel was found within him. Truly a good capture.

One of the printers of the REPUBLICAN is laying off awhile for his health and went this week to his home in Piedmont. This left us two printers only, and this week one of them went to Birmingham with the military, being a member of the company. This leaves us only one printer this week. This state of facts must account for any short-comings of this issue.

Died Friday the 8th inst., at the home of Mr. G. W. Arnold, in this place, Miss Carrie Souther, aged 31 years.

Miss Souther was a daughter of the late Gilliam Souther, well known to the people of Calhoun. She had been an invalid almost from her infancy, and death to her was a welcome release from suffering.

Died Tuesday last in this place at the home of Mrs. Camp, her daughter, Mrs. Alexander, wife of the late Robt. Alexander, at the extreme age of eighty-five years and six months.

Mrs. Alexander, with her husband, was among the earliest settlers of the county and she will be well remembered by all these throughout the county. Death came, not from disease, but a gradual dying out of the vital forces. She had lived beyond the age appointed to man.

She was a woman of great sweetness of disposition and full of christian graces. In the olden days her plantation house was the very home of hospitality.

All her children but two, came from widely different points to see her and faithfully attended her for weeks and days as the lamp of life slowly burned out.

She has gone to her reward and her life remains with all a tender memory.

The closing exercises of the State Normal school at this place have been pleasant and highly gratifying to the friends of the school. Sunday the commencement sermon was preached. Monday evening the class in music, under direction of Miss Adams, the excellent teacher of music, gave a delightful concert. Tuesday evening the Alumni of the institution had their annual banquet. Wednesday evening diplomas were awarded the graduating class and a crowded house listened with pleasure and profit to a very fine address by Maj. J. W. A. Wright, of Talladega, one of the oldest and most distinguished educators in the State. The following accomplished young ladies and gentlemen were endowed with diplomas and tendered the State by this excellent institution as fully equipped for the great duties of the teacher and to give their aid to the elevation of the standard of education in Alabama: Miss Mary Caroline Forney, Miss Mary Alice Riddle, Miss Annie Laura Stanley, Miss Sallie Savage, Mr. Frank Bain Hutchinson and Mr. Joseph Elbert Hughes.

Rev. Robt. Liston opened the proceedings of the evening with prayer and pronounced the benediction.

The music of the evening was furnished by Messrs. Graham, Arnold, Greer and Watson of our local talent and Mr. Head of Anniston, and most excellent music it was too.

The faculty are praised on all sides for the excellent work of the session.

We regret that our compositorial force will not permit the putting a more extended notice into type.

We regret that our limited force of type setters this week forbids as extended a notice of the Alumni banquet, last Tuesday, at the Iron Queen hotel, as it deserves. It was altogether one of the best enjoyed of any of the annual meetings of this society.

The following members of the society were present: Miss Fannie Crow, Addie Hammond, May Cunnigham, Lizzie Swan, Mattie Swan, Theresa Nisbet, Nannie Nisbet, Fannie Hammond, Annie Stevenson, Bessie Montgomery, Sunie Henderson, Emily Goodlett, Annie Forney, Lucy Whisenant, Mamie Riddle, and Messrs. J. J. Arnold, J. O. P. Treadaway, A. D. Alexander, L. C. McGinnis, Woodson Martin, John Hames, O. E. Eynum, J. F. Hughes. Mr. Woodson Martin, President of the society, delivered the welcome address, which was responded to by Mr. A. D. Alexander. Addresses were delivered during the evening by Messrs. J. J. Arnold, J. N. Hames, J. F. Hughes, O. E. Eynum, Hon. Jno. D. Hammond and Supt. L. D. Miller.

Sweet music, instrumental and vocal was rendered during the evening by the talented young ladies of the alumni.

The banquet was spread at 10:30 o'clock and it did great credit to Mr. Mattison of the Iron Queen.

The party broke at a late hour, declaring that this, the fourth annual banquet, had been a dream of delight, a vision of beauty, a "feast of reason and a flow of soul."

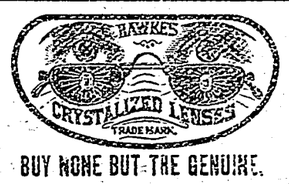

To the Good People in Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA.,
June 13th, 1894.

The sons and daughters of our dear old mother, Mrs. Mary Alexander of this place, who has for two months past been gently breathing out a good, long and well spent life, and and who has this day been "laid away" by the affectionate hands of many friends, desire, herein, to express this acknowledgment and tender their heart-felt thanks to the warm hearted, sympathizing good people of this dear old town, for the prompt, cheerful and generous aid rendered them in their loving efforts to make smoothe the dying pillow of their dear old sainted mother. Grateful as are our thanks they are but human. God will surely bless those who love and honor their neighbor. Oh, how often have we looked upon her dear sweet face and heard the words of counsel and teaching of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and remember so clearly how she used to repeat from the good book. "Surely goodness and mercy will follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

FRETTING AND FUSSING.

"Martha, Martha, thou art anxious and troubled about many things."—Revised Version.

"I would not adopt such colloquial terms, 'fretting' and 'fussing' would exactly represent the two words."—Farrar's "Life of Christ."

Anxious and troubled about many things,
Fretting and fussing, as our phrase would be,
This answer of reproving kindness brings
Saint Martha's weakness home to you and me.

Her means are ample, her desire as large;
All they contain her home and heart afford;
Her largest bounty never can discharge
The debt of gratitude she owes her Lord.

And so with frequent stops and laden hands,
That hospitality may be complete,
She comes and goes, and little understands
Her sister's sitting at the Master's feet.

"No use it is for me to speak to her:
Dost Thou not care that I should serve alone?
Command her help." Her words and manner stir
Her guest to make an answer all His own.

"To fret and worry about many things
That perish with the using fills thy heart;
Thy service to life's cares and troubles clings.
But Mary chooses the enduring part."

So is it now: her temporal affairs,
Her grocer claims the church so often pleads,
Her table serving so absorbs her cares,
She fails to realize diviner needs.

And so she comes and goes with fretful hasts,
Her tasks laborious, anxious to complete,
And seldom stays the blessedness to taste
Of such as hearken at the Saviour's feet.

But anxious Martha, long beyond all blame,
And anxious church, long pondering His word,
Let none presume your least defects to name
Save in the spirit of the loving Lord.
—Edward N. Pomeroy, in N. Y. Independent.

SIN AND SUFFERING.

The Only Way of Peace is in the Path of Purity.

He who violates his own conscience is not content to be alone; he seeks companionship in his evil doings, and strives to pacify his conscience by the reflection that he is not alone, that he is no worse than his neighbors. To secure this evil peace he invites others to join him in his wrong doing. The boy tempts another boy to play truant. The thief unites with other thieves, and instinctively tries to drag down others to his own level. The sensualist indulges not his appetite in solitude, but makes it an occasion of what he calls "good fellowship."

And so enter into life remorse and fear, which, like the avenging angels, dogs our footsteps. We know that we have done wrong. We dread the rebuking presence of the pure. The truant boy fears his mother's eye, not because he fears her punishment, but because his sin has separated him from her. So the race dreads its God, its unknown future, and death, which brings man to both. Man is conscious of his shame, and seeks to hide himself from God, seeks to hide his shame from his fellow-men. In this is the secret of that fear which is the deep undertone of all religions, the remedy for which never can be thinking lightly of sin or imagining that God thinks lightly of it, but only in knowing that God is a Physician who cures us when we wish to be cured, and whose punishments are medicinal, if we will but so accept them.

But we do not so accept them. We do not confess our sins and come to Him for cure. We make excuses. We throw the responsibility off on someone else. Each man endeavors to put the burden of his wrong-doing on his fellow-man; or to charge it to the community; or to attribute it to his inheritance; or to set it to the account of Adam and total depravity; or even, with marvelous audacity, to make God responsible for it, by saying: "He has made me what I am." Then is the fall complete, when we say that we have no sin, and deceive ourselves, and make Him a liar.

And then we are driven out from our quiet resting-places into the wilderness, and, by the discipline of life, taught the evil of sin, which we could learn in no other way. The redemption of the race began when Adam and Eve were driven from the garden to the thorns and thistles. The redemption of the prodigal son began when hunger and nakedness made him miserable. The redemption of each individual begins when he begins to learn the lesson that sin and suffering are indissolubly connected, and that there is no way to peace except that of purity.—Lyman Abbott, in Outlook.

SPIRITUAL MINDEDNESS.

The Way to Be a Christian of the New Testament Type.

A Christian, to be such in anything like its New Testament sense, has left him no choice to stop short of anything less than spiritual mindedness. Devoutness, prayerfulness, entrance into God's intimacy, or call it by whatever other name you will, is not a thing that Gospel Christianity can don and doff at its option. Christianity is not believing that there is a God, but it is believing God; and so, fresh from the start, it is a matter purely personal between Him and us. The Christian religion, so soon as it is regarded intently does not taper off into piety, but pyramids up from piety. Piety is not the fruit, but the kernel. We begin to be Christians by drawing near to God. It is no more than philosophy to conjecture that there is a God. Atheism is not so far below such a conjecture as personal communion with God is above it. Religion commences with the commencement of direct personal relations with God, and continues so long as these personal relations continue. Prayer and communion are as much a part of religion as converse and communion are a part of friendship. Christianity is substantially friendship with God in Christ. Our very love to God will needs draw all sorts of hearty address to Him and spiritual fellowship with Him in its wake, and Scripture is loaded with multiplied affirmations and diversified implications of this. Its pages are saturated with the spirit of devoutness. Prayer and communion, all that combine to compose spirituality of life, are involved by statement or by influence in almost every chapter. There is not addressed to us in Scripture a plainer command than the command to pray and to have a spirit animated with the instinct of prayer: "Pray without ceasing;" "Draw nigh to God;" "Watch and pray;" "Ye shall seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart;" "Continue in prayer." If we are trying, any of us, to be Christians without being spiritually-minded Christians, we are attempting to compose the music of our religious life in a key nowhere set for us in the holy word.—Charles H. Parkhurst.

ATTENTION, STOCK MEN!

Having consumated arrangements with Mr. J. H. Vivion, of Cartersville, Ga., for the use of his Kentucky bred stallion, Decree Chief, I respectfully and earnestly tender to the citizens of Calhoun county and the adjoining country, who have good mares, an opportunity of breeding to one of the most superbly bred trotting stallions in America, and probably the only Dictator Stallion in the South, and of thereby embracing a chance to secure a first-class roadster, if not a race horse.

DECREE CHIEF

Will make the season of 1894 at the Model City stables in Anniston, Ala., upon the following terms: Twenty dollars for the season, due when mare is first bred, with the privilege of returning her until season closes, if she fails to get in foal by the first service. Twenty-five dollars for insurance, due when mare is known to be in foal, or is parted with. If mare fails to get in foal, and party still owns her, she may be bred back next season, if the money has been paid and stallion living and I keep him. Respectfully, L. G. JONES

Let me say to our people that in the pedigree, which can be seen at my stables, of Decree, the sire of Decree Chief, embracing the blood of Dictator, Harold and Pilot, Jr., there is combined more extreme speed than in the pedigree of any stallion living or dead, unless bred like him. Here are a few that have the same blood lines.

Nancy Hanks	2:04	dam by Dictator
Direct	2:05¼	by Director, son of Dictator,
Directum	2:05¼	by Director, son of Dictator.
Jay Eye See	2:06¾	by Dictator.
Robt J	2:07¾	by Harold, son of Harold.
Kremlin	2:07¾	by Lord Russell, son of Harold
Alex. (sired to Harold)	2:07¾	by Patronage, Gr. son of Harold
Maud S	2:08¾	by Harold.
	8 | 16:51¼

9 out of 33 average of eight animals

Where could there be given a record shown in the history of trotting contests? Then when you combine the blood of these two great sons of old Humbletonian and of the great Pilot, Jr., with that of the Mambrino Chief family, as is done in Decree Chief, and also backed up by the best strains of the roughbred blood all the way back to old Imported Messenger, you certainly have breeding that should satisfy the most exacting.

If Decree Chief, who is not yet grown, had not met with the misfortune to get one hind leg almost cut off when he was but two years old, he would have been trained, and would doubtless have had before this time a very low mark to his credit, for he has a splendid trotting gait. He is the same size, style, color, and the same kin to Dictator as Dictator is to Dictator himself; that Directum is, who is beyond dispute, the grandest trotting horse now living, or that the world has ever produced, and he reached that lofty pinnacle at four years of age.

The woman glared at the man with the concentrated gaze of an enraged tigress.

The man in the bed would fain have drawn the covers over his head to escape her gaze, but he seemed paralyzed.

"False one," she hissed, "you are concealing something from me!"

Standing in the center of the apartment, in a Junoesque attitude, she seized his trousers by the fringed ends and shook them violently. Nothing fell from the pockets.

"False one!" she exclaimed again.

The trembling husband slowly arose. After the manner of one hypnotized, he went to the clock, opened it, drew from its interior a few bills and some silver, handed them to the woman and sneaked back to his couch.

"Thought I didn't know you had got a raise in your salary, did you?" said she.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY."

ESTABLISHED 1837. JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY, JUNE 23, 1894. VOLUME 58.

It is a known fact to the readers of this paper that it has advocated fair elections for years. It is a fact known to the public that the bulk of the democratic press of the State advocate fair elections. It is a matter of public record that Col. Oates in his first speech for the nomination declared unequivocally for fair elections and that he stated emphatically that he did not want to be Governor if not fairly elected. The whole influence of the Democratic press, the legislation of the Democratic party (see Col. Troy's opinion of the Sayre law) the declarations of the Democratic nominee for Governor, the instinctive honesty of the Democratic masses all were influences tending to compel the rule of honesty and fair dealing in elections. The symptom was healthful for the State. The result was bound to be good.

At this juncture the Executive Committee of the Jeffersonian and Populite parties met in Birmingham and threw a wet blanket over the whole movement.

How?

Instead of congratulating the State on the declarations of Col. Oates, the declared position of the Democratic press and the healthful state of public feeling in this regard, they regale the ears of a tired public with the usual whine and the usual batch of indefinite charges of fraud—not so far accomplished—but intended.

And what is the nature of the charges?

Extremely indefinite and impossible to answer.

They recite, first, that registrars in "certain" counties have falsely entered on their registration lists names not in fact registered; second, that in "certain" counties Probate Judges have refused to allow the registration lists examined; Third, that in "certain" counties, registrars have fraudulently issued a large number of registration certificates for purposes of fraud; Fourth, that in "certain" counties request for appointment of Jeffersonians as managers of elections have been declined; Fifth, that in "certain" counties, "certain" individuals have purchased registration certificates of voters for purposes of fraud.

On this indefinite indictment they declare that a government of law has been set aside in Alabama, and on it they appeal to the liberty loving people of the state to overthrow the Democracy.

Now, all of the offenses they have enumerated as having occurred in "certain" counties, is punishable by law, except perhaps that of the refusal of the Probate Judge to exhibit the registration lists. Why do they not arrest and punish these law-breakers at once? Why do they not tell us what "certain" counties are doing these things. They know the law and their rights under it, but who has heard of any attempt on their part to enforce the Sayre law, which provides severe penalties for the things they complain of?

Is not the conviction forced upon the public mind by their failure to prosecute, that no such state of facts exists, and that they are merely trying to deceive the people and influence their minds, for the time being, to gain advantage in the election in August?

There is not a fair minded man in Calhoun who would convict any man on charges so indefinite. Then how can the Kolb people expect the masses to convict a great party on such indefinite charges, especially when its candidates and its press and its speakers are on record as against the very things the Kolb Committee allege are now transpiring in "certain" counties.

They will not do it. They will kick the whole prosecution out of court and tax them with the costs.

Meantime the people may rest assured that ballot reform must and will come from the Democratic party. It will come by a cultivation of a healthy public sentiment, a growing belief among the people of all classes that people are morally bound to be honest in politics as in any of the other affairs of life.

Kolb and his crowd are no true reformers, else they would hail with pleasure the declarations of the nominee of the Democratic party for Governor. The Democratic press and Democratic speakers on this head, and they would spend their money to convict and imprison the men in "certain" counties whose alleged wicked acts they make the basis of an address to the people of Alabama.

Dr. Crook and Kirby Woodruff came to Jacksonville Tuesday to get permission from the owners of the Schenck Sulphur Springs property to hold a mammoth barbecue and public speaking there the 26th of July. It was granted as a matter of course, as our people never allow politics to interfere with the amenities and courtesies of life. These gentlemen say that Tom Watson, Jerry Simpson and other noted Populite lights will be present and address the meeting. Five thousand people are expected to be present.

When asked if the Democrats would be allowed to join the discussion, they said "yes," but that only National and not State issues would be discussed.

Of course the meeting is to be held to boost Kolb a few days before the election. We think the County Democratic Executive Committee should look into the matter and see if the offer of the privilege of joint debate is made in good faith. If so, arrangements should be made to have present Culberson, O'Ferrel or some of the distinguished men of the country, who have tendered their services to the Democracy of Alabama.

The supporters of Kolb have a plank in their platform calling for a law to prevent the working of children under thirteen years of age in the mines.

The Democratic Legislature of 1886-7 passed a law and it is still in force to punish by fine the working of children under fifteen years of age in the mines.

Now the question is were the supporters of Kolb ignorant of the existence of this law when they framed their platform, or do they want to reduce the working age of children in the mines from fifteen to thirteen years? Or were they presuming generally on the ignorance of the miners and put in that plank as a cheap piece of political buncombe?

We congratulate the people of Columbus, Georgia, upon the acquisition of the Enquirer-Sun by Col. B. H. Richardson. Since he has leased it the sun has greatly improved. Under his ownership it will become one of the brightest and best papers in Georgia. It is Democratic to the core.

Senator Mat[illegible]ay, Republican, of Pennsylvania, acknowledged before the investigating committee that he had speculated in sugar pending the passage of the new tariff bill, and said he would do it again if he wanted to. He didn't think it was anybody's business if he did.

Capt. Jos. F. Johnston opened the campaign for Oates Tuesday at Union Springs, Bullock county. He spent the week making speeches in Southeast Alabama. Joseph is made of the right metal and will yet be Governor of Alabama. He does not balk when beaten.

The report from the Commissioner of Agriculture for Alabama, shows the condition of the crops throughout the State are in much better condition than has been popularly supposed.

Since the Republican State Executive Committee have endorsed the Kolb ticket, the dullest Jeffersonian Democrat must see the trend of events. Are you ready to help Republicanize the State?

One thousand striking miners at Jefferson county held a meeting Monday and resolved to continue the strike. They resolved unanimously support the Kolb ticket.

The Calhoun county doctors are having some little quiet fun of their own at the expense of our Birmingham fraternity. They have unblushingly published to the world that they are going to estalish one medical college at Anniston, and one at Oxford, with a primary attachment at Jacksonville. But where will they get the faculties.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

They won't have the material, it is true, if the Birmingham medical college continues to draw on the Calhoun doctors for faculty of that institution.

Turn about is fair play. The Republican State Executive Committee endorsed the Kolb State ticket, and in return for the favor the Kolbites in Dekalb county have pledged their support to the Republican county ticket in Dekalb.

Joint debate is going on between the democratic county candidates and the opposing candidates in Jefferson and good humor prevails.

HON. H. C. SIMMONS.

Forsakes the Demagogue Party and returns to Democracy.

Clay County Advocate.

H. C. Simmons, who has for several years been the leader of the opposition to Democracy in Clay County, and who was the founder of the People's party in our county and who in recognition of his eminent ability as an orator and organizer, was placed on the Weaver electoral ticket as elector at large for Alabama in the November election of 1892, has at last been convinced of the error of his political course, and has the manhood and gallantry to confess his faults and express his determination to fight under the banners of Democracy in the future, and, as far as he may be able, lead back those who may have been led astray by his influence. His speech at Chandler Springs on the 1st day of June was an eloquent and patriotic confession of his political blunders, and was admitted by all who heard it as a masterly piece of oratory.

The Democrats received him back with hearty applause and good will, as they do all those erring ones who have wandered away and desire to return to their father's house.

No More Vital Issue.

Gadsden Times-News.

The Times-News is pleased to note from its exchanges that its plea for fair and honest elections is being voiced by the press of the state. There is no more vital issue before the people of Alabama to-day than honesty and fairness in our elections. Cheating will lead more to unify the people [illegible] especially the white people of Alabama, than to assure the humblest citizen that this vote will be fairly and honestly counted. Nothing will better alleviate the bitterness of feeling that now unhappily exists to some extent in some communities. Let the press of Alabama make an honest, earnest and persistent fight for pure elections and elevated politics until the victory is won. Demagoguery and political trickery should not be tolerated either by the press or the people.

We have maintained all the while that there was as much fraud among the Kolb men as the Democrats. Now their organ published at Rockford, Coosa County, openly advises it and excuses the act upon the grounds that the other side always has. Just so a horse thief argues: if he don't steal a horse, somebody else will. Criminals ever lack excuses for their crimes.—Talladega Reporter.

KUKLUX IN GEORGIA.

Horrible work of Lawless Men.

Dalton, Ga. June 17.—(Special) Last Monday a revenue man by the name of Roper, well known in Whitfield and Murray counties, also in Atlanta, as a witness against the moonshiners of north Georgia was called upon by the kuklux of Murray county, composed of five disguised men. They carried him over about the Cohutta mountains, about twenty miles east of Dalton, to an old copper pit, sixty feet deep. They asked him if he could pray, as they were going to kill him. Roper replied that he could pray a little. After he said his prayers the Kuklux shot him four or five times and threw him in the sixty foot pit to die.

When he was missed the people began a search for him, scouring the country in squads. Today a party passing near the pit heard some groans and aroused the man enough at the bottom to learn that it was Roper. They sent down a rope, which he tied around his body, and was drawn up by his friends. Roper is apparently shot all to pieces, and although he has been in that bad fix without food or water for seven days, he is still alive.

They carried him to his home in Murray county today and his home is guarded to-night to prevent the whitecaps or kuklux from killing him. He says he knows the five men, because after he said his prayers and they decided to kill him they removed their masks, believing that the shots and the fall of sixty feet would kill him and further concealment was unnecessary. Roper says that he lay near some vines and roots that grew in the bottom of the pit. He ate and sucked the juice from the roots, which saved his life.

People who came from him this evening say he is the worst looking sight they ever witnessed. The blood that covered his body had dried on him and water will not wash it off. Although he was formery a large, healthy man, he looks like a skeleton now. Fears are entertained for his safety, as those who began the job will evidently kill him tonight if they learn of his being alive and able to testify against them.

It is said that those who join these kuklux claps take an oath to obey the orders of the clan and that when a man is to be killed they use a machine like a lottery drawing. The five who draw the numbers must kill the man named or they themselves will suffer the same fate by their [illegible] members.

Many of their members when they join are not aware of what they have to do, but their oath is such that they are compelled to kill an informer when it falls to their lot or suffer death instead.

THE KOLB COMBINE.

IT WILL INCLUDE THE REPUBLICANS OF ALABAMA.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A special from Birmingham, Ala., says: The State executive committee of the Kolbites, Populists and Republicans all held a prolonged session today, the first two named meeting jointly. The Republicans endorsed the Kolb ticket and passed resolutions urging all Republicans in the the state to support it.

At East Chicago, Ind: Friday night, Paddy Golden, with two revolvers, held 600 men at bay for three hours, and severely injured six men before he was arrested.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called Kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began the use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c for large bottle. Jeffersonian Sympathy With Lawlessness.

Birmingham Age-Herald.

At their meeting in this city on Thursday last the Jeffersonian committeemen severely criticised Governor Jones for encamping the State troops at Ensley City. Why they should condemn that proper and even necessary precaution against lawlessness and crime we are not informed. The Jeffersonians have, however, from the very inception of their party made the State troops the especial subject of attack. They have contended against any appropriation for the maintainance of a citizen soldiery, and have made their appearance on every scene of lawlessness and disorder a theme to arouse political prejudice against the Democratic party.

The development of the bridge burning phase of the strike shows to every good citizen how timely and wise was the encampment at Ensley. Governor Jones declared from the beginning his confidence in the great body of the striking miners as law-abiding citizens, but he also knew that a lawless element among them could be restrained only by the strong hand of force. But for the soldiers, there is no telling what this lawless element now engaged in the wanton destruction of property and reckless attempts to murder railroad engineers, firemen and brakemen and the traveling public, would have accomplished to the hurt of this community.

The presumption from the attitude of the Jeffersonian party leaders and of the committee at its recent meeting is, that they favor allowing the rascals now assaulting the law in this region to have full license. They see nothing in all this to call for the intervention of the State's protecting power. In what plight would we be, indeed, if these shallow politicians had the State government!

Of all the acts of Governor Jones since his election as Governor, his prompt realization of the danger to life and property in the mineral district and his prompt adoption of the most effective preventive in his reach, has most commended him to law-abiding people everywhere and even to the great body of the miners themselves, who condemn the villainy now rampant along the lines of railroad. The Jeffersonian leaders mistake the temper of the steady wage earners of Jefferson when they seek their votes by denouncing military or any other restraint against lawlessness. They insult the people of Alabama when they deride the precautions of the Chief Executive against the destruction of the property and lives of the people.

HELD FOR MURDER.

TWO GUARDS WHO BEAT A CONVICT TO DEATH.

Houston, Texas, June 15.—Robert Newsome and Ben Mays, overseers on Kopps convict farm, are held for murder. On May 22 a tramp painter named Dunn was sent to the farm to work a fine. Dunn complained of being sick, but was stripped and whipped for forty minutes. In the same afternoon he was again whipped by the same guards and beaten with a pistol on the head. He was compelled, though sick, to keep up with the gang in the field.

That night he fell exhausted on the porch. A negro convict was ordered to drag him into the house and Dunn soon died. Nothing was done in the case until a released convict came to town and exposed the horrible state of affairs prevailing on the farm. There is great indignation and the convict question is being fully investigated.

Truth will not hide, neither will it condone wrong. The Times-News believes in ye olden way of having political contestants meet in joint discussion, a big barbecue, and a jolly time, and giving the persimmon to the fellow who has the longest pole.—Gadsden Times.

Come Back Home.

In Alabama today the doors of the democratic homestead swings wide upon easy hinges. To enter in, sit by the old hearth and hear the familiar voices of tried friends and parting kinsmen, the errant voter has no need to knock. His place is there, ready for him; and he may sit as one of the family, without taunt and without question. Further than this it is the duty of such friends and kinsmen—hearing his cry for help, or recognizing his peril without a sound—to cross the threshold call loudly to him through the darkness and proffer the helping hand to lead him back to light and warmth.

Once there oil should be put upon any wounds he may disclose; not vinegar. Soothing makes surer cure for physical ones than acid irritants ever accomplish. And this fact is common sense of all Alabama Democrats.—Mobile Register.

Qualifications of Democratic Voters.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Democratic State Executive Committee at its recent session in Montgomery:

Resolved: That the following shall be allowed to participate in the Democratic Congressional primaries, beat and mass meetings to be holden after the next August election.

1—All those persons who vote for the Democratic State ticket at the ensuing August election or would have voted for said ticket, but were prevented from so doing because they were not able to go to the polls.

2—All those who will be entitled to vote in the next Congressional election, who are Democrats, who were not qualified voters in the August election, who will support the nominee for Congress of the Democratic Convention of his district.

Those naughty populists out in Kansas have turned down Sister Lease again. After making her believe that she was to get the nomination for congressman at large, they went to work and nominated a man. Mrs. Lease is as mad as a wet hen and she is promising to make things lively for the men who went back on her. It is really a pity that Mrs. Lease was not nominated. Congress is getting a little short on scolds. Old Mother Hoar and sour-faced Bill Chandler are about the stock on hand, and they are both in the upper house.—Chattanooga Times.

Troy Democrat: In the last campaign the populite speakers demanded on every stump that the legislature pass a new election law. Their national platform also demanded the "unperverted Australian ballot law." The legislature passed a new election law, a modified form of the Australian ballot system. Their former demands were cast to the winds as soon as the new law was passed and they have not let go a day since but what they abused the law and the democratic party for complying with their demands.

"One of the Old Guard" in the New York Times asks this pertinant question: "If ten men, under the direction of an autocratic monopolist can hold up this great government and its 70,000,000 of people and dictate when and what a tax on a single article of enormous consumption shall be, where is our boasted "free government gone?" The question is well put. Now every citizen must answer it for himself.

Tom Reed should be a success as a politician if Judge Cheve's rule still holds good. The old South Carolina judge used to say that as the result of many years of experience at the bar and in public life, he had come to the conclusion that a big belly and a loud voice went further with the people than brains. —Chattanooga Times.

YEAR WITHOUT A SUMMER.

REMARKABLE WEATHER EXPERIENCE IN 1816.

A correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal had made a recent investigation into the early part of the century, concerning the noted "year without a summer."

He gives the following summary, which will be read with peculiar interest, as the facts are known to but very few who are now living.

"January was mild—so much so as to render fires needless in parlors. December previous was very cold.

February was not very cold; with the exception of a few days it was mild like its predecessor.

March was cold and boisterous during the first part of it, the remainder was mild. The great freshet on the Ohio and Kentucky rivers caused great loss of property.

April began warm, but grew colder as the month advanced, and ended in snow and ice with a temperature more like winter than spring.

May was more remarkable for frowns than her smiles. Buds and flowers were frozen; ice formed half an inch thick; corn was killed and the fields were again and again planted until deemed to late.

June was the coldest ever known in this latitude. Frost, ice and snow were common. Almost every green thing was killed. Fruit was nearly all destroyed. Snow fell to the depth of ten inches in Vermont, seven inches in Maine and three inches in New York and also in Massachusetts.

August was more cheerless, if possible, than the summer months already passed. Ice formed half an inch thick. Indian corn was frozen and the greater part of it was cut down and cured for fodder. Almost every green thing was destroyed, both in this country and Europe.

September furnished about two weeks of the mildest weather of the season. Soon after the middle it became very cold and frosty, and ice formed quarter of an inch thick.

October produced more than its share of cold weather—frost and ice abundantly.

November was cold and blustery. Enough snow fell to make good sleighing."

The decision of a courtmartial, says the San Francisco Chronicle, is something to arouse wonder in the mind of a civilian. Here is Lieut. Maney, who shot down Capt. Hedberg when the captain had his hands full of bundles, acquitted by a military court of murder, but adjudged guilty of conduct unbecoming to an officer. The western civilian calls a man a coward and a sneak who selects such an occasion as Maney did to get revenge on an enemy, but under the military code this offense seems to be "conduct unbecoming an officer."

Josh Billings once remarked: "Fools are divided into three classes—common fools, particular fools, and durned fools; but occasionally you find them all in one, a common, particular durned fool." Josh had probably in mind some of those rampant politicians that are to be found in this great and glorious country.—Columbus Sun.

At Kingman, Kan., the other night, when Editor Brown arrived from the populist state convention, where he bitterly fought woman's suffrage, he was met at the depot, taken from the side of his wife, clothed in a Mother Hubbard dress and sunbonnet, and compelled to march through the streets before a brass band. The friends of woman suffrage did it.

Sam Jones says that Breckinridge is the only member of the present congress who has been convicted of doing anything.—Chattanooga Times.

The Democrats report considerable gains in Ladiga beat in this county.

Jno. A. Bilbro, of Gadsden, has been nominated for the State Senate by the Democrats of St Clair and Etowah.

Kolb will probably get more negro votes in Calhoun than he did in the last race, but the indications point to a falling off of his white vote.

Tillman and Butler have it red hot in South Carolina in a race for the United States Senate together. Butler has already told Tillman that he is a liar.

In Fayette county the Kolbites and Republicans fused in the county convention, and the Republican candidates got the nomination for nearly all the county offices.

T. L. Harvey, Populite of this county, invited A. J. Pitts, Democrat, of Talladega county to a joint political discussion at Eulaton Saturday, 23rd inst. Pits accepted.

The Atlanta Constitution of Wednesday gives up the election of its favorite, Gen. Evans, and admits that Atkinson will be nominated by the Democrats for Governor of Georgia.

The Birmingham Age-Herald says that orders have been sent out from Kolb headquarters instructing his supporters not to go out to hear Oates speak. If this be so, it is evident Kolb is afraid for his friends to hear the truth. It also shows that he is distrustful of his own followers. In any light is insulting to free men in this free country.

Mr. J. R. Horsefield and others, representing the miners of the Jellico, Tennessee coal mines, now out on a strike, have been in Chattanooga soliciting supplies for the starving miners. He gives their side of the strike. He says that the men have been working for $16.50 per month; that out of this the company took $4 for rent $1.50 for coal, 50 cents for blacksmithing, one dollar for a doctor and one dollar for oil, leaving the miner only $8.50 a month on which to support his family. When the company proposed to reduce this meagre wage twenty-five per cent. the miners struck.

The evidence so far given before the Magistrate in Birmingham, in the preliminary trial of John and Peyton G. Bowmen for the murder Eugene Jeffers is very damaging to Bowman. It shows that the boy was disarmed and was being held by John Bowman, when Peyton Bowman advanced within a foot of him and shot him.

The bankers of New York have all at once become solicitous about the gold reserve in the treasury. They met Tuesday to devise ways to help the government; but it is noticeable that after they resolved it would be very bad for the country for the gold reserve to fall to fifty million, they declined to furnish prorata gold for export to importers. They are probably figuring for a new bond issue.

A peculiarly revolting account of murder for reward comes from Florida. Tom Swain was an escaped convict on whose head was a large reward. Tillet Widden met him and professed friendship and invited him to dinner. While Swain was eating, Whidden shot him dead, and hauled his body fifteen miles to Tampa to claim the reward. It was no less than murder for money and Whidden ought to be tabooed by honorable men from now on forever.

Mr. C. D. Carmichael, Democratic nominee for the Legislature in Dale county, has invited the Kolb candidate, J. C. Killebrew, to meet him in joint debate.

Killebrew has been making many unfounded charges against the Democratic party. If he does not accept this challenge to joint debate, he would do well to quit speaking and stay at home. The people this year will hardly elect any candidate who shirks open debate with an opponent.

The secret service department of the government professes to have discovered a plot to blow up the white house, the capitol building and the treasury and other government buildings in Washington, and then a looting of the treasury of the United States. Honore Jackson, a half breed Indian, prominent in the Louis Beil rebellion in Canada and a prominent figure in the Chicago anarchist riots, is said to be at the bottom of the scheme. The job was to have been done on the arrival of Kelley's contingent of the Coxey army, but for the discovery.

Col. Oates has declared for an aggressive, but at the same time good humored campaign. There is going to be powerful little room for straddlers in this campaign. Every man will be forced to state exactly where he stands. No courageous man ought to be afraid to do this. No honest man ought to desire to avoid it.

The people ought never to vote for any Democrat who hides out in this race. All the parties known to history in Alabama have united to overthrow the Democracy. The people have a right to demand of every aspiring member of the party that he show his colors plainly in this contest.

Cleveland's administration has so far saved twenty-five million dollars in pensions; that is to say that amount has been saved by cutting off fraudulent pensions and the work has only begun. Under Republican rule, Raum, commissioner of pensions, asked for one hundred and eighty millions. This was cut to one hundred and sixty-five million by Congress. Of this the Democrats have used only one hundred and forty millions and twenty-five millions have been returned to the treasury. Next year the amount will be cut twenty millions more, and Congress will be asked to appropriate only one hundred and twenty millions.

During the canvass for the Democratic nomination the Montgomery Journal published an article placing Col. Oates in a false position with regard to public education. That was circulated by some shabby democrats. Since Oates' nomination, the Kolb people have been circulating it for all it is worth. But the Journal is now for Oates and is putting in some good work for him and against Kolb. The Journal now says the Kolbites say it is as good a liar as the Montgomery Advertiser. If the Journal is good at lying, why do they seek to injure Oates by any statement it may have made in the canvass for the nomination?

In a letter to Mr. L. D. Miller of this place, one of the Democratic candidates for the legislature for this county says the challenge of the Jeffersonians and Populites for joint debate will be accepted. This is no more than the Democrats expected of their candidates. Had the challenge for any reason been declined, the party would have been hurt in the county.

Judge Tourgee has withdrawn from the race for Congress in New York on the ground that no man can be elected to office by the Republican voters in that state without buying the office.

It is fast coming to that in the South. When the split was about to occur two years ago in Alabama, the writer made speeches to the people and predicted that if a split of the white people occurred, the negro vote would become the determining quantity, and that this vote, being purchasable, no poor man need ever to run for office any more in this county.

How has this prophecy panned out? We have five thousand five-hundred voters in round numbers. Of this number fourteen hundred are colored. Do they not control, when two candidates can divide the white vote?

And does it not cost from one thousand to fifteen hundred dollars to run for a lucrative office now? Ask some of the candidates of the last election.

Unknown parties set fire to the Mary Lee coal mines in Jefferson county Tuesday.

Fifty miners were dragged out through flame and smoke. Four of them are dead and many others are seriously burned or otherwise injured. Several of the injured may die.

A train of cars bearing miners to work in mines abandoned by the strikers were fired into on the same day, but happily no one was killed.

Because Gov. Jones has placed the military in encampment in Jefferson county to protect the men who want to work, against this duality of lawlessness. he is formally condemned by the men who lead Kolb's forces in this state.

What do law-abiding men, without respect to party, say to this?

Should the Governor whose sworn duty it is to uphold the law, refuse to protect men who wish to work for subsistence for themselves and families; or should he allow the laws to be overthrown by a set of men who have proven themselves to be incendiaries. bushwhackers and murderers?

If it is the position of Kolb that, under similar circumstances, he would refuse to uphold the law and preserve order, law-abiding men everywhere will say he ought not to be elected.

Among the Schools.

On Tuesday the 12th inst, the writer had the pleasure of attending a part of the commencement exercises of the High School at White Plains which has been conducted with great success during the past year by Prof. G. H. Eaddy and his estimable wife. The latter examined the children in the Primary department and many who learnt the alphabet during the term could spell difficult words off the book, while all displayed the thoroughness in spelling and pronunciation which only a good teacher and one trained in the best methods can impart.

The examinations in History, Geography and Geometry were also conducted orally and in such a manner that the most critical could find no fault in the instruction they had received, or in the attainments of the pupils. They exhibited a knowledge of the practical, the important, and the interesting, in the two first named studies, far in advance of the acquirements of a majority of educated adults, while the Geometry class in numerous propositions on the blackboard displayed the fact that their thinking and reasoning faculties had been exercised to a good purpose without depending upon memory alone. Upon the whole the writer was delighted with Prof. Eaddy's public oral examinations which disclosed in no unmistakable manner the latter's capacity as well as his energy, faithfulness and enthusiasm in his work during the past ten months. We regret that we could not remain longer and witness the examination in all the branches besides the other exercises.

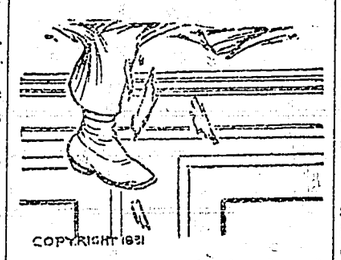

On the same evening in response to an invitation from the Alumni of the Normal School we attended their banquet at the Iron Queen Hotel. The speeches of the young men without exception were of superior merit and just such as one expected from the graduates of this splendid institution. We are no part of a musician but as far as we could judge the music both, vocal and instrumental furnished by the the young ladies was first class in every respect. About thirty of the latter all belonging to the association graced the occasion with their presence and one would have to go far and search closely to find the same number of as pretty and fascinating representatives of the fair sex as those who assembled around the festive board. On Wednesday evening we attended the graduating exercises of the State Normal School and heard the fine address of Prof. J. W. A. Wright, but as they have received a fitting editorial notice at your hands we pass on with the advice to young people of this and adjacent counties who expect to engage in teaching as a vocation that they take a Normal course under the scholarly president and able faculty of the institution established by the state for the purpose. Its graduates soon find good positions, for there is a demand everywhere for teachers with normal training.

On Thursday the 13th we went to Piedmont to the closing exercises of commencement week of the [illegible] first P. College which during the year of its career has prospered greatly under the excellent management of President M. M. Russell. We arrived early and met a number of the leading citizens in the three hours before the literary oration at 11 o'clock and they all spoke in high terms of Prof. Russell and his fine corps of teachers. The whole people patronized the school which with boarders and children from the surrounding country gave an enrollment of over two-hundred during the nine months and enabled the school to close with over one hundred in actual daily attendance. This did wonderfully well considering the hard times and comparing it with schools of previous years.

The literary address was on 'Life' and delivered extempore by Mr. Cross, an eloquent and rising young lawyer of Gadsden. For about forty five minutes he kept his large and cultured audience thrilled with words of beauty and wisdom and like Maj. Wright's address, it was somewhat out of the usual line of commencement speeches and far more interesting than those in vogue fifteen or twenty years ago. He was followed with appropriate remarks by Rev. Mr. Witherspoon and Prof. Russell representing respectively trustees and teachers, and concerning the past, present and future of the college. Before closing the audience was invited to the Art Levee at 8. p. m. and it was impossible for us to remain over night. We went to the college to dinner and before train time spent two hours in looking at the many beautiful pictures, the work of young lady students during the past session. Their art display would do credit to any older institution, and the teacher, Mrs. Little, has succeeded wonderfully in having such an exhibition by her pupils of one term. We hope the C. P. College will continue to receive the united and cordial support of the citizens of Piedmont as we hope also will the Methodist District School at White Plains from people of the latter. This is the way to secure patronage from abroad. The object of the founders, as we understand it, is to build up Christian schools and not to teach creeds or proselyte children of other denominations.

You're through with Catarrh, finally and completely, —or you have $500 in cash.

That's what is promised you, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing, by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Catarrh can be cured. Not with the poisonous, irritating snuffs and strong, caustic solutions, that simply palliate for a time, or perhaps, drive the disease to the lungs—but with Dr. Sage's Remedy.

The worst cases yield to its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties. "Cold in the Head," needs but a few applications. Catarrhal Headache, and all the effects of Catarrh in the Head—such as offensive breath, loss or impairment of the senses of taste, smell and hearing, watering or weak eyes—are at once relieved and cured.

In thousands of cases, where everything else has failed, Dr. Sage's Remedy has produced perfect and permanent cures. That gives its proprietors faith to make the offer. It's $500, or a cure. They mean to pay you, if they can't cure you. But they mean to cure you, and they can.

CURES

CANCER.

Keysville, Fla., April 17, 1894.

Messrs. Dubois & Webb, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sirs: "About eleven months ago I bought from you an Electropoise for the purpose of treating cancer. I had one of about ten years' standing, and it had reached a stage where it was making rapid progress, being about the size of a silver dollar. I knew that I had to do something or my time was about up, and you being the only party that I corresponded with that would give me any assurance of a cure, got my patronage. I am now happy to inform you that the cancer is no more, the Electropoise arrested the progress of the cancer perceptibly in about thirty-six to forty-eight hours and gradually and slowly grew less until now there is a place about the size of a pin head that is not quite healed but gradually closing up. You can use this or any part of it as a testimonial if you wish. Very truly yours, M. M. Lillibridge."

D. A. Bryant, Hackneyville:—I was badly crippled with Rheumatism, also had a bad kidney trouble, I was helpless and could do no work. The Electropoise cured me and enabled me to work regularly."

Rev. W. C. Hearn, Talladega—"For producing calm refreshing sleep and curing sciatic rheumatism the Electropoise can not be equaled."

Joseph Williams, Stevenson—,,I can walk all over town and even run, whereas a few weeks ago I was a helping cripple, the Electropoise did it."

Mrs. W. P. Nelson, Sunshine—"My recovery was wonderful. I have also tried the Electropoise on several of my neighbors, for various ailments, nausea, kidney trouble of the worst form, all with the most gratifying results."

People are requested not to come into the Republican office and talk to the compositors. Their time is paid for and is not their own. We trust that the public generally will heed this request. The employees of the office wish always to be courteous, but they want also to be just to their employer and cannot take up their time entertaining visitors. To men who have business with the office these remarks do not apply.

The editor of the Republican has received an invitation to spend some months in the mountains of Georgia, on the Tallulah river, near the line of North Carolina, and enjoy the fine sport of catching the famous speckled trout that abound there. If business permits and there is a sufficient amount of the circulating medium on hand about that time, he may accept. It is such invitations as this that makes one long for fifty dollars per capita.

Mr. W. D. Winburn is a most versatile workman. He can do anything in the way of watch or clock repairing. He can do a neater job on a shoe than any man who has ever been here. Jacksonville Strictly in It.

A few days ago the New York papers contained an account of an exciting race between English and American vessels for an island about five hundred miles from Honolula in the Pacific ocean, for the purpose of claiming the island for their respective governments for the purpose of making it a cable station. It transpires that the island was discovered seventeen years ago, and jurisdiction of the United States established. The discoverer secured title from this government and sold to a party of ten men, some of whom live here. Much of the stock is now held by Jacksonville people, and if the United States or England want it, they will have to buy it from Jacksonville people and their New York associates.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered most incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up and belch gas from my stomach. I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I could not sweep a room without stopping down and resting. But, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is changed and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit, until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband brought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am happy to say I never regretted it. Now I have a splendid appetite and can sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 130½. I believe in my case it has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr, Coudersville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

Republicans for Kolb.

Huntsville, Ala., June 16.—At the republican county convention for Madison county, Ala., held this day in the city of Huntsville, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention, it is not advisable for the republicans to nominate a ticket. No other question can be involved in state elections in Alabama until the right of suffrage is secured. We recognize the fact that the Jeffersonian democracy is now engaged in a struggle for the right of sufferage and we advise all republicans to support Kolb for Governor and to support the whole Jeffersonian ticket, state and county, with the view of overthrowing the organized democracy that has for years in this state by fraud denied the people the right to elect their own officers."

ATTENTION, STOCK MEN!

Having consummated arrangements with Mr. J. H. Vivion, of Cartersville, Ga., for the use of his Kentucky bred stallion, Decree Chief, I respectfully and earnestly tender to the citizens of Calhoun county and the adjoining country, who have good mares, an opportunity of breeding to one of the most superbly bred trotting stallions in America, and probably the only Dictator Stallion in the South, and of thereby embracing a chance to secure a first-class roadster, if not a race horse.

DECREE CHIEF

Will make the season of 1894 at the Model City stables in Anniston, Ala., upon the following terms: Twenty dollars for the season, due when mare is first bred, with the privilege of returning her until season closes, if she fails to get in foal by the first service. Twenty-five dollars for insurance, due when mare is known to be in foal, or is parted with, or mare fails to get in foal, and party still owns her, she may be bred back next season, if the money has been paid and stallion living and I keep him. Respectfully, L. G. JONES

Let me say to our people that in the crosses which can be seen at any stables, of Decree, the sire of Decree Chief, also uniting the blood of Dictator, Harold and Pilot, Jr., there is combined more extreme speed than in the pedigree of any stallion living or dead, unless, breathes like him. Here are a few that have the same blood lines.

Nancy Hanks	2:04	dam by Dictator
Direct	2:05¼	by Director, son of Dictator.
Directum	2:05½	by Director, son of Dictator.
Jay Eye See	2:06¾	by Dictator.
Robt J	2:05¾	by Harford, son of Harold
Kremlin	2:07½	by Lord Russell, son of Harold
Alex. (inbred to Harold)	2:07½	by Patronage, Gr. son of Harold.
Maud S	2:08¾
	19)45½
	2:06 1-32	average of eight animals

Where could there be such a record shown in the history of trotting contests? Then when you combine the blood of these two great sons of old Hambletonian and of the great Pilot, Jr., with that of the Mambrino Chief family, as is done in Decree Chief, and also backed up by the best strains of the roughbred blood all the way back to old Imported Messenger, you certainly have breeding that should satisfy the most exacting.

If Decree Chief, who is not yet grown, had not met with the misfortune to get one hind leg almost cut off when he was but two years old, he would have been trained, and would doubtless have had before this time a very low mark to his credit. For he has a splendid trotting gait. He is the same size, style, color, and the same kin to Dictator (grandson) that Directum is, who is beyond dispute, the grandest trotting horse now living, or that the world has ever produced, and he reaches high bridge at four years of age.

SOUTHERN POSSIBILITIES.

A story is told of two young Indianians who came to Tennessee ten years ago and bought 2000 acres of neglected land in Maury county. It was overgrown with shrubery and briers, and the people who live about there did not regard it as worth fooling with. The success achieved has been remarkable and shows what the Southern country will do.

Of the 2000 acres, 700 are planted this year in Irish potatoes, and the yield is estimated at 50,000 barrels. The owners have a barrel factory on their place and make their own barrels. These potatoes are only one of a variety of crops that are grown. Wherever in the South land owners have turned their principle energies to raising food crops, success has resulted.—Age Herald.

Selma Times: Mr. W. T. Atkins has returned from a trip through Pickens county and says it is dead sure for the democratic ticket. Beats that went almost solid for Kolb two years ago will fall into line in the Oates column equally as solidly this year. E. D. Willett, the nominee of the democratic party for the legislature, is a sure winner.

Mobile Register: We believe in a fair count and so does our party. The proof of that belief is shown in the action of the democratic assembly in adopting the Sayre law, whose principal object, as Colonel Troy, the counsel for the Kolb party, has publicly stated, is to secure greater fairness and honesty of elections than has has hither obtained.

Colonel Oate's speech on education sends hot shot into the camp of the enemy. It shows clearly their perversion of the truth. It shows their littleness. It shows their determination to get votes at all hazards and regardless of principle.—Luverne Liberal.

Joint debates are all the go this year. Bessemer is to have one tonight, when Col. John and other Democrats will meet the opposing candidates of the Jeffersonians.—Age Herald.

Remember its to be a fair count this time—the Sayre election law says so. If Kolb gets it he must have it. Now work like the mischief to get ahead of him on the straight line!—Tuskegee News.

"Reform" is it? It looks like it, with your pocket full of yankee boodle!—Tuskegee News.

ESTABLISHED 1837. JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY. JUNE 30, 1894. VOLUME 58.

Gen. Evans has come out of the race for Governor in Georgia and left the field to Atkinson. In a patriotic letter he offers his services to the State Democratic Executive Committee and urges democrats to stand together and not divide upon mere questions of policy. He does not think Southern men can secure the reforms they desire by an abandonment of the democratic party.

Tremendous excitement was created throughout Fronce Monday by the assassination of President Carnot by an Italian anarchist named Santo. The assassin sprang on the steps of the President's carriage and stabbed him to death in the presence of a vast throng of people. The people tried to kill the assassin, but the police protected him and he is now in prison. Failing in their attempt to mob the assassin the French mob turned their attention to Italian residents of the city of Lyons and cafes kept by Italians were sacked and only the most vigorous work on the part of the police saved the Italian consulate from a like fate.

In an interview in New York, published in the papers of that city, Captain Kolb, who is there soliciting funds for his campaign said: "Our plan is to keep the congressional election out of the State canvass, and we shall make no nominations for congress until after the August election. Then we will go in and make a clean sweep of congressmen, and every man elected will be a protectionist."

What better evidence can there be that Kolb has sold his followers to the protected plutocrats of the East for money? It is by taxes wrung from the toil of the farmers that these men of the Eastern States have piled up their collossal fortunes. It is through a high protective tariff that the "money power" has been created. Kolb proses to continue this system of robbery of the many for the benefit of the few for so much cash paid down. How does this comport with the demand of the farmers for "equal rights for all; special favors to none?"

Montgomery Advertiser: That people will turn out to public meetings is evidenced by the great number of propositions made for joint discussions. This is a good sign. Whenever democrats receive such an invitation they ought to accept, and they should always invite the other side to their meetings. The democrats have all to gain by going before the people and meeting the opposition speakers face to face. "Truth is mighty and will prevail."

Wilcox New Era.

In the Kolb counties 95 per cent, of the negroes registered, and yet Kolb says this is a white man's contest and the negro will cut no figure in it. The truth of the whole matter is the negroes, as a general thing, have registered all over the State; they registered almost to a man in the Black Belt and they will largely vote the Democratic ticket.

CAPTAIN JOHNSTON.

Capt. Joseph F. Johnston is in Birmingham, taking a short rest after his tour of the southeast country. He speaks enthusiastically of his reception everywhere by the people and of the prospects for democratic gains from the old ranks of the Jeffersonians. In fact, he is about the most enthusiastic Oates man in the state and the campaign committee continues to keep him to the front. His appointments as announced run to July 21. Birmingham Age-Herald.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

Kolbites Call on the country to Send Them Money

Montgomery, Ala., June, 23.—(Special.)—The campaign committee of the Jeffersonian democracy has issued an appeal to the country for funds with which to fight the democrats in this state. The appeal, which is signed by W. H. Skaggs,, says among other things:

"Birmingham, Ala., June 21.—The following is an appeal issued to the northern people by the Jeffersonian democracy or Kolb democracy of Alabama, in which they set forth the basis of their attack upon the democratic party of this state. While the republicans did not take part in the convention by which Kolb was nominated, they are urged to consider that this fight, for a free ballot and a fair count, would end in a benefit for them. The appeal is as follows:

"The pending political campaign in the state of Alabama involves issues of a paramount interest not only to the citizens of this state, but to every liberty-loving citizen of the United States. An oligarchy of office holders and office seekers has, for a quarter of a century, dominated the will of the people. In addition to the many unwarranted and un-American measures inaugurated to suppress the voice of the people an infamous election law was passed by the last general assembly, which, as admitted by the author of said law, is designed for the purpose of 'disfranchising a certain class of our fellow citizens.' Under the operation of this law there is no penalty provided for registrars failing to discharge their duty, and the right of suffrage of every voter in the state is practically contingent upon the pleasure of the registrars appointed in the interest of the dominating class. The registration period just closed presents a disgraceful record of lawlessness, corruption and fraud. A large number of negro voters, at least 60,000 in the aggregate, residing in what is known as the "black belt" district, have voluntarily disfranchised themselves temporarily by refusing to register. The issue with us is the same as that which confronted the people of all political parties in the state of New York in the late election, and sent McKane and others to Sing Sing. Perjury, and subornation of perjury, false registration and false returns, intimidation and violence at the polls. The criminal features are the same. The difference is one of magnitude only. Gravesend is a district, Alabama is a state. Our people are poor and we need funds to distribute literature, to verify the registration authorized by the election law and place on the registration lists only those actually registered and to use all such other means as circumstances may suggest to prevent fraud in any event. We need no financial assistance except to pay the legitimate expenses of a campaign for honest elections. With the overthrow of the privileded class of ballot-box stuffers there will come to Alabama a new era of thrift, and awakened energies will dawn upon us. To the American people we appeal for help.

KOLB TALKS CONFIDENTLY.

Captain Kolb, who is now in New York, said in an interview the other day:

"If there was any doubt at all about my election, the administration of Grover Cleveland has made it an absolute certainty. The democrats of Alabama are dissatisfied with Cleveland and Clevelandism. The nomination of Oates, who is recognized as the administration candidate, was dictated by the party machine, and a great proportion of the rank and file of the party will not support him. My party now has the probate judges, sheriffs and county officials, who appoint the election boards, in thirty-eight of the sixty-six counties in the state. If my opponent could get the 60,000 black votes of the county to register, they would fraudulently count their ballots for Oates, but, as it is, only 5,000 negro votes are registered. It was by fraud in the black counties that they defeated me before. You can see the impossibility of their being able to repeat that frand. My party will control the net state legislature, which will elect Senator Morgan's successor. I will not be a candidate against Morgan. Our policy is to keep the congressional election out of the state canvass, and we shall make no nominations for congress until after the August election. Then we will go in and make a clean sweep of congressmen and every man elected will be a protectionist."

Captain Kolb is accompanied by ex-Governor W. H. Smith and Jos. H. Parsons, two of the leading republicans of the state of Alabama. They are here to appeal for northern help against the fraud, corruption and lawlessness which has characterized the democratic machine in Alabama.

Mr. Kolb and his friends assert that the issue is the same as that which confronted the people of Brooklyn, Kings county and the state of New York generally last year. Contributions should be sent to W. H. Skaggs, chairman state central committee of the Jeffersonian democracy, Birmingham, Ala.

Afraid of the Truth

Here is the circular warning Populists not to hear Democratic speeches:

Headquarters of the State Central Campaign Committee, Jeffersonian Democracy, Rooms 100 101, 102, Henley Hotel, Birmingham, Ala., June 16, 1894.—My Dear Sir: We respectfully recommend that you advise our friends not to attend the public meetings called by the supporters of Colonel Oates, nor listen to the speeches advocating his cause. Under ordinary circumstances and ordinary conditions we should not offer these suggestions, but the circumstances attending this campaign are not ordinary and the conditions are not normal.

Free speech and a full and free discussion of the issues of the day is true Democratic policy, which we favor; but before there can be any joint discussion there must be mutual confidence in sincerity of purpose and honest methods. There is no room for discussion so long as one side claims and unhesitatingly exercises the arbitrary power of the brigand. We must first meet on the common ground of equal rights, particularly the one essential right of every American citizen, to vote for men and measures of his choice, and to have his vote counted as cast.

The plutocrats, Clevelandites and ballot box stuffers, all masking under the name of "organized Democracy," claim to be the "intelligent and virtuous," and to have the better speakers. Let them prove their boastings by a guarantee of an honest election under condition of a joint discussion. If Colonel Oates or the chairman of his committee will guarantee at once to take steps to have the registration lists in certain counties purged of false entries, and, further, guarantee an absolutely fair and honest election, we will at once advise our people to attend their meetings and our candidates and speakers to meet their candidates and speakers. They can get no gathering of any large number without our friends attend, and let us not attend until the guarantee is given.

In the matter of appoint inspectors we would suggest that you make no demands in this line until receipt of our further advices within a day or two. Yours sincerely,

W. H. SKAGGS,
Chairman Central Campaign Com.

There will be a big Democratic barbecue and speaking at Bangor on the "Fourth," and among the speakers announced is Hon. H. W. J. Ham, the celebrated "Snollygoster" of Georgia. This will be the meeting of that part of the State and every body is invited to come and have a good time.

KOLB'S CAMPAIGN.

It is Looked Upon as the Entering Wedge in the South.

From the Home Market Bulletin for June, 1894, (Rep.)

The Alabama campaign looks very bright for the Jeffersonians. They have the solid Republican support and the registration, which closed May 26th, is decidedly in their favor. The Republicans persuaded the negroes in the fifteen counties where the great frauds in counting were made in 1892 not to register; thus they cannot be counted for the Democrats. In thirty-eight out of the sixty-six counties the returning boards are Jeffersonians.

After a prolonged contest, the Democrats have held their convention and by a small majority nominated Congressman Oates for Governor, over Mr. Johnston, the anti-Cleveland candidate, who accepted the result with good grace on the surface. So the Democrats now claim harmony, but it amounts to but very little if they have it, for the total vote in their primaries to elect delegates, even though there was a spirited contest all over the State, aggregated only 40,000—the smallest on record. The truth is, they have lost their voters, and Captain Kolb, the candidate of the Jeffersonians has gained them.

The campaign will now be squarely between the Democrats, organized and backed by the State and national administration, on one side, and Jeffersonians, supported by the Republicans, on the other side. Almost the only issues are free ballot and protection, as there is no contest over the money question and not much on State matters.

Really this is a national fight. Mr. Cleveland and the Democratic national committee so regard it. It is of immense importance to them to keep the South solid. It is equally important to the friends of free government and protection to have the right succeed: Victory in August will be followed by further victories in the South in November.

The Boston committee of Republicans, consisting of John Shepard, John Shaw and Albert Clark (treasurer), has received and forwarded small contributions from all over New England and is anxious to receive more. The campaign is not expensive, but it costs something, and the people there are poor. They are battling for our principles and we ought to help them. At most we can only partially offset the Democratic patronage fund, but the people are aroused and are facing the right way. The election will occur the first Monday in August.

A COLORED ECONOMIST.

At the recent conference of the negro farmers at Talladega, an old-time negro, the "fore de wah" sort, made a speech, which is thus reported:

"A mortgage is a thing dat don't sleep. She's lyin' in wait and she's growin' when you don't think. You see I'se been dar. De waive note cum walkin' in at de back door, an' you say, 'What you want?' an' she say, 'I'se gwine ter sweep you out.' Do good work. Arter you'se got anything put it in de bottom of yer pocket an' keep it dar. Do good werk agin. Put dat in yer pocket, too. By an by, keep doin' dat, an' you kin buy a little peace o' lan' an' build you a two-room kabbin, an' you kin live at home. You kin raise corn, an' peas, an' taters an' a few pigs, an' chickens, an' den you'se in de road. You dig cotton an' yer won't ware it. How you 'spect dere'll be a price on it ef its own people ar' feard ov it? I'se sleeped wid one eye open; de man who raises his own porwisuns nebber raises er mor'gage wid waiverly note."

The speake explained his success in accumulating property by saying, "I was jest 'termined ter have sumthin'."

An Unperverted Australian Secret Ballot.

The Kolbites have raised a great hue and cry against the election law passed by the General Assembly, commonly known as the Sayre election law. A party never more deliberately and knowingly stultified itself than they have done by their attack on this law. The record is plainly against them.

In the Omaha Convention held in that city July 4th, 1892, the People's Party adopted this resolution:

That we demand a free ballot and a fair count in all elections and pledge ourselves to secure it to every voter without Federal intervention through adoption by the States of unperverted Australian secret ballot system.

Nothing could be more explicit than this committal of the People's Party to the principles of the original Australian ballot law. The Populite Convention that met jointly with the Jeffersonians in Birmingham, February 8th, of this year adopted a platform, the third plank of which is as follows:

With steadfast faith in the principles of the Omaha platform, we unhesitatingly renew our allegiance to the doctrines therein announced and will exercise our utmost energies in the coming election to have them engrafted upon our statute books.

This can mean nothing else than that if Kolb and his crowd should capture the Legislature and the Governor's office in this fight, they will give the State the benefit of an "unperverted secret Australian ballot system."

Now the cardinal objection they urge against the Sayre election law is that it works against the ignorant voter. The seventh paragraph of the fifty-eighth section of part two of the "unperverted Australian secret ballot system" reads as follows:

VII. Any voter may signify to the presiding officer that by reason of blindness he is unable to comply with the last preceding regulation, and there-upon the presiding officer, if satisfied that such voter is afflicted with blindness, shall permit any agent named by such voter to accompany him into the compartment set apart for the purpose, to mark the voting paper on such voters behalf, and hand the same to the returning officer, who shall deposit the same in the ballot-box.

There is no other provision in the original Australian ballot law that makes any exception in favor of any man, however ignorant he may be. It follows that the demand for the "unperverted Australian secret ballot system" and the premise to put it in force in this State means and can mean, so far as aid to the illiterate voter is concerned but one thing, and that is, he must take care of himself, the blind men being the only class favored under their proposed system.

Massachusetts has adopted the Australian ballot system and as the Kolbites are running their campaign with Massachusetts money, it may be supposed that the example of that State will have some weight with them. The Massachusetts law requires every voter to mark his own ballot unless he is blind, or, was a voter prior to the year 1857. No man in Massachusetts who is under fifty-eight years of age, unless he be blind can get any assistance in marking his ballot. The Sayre law permits the voter who cannot read now write to designate one of the inspectors to mark his ballot for him, and gives the further chance, if not satisfied with one of the inspectors, to have it marked by some one designated by them. All the main features of the Sayre law are copied from the Australian ballot law, and these are now in force with slight changes varying according to the States in thirty-four States of the Union.

There never was a more puerile cry than this one raised by the Kolbites against the Sayre election law. They are committed over and over again to a law, that in the feature they have complained most bitterly about, bears harder upon the iguorant voter than any law now in force in the United States. The Australian ballot law is now in force among nearly 100,000,000 English speaking people, and of all the varieties of the system in effect in the thirty-four States of this Union and throughout England and her colonies, the Alabama law is accepted as the mildest and most considerate in its treatment of the illiterate class.—Montgomery Advertiser.

The last words of the murdered President of France were "I am going away."

Large numbers of Ohio farmers are buying land in Lauderdale county through the efforts of a real estate firm in Florence.

"Alabama," a new publication devoted to the material interests of the State, issued at Montgomery by J. C. Pope and C. W. Hare, is on our table. It is a very neat eight page paper, full of interesting clippings and bright editorials. It will do much good work for the State.

Anniston's staunch Democrat, Wm. C. LeGrand, was in Jacksonville Monday. Realizing the fact that it costs money to run a newspaper, he considerately called at the office and left his compliments in the shape of his subscription account. Let other good Democrats do likewise.

J. C. Manning writes a card to the Montgomery Journal denying that he has deserted the Kolb ranks. He says he is a candidate for the Legislature in Clay county. The statement of his desertion of Kolb appeared, we believe, the first time in the Greenville Living Truth, a Populite paper, edited by J. M. Whitehead.

Judge Richardson and Capt. Jos. F. Johnston are both speaking for Col. Oates. Both of these gentlemen were candidates against Gov. Jones, but both took the stump for him when he got the nomination. There is nothing of the sulker about these two excellent democrats. Defeat does not sour them. They both deserve and will yet receive honors at the hands of the democracy of Alabama.

The Justice of the Peace in Birmingham, before whom was held the preliminary trial of John and Peyton G. Bowman for the murder of Eugene Jeffers, admitted John Bowman to bail in the sum of five thousand dollars and held Peyton G. Bowman in jail without bail. The attorneys for the Bowmans sued out a writ of habeas corpus and the trial will again be had before Judge Sharpe. Tuesday was set for the hearing of the case, but owing to disagreement of counsel as to some of the evidence, it was postponed until Friday 29th inst.

David Bennett Hill, once spoken of in the South as a Presidential possibility, has managed to convince the country during his short senatorial career that he is entirely too small a man for so large a station. His only commendable work so far was his effort to break down the curse of courtesy in the Senate and secure the adoption of rules by which the body could legislate.

Mr. T. S. Coolidge, of Glenn Falls, N. Y. President of all the lime companies and pulp and paper mills of northern New York, representing millions of capital, was in Jacksonville a few days ago on a prospecting tour. He visited the lime works on the line of the Jacksonville Mineral railroad four miles north of this place and was much pleased with the general outlook. He was accompanied by Mr. Cobb of Anniston.

The anti-option bill, designed to break up gambling in futures on agricultural products has passed the House by a very large majority, Republicans, Democrats and Populites alike voting for it; but it is freely predicted that it will not pass the Senate this session. Most probably not. That body is too busily engaged in the game of "courtesy" to furnish the country any useful legislation this session or the next either. What the country needs is Senate made up of younger men not hampered by the foolish traditions of the Senate.

The Home Market Bulletin, a New England Republican, high protection paper says, speaking of Kolb and his supporters, "they are battling for OUR principles and we ought to help them." The article is published elsewhere in this paper. What is there of common interest between the Alabama farmer and the highly protected New England manufacturer, who has grown to be a "plutocrat" through a government tax wrung from the toil of that same Southern farmer? Has not Kolb got his fellowers into a pretty pickle? And for what? A miserable "campaign fund."

Dispatches from Gadsden state that the adherents of Capt. Kolb are drilling twice a week with guns near Gadsden and the report comes that they are also drilling at or near Lincoln in Talladega county. Do these men contemplate violence if Kolb is beaten? If so it is time all peaceable people were getting out of the gang. Treason is a very serious offense, punishable by death, and peaceable and law abiding men cannot afford to become accessories to crime before the fact by association with men who contemplate treason by armed resistence to lawful authority in Alabama.

The Populite-Jeffersonian-Republican combination in Calhoun does not lack cheek. Certain individuals, assuming to represent the combination, not only sought to name some of the managers of election to the county officers, but asked that they be accorded two managers out of three at several of the boxes of the county. These very modest demands were ignored by the Probate Judge, Sheriff and Circuit Clerk, whose duty it is, under the law, to select the election managers. All agreed that the combination was entitled to one manager at each box, under the law, but all agreed that the party was entirely too young to have the preference at any box in the county over the old Democratic party. They also agreed that it was improper for individuals of any party to seek to name managers of election.

In an interview with a New York Sun Reporter a few days ago Capt. Kolb spoke of "my party" and "my chairman of my executive committee" as if he owned the whole shebang. He also announced that the "American Protective Tariff League will help me." That is natural, and it is helping him; because he has contracted to sell the tariff tax-ridden farmers of his State to the manufacturing barons and plutocrats of the North and East.

Never was a man so shameless and brazen in his treachery to his friends! Never before has a candidate relied so much upon the ignorance and prejudices of his followers! But many of them will disappoint his expectations. They were willing to follow him as long as they thought him to be an honest Democrat, having their interests at heart; but when they see him first try to sell them to the Republican party, and later to the money power, many of them will desert his standard. Indeed they are doing so daily all over the State, as fast as they realize his treachery. No wonder he has issued orders through "my chairman" for them to stay away from democratic speakings. He knows it will be dangerous to his interests for the honest farmers to learn of his political prostitution and his abandonment of their interests for money.

The French Chambers elected Casimer-Perier President of the Republic, after several fierce fights among deputies of different political factions.

STATE CAMPAIGN.

Huntsville Argus.

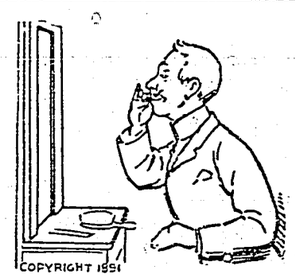

Of course Kolb's trip to Washington and New York is to get more funds. He took a run from Washington to New York, Friday on a begging tour and, as usual he talked too much. He claimed to be backed by the Republicans and the American Protective Association. Thus in his anxious state he aligns himself not only with the party that has always oppressed the South, but also with an association that is hostile to all foreigners and especially arrayed against a certain religious sect. Great as well as genial is Reuben!

Selma Times.

Captain Kolb and his gang in Jefferson are raising the old 'rukas' about the convicts not having been taken out of the mines. Everything has been, and is being done, to provide a place and employment for them, as fast as their wages will supply the means—the legislature, having provided no other means. We suppose if Captain Kolb was Governor he would turn the last convict loose to pick blackberries and rob hen-roosts for a living—to make room for skilled dynamiters and mine burners, most of whom are riff-raffs from Europe. This talk about removing the convicts, at a time when virtually a miner's war is on hand, will have a little weight in driving intelligent voters away from the Democratic ticket.

When Mohammmed was marshaling his converts to propagate his religion with the sword, his men murmured, saying it was too hot to fight. Mohammed replied: 'Its hot, but hell's hotter.' The Democratic campaign speakers who stand back should remember that, while the weather is hot, there may be a political hell that's hotter.—Birmingham Age Herald.

It comes to the AGE-HERALD straight from New York that the New England Tariff League has already sent Kolb $3000 and has promised $5000 more. This, coupled with the money which the last appeal will likely bring, admonishes the Democrats to extra activity lest we be sold out to the stranger. —Birmingham Age Herald.

Fixed just right
—Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They do it in just the right way, too—by using Nature's own methods. That's why they're better than the dreadful, old-fashioned pills, with their griping and violence.

But they're better in every way. In size, for instance, and dose. They're the smallest and the easiest to take; only one little Pellet is needed for a gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. They cleanse and regulate the system thoroughly—but it's done easily and naturally. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for value received.

Something else, that pays the dealer better, may be offered as "just as good." Perhaps it is, for him, but it can't be, for you.

The REPUBLICAN will greatly appreciate a settlement of subscription on the part of any of its readers at this time. Remember that a dollar or two may be a small thing to you; but if many subscribers pay their dollar or two the aggregate amount will quite suffice to meet the current cash expenses of the office. CAMP DOTS.

By One of the Jacksonville Boys.

Post Forney, June 27, 1894.--Nine of the Jacksonville Detachment were on the detail for guard duty Monday, and Monday night, and that detail was complimented at Dress parade for the most efficient guard duty since this Post was established.

Will Clark, "nee Doodly" was corporal of the 1st relief Monday.

Lieut. Jacob Forney makes a model officer, and is rapidly becoming popular among all the boys.

Pete Hammond, "of sliding elder" fame, discovered six miners skulking near his post 3 o'clock Monday night. He sent for the Colonel who had them dispersed by the "picket detail," and issued extra vigilant orders.

W. H. Boyd likes camp life so well he thinks of remaining as long as camp lasts.

Ross Whisenant is a "Regular." He fell in L. L. line.

Jno Weir wants the Post moved to Maplesville. Joe Hanks seconds the motion.

Frank Martin yells "Hot Java" with a will.

Will McCormick says: "shoot the sand" down here.

Chive Woodruff bribed the cook and got a "sho nuff" buscuit.

Mack Lane makes a good Sargent, and is liked by all the boys.

Charlie Wilkerson is very fond of 'wasp nest' and axle-grease.

Will Wilkerson belongs to the Coxey Army and takes a leading part with "Nancy Hanks."

All the Detachment are unanimous in voting Capt. W. H. McKleroy the handsomest Captain here and they think very few his peer if any.

Capt. W. H. McKleroy left for Anniston today. All the boys wanted him to remain.

Lieut. Forney was appointed Adjutant of the batallion this evening.

The Washington Artillery Band of New Orleans, left for that city today. The boys miss the music very much.

John, the University buglar, has taken the place of the regular buglar for a few days.

We do not know how long the boys will have to remain at Camp Forney. They are all well pleased however, and take camp life like old regulars.

The boys were allowed to witness the Gattling gun target practice this evening.

Miss. Addie Hammond visited Post Forney this evening.

Clifford Adams has not lost his appetite as yet, and Washington pie is still his favorite desert.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION!

Too High Pressure.

In these days of keen competition in every line, when the business man is compelled to bend his intellect and every energy to the success of his business; the clerk, bookkeeper, professional man and laborer, to drive themselves at a terrific rate, there can be but one result—an explosion, which, if not resulting in immediate death, leaves them with shattered brains and bodies. They are running at too high pressure. The strain is too great. Something must and does give way. This is equally true of women. Though their sphere is more limited, they have their daily burdens, frets, and worries, and the results are the same as with their stronger companions.

This condition is growing worse every day. The rapidity of its increase is awful to contemplate. Our homes, hospitals, and insane asylums are full of these unfortunates, and are being crowded still further. There is but one solution of the matter. Recognize the importance of the situation at once, and take the necessary measures to overcome it. If you have failing memory, hot flashes, dizziness, nervous or sick headache, biliousness, irritability, melancholy, sleeplessness, fainting, nervous dyspepsia, epilepsy etc., know that any one of them is but a symptom of the calamity that may befall you, and even though you have used so-called remedies and treated with reputable physicians with little or no benefit, give Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine a trial. It is the only remedy that may be depended upon for nervous di orders.

"Two years ago I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine with marked benefit, and later induced my son, who had been sick with catarrh of the bladder five years in the hands of our best physicians, to try it together with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. He was so wonderfully benefited that he is attending to business again. My wife also used Nervine with most excellent results. All of us together have not used more than six bottles of Nervine. Several of our friends have also used it, and are greatly improved."—Louis Gibbs, Bucher & Gibbs Plow Co., Canton, Ohio.

Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles, $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs. Free book at druggists, or by mail.

Miss Lela Beall Tatum, of Troy, while jumping a rope fell and broke one of her arms.

The Clay County Advance reads the people of that county a lecture on the fact that some western corn has had to be brought there to supply the farmers with food and feed.

Mrs. Taylor, an aged lady of Tuskegee, was found dead in her room a few mornings ago. She had been a sufferer from heart disease for some time and it is supposed that was the cause of her death.

Mr. Will Freeman who lives about four miles from Troy lost his house and all its contents by fire last Tuesday morning. He and his family were attending the Sam Jones meetings and did not know anything about it.

After several weeks suspension caused by the storm which destroyed the office. The Attalla Herald once more comes to the front, a little abridged, but still a lively little sheet. J. W. Griffith is now the editor and proprietor and he says with the assistance of the people of that community he will give them a paper worthy the town.

What is going to prevent others from following the example given here from the Florence Times: "Mr. T. I. Denson was engaged the past week in cutting clover at the rate of two tons per acre. The yield would have been even larger, but the last frost nipped it. Clover and wheat are getting fashionable with our farmers. In these directions we want to see the farmers put on great style."

The Florence Times thus speaks of a conspiracy that is being formed in that county, and there is no law in the State for punishing those who go into it. "Mr. John Byars of Cetre Star, sent to the Times last week a bunch of wheat from his fine field as a sample of his crop. The plot thickens. Our farmers are conspiring against hard times by raising wheat, oats, clover, peas, potatoes and so forth."

The following item from The Florence Times shows that things are looking up in that section and the prospects for fall are brighter. Dr. L. W. Arnold, who has lately been in the rural districts, says there is more land in cultivation in Lauderdale than he ever knew before. It is also true that these crops are being made on more of a cash basis than for many years. All this means well for business in the early future."

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds. If you have never used this Great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money refunded. Trial bottles free at all the drug stores. Large bottles 50c and $1.00. 1
