Cor Noble & 10th sts, Anniston, Ala

SENATOR RANSOM, of North Carolina, has been appointed Minister to Mexico.

GALVESTON, Texas, has been shipping cotton to Boston this year, by barge. The saving on cost of trasportation, is about one dollar per bale. A few more years, the mills will be in the cotton fields, and the only transportation then will be that of the finished product.

JACKSONVILLE is very much gratified at the expressions which come from all portions of the county in reference to the court house removal question. Anniston will have to wait until she gets several thousand more population than at present before she can get to be a county site.

To have an era of genuine prosperity in this country, it is necessary that the farmers become prosperous. In order that the farmers get out of debt and become prosperous and happy, it is necessary that they adopt the new and improved methods of agriculture. They must adopt the intensive plan of farming. Instead of raising one bale of cotton on three acres of land, they must make one acre produce two bales.

Above all things else, we need an agricultural boom in this county. The reason why the REPUBLICAN advocates a county fair is the belief that it can be used as a means to improve the agricultural interests and help the farmers. It must be their fair, and they should come to the front and work it up.

THE Commercial Club of Birmingham, has issued an address to the press of Alabama, a copy of which has been mailed the REPUBLICAN. We regret that lack of space forbids its publication in our paper this week. The address calls upon the entire press to lend its best energies to the work—so happily and auspiciously begun—of inducing capital and immigration to our state. The address is an able one, and deserves the careful consideration of every paper in Alabama.

The REPUBLICAN is ready to do all in its power "to create the strongest sentiment possible that capital invested in the development of Alabama shall have every reasonable protection which law, sentiment and a patriotic press can throw around it," and to make our people "feel that an intelligent and thrifty class of immigrants will bring greater blessings to the state than is possible without them."

The REPUBLICAN enters no new sphere of action. This has ever been its work, and shall continue to be, until Alabama takes the position which is hers by nature—as the chief gem in the coronet of the United States of America.

WE desire to call the attention of all our readers to the generous offer of the Oxford Lake Line Company, as expressed in the Sam Slim letter this week.

This company, with commendable public spiritedness, agrees to furnish the grounds, buildings and track, at Oxford Lake, for the county fair, which the REPUBLICAN has been so long advocating. The people of Oxford want the fair held at the Lake, and it seems to be the desire of our friends all over Calhoun, to take advantage of this opportunity afforded, to get together, compare the fruits of their labor, and counsel with one another, as to the best methods for the future.

Our Oxford correspondent last week spoke most kindly of the project, and said the people of his city—so soon as they found the whole county would become interested—would do all they could to make it a success. Certainly these good people have already given us an earnest of their good intentions, in tendering us their beautiful and hospitable little city and its handsome resort.

It is the duty of all our citizens to have a meeting at once, and put the scheme on a sound footing. Let us take the building of the tabernacle as our example, and let our people "come, bringing blue and purple, and scarlet, fine linen, goats skins and badgers skins, silver and brass." Let our women "spin with their hands." Let those who are able "bring the onyx stones, the spice and the oil," Let the offerings of all be willing ones. Let the fair be a success.

The REPUBLICAN stands ready to issue the call, for the meeting suggested by Sam Slim, whenever the people shall direct. Let us hear from them in regard to the place for the meeting and the REPUBLICAN will gladly give notice.

THE committee to arrange date for the reunion of the Confederate veterans at Houston, Texas, has appointed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, May 22, 23 and 24 as the time for the next meeting. No doubt the railroads will furnish a very low rate, and the veterans can commence to make their arrangements for the trip.

ABOUT 15 million dollars were spent last year, in the purchase of commercial fertilizers for the cotton fields of the south. The value of the entire cotton crop approximates 200 million dollars. This is about thirteen and one third dollars worth of cotton, to one dollars worth of fertilizer. The average yield of lint was 191.7 pounds per acre. This is the largest yield per acre, ever raised. In 1890—91 the average yield of lint per acre was 189 pounds.

ON Friday of last week three car leads of fat beef cattle passed down the rail road, on the way from Cincinnati to Union Springs in this state. It looks like Alabama might raise enough beef to supply her own demands, but it seems that she does not. We think that the day is not far distant however, when our farmers will examine more carefully the subject of stock raising in all its phases, and will find that, there is more money in a few beeves and a few hogs along with cotton, than there is in cotton alone.

HERE it is. Bonds of the little island Jamaica sell 111. Bonds of British Guiana sell at 107. Bonds of Athol, Mass., sell at 107½. Bonds of Detroit, Mich., sell at 107. But then, these sales were made by day—under the sunlight of competition.

Here it is again. United States bonds sell at 104. But this is a sale made in the dark. It is a secret sale—a sale made only with the knowledge, and by the consent, of a corrupt president and his old law partner, and the money kings with whom they are associated. This sale is one of "the devil's own." "Can such things be, and overcome us like a summer's cloud, without our special wonder."

THE REPUBLICAN stands ready to cooperate with the farmers of Calhoun county in any and every effort that will improve the agricultural interests and help the farmer. If they desire that a meeting be called in Jacksonville, Oxford or elsewhere to arrange for the holding of a county fair next fall, we will take pleasure in advertising the meeting, and doing all in our power to make the fair a success. The proposition of the Oxford Lake Line in tendering the use of its property is indeed generous and we think it should at once be accepted, and arrangements be made for working up and holding the fair. Let us hear from the farmers in all portions or the county in reference to calling a meeting to arrange for the fair. To make a fair a success, it is necessary to have the cooperation of the farmers in every potion of the county.

REPORTS from all over the states say that the recent freezes and snows have no precedent in the history of our country. From the North come stories of intense suffering and death, to beast and man. From the West and Northwest news reaches us that starvation and cold are playing havoc with all animal life. Telegrams from Florida and Louisiana say that millions have been lost by the ravages of winters ruthless breath. How is it in North Alabama? Simply this: We have had a sleet, and a snow, and a freeze. There has been so little suffering either among men or beasts that it would be a species of ingratitude to mention it. We have prospects of a better fruit and crop year than we have enjoyed in a decade. We have suffered little, we are benefited much. This is our experience. We are grateful for it. It is another link in the chain of evidence, that is to prove to the world that north Alabama is the haven towards which the capitalist and the home seekers must steer.

We are now showing full line of Spring Goods, in prints, domestic and foreign Ginghams, Percales, Crepons, Outings & many new weaves in cotton goods.

Mr. Kelly's Card.

We publish in another column a card from Hon. R. B. Kelly, in which he claims we did him an injustice in an editorial last week on the question of removal of the court house from Jacksonville to Anniston.

We did dot then, nor shall we hereafter, knowingly do Mr. Kelly an injustice. We only stated in the editorial referred to what we believed to be facts well understood by the people of Calhoun county.

That there was a general understanding all over the county before the meeting of the convention which nominated Mr. Kelly for Representative that no laws should be enacted by the recent General Assembly on local issues upon which the people were divided, we think is a fact which is well understood by the people of the county.

While it may be true that there was no specific agreement entered into to this effect, yet the agreement was so well understood before and at the time of the convention that Jacksonville willingly consented that Anniston should have a Representative of her own selection.

Following this agreement, Messrs Kelly and Scarbrough went before the people and made certain promises. The writer heard Mr. Kelly make only one speech during the the campaign. This was his speech at Jacksonville. This speech was after his speech in Beat 8 when he was called out on the court house question, and Mr. Grant had stated in the REPUBLICAN that his answers there were entirely satisfactory to the friends of Jacksonville on the court house question. As to just what Mr. Kelly said in his Beat 8 speech we leave for those to say who heard him. But we can speak positively as to his Jacksonville speech. He stated here that if elected he would go to Montgomery as the Representative of Calhoun county, and not of any particular section, and that he would pass no local bill which had a tendency to build up one town at the expese of another. This our people construed as a definite promise not to pass a bill looking to the removal of the court house.

Mr. Kelly in his card says: "I also stated that if I was elected I would not of my own motion introduce any local bill on which the people would likely be divided." He justifies his course after making this confessed promise, by stating that he was urged to introduce the court house bill. Let the suggestion of our White Plains correspondent be carried out, and let the people be informed as to who did all this urging.

There is one thing very singular, that this urging was not sufficiently great to cause Mr. Scarbrough to favor the bill for a vote on removal, and yet it was so great that Mr. Kelley could not withstand it.

Mr. Scarbrough is more directly interested in Anniston than in Jacksonville, yet the pressure of which Mr. Kelly speaks was not sufficient to cause him to favor a bill which he promised the people he would not give his vote to have enacted.

From Mr. Kelly's card, it looks very much like our White Plains corrispondent is correct in his suggestion that Mr. Kelly looks upon Anniston as the PEOPLE. Mr. Kelly says the bill authorizes a vote when the people desire a vote. This can be true only by making ANNISTON the PEOPLE. For under the requirements of the bill, the election can never be held until Anniston gets ready for it. Every man in Calhoun county, outside of Anniston, might petition for the vote, and yet Anniston could prevent it by simply refusing to subscribe the necessary $7,500.

Instead of being placed in the hands of the people, where it should be placed, it gives Anniston the power to hold this bill over the people of Calhoun county indefinitely, or until it is repealed. All the people outside the corporate limits of Anniston have not the power to have the election held next November, but must wait until Anniston gets ready for it, and she will have it ordered. This is the way in wich Mr. Kelly has placed the calling of the election in the hands of the people. This is the local self-government of which Mr. Kelly speakes.

The REPUBLICAN has had no word of censure for anything Mr. Kelly did while in the legislature except the passage of the bill under discussion. We think conscientiously that with the understanding had before his election, that in the passage of this bill he has wronged not only the people, but the party which nominated him. But we shall willingly give Mr. Kelly space at any time to present his side of this question, and will not knowingly do him an injustice.

The Contest Bill.

THE bill passed by the late General Assembly to regulate contests of elections for Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer and Attorney General, provides that an election may be contested for any of the following reasons:

(1.) Malconduct, fraud or corruption on the part of any inspector, clerk, returning officer, board of supervisors, or marker.

(2.) When the person declared to be elected to office was not eligible there to at the time of such election.

(3.) On account of illegal votes.

(4.) On account of the rejection of legal votes.

(5.) On account of bribery, intimidation or other malconduct which prevented a fair, free and full exercise of the elective franchise.

The bill provides that when any elector shall contest any election under the provisions of this act, he must within ten days after the result of the election has been declared, file with the Speaker of the House of Representatives a written statement of the grounds of such contests and a bond with good and sufficient surities payable to the State of Alabama and conditioned for the payment of such costs as may accrue upon such contests in the event such contests shall result in favor of the contestee. Such bond must be in the sum of five thousand dollars, and must be subject to the approval of the Speaker of the House, and such bond when it shall have been approved, shall be filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State.

The bill also provides that the two houses of the General Assembly in joint convention assembled and presided over by the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall constitute the tribunal for the trial of all contests, and that said joint convention shall elect by ballot three Senators and five Representatives who shall act as a commission to take the testimony submmitted on the contest. This commission shall report all evidence taken to the joint convention.

The bill makes it the duty of the Judge of Probate of any county upon the application of either party to deliver a certified copy of the registration list of his county upon the payment of his fee for such copy.

Amendments to Election Law.

THE amendments made to the present election law by the recent General Assembly provides that all persons shall have the right to register on the day of election who make oath that they became bona fide residents of the precinct in which they propose to register not less than thirty days before the day of election and since the last registration; that persons who move from one beat to another shall be entitled to vote by furnishing certificate of Probate Judge stating that they were duly registered in the precinct from which they removed; that if precinct registrar shall not be present on day of election by 10 o'clock, then the inspectors of election, or any two of them, may appoint precinct registrar; that upon opening the polls the inspectors must appoint two markers or assistants, one from each of the opposing political parties. Every marker, before entering upon his duties, must take an oath to perform the duties of marker according to law. Clerks and markers must be appointed from a list of persons, not less than six nor more than ten in any beat, who may be suggested for that purpose by the duly constituted authorities respectively of the opposing political parties having candidates to be voted for at the election. Every inspector shall have the right to select marker to arrange his ballot from the number appointed. Any inspector who may refuse to appoint markers from the opposing parties, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and must, on conviction, be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars.

In the event no lists are furnished from which to make the appointments, the inspectors shall appoint clerks and markers from opposing political parties.

These amendments were so fair and just that they were adopted by an almost unanimous vote of both Democrats and Populists, and we think they make a long step towards securing absolutely fair elections in Alabama in the future.

"OUR DICK"

BEGINS TO KICK.

But Facts Will Stick.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN:—In your last issue in your editorial entitled "the Court House issue" you unintentionally did me an injustice. In your criticism of my action in introducing and having the bill passed to permit the people of Calhoun County to vote on the question of moving the Court House from Jacksonville to Anniston. In reply I desire to say that I know absolutely nothing of any promise or pledge on the part of the Anniston delegation," or any other delegation to "the upper portion of the County" as you term it to secure my nomination. It is well known to every one who attended that convention that I did not seek the nomination for Representative and that I was not present at the convention until after the convention had met and organized and odjourned for dinner, and that before I arrived it had been agreed among the different delegations that I should be one of the nominees of the convention for Representative. It is also well known that I was nominated without any pledge or promise whatever on my part, being asked or given. Everybody knew I was for Morgan for Senator. I deny emphatically that I ever on the stump or else where, during the canvass stated that I would not introduce a bill for a vote on the Court House, if askod to do so by the people, as you intimate in your editorial. I did state that I was not in favor of bringing any local issue into the canvass. I also stated that if I was elected I would not of my own motion introduce any local bill on which the people would likely be divided, I also stated in one of my speeches during the canvass that the Court House belonged to the people and if they wanted to make a corn crib out of it they had a right to do so and that if I was elected I was in favor of their being permitted to do as they pleased with it. I said this in answer to a question. My reply seemed satisfactory for I was not asked the question any more and in its next issue the REPUBLICAN said it was satisfied. I deny most emphatically that in securing the passage of this bill I "abused the trust and confidence" of any man or set of men as you state. The truth of the matter is that I secured the passage of this bill at the urgent request of many of my constituents. No bill which I introduced was so much desired—if I may judge by the number and urgency of the requests made of me. Another thing. I did not raise the issue nor did I procure it to be raised, I only acted in response to theurgent request of a large number of my constituents, and when the issue was thus unwillingly thrust upon me I met it in a spirit of fairness to the whole county in the substitute for the bill sent me, which I secured to be passed. In another thing you are wrong. You say the bill I introduced "forces a vote on the removal of the Court House." The bill does not "force" a vote—it only AUTHORIZES a vote, WHEN THE PEOPLE DESIRE A VOTE. A vote need never be taken under the bill until the people want one. The people decide for themselves. 1st. Whether they will have a vote. 2nd. When they will have a vote. 3rd. What they want when they do have a vote. There certainly is nothing wrong in this investing the people with so much power. Is that why you complain that the people are thus invested with the power to decide for themselves where their Court House shall be located? The bill is based on principles of local self government—nothing can be more so. Besides this it requires Anniston to subscribe to the county seven thousand five hundred dollars before an election can be ordered, and to actually pay it before the Court House can be moved. This is far more than the old Court House was worth which was torn down when the present Court House was built on land to which the county had no title except at the end of a long and bitter law suit, which was to say the least of it not greatly to the county credit—this done to hold the Court House at Jacksonville in defiance of the wishes of the people. Another thing you insist that I did not impartially represent the whole county. Look at my record and you will see that in this too you are wrong. The first bill I got through (and by the way the first bill Gov. Oates approved) was to incorporate a college at Piedmont. I also got a bill through for Oxford a new charter and Anniston one. Also two important insurance bills, also a stock law for the county whenever the people want a stock law. The poor and unfortunate also came in for a share of my attention. I got a bill through the House giving persons convicted of felony where they are sentenced to two years or less the right to bail pending an appeal to the Supreme Court. I also got through a practice and procedure act for our Circuit Courts which will enable that Court to proceed with more dispatch. I also got a bill through the committee giving Jacksonville a county court—but withdrew it at the request of the party who sent me the bill—a prominent attorney of that place. I also lifted my voice in defense of your Normal school and through my efforts, with others, Normal schools were saved. Then there is my work on the joint committee to report an assessment bill, and on the floor of the House in defense of the bill reported by the joint committee. I mention these (some of my public acts) not for the purpose of self laudation but to show the people of the county that you wrong them and me when you insinuate that I did not faithfully and diligently and impartially represent them. But you say that "Jacksonville is sure to win." If you really think so why try to troduce me in trying to "boost" your cause? I have, only to say in conclusion, the people from among whom I was chosen as one of the Representatives of this grand old county in the General Assembly have with singular unanimity and in a public manner endorsed my course in the legislature—and if either Jacksonville or the rest of the county had to get mad at me for my course (and it seemed inevitable that either the one or the other was sure to get mad at me)-I had rather Jacksonville would be the one to get mad (though I would have made neither mad if I could prevent.) In fact isn't it about time Jacksonville was mad once—She has often before this made the rest of the county mad. Every dog has his day—Jacksonville has had hers—now let the rest of the county have theirs—It may be hard on you but it is fair.

Respectfully,

R. B. KELLY.

ALEXANDRIA.

Several gentlemen from Anniston were here last Saturday attending court.

Mr. John Dunaway, who fell on the ice and hurt himself so badly, died on Sunday from the effect of his injuries. He was only thirty three years old and has a wife and three small children.

Mr. Holland Wakefield of Anniston, has been visiting his father, who continues seriously ill.

Mr. Elrod of Collinsville, is visiting his brother, Dr. Elrod.

Mr. Bob Brittain, who has been ill for quite a long time, died on Tuesday.

Our farmers of are not buying any guano as yet.

Mr. Harris preached us a very fine sermon last Sunday, which was fully appreciated by his congregation.

Mr. Trapp, of Anniston, has come to live among us. We extend to him a welcome, and would be glad to have other young farmers come to our beautiful valley to make their homes.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Syrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. New York is one of the healthiest place on the Atlantic Coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretion and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by dealers.

Sam Slim.

You say Sam Slim dont have to sit down in a snug chimney corner, even in this bad weather, since he has convinced every body that Oxford Lake is the place to hold the county fair this Fall. You call on me to get the directors of the Lake Line to tender the use of their property.

Now, be it known to all whom it may concern, that I am authorized to say that the Oxford Lake Line Co., will give the use of their grounds and buildings, at the Lake, and will throw in the water, for a county fair next Fall.

Now what do you say, you people in other towns, and in the country? Don't you think that is enough for the Lake Line to do at the present?

Go a head, Gentlemen, call a meeting of the citizens of the county, and perfect an organization, and when the proper time comes, Oxford Lake Line will do her full share in a substantial way.

There aint nothing small about the Lake Line, and the people of Calhoun county will find it out, if there is a fair at the lake next Fall.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. A. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "And have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to similarly afflicted. It is for sale by dealers.

BARGAIN IN AN ORGAN.

To get my organs introduced I will for the next 60 days sell a good new organ with seven stops, couplers, three sets of reeds, black wall nut case, about six feet high, for $15. Send for catalouge at once. I will sell on easy payments. I will ship on trial, and if you are not pleased will pay the freight both ways. Don't think that I cannot save you money on everything in the music line because I am in a small city. Write me and I will tell you more.

Mrs. Judge Peck Tells How She Was Cured

Sufferers from Dyspepsia should read the following letter from Mrs. H. M. Peck, wife of Judge Peck, a justice at Tracy, Cal., and a writer connected with the Associated Press:

"By a deep sense of gratitude for the great benefit I have received from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I have been led to write the following statement for the benefit of sufferers who may be similarly afflicted. For 15 years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and Heart Trouble.

Almost everything I ate would distress me. I tried different treatments and medicines, but failed to realize relief. Two years ago a friend prevailed upon me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle I noticed helped me, so I continued taking it. It did me so much good that my friends spoke of the improvement. I have received such great benefit from it that Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. Maxwell—Stephens.

A correspondent in the Coosa River News gives the following account of the marriage of Mr. Jason Maxwell to Miss Stephens:

A few young people of Cherokee county gathered at the home of Mr. Berry Stephens on last Thursday evening, 4 o'clock, to witness the solemn promise made by Mr. Joyson Maxwell of Jacksonville, and Miss Barbara Stephens of Centre.

The bride and groom attendants were Dr. W. P. Stinson and Miss Butler Kirk.

Those of the young people who enjoyed the supper of deicious viands, which was announced shortly after the ceremony were Drs. Darnall, and B. L. and W. P. Stinson, and Mr. Miller Green of Merrelton, Ala., Messrs. J. N. Maxwell and C. Williams of Jacksonville, Mr. L. A. Kirk of Bid, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collier, Misses Butler Kirk, Willie Clay and Hattie Stinson.

May the joys and happiness of time be indefinitely prolonged with you and little of its troubles as possible.

Dr. John M. Crook.

Last December Dr. John M. Crook located in Columbus, Ga., and has now closed out all his business here and returned to that city.

In the removal of Dr. Crook to Columbus, Georgia, Jacksonville loses one of her most valuable and enterprising citizens, Calhoun county a native son of whom she has always been proud, the Calhoun county Medical Society one of its ablest and most worthy members, the Baptist church of Jacksonville one of its best workers.

In fact, in the removal of Dr. Crook, Calhoun county gives up a citizen whom she feels she can ill afford to surrender.

The writer has been intimately associated with Dr. Crook in the practice of medicine for a number of years, and during all these years we have never know him guilty of the least unprofessional conduct, and we take pleasure in commending him to the medical profession of Columbus as a gentleman loyal to all the ethics of his profession, —a man who will always be found kind, courteous, honorable, in all his professional dealings.

To the people of Columbus, we commend Dr. Crook as an honorable, Christian gentleman, an enterprising and successful business man, and a thoroughly qualified and successful physician.

We direct special attention to the advertisement of Ullman Bros., in this issue. This is one of the most reliable houses in Alabama. They have a large trade in this portion of the county, and it will no doubt be larger this spring than ever before.

A PROPELLING FORCE

In Natures Storehouse For Suffering Humanity.

J. D. Thompson, Anniston, Ala.: "The Electropoise has cured me of neuralgia, indigestion and a complication of other ailments which had so completely wrecked my nervous system that my life was a burden. I had been sick for twenty years. I realize that the Electropoise is a propelling force in nature's storehouse for suffering humanity. It is nature's remedy, whose effect is so silent, so sure and yet so mysterious that it is justly termed the wonder of the age."

It is Wonderful What the Electropoise Will Do.

SOUWILPA, ALA., AUG 11, 1894.
I have used the Electropoise with unfailing success on my family and friends, curing a long list of diseases, without medicines. Among them were milk leg, measles, la grippe, several kinds of fever, chills, old sores, colds, violent pains, ect. The Electropoise takes the place of doctor and drug store.
A. J. ROGERS.

S. B. White, Jacksonville, Ala, June 23, 1894: "We have been using the Electropoise about four years, and are well pleased with it."

GRAYTON.

Farmers are busy making fence and clearing up. The sun shone so warm to-day I was afraid I would see a lizzard.

William Bell is moving near Anniston. We regret to have him move from our community. He has been our Sunday school teacher for a long time. We will miss him.

We understand down here that we are to have a vote on the court house removal. This will cause more discord in old Calhoun than anything that ever come before the people. Some of the voters say they will not vote at all. We Jeffersonians are wondering if we will have the privilege of voting on the subject, or will we be kicked out like we were four years ago in the convention. I wonder if there will be a primary or convention? I wonder if Anniston will send any short tickets this time to Jacksonville for the Jeffs? Wonder why we don't have to register this time? We are living in a fast age. Two years ago our August law makers had us carry our registration tickets like the darkey carried his pass in slave time to keep the patroler off him. Now the session just adjourned says we will not be required to have a pass to vote on the court house question. How wise the people are getting; Mathusalah was a sardine by some of the leaders of this common-wealth. All this nonsense means something. We thought down here that there were pledges made to the effect that no sectional issue was to come before the people at this time. It seems that there is a Judas in the camp, and they expect to get Akins wedge. I mean that golden wedge.

We Jeffs expect to be the balance of power in this contest. This is an organized fight between two towns. You know the host of Israel encompassed Jerico seven times with their trumpets, and down tumbled the walls; but the Jeffs expect to toot the ram's horn in this fight. They will come together before that awful day of voting and reach a decision as to what they will do. We are inclined to be for the smallest dog in the fight. Provided, we are allowed to vote, and I guess we will.

I believe it would do good for us to have an old time Methodist love feast and have free communion, we are looking for a better time, whether it comes or not.

We advocate reform, and we expect to practice the same. It looks like it would be poor reform to build another court house at a cost of $75,000 when we already have a good one. But we are not going to commit ourselves to either place for awhile. To be plain, our ambition is to try and burst up the frauds in elections, and we would do almost anything to effect that end.

We are willing for an honest majority to rule. But are not willing to see any election carried by fraud.

Success to the REPUBLICAN and its editors.

WEAVERS.

Sowing oates is the order of the day, and though it is getting late and all fall oates were killed, by a thorough preparation of the soil, we may yet make a good crop.

The farmer who has done his duty now has good plow stocks, well repaired farm tools, and can soon make his farm look as though we had had no bad weather.

The compost heap has received more than ordinary attention the past two months, and no commercial fertilizers received here yet.

Hog cholera still prevails in our neighborhood, and some farmers have lost all the hogs they had.

Mrs. Hugh D[illegible] is critically ill.

Mrs. J. R. McElrath has been confined to her bed for a few days; the result of a fall during the snow but it is thought by her physician that she will be up soon.

Rev. T. K. Trotter filled his appointment here last Sabbath, much to the satisfaction of his congregation, Text, Hebrews 6: 1 "Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ let us go on unto perfection."

TREDEGAR.

The many friends of Mrs. Wood will be glad to learn that she is much better.

J. E. Nisbet of Tredegar, returned from Nashville after a stay of two months. Too much ice for Ned there.

Miss Josie Kimble has been very sick for several days.

C. J. Wood is the busiest man in the county just now. He is succeeding nicely with his lime works.

Preaching at Friendship church next Sunday.

Tredegar will vote solidly for the court house to remain in Jacksonville.

J. W. Nisbet went down to Alexandria last week to see Capt. Crook's fine stock farm.

Mr. Bob Countryman, of Riddle's Bend, has moved to Tredegar.

MORRISVILLE.

Rev. W. C. Horton filled his appointment at the Morrisville Methodist church last Sunday. There was a large congregation, and all seemed to be well pleased with the sermon.

People are rejoicing over the breaking up of the bad weather, and sowing oats will be the order of the day until the job is completed.

Mrs. Carrie Morris has been very sick recently, but is improving considerably at this time, and hopes are entertained that she will be able to take charge of her school again in a short time.

Hon. L. J. Morris has gone to market to purchase a stock of goods to sell at this place.

In some places the public roads are in a very bad condition.

All the sick people in this settlement are getting better, except Mrs. Nancy Tankersley. She is a very old lady.

I am opposed to moving our court house from Jacksonville to Anniston.

OXFORD.

The balmy sunshine has returned again to the great delight of us all. The neuralgic, rheumatic and decrepid are again thankful for the comfort of the warm sunshine of spring.

Oxford people all have gardens and are busy now in getting the start on vegetables of their less industrious brother.

Rev. E. B. Norton of Brookwood, preached an eloquent sermon at the Methodist church Sunday night. Ellie is an old Oxford boy and the people are proud of him.

Court house removal elicits some discussion in Oxford. While the majority will vote for the removal, they are not enthusiastic about it.

BRUNER.

Mr. Farrabee and wife were visiting in Bruner last Sunday.

Mrs. Rebecca Finley has been visiting friends here during the past week.

ANNISTON.

Well, the snow and sleet and ice and mud have disappeared, and gentle Spring seems to be with us. The very severe season just past, gave sweet Charity an opportunity to exhibit her charms, and many were the noble deeds done in her name. While there was much suffering in our country, all are better for having had their nobler natures called into action. God does all things well.

Our municipal primary election will take place soon, but candidates are somewhat slow in coming out. So far, but one, Capt. Hight, has announced for mayor. Others may announce for this office, but of this I am not informed. At one time, two or three months ago, it seemed that we would have several contestants for the mayoralty. Capt. Hight has made a good mayor and would be hard to beat.

Anniston's prospect for a new railroad grows brighter every day. It is almost a settled fact that the road from Ashville here will be built within a year. Our commercial club has the matter in hand, and the club is composed of our very best business talent. With this road, Anniston and the entire county would take on new life. The Model City is coming.

Capt. Andrew Johnson, president of Tennessee River, Coosa Valley and Ashville railroad, was in the city this week. It is this road that is proposed to be built to Anniston.

Anderson Cunningham, the negro who shot another by the name of Bothard at Oxford last Christmas, was brought in this week by Deputy Sheriff Bryan. He was arrested in Mobile.

Dr. J. C. Morris, pastor First Methodist church of Birmingham, lectured in Glen Addie Thursday night to a good audience. The subject was, "My Trip to Rome."

Washington's birthday was observed with appropriate exercises by the various schools of the city.

Miss [illegible] Tunstall has returned to Greensboro after a visit to her sister, Mrs. R. H. Cobb.

Mr. J. R. Goodwin has returned from a visit to Florida.

The lecture of Prof. C. C. Thatch, of Auburn, which was given at Parker Memorial church, was highly enjoyed.

WHITE PLAINS.

At last the ground is dry enough to plow, and the farmers are putting [illegible] in a hurry. It is rather [illegible] to begin sowing, but if the weather continues favorable, a large crop will be sown.

We will plant a little cotton over here, but no guano.

We [illegible] that Hon. W. C. Scarbrough and our own dear Hon. Dick Kelly are at home, getting the usual amount of "cussin'" that falls to the lot of the legislator.

Over here they are just "speaking right out in meetin'" asking who it was that was so anxious to vote on the court house question.

It was said in the legislature by Bill that the people didn't want to vote on it, and by Dick that they did.

It seems a pity that after canvassing the county together, so recently, and meeting the people face to face, that they should have understood them so differently on this question.

It may be that the people live in Dick's town and he knows them better than Bill does. Suppose you ask your correspondent in the different parts of the county to say if they or theirs demanded a vote on the removal of the court house. Let's have the facts as to who demanded this vote, and let our "cussing" be in moderation until we know the facts in the case.

In the meantime, we on this side will stand to our man, and say, well done faithful Billy. To cope with a whole city-full as he did, a man must have backbone in him just like he has.

Dr. Williams is again able to circumlocate, by the help of two crutches. The other folks kept well while the Dr. was sick, but as he is getting better, they can look out.

CHOCCOLOCCO.

Since the fine weather, the farmers are running their plows putting in oats.

Nearly all the farmers in this neighborhood say they are not going to use guano this year.

Rev. M. G. Milligan filled his appointment at the academy last Sunday. He preached an able sermon.

Rev. Mr. Hayler, who has moved from Etowah county to this valley, will preach at the academy on the first Sabbath in each month.

Hon. Dick Kelly was up to see his mother a few days since, who lives at Mr. A. B. Scarbrough's.

Hon. W. C. Scarbrough and daughter spent the night in our village on their way back from Montgomery.

Mrs. Emma Scarbrough, of South Alabama, is visiting her sister at this place.

W. G. Milligan and wife, of Heflin, spent Sunday here.

Miss Stevens, of Texas, has been visiting her relatives in the valley for several weeks.

The REPUBLICAN stated in its last issue that there is in the County Treasurer's hands and available assets to the amount of $50,000; which leaves the county owing only about $1,000. One of my neighbors says the available assets are the poor house, the bridges and other property of the county. Is this correct? If so, how do you make it that the county is only in debt about one thousand dollars. Please explain this, as your readers over here would like to understand the exact condition.

Educational.

"An education is the greatest legacy a parent can leave a child." Indeed the REPUBLICAN stated one of the grandest truths of life when it made the above assertion. Yet, it is not comprehended and appreciated by the vast throng that is daily sending out men and women to battle with the world. Parents, as a class, have not yet grasped the great idea of life, penetrated the secret depths of what is truly great and noble, seen the mysterious workings of the Divine hand in nature's storehouse, and reached the stage where those things which are most honorable, highest and best, receive from them the closest consideration. Education, in its 3 fold nature, developing the physical, mental and moral man, has not yet broken through the veil which obscures its rays. It has not yet reached that lofty principle which responds to the strong demands upon us and lifts us to higher heights in the works of usefulness. It is true that its influence is steadily growing, spreading, and brightening the pathway of the nation. Yet it is lamentable that parents are still turning out their children into the world without the notions and ideas of life which are indispensable to true greatness and absolute usefulness. That dwarfish manhood which early instills into children a partisan hatred, prejudice and envy, must be crushed and destroyed before purity can reign in hearts and homes and virtue and honor be principles loved, cherished and respected and fully appreciated whenever found. And until education with its mighty influence can bring to view and practice that moral force which seeks, in the bright regions of true and noble manhood, the priceless gems of truth, honor and purity, our government will be the contention of partisans and the prey of Spoilsmen, and the true principles of manhood be sacrificed in private and public life in the great struggle for eminence and gain.

It is natural for boys to follow parents. "Like father, like son" is true in almost every case. And those whose minds and hearts are a seething mass of fury and enmity are transmitting the same to those whose hearts should pulsate with love for humanity and whose minds should be filled with what is true, pure, lovely and of good report.

In view of these things it behooves those, who are responsible for the future of any boy or girl, to consecrate their best efforts to the redemption of the human race and the purification of American youths.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—Your paper, which I receive every Friday morning, comes as a welcome visitor. I see a few of the old familiar names in Calhoun yet. I was raised five miles west of Jacksonville. Left Jacksonville on the 27th of June, 1857, on a four horse stage bound for the head of the railroad which was being built from Selma. The terminus then was in the pine woods below the town of Talladega. I arrived in San Francisco on the 31st of July, being on the road more than a month.

Tulare, my home, is situated on the Southern Pacific Railroad, in the San Joaquin valley, which is nearly four hundred miles long and thirty to sixty miles wide.

The products of the valley,—wheat, barley, corn where they have water to irrigate, grapes, peaches, plums, prunes, pears, lemons and oranges.

Very little timber in the valley. We have some trees though in this section which are thirty feet in diameter and over three hundred feet high.

The price of fruit land here is from fifty to one hundred dollars per acre. Grain land from twenty to forty dollars per acre. Grain land is where we do not get water to irrigate.

CHAPTER XV.

"You see I was right," said Merrick when I met him at the station.

"You have been right in every instance," I answered. "The inspector here quite agrees with me that you should be a detective. Where are your prisoners?"

"No, no! Not prisoners," replied Merrick, shocked at the word. "They are my guests, traveling companions—what you will, but not prisoners."

"Still I see my detective attends on them both," said I as Strent and Rose Gernon came along the platform.

"It is well to take all precautions. How is Francis Briarfield?"

"Rather downcast. He is afraid of being arrested for the murder."

"No fear of that," answered Merrick, casting a glance at Strent. "This gentleman's evidence will exonerate him fully."

Strent, smooth and unctuous as ever, rubbed his hands and bowed, but Rose Gernon turned her back on him with a gesture of disgust. Evidently she had not forgiven his hurried departure from the inn.

"What are we waiting for?" she said sharply. "Let us go on to the inquest. I wish to get it over as soon as possible and return to town."

We took the hint and walked along to a room adjoining the morgue, where the inquest was being held. I introduced Merrick to the inspector, and after a short conversation they went into the morgue to examine the body. Not caring to see so ghastly a sight, I remained outside with Francis. In a quarter of an hour the doctor and the inspector returned, the former rubbing his hands with a well pleased expression, the latter looking somewhat astonished. What had passed in the morgue I know not, as Merrick refused to gratify my curiosity.

"Wait till you hear the evidence of Strent," he said significantly.

The jury was made up of well to do Marshminster tradesmen, who took a profound interest in the proceedings, as the dead man was the brother of Miss Bellin's future husband. The Bellins were the great people of the neighborhood, and the tradesmen hoped to serve the hall when Mr. and Mrs. Brairfield settled there. They were, therefore, excessively polite to Francis, but their frequent marks of attention only drew from him a bitter smile.

"Would they treat me in this way if they knew all?" he whispered to me.

"They will never know all," I answered in the same tone.

I had spoken to the inspector, and he in his turn had talked seriously with the coroner. The latter had been told the whole story, and though astonished at the folly of Francis yet found it in his heart to be sorry for the young man. He said he would not question Francis more than was necessary, and we hoped to carry through the inquest without exposing the underlying romance.

The first witness called was a local doctor, who deposed to having examined the body of Felix. He gave it as his opinion that the young man had died of poison and explained the state of the blood with a lot of medical technicalities which none of the jury understood. It was, said the doctor, a case of blood poisoning, and the deceased had been wounded in the hand by some sharp instrument which was steeped in poison.

I came next and narrated how I had staid at the Fen inn on that night and had met there Francis Briarfield, who was waiting there for his brother. Then I told of the discovery of the corpse and the finding of the arrowhead in the fireplace. I said nothing about my tracking the trail to the pool, and if possible we wished that portion of the evidence to be passed over in silence. Fortunately the jury were a dull headed lot and submitted quietly to the guidance of the coroner. He only asked questions pertinent to the death without going too deeply into the subject. At this point I produced the arrowhead.

Francis explained that he had arrived from Chile on the 6th of June and had gone at once to the Fen inn at the request of his brother Felix. His brother had not arrived on that night, and he had gone to bed. He was unable to say how his brother had come to his tragic end. Then came the critical point which we wished passed over in silence.

"Did you see your brother at the Fen inn, Mr. Briarfield?" asked the coroner.

"I did not see my brother alive," was the evasive answer.

"Perhaps the body had been put in the pool by the murderer," said one of the jurymen, "in which case Mr. Briarfield would not see him."

"I did not go to the pool on that night," replied Francis, adroitly evading the remark. "It was later on that I learned my brother's body was there and at once gave instructions that the pool was to be dragged."

At this point Mr. Briarfield was asked to stand down, and the inspector's evidence was taken. He deposed to the fact that Mr. Briarfield had instructed him to drag the pool for the body, and that it was found there.

ON THE ROAD to recovery, the young woman who is taking Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In maidenhood, womanhood, wifehood and motherhood the "Prescription" is a supporting tonic and nervine that's peculiarly adapted to her needs, regulating, strengthening and curing the derangements of the sex. Why is it so many women owe their beauty to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription? Because beauty of form and face radiate from the common center—health. The best bodily condition results from good food, fresh air and exercise coupled with the judicious use of the "Prescription."

If there be headache, pain in the back, bearing-down sensations, or general debility, or if there be nervous disturbance, nervous prostration, and sleeplessness, the "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble and corrects it. It dispels aches and pains, corrects displacements and cures catarrhal inflammation of the lining membranes, falling of the womb, ulceration, irregularities and kindred maladies.

"FALLING OF WOMB."

MRS. FRANK CAMFIELD, of East Dickinson, Franklin Co., N. Y., writes: "I deem it my duty to express my deep, heart-felt gratitude to you for having been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to health, for I have been by spells unable to walk. My troubles were of the womb—inflammatory and bearing-down sensations and the doctors all said, they could not cure me.

MRS. CAMFIELD.

This piece of evidence quite put the jury off the scent, as, if Francis had placed the body in the pool, he would not have told the inspector where to find it. The critical point was thus glided gently over, and the coroner called Rose Gernon. Once the jury knew how the crime had been committed, and they would forget all about the hiding of the body in the pool, so that the folly of Francis would not be made public.

I must say that Rose Gernon gave her evidence very clearly. She said she was an intimate friend of Felix Briarfield, a statement which rather shocked the moral tradesmen of Marshminster. Felix asked her to go down to the inn, as he had prepared it for his brother and wished to see him there about a family matter.

"But the inn was a ruin," interrupted a juryman. Miss Gernon said that was very true. Still it was habitable, and Mr. Felix Briarfield had sent on fuel and provisions. As the former proprietor had left all the furniture, the rooms were fairly comfortable. She could not say why Felix did all this unless it was that he wanted to see his brother privately.

Such talk was very weak, and the jurymen looked significantly at one another. They knew the Fen inn and could not conceive that any one could be so mad as to dwell in it even for a night. It was said to be haunted, and, though such a superstition might be scoffed at, yet not one of those present would have passed 12 hours of darkness in that ill omened place.

"Were you not afraid when you saw the lone inn," asked a juryman.

Rose shrugged her shoulders and laughed contemptuously.

"I am afraid of nothing," she said coolly. "There are no such things as ghosts. Besides I had my brother with me."

"Your brother!"

"Yes, Edward Strent."

The inspector gave a low whistle, and catching my eye nodded significantly. He remembered what I had said on the previous night, and now agreed with my theory that the secret of the committal of the crime lay in the relationship existing between Rose and Strent. They were, it appeared, brother and sister. I saw all kinds of possibilities now that such a tie was made clear. Meanwhile Rose proceeded with her evidence.

"Mr. Felix Brairfield came to the inn," she said, "after his brother had gone to rest. I saw and spoke with him and afterward went to bed myself. I understood that he was going to stay all night and see his brother in the morning."

"Was he alone in the room when you left him?"

"No. He was with Strent. An hour or so after I retired Strent came to my door and asked me to go down stairs. I did so and found Felix lying dead on the floor. My brother had left the room, and on going out at the back of the house I found him mounting the horse of Mr. Francis Briarfield. I asked him what had happened, and he just said Felix was dead and advised me to fly lest I should be accused of the murder."

"That, I suppose, was also the reason of his flight?"

"So he told me when I saw him in London, but he then declared himself innocent of the crime. I was afraid I would be accused of the crime, so took the horse and gig in which we had come to the Fen inn and drove to Marshminster. From there I returned to London."

"Why did you not give the alarm?"

"I was afraid of being accused of the murder."

Here the inspector whispered something in the ear of the coroner. He nodded and again spoke to Rose Gernon.

"Why did you not tell Mr. Denham where to find Strent when he was apparently guilty?"

"Strent is my brother," said Rose quietly, "and as he told me he was innocent I did not wish him to be arrested for the crime. But that he visited me yesterday and was seen by the men set to watch me he would never have been caught."

Her examination lasted some considerable time, but the coroner did not succeed in eliciting anything new from her. She persistently held to the same story, so in despair the examiner desisted, and she was told to stand down. In her place Edward Strent was called, and then for me began the most interesting part of the case. I knew all that had been said hitherto, but I did not know how the crime had been committed and waited to hear what Strent had to say. I quite believed him to be guilty, yet hardly thought he would accuse himself of the crime.

He first corroborated the story of Rose as to going to the inn and narrated all that had occurred up to the time when he was left alone in the room with Felix.

"When I found myself alone with Briarfield," he proceeded, "I had a quarrel with him."

"About what?"

"About my sister. He had promised to marry her, yet, as I well knew, was paying attentions to Miss Bellin."

"But Miss Bellin was engaged to his brother," remarked a juryman.

"I know that. It was about Miss Bellin he wished to see his brother. I insisted that he should marry my sister, and he refused. We had hot words. He was on one side of the table, I on the other. Between us lay the arrowhead which he had brought in his pocket."

"Why had he brought the arrowhead there?"

"I don't know," replied Strent, lying with the utmost promptitude. "He took the arrowhead out of his pocket, said it was poisoned and laid it down on the table."

"Do you think he intended to kill his brother because he stood in his way with Miss Bellin?" asked an inquisitive juryman of a romantic turn of mind.

"I really don't know, sir," replied Strent, looking the juryman straight in the face. "He said nothing to me. We were quarreling over the shabby way in which he had treated my sister, and the arrowhead was on the table between us."

"What was the position of the arrowhead?" asked the coroner, prompted by Merrick.

"It was leaning against a book which was on the table, and the point was uppermost. I said to Mr. Briarfield, 'Will you marry my sister?' and he said: 'No, I'm —— if I will.' While saying this he brought down the open palm of his hand on the arrowhead and gave a cry of pain. When he lifted his hand, it had a ragged wound across it from the thumb to the little finger. I wished to bind it up, but he pushed me away, crying out he was a dead man. In three minutes he was lying dead on the floor. I threw the arrowhead into the fireplace and tried to revive him, but it was of no use. He was dead."

"And you?"

"I was afraid I would be accused of the death, as Mr. Denham or Mr. Francis might have heard us quarreling together. I lost my head altogether and only thought of flight. I ran up to my sister's room and told her Felix was dead. Then I saddled the horse. When she came to the door, I was mounting. I told her to take the gig and fly to Marshminster, and that I would explain all in London."

"You fled like a coward."

"I suppose I did," said the man sullenly, "but I was beside myself with terror. I rode to Starby and gave the horse back to the livery stable keeper. Then I went to London and saw my sister. She agreed with me that it was best to keep quiet, so I did not come forward to give evidence. Had it not been for that detective who watched my sister, I should not be here now."

This evidence practically ended the inquest. Merrick was called to prove that the wound in the hand was such a one as might have been made by the downward stroke of the hand on a sharp point. This evidence was substantiated by the local practitioner, who had examined the body with Dr. Merrick. There was no doubt that the affair had happened as Strent said. Felix Briarfield had slapped his open hand on the table to emphasize his refusal to marry Rose Gernon. Unfortunately it came in contact with the poisoned arrowhead. The flint had an edge like a razor, and being steeped in virulent poison acted like a snake bite on the unfortunate young man. Felix had not been murdered, but died by misadventure.

That was the verdict brought in by the jury, and so the whole of this strange affair came to an end. Thanks to the astuteness of the inspector and the delicacy of the coroner, the jury were quite unaware of what had happened between the death of Felix and the inquest. The reporters of the Marshminster Gazette merely put in a short statement of the affair, and in a few days people ceased to take any interest in the Fen inn crime. It was a lucky escape for Francis, but I don't think the lesson was thrown away on him.

Rose Gernon and her brother went back to town the same evening. I never saw Strent again, but frequently had the pleasure of seeing his sister performing on the stage. She is now engaged to be married, but with the knowledge of her actions at the Fen inn I cannot say I envy the bridegroom.

After the burial of Felix I went abroad with Francis, whose health was quite broken down by the strain put on it during the last few weeks. He returned in six months and married Olivia. She was told all that had taken place in the lone inn, but kept the information to herself. Mrs. Bellin never knew that Felix had substituted himself for Francis. I was best man at the wedding by particular request and saw the happy pair start for their honeymoon. I hope they will be happy and am sure they deserve to be, seeing through what tribulations they have passed.

"What has become of the Fen inn?" asked Dr. Merrick one day when we were talking over the case.

"Oh, the Fen inn is pulled down, I believe!" was my reply. "There will be no more tragedies there."

"A fit end for such a shambles," said Merrick, and I think he was about right.

"Several years ago, my blood was in bad condition, my system all run down, and my general health very much impaired. My hands were covered with large sores, discharging all the time. I had no strength nor energy and my feelings were miserable in the extreme. At last, I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon noticed a change for the better. My appetite returned and with it, renewed strength. Encouraged by these results, I kept on taking the Sarsaparilla, till I had used six bottles, and my health was restored."—A. A. TOWNS, Prop. Cor Noble & 10th sts, Anniston, Ala

Congress paid Speaker Crisp a very high compliment when it unanimously instructed him to appoint himself one of the delegates from the house to the international monetary conference.

Rome, Georgia, has secured a seven hundred thousand dollar cotton mill. It is to be built by the Massachusetts cotton mills, of Lowell. This company had propositions from over seven hundred different locations in the South for this mill.

With cotton seed meal at $16,00 per ton, we are inclined to believe it would be profitable for those of our farmers who have saved cotton seed to use as a fertilizer, to exchange the seed for meal—that is if they can get as much as ten cents per bushel for their seed.

While plans are being arranged for an international silver conference, the silver men of the United States will continue to labor for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. They are not to be put to sleep by the talk of an international agreement.

We acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the minutes of the Alabama press association, which was kindly sent us by Mr. Roundtree, the secretary. The minutes are in pamphlet form, the arrangement and neatness of which, reflects much credit on Mr. Roundtree.

The Republican, of Jacksonville, Alabama, in its issue of January 26, contained a review of the agricultural resources and advatages of the surrounding country. One of the finest herds of Jersys in the South is in Calhoun county near Jacksonville.—The Southern States.

With the amendments which have been made to the election law, it is to be hoped that we will have no more frauds in the management of elections in Alabama. The time has come when the ballot box stuffer should either quit his meanness, or be given the punishment which the law prescribes.

All that is necessary to have a successful county fair at Oxford Lake next fall is for the farmers of the county to come together and put the ball in motion. The fair would be held for their benefit, and while all classes will help to make it a success, it is desired that the farmers lead off in the organization.

S. M. Adams, chairman of the executive committee of the People's party of Alabama, has called a meeting of his committee for March 12th., at Birmingham. The candidates on the Kolb state ticket last year are also requested to attend. The call states that questions of vital importance will be considered at this meeting.

Husbands will certainly be in demand now since Miss Gould paid three million dollars for her French count. After all, a good husband is a very good thing for a woman to possess, but three millions is a very good price to pay for one. No doubt many Alabama girls rejoice in the fact that it is not always necessary to pay so much to secure a husband, and not many of them are counting on a count.

We acknowledge the receipt of a copy of The Southern States, an illustrated monthly magazine, published by the Manufacturers' Record Publishing Co., of Baltimore, and edited by Wm H. Edmonds.

At the top of the editorial columns, we find this statement:

"The Southern States is an exponent of the Immigration and Real Estate Interests and general advancement of the South, and a journal of accurate and comprehensive information about Southern resources and progress.

Its purpose is to set forth accurately and conservatively from month to month the reasons why the South is, for the farmer, the settler, the home seeker, the investor, incomparably the most attractive section of this country."

The Southern States is a valuable contribution to current Southern literature, and, under the enterprising management of Mr. Edmonds will result in much good for the South.

RUND'S,
THE PEOPLES' FIRM.
1028 Noble St., Anniston, Ala.

Editor Republican:—Please state in your valuable paper that C. A. Gammon & Co., of Anniston, have bought the large Stock of Clothing, Hats and Furnishing Goods, damaged by fire, snow and water in the house of W. M. Gammon & Co., of Rome, Georgia.

Their house had to be vacated at once for the contractors. The sale was a forced one and we own the stock at such figures as that we can make the prices, even lower than those which created such excitement in Rome.

Will open in Anniston this week and will notify the people through your columns and give a price list of the stock. The prices made on these fine goods will be ridiculously low.

Yours truly,
C. A. GAMMON & CO.,
Anniston, Alabama.

Anniston in her desire to become a county site should not lose sight of the fact that a girls industrial school will be located in Alabama at an early date. A state institution of this character would be worth more to Anniston than a court house, and we are willing to help her secure it. We look upon her as an ideal place for the location of such a school.

If the young men and women in this section of Alabama who expect to teach school and who desire a better education than they can obtain in the public schools, will come and complete the course of the Jacksonville Normal School, they will never regret it. The graduates of this school secure good places and command splendid salaries.

The Republican made reference some weeks ago to the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, who at that time was visiting the city of Atlanta, and incidentally cited some peculiar characteristics of that reverened lady. She was in Washington last week, and assisted in, "preaching the funeral" of the negro Fred. Douglas. Whither are we drifting! One white woman stooped so low as to marry this negro, and others as if in sympathy with her degradation, are weeping with her at his bier.

The winds of silver are whistling merrily in the Northwest now. By and by they will gather strength in the East, and with velocity increased, will sweep on towards the South. Here they will be met by a powerful Southern silver current, and then—the whirl, the twist, the cyclone. Ah! then let the pernicious single standard tremble, and let monopolies—its devilish creations—quake, for they shall be torn by the roots from the soil of American freedom, which their foul growth has so long impoverished and polluted.

While Senator Mills has been classed among the cuckoos, Mr. Cleveland's plan of issueing bonds has been too much for him, and he demonstrated his disapproval by offering an amendment to the sundry civil bill prohibiting the President from making futher bond issues. Indeed, there are the smallest number of Mr. Cleveland's friends who attempt to defend his secret bond sale, by which he lost the United States about eight million dollars.

We are glad to note the interest which is now being manifested in working up an exhibit for Alabama at the Cotton States Exposition.

It will be a shame if Alabama should fail to be represented at this exposition, and we want to see all the people who feel an interest in Alabama's future development and prosperity go actively to work to arrange for such an exhibit as will be creditable to the state, and one that will demonstrate to the world that she has more natural resources than any state in the Union. Such an exhibit can and should be made.

An organization to promote immigration and general development has been formed at Jacksonville, Ala., with Genl. J. W. Burke, president, M. H. Lane, general manager, and J. F. Crook, secretary. Jacksonville is one of the most healthful localities in the South. It is beautifully situated in a picturesque and fertile valley where there are many thousands of acres of productive lands that can be bought at low prices. It is the purpose of the newly organized Jacksonville Immigration Association to procure the sale of lands in the neighborhood of Jacksonville to Northern farmers on easy terms.—The Southern States.

The platform adopted by the Democratic State convention of Michigan last week has the right financial ring about it. On the silver question, it says:

The Democratic party, in convention assembled, hails with delight the rapidly increasing sentiment in favor of the restoration of silver to the position it so long held in the monetary system of our country, and unqualifiedly declare in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold, with full legal tender power, at a ratio of 16 to 1, and we invite every patriotic citizen of Michigan regardless of previous party affiliations, to join us in an imperative demand for immediate legislation to that end, regardless of the positoin of any other nation with respect thereto.

We are now showing full line of Spring Goods, in prints, domestic and foreign Ginghams, Percales, Crepons, Outings & many new weaves in cotton goods.

So far as congress is concerned, the Democratic party has gone out of power. It goes out, too, with two of its most important pledges unredeemed. It pledged the people that it would enact a law to have both gold and silver coined without charge for mintage, or without discrimination against one metal in favor of the other; and that it would repeal the prohibitory ten per cent. on state banks.

With these two planks in its platform the people gave it control of all three branches of the government. After it had ample time and failed to redeem these pledges, it again went before the people, and received one of the most sweeping defeats ever given any party.

While the men whom the Democratic party placed in power failed to carry out the pledges of the party, they did not represent the wishes of those who placed them in power. The Democratic party is in favor of redeeming its pledges.

While the Democratic party is temporarily in the minority, it is the party of the people and will certainly rise again. It is the party of the constitution, and will live as long as the government lives.

Next year it will place aside those who have proven untrue to the principles and pledges of the party, and place before the people as Democratic nominees those about whom there can be no question as to their position.

The Democratic party has always been the people's party. It was founded upon principles which demanded equal rights, equal privileges, and honest methods in the management of elections.

We need to get back to the fundamental principles of the party, and then no party in the world can successfuly meet the Democratic party in a contest before the people.

WHEN congress adjourned last Monday the newspaper correspondents in the press gallery, to the number of 200, sang the doxology. The people in all sections of the country have taken it up and are yet singing, Praise God from whom all blessings flow.

MR. S. M. INMAN, of the firm of S. M. Inman & Co., is considered one of the most successful business men in the United States. Mr. Inman, at the close of the war, was a poor man, but by his business tact and foresight he has been able to amass a fortune running into the millions. He has just returned from a stay of one month in Mexico, and we gladly copy the following views which he expressed to a Constitution reporter, on his return from that country.

"'I took things leisurely,'' said he, "very carefully observing business and industrial conditions. I find that Mexico has prospered during the past two years, when business conditions in our country have been clogged, where they have not been actually going backward. Cotton in Mexico is selling at 16½ a pound in silver, which is equal to 8¼ cents in our money. I paid $7.50 in silver for a suite of rooms, which in this country would have cost $10 in gold. A suite of clothes, a pair of gloves, a hat, or any item of domestic necessity sells in Mexico for approximately the same amount in silver that we are required to pay here in gold. In other words, about half as cheap. This establishes very clearly to my mind the absurdity of the argument about silver being a depreciating currency. A silver dollar in Mexico will do what is done by a gold dollar in this country, and it has been the appreciation of gold and not the depreciation of silver which has brought about the disparity. I found the factories running on full time and a cotton factory at Orizba capitalized at $3,500,00 was paying from 20 to 25 per cent dividends. The people are contented and prosperous, and have not suffered from the general depression during the past few years. The truth of the matter is the silver currency of Mexico has acted as a splendid protection measure against outside depression, and, as it has resulted in Mexico, so it would be in this country if we would imitate the example of Mexico in this respect, and throw ourselves upon our own resources.''

THERE is a stampede now going on in the ranks of the cuckoo press. After awhile there will only be a few postoffice editors to claim the distinction of being original cuckoos. All the others will be ashamed The latest to discover the error of Mr. Cleveland's policy is the Alabama Courier. Referring to its conversion the Opelika News says: "That part of the Alabama democratic press which has refused to bow down and worship Grover Cleveland will, of course, welcome into its ranks the Alabama Courier. The Courier is a recent convert to the proposition that Mr. Cleveland's policy is a mistaken one. Until the last issue of that paper it has been one of the papers that was justly dubbed a "cuckoo."' —Montgomery Journal.

THE REPUBLICAN is heartily in favor of working up a state exhibit for the Cotton States Exposition, and is willing to cooperate in any movement that will be inaugurated looking to that end. Alabama is unquestionably one of the grandest States in the Union, and she cannot fail to be represented in Atlanta next fall. Let a state meeting be called to meet in Montgomery or Birmingham at an early date and arrange for an organized effort to work up a creditable exhibit. We believe if the proper efforts are put forth the necessary means to make a creditable exhibit can be secured. Let the commercial clubs of Montgomery and Birmingham lead off in the movement.

ALABAMA will pay into the treasury of the United States, through the tax on incomes, the sum of $50,000. Col. Foster, the collector has applied to the probate judge in each county for a tax list, in order that he may find out who are liable to this tax. For fear that some of our friends might be in too great a hurry, we take this opportunity of saying to them that they have plenty of time, as they have to the 15th., of April, in which to make returns. So all need not speak at once.

THE brokers on the floor of the stock exchange, in New York, suspended business at 12 o'clock on the 4th, and held a jubilee over the dying congress. Some howled, some yelled, and even the old gray heads danced out on the floor and did the "can can" with a few skirt dance attachments. This was the brokers' way of expressing a joy common to the American people.

TUSCALOOSA will make a strong effort to secure the Alabama Industrial school for white girls. She will probably offer the property of the Alabama Central Female college, which consists mainly of the old state capitol, the original cost of which was $180,000, and upon which $35,000 was afterward expended to adapt it to school purposes.

LESS guano will be used in Calhoun this year than for many years. Our farmers are determined to get out of debt.

BEFORE the adjournment of congress a bill was passed directing that a committee of nine, three to be appointed by the President, three elected by the Senate, three appointed by the speaker of the House, be elected to represent the United States in an international monetary conference. The Senate elected Mess. Daniel, Jones and Teller, all of whom are out-and-out silver men. The House by a unanimous vote directed that Speaker Crisp appoint himself as one of the members from the House. The Speaker appointed in addition to himself, Judge Culberson, of Texas, and Mr. Hitt, of Illinois. Speaker Crisp and Judge Culberson are strong silver men. Mr. Hitt, who was selected by the Republicans and recommended to the Speaker, is said to be friendly to the white metal. If Mr. Cleveland appoints three goldbugs, there will still be five out of the nine who are uncompromisingly in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver. The way in which this committee was made up does not please the President, but the majority will properly represent the United States.

THE REPUBLICAN confesses that it is in somewhat of a muddle.

Last week a neat packge came through the mails, addressed to the Literary Editor. On opening same a copy of Edison's Handy Encylopaedia was found. The entire force was marshalled and a diligent search was made that this fortunate creature, to whom the little volume was addressed might be found. All efforts at discovery were futile, and, however much the REPUBLICAN dislikes to do so, it fears that the book will have to be returned to Laird and Lee, 'Chicago, who so kindly sent it.

PROGRESSIVE farmers of the North and West who desire to locate in the South can find no better place to purchase lands than in Calhoun county, Alabama. The editors of the REPUBLICAN know several farms that can be bought at a bargain, and will take pleasure in giving any information to those who desire to purchase a home in this section.

FROM all over Alabama there is heard the cry, "more corn and less cotton.'' Farmers' meetings are being held in which resolutions are signed to cut down the acreage in cotton. Merchants report a decrease in the use of commercial fertilizers by one half. We are sure to make plenty to wear. With plenty to eat, what will be the matter with Alabama this time next year?

IT is said that Mobile has a greater number of men who will contribute to the support of the government under the income tax law than any other city in the state. If this law had struck Birmingham four years ago it would no doubt have headed the list in Alabama, but incomes in that city are off considerably to what they were four years ago.

ADVICES from Marietta, Georgia, state that a new paper mill is being built there. This recalls the fact that Jacksonville should have a paper mill. The pure clear water of Nisbet's Lake is especially suited, and the location is an ideal one.

ETOWAH now has a road law similar to Calhoun's, and hopes in a few years to have as good roads as we have in Calhoun now.

Election Notice.

City of Jacksonville.
Council Chamber.

At a special meeting of the city council of Jacksonville, Alabama, it was ordered that a municipal election in and for said city be opened and held at the county court house in the city of Jacksonville, on Monday, the 1st. day of April, 1895 for the purpose of electing a Mayor and six (6) councilmen for said city for the ensuing term of said offices. It was further ordered that Walter Dean, H. F. Montgomery and R. L. Vansandt be appointed managers of said election and that D. J. Privett be the returning officer of the result of the same.

Done by order of the council on the 6th day of March, 1895,

JOS. J. ARNOLD,
Mayor.

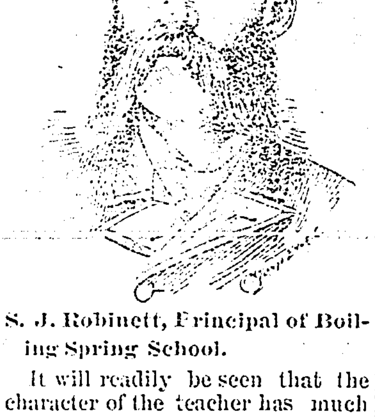
A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. A. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain balm. "I only made three applications of it,'' he says, "And have since been free from all pain.'' He now recommends it to similarly afflicted. It is for sale by dealers.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Our Public Schools and Their Teachers.

If the question "what class of society has most to do with the advancement of our people,'' should be asked, we do not doubt but that the fairest and most just answer would accord this honor, first to our christian ministry, and second to our public school teachers.

It is a fact, worthy of the attention of all our citizens, that the best index, to the moral, and mental worth of any community, is the character of the teachers to whom they intrust the training of their boys and girls. Some one has wisely said that every person with whom another comes in contact leaves an impression. Whether it be a friend at ones home, or a stranger on the streets, the impression remains. If this be true, one can begin to conceive of the lasting impress that is made upon the ready mind of the child, by the teacher who "goes out and in'' before it, each day of its school life. The mind of the little one, when it leaves Mother, for the school room, is indeed like the piece of "clay in the hands of the potter.'' It is a new world into which it makes its entrance—a world full of wonderful and strange sights and people. Timidly it looks out for some one to take Mother's place, to guide and direct it. Most naturally it turns to the teacher, and thus confides to him or her one of the greatest of all trusts—that of taking the young, pure, innocent mind of the confiding child, and rounding it into the strong, noble, courageous mind of the well developed man or woman. It is hardly necessary for the teacher to command, a nod or beck, answers the purpose. The child is watching his every moment, listening to his every word, and we might say fashioning his or her actions after the example set by the teacher.



S. J. Robinett, Principal of Boiling Spring School.

It will readily be seen that the character of the teacher has much to do with the character of the boy or girl when they have reached the age of man or woman hood.

It is necessary, then, that the citizens of a community should exercise the greatest care in the selection of their teachers. They should see that the teachers are competent, from an educational standpoint, to teach, and then they should know that their morals are such as to have an elevating and refining influence upon the minds of the pupils.

Calhoun County has much cause for congratulation. Under the wise direction of able educational superintendents, assisted by the good work of our State Normal School, she has raised the standard of our teachers, and today is doing more for the training of her boys and girls than any county in Alabama.

The interest that our public school teachers take in the institutes that are held in the county, attests their desire to improve every opportunity afforded them, to enable them to better understand the training of the youth of our land. Prominent among these teachers is S. J. Robinett, the energetic and able Principal of Boiling Springs School.

The subject of this sketch was born November 2, 1856, in Cherokee county, Ala. He afterward removed with his parents to Blount county, where he was brought up on a farm, receiving during youth, such instruction as the common schools of the county afforded.

He taught his first school in St. Clair county before becoming of age. Since then he has been teaching, and attending school as a pupil, till about three years ago.

In 1889 he entered Blount College, as both pupil and teacher, and graduated from that institution in 1892.

The success of his teaching is manifest when it is known that five different places were anxious to secure his services last fall.

His school at Boiling Spring is well attended and the people are becoming more deeply interested in education than ever before.

Notice to Teachers.

My next Pay Roll will be forwarded on the 19th inst., and all contracts should be sent in previous to that time. The white Teachers Institute will be held on the first Friday and Saturday in April, and the teachers are requested to be present at the opening, 10 o'clock, Friday morning, and remain through both days. Those who will not be ready to respond to their parts in the program prepared by the January Institute, and published in the REPUBLICAN—should notify the undersigned, by postal so he may secure others to take their places. A large attendance is expected as teachers will be paid off during the Institute. Colored teachers are requested to call earlier in the week for their pay.

"My experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla has been very effective. My little girl, five years old, had for four years a bad skin disease. Her arms and limbs would break out in a mass of sores, discharging yellow matter. She would scratch the eruptions as though it gave relief, and tear open the sores.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold,'' says Dr. Syrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. New York is one of the healthiest place on the Atlantic Coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it.'' Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretion and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by dealers.

HOOD'S PILLS cure jaundice, biliousness, sick headache, constipation and all liver ills.

Mr. Thomas Warters of Rome, Georgia, is making some of the finest cigars that are placed upon the market. The truth is, if one were to purchace his "Havana Pure" or his "Warters Hand Made," on the streets of a Cuban city, he could not, for his life, tell that they were not manufactured there. Smokers every where praise them.

C. A. Gammon & Co., of Anniston, have a quarter page advertisement on second page of our this week's issue. This firm now has a stock of goods before our people, at prices that are really wonderful. All that they ask is an immediate inspection of these goods. See the advertisement for a description. It is not necessary for us to introduce Gammon & Co., to Calhoun people. Their past trade with our folks has made them popular in every section.

WEAVERS.

Oat sowing is about through, and although the weather has been unfavorable, a right good crop has been sown.

No gardening has been done, hence spring vegetables will be a little late.

Mrs. J. R. McElreath, who has been suffering from a fall, is improving, but is not able to be up yet.

Miss Floy Moutgomery, of Jacksonville, is visiting the family of Mrs. McElreath.

The mother of our old friend C. D. Fite is still living, and is near one hundred years of age. She is generally in good health, and in pleasant weather, visits among the neighbors—walking most of the time. She retains her memory remarkably well.

Mr. C. D. Fite has a plow nag 29 ears old.

Mr. Bob Johnson, of Choccolocco, is visiting his old comrade, D. F. Weaver, this week.

The Southern Rail Road Company has treated our depot grounds to two car loads of sand and gravel.

Our schools are doing well. The following dialogue took place in one of them, a few days since, between the teacher, and a small boy whose recitation was in Mathematics:
Teacher, "Well, Johnny, proceed"
Johny, (fumbling with coat) "Uh! Uh!"
Teacher, "Why, Johnny don't you know how to multiply?"
Johnny, Yes'm but PERCENTAGE is what stumps me.

Brother Horton preached a good sermon in the M. E. Church here Sunday and said many good things for us to think about during the coming week. His text was, Luke, 19:10. "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

TREDEGAR.

Working the road is the order of the day.

Jacksonville slept until Anniston came in and took the best enterprise in this portion of the county,—the lime quarry at this place. If she still sleeps, Anniston will get the court house.

Miss Gussie Mann, of Fort Valley, Ga., our excellent school teacher, will remain in Tredegar after her school closes.

Mrs. L. Weaver, formerly of Jacksonville, is highly pleased with the country and farm life.

Rev. Thomas Nisbet will preach at Friendship church the third Sunday in this month. Public invited to attend.

Mr. A. Roebuck, of Birmingham, has returned to Tredegar.

Ed Nisbet has gone over to Colvin's mountain to work for Martin & Frank.

William Harris has the finest rye in the county.

MERRELLTON.

Jack Horton, Jr., of near Piedmont, killed six wild turkeys at one shot last Saturday.

We learn that several families who moved from Cherokee county to Texas last fall are coming back to Calhoun this spring.

We think your White Plains correspondent is right in his conjecture as to who wanted to vote on the court house removal. This section has not wanted to vote on it.

The sentiment of your Grayton correspondent are the sentiments of the Populists up here. We all remember the county convention in 92 when we were kicked out because we would not indorse T. G. Jones for Governor.

The REPUBLICAN said last week that Anniston would have to get several thousand more population before it got to be a county site. Dallas county last August actually cast 1,578 votes and returned 6,517 The rule now is for the smaliest population to count the largest vote.

We the populists, are fully determined, if possible, to put an end to frauds in elections.

BOOZER.

We have had rain, and a cold wind which retards oat sowing. We are sowing more this year than in the past.

The farmers are preparing for a crop this year without the use of guano.

Mr. John N. Phillips is still suffering from a fall during the sleet.

We were getting quiet over the matter of elections down here, but it seems as if we will have to vote again on the court house question. We old hayseeds have "not got any surtifcates" as they were destroyed at our last election. Nevertheless, they say we can vote anyhow. But what about the frauds of Anniston, how are we to stop that? Anniston is the only place that wants legislative pie, and she has it in a shape that she will get it, for she will roll up a majority without any trouble.

We hayseeds are not talking court house much, let the towns settle that question. It is a matter we are not much interested in.

Boozer & Bros., have a good stock of goods on hand, and are doing a good business.

Since wool has been put on the free list, sheep raising is becoming a business down here. Mrs. Harrison has two pet lambs, as have also Mrs. Stokes, and Mrs. Mayfield.

The health of the people is good with the exception of colds.

We have preaching first and third Sundays of each month.

DEARMANVILLE.

All of the oats sowed in the fall had to be sowed over again on account of the freeze. Farmers are about through with this part of the work.

Of late every question in this country resolves itself down to K. & J. party line.

Leesepter Seaman leaves this week for the "Lone Star State" on tour of inspection, returning with his aunt, Mrs. Loyd, who has been here on a visit to her old home for more than a month. He will remain there during the summer. Mr. Jasper DeArman, who came with Mrs. Loyd, will remain longer with his daughter, Mrs. E. S. Seaman.

The long terms and small territory of the Anniston City Court draws largely on this beat for jurors. And yet others are willing to serve at the price, and don't complain if they have to go to Jacksonville to serve. It used to be that men avoided jury duty.

Notwithstanding the almost unprecedented bad weather, the roads of this beat are in good condition. Our overseer was Weather-ly. This accounts for it we suppose.

FERGUSONVILLE.

Mr. J. P. Wakefield's farm bell rings loud and clear at an early hour these mornings.

Our hustling saw mill men, Mess. Clements and Aderhold, and Rouse & Co., are making good use of the fine weather.

Mr. D. N. McEachen is making some valuable improvements. He is widening the road, and building new plank fences.

S. P. Howard, road overseer, has ordered his hands to work the road next week.

Some excitement prevails in our neighborhood about our friends who are in Navarro County, Texas. We fear they are exposed to small pox.

ALEXANDRIA.

Mr. McLeod, of Anniston, was here on business a day or two last week.

Miss Bessie Martin has returned to Nashville.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Crook, Jr., paid a short visit to Mr. Crook's parents a few days ago.

The Methodist of Alexandria are trying to secure the removal of their parsonage to this place. We hope they will do so.

Mrs. Elrod has gone to Collinsville this week on a visit to her parents.

Mr. John Wakefield, who has been so very ill, is thouhgt to be improving slowly.

Mr. John Rowland was in Alexandria Tuesday.

Our school has enrolled more than eighty pupils.

TAMPA.

We are having our own typical spring weather again, and the farmers are sowing oats, plowing, etc. Road working is also on hand.

Miss Person's school will close this week. Then, like Mr. Squeer's pupils, the children will have opportunities of making practical application of their knowledge of botany.

The general sentiment of this community is against Mr. Kelly for forcing a vote on the removal of the court house.

The many friends of Miss Trannie Cross will be glad to know of her return from Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Tarvin spent Sunday in Tampa.

Mrs. Chas. Grace, of Ga., is visiting her father, Mr. A. J. Cross.

Mr. Geo. Brittain and son E. J. Brittain, have moved to their new home, a short distance from Tampa.

Mrs. Rachel Treadwell is still sick.

Mr. R. J. Angel had a "log rolling" Tuesday. One of the country social gatherings which most of our town cousins have probably never participated in.

We trust you will keep the ball rolling on the court house question, and come out victorious. Politics should not have any part in it.

A gentleman from New York was here last week looking for mineral and timber lands.

Mr. Simpson, of Choccolocco Valley, has moved to his new home—the farm purchased of Mr. Wesley Propst, adjoining R. J. Angel's.

OHATCHEE.

We are having beautiful weather now and the farmers have improved their fences and are beginning to fix for crops.

Quarterly meeting begins at Ohatchee Church, on Thursday, March 14, at one o'clock, p. m. Mr. Wilson, the new pastor, presiding.

Ohatchee has a new county bridge that adds to its looks, as well as being most useful to its people. Many thanks to Mr. M. N. Coker.

Rev. B. B. Nunnelly is in Anniston on a business trip this week.

Mr. Charles Nunnelly is back from Florida visiting his father. He says Florida is hurt by the freeze so badly that it will take years for it to fully recover.

CANE CREEK.

Mr. Will Green and Miss Lee Tate were married at the residence of the bride's father Thursday, February 28th.

The latest proposition is that we move the state capital to Anniston. Also, as they have so much lawing to do, that the penitentiary be moved there. We would like to have the court house at Polkville.

So far I have not seen a man in favor of moving the court house.

Our Dick truly says every dog has his day. Dick has had his day, and a short one it was, and now the night of political oblivion has settled down on him forever.

J. C. Francis killed three hogs recently, sixteen months old, weighing [illegible] pounds.

C. Wadham caught last week seventeen partridges at one time in a trap, and master Hep Francis nineteen, and now they both whistle the Bob White.

Wonder how Scarbrough stood that pressure! Who are the people?

A PROPELLING FORCE

In Natures Storehouse For Suffering Humanity.

J. D. Thompson, Anniston, Ala.: "The Electropoise has cured me of neuralgia, indigestion and a complication of other ailments which had so completely wrecked my nervous system that my life was a burden. I had been sick for twenty years. I realize that the Electropoise is a propelling force in nature's storehouse for suffering humanity. It is nature's remedy, whose effect is so silent, so sure and yet so mysterious that it is justly termed the wonder of the age."

SOUWILPA, ALA., AUG 11, 1894.
I have used the Electropoise with unfailing success on my family and friends, curing a long list of diseases, without medicines. Among them were milk leg, measles, la grippe, several kinds of fever, chills, old sores, colds, violent pains, ect. The Electropoise takes the place of doctor and drug store.
A. J. ROGERS.

S. B. White, Jacksonville, Ala., June 23, 1894: "We have been using the Electropoise about four years. and are well pleased with it."

MOSLEY'S LETTER.

The Island of Porto Rico.

Porto Rico is one of the most northerly of the West India islands, and is located between 17°50′ and 18°30′ north Lat., and 65°35′ and 67°10′ west Long.

It is an island of towering mountains, and beautiful valleys. San Juan, or, as we English say, St. John, is the capital, and is one of the prettiest cities in the West Indies. The inhabitants are principally Spanards and negroes.

The cheif industries of the island are the growing of sugar, fruits, tobacco, rice and cattle.

It is a grand sight to unacquainted eyes, to stand upon the deck of some mail steam ship from New York, as she makes the round to San Juan, thus making a complete tour of the island. This voyage around the island takes about five days, the vessel stopping one day at each port to discharge the mail and cargo, and take on what sugar, fruits and other produce there may be ready for shipment.

The entire coast of the island is dotted by beautiful mansions of the wealthy planters. Each dwelling occupies a position that affords a view of the sparkling Atlantic. A fascinating pleasure it is, to sit upon the veranda of these costly dwellings, and watch the shining sails of the distant ships that are driven by that balmy breeze of this southern clime. Now and then the smoke stack of some steamer throws its clouds of smoke against the back ground of the skye, as the vessel plows its way through the waters.

Porto Rico, in my estimation, is the prettiest, as it is the wealthiest and healthiest, of the west India Islands. It is very much like our American cities to hear the whistles and bells of the locomotives in the streets of San Juan and Mayaguez. There are in the island, seventy-five miles of railroad, the traffic of which is chiefly confined to the transportation of sugar, molasses and fruits to the coast. There are numerous sugar refineries on the island, and their towering chimneys—like so many minature volcanos—pouring vast quantities of smoke up towards heaven, add to, rather that detract from, the picturesque appearance of the island. All the sugar, however, is not refined there. Each week five or six ship loads leave the part for our Eastern refineries in New York, Boston, and other cities.

Porto Rico is quite a winter resort for Northern people, who go there in September and remain til May. Our Northern schools are patronized by the islanders, and there are quite a number of students constantly traveling back and forth from New York, some on their way to the universities, others on their way home.

The Porto Ricoans of are an intelligent people, and the negroes there are educated far better than the American negro. These negroes seem to belong to a higher class than ours and are very apt and quick to learn.

The religion both in the cities and in the country, is the Roman Catholic. The Prostesiant mission has, as yet, not entered this territory.

SELMA TIMES FOR FREE SILVER.

IT LIKE GOV. OATES HAS CUT LOOSE FROM GROVER.

What It Has to Say of Joe Johnston on the Silver Question.

The following editorial appeared in the Selma Times one day last week. It speaks for itself:

Has Gov. Oates turned his back on Grover Cleveland? This is a question that a good many Democrats are asking themselves. In an interview in The Advertiser Gov. Oates says that

"Mr. Cleveland is an honest "man, full of patriotism, a Demo-"crat in principle, yet he utterly "refuses to be a party leader, and "as president he leaves the party to "take care of itself."

The logical meaning of this sentence, coupled with the mild criticism of Mr. Cleveland in the preceding part of the interview, means that the party is 'busted' and that the President is responsible therefor.

This interview, coming as it does at this time from Governor Oates, would signify that he has cut loose from the President and henceforth would paddle his own canoe. This looks a little significant when you recall the fact that Gov. Oates rode into the gubernatorial chair on the back of Grover Cleveland and Dick Clark, a Cleveland man. But for the Cleveland democrats supporting him as they did he would never have been governor of Alabama.

THE TIMES has no harsh criticism of our worthy Governor along this line, but congratulates him that the scales have at last fallen from his eyes and that he sees Mr. Cleveland in his true light.

Up to and after the repeal of the Sherman act Mr. Cleveland had no warmer friend than the writer. We felt that he was going to call congress together and after repeal was accomplished that he would write a message, the bimetallic ring of which would electrify the the country. Instead, the soft, sweet mono-metallic sound of gold, so dear to the heart of the New York and Boston capitalist, rang out strong and vigorous on the southern and western air, and the hopes of the friends of the money of the constitution were frozen before the sound had died away.

Gov. Oates's interview means more than that. He is presumed to be a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Mr. Pugh. Is it possible that Gov. Oates has seen the hand writing on the wall, and hopes to be caught up on the rising tide of anti-Clevelandism, and thus be swept into the goal of his ambition—a seat in the senate?

Grover Cleveland was ahead of his party when he wrote his famous tariff message, and he was hurled from power. Joe Johnston was a little premature when he penned his celebrated anti-Cleveland letter. From what Gov. Oates says in his interview it would seem that the people are about to catch up with his views, and even Gov. Oates, the strong friend of Cleveland and the beneficiary of his popularity, is about to go over to Capt. Johnston's way of thinking. What will be the outcome of all this in Alabama politics?

YOUNG SPIRITS,

a vigorous body and robust strength follow good health. But all fail when the vital powers are weakened. Nervous debility and loss of manly power result from bad habits, contracted by the young through ignorance of their ruinous consequences. Low spirits, melancholia, impaired memory, morose or irritable temper, fear of impending calamity and a thousand and one derangements of body and mind, result from such pernicious practices. All these are permanently cured by improved methods of treatment without the patient leaving home.

Party Pledges.

The easiest and surest plan to disrupt any party organization, and bring to it defeat, is to disregard the pledges made the people either in its platform or by its nominees.

When a party goes before the people and pledges that it will do certain things, and on the strength of the declarations contained in its platform is placed in power, it cannot then fail to carry out its pledges without breaking faith with the people and calling down their condemnation.

When a nominee of any party goes before the people without a written platform and pledges the people that he will or will not do certain things, he not only pledges his sacred honor to the fulfilment of his promises, but his promises as the nominee carry with them the pledges of his party; and by disregarding his pledges, he not only subjects himself to criticism, but proves an enemy to his party and gives it a cowardly stab from which it may not recover for years.

There is no question but the great load which is weighing down the Democratic party to-day is its broken pledges; and upon the heads of the men who have been instrumental in breaking these pledges will rest a curse for the disruption of the Democratic party.

THE United States Senate got on a "jag" Thursday of last week, and some of the members made just such an affair of it as might have been witnessed some forty years ago in the grogery of a country town on Saturday evening. The only difference is that there were no ears or noses bitten off, and no eyes gouged out.

Chandler, of New Hampshire, led off in an attack on New York elections, saying that they were forms of electionering larceny, and intimating that Senator Hill had been concerned in them. He branched out and attacked Martin of Kansas, and Roach of North Dakota, and staggered over towards Alabama, when Senator Morgan gave him to understand that he was out of his sphere. By the time Chandler had taken his seat, David Bennett took the floor. He said that Chandler had something on his stomach (Mr. Hill was, doubtless correct) and that it was necessary to get the vile stuff off. He could forgive him for the attack on himself (so characteristic of Hill,) and for his remarks about Martin of Kansas, but he could never forgive the cowardly and malicious attack on Mr. Roach. He said that Mr. Chandler's action, in digging up and bringing to light, a member's unfortunate mistakes, were but the acts of a human hyena. "Honest John" Martin's blood was boiling by the time Hill sat down, and jumping to his feet, he intimated that Chandler bought his seat in the Senate, and said that, if one half was true that had been related of him, Chandler, instead of being in the United States Senate, should be in the penetentiary. That he was a buzzard among men.

Mr. Hill then made a few remarks and the Senate adjourned.

Thus do our Senators, when debate is dull, and interest lags, amuse themselves upon the floor of the Senate—which Mr. Gladstone calls "the most remarkable of all the inventions of modern politics."

CONGRESS has adjourned, and the people may thank God for it. Not that Congress has done anything, the doing of which, will result in damage to the people, but that Congress has done nothing. To a nation clamoring for relief, it has been deaf. To people "begging for bread, it has given stones." To millions of appeals for action, it has joked, and fussed, and played away its time. It has been a mimic congress—a disgrace to our government. What a pity now, that its "revels are ended," the whole thing cannot vanish into "thin air," and, like some "mystic pageant faded, leave not a rack behind." How deplorable that history must burden itself in recounting its mistakes.

The New Assessment Law.

There has been a growing sentiment in Alabama for several years in favor of changing the plan of assessing the property of the state.

This question was one of the most important before the late General Assembly. It was discussed in all its bearings, and there was a great diversity of opinion as to the character of law that should be enacted.

After considerable discussion, a bill was passed, the most important new features of which are as follows:

The Mayor and Council of every municipality having one thousand or more inhabitants, shall appoint two appraisers of property situated within the corporate limits of such corporation, who shall be paid by said municipality two and a half dollars per day for every day's work performed. These appraisers shall, whenever notified by the assessor, examine the property within the city, and meet the assessor or his deputy at his second appointment in said city and then and there the two appraisers and assessor shall appraise and value every piece of property in the city.

A county board of equalization is established in each county composed of three members selected as follows: One appointed by the Governor, one by the county commissioners, and the other the county tax assessor elected by the people under existing laws. The member appointed by the Governor shall hold his office four years; the member elected by the county commissioners shall hold for two years; the tax assessor shall be member of board during his term of office. The member appointed by the Governor shall be chairman of the board, and the assessor the secretary.

The compensation of the County Board of Equalization shall be as follows: The assessor shall receive the commission now allowed him.

The chairman shall receive three dollars per day while actually at work; which shall be paid by the state. The member elected by the county commissioners shall be paid by the county.

The assessment of taxes must commence on the first day of October, and close by the first day of February following.

The assessor's book must be completed by the first Monday in May, when the Board of Equalization will convene at the court house, and proceed to the equalization of the taxes after the same manner as is now done by the county commissioners.

The assessment of property this year will be under the old law, as the assessment had already commenced before the new law was enacted.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctors being unable to help her, I induced her to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle, she was cured, so that now she is quite strong and healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life, I have not the least doubt."—K. MORRIS, Memphis, Tenn.

IT is conceded on all sides that Tom Reed will be the speaker of the next house.

GOVERNOR OATES has appointed Captain Vaiden, of Uniontown, as his private secretary.

IT is now generally conceded that Governor Peter Turney will retain his seat as the chief executive of Tennessee. Col. Evans has issued a manifesto in which he calls the contest a farce, and disclaims all responsibility for it.

THE Oxford Lake Line has put the ball in motion for a county fair next fall, and it is the duty of the people of the county to fall into line and make the fair such a success as will reflect credit upon Calhoun county and the enterprise of her citizens.

OUR goldbug friends tell us that Mr. Cleveland's policy has given us sound money. But has it benefited the people? When has this country ever before experienced a panic of such length as has prevailed for the past two years? We want a sound money that will lift this depression and bring an era of prosperity.

GOVERNOR OVTES says Mr. Cleveland is not a leader. The Montgomery Advertiser says he is. Now what? We are inclined to the opinion that the Advertiser is correct. For Mr. Cleveland certainly did lead the Democratic party to an overwhelming defeat last year. His financial policy if adopted in the next national convention will lead the party again to defeat in 1896.

Now we ask a question. If the Count de Castellane wears corsets—and it is affirmed that he does—when his Prince Albert coat, now in the age of frills and ruffles and crinolene, shall have completed its evolution, and shall have assumed all the features of a ladies skirt, how will the Count and Countess distinguish their wearing apparel? We fear that we are able to see a cloud of contention and rivalry on the horizon that bodes no good for their married life.

SOUTH CAROLINA is having a heated contest over the election of delegates to her constitutional convention. It is the expressed purpose of the Reformers or Tilmanites, to pass such an election law as will disfranchise the negroes. The conservatives have taken position against such an election law, and the negroes are coming to the support of their ticket. The recent legislature required a new registration and the negroes are having considerable trouble in registering. The registrars are all Tilmanites, and it is said are doing all in their power to prevent the registration of the negroes.

WE publish this week, a copy of the "act to prevent deception in the manufacture and sale of imitation butter."

The REPUBLICAN advocated the passage of this bill and mailed copies of its issues touching upon the same, to senators and representatives. It believes that this act will result in great good for the farmers, and feels sure that it will save a great industry—that of the dairy—from being destroyed by the fraudulent manufacture of imitations.

We trust that the next legislature will go still further and make some provision for inspection and prosecution, not only of this fraud, but of all others, such as the adulterations of the feed stuffs, bran, meal and chops.

THE idea that China's effort and failure to obtain a war loan, is an illustration of the bankrupting effect of silver, is farfetched and absurd. The average school boy who has studied the elements of geography and history knows better than this. He early learned of the wall of ignorance with which China has surrounded herself, and his teachers have pointed him to her as an example of a great nation—by nature—that was abusing or neglecting its opportunities. He has been told time and again that this policy of China would, if continued, make her always a "hewer of wood and a drawer of water" among nations. Now, that Japan, is victorious on every battle-field, and China seems to be on the very verge of political dissolution, it is a bold distortion of facts, to attribute her failure to secure a loan, to silver's influence.

THE causes of the agricultural depression which now exists, is one of the most important problems before the American people. Realizing the importance of this question, before congress adjourned a committee from the House was appointed to inquire into the causes of the prevailing agricultural depression. The majority of this special commitee in its report, says:

"It is unnecessary for the committee to enter into or dwell upon the fact that agriculture is depressed in every branch of this most important industry; that the values of land and farm surroundings, unless under exceptionally rare conditions, has depreciated steadily as the purchasing power of the dollar has increased. But while the value of property retained by the American farmers have decreased in 30 years from nearly one half of the total wealth in 1860 to less than one fourth in 1890, of which 30 per cent is now under mortgage, taxes have steadily increased and debts now require four times the labor to be paid off than was then required. The purchasing capacity of the dollar to secure the farmer's land and his produce has increased fourfold, while the power to pay his taxes and debts have remained at a standstill. In 1873 wheat sold from $1.55 to $2.55 a bushel, according to Spofford's almanac. In New York, in 1894, it sold at 50 cents."

Discussing the causes of the depression the committee says:

"Class legislation of the worst character encumbers the statute books, and has been carried on to the detriment of agriculture and its dependent industries for 30 years, culminating in the crime of the age, the demonetizing of silver in 1873. The demonetization of silver was a bold stroke in the interests of capital that has reduced the value of every product in the world. This is conclusively proven by the fact that just as silver has depreciated, in like proportion have all other values fallen in the scale. Silver bullion today has the capacity to purchase as much wheat, cotton, pork and corn, and land, and every other commodity that it ever had, therefore the depreciation of the white metal simply means the depreciation of every article under the sun, with one single exception—the gold of Shylock.

"The tariff system is not only unequal but as for the past 30 years [illegible] in this country. It [illegible] to the consumer and has built up trusts, combines and gigantic corporations that have not only attained [illegible] wealth at the expense of the people, but who have assumed to control and direct legislation so as to perpetuate their power and gratify their greed. The tariff bears with undue weight upon the producer of agricultural staples, as it forces him not only to buy in this market but to sell in open competition with the world's lowest prices. Agricultural depression is still further augmented by the sale of futures on the stock exchanges where the grain gamblers grow rich by farming the telegraph wires and selling wind, while the honest and industrious toiler on the prairies reaps the whirlwind. Food adulterations add millions annually to the farmer's losses and compel him to meet in competition the thief. To these might be added other causes, but the principal ones to which agricultural depression and stagnation in trade is due have been cited.

"The remedy lies in remedial legislation and until that is secured relief will not come permanently.

"To secure relief we suggest: First, that silver should be remonetized at the ratio of 16 to 1. Second, that so long as the present unjust and unequal system of protection continues, that agriculture should receive its just proportion, and as this cannot be secured by a protective tariff, that a bounty on exported agricultural staples should be allowed similar to that on fish in 1813 and for which John C. Calhoun voted. Third, that gambling in futures should be prevented by law. Fourth, that a national pure food law should be enacted."

BUT for the fact that the court house removal question has been unexpectedly forced on the people, this would be a year of rest from elections in Calhoun. The news comes from nearly every beat in the county that the people did not want an agitation of the removal of the court house this year.

THE Reformers made a strong fight against Mardis Wood's municipal ticket in Selma last week, but were not successful.

TO ADVERTISERS

The subscribers of the REPUBLICAN are the best people in the county,—a class of people with whom it pays to advertise. Than it there is no better advertising medium in this section of Alabama.

THE REPUBLICAN.

NOW FOR THE EXPOSITION!

A Chance For 4 of Our Readers to Get a Free Pass.

The REPUBLICAN offers a free round trip pass to Atlanta during the Exposition, with a free entrance to the grounds of the Exposition for seven dyas, to the subscriber who will send us the greatest number of cash subscriptions between March 15th, and October 15th, 1895.

To each of its subscribers sending the second, third, and fourth greatest number of cash subscriptions between said dates, the REPUBLICAN offers a free round trip to Atlanta during the Exposition.

Now let every BOY and GIRL whose parents are subscribers—for we count them eligible in the contest—go to work and send in the names.

A trip to the great Exposition will be an education.

The name of the canvasser if sent with a cash subscription will count in the contest.

Subscriptions to the REPUBLICAN and Constitution will also be counted.

If all those who wish to enter this contest, will write the REPUBLICAN [illegible] a letter giving some valuable information which will aid them in securing subscribers.

The contest closes on October 15th., and the prizes will be issued on any date the winner requires.

He's With Us.

The Cane Creek correspondent of the Jacksonville Republican advocates the moving of the State capital and State penitentiary to Anniston, too.—Anniston Hot Blast.

The above heading is the Hot Blast's. Yes, "he's with us." But the Hot Blast inadvertently failed to reproduce what our Cane Creek correspondent had to say. As it makes very interesting reading matter, we reproduce it to show how "he's with us." Here's what he had to say:

"The latest proposition is that we move the state capital to Anniston.

Also, as they have so much lawing to do, that the penitentiary be moved there. We would like to have the court house at Polkville.

So far I have not seen a man in favor of moving the court house.

Our Dick truly says every dog has his day. Dick has had his day, and a short one it was, and now the night of political oblivion has settled down on him forever."

Tramping Home.

A SPECIAL from San Antonio, Texas, says that on the 5th inst., twenty-five negroes—members of the party which recently left Alabama and Georgia for Mexico—passed through that city on their way back to their old homes.

We predicted, at the time that this imigration party set out for the Land of the Aztics, that the negro's love of early environment would soon bring him back to the cotton fields and water melon patches of Alabama and Georgia. Our prediction was a true one. There may be a few who can cut loose from home and be content to roam in foreign lands, but as a class, the negro is an illustration of the truth of the old saying, "whar de chicken's hatched, dar he's gwine ter roost."

THE county correspondents of the REPUBLICAN for the past few weeks have given a clear idea as to the sentiment of the peopie on the question of removal of the court house.

Phantasmagoria.

"In spite of all that the free silver men can say the fact remains that the silver countries of the world are on the verge of bankruptcy, and have been hard pressed for many months. There is the Argentine Republic, a silver nation, its very name derived from "argentina," which means silver—see how it has suffered. It was caught in a financial catalysm that engulfed it in financial ruin and caused a tremulous thrill in every civilized nation in the world. Its financial disturbance created a wave of distress that swept round the world, as did the tidal wave caused by the convulsion of nature at the isle of Samoa. Take any silver country and see its distress. Look at China begging a paltry war loan and being kicked out of every monetary center in the world. Look at the distress in Russia, Italy and India. The Texas counties bordering on Mexico see the debased coin of that country, and are for sound money. The truth is that the free silver craze is like an opiate—it dulls and benumbs the body politic; it creates in the mind beautiful mirages that are never realized; it builds castles in the air that cannot find a tenant; it suggests gorgeous dreams that are never fulfilled; it produces phantasmagoria as beautiful as fleeting; it sees at every step the purse of Fortunatus, and it hears at every syllable of the demagogue the open sesame to fabulous wealth".

The above tragi-comic effusion of the Age-Herald, which finds its immediate source in the speech of Col. McClure, delivered in Birmingham on the 8th inst., is very "full of sound and fury," the significance of which is nothing.

It is a fact that The Argentine Republic was engulfed in what seemed to be financial ruin a few years ago, and it may be true that the "disturbance created a wave of distress that swept round the world." This disturbance had its origin in the Argentine Republic, and was most violent there. About the same time the present "financial squeeze" in the United States began.

Argentine is a silver country, and the United States a gold country. Now which has best borne the strain?

The Argentine Republic is today in the most prosperous condition in her history. Agriculture is thriving; railroads are extending; desirable immigration is taking place; cities and towns are building; all trade is thriving.

Let us now know something of our selves under the fostering influence of a gold standard. Here no silver craze exists. We paint the picture. Agriculture groans under the burden of unjust discrimination; railroads are falling, one by one, into the hands of great monopolies—those damned commercial curses; capital is timid, and like the cattle upon the western plains, that on approach of the disastrous norther, fly for safety to the canons, it has congested itself in Wall Street; trade is at a standstill. A dark, damp, chilling, cheerless night of financial distress has dropped its gloomy clouds around and over us, and the only star that breaks its way through and sheds a ray of light upon the dismal scene, is the effulgent, scintillating, glorious, cheering, "lone star" of silver.

"Look on this picture and on that."

THE proposed county fair is beginning to assume practical shape, but in order to make it a success, the farmers in all portions of the county must be interested, and we suggest that a meeting of farmers be held in Jacksonville to reach those in the upper portion of the county, and one in Oxford or Anniston to reach those in the lower part of the county.

WHEN the mule of the farmer which two years ago was worth $100 is placed on the block by the sheriff and sold for $10., it is very clearly demonstrated what the gold standard has done for the people of this country who are in debt. And who is it that is clear of debt?

EVERY man in Alabama who can should contribute his dollar to make such an exhibit at the Cotton States Exposition as will demonstrate to the world that Alabama in her natural resources is the grandest State in the Union.

THE Calhoun county farmer who has an idea of selling out and going to Texas next fall, had better abandon such an idea, for those who have gone from here there are doing not probably as well as they were here.

THERE is much talk now among the gold bugs about an honest dollar. Certainly it is not a very honest dollar which increases the indebtedness of the people at least one hundred per cent.

LAST January at a meeting of the People's party it was decided to establish a newspaper in Calhoun county, and a committee appointed to make arrangements for its publication. Since then the committee has been at work securing subscribers, and from the following circular letter, which was mailed to all the beats last week, it will be seen that the paper will be started at an early date:

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., Mar. 9, 1895

We, the committee appointed at a meeting of the People's party, at Four Mile, on January 12th, to arrange for the publication of a People's party paper in Calhoun county, have secured a sufficient number of subscribers to justify us in starting the paper, and the first issue will be published on Thursday, March 21.

The committees in the different beats will please secure all subscribers possible within the next week, collect subscriptions and send in.

Address all communications to Dr. W. A. Skelton, Jacksonville.

Respectfully,
G. W. LANDERS,
S. G. WRIGHT,
W. A. SKELTON,
Committee.

THE Age-Herald remarks that "the Texas counties bordering on Mexico, see the debased coin of that country and are for sound money." Well, we havn't been in Mexico. Don't know whether the Age-Herald has been there or not (she's been to several places, the hands of a receiver for instance,) but judging from the expressions of Col. Robinson of the Mexican Central Railway, and Col. S. M. Inman, who say that under the silver standard Mexicans are trading in Mexico, we are rather inclined to think that it is not so much the silver standard of Mexico that is doing the develment with those Texas counties, as it is the gold standard in this country that has cut off their Mexican trade. The Mexican takes his silver dollar in his own country, and buys a dollar's worth of stuff; if he steps across the border, into these Texas counties he gets only one half dollar's worth: therefore he comes no more, and the Texas neighbors pocket book is flat.

Might we not aptly call on Easop to illustrate. The border counties of Texas are the fox that lost his tail in a steel trap. Mexico has not yet been caught, and the border counties are now attempting to make the impression that this tailless state is a good one.

Too thin! Too thin!

THE Birmingham Age Herald was sold again, for the second time on last Monday, and Frank [illegible] came its purchaser. This time, Mr. O'Brien paid $23,510 for the plant, a considerable raise on the last sale. Mr. O'Brien will assume control of the paper, and promises that as soon as the new outfit, which he has purchased, arrives, the paper in every department will be improved. So mote it be.

UP in Ohio the office of school councilor is open to the election of women, and women are allowed to vote for candidates to this office. It appears that there is a provision in the law, that those desiring to vote, must tell their ages. Now it is well known that the ordinary female voter is as wary of telling her age as she is shy of a mouse. The result is that these fair Ohio amazons are showing fight. They declare that the law is unfair, and that they will fight it to the end.

Election Notice.

City of Jacksonville, }
Council Chamber. }

At a special meeting of the city council of Jacksonville, Alabama, it was ordered that a municipal election in and for said city be opened and held at the county court house in the city of Jacksonville, on Monday, the 1st. day of April, 1895 for the purpose of electing a Mayor and six (6) councilmen for said city for the ensuing term of said offices. It was further ordered that Walter Dean, H. F. Montgomery and R. L. Vansandt be appointed managers of said election and that D. J. Privett be the returning officer of the result of the same.

Done by order of the council on the 6th day of March, 1895,

JOS. J. ARNOLD,
Mayor.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. A. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "And have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to similarly afflicted. It is for sale by dealers.

TALKS GOOD DOCTRINE—

Improve The Farmers, Give Him Free Silver, and less bonds

Now you see we are going to have a fair, dont you? It will be held this fall at Oxford Lake. The Lake Line Co. waited a reasonable time for others to accept their free offer of the grounds, buildings, &c., and finding them slow in catching on to the splendid offer, determined and has announced, that there will be a fair under the auspices of the Lake Line. Every body is invited to participate, and assist in making the fair a success. The date and other particulars will be announced later. You can begin now to prepare your exhibits.

Our folks down here are going into stock raising with a vim. Dr. Bullard, Mr. Allen, and Lonie Maye, have already procured some of the very best Poland China hogs. Major Constantine has bought a fine Berkshire, and a Durham heifer. As to chickens there is almost every variety, from the Langshan that grows so high you cant hear him crow, to the Bantam that ought to be killed to stop the breed. There's no end to Jersey cattle down here, and fine mares and colts will be on hand from this vicinity. In fact, if people in and around Oxford dont carry off most of the prizes, others will have to hustle, and keep a hustling.

There is less guano being sold here this season than I have seen for the last fifteen or twenty years. I judge that our farmer friends have decided that five cent cotton wont pay for cultivation and guano both. They cant make cotton without guano, and cant buy guano; therefore they will plant less cotton.

Oxford is noted for early gardens, but this year, the rain and cold have kept gardening back.

The moon had a hard time Sunday night trying to get up an exhibition. She was booked for a total eclipse. It came off but it was so obscured by clouds that about the only visible effect was the extreme darkness about ten oclock. She, however, left an appointment for another exhibition in September, at which time we hope for fair weather.

Some friends were argueing upon the currency question a short time since. I said to them that I favored the free coinage of silver, and that about the only use made of gold these days was the purchase of U. S. bonds. As I did not need any bonds in my business, I wanted lots of silver and green backs. I can buy any thing with silver and greenbacks except government bonds. I want every thing else more than bonds, therefore, give me silver, and class me on the silver side.

As a Doctor Does.

The one great fault with all Liver Pills is that they act suddenly and sharply instead of quietly and continuously. They produce a violent relief and then leave you weakened, with an empty stomach and no appetite for food. This is not what a doctor does.

Every physician prescribes a powerful remedy for a disordered liver, but he then orders also a strengthening tonic, which acts as a purifier, restoring the appetite, toning up the system, and making you feel like a new creature.

This is exactly what is done by Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills and Ramon's Tonic Pellets. Two boxes, two separate medicines, and both at the cost of one. A three weeks' treatment for 25c. Ask your druggist about it.

At all dealers, or mail, for 25c., 5 boxes $1.00

"About four years ago my wife was troubled with salt rheum. Although we tried nearly everything it got worse instead of better and spread over both of her hands so that she could hardly use them. Finally she commenced to use Hood's Sarsaparilla and when she had taken two bottles her hands were entirely healed and she has not since been troubled. "Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Syrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. New York is one of the healthiest place on the Atlantic Coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretion and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by dealers.

Notice to Confederate Soldiers and Widows.

Under an act of the recent Legislature, all confederate soldiers and the widows of deceased confederate soldiers, who made application for a part of the appropriation last year, 1894, are not required to make application this year. The application you filed last year (1894) will draw this coming fall. You must however file your application again next year (1895) before the 1st. day June in order to draw for the year 1896. This does not interefer with your drawing in anyway, but prevents having two applications on hand at the same time. Now this is as plain as I can make it to you, and if you do not understand, simply understand, that you do not make application this year 1895.

If any person who is entitled to draw failed to make application last year (1894) for the year 1895, they can still make application, and I am ready to take the same, and they will draw this year. Only those who did not apply last year, and they must come and make application before June 1st, or they will be too late for 1895.

A. J. Tarvin, of Ohatchie, was in Jacksonville on business, Monday. Mr. Tarvin is a prosperous merchant and farmer of the western part of the county. He is a great advocate of paying more attention to the raising of grain and live stock. He has on hand, for sale, one thousand bushels of corn more than he will need.

J. V. Liles was in town on Saturday last with a wagon load of as fine sweet potatoes as one could wish to see.

Mr. Liles is a good farmer, and is an earnest advocate of "less cotton, and more corn, pork, potatoes and other food products. He raises quantities of potatoes and molasses, and finds a profitable market for them.

Quite a number of our people were out on Sunday evening to witness the moon's eclipse. While watching her entrance to the shadow, and remarking the darkness that came suddenly over this part of the earth, the idea occurred to us, that if light should break forth, many stories, similar to that of the fellow who kissed his girl in a railway coach as it passed through a tunnel, would be told.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness" —a trite old saying in which there is a world of truth. There is nothing that will better show our citizens appreciation of the same, than the use of the white wash brush and the barrel of lime. If an example —by analogy— of its effectiveness be desired we point to the "pozzonied" faces of the young ladies of the country. Take the white wash brush, then, and give the faces of the old houses, the fences, and the tree trunks, a coat of powder.

The graveyard in Jacksonville deserves more attention from our citizens than it gets. It is by nature a beautiful spot, and with a little work each year, aided by the decorating hands of our ladies, it could be made more lovely. Why not all turn out this year, and lend our encouragement to the project of making it one of the most attractive features of our little city.

The Young Ladies Bachelor Club met at Mrs. Alexander's, on Monday afternoon. We predict for them a longer life than a similar organization in the state of Georgia. This society across the border incorporated in its constitution, an article forbiding gossip, the result of which was dissolution before a month had passed. Our society, if we are correctly informed, fosters gossip. A long and happy life is assured.

PIEDMONT.

Some of our enterprising citizens have been gardening, and have a promise of "sass," in the near future.

Piedmont has been noted in days past for its lovely flowers; every lady almost owning a pit, and feeling great pride therein; but this terribly cold winter has killed almost every thing in that line.

Mrs. Henry Woolf, of Knoxville, Tenn., has been visiting relatives in our city.

Miss Brothers, a charming young lady from Jacksonville, visited Miss Myrtle Algood, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. William Ferguson paid a flying visit to relatives the last of the week, on his way from Atlanta, to his home in Cal., via St. Louis. He was a prey to the light fingered gentry in Atlanta who relieved him of all superfluous baggage.

Will Harris has accepted a position with the Plant Co., at Port Tampa, Fla., and left for that place a week ago.

T. Ben Kerr, a rising young lawyer, went over to Birmingham last week, and was admitted to practice before U. S. Courts.

Miss Lou Elgin is expected home this week. She has been visiting her sister, Mrs Sherrill, at Hartselle, for a month.

Miss Josie Reid is visiting her cousin, Mayor McClelen, and family.

There is a young lady in our town who is the recipient each week of a box of lovely roses. All the way from Wilmington, Deleware, at that! Suspicious, is'nt it!

Germany and Ireland, represented by Theodore Hoffman and Pat Gasser, had a scrap on the street the other day. Germany wanted some "mountain dew" and thought Ireland would be a good messenger. Ireland hied him away to the abode of one Maxwell, and returned minus whisky and money, reporting that the Phillistines had fallen upon him and relieved him of his change. Germany was incredulous, and blows followed thick and fast. The cloud of war has now passed away, and the sun of peace again sheds his beams.

Two of our worthy citizens, Jeff Roundtree and John Huff, are enjoying the hospitality of the Jacksonville jail, so I learn. More of the blind tiger's work. He is an awful "critter" to be sure.

Dr. W. T. Morgan will locate at Noah, near Centre, for the practice of his profession.

Dr. Miller, of Gaylesville, was a visitor at the Seminary last week. Mrs. Miller is a boarder there, while she persues the study of drawing and painting, under the supervision of Mrs. Little.

Mrs. Joseph Greer, of Knoxville, Tenn., visited her sister, Mrs. Stephenson, at the Seminary last week.

Mr. Frizzel has moved into Miss Witherspoon's new cottage at the foot of reservoir hill.

Mr. Hurt will move down from the springs, and occupy the house vacated by Mr. Frizzel on Railroad street.

On Saturday night an entertainment, for the benefit of the Methodist Parsonage society, was given at the High school building. Although an amateur performance the acting was well done, and it was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The first play combined pathos and humor, and the last, a farce, kept the audience in a roar. Miss Hunt's recitation, "How he apologised," was enjoyed immensely, and displayed elocutionary power of a high order.

CHOCCOLOCCO.

Farmers are quite gloomy over so much rainy weather. They are through sowing oats, and very few of them have done any breaking yet.

A number of the farmers in this section will not use any guano this year.

I suggest that the citizens of Calhoun county hold a mass meeting at Anniston, on Saturday the 23rd, and see if we cannot get up a good county fair. We, as farmers, need encouragement, and we should have a county fair at Oxford Lake next fall and see what we can do for ourselves and for old Calhoun.

Now let us put aside all prejudice and come together and have a nice fair, and see if we cannot get up a better feeling among ourselves.

I would like for all your correspondents to express themselves about a fair, and all meet the editors of the REPUBLICAN at Anniston on the 23rd. As the editors of this paper have urged the importance of the fair for several weeks, we know they are for anything that will improve the farming interests, and upbuild our county.

Rev. John Scott preached an able sermon here last Sabbath.

There are two preachers from Atlanta here this week. They are holding a series of meetings at Riddle's school house. They are known as Separate Brothers.

Mr. Emerson Scarbrough, of Austin, Texas, stopped over two days on his return from New York to visit his relatives in the valley.

Grandma English recently celebrated her 76th., birthday by giving a dining to her children.

Charlie Brooks is going to oversee the roads across the creek, instead of Willie Davis, who has been quite sick.

Len Greer has a cow that has gone mad. She was bitten by a mad dog about one year ago.

Green Brimer has lost all of his hogs. He says they died with quinsy.

Mr. Horton has again taken charge of his saw mill.

LADIGA.

The farmers here are very much discouraged; the weather having been so unfavorable, that they have done very little toward making another crop.

Health of this neighborhood is extremely good; do not know of a single case of sickness.

F. M. Savage has had his grist mill at this place put in running order, after a stand still of about three months. He has J. Knight employed as miller.

Mr. Lot Savage, who has been attending school in Jacksonville, returned home last week; he thinks it necessary to build muscle as well as brain, hence he will work the greater portion of the Summer on on his farther's farm.

Mrs. Love Steward was in Piedmont, the greater part of last week at the bed side of her mother, who was quite sick, but who is very much improved at this writing.

Mr Daniel Naugher and family of Cherokee Co., were visitors at Mr. William Stewart's last Sunday.

J. C. Graham has been in Birmingham, for the last two weeks, he is on the grand jury of U. S. Court.

D. C. Graham was in Birmingham a few days last week.

BERA—BEAT 4.

Good morning, Mr. Editor, and all the correspondents from the greatest even down to Sam Slim

Mr. H. W. Canada, Sr., who has been confined to his room for the last four years, is now in a critical condition.

We have heard of no one in this section buying, or intending to buy guano this year, which we think is a step in the right direction.

We have heard considerable discussion of the bill passed by the recent legislature to have a vote on the removal of the court house, but have not heard an expression from a single man in Beat 4 who favors the removal to Anniston. When the day comes we will vote with Sam Slim for the court house to remain in Jacksonville.

We have a good school at New Bethel, taught by Prof. Irvin Stovall. Also a literary society which meets every Saturday night, and we challenge Esq. Reid, of Morrisville, to come and bring all the sages from around Morrisville to spell against us.

Married, on the 3rd inst., by Rev. Mr. Bates, Mr. N. T. Scott, of Eulaton, to Mrs. N. C. Harrison.

Prof. M. C. Scott, of Coldwater, was a guest of Esq. E. J. Haynie a few nights since. He was here making preparations for a grand singing at New Bethel the 2nd Sunday in April. It is expected that all will bring well filled baskets.

Sunday School at New Bethel has gone into winter quarters we presume, as we have not heard anything of it for several months. Esq. Reid had better look after it.

Success to the REPUBLICAN and its editors.

PEEKS HILL.

Mr. J. D. Price and Miss Mary Parker were married a few days since.

Mr. Louis Box and Mrs. Ella Jones were married last week.

The two marriages above noted, close out our stock of girls in this settlement. Some new ones will have to come in, or some others will have to grow up. The boys who are left are uneasy.

Mr. H. H. Gray, of Attalla, is visiting his father at this place.

Mr. Jack Gilliland, of Tennessee, is visiting his father, J. H. Gilliland this week.

The farmers are preparing for a crop this year, without the use of guano.

We don't think that Anniston will hold the election when she canvasses the county, and sees how the people regard her, as she comes to them with broken promises.

She will not get the court house.

MERRELTON.

The Union prayer meeting in this community, meeting from house to house, has been kept up all the winter with very little interruption from bad weather.

Elder Thos. Nisbet preached a fine sermon on last Sunday, at Piedmont Springs church, to an attentive audience.

There was a large meeting of farmers last Saturday, in Piedmont, to take some action in regard to getting commercial fertilizers reduced in price, to correspond to the low price of cotton. They passed resolutions stating that unless they can get acid phosphate at $12.50 and guano at $16, per ton, or a certain amount of lint cotton, they would not use any this year. This is a move in the right direction, but we fear concessions rather late in the season.

MORRISVILLE.

[illegible] filled his regular appointment at Cane Creek [illegible] Sunday. His sermon was very good and seemed to be appreciated by the entire audience.

Farmers are very busy now. The bad weather caused many of them to get behind with their work, and it will require several weeks of good weather to catch up.

The predictions of a great many are, that we will have a full crop of fruit of all kinds this year.

I do not know of but one man who has bought any guano, or phosphate to be used this year in this section, and he purchased a [illegible]

Rev. W. F. McCain was visiting Rev. R. H. McCain on Tuesday.

Repairing fences seems to be the only work that can be done here now.

Why don't the commercial Clubs push the idea of making more and smaller counties? It seems to us that this would liven up things all over the state, and attract immigration.

We should like to have our friends give us some idea of cultivating and preparing broom corn for market.

The grand jury, at Anniston, adjourned yesterday.

Very little is being said here about a vote on removal of court house.

WEAVERS.

The rains prevent farming in this section. Very little plowing has been done.

Sweet potatoes were very much damaged by the recent freezes. Many are rotting and there may be a scarcity of good seed.

Some cotton is being sold here at 5¼ cents.

The health of our community is good

We are somewhat in the center of the county and the political questions of the day are not disturbing our people very much.

MERCURIAL POISON

Is the result of the usual treatment of blood disorders. The system is filled with mercury and Potash remedies—more to be dreaded than the disease—and in a short while is in a far worse condition than before. The most common result is for which S. S. S. is the most reliable cure. A few bottles will afford relief where all else has failed.

I suffered from a severe attack of Mercurial Rheumatism, my arms and legs being swollen to more than twice their natural size, causing the most excruciating pains. I spent hundreds of dollars without relief, but after taking a few bottles of S.S.S. I improved rapidly, and am now a well man, completely cured. I can heartily recommend your wonderful medicine to anyone afflicted with this painful disease.

Letter from H. L. Whiteside.

HOLLAND, TEXAS.
March 3rd, 1895.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN:—I have many times thought of my many friends in Calhoun county, and of the propriety of writing a letter for publication, that they might hear from us. After some delay and meditation on this matter, I write, hoping it will be appreciated in the spirit it is written, provided it meets your approbation to publish it.

We arrived here, 23rd., Nov., 1893, and got off of the train on Texas soil, with our baggage, and $94.38 cents in money, and a family of eleven.

With the money we managed to go to house-keeping, and live until after Christmas, but Santa Claus did not find us. We went to work, and having to buy stock, implements, seed, feed, provisions, and every thing on time, having already contracted a Doctors bill of $50, beside the medicines used in the case of a son who was sick on the way, our entire indebtedness to be paid out of the first crop, amounted to exactly $1,621,50, beside rents for land, (these figures differ a little from some statements in some of my letters but can be explained satisfactorily if any want to know.)

Well, of course, we didn't know what we would owe at the end of the year, nor did we calculate on getting less than five cents for any of our cotton. We economised and worked hard. Sowed four and a half acres in oats, planted twenty five in corn, and about sixty-six in cotton. We gathered of oats, probably forty dozen, per acre, corn about nine hundred bushels, cotton, forty-five bales, averaging a little over five hundred lbs., each. We did not quite get out of debt, but we raised our pork, and have our outfit to work with this year. We have better than an average tenant home, and a fair dealing land-lord.

We live near the eastern boundary of the Black land belt, where there are no pine nor persimmon trees, and vegetables scarcely grow. It is all prairie here. Along the creeks we have Elm, Ash, Pecan, and Hackberry timber for wood, but a few miles east, there are lots of Post-oak, and people here go and buy it for fuel. A great many, however, use coal in both cooking stoves and heaters.

There are a great many advantages in farming here, and then, there are many inconveniences, as compared to Calhoun county, Ala. I am well pleased, and my family are satisfied we can do better here than we could there.

Yours Truly,
HARVEY L. WHITESIDE.

P. S.—I forgot to state we had an addition to our family soon after our arrival here, and it is a girl. From the outcroppings of her disposition, I think she will be delighted to ride a Texas pony some day.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to add my testimony to the almost miraculous effect of P. P. Tobacco in Alabama.

Some time since we inserted a short "local" in our columns, stating that Hon. Hector D. Lane had kindly sent to our address, some packets of tobacco seed which we would be glad to distribute among our friends. A week had not passed away before all our seeds were gone, and we had enough applications to take as many more. Every day since then we have had requests for seed. We infer, from this eagerness on the part of our people to get these seed, that tobacco culture in our section, is becoming a subject of greater interest than it has been in former years. This being the case, we take this opportunity of laying before those of our readers who are interested, some facts on Alabama as a field for tobacco culture as well as some hints on its cultivation.

In a recent letter to the Dophin Times, Prof. Bondurant, the able agriculturalist of our agricultural college, at Auburn, says:

"From a commercial standpoint, I do not know of any crop that should pay the Alabama farmer better than tobacco provided its cultivation is undertaken in an intelligent manner and industriously followed up under the eye of intelligent men. It certainly is a crop that requires careful management from the time the seed are placed in the seed-bed up to marketing, and when it gets this kind of attention profit will be realized. The conditions, in my opinion, are far more favorable for the cultivation of tobacco in Alabama than in virginia, Kentucky and other old tobacco, states. Why is this true?

It can therefore be raised in the south under normal conditions.

With so many months as we have of warm sunshine it will reach its best development, and have the finest flavor. This is not the case in the old states; the tobacco raised there is raised under abnormal conditions. The season is too short for it to attain perfection. Much, has to be cut before it matures which gives to it a greenish color and disagreeable taste for smoking and chewing.

In raising cigar tobacco it is important to get foreign seed every two years, as these varieties seem to thicken up and get too coarse in a few years, when the plants are raised from seeds grown in this country. This difficulty, can be overcome largely by raising enough seed the first year from Cuban and other foreign seed to last for several years, and only use the seed raised the first year from foreign seed.

This has been my practice on the station here and deterioration in the Cuban and other foreign varities that I have experimented with."

Prof. Bondurand has prepared several bulletins on culture of tobacco, and anyone desireing to read them may have them mailed, without expense, by writing to the Secretary of the Experiment Station at Auburn, Ala.

Mr. J. K. Hawthorn writes the following article on harvesting and curing the tobacco crop, to the Conecuch Record:

As soon as the seed-pods appear well, break it off leaving fifteen to twenty leaves. (If the bud-worm has attacked a plant and injured it seriously), cut it off near the ground and let the succor take its place, which it will do well surprisingly.)

All the plants will not do to top at once, unless the sucker topping is made lower, which causes the leaves to spread too large. Suckers will soon appear after tapping, which must be broken off when three or four inches long. Some varieties put forth the third and fourth sucker; some only one crop. The Vulta Aliage is ready to cut after the second crop is removed.

Tobacco is ready to cut when yellow spots begin to appear on the leaves or when it will snap or break when the leaf is folded together and pressed between the thumb and finger. Cigar leaf is unlike plug leaf should not be overripe-better cut a day or two soon than let it get overripe.

HARVESTING TOBACCO.

The plant should be cut with a strong sharp knife "entire,, and not split as some do. By no means break off the leaves in the field as was the custom in Florida before the war. Leaves thus gathered "die", as it were, losing their elasticity and brilliancy. Gathering the leaves in baskets is popular in the bright plug tobacco districts, but in many respects, cigar leaf needs the very opposite from the plug leaf, the former wants to run 200 to 300 leaves to the pound, the latter twenty to thirty. The former needs humidity all the way from the seed to the cigar, and often water is used to wet the barn floor, whereas the other needs a furnace. Cigar leaf must be bulked almost "damp", the other most "dry", so let no one be led astray by agents of patent barns and flues from plug districts. Never cut tobacco while the dew or rain drops are on the leaves, as black spots will result. The best time to cut is the afternoon, as the sun is getting weaker, for in the foreanoon, unless cloudy, there is danger of sunburn, which will result in ten minutes just before noon. Before and after the plant is cut be careful to remove everey worm, as they will destroy the tobacco if taken in the barn. If the ground has not been cultivated for two or three weeks before cutting there will be a nice carpet grass on which to lay the tobbacco when cut. Do not lay it down on the sand or dirt; select a shady grassy place, and after it has wilted so as not to break, lay it very carefully on the straw on the floor of the wagon, and when a medium load is on cover with a sheet or some weeds so as to protect it from the sun while en route to the barn, where it must be placed on some straw very carefully, till the hand, who must remain there, has spread it on the laths and put it closely upon the bottom tier-poles, where it may remain till next morning, when it should be carried up and adjusted on the upper tier-poles. It should be put about six inches apart on the laths and they about seven or eight inches apart on the poles."

THE ONWARD MARCH

of Consumption is stopped short by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If you haven't waited beyond reason, there's complete recovery and cure.

Although by many believed to be incurable, there is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its earlier stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent. are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write those cured and learn their experience. Address WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N.Y.

An Act.

To prevent deception in the manufacture and sale of imitation butter.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, That no person by himself or his agent or servant shall render and manufacture, sell, offer for sale, expose for sale or have in his possession with intent to sell, or serve to persons, guests, boarders, or inmates in any hotel, eating house, restaurant, dining-car, or boarding house, or public or private hospital, school or penal institution, any article, product or compound made wholly or partly out of any fat, oil or oleaginous substance or compound thereof not produced directly and at the time from unadulterated milk or cream from the same which shall be in imitation of yellow butter produced from pure unadulterated milk or cream from the same; provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine in such manner as will advise the consumer of its real character free from coloration or ingredients that cause it to look like butter by having it stamped with its true name.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That whoever violates the provisions of Section 1 of this act shall be guilty of misdemeanor and, on conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $100.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

THE OXFORD LAKE LINE TAKES THE INIATIVE.

President Howard W. Sexton Wants Suggestions From Farmers of Calhoun and Adjoining Counties as to a Fair to Be Held Next Fall.

Next fall the Oxford Lake line will give an exhibition of farm stock, poultry and farm products raised in Calhoun and adjoining counties, and that it may be beneficial and attractive to the farmers, asks their cordial co-operation.

To that end it requests letters from them giving their views as to the features that should be given prominence, the plan that should be adopted and the time to hold it.

While the Oxford Lake line will offer cash premiums for the best display in the various classes, owing to the expense necessary in providing buildings, etc., these premiums, as a rule, will not be large the first year.

But the farmers should bear in mind the fact that the greatest prosperity among farmers is to be found in counties where fairs and institutes are regularly held and that it is the desire to excel and the observation of methods employed and results obtained by others that give the greatest real value to these fairs.

And provided, also that only one joint owner of any given tract may join in such petition.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That any person or persons residing within any proposed district or within two miles thereof, may contest the granting of any application or petition for the establishment of any full or partial stock law district as hereinbefore provided for, by appearing and filing objections to the granting of such application, on the day set for the hearing thereof. Such contestant may controvert any fact set out in said petition or he may resist said application or petition on the ground that a majority of the owners of the land to be included in said proposed district, who are over the age of twenty-one years, are opposed to the establishment of said district.

Sec. 3. That on the filing of any petition under the provisions of section one (1) of this act, the petitioners, shall give security for the costs of the proceeding, to be approved by such judge of probate, and on the filing of any contest to the allowance of any such petition as provided in section two (2) of this act, the contestant shall give security for the cost of the proceeding, to be approved by such judge of probate; provided, that in either case money may be deposited with such judge of probate as such security the amount of the deposit to be fixed by such judge of probate subject to increase or diminution on the order of such judge of probate regularly made in such proceeding on the minutes of said court of probate.

Sec. 4. That on the day set for the hearing of such petition, or on a day to which such hearing may for good cause be continued, the judge of probate must hear the petitioners and contestants, if there be any contest filed as required by section 2 of this act, and any witnesses they or either of them may offer, the petitioners having the right to open and close as in suits at law, and on such hearing if it is shown that a majority of the owners of the land in said proposed district, over the age of twenty one years, are in favor of said district being established as prayed for in the petition, then the judge of probate must make an order on said petition granting the same, and shall at once have a notice of the granting of said order, describing the boundary lines of said district, posted at three public places in said district, or, if it is shown on such hearing that a majority of such land owners do not favor the establishment of such district, then said judge of probate shall make an order on said petition denying the same.

Sec. 5. That from the decision of the judge of probate of any such petition, where the same is contested, an appeal lies in favor of either party to the supreme court of Alabama, to the city court of Anniston or to the circuit court, as the party praying the appeal may elect and on the trial of any such petition either party may also by bill of exceptions present for review conclusion and judgement of the judge of probate on the evidence, and the supreme court, city court of Anniston or circuit court, as the case may be, shall review the same without any presumption in favor of the correctness of the decision of said judge of probate on the evidence, and if there be error, shall render such judgement in the cause as the judge of probate should have rendered, or reverse and remand the same for further proceedings as to such appellate court shall seem right, such appeals to be governed by the law applicable to appeal from the probate court to the supreme court so far as applicable, Provided, that such appeal may be heard after ten days notice to the adverse party.

Sec. 6. That on and after thirty days from the date of an order made by said judge of probate establishing a stock law district in which no stock shall be permitted to run at large, it shall not be lawful for any stock to run at large off the premises of the owner thereof in the district so establishing a partial stock law district, or one in which no hog, sheep, goat or calf shall be permitted to run at large, then on and after thirty days from the date of such order establishing such partial stock law district as aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any hog, sheep, goat or calf to run at large off the premises thereof in the partial stock law district so established: Provided, that no order establishing a stock law district shall go into effect until the costs thereof as hereinafter provided shall have been fully paid to the judge of probate.

Sec. 7. That in all districts where a partial stock law shall be established under the provisions of this act, in districts where only hogs, sheep, goats and calves are prohibited from running at large, and in all pastures for stock in such full stock law districts, any fence made of three rails, fastened to trees or post which trees or post shall not be over ten feet apart, shall be a lawful fence, provided the wires, planks or rails, as the case may be are not over fifteen inches apart and the top wire, plank or rail shall be at least four feet from the ground.

Sec. 8. That at any time after establishment of a partial stock law district hereinbefore provided, any owner of land included within such district may join with the owners of land included in said district, or with owners of part of said land and the owners of other contiguous land not included in said districts in a petition to the judge of probate to change said district to a full stock law district, or for the establishment of a full stock law district and such petitions shall be governed in all respects by the provision of this act in regard to petitions for full stock law districts; Provided that such proceedings shall not affect the remainder of such district not included in the petition for such new district.

Sec. 9. That within sixty days after full stock law district is established under the provision of this act, each landlord or person owning or controlling land within any such full stock law district so established, shall unless otherwise agreed between him and his tenant in writing provide free of charge, to each of his tenants who has a cow, ox, horse or mule, and who resides within the limits of such full stock law district, an enclosure not less than two acres, for the use of such tenant as a pasture for his cow, ox, horse, or mule; Provided, that any landlord may provide one enclosure for all his tenants and provided further, that after the expiration of such sixty days after the establishment of any full stock law district, any landlord, or person who owns or controls land in any such district so established,

Dr. Broadus Dead.

Dr. J. A. Broadus, the great American Baptist preacher, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, at Louisville, Ky., died at his home in that city on the night of Saturday the 16th. inst.

Dr. Broadus was a great preacher, a great teacher and a great writer. He has preached from the Baptist pulpit in all the great cities of America and Europe. As president of the Seminary at Louisville he was known the world over. As an author he has been a great favorite, and his "Preparation and Delivery of Sermons" has been deemed of such merit as to be used as a text book by all denominations in their seminaries, both in this country and abroad.

A Greater Man Than the Fourth of July.

Last Sunday was St. Patrick's Day, and the Sons of Erin had to postpone, what is probably the most pleasant part of the celebration, until Monday. The coming of St. Patricks day always brings with it the recollection of the story so often told of the Irishman who chanced to land in America on the Fourth of July. Every one, on every side, was talking and shouting about the glorious Fourth. The Irish lad, thinking that they were celebrating the glory of some departed hero, grew angry that the name of the good Saint Patrick was no where to be heard. Siezing an hilarious passer-by, he said to him that he had "a gallon of good mountain dew which he would wager, that Saint Patrick was a greater man than iver the Fourth of July was."

THE Montgomery Advertiser and the Birmingham Age-Herald, wrapped in each others arms, now slumber peacefully in each others arms, and over their couch the golden god, whom both adore, keeps vigil. What strange bedfellows politics sometimes makes!

The Advertiser and Mr. Cleveland.

In a comment last Tuesday on the REPUBLICAN's criticism of Mr. Cleveland, the Montgomery Advertiser again displays its intolerance for the man who will not bow the knee and worship at the shrine of its little god.

The REPUBLICAN has never failed to applaud Mr. Cleveland in any effort which he has made to have carried out the pledges contained in the platform upon which he was elected. Neither has it failed to censure him when he has given his influence to defeat the promises made in that platform.

We have never yet so far lost confidence in the Democratic party as to believe that any one man was greater than the party.

We have never yet reached that point in hero worship to do as does the Advertiser. It in dealing with Mr. Cleveland has adopted the motto, "the king can do no wrong." It regards him as infallible. It can see no wrong in him. It applauds every act he performs. When he, through the patronage of his office, stopped the coinage of silver in the United States and thus reduced the values of all properties in this country, the Advertiser said he was right. When by a strict party vote the Democrats passed a bill to coin the silver seinorage, and when nearly all the prominent Democrats in the United States urged him to sign the bill, and assured him that a veto of it meant an overwhelming defeat in the then approaching congressional election, and he with I-know-all-and-you-know-nothing-manner turned the back of his hand to the entreaties of his party, the Advertiser even then threw up its hat and said its god was right, and that Stevenson, Crisp, Morgan, Oates, and all the rest of the party were wrong.

Here is one of the instances where we insist that Mr. Cleveland led the Democratic party to defeat. It was so evident that this action on the part of the President would sweep the Democratic party out of power, that Col. Oates left his canvass for the nomination for Governor and went to Washington and plead with the President to sign the bill. With the recollection of this, it is not strange that Col. Oates should insist that Mr. Cleveland is not a safe leader.

After the Democrats had passed by a strict party vote the best tariff bill this country has had for a quarter of a century, and when Mr. Cleveland largely destroyed the benefit which would have accrued to the Democratic party by refusing to give the bill his signature, the Advertiser even then bowed the knee and said Mr. Cleveland was right. This is another instance in which we think the President demonstrated that he is not a safe leader.

After Mr. Cleveland had made his secret bond sale and lost to the United States thereby eight million dollars, and had been censured for this secret sale in all quarters by both Cleveland and anti-Cleveland men, the Advertiser even then said he had done the proper thing.

As the Advertiser can see no wrong in its king, we presume, that while in the humble churches all over the land the people bow weekly and pray for purity of life in those who are in authority over us, that it will insist that it is right in the President to persist in such a life as will result in the sending out from Washington such specials as this:

"Private advices from one of the president's party on the Violet is to the effect that there has not been much shooting or fishing, but that those on the little steamer are having a jolly good time of it. They are to return the latter part of the week.

In talking about these presidential junkets, an official who has been a guest on one or two of them said today:"

"Naturally some of the time on these little trips is whiled away at games of cards. Of course it's a small limit—just enough to add interest to the game. Gresham," he continued, "is the best player I know. Carlisle plays a good game, too, but he is just a little timid. Gresham plays boldly, but discreetly, and is always a winner. Mr. Cleveland plays a bold game, but he is excitable and plunges sometimes when the cards are running a against him. Of course in the little game no one can lose or win to any amount. But, do you know, there is nothing that so thoroughly indicates the character, disposition and force of a man as a game of poker."

"The Jacksonville REPUBLICAN is as virulent towards Mr. Cleveland as if its name indicated its politics." —Montgomery Advertiser.

And the Advertiser, on the other hand, is as servile in its worship of Mr. Cleveland as if it had been hired.

THE good people up at Jacksonville are getting their dander up too early. We don't intend to move the court house down before November anyway. They should keep cool for a few months. The contest will be hot enough when we do get into it.—Hot Blast.

The good people of Jacksonville are perfectly cool. Since they have had reports from all portions of the county they have no fear of the court house being removed to Anniston.

If reports which come this way from Anniston be true, our friends in Anniston are already sick of the agitation of the question of removal and realize their defeat.

It is not strange that they should not want to hear the question mentioned for several months.

WHEN the mule of the farmer which two years ago was worth $100 is placed on the block by the sheriff and sold for $40, it is very clearly demonstrated what the gold standard has done for the people of this country who are in debt. And who is it that is clear of debt—Jacksonville Republican:

It's very bad that the poor farmer had to sell his mule, but suppose the mule had died and the farmer was in the market for another—could he not buy at 40 per cent of the price paid a year ago? This may be only an optimist's view of the matter.—Age Herald.

Oh yes, and if the poor farmer's cotton crop should be a failure, he could enter the market and buy cotton at 46 per cent of the price paid when silver was coined in the United States.

This argument is about on a parity of all evidence offered in support of the gold standard.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. A. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "And have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to similarly afflicted. It is for sale by dealers.

THE Selma Times, speaking of the halting policy which has characterized our party of late, closes with the following statement:

We have just quit 'deliberating' and are ready for 'action'; but don't want to "play the fool," nor do we wish the democratic party to do so. We want good money—and a heap of it: gold, silver, greenback, bank notes, bonds, etcetera; and if there is anything better, we'll be satisfied with a good deal of that. We think we voice the majority.

James, thou reasonest well. The time for action is indeed come—"terribly late, it may be, but portentiously sure." This policy of "will do-ism" is a failure, and men who are free to speak, all over this country, take the same view of matters as that which you express.

A Million Friends

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds. If you have never used this Great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money refunded. Trial bottles free at all the drug stores. Large bottles 50c and $1.00. For sale by W B Arbery 1

THE defeat of the Democratic party in the last congressional election was due to the effort of party leaders to force republican doctrine on the party. It was not due to a change of the people as to their adherence to Democratic principles. The Democratic party is the only party to which the people can look for relief from the burdens which now weigh them down, and in order to bring about the needed reforms, it is only necessary for the men in all portions of the country who voted with the Democrats in 1894 to fall back into line and place in power next year men who will be true to Democratic principles, and who will faithfully carry out Democratic pledges.

ANY man who can read and understand the English language can not fail to see a difference in the financial planks of the Democratic and Republican platforms of 1894. But we would like for some one to mark a difference between the men who oppose the free coinage of silver and the Republican platform? And we challenge the Montgomery Advertiser and the Age Herald to draw a distinction between their position on silver and that of the Republican platform of 1894? There is no difference between a gold standard Democrat, and gold standard John Sherman.

Telegraphic messages from Edwardsville say that on Tuesday evening Judge Box suffered a stroke of apoplexy, and since then has been lying at the point of death.

This is sad news to the people of Jacksonville and Calhoun county. Judge Box has been a regular attendant as Judge of the Circuit court at this place, for more than twelve years. During that time he has won the good will of all, and has established the reputation of learned and just Judge.

We trust that the tone of the messages may change before our next issue, and that we may be able to report a favorable change in his condition.

WE publish this week, the full text of the stock law which was passed by the recent legislature. We have devoted more space to its publication than may seem proper to some of our readers. When they consider, however, the great interest that the thousands of farmers in Calhoun are taking in the matter, they will recognize the fact that we could devote the space to no worthier subject.

Anniston didn't register but about half of her voting strength for the municipal election. The permanent location of Calhoun county's court house is a question that will interest every one of us and not a man's vote will then be missing.—Hot Blast.

We, however, venture the assertion, that there will have to be a large importation of voters, before our sister city will get the court house.

While we are on the topic, we will request the Hot Blast to call upon Mr. Kelley and have him give the people of Calhoun, his interpretation of the court house bill as to whether in the election upon the court house, every elector will be allowed to vote, or only those who registered in the last state election.

Sunday School Work.

As previously announced, a meeting of the executive committee of the S. S. Association was held in Anniston last week. The subject of Beat Organization and the Home Department were discussed. There were quite a number of interesting reports made of the work done in the past. It was decided to try and get a good delegation to attend the meeting of the State Sunday School Association which meets at Mobile the last of April. It was also decided to call a meeting of the vice presidents and the executive committee in the Church of Christ, on 11th St. near Wilmer, Anniston, Ala., at 11 a. m., Sunday, March 30th.

The grand good work is moving on and each one of the officers is urged to be present that his beat may receive the benefit that is sure to come to all who attend.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Syrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. New York is one of the healthiest place on the Atlantic Coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretion and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by dealers.

New Lung Treatment.

The new lung remedy, discovered by Dr. Copeland and now administered at the Copeland Medical institute in deep-seated lung troubles, seems to finally solve the problem of the correct treatment of incipient consumption. It is not only saving life in Atlanta; it has not only restored hundreds of pale sufferers from lung trouble among our own people, but its remedial potency and the correctness of the philosophy upon which it is based have been abundantly attested in practice elsewhere, and by leading lung specialists in every great city in the country, earnest commendatory expressions from whom will shortly be presented to the community. The advantages of the improved treatment are a regular and permanet feature of the Copeland system.

Let it be clearly and distinctly understood that Drs. Copeland and Howald

Not only treat and cure catarrh,

FROM ALL SECTIONS OF CALHOUN.

FERGUSONVILLE.

Health of the neighborhood is good.

Farmers are doing but little on their farms, on account of so much rain. Some improvements in the way of farm houses, fencing etc., in this community.

Mess. S. A. Rouse & Co., will soon move their sawmill two miles west on C. Martin's premises.

Mr. Thomas Clements has a new partner in his sawmill (Mr. Geo. Donahoo) which makes a hustling team in business.

Owing to so much rain, our road overseer has suspended work for a few days.

Rev. W. S. Griffin preached a good sermon at Cane Creek church on last Sunday.

Mr. S. S. Simpson was at home with his parents last Sunday.

WEAVERS.

Notwithstanding the gloomy prospects for making a crop, there have been sold here two carloads of commercial fertilizer. Our people had better go slow.

Little gardening has been done yet.

The oats that were harrowed in during the few pretty days in February are looking well.

Mrs. Hugh Dothard is now improving, and it is thought, by her physician, that she will recover.

Mrs. McElreath improves slowly.

The wheat which was apparently killed by the freezes, is coming out and gives promise of a fair crop.

R. E. Weaver, of the L. & N., made his parents happy this week by spending the night at their home. Good children have a great promise.

T. L. Weaver, with teams and hands, is doing some good work on the public roads.

The present road law is a good one, and Calhoun will soon have roads that will greatly enhance the value of property within her borders.

CANE CREEK.

Frank and Lewis are having good time at the dances. Sometimes the partners aint ready, and then again there is a mud hole, and matches come handy.

Two weddings booked for the near future.

Aint it funny how some people will claim the earth? The idea of saying, "He's with us." Why man, what's the matter with you? I am entirely willing for you to have the capital and the "pen," and Dick—our own dear Dick—thrown in; but when it comes to the court house, you cannot get it now or ever. Jacksonville is the home of our childhood, around her cluster ten thousand happy memories, the friends of our youth and of our manhood are there, and the graves of our loved ones. "And the Lord do so and more to us" if ever we forget Jacksonville.

Well! Well! Well! what fools these mortals be!

MINK.

W. A. Johnston, who has been prostrated with rheumatism, is able to be out again.

Misses Claudia and Alice Fitz were visiting in our settlement last week, the guest of Mrs. Emma Green.

We are having so much wet weather, that we cant do any thing in the way of farming. We have plenty time however, to talk about the court house and the festive Dick Kelley. Dick has "busted" himself in this part of the county.

We learn with sorrow of the sad death of Mr. Jelks of Etowah county, father of your Mr. John Jelks. He will be buried the 19th., at Oak Grove church, by the masonic order.

There is quite an improvement in our community, in the way of building and repairing of fences.

The Republican is a most welcome visitor to our community, judging from the way our citizens wait for their mail on the day it is due.

Not Enough.

Liver pills have their good and bad side. They cleanse the bowels and clean out the system, but they leave the patient weak, exhausted and unstrung, with no appetite and no strength.

If you were to go to a physician he would tell you that your liver pills were all right but that they did not go far enough. You need something else to restore the appetite, repair the waste, purify the blood and build up the system. He would give you a tonic.

We supply you with the regular physician's medicine for an entire treatment of nearly three weeks. There is one small case of ten of the Liver Pills (the finest in existence) and there is another box containing fifteen of the Tonic Pellets. You get them both for 25c. Ask your druggist for Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills and Ramon's Tonic Pellets. Together they make a sure treatment for Constipation and Biliousness.

At all dealers, or mail, for 25c., 5 boxes $1.00.

Sec. 10. That when a stock law district is established, either full or partial, there shall be taxed and collected as cost the sum of twenty-five dollars, which sum when collected by the Judge of probate shall be paid over to the county superintendent of education, and be paid out by him for the use of public schools in said stock law district, in addition to other public money for such schools, and in like manner as the public school money is now required to be paid out by him; provided, that if there is no public school in such district, then it shall be paid to the nearest to said district.

Sec. 11. That the judge of probate shall record the petitions and all orders made under the provisions of this act, in a book to be provided for that purpose to be called the stock law record, which shall be properly indexed, and for his services in regard to each petition he shall be entitled to a fee of three and 00—100 dollars and to 10 cents per one hundred words for recording the petitions and orders made thereunder, the same to be taxed as costs.

If a contest is filed, but if the hearing is decided adversly to contestant, then the judge of probate shall render judgment taking the contestant and his security (for cost) if any, with the cost of the proceeding, to be collected by execution; Provided, however; that when judgment for cost has been rendered against the contestant, petioners or any one them pay the same to the judge of probate, and such judge of probate shall issue execution therefor against the contestant in his own name, for the use of the petioner paying the same, and his security for costs, if any, and shall pay the same when collected over to the petioner for whose use said execution was issued.

Sec. 13. That any person injured by any live stock running at large in violation of the provisions of this act, either in person or to his wife, child, crop or property of any kind, shall have a lien upon such stock which shall be superior to all other liens, for all damage done by said stock and the cost of all legal proceeding prosecuted by the injured party for the recovery of such damages.

Sec. 14. That any person, his agent or attorney, whose property or person is injured by any stock running at large in violation of this act, may within thirty days after such damage was done, make complaint against the owner of the stock doing damage, to a justice of the peace or notary public ex-officio justice of the peace of the precinct in which the damage was done, or if there be no justice of the peace or notary public, ex-officio justice of the peace of such precinct, then to any such officer of an adjoining precinct; said complaint must describe, as nearly as may be, the stock doing the damage, and the property, persons or thing injured, and state the amount of damage done; Provided, two or more owners of stock may be joined in the same complaint where the damage is jointly done by stock belonging to two or more persons. On the trial of said cause, if judgment be rendered for such complaint, the justice trying the cause must, if such judgment and costs be not presently paid, condemn the stock doing the damage to be sold for the satisfaction of such judgment and costs, and shall forthwith issue an execution therefor, and endorse thereon an order commanding the officer executing the same to sell the stock so condemned, describing them in said order for the satisfaction of such judgment and costs.

Sec. 15. That any owner or manager or person in control of any land within the limits of any stock law district that may be established under the provisions of this act, or their agent, who may find any live stock running at large upon his land contrary to the provisions of this act, shall notify the owner, custodian or herdsman thereof, if known to him or if he can reasonably ascertain who such owner, custodian or herdsman is, within twenty-four hours, personally or by leaving written notice at his home, provided, the home of such owner is not more than five miles distant, and shall have the right and it shall be his duty only to take up said live stock and to confine the same so as to prevent their doing other or further damage, for which he shall be entitled to receive the sum of twenty-five cents per head, to be taxed as costs, and shall also feed and water said stock while so detained, and the cost of watering and feeding said stock, not exceeding twenty-five cents per day for each, shall, on proof being made to said justice on the trial of said cause, that feed and water were given to said stock in sufficient quantity and of good quality, be taxed against the defendant as other cost are taxed and collected from the sale of said stock or by execution against owner thereof; Provided, that any taker-up of such stock who fails to use reasonable diligence to so notify the owner, custodian or herdsman thereof, shall not be entitled to any pay for keeping said stock for all time over twenty-four hours that they fail to notify such owner, custodian or herdsman as required by this section.

Sec. 16. That when any live stock is found trespassing upon lands within any stock law district that may be established under the provisions of this act, or when any person or property is injured by stock running at large contrary to the provisions of this act, and the manager, custodian, herdsman or owner of such stock is unknown to the person whose property or person is injured, or on whose land said stock is so trespassing, must within three days after taking up said stock make complaint, under oath, to a justice of the peace or notary public ex-officio justice of the peace of the precinct, or of an adjoining precinct if there be no justice of the peace or notary public ex-officio justice of the peace in said precinct where the damage is done, describing as near as may be the stock doing the damage and the property, person or thing injured, and the amount of the damage, and that the owner of such stock is unknown after reasonable efforts to ascertain the name of such owner, then the justice to whom complaint is made shall appoint a day not less than four nor more than ten days distant and cause a notice to be posted in three public places in the neighborhood of the land upon which said live stock was found trespassing or in which such injury was done, describing as near as may be said stock and giving notice of the day upon which said trial will be held, and on the day fixed for said trial, or that to which it may be continued, he shall proceed with said trial in all respects as provided in this act where the owner of the stock is known; and any owner of such stock may appear and make himself a party to any such suit. Should the stock sell for more than enough to pay the judgment and costs adjudged against said stock, or the owner thereof, the surplus, if any, must be paid to the owner of said stock; if he is known, by the justice, and if the owner be unknown, the justice must, within thirty days after said sale, pay the surplus into the county treasury, Provided, that the treasurer shall pay the sum to the owner whenever he makes satisfactory proof that the stock were his property and that he is entitled to such surplus proceeds of the sale of such stock, and provided further, that such owner shall have the right, at any time within twelve months after such sale, to redeem such stock from him, by paying all damages and costs adjudged against them, together with a reasonable amount for keeping said stock up to the time of said application to redeem, over and above the value of its use, if anything; and on so making such payment or offer to pay, the party in possession of said stock must deliver the same to the owner thereof, Provided, that if the parties are unable to agree as to what amount the owner should pay to redeem his stock, such owner may bring an action of detinue for such stock, and upon suggestion require the court or jury trying the case to ascertain the amount such owner should pay to redeem the stock sued for, and such ascertainments must be entered on the record of the judgment, and the court must order that if the amount so ascertained as necessary to redeem such stock, interest and cost of suit, be paid within five days to the defendant or court trying the same, for his use, then the plaintiff shall have judgment, and provided further, that if before such suit brought the plaintiff shall tender to defendant an amount he considers sufficient to redeem his stock, and such tender is refused, then, if on such trial no greater amount than was so tendered is ascertained to be necessary for such owner to pay in order to redeem his stock, such owner shall not be required to pay any costs of suit, but the costs of suit in that instance shall (if the owner pays the damages ascertained to be paid by him) be taxed against the defendant.

Sec. 17. That whenever the owner, custodian or herdsman of any stock arrested for the trespass upon the lands of another shall tender or cause to be tendered to the person injured or having his stock in custody, an amount sufficient to cover the amount of damage done, and all costs and expenses that may have accrued up to the time of such tender, if said tender is refused and the damage and cost up to the time of such tender are not assessed at an amount greater than the amount so tendered, then the plaintiff shall not have or recover judgment for any costs or for any further feeding and watering.

Sec. 18. That whenever any stock are confined or delivered under the provisions of section 15 of this act, the owner thereof, his agent or some responsible person for him, may replevy the same by giving bond in double the amount of the damages and costs then claimed, to be approved either by the person damaged by such stock, or by the justice of the peace, or notary public, ex-officio justice of the peace, before whom the complaint is made, and conditioned to have such stock forthcoming on the day and at the place appointed for their sale, for the satisfaction of any judgment that may be rendered declaring a lien upon such stock under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 21. That justices of the peace and notaries public, ex-officio justices of the peace, shall have jurisdiction of offenses under this act, and on conviction shall have authority, on failure of defendant to pay or secure the fine and costs, to sentence the defendant to hard labor not only for the fine but also for the costs of the prosecution, and for the purpose of suits and prosecutions under this act such courts shall be always open.

Sec. 22. That from any judgment rendered by any justice of the peace or notary public, ex-officio justice of the peace, under the provisions of this act, either party may appeal to the circuit or to the city court of Anniston as in other cases.

Sec. 23. That the owner or manager of any stock who shall, living within any stock law district that may be established under the provisions of this act, knowingly, willfully or negligently suffer such stock to run at large off his own premises, in violation of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than two nor more than twenty-five dollars. But no prosecution shall lie under this section against any person who resides outside of an established stock law district, and all prosecutions under this section must be commenced within twenty days after the commission of the offense and only a party injured by such stock shall have the right to institute such prosecution.

Prosecutions under this section must be commenced within twenty days after the commission of the offense; but only on the complaint of the owner of the stock so driven into the district or turned out of such enclosure.

Sec. 25. That any citizen residing within any stock law district that may be established under the provisions of this act, shall have the right to erect gates across any public or private road at or near the line of any such stock law district when deemed necessary to prevent trespass by stock from outside of such stock law district, and when any such gate is so erected, any person who negligently or willfully leaves said gate open or unfastened, or who negligently, wantonly or maliciously injures or destroys said gate, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than one nor more than twenty dollars, one half the fine to go to the owner of the gate so injured, or to the person who erected or has charge of the same.

A SURGEON'S KNIFE

gives you a feeling of horror and dread. There is no longer necessity for its use in many diseases formerly regarded as incurable without cutting. The

Triumph of Conservative Surgery

RUPTURE or Breach is now radically cured without the knife and without pain. Clumsy, chafing trusses can be thrown away! They never cure but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death.

PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula and other diseases of the lower bowel, are permanently cured without pain or resort to the knife.

STRICTURE of Urinary Passage is also removed without cutting in hundreds of cases. For pamphlet, references and all particulars, send 10 cents (in stamps) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

and those soon to become mothers, should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription robs childbirth of its tortures, terrors and dangers to both mother and child, by aiding nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child.

Mrs. DORA A. GUTHRIE, of Oakley, Overton Co., Tenn., writes: "When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I was not able to stand on my feet without suffering almost death. Now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing and everything for my family of eight. I am stouter now than I have been in six years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is the best to take before confinement, or at least it proved so with me. I never suffered so little with any of my children as I did with my last."

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN.

ESTABLISHED 1837.

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1895.

VOLUME 59.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND continues to reward his cuckoos. The last two to draw their pay were Col. W. M. Springer, of Illinois, and Hon. Buck Kilgore, of Texas. They each have been given a United States judgeship in the Indian territory.

THE Thomasville Times says that the last Congress would not have passed the Lords Prayer without tacking on a few amendments. Sam Jones "goes" the Times "one better," and says that it could not pass any thing, not even a bar room.

GOVERNOR McKINLEY has been nicely received in all the Southern cities which he has visited during the past few weeks, and has succeeded in getting up quite a McKinley boom in several of the Southern States. It is amusing to see how he fights shy of the silver question.

ANY man who has followed the discussion of public questions for the last two years must certainly be convinced that the most important question now before the people of America is the queston of finance; and how it is to be pushed aside so as to make it question of minor importance in the campaign next year is more than we can understand.

The masses of the people have had to look to the Democratic party for all the favors they have received in the past. It has always been the party of the people. It redeemed all the Southern states from misrule and bankruptcy. While it has made some fearful blunders during the past two years, it will next year right itself, and again take its stand for all measures in favor of the masses as against the classes. It is the party of the constitution, and will live as long as the government stands. Various isms have sprung up and attempted to supplant it, but it has lived on, and will live to see all present and future isms sink into oblivion.

THE quota of seeds furnished a member of congress by the agricultural department consists, on an average, of 1,400 packages of flower seeds, 15,000 of vegetable and 82 quarts of field seeds, grasses, etc. The total cost of this quota to the government is about $250. For some time it has been charged that some members of congress would draw their quota of seeds and sell them instead of distributing them among their constituents. Secretary Morton has been investigating this matter, and it is said, has positive proof that a membsr gave an order for his entire quota of seeds, and sold them to the department agent for the sum of $75. By all means Secretary Morton should make this gentleman known to the public.

OUR friend Smith of the Hot Blast thinks the senior editor of the REPUBLICAN is growing pessimistic of late. He arrives at this conclusion probably because we continue to clamor for what we believe to be necessary to restore prosperity to this section. We are not a pessimist, but we realize that we will never be genuinely prosperous in this country until prosperity enters the home of the farmers; and we do not see how it is possible for the farmers to get out of debt and become prosperous for several years if all property continues to be depressed in value as at present.

It cannot be said that the farmers are not working and economizing. They are doing all in their power to bring about an era of prosperity, and the thing which is needed is to raise the weight which has pressed down the value of all their commodities.

Believing that a great evil exists which could be corrected if Democratic pledges were fulfilled, and knowing that a Democratic administration turned a deaf ear and let the golden opportunity pass to afford relief to a distressed and suffering people, is sufficient to make any Democrat grumble who feels an interest in the prosperity of his country and the success of his party.

But if we were of those who believe that the low price of cotton and other farm products has been brought about by bad management and overproduction on the part of the farmer, then we would sympathise less with the agricultural classes and worry less over their conditions, which has caused the same condition among all other classes.

ALEXANDRIA.

Alexandria is gardening this week.

Mr. Linder Green has returned from a short trip to Marietta, Ga.

Mr. James Draper, of Oxford, spent a day or two here this week, the guest of his sister.

Mr. John Wakefield, who has been so seriously ill, is much better.

The trains on the L & N road have changed schedule. The south bound train passing here at 10:30 a. m. and the north boudd, at 3:30 p. m. One can now go from here to Anniston on the cars, attend to business, and return same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland Wakefield spent Sunday in Alexandria.

Messrs J. D. Ross, and Sam Green spent Sunday at home.

Rev. Geo. D. Harris preached a fine sermon at the Grange Hall, Saturday night.

WHITE PLAINS.

About 75 bales of cotton were sold here last week, at 5½ cts. Anniston buyers came out after it. The little rise will not affect guano trade, nor the acreage of this years crop, in this section.

We are about to catch the cotton factory fever. We have a fine water power near by, and the subject is being discussed.

If cotton doubles in value when spun into yarn, surely our people ought to manage if possible to spin it, and get the profit.

Now that your correspondents have expressed themselves on the court house question, and the county fair, let's see what they think of immigration. If there is any locality in Calhoun county, where any number of farms could be bought, or where any number of new farmers are wanted, let us hear from them, if we have such places and others know of them, we may succeed in catching a colony. A few homes might be bought in this, the very best farming district of the county. We want the very best farmers, and no others.

DEARMANVILLE.

The first corn of the season was planted yesterday.

Will, son of Mr. John Hewett, who suffered all the fall and winter with rheumatism, is now confined with fever, and is in a critical condition.

Since the publication of the stock law in the REPUBLICAN, some of the Antis have become reconciled. The law will carry in this beat without any trouble, although there are a number of land owners near the mountain utterly opposed to it.

There is no doubt that the blue birds, those "harbingers of Spring" were all frozen to death, as not one has been seen since the good weather set in. Just after the cold weather 20 of them were found dead in a hollow log near here.

There is more sickness in this community now than has been for a long time—not many serious cases however.

The removal of the court house question, has been discussed here very little as yet, but the discharging of the Jury last week by Judge Lapsly has furnished some amusement. Several of the number were from this beat.

There is still considerable corn in this valley for sale.

MERRELLTON.

It is delightful, these last few days of Spring weather. The farmers are very busy improving each shining hour. The peach trees are beginning to bud, and will soon be in bloom. The gardens are receiving their full share of attention, just now, and it is amusing to hear the good natured rivalry, as to who will gather the first salad or vegetables, but that is a long way off yet.

Mrs. Wade, of Cleburne, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Smith.

Rev. Thomas Nisbet will preach the 3rd., Saturday and Sunday in April at Piedmont Springs church, having changed the regular appointment from the 2nd., to the 3rd Sabbath in each month. His services are appreciated very much.

There was singing at Ferdie Nabor's last Sunday afternoon.

BERA.—BEAT 4.

Mr. Oscar L. Haynie, of Bera, visited his father in Alexandria valley, Saturday.

Esq. E. J. Haynie made a business trip to Coldwater this week.

Rev. Wade Vinson, of Boozer, was a guest, Sunday, of Mr. R. P. Heaton.

Rev. Noah Stephens, of Central Egypt, preached at New Bethel on the 24th.

Several of our young people went down to Egypt on Sunday evening to attend preaching at Cedar Grove.

Since my last report H. W. Canida, Sr. has passed away. He died on the 14., inst. He was among the first settlers of this county and came to Calhoun when he was a boy, and was 77 years of age at his death. His family have the sympathy of the entire community.

The bad weather has our roads in a terrible condition.

Prof. P. J. Stoval's school is holding up remarkably well. He is giving general satisfaction.

Every body is still for the court house to stay where it is, and seem anxious for the election.

Born to W. A. and Ella Waddle, a boy.

Messrs James Harris and Thos Self spent Sunday in the northern part of the county.

CHOCCOLOCCO.

Mr. Mathis, of Anniston, bought seventy-three bales of cotton from some of our farmers up the valley, and it is being shipped from this place.

Two of our neighbors had a very peculiar arbitration a few days since. A sold L a cow which L kept about six weeks, when he claimed that the cow was mad, and he thought that A should "knock off" something, as he claimed that A had had a cow bitten by a mad dog in his lot, a year or so ago. A claimed that the cow which was bitten was not the cow sold L, and that the cow which was bitten had never gone mad. They could not settle the matter and therefore submitted it to arbitration. The arbitrators decided that A should refund five dollars to L. Those who sell cows had better be sure and tell the buyer that they do not insure against mad dogs.

Hon. W. C. Scarbrough spent two days in our burg last week.

Mr. John Hudson assisted his best girl on the train on last Sabbath. He became so much interested, that he failed to notice the departure of the train, and was carried some distance before he was aware that the train was in motion. In trying to jump from the coach he fell, and had his hands considerably bruised.

Mr. Perry, of Texas, is visiting relatives in the valley. He has been absent for twenty years.

Mrs. Reynolds has been spending some time with her son in Anniston.

Mr. DeBardelaben has been up looking at some iron property in the valley.

Mr. Parker, of Okefusky, has been visiting friends in the valley.

Mr. C. D. Davis has been quite sick, but is much better.

Mrs. Amy Kelly has had a very severe spell of sickness, but is much improved.

SAM SLIM.

This spring is the most backward, so far, ever known in this country. However, we are in better shape than we were this day twelve months ago. Don't you recollect that the 26th and 27th of last March were two of the coldest days had during the whole winter? We had planted our gardens, and vegetables were up; but they were all killed, and straightway we planted over. Consequently, we have as good a start as we had then.

And that freeze knocked the fruit crop into the summer of 1895. Now the fruit trees have reserved their fire, and the prospect for a fruit crop is good. Hence, we have nothing to complain at, but much to be thankful for.

The farmers for the few last days, are literally tearing the ground all to pieces, and it really looks now like they were going to get on a boom. Well, if they do, and boom on hogs and cattle, and peas and corn, and things eatable in general, and touch cotton very lightly, and we are favored with the early and the latter rains, then there will be rejoicing in the camp, and cotton will be worth more than five cents. And will not the farmers show off fine stock, and big corn, and so forth, at the fair at Oxford Lake?

This being an off year in politics, our citizens while resting on the corners, and our merchants while they sit on goods boxes and whittle and wait on their customers, (I mean wait on them to come,) talk on all manner of subjects; and are as social a set as you see in any town far or near. Some times the court house removal question is sprung, and as it has a little taste of something political,—for which they all have a relish,—they discuss the pros and cons quite lively. For understand all are not Israel that are of Israel, and although Oxford is a near neighbor of Anniston, many of her citizens for one cause and another, are opposed to the removal. They really can't see the justice in robbing Peter to pay Paul; and more especially when they don't owe Paul anything. They really can't see the necessity of paying taxes to build more court houses and jails when we've got as many as we need, and our taxes are already as high as we feel able to pay.

Some advocates of removal, say the increase in taxation will be very little,—that we will not feel it,—but let me tell you, most of us would feel a very little piece of money if it should slip out of our pockets these days. We are accustomed to carrying so small amounts that if a nickle should slip through a hole in a fellows pocket, his shoulder would almost fly up.

SAM SLIM.

MINK.

We farmers have gone to work in earnest. We have commenced planting corn, and have just finished sowing oats.

Our Literary Society met again last Saturday night, and was quite a success. We notice from a distance, the Misses Scott, from Merrellton, Miss Mary Cross, of Tampa, Mr. Wm. Stephens, and others, of Colvins Gap, the Misses Nisbet, and Augusta Maun, and others, from Tredegar, and John Aderhold, from Jacksonville.

Mrs. Minnie Grace, of Rome Ga., is visiting relatives in our settlement.

Married at the residence of Esq. R. A. Hollingsworth, on the 24th., Mr. N. S. Beaird, to Miss Sudie Rich, the esquire officiating. Many good wishes to the happy couple.

C. A. J. Hollingsworth and family visited their parents at Hokes Bluff, in Etowah county, last Sunday.

Mrs. G. W. Landers, and Miss Pee Rhodes were visiting the family of H. H. Boozer last Sunday.

MORRISVILLE.

Rev. W. O. Horton filled his regular appointment at Morrisville Methodist church last Sunday, and as usual preached a very able sermon.

Every body regrets the death of Judge Box. He was a good man and his place will be hard to fill.

Born unto Mr. and Mrs. John Morris, a daughter, March 24th.

Your Cane Creek correspondent has advertised his fly killer again. That is all right, but if the weather does not change he will not make much with his machinery, because flies never get fat in cool weather.

Road overseers are pushing to get through with the job. Farms are needing the attention of laborers just now.

Miss Carrie Morris has recovered from her spell of sickness sufficient to take charge of her school again, to the great delight of all her pupils.

Bad luck to the negro who struck John Ramagnano with a sling shot. May full justice be meted out to him.

WEAVERS.

We have had some fine weather for the past few days, and the fresh-plowed gardens, together with the peach and plum blossoms that are out, leads one to believe that Spring has at last come.

Pot-liker is mighty scarce, a few late turnips furnishing the only thing out of which to make it.

Prof. Alexander had a chill last Saturday, but seems to be all right now.

Mrs. J. R. McElreath is still improving, but slowly.

Miss Charlsie McElreath is visiting the family of Brother Horton this week.

Dr. Ragan, of Alexandria, was in our burg this week.

Road working is now the order of the day. We learn that our overseers will soon have a steam rock crusher to crush rock for the roads.

Rev. T. K. Trotter filled his appointment here last Saturday and Sunday.

PEEKS HILL

The health of our neighborhood is good. The weather is fine and farmers are going to work. Plowing is the order of the day, and our people will soon have the land broken, and be ready for planting.

Our hustling road overseer, Mr. T. J. Palmer, was married on the 24th., to Miss Minnie J. Phillips. Good luck to them.

I do not wonder that Anniston is quiet now on the court house question. She has doubtless heard from the country and has found very few that are with her. When she touches a man to build her magnificent court house, she touches his pocket book, and when she touches his pocket book, she touches his heart. The people in the country are on to you, Anniston. You may say that you only registered half your voting strength, but you wont find a single mother's son in Calhoun that believes that any more than you do.

OXFORD.

Early Wednesday morning a fatal accident happened on the Oxford Lake Line. Arthur Jett was the motorman on the car that ran over Robt. M. Jones of Randolph Co. The accident happened near Whiteside station. Chas. Crow was the only passenger, and Jones was walking on the track in front of the car. Jett and Crow state that on the approach of the car Jones stepped to the right side of the track still in between the rails. The motorman rang his bell thinking all the while the man would step off. Jones being intoxicated failed to respond to the bell and the motorman failed to turn off the power and apply the brakes, and poor Jones was run over and horribly mangled. His right arm was ground nearly off at the shoulder joint and the scalp was extensively lacerated. The arm was amputated and the scalp dressed, but he died in 3 or 4 hours after the accident. There is another report that says that the motorman was inside the car boxing with the passenger when the accident happened, and it is an admitted fact the car went some 40 or 50 feet after passing over the man before it was stopped. The coroner came to Oxford and questioned the witnesses, and I suppose heard these conflicting reports; and decided to not hold an inquest assigning as his only reason that the commissioners court had not paid him for inquests previously held.

Now the people of Oxford feel outraged at this condition of affairs. If the coroner will not do his work, he needs to resign or to be deposed. If the Commissioners Court refuse to pay him for his work they ought to give their reasons and let the people know that they repudiate and contemn the coroner and his office. This is a case needing investigation

Mr. Editor this is not written with any desire to indict the motorman for criminal negligence or to hold the Lake Line responsible for the unfortunate accident. But with the hope that justice may prevail and that no individual or corporation may be accused of a crime by the public without the rights and privileges of a legal investigation by the proper authorities.

Applicants for Judge.

Among the number who will make application to Governor Oates for the appointment for judge of the seventh judicial circuit, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Box, we notice the names of Hon. R. B. Kelly and D. C. Blackwell, Esq., Anniston; Ex-Governor Cobb, Shelby; George E. Brewer, Esq., Talladega.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. A. Leper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says. "And have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to similarly afflicted. It is for sale by dealers.

Jacksonville's municipal election will be held next Monday. While there are three tickets in the field, there is but little interest being manifested, and we are confident that the election will pass off without any unpleasant feelings being engendered over the contest.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

New Doctors.

Calhoun will soon have two more promising young physicians in her borders.—Dr. J. B. Whitesides, of White Plains, Dr. Buckalew, of De Armanville. Both will go before the county board of medical examiners at an early date and stand at an examination for license to practice in Alabama.

DEATH OF JUDGE BOX.

HE PASSED AWAY AT EDWARDSVILLE MONDAY.

In His Death Alabama Loses One of Her Noblest Sons.

Judge L. F. Box died at Edwardsville, at 5 o'clock, on Monday morning. He went there to hold the Spring term of the Circuit Court of Cleburne county. A few days after reaching Edwardsville, he was stricken with paralysis, which caused his death. His remains were taken to Ashville, his home, on the 26th for interment.

To thousands of acquaintances and friends throughout his circuit, and all over Alabama, this will be sad news. Wherever Judge Box went, he always appeared the refined, cultured, honorable Southern gentleman that he was. In his life, as judge of this circuit, he has impressed all with his love of justice, and great desire to do anything, the doing of which, would tend to improve the morals of our people. It cannot be said that he never erred. This would be attributing to man, the perfectness of the Savior; but it can be truly said that that, in all his works, he tried to follow, as best he could, the path to which conscience pointed him.

Judge L. F. Box was born in Ashville, St. Clair County, 58 years ago. His father was a farmer, and the son grew up and was given a fair education. He taught school until the war broke out, when he enlisted in Company H, Tenth Alabama, under Capt. John H. Caldwell of Calhoun. He took up the study of law when the war ended and kept it up. He was elected superintendent of education under Governor Houston, and about fifteen years ago was made circuit judge of his district, which position he held until death. He leaves a wife and children.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Syrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. New York is one of the healthiest place on the Atlantic Coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretion and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by dealers.

Associational Meeting.

There will be a meeting at Rabbit Town Baptist church to-day and tomorrow to be composed of the ministers, deacons and clerks of the Baptist churches in the Calhoun County Baptist Association. A committee from the Rabbit Town church will be in Jacksonville today with conveyances to carry all who desire to attend.

An Easy Cure for Drunkenness.

Drunkenness, Morphine and Tobacco habit may easily be cured by the use of Hill's Double Chloride of Gold Tablets. No effort is required of the patient and stimulants may be taken as usual until voluntarily given up. Tablets may be given in tea or coffee without the patient's knowledge. A cure guaranteed in every case. For sale by all first-class druggists, or will be sent on receipt of $1.00 For full particulars address The Ohio Chemical Works, Lima, Ohio.

Death of An Old Citizen.

Mr John Lloyd, one of Calhoun's oldest and best known citizens, died in Anniston last week. He had resided at the place of his death for many years, and sold to the Woodstock Iron Company most of the land on which the city of Anniston has been built.

There will be no morning services at Presbyterian church on Sunday—services in the evening.

WE have the greatest respect for the views of brother Smith, of the Hot Blast, on the question of finance, because we know him to be sincere. Years ago he and the writer differed in the policy of a newspaper on the silver question. He opposed and we favored the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Neither has ever changed, and we are sure that each accords to the other honesty of convictions.

ON last Sunday morning the first issue of The State, the new Alabama daily, made its appearance at Birmingham. The REPUBLICAN hastens to tender its congratulations. The paper is ably edited, and has an excellent general and state service. The first week's issue reflects great credit on the management, and is a guaranty of popularity and success.

THE Anniston Hot Blast in referring to the court house removal law, very unwittingly says, "Fortunately, Anniston holds the key to the situation. She can virtually name the time for the election, etc.' Brother Smith has always been justly regarded as both discrete and sagacious, and we have generously accorded to him this distinction. But if, by the above assertion, he expects to enlist recruits, for his unholy scheme of court house removal from among the people who have been utterly and defiantly ignored in the legal methods dictated by Anniston for accomplishing her aims, we must suspend our judgment, at least as to his fitness for inaugurating and conducting this, Anniston's greedy and unrighteous crusade against the rights of the people of Calhoun county. If the above is a sample of the tactics he proposes to employ in securing removal, we heartily say, "Lay on MacDuff," and intensify the indignation of the people, already fully aroused by the provisions of the law, which deprives them, as tax payers, of any voice in ordering an election, and takes away the safe guards of registration and contest, thrown around the sanctity of the ballot by the general law of the State.

I Will Let You Pay in Money or Cotton.

I have two good mules for sale. Will wait for settlement til fall, and will accept payment in money—silver, gold, or greenbacks—or cotton, at purchasers option. If you want a mule come at once.

THE REPUBLICAN.

Established in 1837, is the OFFICIAL JOURNAL of Calhoun, one of the largest and wealthiest counties in Alabama, and in which are located the towns of Jacksonville, Anniston, Oxford, Oxanna and Piedmont.

CIRCULATION.

It has a larger guaranteed county circulation in Calhoun than any other paper.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The subscribers of the REPUBLICAN are the best people in the county,—a class of people with whom it pays to advertise. Than it there is no better advertising medium in this section of Alabama.

THE REPUBLICAN.

Consistency---a Jewel.

"There are none so blind as those who will not see." How aptly and forcibly does this truisnn apply to some of our self constituted oracles in finance and political economy at the present time. With exparte views on all public questions, in the blind zeal of unreasoning egotism, they obstinately assume that those who dare to differ with them are heretics and ignoramouses, deserving only of unmeasured denunciation and scorn. Strangers to tolerance and conservatism, in the enthusiasm of a slavish devotion to men and unorthodox measures, they too often transcend the lmits of consistency and leave their friends the fruitless task of trying to define their position and ascertain "where they are at." How apropos is this of the Montgomery Advertiser. Claiming to be a democratic organ, in one sentence it entertains its readers with a long drawn out Phillipic on the 53rd. Congress, a majority of the members of which are democrats, for doing what it believed to be its sacred duty to a confiding constituency, and in the next sentence regales its devotees with fulsome praise of a democratic executive to whom it has been "bending the pregnant hinges of the knee," just before and since the dispensation of federal patronage, and executive favor began. In the fullness of official preferment, and the obligation of loyalty to the generous dispenser, thereby imposed, the Advertiser stands with unsheathed sword, and challenges the democracy of any partisan who has the temerity to intimate that President Cleveland has not been faithful to his party pledges and the popular trust reposed in him. It is the essence of genuine party loyalty to denounce the combined wisdom and patriotism of a democratic congress, but the sublimity of party treason to criticise, in even a respectful way, the acts of a democratic President, who has failed or declined to give his influence or signature to the statutory embodiment of a single pledge of the platform of the democratic party.

It is true that congress did but little, it is true that it could do but little, for the relief of the people, confronted as it was with executive antagonism. But be it said to its credit, that it prevented much from being done through the Presidents recommendation, for their absolute enslavement to the pitiless despotism of aggressive capital.

For this much we say to our Alabama congressmen who did what they conscientiously believed to be their duty, "well done good and faithful servants."

When public officials who, under our form of government, are the servants of the people, rise beyond the reach of just critiesm and become, in their official characters, too sacred for popular censure, the Goddess of Liberty, veiled and in mourning, will have taken her everlasting departure from the asylum created for her by the fathers of our republic, and embalmed it in song and in story as the "land of the free and the home of the brave."

The democracy of this paper is measured by the principles boldly declared by the people in the democratic convention assembled in Chicago in 1892. And when any official, be he President of the United States or bailiff of a country beat, departs from these principles, or fails to use his influence to carry out the pledges of the Democratic party embodied in these principles, he can neve receive our commendation. Men may change or die, principles are immutable, and never die.

In 1896 true democracy will assert its supremacy over the undemocratic element now trying to destroy it and over republicanism, populism, and all other isms, inimical and hostile to our institutions and the theory of our government achieve a victory that will be an assurance of peace, prosperity and happiness to all the people.

Here's Your Cotton.

Cotton statistics (says the Times Democrat) reveal the following curious conditions of things, as regards the question of overproduction:—

Crop of 1890-91	8,600,000
Crop of 1891-82	9,000,000
Total of triennial crop	24,900,000
Crop of 1893-94	7,700,000
Crop of 1894-95 (say)	10,000,000
Total of triennial per'd	24,400,000

In view of the fact that the production for the second triennial period has been 500,000 bales less than for the first it will be difficult to persuade the farmer that he is responsible for 5 cent cotton. And the question perpetually occurs—"What is the matter ?"—Selma Times.

Ay, what is the matter? Thousands, in this country during the past fall, as their cotton went at 5 cents, and they settled for advances at the rate of 10 cents for meat, $5.00 for flour $30.00 for guano, have, with bewildered faces asked the same question. They thought it answered a few days ago, however, when silver made a rise in the marts of the world, and cotton kept beside it. It is the blasting and withering effects of the demontization of this metal, that is the matter. And yet in spite of all this there are those, whose children are scantily clad, and poorly fed, and who themselves have not a pair of breeches that would suffer them to wear a short coat on the streets, who are still found, "hugging that delusion phantom" of monometalism, with which the powers have hypnotized them.

In the sanguinary war which is now about to be concluded between China and Japan, the latter as the victorious party, demands of China as one of the conditions of peace, an indemnity of $250. 000. 000.

Both China and Japan are silver using countries, and the reasonable hypothesis is that the indemnity will be demanded in silver. The commercial world, always sensitive to financial measures, and even to financial possibilities, has given unmistakable evidence in the advanced prices of staple agricultural products, of the beneficial effect that will result in the enhanced value through an increased demand for silver. As goes silver, so goes cotton, corn, wheat &c.

The Daily Financial News of New York, of the 19th., inst., under the caption of "Silver Booming," says:

"We have stated that there would be no material improvement until silver advanced. Silver has now taken an upward step, and already the eyes of traders are upon it, and we shortly expect it to become one of the active speculators on the exchanges. Every advance in silver means a considerable benefit to cotton, wheat and our other commodities. Silver has only begun to improve. It is the cheapest, safest and best investment that we know of.

When the people begin to learn that there is not alone an insufficient amount of gold, but also of silver to supply a basis money, then there will be a scramble for silver that will soon put its quotation beyond $1.29 per ounce. Now is the time to buy it."

IT is time that the United States should call a halt to the encroachments which England threatens to make upon American territory. For the expulsion of a representative by the little state of Nicaragua, she claims a cash indemnity, and threatens invasion. In Venezuela she is trying to advance the limits of her territory and threatens force. The United States cannot stand still and see England disregard the Monroe Doctrine, which declares that there must be no advance of monorchy in America, nor any extension of monorchial governments. England's whole history so far as her foreign policy is concerned, is one of rapine plunder, and oppression. She is a political octopus, whose rapacious belly is neverfull, and whose long arms are ever reaching for new victims. Her further extension on American soil is dangerous to American institutions, and the United States as the most powerful nation on this continent, should protect these central and South American states from her greed.

THE CURRENCY A LIVE ISSUE.

The answer in England to all suggestions of bimetalism is that England is satisfied with her existing financial system. It has stood the test of years, and this is held to be a good reason for not changing it.

In Germany also, in spite of the agrarian agitation, the assertion is made that the existing financial system is, on the whole, satisfactory. The same position is taken by a great many intelligent and fair-minded people in France.

In this country the case is different. Our financial system is not finally established. It is not satisfactory in theory. It has not proved satisfactory in practice. It is evidently and incontestably in a transition stage.

We have not yet settled the question whether the currency of the country shall be issued by the Treasury or by national banks.

We have not settled the question between gold monometalism, silver monometalism and bimetalism.

We are just beginning to talk about settling it.

As long as this is the case the question of the currency is going to be a live issue in American politics. It is a dry and difficult question, but there is no escaping it. It is like the riddle of the Sphinx—we must either answer it or be devoured."—New York World.

If the above be true, and we do not doubt it, is there any sense in this procrastinating cry of "international agreement." Let America be for Americans. She is big enough, and strong enough, and great enough to settle this issue with out having the finger of Great Britain or Germany to direct or guide. The world rightly characterizes the currency question as a live issue—one of the very livest that has ever entered American politics. The contest which is to follow will be a royal one. Now and then, amidst the struggle, there may be glimpses of monometalism, but free coinage and the freedom of the common people are inseparable in this country, and in their favor will the tide of battle turn.

GOVERNOR O'FERRELL of Virginia, entertained last week at his mansion a legislative committee from Massachusetts. Among the number was a negro. He was introduced to Mrs. O'Ferrell in the parlor and went out with the other members of the committee to Luncheon, over which Mrs O'Ferrell presided.

For this Governor O'Ferrell has been censured severely. While he made a mistake in not postively refusing to thus entertain a negro even in his official station, it is due him to state that when he invited the committee to the mansion, he had no intimation that a negro was a member of the committee and knew nothing of it until he met him in his parlor.

Governor O'Ferrell, like all others in the South, draws the line on the negro at the social circle, and no matter how discourteous it may have seemed, ought to have declined to invite this negro to his dining table.

Congressman Howard and Representative Manning have disgraced themselves. The letter which they prepared in New York last week, and issued to the Press, in which they attack the honor of their parent state, Alabama, is enough to forever damn them in the eyes of decency. It was alike characterized by a lack of patriotism and a lack of brains. What their object was no sain man can see. What the result has been they realize by this time. They will come back to Alabama, contemned to despised by the people of the East, and loathed by the citizens of their state. Suddenly elevated to positions of honor, they have overrated their importance as well as their ability. Their "vaulting ambitions have over leaped themselves and fallen on the other side."

SILVER goes up, and cotton the great staple of the South—true as the needle to the pole—follows it. Gold goes up and cotton goes down. There it is. Are you living in the South? Well what on earth is the matter with you? The President has distributed all the post offices, and a Mergenthaler Linotype is "plumb" out of your class.

SINCE the REPUBLICAN published the stock law bill for Calhoun county last week, it has been the theme of discussion among the farmers of the county. Some are pleased with it, and others very much displeased with it.

LET the farmers of the county commence now to plan for their exhibits at the county fair next fall. Let us have at Oxford Lake the finest exhibit ever made by any county in Alabama.

COUNTY FAIR.

THE OXFORD LAKE LINE TAKES THE INIATIVE.

Next fall the Oxford Lake line will give an exhibition of farm stock poultry and farm products raised in Calhoun and adjoining counties, and that it may be most beneficial and attractive to the farmers, ask their cordial co-operation.

To that end it requests letters from them giving their views as to the features that should be given prominence, the plans that should be adopted and the time to hold it.

While the Oxford Lake line will offer cash premiums for the best display in their various classes, owing to the expense necessary in providing buildings, ect., these premiums, as a rule, will not be large the first year.

But the farmers should bear in mind the fact that the greatest prosperity among farmers is to be found in counties where fairs and institutes are regularly held, and that it is the desire to excel and the observation of methods employed and results obtained by others that give the greatest real value to these fairs.

Address Howard W. Sexton, President Oxford Lake Line, Anniston, Ala.

BUT a short while ago, and there were two daily papers in Alabama, the one at Birmingham, the other at Montgomery—The Age Herald and the Advertiser—who never referred to each other in any but unfriendly terms. To-day these two dailies are constantly throwing kisses, each at the other. Now that is queer. The Age Herald is having a new dress made, and may be the "old lady" in Montgomery is suddenly in love with her, because it will be fashioned after her own frock and purchased of the same tailor. Lucky indeed, would the Age Herald be, if she could only get a post-office thrown in!

WHAT say the Democrats of Calhoun county who believe in the free and unlimited coinage of silver to the organization of a Bimetalic League? There is no question but a majority of the Democrats in Alabama favor the free coinage of silver, but in order to carry the State next year they must organize. Let us hear from the silver men in all portions of the county as to the advisability of such an organization.

IT will be a shame if Alabama is not represented at the Cotton States Exposition, and if no greater interest is manifested than at present, the State will not be represented. But let us hope that the meeting in Birmingham April 2nd, will be largely attended, and that a plan will be adopted which will result in such an exhibit being sent to Atlanta as will show Alabama in natural resources to be the grandest State in the Union.

ARE you living in this world without knowing what is taking place around you? Do you want to know what is happening? TAKE THE REPULICAN AND CONSTITUTION. BOTH PAPERS ONE YEAR FOR ONLY $1.25. SUBSCRIBE NOW.

Erysipelas in Face and Eyes

Inflammation Subdued and Tortures Ended by Hood's.

"I am so glad to be relieved of my tortures that I am willing to tell the benefits I have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla. In April and May, I was afflicted with erysipelas in my face and eyes, which spread to my throat and neck. I tried divers ointments and alteratives, but there was no permanent abatement of the burning, torturing pain, peculiar to this complaint. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and

MYSTERY OF THE GREAT RUBY.

By LUCIE ST. DEANE.

[Copyright, 1895, by American Press Association.]

PRELUDE.

The sepoy mutiny of 1857-8 was one of the most tragic uprisings in history. Two hundred million fanatics revolted against British rule, and the flaming plains of India were swept by fire and crimsoned with the blood of the innocents until faraway England rose in the might of her wrath, and her heroes ground the rebels to the earth. The Mogul empire was proclaimed at Delhi, in May, 1857, and Cawnpur mutinied on the last day of that month. It was invested by Nana Sahib on the 6th of June and surrendered 20 days later. General Havelock fought his way, step by step, to the walls of the city, and Nana stole away like a thief in the night. Before he left (July 16) occurred the massacre of the European women and children in Cawnpur—a crime that thrilled the civilized world.

The British government offered a reward of $50,000 for the capture of Nana Sahib, and every effort was made to trace him, but he vanished as utterly as if he had never been.

Investigation, however, has made it quite certain that Nana Dhoonda Pant, known in history as Nana Sahib, fled with a few followers to the jungles of Oude and penetrated deep into those dismal solitudes. All died miserably, and the eagles of the Himalayas alone look down from their lofty heights upon the crags of the royal vagrant who perished there long years ago.

Small loss to the world was the death of Nana Sahib, but when he entered those desolate wilds he carried with him the most wonderful ruby of history. It was the size of a robin's egg, of the purest "pigeon blood" and without a flaw. Its brilliancy and perfection gave it fabulous value and a rank beside that of the Kohinoor and the great gems of the world. If that ruby is ever found, it will make the finder famous and rich beyond compare.

CHAPTER I.

THE NARRATIVE OF JOHN R. BROWN.

I am a quiet, middle aged gentleman who has been a jeweler in Maiden lane, New York, for rising 30 years. I may be permitted to say that I have a family of whom I am fond, and that my circumstances are satisfactory. Understand at the beginning of this story that I am not the hero, and have only set out to relate the occurrences that came to my knowledge, and in which, from the trend of circumstances, I was compelled to act a leading part.

A certain October day, a few years ago, was one of the most dismal I ever experienced. The downfall of rain was constant for two days, and when night closed in the steady drizzle continued. We had not seen a customer since the forenoon, and I allowed my two clerks to go home early. There was nothing for them to do after placing the stock within the massive safe, and I was in that state of unrest when I was glad to be freed from seeing their faces.

I would have left the store at the same time but for a call from my old friend, Carl Wittner, the detective, who, with the remark that he knew I would be lonely, walked behind the counter and back into my private office, where I joined him and we lit our cigars.

I was glad to see him. Wittner was an officer of exceptional skill, bright, intelligent, well educated, and I am sure thoroughly honest. We had been friends for years, and he knew that he need never wait for an invitation to visit me. He was always welcome.

The genuine detective is not a man to tell his secrets or boast of his exploits, as members of the profession do in fiction. Nevertheless I am satisfied that Wittner let me know more of his doings than any other person. He sometimes appealed to me for counsel in certain matters, but inasmuch as, so far as I could learn, he generally took an opposite course from what I recommended (and I must confess with good results, as a rule) I suspect that he had little purpose except to compliment me.

We had talked 15 minutes or so upon nothing in particular when the door of the store opened and a man entered.

"Is it possible that I have a customer?" I remarked, rising and walking forward to greet the caller.

I was struck by his appearance. He was tall, elegantly formed and dressed and evidently a foreigner. He set down his dripping umbrella in the stand, and then, as he turned, I gained a good view of him.

His hair, eyes, mustache and imperial were as black as the raven's wing. His teeth were glistening white and his complexion as swarthy as a Spaniard's, though I was sure he was not a native of Europe. His gloves, silk hat and attire were of fashionable make, and a diamond of the first water glistened on his scarf.

Years before I had spent several weeks in Calcutta, and prompted by a curious whim I said:

These words are Hindoostanee and mean: "Peace to you, honorable sir. How is your temper today?"

The black eyes flashed, the white teeth showed behind the jetty mustache, and he instantly broke forth with a lot of words which I could no more understand, except that they were in the same language employed by me, than I could speak Choctaw.

"I picked up only a few sentences when in India," I replied, with a laugh. "If you are familiar with English, let us confine ourselves to that."

"With pleasure," he replied, his accent faultless. "I suppose nearly every language is spoken in New York, and I was delighted to hear my own, but I think I can make my meaning clear in your tongue."

"I am sure no one could speak it more correctly. I shall be pleased to serve you, if in my power."

"I thank you, sir. You are a dealer in precious stones, I observe?"

He glanced about the store as he spoke, and I inclined my head.

"I have something I would like to show you."

"I shall be glad to see it."

He reached his hand inside his vest and drew forth one of those small green pasteboard boxes such as are used to hold certain kinds of jewelry, and lifting the lid took from the soft pinkish cotton the most wonderful gem I have ever looked upon.

A man who has been in business for 30 years in Maiden lane sees about all there is worth seeing in that line, and during my travels I had beheld some of the great jewels of the world. I may say that had he produced the Kohinoor itself my amazement would not have been greater.

That which I took between my thumb and forefinger at his invitation was a pigeon blood ruby the size of a small walnut with the husk removed. A pigeon blood ruby, it may not be known, is more valuable than the same number of carats in the form of a pure diamond.

"What do you think of that, sir?" asked the man, enjoying my astonishment.

"If that is genuine," I replied, holding it under the glare of the electric light, "and it seems to be, it is worth a kingdom."

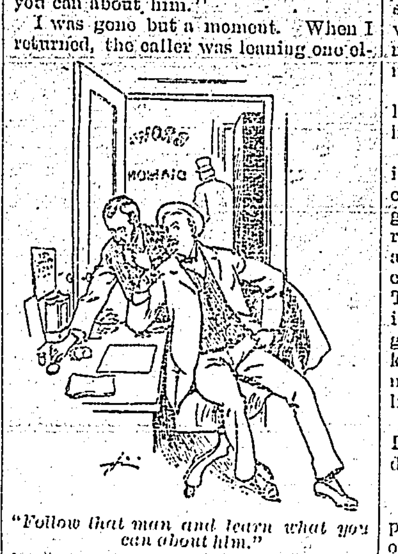
"You are an expert. I leave it with you to decide whether it is a ruby or imitation."

"Wait, please, till I get my glass."

I made this excuse to walk to the back office, where Wittner was smoking. I stooped over the table, so as to bring our heads close together, and whispered:

"Follow that man and learn what you can about him."

I was gone but a moment. When I returned, the caller was leaning one elbow on the glass case, his attitude an easy and graceful one, patiently awaiting my verdict.



"Follow that man and learn what you can about him."

The scrutiny under the magnifying glass seemed to confirm my first impression, and my wonder grew.

"I would like to examine it by daylight—that is, if the sun will ever shine again," I remarked as a gust of wind blew the rain spitefully against the windows.

"With your permission I will leave it with you a few days."

At this moment Wittner came from the inner office and passed through the door.

"Good night, Mr. Brown," he said carelessly as he buttoned his mackintosh about him. "I must go home. Will see you next week."

I nodded to him and noticed the quick, searching glance he gave the man, who did not seem to be aware of his presence.

"May I inquire where this gem came from?" I asked as the door closed behind my friend.

"Certainly—from the Himalayas, in northern India."

"It is yours?"

"Pardon me. It would hardly be in my possession if it were not."

"Why do you bring it to me?"

"Perhaps you may find me a customer."

"Then you wish me to sell it for you, for it is too valuable for me to buy."

"That is the view I took of it."

"But, begging pardon, it strikes me as strange that you should have brought this ruby to America when in London, Amsterdam, Vienna, Paris or any one of a dozen cities in Europe you would have been more likely to find a purchaser."

"There are plenty of buyers, but kings and queens just now are poor and cannot afford my price. I presume you are somewhat familiar with the history of the mutiny in India in 1857?"

"In a general way I am."

"You have heard of Nana Sahib?"

"I saw him at Cawnpur a few weeks before the breaking out of the mutiny."

"Ah, you were fortunate."

"In what way?"

"That it was a few weeks before the uprising. Had you been in Cawnpur, say, in July, 1857"—

He completed the sentence with a shrug and shudder.

"I understand. Well?"

"You are aware that the British government offered a reward of a lac of rupees for his capture, but never captured him?"

"I have heard that."

"Do you know what became of him?"

"No one knows of a certainty. It was reported that he and a few of his followers took refuge in the Himalayas and there perished."

"That report is true. Two of his spies returned. I saw and conversed with one of them. When Nana fled, he took with him the most valuable ruby in all India."

"I have heard that also, but what bearing has that upon our business?"

"The ruby which you hold in your hand is the one which Nana Sahib took with him in his last flight."

CHAPTER II.

My caller rightly interpreted the expression on my face.

"It is a strange story, but I tell you the truth. Nana did not flee until the year after the Cawnpur massacre, and it was 23 years later that I met one of the spies who was with him. He was an old man, living in the sacred city of Benares, on the Ganges. He was at the point of death when I helped—being a physician—to bring him back to life. He told me the story and volunteered to show me the path to the spot where his master died. But though he led the way to the neighborhood he either could not or would not take me to the place. We returned from our bootless errand, and he died a few years later. His secret was buried with him."

The speaker paused and changed his lolling attitude. Noting my interest, he resumed:

"I knew that when Nana Sahib entered those jungles the great ruby was in his turban, and if the spot could be found where he died there would be found the gem which I have brought to you. Five years ago I went back with a single companion, a native like myself of the country."

He paused long enough for me to remark:

"Then 30 years must have passed since the death of Nana."

"Fully that, and not a vestige of his rags or bones was left. How could I hope to discover the gem? There was no reason to believe I would, but all such great finds, as you know, are the result of chance. I knew where to look for it, and I kept up the hunt for weeks until stricken with fever and so emaciated that I could barely stand. My companion did not fall ill, and my spirit enabled me to search even when my brain was burning with delirium.

"One night when the moon was shining bright and I was groping over the spot where I had at last tumbled down, unable to walk, I reached out my hand and clutched the ruby of Nana Sahib."

The speaker was now greatly excited and would have said no more had I not asked him to finish his story.

"I do not remember clearly what took place until I reached Bareilly. I was ill most of the time. My companion tried to take the ruby from me, but did not succeed. When I returned to my friends, I came alone."

No need of more particulars on that point. I could picture the fearful struggle between these two men for the possession of a jewel worth a prince's ransom. The presence of this man before me showed who was conqueror.

Who knows that it was not his companion that made the find? Who can say what the nature of that struggle was? Was there a conflict at all? Was not this man now in my presence a murderer?

But why speculate? He was the only living witness, and no one could unseal his lips.

"Pardon my agitation," he said, rapidly regaining his self poise, "but you can comprehend the reason. I have given you the true story of Nana Sahib's ruby. I bring it to you, hoping that among your many millionaires in this city you may find a purchaser for me. True, the ruby is valuable, but of itself it is neither meat nor drink, and what good can it bring me? I cannot afford to keep it. There are those who can. Find me one of them, and your fee shall be a liberal one."

"You have not set a price, provided I find a customer, which is exceedingly doubtful."

"What do you esteem it worth?"

"I must decline to say. When you pass a certain point with the diamond or ruby, there is no rule by which its value can be determined. It is purely fancy."

"If you wish me to name my price, I will say $50,000."

I was astonished again, and an uneasy suspicion took possession of me, a suspicion which I could not define. But I felt there was something uncanny and unnatural about the whole business.

The price he had set was barely one-tenth of the ruby's real value. I believed more than one crowned person in Europe would pay at least $250,000 to become its owner. The thought that such a bargain was probable half decided me to make the purchase myself.

"I read your surprise," he said, with that winning courtesy which had impressed me at the opening of our interview. "I know that it is worth a great deal more than that, but the sum I name is one which few people will pay for a luxury of that sort. It is enough for me. When shall I call?"

"Suppose you say toward the end of the week. I will give you a receipt."

"It is not necessary. Your reputation is a guarantee that my property is safe in your hands."

"But I prefer that you should hold my receipt."

"I am satisfied. Why should you not be?"

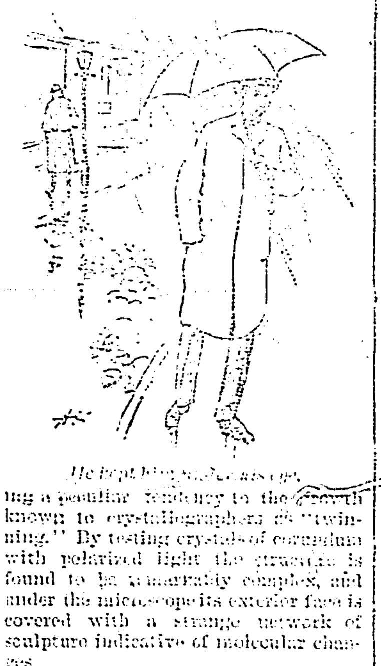
And despite my half angry protest he took up his umbrella, and with the smile revealing his white teeth behind his black mustache he passed out of the door into the darkness and rain.

Left alone with my disturbing thought and the wonderful stone, I now subjected it to the most minute examination possible.

And as one claiming to be an expert I must say something about the ruby, one of the aristocrats of the mineral kingdom.

The finest rubies in the world come from the mines of Burma, although they are found in many other parts of the world, and even in our own country, where their quality cannot be compared with those of Burma and the specimens of India proper. The genuine ruby is pure, limpid, fiery red corundum, which is crystallized oxide of aluminium and [illegible] every gem, excepting the diamond, which we value for hardness, brilliancy and color. A crystal of pure red corundum is a ruby, of the blue variety a sapphire, of the green an emerald, and so on.

The structure of the ruby is as extraordinary as that which determines its color. It is found in crystals of an endless variety of shapes, but all having a peculiar tendency to the growth known to crystallographers as "twinning." By testing crystals of corundum with polarized light the structure is found to be remarkably complex, and under the microscope its exterior face is covered with a strange network of sculpture indicative of molecular changes.



He kept him under his eye.

The most striking fact about the corundum crystal is that it is nearly always found to have inclosed and surrounded some foreign body or other, which lies imprisoned in it. More striking still is the fact that these included foreign bodies lie generally disposed of in planes, meeting each other at an angle of 60 degrees, the result being to produce the phenomenon of asterism, which is the term given to the white star of light observable in certain jewels cut with rounded surfaces. Quite frequently the imprisoned body is a minute bubble of gas or drop of liquid, containing sometimes little crystals of its own. This fluid [illegible] the tests have proved to be liquid carbonic acid gas reduced to that condition by immense pressure.

Rubies change their color in a remarkable way under the action of heat. Bluish ones turn perfectly green, and on cooling regain their original tint. The blue sapphire turns white, and the yellow corundum crystal becomes green. I might mention other singular properties of this gem, but obviously it would be out of place here. Let me say that on the following day, during which the sun shone most of the time, I subjected the ruby left with me to every possible test, and that it passed triumphantly through all. No problem in geometry was ever demonstrated more clearly than that this enormous gem was the equal of any similar one, as respects purity and brilliancy, found anywhere in the world. That being the case, its value could be measured only by hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Meanwhile my friend Wittner had called with his report. He had lingered in the rain and darkness on the other side of Maiden lane on the night of the man's first visit with the gem and kept him under his eye until he reached the Astor House, where he was staying for the time.

"He may be an East Indian," remarked Wittner, "but if his right name is on the register of the hotel it is no more Hindoostanee than yours or mine, for it is plain Darius C. Howard, and he hails from London. Look out for him."

CHAPTER III.

Having established the genuineness of the great ruby, another duty was before me—the finding of a purchaser. The conviction that there was something wrong behind the whole business—that, in other words, Darius C. Howard was one of those brilliant criminals who are continually pitting their brains against the law and generally winning—was fixed in my mind. It was incredible that he should have brought such a priceless gem thousands of miles across land and ocean, passing by more inviting markets on the road, and then placed it in my hands at an absurdly low price. He must have had some all powerful reason for this extraordinary step. There was no ground for fearing that I could become implicated in the dark work. What I had done was wholly regular, and my standing could not be imperiled by anything that he or any one else could do.

I gave up the idea of negotiating the sale through some of our correspondents in Europe, not that I feared I would not secure a princely price, but because of the annoying complications that were sure to follow.

"You may speculate for days and weeks," remarked my friend Carl Wittner after he had made his report of what he had learned about my caller, "and the chances are that you will be further from the truth than at first. There is one point where you can stand upon safe ground."

"Where's that?"

"At the beginning. Thus we know that a gem worth several fortunes has been placed in your custody by a man who is registered at the Astor House as Darius C. Howard from London. He has told you an interesting story of how he found it on the spot where the lamented Nana Sahib crossed the great divide, and—well, that is all we know about it."

"But we know that what he says is untrue."

"We know nothing of the kind. We simply know nothing."

"What is your theory?"

Wittner shook his head, with a significant smile.

"[illegible]. I have given up [illegible] in theories. I [illegible] been very successful. My last theory [illegible] the murder of [illegible] merchant in the Tenderloin district. The [illegible] things [illegible] but in the end [illegible] appeared. The merchant was [illegible] enough to come back from Europe and prove he hadn't been murdered [illegible]. No, Brown, there isn't any satisfaction in the theorizing business. Take my advice and keep out of it. Gaboriau's detectives who could spin facts and theories down to the millionth of a hair never lived. The only man who could strike a true theory in this business was Sherlock Holmes, and now he has been killed—an unpardonable crime on the part of the gifted Doyle. So, as I said, let's keep out of the whole thing."

"True, but let him strike out and try to get hold of the truth. The mystery is before him. Solve that if he can, and let theories alone."

"You go to the other extreme. What is the harm of speculating when you do not allow yourself to be misled by your speculations?"

"You cannot help it. For instance, you have formed the belief that Mr. Howard has lied to you about the ruby; that it was not the gem which Nana Sahib carried in his turban with him to the Himalayas."

"No; I don't believe it, nor do you"—

"Never mind about me, but Mr. Howard may have told you the truth. I suspect that that ruby is what he declares it to be. It seems to me that if it was not a great deal more would be known about it, but his story explains the fact that you, and, so far as you know, less than half a dozen persons are aware of its presence, among civilized people. My advice is to sell the thing, if you can find a buyer, explaining the circumstances, of course, and then wash your hands of the business. Have you any purchaser in view?"

"Yes; [illegible] Sandhursen. He has more money than he knows what to do with and is a connoisseur in precious stones. You remember that it was he who bought the [illegible] diamond of the last year and that famous black diamond [illegible] ago."

Wittner nodded his head.

"An old friend of mine. I've done some work for him. Did he ever tell

NOT WHAT WE SAY but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story of its merit and success. Remember HOOD'S CURES.

After the municipal election next week, Jos. L. Arnold, Esq., will retire from the mayoralty of the city, after having served the people as mayor for the past three years. He has been faithful in the discharge of every duty, and the people gave evidence of their appreciation by asking that he head all three of the tickets now in the field. But for the fact that he declined to serve longer, he would have been reelected without opposition. He is to-day one of the most promising young men in Alabama, and no doubt there is in store for him distinction in the practice of law, and honors at the hands of the people.

Jim Buchanan married Miss Curry last week. This is none other than our Jim who used to meet with us at the Sulphur Springs picnics, and play the fiddle. Jim will now be obliged to lay aside the fiddle and bow and turn from the frivolous to a sober life. We would not say that we are sorry Jim has left us, but when we think that during the long, hot, dusty summer days we shall no more be regaled by the sound of Jim's fiddle in those plaintive melodies—The Walls of Jericho, Billy in the Low Grounds and Me and My Girl Miss Jo—we can't help being sad, and wishing that, if Jim could have done so, he had waited a year or two, and played us a few more tunes. Nevertheless, we wish Jim all happiness. Luck to you, Jim.

That Headache!

There are three things you can do. You can take liver pills which cleanse the whole system out but leave you weakened and exhausted. Or you can consult a physician, which is a good but expensive plan. Now there is a third and better course. You can have the physician's advice and his remedies both for 25c.

Ask your druggist for Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills. He will give you two boxes of medicine. These boxes contain exactly what every leading doctor prescribes. You first take a Ramon's Pill which opens the bowels easily and naturally, without violence. You then take the Ramon's Tonic Pellets daily for a fortnight.

They contain a powerful Tonic and Blood Purifier, which makes a new creature of you. At the same time they keep the bowels mildly active. Try A once.

At all dealers, or mail, for 25c., 5 boxes $1.00.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to add my testimony to the almost miraculous effect of P. P. P. in the case of Mary Ingraham, a woman living on my place: she had a constant cough, sore throat, debility, etc., and was emaciated to a degree that she was unable to get out of bed unaided, being given up by physicians; she had taken the ruinous so-called Blood Medicines without the least effect, until being put under the P. P. P., she immediately began to improve and is now in as good health as ever in her life. You can refer to me at any time as to the effect of P. P. P. in the foregoing case. Yours truly,
